

The Complete Bible

IN MODERN ENGLISH

FERRAR FENTON

THE COMPLETE BIBLE IN MODERN ENGLISH.

THE
HOLY BIBLE IN MODERN ENGLISH

CONTAINING THE COMPLETE
SACRED SCRIPTURES OF THE OLD AND NEW TESTAMENTS, TRANSLATED INTO ENGLISH DIRECT FROM THE ORIGINAL HEBREW, CHALDEE, AND GREEK LANGUAGES,

BY FERRAR FENTON, F.R.A.S., M.C.A.A.,

*see "So many versions"
p. 210*

WITH INTRODUCTIONS AND CRITICAL NOTES AND CAREFULLY REVISED THROUGHOUT.

Publishers
S. W. PARTRIDGE & CO., LTD.
London

OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS (AMERICAN BRANCH), 35, WEST 32ND STREET, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

1928.

-
[All rights reserved.]

EDITORIAL NOTE TO THE FIFTH EDITION.

MY learned correspondent, the Rev. A. H. Sayce, D.D., Professor of Assyriology at the University of Oxford, having suggested that my rendering of the Hebrew word דַּי, Day, by "period" in the first chapter of Genesis, in verses 5 to 31, does not express clearly the idiomatic sense, I have in this fifth edition adopted "age" and "ages." I do so on the ground that the Evangelists and Apostles rendered it into Greek by the vocable αιων, "age." See Matt. xiii. 40, Heb. xi. 3, and elsewhere.

(1906)

FERRAR FENTON.

THE TRANSLATOR'S INTRODUCTORY NOTE UPON THE COMPLETED BIBLE.

THE Books of the Sacred Volume of our Faith, as they were arranged by the Editorial Committee appointed by the Great Sanhedrim, called at Jerusalem for the purpose, in the Third Century before Christ, were divided into Four Volumes, and put in the succession that I have followed in my translation.

Vol. I. contained the "Books of Moses," or "The Law," and was quoted as "B'reshith" or "Thorah," "The Law."

Vol. II. contained from the Book of Joshua to the end of the Second Book of Kings, and was quoted as "Nebim Rishonim," that is "The Early Reciters or Historians."

Vol. III. contained the books from Isaiah to Malaki, and was quoted as "Nebim Akheronim," the "Later Preachers," or, as we now say, "Prophets."

Vol. IV. contained the whole of the remaining Canonical Books of the Hebrew Scriptures, and was quoted as the "Kethobim," "Sacred Writers," and included from the "Books of Psalms" to the end of the "Second Chronicles," and, except in the two "Chronicles," presents us with the Divinely Inspired Poetry and Philosophy of the Bible, and I decided to follow this Order of the Books.

As in my Introductions to the successive sections of the Bible I have given further details to justify my action, I add no more.

FERRAR FENTON.

1906.

THE FIVE BOOKS OF MOSES.

BEING SECTION THE FIRST
OF THE
COMPLETE BIBLE IN MODERN ENGLISH.

THE FIVE BOOKS OF MOSES

BEING SECTION THE FIRST

OF THE

COMPLETE BIBLE IN MODERN ENGLISH.

TRANSLATED DIRECT FROM THE HEBREW, CHALDEE, AND GREEK LANGUAGES, INTO ENGLISH

BY

FERRAR FENTON, M.R.A.S., M.C.A.A.,

AUTHOR OF

"THE NEW TESTAMENT IN MODERN ENGLISH," "ST. PAUL'S EPISTLES IN MODERN ENGLISH," "THE BOOK OF JOB IN ENGLISH AND IN THE ORIGINAL METRE," ETC., ETC.

Publishers

S. W. PARTRIDGE & CO., LTD.

London

OXFORD PRESS (AMERICAN BRANCH),
29-35, WEST 32ND STREET, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

[ALL RIGHTS RESERVED.]

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

SECTION I.

THE FIVE BOOKS OF MOSES.

	PAGE		PAGE
PREFACE	xiii	LEVITICUS	95
GENESIS	I	NUMBERS	126
EXODUS	52	DEUTERONOMY (THE SPEECHES OF MOSES) . . .	170

I Dedicate

THIS COMPLETE TRANSLATION OF THE HOLY SCRIPTURES OF THE HEBREW AND CHRISTIAN FAITH

TO

ALL THOSE NATIONS WHO HAVE SPRUNG FROM THE RACE OF THE BRITISH ISLES,

AND TO WHOM THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE, IN ITS DEVELOPED POWER, IS THE MOTHER TONGUE ; AND WITH THEM TO ALL THE INHABI-TANTS OF THE WORLD TO WHOM ENGLISH HAS BECOME, OR MAY BECOME, THE LANGUAGE OF THOUGHT, IN HOPE THAT A CLEAR PRESENTMENT OF THE LAWS OF CREATION AND HUMAN EXISTENCE WILL RESTORE THEM FROM THE MENTAL DISTRESS OF ATHEISTIC DOUBT, TO A FIRM RELIANCE UPON GOD, THEIR CREATOR, AND THE PRACTICE OF HIS REVEALED LAWS OF LIFE, BODILY AND SPIRITUAL.

FERRAR FENTON.

London, England.

INTRODUCTORY NOTE TO THE COMPLETE BIBLE IN MODERN ENGLISH.

IN the year 1853 there was inspired into my mind, by what appeared a mere accident, a resolve to study the Bible absolutely in its original languages, to ascertain what its writers actually said, and taught. I am now writing in 1903, just fifty years after, and have accomplished my object, and completed an entirely new translation of the whole of the Hebrew and Christian Scriptures direct from the Hebrew, Chaldee, and Greek, in which they were first given to the world. I was in 1853 a young student in course of education for an entirely literary career, but with a wider basis of study than is usually given for that purpose.

I at once threw myself into the stream of the suggestion, and registered a vow that I would never again read the Gospels, or Christian Documents of our Faith, in any language but Greek, until I had learned to think in that tongue, and it had become as familiar to me as the diction of an English newspaper. I consequently abandoned my parental wish for me to take Orders, and ultimately turned to commerce. And in commerce my life has been passed, in transactions extending to all parts of the world and many nations. But not for one hour did I, or have I, abandoned my resolve as to Scriptural research. Indeed, I hold my commercial experience to have been my most important field of education, divinely prepared, to fit me to be a competent translator of the Bible, for it taught me what men are, and upon what motives they act, and by what influences they are controlled. Had I, on the other hand, lived the life of a Collegiate Professor, shut up in the narrow walls of a library, I consider that I should have had my knowledge of mankind so confined to glancing through a "peep-hole," as to make me totally unfit for the translation of so Universal a Code of the Laws of Life as the Bible forms.

But, nevertheless, I never ceased to read in Philology, Scientific Writers, and Scientific Research, History, Sociology, Statesmanship, and every field which the Scriptures touch upon, to enable me to attain my object. The laws and writers upon Criticism, whether Orthodox, Heterodox, "Higher," "Broad," or "Lower," "Assyriologic," or "Sanskrit," have all been open to me, and my conclusion is that in the Hebro-Christian Scriptures we have the only key that unlocks the Mystery of the Universe to the intellect of Man, and the Mystery of Man to Himself. In this conviction I present this section of the Bible to my Race, not as a "Parson paid to preach it up"—to use the vulgar phrase of modern men, whom Solomon would have called Fools—but as a man who began the investigation of the possibility of a Divine Revelation, as an absolute disbeliever in any such thing, and who after years of honest and independent research has become a profound believer in such a Revelation as the only solution of the Mystery of Existence, not only of Man, but of all things.

The reception by the public of my work when issued part by part has been far more encouraging than I ever expected, or could have hoped. It has had no assistance from Publishers or Universities, but by its own self it has gone over the world;—and cheering voices from every region of the globe, and from all classes, have wished me "God Speed," and urged me to go forward. Like Israel, across the Sea of Difficulty I have gone, and God has brought me to the promised land of Canaan of full success.

Having been asked by several learned scholars, as well as simple laymen, to write an Exposition of what I have learnt from my study of the Scriptures, I will say no more, but hope that God will grant me life and health of body and mind to answer their appeal properly, in such a treatise.

To the three accomplished scholars who have advised and assisted in the revision of my versions I return my best thanks.

The Books of the Sacred Volume of our Faith, as they were arranged by the Editorial Committee appointed by the Great Sanhedrim, called at Jerusalem for the purpose, in the Third Century before Christ, were divided into Four Volumes, and put in the succession that I have followed in my translation.

Vol. I. contained the "Books of Moses," or "The Law," and was quoted as "B'reshith" or "Thorah," "The Law."

Vol. II. contained from the Book of Joshua to the end of the Second Book of Kings, and was quoted as "Nebiiim Rishonim," that is, "The Early Reciters or Historians."

Vol. III. contained the books from Isaiah to Malaki, and was quoted as "Nebiiim Akheronim," the "Later Preachers," or, as we now say, "Prophets."

Vol. IV. contained the whole of the remaining Canonical Books of the Hebrew Scriptures, and was quoted as the "Kethobim," "Sacred Writers," and included from the "Books of Psalms" to the end of the "Second Chronicles," and, except in the two "Chronicles," presents us with the Divinely Inspired Poetry and Philosophy of the Bible.

I decided to follow this Order of the Books rather than that of the wild muddle in which the European translators of the Dark Ages had mixed them in the Latin and Greek versions, for the following reasons:—It was the original one, and the accurate criticism, mental insight, and literary skill shown in it, and its grouping of both the Historical and the Divinely Inspired Writers, shows a masterly comprehension of the work the Editors had before them, and of the progressive nature of the Revelation from God to Man of the Everlasting Laws of Creation, Human Life, and Social and National health and duty, that has never been equalled, and which is itself, if studied, a commentary that cannot be excelled.

As in my Introductions to the successive sections of the Bible I have given further details to justify my action, I add no more, especially as I have been appealed to by many correspondents, learned and unlearned alike, to write an explanatory volume on the Scriptures, and which, with the will of God, I have promised to do.

Finally, from the first beginning of my work, my method has been as follows:—I first made, by my own hand and mental effort, the translation absolutely direct from the original, with no intermediary version between the Greek or Oriental Texts and my manuscript. The revision of these drafts I repeated by the same plan three, and in some cases four or five, times over, and also submitted difficult passages to the three Orientalist and Grecianist friends, who were the only men in Europe or America with devotion enough to the Scriptures to give any aid. (A sad comment upon the spirit of our age.) I then tested their suggestions by various previous translators, and at last began to collate my version with a Polyglot Bible printed in parallel columns. The result of this last was surprising and saddening. For I discovered, in the Old Testament, that wherever the Greek translators had blundered in their rendering of the Hebrew or Chaldee text, every translator in every language, from the Latin to the German, French, Spanish, and Italian, onward to the English, authorized or unauthorized versions alike, had one after another repeated the blunders of the Greek, down to a version I lately added to my collation, made within the last twenty years. These are facts, and but for want of space I would prove my statements by reference to a list of passages. But my readers can verify for themselves by a little industry. The same may be said of the Latin version of the Greek New Testament.

But my readers must not suppose that I sought only to reproduce the mechanism of the diction of the Scriptures. My object was from the first to present the Spirit as well as the Letter of the Sacred Writers in our own tongue as accurately as a photograph shows the features, expression and mental characteristics of a man's face and mind. This, I believe, I have accomplished as no other translators have done, and not a few correspondents write me that they see I have attained my hope.

Finally, I must note as to my spelling of the proper names of localities and men. As I made my translation from the Hebrew without any English version open before me, I have followed the now general plan of Oriental scholars, and simply transliterated those names, except a few, such as "Moses," "Joshua," etc., which are too fixed by popular use to be altered. The Geographical Names I invariably retain in transliterated form; because the attempt of my predecessors in translation from the Septuagint and Vulgate, and their versionists, to render them into their supposed Greek equivalents territorially, has made such wild misplacing of Nations and Towns as to remind one of the dreams of a mapmaker gone mad; whole kingdoms often having been put thousands of miles away from their actual localities; and these blunders have been incorporated in all our literature.

As every effort has been made to attain it, I believe this fifth edition of my work is the most accurate rendering into any European language, ancient or modern, ever made, not only in words, but in editing, spirit, and sense. I contend that I am the only man who has ever applied real mental and literary criticism to the Sacred Scriptures. I specially refer to my re-discovery of the Hebrew laws of Syllabic verse.

FERRAR FENTON, M.R.A.S.

LONDON, 1910.

A NOTE TO MY ENQUIRING FRIENDS.

I HAVE been asked very often, both verbally and by letters from all parts of the world, to inform my friends what is, or was, my object in making so entirely new a translation as I have done of the Bible.

When questioned, He "Who spoke as no man ever spoke," often answered by relating an anecdote, which we call a "Parable"; and perhaps my best plan will be to follow His example by relating the following incident which actually occurred.

Some years ago I was sitting at my desk with a Hebrew Bible before me and my manuscript book by my side, studying the Prophet Isaiah, and noting down a rough draft for a translation, when a very dear and familiar friend was shown in, who, glancing over my shoulder and seeing what I was doing, exclaimed—

"What on earth are you doing?"

"Making part of my translation of the Bible into Modern English, which I decided upon as the great object of my life long ago, and which I have been preparing for a considerable time past," I responded.

"What a fool you are to waste your time on such a thing!" cried my vehement friend. "Nobody cares a halfpenny for the Bible nowadays, so it will only involve you in stupendous labour, and bring no profit. Why have you not turned your talents to Political Agitation? You have the intellect of twenty men and the courage of a dozen rolled into one, and besides are a born orator, so that if you had, you might have become Prime Minister of England, or anything you chose in public life. But as for the Bible! in our day, as I said at first, nobody cares a halfpenny for the Bible; so the work you are at can gain you neither fame, cash, nor a position, but cost you money and labour as its only result. Give it up!"

I was startled, for I knew the speaker to be a professedly religious person.

"You astonish me," I answered, dropping my pen. "You profess to be a Christian, so I never expected such an expression of opinion from you, although I have had the same from others. Have you given up your faith?"

"Oh, no! I was not speaking of my own position regarding the Scriptures, but of that of our whole literary and educated classes, as well as the larger part of the masses, and I wish you to have a career where you can use your talents and acquirements to secure a place in the world. You'll never gain one by wasting your time on the Bible; our age has given it the go-by and fung it aside."

"I know it," I replied. "I have seen the facts you state, perhaps more clearly than yourself; and they are the very reasons why I determined to devote myself to the task, if God gave me opportunity and time, as the leading object of my life, all other business being only looked upon by me as a means to it. Do you not remember," I in my turn asked my friend, "when at College what your teacher, Professor Karl Behr, of Munich, in his lectures on the Philosophy of History, told you and his other students? 'That the best-established doctrine of Historical Philosophy was, that all the power, prosperity, and mental energy of a Race or Nation sprang from and lived by its Religion; that when its Religion ceased to be its Faith—that is, its energising principle—the intellect, power, vigour, and prosperity of that Race or Nation died away in proportion, and ultimately perished, both mentally and physically.' And how he illustrated his doctrine by a wide survey and a series of illustrations from the history of all nations, Asiatic, African, and European, both Ancient and Modern, dwelling especially upon the fact that this Law of National Life did not depend upon any particular Religion, but was manifested by them all, Pagan, Jewish, Mohammedan, and Christian? Do you not also remember that the learned Professor added, he did not urge a regard to that Law of History for any ecclesiastical purpose, for he himself was not personally, he said, a professed disciple of any Christian Church? And therefore he emphasised it by a review of the Arabian Civilisation under the Kaliphat?"

"Yes!" answered my friend, "I fully remember his teaching, and my own study of History confirms his doctrine; but I know the People and Government of our Empire and Race have flung to the winds the belief that the Christian Religion is of any value, or worth the spending a shilling—nay, a halfpenny—upon, and you cannot alter that decision as embodied in the Education Act, and the withdrawal of Grants for Theological Professorships in our Universities, and the actual abandonment of religious teaching in the great schools, such as Eton, Rugby, Harrow, and London, where all sciences except it are taught, or may be taught, and are paid for by Public Grants or Endowments, whilst nothing is allowed for instruction in the Nominally National Faith. The Nation has decided to drop its former Faith. Why wreck your prospects in life by fighting a hopeless battle in its defence? Turn to Political Agitation! and, believe me, with your gift of eloquence and your mental power and acquirements, you can earn fame and money, but by your Bible work nothing."

"I am flattered by your high opinion of my talents," I replied, "but the very reasons you urge against my devotion to Biblical exposition are those which induced me to make it the great object of my life. I know the accuracy of Professor Behr's teaching, and that the position the British race has won in the world is founded upon the Protestant Religion, which takes as its origin the Bible, and therefore I am convinced that with the decay of Faith in the Scriptures our National vigour and prosperity, as a Race, will waste away; not only in the British Isles, but, as with all Races, in every State or Colony sprung from them, no matter upon what part of the Earth's surface they are situated. Consequently, I will try at least to avert, or retard, so great a catastrophe and calamity to the whole of mankind. I have decided, God helping me, to execute the work you see I am doing."

"How can your work do anything to avert the catastrophe?" my friend interrupted.

"My conviction is," I answered, "that the real origin of the cessation of a belief in any Revelation of Religion from God to Man has not sprung in the National Mind from any deliberate purpose of doubt, sin, or depravity, but from the simple fact that the absolutely organic change which has been evolved in the grammar, vocabulary, structure, inflections, and actual meaning of the words of our language, since the time when old Tyndale and Coverdale, in the days of Henry the Seventh and Eighth, by their translation fixed the diction and style to which the authorised version of the English Bible has been pinned, have made that version now unintelligible as a medium of thought. It has never been altered to adapt it to the evolution of our Mother Tongue. It has consequently become especially unintelligible to our educated classes, and also to the greater number of the masses, and is daily becoming more so. In fact, only the most illiterate portion of our villagers, in the remote mining or sheep-farming districts in the North of England, can mentally follow its meaning; for they still in their daily life speak a similar dialect, but are fast ceasing to do so under the influence of our State Education. That is my conviction, impressed upon me by my familiar intercourse during a busy life with every class of my countrymen, from the most highly-born and cultured scholars to the most illiterate and uncultured colliers, navvies, and bargemen.

"But I am as deeply convinced, that if the Sacred Scriptures are again made clearly intelligible to the whole of our Race, by being translated absolutely afresh from the Hebrew and Greek, into the same style and diction as all our current literature, our people will again see their Divine Teachings with the delight and devoted faith their forefathers did in the days of the Tudors, and from that faith, and its inspiration, will spring a harvest of Genius like that which ennobled the heroic reign of Elizabeth. As Napoleon the Great said to his Cabinet Ministers, when they resisted and ridiculed his proposal to restore a National Religion to France during his Consulate, 'Gentlemen! the first necessity of Man is an Object of Worship, a Religion, and I intend to supply the food for that necessity whatever you say to the contrary.' He did so, and it was followed by such a period of creative life in every field of human endeavour as France had never before seen.

"With God's blessing upon my effort, I intend, my friend, to try and procure the same result for my Race as Napoleon did for his," I continued; "and also to present to them a clearer light of life, the Library of God contained in the Inspired Scriptures, than Napoleon did in his restored Church of France."

"But our people do not now believe in such a thing as Revelation," urged my friend; "so you have no such ground to go upon as Napoleon had in the traditions of the French Church."

"Come, friend," I replied, "you are an accomplished linguist, so reflect upon philology a little, and you will find that all mankind, of every race or period, instinctively believe in supernal inspiration, as proved by the fundamental structure of their languages."

"How?" demanded my interlocutor.

"Why in such idioms as these,—

"'Inspired by a Genius for poetry.'

"'An inspiration seized Alexander and pointed a way out of the danger,'

"'Cæsar inspired by the Goddess Fortune in whom he trusted.'

"'A thought was breathed into my mind.'

"'The enthusiasm of the occasion' (the Greek meaning being 'the God breathing into me').

"I only use illustrations from secular literature, not from sacred, that you may see my doctrine without bias. Seeing then that every language shows man's instinctive belief in revelation from without, in all action not actually simply animal, I hold that when the supreme and sublime series of inspired Revelations of all the great laws of the physical universe, of human life, society, social and political organisation, culture, evolution, progress in mental development, spiritual comprehension, and the research into the laws of creation, and utilisation of the products of our earth, all of which in their essentials are contained in the Bible, are put into intelligible language again, so as to be understood by our people, they will see and follow them as they did formerly; for disbelief arises from ignorance, and never from clear and perfect knowledge. In this belief," I concluded, "I intend to do my translation of the Bible, and leave the result to GOD. Probably I shall be ridiculed or abused in the Press and Pulpit for it, and it will cost me money, not earn either it or fame, but neither of them are my object. My object is to try and save the British Race from decay and dissolution by restoring to it the vital element of Faith in Revelation, for unless its Faith is revived our doom is certain."

To this never-forgotten conversation with my friend I add a remark of the late Professor Seely in his profound work, "The Expansion of England," read by me long after the above conversation, to show that I am not alone in my doctrine, or only supported in it by the learned German Professor, Karl Behr. Seely then says,—

"I have always held that Religion is the great State-building principle; these Colonists could create a new State because they were already a Church; since the Church, so at least I hold, is the soul of the State; where there is a Church a State grows up in time; but if you find a State which is not also in some sense a Church, you find a State which is not long for this world."¹

I have tried above to reply to my correspondents scattered over the world who have asked my objects. I may add that, contrary to my expectation, my version of the Bible, so far as issued, has been very favourably received by all classes and countries, from the most accomplished scholars to simple villagers, colliers, factory hands, soldiers, seamen, military and naval officers, and educated men of foreign lands, royal personages, university professors, bishops and divines, and has thus, I hold, justified my contention, that an intelligible Bible means a restoration of Faith.

Having spoken to my correspondents, I may perhaps be allowed to do the same to my critics in the World's Press. Nearly all its reviewing writers have hailed my effort to elucidate the sacred Scriptures in the most friendly spirit. Some, however, have hesitated as to the wisdom of that effort, but without condemning it; and only about half-a-dozen have spoken of my work with contempt or scorn, and of them I think I may safely say the internal evidence of their strictures proves that no one of them had much knowledge of Biblical Hebrew, Chaldee, or Greek.

Their usual objection is put in the form of a few traditional phrases about "our beautiful Old Version," "a pure Old Saxon tongue," "the grand language and sweet rhythm of our fathers' Bible, which calls for no change," "our fine Old Version is a classic,—why alter it?" By which these men show their total ignorance of the fact that all our greatest scholars, theologians and Biblical Critics, from Melville to John Selden and Milton, on to Dean Prideaux, Bishop Lowth, and other eminent Hebraists, down to Dr. S. Parr and Samuel Wilberforce, Bishop of Oxford, in our own day, have with an unbroken voice for three centuries been entreating for an amended and more mentally accurate translation of the Holy Scriptures into the mother tongue of the world-wide nations who speak English;—nay, even more than that, as an eminent Continental Philologist wrote me, after reading my version of St. Paul's Epistles, the language of Thought of the World!

¹ "Expansion of England," Lecture VIII. on the Sohism of Greater Britain, p. 154.

All these have called for such a translation,—but in vain. No University Professoriate would produce it, and no Individual amongst the petitioners had the courage to do the work themselves. I saw the need also, not only as a student, but from intercourse with all classes of my countrymen, and God inspired me with courage to undertake it, and with inborn perseverance during a period of fifty years to carry it through, by devoting every leisure moment of a busy commercial life to the preparation for, and execution of, that one object.

Another sneer of those few assailants has been that my work "is not a translation, but a mere paraphrase." The remark shows they do not know the difference between one and the other, or a perusal of my rendering of the Hebrew of the two first chapters of Genesis, and my note thereon, and of the first five chapters of St. Paul to the Romans, would show to them the purely philological basis of my translation: MODERN ENGLISH HAS NOT BEEN MY OBJECT, BUT MERELY AN INSTRUMENT TO RESTORE A KNOWLEDGE OF REVELATION AGAIN TO THE MINDS AND SOULS OF THE BRITISH RACE.

In concluding my chat with my friends and foes, I beg to return my hearty thanks to the great body of review writers in the public press of the British Empire, and of the Great Imperial Republic of the United States of America; and also to that numerous band of divines and scholars who have welcomed my effort so cordially; and also to the General Public, who, by purchasing the volumes as quickly as issued, have enabled me to publish them. The whole Bible of the Old and New Testaments in the present mother tongue of our Race are in the hands of our People, and open to the world in the same noble and powerful language, a language which I believe,—like those of Hebrew and Greek in the past,—to have been developed for that special purpose by the Creator.

FERRAR FENTON, M.R.A.S.

LONDON, ENGLAND,

1910.

THE FIRST BOOK OF MOSES, CALLED BERESHITH, GENESIS.

TRANSLATED DIRECT FROM THE HEBREW BY FERRAR FENTON, M.R.A.S.

BOOK THE FIRST.

The First Creation of the Universe
by God = Elohim.

- 1 BY Periods¹ God created that which produced the Suns; then that which produced the Earth.
- 2 But the Earth was unorganised and empty; and darkness covered its convulsed surface; but the breath of GOD vibrated over its fluid face.
- 3 GOD then said, "Let there be 4 light;" and light came. And GOD gazed upon that beautiful light; and GOD divided the light from the darkness. And to the light GOD gave the name of Day, and to the darkness He gave the name of Night. This was the close and the dawn of the first age.
- 6 GOD also said, "Let there be an expanse between the waters, and let it be a division between the waters 7 and the waters." And GOD made the expanse, and it divided the waters which were below the expanse from the waters which were above the 8 expanse; and that was done. And GOD named the expanse the Heavens. This was the close and the dawn of the second age.
- 9 GOD then commanded, "Let the waters below the Heavens be collected in one place, and let the dry appear;"
10 and that was done. And GOD named the dry Earth; and the accumulated waters He named Seas; and 11 GOD admired their beauty. GOD then said, "Let the Earth produce seed-bearing vegetation, as well as fruit trees according to their several species, capable of reproduction upon 12 the Earth;" and that was done. The Earth produced the seed-bearing herbage according to every species, as well as the different species of reproductive fruit trees; and GOD saw that they were good. This was 13 the close and the dawn of the third age.

GOD further said, "Let reflectors 14 appear in the expanse of the Heavens for a division between the day and the night; and let them serve to mark seasons, periods, and years; and let 15 them also illuminate the expanse of the skies so as to reflect their light upon the Earth;" and that was done. GOD had made two large luminaries, 16 the larger one to control the day, and the smaller one to control the night, accompanied by the stars. And GOD 17 had fixed them in the heavenly expanse so as to illuminate the Earth, to control the day and to control the 18 night, and to mark the division between the light and the darkness; and GOD saw they were beautiful. This was the close and the dawn of 19 the fourth age.

GOD then said, "Let the waters be 20 swarming with animal life, and let birds fly in the expanse of the skies above the Earth;" GOD accordingly 21 produced the monsters of the deep, and the waters swarmed with every species of reptile, and also produced every species of flying bird. And GOD admired their beauty. And GOD, 22 in giving them His blessing, said, "Be fruitful and multiply, so as to fill the waters of the deep; and also let the birds multiply upon the Earth." This was the close and the 23 dawn of the fifth age.

GOD then said, "Let the Earth 24 produce animal life according to its species, in quadrupeds, reptiles and all wild animals, answering to their species;" and that was done. GOD 25 accordingly made the various species of the animals of the Earth, as well as the several species of quadrupeds, and all the different species of reptiles; and GOD admired their beauty.

¹ Literally "By Headships." It is curious that all translators from the Septuagint have rendered this word בְּרֵאשִׁית, B'RESHITH, into the singular, although it is plural in the Hebrew. So I render it accurately.—F. F.

Creation of Man under the Shadow of God.

- 26 GOD then said, "Let Us make men under Our Shadow, as Our Representatives; and subject to them the fish of the waters; and the birds of the sky, and the quadrupeds, as well as the whole of the Earth, and every reptile that creeps upon it."
- 27 So GOD created men under HIS own Shadow, creating them in the Shadow of God, and constituting them male and female. GOD then gave them His blessing; and GOD said to them, "Be fruitful and multiply so as to fill the Earth and subdue it, and rule over the fish of the sea, and the birds of the skies, and over every living animal that moves upon the Earth."
- 29 GOD also said, "See, I have given you for food every fruit and grain-bearing plant upon the surface of the whole Earth, as well as fruit and seed-bearing trees and all vegetation, so that they may be food for you, and for every animal of the Earth, and for every bird of the skies, and for every reptile upon the Earth which possesses the living breath;
- 30 and it was done. And GOD gazed upon all that He had made, and it was very beautiful. Thus the close came, and the dawn came of the sixth age.
- 2 Thus the whole Host of the Heavens as well as the Earth were completed.
- 2 And GOD rested at the seventh age from all the works which He had made; therefore GOD blessed the seventh day, and hallowed it, because He then rested from all the work which GOD had arranged to do.

The Creation planned by its Creator.

- 4 The following were productions for the Heavens and the Earth during their creation at the time of their making by the Everliving GOD of both the Earth and Heavens; and of every plant of the field before it was upon the Earth, and every herb of the field before He caused it to grow, even before the EVER-LIVING GOD had scattered them upon the Earth and Man extended not to cultivate the Earth.
- 5 A vapour then rose up from the Earth, and saturated the whole surface of the ground.

The formation of Man from the Dust of the Ground by the Ever-living God.

The EVER-LIVING GOD afterwards formed Man from the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the life of animals;¹ BUT MAN BECAME A LIFE-CONTAINING SOUL.

The EVER-LIVING GOD then planted a garden in Eden,—in the East;—and there He placed the man whom He had formed. And out of the ground the EVER-LIVING GOD caused to grow all the trees that were beautiful and good for food, as well as the Tree of Lives in the centre of the Garden; and the tree of the Knowledge of Good and Evil.

A lake also sprang up in Eden to supply the Garden with water, and from there it divided and became four sources. The name of the first is Pishon, and flows along the land of Havilah, where there is gold. And the gold of that land is pure; there are also bdellium and the onyx. And the second river is Jihon; it flows along all the land of Kush. The name of the third river is Hidikel, which flows through the east of Ashur, and the fourth river is the Frath.²

The EVER-LIVING GOD then took the man and placed him in the Garden of Eden for the purpose of cultivating and taking care of it. And the LORD GOD instructed the man, saying, "For food you may eat of the whole of the trees of the Garden; but from the tree of the Knowledge of Good and Evil, you shall not eat; because in the day you eat from it dying you shall die."

The EVER-LIVING GOD also said, "It is not good for the man to be in solitude; I will make a comforter to live with him." Therefore the EVER-LIVING GOD, who had formed out of the ground every animal of the field as well as every bird of the skies, took them to the man to see what he would name them. And whatever the man with the Living Soul called them, that was their name. So the man gave names to all the quadrupeds, and all the birds of the skies, and to all the wild animals; but it was no comfort for the man to be with them.

¹ Or Reflective, or Intellectual life. ¹ Cor. Ch. iii. 3.—F. F.

² Euphrates.

- 21 So the EVER-LIVING GOD threw the man into a stupor, and he slept. And taking one of his ribs, He closed up the flesh in its place. And from the rib, which the EVER-LIVING GOD had taken out of the man, He constructed a woman, and brought her to the man. And the man said, "This form is bone of my own bone, and flesh of my own flesh. This shall be named 'woman,' because she was taken from man." Man shall therefore leave his father and his mother, and shall unite with his wife; and they shall be one body. And they were naked, the man and his wife, but they were not aslained.

The Temptation of Eve.

- 3 Now the Serpent was more impudent than any of the wild animals of the field which the EVER-LIVING GOD had made. So he asked the woman, "Is it true that GOD has said, you may not eat of every tree of the Garden?" And the woman replied to the serpent, "We may eat of the fruit of the trees of the Garden; but of the fruit of the tree which is in the middle of the Garden, GOD has said, 'do not eat of it, and do not even touch it, lest you die.'" But the serpent answered the woman: "You will not die; but GOD knows that at the time you eat of it, your eyes will then be opened, and you will be like GOD, acquainted with both good and evil."
- 6 So the woman perceiving that the tree was good for food, and beautiful to the eyes, and a tree stimulating to the intellect, she took some of its fruit and ate it, and gave some to her husband with her; and he also ate it.
- 7 Then the eyes of both of them were opened, and they became aware that they were naked. They accordingly joined fig leaves together, and made aprons for themselves.
- 8 They then heard the sound of the EVER-LIVING GOD moving in the Garden in the breeze of the day; and the man and his wife hid themselves from the presence of the LORD GOD among the trees of the Garden.
- 9 But the EVER-LIVING GOD called to the man, saying, "Where are you?" And he replied, "I heard Your sound in the Garden, and perceiving that I was naked, I hid myself."
- 11 Then He asked, "Who told you that you were naked? Have you eaten of the tree of which I commanded that you should not eat?"

And the man replied, "The woman whom You gave to me, she gave me of the tree, and I ate it." "Why did you do that?" the LORD GOD asked the woman. And the woman answered, "The serpent deceived me and I ate it."

The EVER-LIVING GOD accordingly said to the serpent, "Because you have done this you shall be accursed more than all the cattle, and more than all the wild beasts of the field; you shall crawl upon your belly, and eat dust all the days of your life. I will also cause antagonism between you and the woman, and between your progeny and her progeny. HE shall wound your head, and you shall wound His heel."

But to the woman He said, "I will increase your sorrows and your joys. You shall give birth to children with pain; but your desire shall be for your husband, and he shall rule over you."

Then to Adam He said, "Because you have listened to the voice of your wife, and have eaten of the tree of which I commanded you, saying, 'Eat not of it;' I will set the ground apart for your cultivation; in sorrow you shall eat from it every day of your life. It shall grow thorns and briars for you; but you shall have the plants of the field for food. In the sweat of your brow you shall eat bread, until you return to the ground, from which you were taken. For dust you are, and to the dust you shall return."

The man then gave to his wife the name of Eve;¹ because she was the mother of all alive. For Adam also and his wife the EVER-LIVING GOD made clothing of skins, and dressed them.

The LORD GOD also said, "Now the man was like one of Ourselves, acquainted with both good and evil; therefore it may be that he will stretch out his hand, and take also of the Tree of Lives and eat of it, and live for ever." The EVER-LIVING GOD consequently expelled him from the Garden of Eden, in order to cultivate the ground from which he was taken. So He drove out the man, and He stationed at the east of the Garden of

¹ Khavah, or life container.

Eden the Divine Watchers, with the flaming sword quivering to guard the path to the Tree of Lives.

The First Man Child—Births of Cain and Abel.

- 4 The man afterwards knew Eve his wife, and she conceived and gave birth to Cain, and said, "I have been given a man from the 2 EVER-LIVING." She afterwards gave birth to his brother Abel.¹ And Abel became a shepherd of sheep; but 3 Cain was a cultivator of the soil. And during the harvest time Cain brought some of the produce of the ground as 4 an offering to the EVER-LIVING. And Abel also brought of the best and the fattest of his sheep. And the LORD looked favourably upon Abel and his 5 offering; but He did not regard Cain and his offering with favour. Cain therefore was very angry, and his 6 countenance fell. Then the EVER-LIVING asked Cain, "Why are you angry, and why has your countenance
7 fallen? If you do right, is there not approval? and if you do not do right, Sin crouches at the door and awaits you; but you should conquer it."

The Murder of Abel.

- 8 When Cain was afterwards talking with his brother Abel, and they were together in the field, Cain attacked his brother Abel, and murdered him.
9 The LORD accordingly asked Cain "Where is your brother Abel?" But he replied, "I do not know;—am I my brother's keeper?"
10 The EVER-LIVING however answered, "What have you done? The voice of your brother's blood cries to 11 Me from the ground. Therefore you are cursed from the ground, which has opened her mouth to take in your brother's blood from your hand.
12 When you cultivate the ground it shall not yield up its wealth to you; you shall be a wanderer and vagabond upon the earth."
13 But Cain answered to the LORD, "My punishment is heavier than I can bear. Since You drive me to-day out from off the face of this land, I shall be deprived of Your presence, and be a wanderer and a vagabond upon the earth; and whoever meets me will kill me."
15 But the EVER-LIVING replied, "Not so; whoever kills Cain shall be punished sevenfold." Therefore the LORD put a mark upon Cain, so that he might not be attacked by anyone who met him.

¹ The Hebrew form of "Abel" is "Hebel."

Cain accordingly went out from 16 the presence of the EVER-LIVING, and lived in a land of exile on the eastern side of Eden, where Cain knew his 17 wife; and she conceived and gave birth to Enok, and he built a village, and named it after the name of his son, Hanok.¹ And to Hanok there was 18 born Irad; and Irad produced Methu-jael; and Methu-jael produced Lemek. And Lemek took two wives for him- 19 self; the name of one was Ada, and the name of the other Zillah. And 20 Ada gave birth to Jabal, who was the originator of tent-dwellers with cattle. And his brother's name was 21 Jubal; he was the originator of all those who play the harp and wind instruments. Zillah also gave birth 22 to Tubal-Cain, the improver of every work in copper and iron; and the sister -of Tubal-Cain was Namah. And Lemek addressing his wives said: 23

"Ada and Zillah listen to my voice;
Wives of Lemek listen to my speech;

For I killed a man who wounded;
And a youth who hurt me.—

If Cain had sevenfold protection, 24
Seventy-seven should be that of Lemek!"

Birth of Seth.

And Adam knew his wife again, 25 she gave birth to a son, and named him Sheth;² "for God," she said, "has given me another son in the place of Abel, who was murdered by Cain." And to Sheth, a son was 26 born; and he gave him the name of Enosh.³ Men then began to call upon the name of the EVER-LIVING.

The Genealogy of Mankind, who were created as Representatives of God.

This is the Birth-Book of Men. 5 From the time that GOD created men, making them to represent God; constituting them male and female, giving them His blessing and naming them by the name of Mankind, upon the day of their creation.

Adam, when he was one hundred 3

¹ Hanok (the dedicated).

² The "Second" or "Renewal."—F. F.

³ Enosh—"A man," or "a weakling."

and thirty years old, produced a representative of himself, like his own shadow, and gave him the name of Sheth. And the lifetime of Adam, after the birth of Sheth, was eight hundred years, during which time sons and daughters were born to him. So the whole lifetime of Adam was nine hundred and thirty years when he died.

And Sheth was one hundred and five years old when Enosh¹ was born to him. And Sheth, after the birth of Enosh, lived eight hundred and seven years, and had sons and daughters born to him. And the whole lifetime of Sheth was nine hundred and twelve years, when he died.

And Enosh lived ninety years, when Kenan was born to him. And Enosh, after the birth of Kenan, lived eight hundred and fifty years, and had sons and daughters born to him. And all the lifetime of Enosh was nine hundred and five years, and he then died.

And Kenan lived seventy years when Mahalalel was born to him. And Kenan, after Mahalalel was born to him, lived eight hundred and thirty years, and had sons and daughters born to him. So the whole lifetime of Kenan was nine hundred and ten years; and he died.

And Mahalalel living until he was sixty-five years of age, had Jared born to him. And Mahalalel, after the birth of Jared, lived eight hundred and thirty years, and sons and daughters were born to him; and the whole lifetime of Mahalalel was eight hundred and ninety-five years, when he died.

And Jared lived until he was one hundred and sixty-two years of age, when Hanok² was born to him. And after the birth of Hanok, Jared lived eight hundred years, and had sons and daughters born to him; and the whole lifetime of Jared was nine hundred and sixty-two years; and he died.

And Hanok lived until the age of sixty-five years, when Methuselah

was born to him. And Hanok² walked with GOD, after Methuselah had been born to him, three hundred years, and sons and daughters were born to him. And the whole lifetime of Hanok was three hundred and sixty-five years. And Hanok walked with GOD; and he did not die, God having taken him to Himself.

And Methuselah, having lived until he was one hundred and eighty-seven years of age, had Lamek¹ born to him; and Methuselah, after Lamek had been born to him, lived seven hundred and eighty-two years, having had sons and daughters born to him. And the whole lifetime of Methuselah was nine hundred and sixty-nine years; and he then died.

And Lamek lived until he was one hundred and eighty-two years of age, when a son was born to him, to whom he gave the name of Noah,³ saying, "He comforts in our labour, and in the trouble of our hands, upon the land which was denounced by the EVER-LIVING." And Lamek, after Noah was born to him, lived until the age of five hundred and ninety-five years, sons and daughters being born to him. And the whole lifetime of Lamek was seven hundred and seventy-seven years, when he died. And Noah was five hundred years old, when Shem, Ham, and Japheth were born to him.

The Corruption of Mankind.

But when corrupt Men increased upon the surface of the Earth, and daughters were born to them, then the sons of GOD admired the daughters of Men who were beautiful; and they took to themselves wives from all they desired.

Consequently the EVER-LIVING said, "My spirit shall not call to man for ever, for he is sinful flesh; but they shall have a hundred and twenty years."

The Nephalim⁴ were upon the earth in those days, and also afterwards when the sons of GOD came to the daughters of men, and they bore to ¹ Enosh, the son of Sheth, must not be confused with the Hanok, the son of Cain, mentioned in Ch. 4, v. 17. They are totally different.—F. F.

² The barbarous spelling of the old translators has confused the genealogies, which I have endeavoured to again elucidate.

¹ This Lamek, son of Methuselah, is a totally different person to the Lamek, descended from Cain, and mentioned in Ch. 4, v. 23.—F. F.

² Noah, meaning Comfort.—F. F.

³ The Degradeds.

them mighty men, who were men of renown of old.

- 5 And the EVER-LIVING saw that the sin of man increased upon the earth, and that every effort of the thought of his heart was to promote sin every day. And the EVER-LIVING sighed for the doings of man upon earth, and it grieved His heart. The LORD therefore said, "I will sweep away man whom I created from off the surface of the earth, from man to beast and reptile, and birds of the skies, for I regret that I made them."
- 8 But Noah found favour in the presence of the EVER-LIVING.

The History of Noah.

- 9 The following are the genealogies from Noah. Noah was a good man; he was upright in his age. Noah walked with GOD. And Noah had three sons given to him, Shem, Ham, and Japheth. But the earth corrupted itself in the presence of GOD, and the Earth was full of crime. And GOD looked upon the Earth, and saw its corruption, for all men had corrupted their way upon the Earth.

The Deluge Foretold.

- 13 So GOD said to Noah, "I decide to cut off all men from My sight, for the earth is full of crime from their presence. I will accordingly sweep them from the earth. Make therefore for yourself a Ship of pitch-pine. Make the Ship with decks, and pitch it inside and outside with pitch. You shall make it thus;—it shall be three hundred cubits² long, fifty cubits wide, and thirty cubits deep. Make a ventilating-fan, fixed in a turret of a cubit high above the upper deck, and connected with that make an opening in the sides of the Ship, on the second and third lower decks. You shall make second and third decks; for I Myself will bring a downrush of waters upon the earth to sweep off all beings possessing the breath of life, from under Heaven; all that move upon the land. Then I will establish my Covenant with you; and you shall go into the Ship yourself with your sons and your wife, and your sons' wives along with you. And from every animal of all kinds, two of each shall go into the Ship to live with you; they shall be male and female: of birds 20 by their species, and of animals by their species, and of reptiles moving in the field by their species, two of each shall accompany you, so as to preserve life. And you shall take 21 with you all kinds of food which is eaten, and store it with you; and it shall be provision for yourself, and 22 for them." Noah accordingly did all that GOD commanded him. He accomplished it.

Noah ordered to enter the Ark, or Ship.

Afterwards the LORD said to Noah, 7 "Go yourself and all your household into the Ship, for I have seen that you have been righteous in the face of this generation. Take with you of 2 all clean cattle, seven, male and female, and of beasts which are unclean two of them, a male and a female. Also from birds of the sky 3 seven, seven male and female, so as to preserve a seed of life upon the surface of the land. Because at the 4 end of seven days, I will pour on to the earth for forty days and forty nights; and I will sweep away every creature that I made from off the surface of the ground." And Noah did 5 all that the EVER-LIVING instructed him.

Noah was six hundred years old 6 when the downrush of water came upon the earth. Noah with his chil- 7 dren and wife, and the wives of his sons with them went accordingly into the Ship from the face of the waters of the deluge, with the clean cattle and 8 with the unclean cattle, and with the birds, and all that crawl upon the field, who entered to the Ship in 9 couples, male and female, as GOD had directed Noah.

When the seven days had passed, 10 then the downrush of water came upon the earth. In the six hundredth 11 year of the life of Noah, in the second month, on the seventeenth day of the month, on that day all the depths of the Great Ocean were heaved up, and the belts in the heavens were broken, and 12 there was a downrush on to the earth for forty days and forty nights. At 13 the close of that day, Noah, along with Shem, Ham, and Japheth, sons of Noah, and the wife of Noah, and the three wives of Noah's sons along with them entered the Ark; they themselves and all the animals according to their species, and all the cattle, according to their species, and all crawlers upon the earth by their species, and all birds by their species, every bird of every wing. There also came to Noah into the Ark two by two, from all creatures which have animal breath. Thus they came male and female of all creatures, as GOD had directed them; and the LORD shut him inside.

¹ The Hebrew word תֵּבַת, THEBATH, really means a ship, not a floating house, like the common child's toy.—F. F.

² A cubit was 25 English inches and a fraction over.—F. F.

¹ "That day" refers back to the 17th day of the month when Noah entered the Ark.—F. F.

The downrush continued forty days upon the earth; and the waters swelled and lifted up the Ark, and raised it from off the land. And the waters overwhelmed and rose greatly upon the earth and the Ark floated upon the surface of the waters. The waters overwhelmed the land, and covered all the hills and mountains which are below the skies. The waters covered the hills fifteen cubits. And all animals that moved upon the land expired, with bird, and cattle, and wild animals, and every insect swarming upon the land, and every man; all which breathed the breath of animals in its nostrils, with all that was in the desert, died. Thus He swept away the whole that He had made upon the surface of the ground; from man to cattle, and reptile, and birds of the skies; thus He swept them from off the earth; but Noah and those who were with him in the Ark remained. And the waters overwhelmed the earth one hundred and fifty days.

The Deluge Subsides.

But GOD remembered Noah, and all the animals, and all the cattle which were with him in the Ark. Therefore GOD passed a wind over the earth, and the waters dried, and He restrained the outpourings from the Deep, and the belts of the skies, and stopped the torrents from the skies, and stayed the waters from going on to the earth; and so the waters retired and diminished from the period of one hundred and fifty days. The Ark then rested on the seventeenth day of the seventh month upon the Peaks of the High Hills; and the waters were retreating and subsiding until the tenth month. In the eleventh month the tops of the hills appeared. Then at the end of forty days, Noah opened the window which he had made in the Ark; and sent out a raven and it went, wandered and turned about until the waters dried away from off the earth. Afterwards, he sent out a dove from him, to see if the waters had lessened from the surface of the field; but the dove found not a resting-place for the sole of her foot, so she returned to him in the Ark, for the waters were still on the whole surface of the earth; so he put out his hand and took her, and brought her to him into the Ark. He then waited seven days longer, and again sent out the dove from the Ark. And the dove returning at dusk, carried in her mouth an olive-leaf which had been broken off. So Noah then knew that the waters were off the earth. Waiting yet another seven days, he sent the dove out again, and it did not again return to him. At the end of his six hundred and first year, on the first day of the month, the waters dried from off the earth. Noah then loosened the hatches of the Ark, and looking out, perceived that the surface of the ground was dry. And in the second month, on the twenty-seventh day of the month, the earth was dry.

GOD then spoke to Noah saying: "Go from the Ark, yourself, your wife, and your sons, and your sons' wives along with you. All the animals which are with you, of every kind, with bird, and cattle, and with every reptile that creeps upon the earth, bring it along with you, and let them breed plentifully on the land, and cover it, and increase over the earth."

So Noah went out, and his wife, and his sons' wives with him; every animal, every bird, and every reptile creeping upon the land, according to their species, went out from the Ark.

Noah then built an Altar to the

I I translate the compound Hebrew word "Ararat," as by leaving it in the Hebrew as the current versions do, it misleads the reader to fancy Ararat in Armenia is meant, but the real resting place of the Ark, as the Sacred Record clearly proves, was upon the Peaks of the Hymalayah Mountains in the Hindoo Koosh in the region of Kashgar, or Northern Afghanistan.—F. F.

EVER-LIVING, and took from every clean beast, and from every clean bird, and offered burnt offerings upon the 21 Altar; and the EVER-LIVING perceived pleasant sweet perfume; and the LORD said in His heart, "Never again will I curse the ground to the labour of man, although the thought of the heart of man is wickedness from his youth; and never again will I cut off every 22 animal I have made. During the whole existence of the earth, sowing and harvest, and cold and heat, and Winter and Summer, Spring and Autumn, and day and night, shall continue."

God's Blessing and Command to Mankind upon Noah leading the Ark.

A Renewal of the Primeval Blessings.

9 GOD also blessed Noah and his sons, and said, "Be prolific and
 2 increase and fill the earth. And the fear and terror of you shall be upon every animal of the land, and every bird of the sky, with all that swarm upon the ground, and all the fish of the waters; they shall be given into
 3 your hand. Every living animal that moves shall be food for you. I have given the whole to you like the green
 4 herbage. But the flesh with its life, its blood, you shall not eat. And also the blood of your life I will require, from the hand of every animal I will require it; and from the hand of man; even from the hand of his 5 brother, I will require the life of man.
 6 Whoever sheds the blood of man, by man his own blood shall be shed; because I made man under the 7 shadow of GOD. And be prolific yourselves, increase and swarm on the earth, and multiply on it."
 8 GOD also spoke to Noah, and to his 9 sons along with him, saying, "Now I Myself will fix a Covenant with you, and your descendants after you; and 10 with every living animal that is with you; with bird, and cattle, and with every animal of the earth with you; of all coming out of the Ark; and 11 with every wild beast of the earth. I have fixed My Covenant with you, that all flesh shall never again be destroyed by a downrush of water; and there shall never again be a down-12 rush to desolate the earth." GOD also said, "This is the attestation of the Covenant which I have made between Myself and you, and between all animal life which is with you for every generation. I place My rainbow in 13 the clouds, and it shall be for an evidence of the Covenant between Myself and all the earth. When there 14 is My cloud, covering the earth; and the rainbow appears in the cloud, I 15 shall remember My Covenant that is between Myself and you, and between all animal life, and there shall never again be a downrush of water to sweep away all living. The rainbow shall 16 be in the cloud, and appear as an eternal record of the Covenant between GOD and all animal life existing upon the earth." And GOD 17 repeated to Noah, "This is the Covenant which I have settled between Myself and all existence which is upon earth."

History of Noah after the Flood.

Now the sons of Noah who came 18 out of the Ark were Shem, Ham, and Japheth; and Ham was the father of Canaan. These three were the sons 19 of Noah, and by these three all the country was divided.

Noah then became a farmer, and 20 planted a vineyard, and drinking of 21 the wine, he became drunk, and was naked in his tent; and Ham the 22 father of Canaan, saw the nakedness of his father, and reported it to his two brothers, outside. Shem and 23 Japheth, however, took a shawl, and spread it on their shoulders, and going backwards, they covered the nakedness of their father; and their faces were turned away, so that they did not see their father's shame. So, 24 when Noah woke up from his wine, and knew what his younger son had 25 done to him, he said:

"Cursed be Canaan.

A servant of servants let him be to his brothers."

He also exclaimed: 26

"The Living GOD bless Shem, And let Canaan be a servant to him.

GOD will extend Japheth; 27

But He will dwell in the tent of Shem, And Canaan shall be his servant."

Noah lived after the deluge, for 28 three hundred and fifty years. So all the lifetime of Noah was nine hundred and fifty years, when he died.

History of Noah's Sons.

- 10 Now these are the registers of the sons of Noah, Shem, Ham, and Japheth; for they had sons born to them after the deluge.
- 2 The sons of Japheth; Gomer, Magog, and Madai, and Ion, and Thubal,
- 3 Meshech, and Thiras. And the sons of Gomer; Ashkenaz, and Riphath, and Thogarmah. And the sons of Javan (Ion) Elishah, and Tharshish, Kittim, and the Dodanim.
- 5 From these they spread themselves over the sea-coasts of the countries of the nations, each with their language amongst the gentile tribes.
- 6 And the sons of Ham; Kush, and Mizraim, and Phut, and Canaan.
- 7 And the sons of Kush; Seba, and Havilah, and Sabtah, and Raamah, and Sabtheke; and the sons of Raamah, Seba, and Dedan. To Kush was born Nimrod. Wild beasts began
- 9 then to infest the earth; so he became a powerful hunter in the presence of the LORD; therefore it is said, "Like Nimrod, a mighty hunter before the LORD." And the capitals of his kingdoms were Babel,¹ and Erech and Akad, and Kalinah in the Bush-land.²
- 11 From that land Asshur proceeded to Assyria, and built Ninevah, and the town of the plains, and Kalah, and Resen, between Ninevah and Kalah, which is a large city.
- 13 The Mizraim also produced the Ludim, and Anamim, and Lehabim,
- 14 and Naphtulim, and Pathrusim, and Kaslulim, from whom sprung the Philistines and the Kaphtorites.
- 15 And to Canaan were born Zidon, his eldest, and Heth; and the Jebusite, and the Amorite and the Girgashite; and the Hivite, and the Arkite, and the Sinite, and the Arvadite, and the Zemarite, and the Hamathite; and each spread themselves as the tribes of the
- 19 Canaanites. And the boundaries of the Canaanites are from Zidon by the valley of Gerar to Gaza; along the valley of Sodom, and Gomorrah

¹ The Babel mentioned here must not be confused with the Babylon of the Nebuchadnezzars, which was built long after, as a City probably really by Nebuchadnezzar the First.—F. F.

² V. 10. "Shinar" signifies "Bush-land," and I therefore translate it, to remove a geographical error of old standing.—F. F.

and Admah, and Zeboim, to Lashar. These were the sons of Ham, in 20 their tribes and languages, in the regions of the heathen.

And Shem, the elder brother of 21 Japheth, also produced. He was the father of all the sons of Heber.¹ The 22 sons of Shem were Elam, and Ashur, and Arphaxed, and Lot, and Aram. And the sons of Aram Uz and Hul, 23 and Gether, and Mash. And to 24 Arphaxed was born Shelah, and to Shelah was born Heber; and to 25 Heber were born two sons, the name of the first, Peleg;² because in his days the Continent was split up; and his brother's name was Joktan.² And to Joktan were born Almodad 26 and Sheleph and Hazarmaveth, and Jereh and Hadoram, and Uzal, and 27 Diklah; and Obal, and Abimael, and 28 Sheba; and Ophir, and Havilah, 29 and Jobab; all these were sons of Joktan, and they populated from 30 Mesha, by the valley of Sephar, a mountain of the East. These are 31 the sons of Shem, by their tribes and by their languages in their countries amongst the heathen.

The above were the families of the 32 sons of Noah, and their descendants, by tribes. From them they spread themselves amongst the nations on the earth after the Flood.

All the country was agreed for 11 settled objects. But some of them 2 marching from the East arrived at a plain in the Bush-land, and halted there. Then each said to his neigh- 3 bour, "Come, let us set to work making bricks, and see that they are properly burnt; and bricks shall serve us for stone, and petroleum for mortar." So they agreed, "We will build 4 here for ourselves a City and a Tower whose top shall reach the sky; thus

¹ V. 21. "Heber" in Hebrew signifies a "coloniser" or "colonist," and it is an historical fact that the Semitic nations have been the greatest colonisers of the earth. As Baron von Humboldt says of the Arabian branch, "They are the most mobile race in the world."

² V. 25. "Peleg" means "split" in Hebrew. "Joktan" means in the Hebrew "Lessened," probably referring to the "lessening" of the original continent by the "splitting" away of the American continents. See Prof. C. A. L. Totten's works upon this great geological convulsion. If we take a map of the two Americas, in Mercator's projection, and cut out the Atlantic, the indentations of the Eastern Americas and Western Europe and Africa fit into each other.—F. F.

we will make a Beacon for ourselves, so that we may not be scattered over all the surface of the country." But a Chief came down to inspect the city and the tower which the sons of men had built; and the Chief said, "You see all these people are united in the same purpose, and having begun to do this they will not be restrained from anything they determine upon. I will go down and frustrate their designs, so that one will not listen to another's proposals." So the Chief scattered them over the surface of the whole country; and they abandoned the building of the city. They therefore called its name Babel¹ because it was there that the Chief confused the designs all the country, and from there the Chief scattered them over all the surface of the land.²

The History of Shem's Descendants.

10 These are the genealogies of Shem: Shem was one hundred years old when Arphaxad was born to him two years after the deluge, Shem then lived after the birth of Arphaxad, five hundred years, and had sons and daughters born to him.

12 And Arphaxad lived thirty-five years, then had Shelah born to him; and Arphaxad lived after the birth of Shelah four hundred and forty-three years, and sons and daughters were born to him. And Shelah lived thirty years when Eber was born to him; and after the birth of Eber, Shelah lived four hundred and three years, and sons and daughters were born to him. And Eber lived thirty- 16 four years, when Peleg was born to him. Eber lived after the birth of 17 Peleg four hundred and thirty years, and sons and daughters were born to him. And Peleg lived thirty years 18 and Reu was born to him. Peleg 19 lived after the birth of Reu two hundred and nine years, and sons and daughters were born to him. And Reu lived thirty-two years, when 20 Serug was born to him; and after 21 the birth of Serug, Reu lived two hundred and seven years, and sons and daughters were born to him. And Serug lived thirty years and 22 Nakhor was born to him. Serug lived 23 after the birth of Nakhor, two hundred years, and sons and daughters were born to him. And Nakhor lived 24 twenty-nine years, when Terah was born to him; and Nakhor lived after 25 the birth of Terah, one hundred and nineteen years, and sons and daughters were born to him. And 26 Terah lived seventy years, when Abram, Nahor and Haran were born to him.

¹ Confusion.

² The word Jehovah, commonly translated Lord, was originally used as a title of honour for nobles or governors as shown in Genesis, Ch. xviii. v. 13, and elsewhere, as in Exodus, Ch. iv. v. 24, where the title is given to the chief of a tribe, who attempted to murder Moses; and was not reserved as a synonym for God until after the promulgation of the Law from Sinai. In this passage it is evident it did not mean the Supreme Being, and to translate it as if it did misleads the reader.—F. F.

Now, these are the descendants of 27 Terah; Terah had Abran, Nahor, and Haran born to him, and Haran had Lot born to him. Haran died 28 before Terah his father in his native country in Ur of the Kaldees.

Abram and Nahor then took wives 29 for themselves. The name of the wife of Abram was Sarai, and the name of Nahor's wife was Milkah the daughter of Haran, the father of Milkah and father of Iskah. Sarai 30 was sterile and had no child for herself. Terah however took Abram his 31 son and Lot his grandson, the son of Haran, and Sarai his daughter-in-law, the wife of Abram his own son, and departed from Ur of the Kaldees to travel to the land of Canaan; and arriving at Haran they settled there. The lifetime of Terah was two hundred 32 and five years; and Terah died in Haran.

NOTE.—As Ch. xi. of Genesis forms a decisive period in human history, I think it well to add a note to endeavour to remove a difficulty that has for generations puzzled students of the Holy Scriptures, in regard to the age to which the men before Abraham are stated to have lived. Sceptics have delightedly used this point as a weapon of assault upon Biblical history, and thus upon the Christian Faith. But the difficulty, it appears to me, has arisen from a want of knowledge amongst both the believers and sceptics of Europe and America of the methods of expression used in the primæval literature of Asia, as Governor Holwell pointed out a century and a half ago in his "India Tracts," and the modes of thought prevalent among the earliest races of that continent, and which, at least in their religious affairs, continue to this day, and have even been continued in the legal vocabulary of the British Constitution to our own times. Thus our constitutional lawyers and books tell us that, according to our law, "The King never dies,—he only vacates the throne," or demises the crown, yet no one imagines, or asserts by that expression, that the present reigning monarch is twelve hundred years of age, as he would be, dating from King Arthur, who is said to be his remote ancestor, or "father," as he would be called in the Hebrew, Arabic, or Chinese languages. The phrase of our constitutional law is merely what we now call a "survival" of a very ancient theory.

That theory, and the linguistic idiom of the first eleven chapters of Genesis, as still used in the religious ideas, and expression of them, amongst the Tibetans, Chinese, and kindred nations, is, that their Royal High Priest, the Great Lhama, and his subordinate high priests, equivalent to our archbishops of provinces, never die, but that their souls, their real selves, when their visible bodies grow old and inconvenient to them, go and select a son, or some beautiful child or youth, into whom they enter, and through whom they continue to exercise their beneficent duties as kings and priests, and thus are thousands of years old.

We know, from universal history, that the chief of every tribe was formerly always both priest and ruler, and as a fact in all organized states the chief magistrate, king, or president is actually so in our day, and decides with his advisers what doctrines or forms of religion shall be allowed amongst the citizens of the states over whom he, and they as his administrators, rule. I refrain from quoting illustrations for want of space. The fact is clear to every man who reflects.

Using the above lamp of history by which to read the early chapters of Genesis, we may safely conclude that the patriarchs of such apparently incredible length of life were actually priest-chiefs of tribes, whose souls were believed to have passed from the first organizer of the tribe, or the man who as head of a family originated, as Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob did, a powerful house which developed into a nation, and who ruled it by their descendants until by internal revolution or by being unseated and expelled from their hereditary offices by some conqueror, were said to have "died," in the linguistic idiom of their times.

This interpretation of that idiom was suggested to me when studying St. Paul's argument founded upon the history of Abraham. The Apostle, in the fourth chapter of Romans, quotes the fact that Abraham believed the promise of the Divine messenger that he should beget a son, when between 80 and 100 years of age, as a stupendous exhibition of "faith in God," when he believed that God could accomplish that promise by restoring to him, Abraham, procreative power, which the patriarch knew had ceased in himself by the natural decay of age, as it did in all men. But if Abraham's ancestor, Arphaxad, and his father, Terah, and all his contemporaries, had been accustomed to his own knowledge to produce "sons and daughters" from 35 years of age until 479 to 500 years, as recorded in Genesis, Ch. xi., and his grandfather, Nakhor, who died young, to 148, and Terah, his father, when 205 years old, it would have needed no faith at all of an extraordinary kind for Abraham to believe he could do the same when only 80, or need any special restoration of his youth by Divine power to enable him, as the messenger and the Apostle both said it did. It has long appeared extraordinary to me that neither the assailants of the Bible, nor its defenders, have seen this question in the light I now put it, and which is undoubtedly the right one.

St. Paul was a man of the most powerful and clear intellect, and from his splendid line of inductive reasoning relating to the subject he had in hand, proves that he was accustomed to read the First Book (or, as we call it now, Chapters) of Genesis in a very different sense to modern students, and evidently, from his studies of ancient Asiatic writers, now lost to us through the barbarian ravages and stupid illiteracy of the Romans, with a knowledge that the sense was different to the idiom of his day, and what my own researches in Oriental literature and history have shown to be the correct one, as above.

My defence for making this long note is, that this matter has been brought to me so frequently by sincere Christians as a tormenting source of doubt and mental unrest, and by anti-Christians triumphantly as a weapon to assail all religion, that I have felt it absolutely necessary to present the religious and scientific publics with the only true and rational solution of the problem; a solution supported by history.—F. FENTON.

GENESIS.

BOOK THE SECOND.

History of the House of Abram.

12 The EVER-LIVING then said to Abram, "Depart from your native land, and from the home of your forefathers, to the land to which I will direct you. And I will make you a great nation, and I will prosper and ennoble your name; and you shall be a benefactor; and I will bless those who benefit you, and punish those who injure you, and all the nations of mankind shall become benefited from you." So Abram departed, as the EVER-LIVING had told him; and Lot accompanied him; and Abram was seventy-five years old at his departure from Haran. Abram also took Sarai, his wife, and Lot the son of his brother, and the whole of his property which he possessed, and the slaves which he had acquired in Haran; and he proceeded to travel to the land of Canaan; and he came to the country of Canaan. Then Abram travelled in that country to the village of Shekhem, as far as Alon-Moreh, and the Canaanites were still in the land. The EVER-LIVING also appeared to Abram, and repeated, "I will give this country to your descendants." So he there built an altar to the EVER-LIVING Who had appeared to him. Afterwards he removed from there to the hills at the East of Bethel, and pitched his tent with Bethel at the west and Haai to the east. There he also built an Altar to the EVER-LIVING, and called upon the name of the EVER-LIVING. Then Abram marched on his journey, and proceeded to the south.

Abram's Visit to Egypt, or the Mizraim.

But a famine occurred in the land; and Abram went down to Egypt to stay there for a time, as the famine was severe in the land. And as they were approaching Egypt, he said to Sarai his wife, "See now, I know you are a fair woman; and it may be that when the Egyptians see you they will say, 'This is his wife'; and they may murder me, and keep you alive. Say, therefore, that you are my sister; so that they may show respect to me because of you, and my life may be saved by means of you." And on Abram entering Egypt, the Egyptians noticed that the woman was very fair. The courtiers of the Pharaoh also observed her and sung her praises to Pharaoh. The woman was accordingly taken to Pharaoh's palace. On her account he favoured Abram, and presented him with sheep, oxen, asses, slaves, and maids, as well as she-asses, and camels. But the EVER-LIVING disturbed Pharaoh and his household greatly on account of Sarai, the wife of Abram. So Pharaoh summoned Abram, and asked, "Why have you done this to me? Why did you not inform me that she was your wife? Why did you say, 'She is my sister'? For I might have secured her as a wife for myself. But now take your wife, and go." And Pharaoh ordered his men about him, and they sent him away, and his wife, and all that he had along with him.

So Abram went up from Egypt 13 with his wife, and all he possessed; and Lot accompanied him to the southern pastures. And Abram was 2 very rich in cattle, silver, and gold. Afterwards he marched from the 3 south towards Bethel, to the place where his tent had at first been pitched, between Bethel and Haai; to the place where he had formerly 4 built an Altar, and there Abram called upon the name of the EVER-LIVING. Lot also, who journeyed with Abram, 5 possessed sheep, cattle, and camp-followers; so that the land could not 6 support them living together; for their flocks were so great that they could not live together. A dispute 7 accordingly took place between Abram's shepherds and Lot's shepherds, and the Canaanite and the Perizzite, who inhabited the land.

So Abram said to Lot, "Let there 8 be no quarrel between me and you, or between my shepherds and your shepherds, for we are both of us brothers. Is not all the country 9 before you? I ask you to separate yourself from me; if you take to the left, then I will take to the right; if to the right, I will go to the left."

Lot therefore looked up, and 10 observed all the district of the Jordan, that it was everywhere well watered; before the LORD swept away Sodom and Gomorrah, it was like a Garden of the LORD, from the land of Egypt to the valley of Zoar. So the whole plain of the Jordan 11 pleased him, and Lot marched to the east; and they separated from each other. Abram accordingly remained 12 in the land of Canaan; and Lot remained in the villages of the plain, but resided at Sodom. The men of 13 Sodom, however, were very wicked and sinful in the presence of the EVER-LIVING.

The EVER-LIVING said to Abram, 14 after Lot separated from him, "Look upward, and from the place where you are take a view northward, and southward, and eastward, and westward; for all the land which you see, I will 15 give to you, and to your race for ever.¹

¹ The reader should carefully guard against taking the words "for ever" as meaning "eternally" or "without any cessation," as popular commentators have been wont to do. It is used in the Bible, at times, as we use it in daily life, to indicate only a long or indefinite period, as well as eternity.—F. F.

16 I will also make your race like the dust of the earth, so that if a man is able to count the dust of the earth, then he can number your race. Arise and march through the land, inspect both its length and its breadth, for I will give it to you." So Abram struck his camp, and came and settled in the Oakwoods of Mamrah which is near Hebron, and there he built an Altar to the EVER-LIVING.

War of Abram with the Five Kings.

14 It was now in the reign of Amrafel, king of Shinar,¹ Ariok, king of Ellassar, Kedarlaomer, king of Elam,² and Thidal, king of the Gentiles,³ and they waged war with Bera, king of Sodom, and with Bersha, king of Gomorrah, Shinab, king of Admah, and Shemeber, king of Zeboiim, and king Bela of Zoar. All these were defeated in the valley of Siddim (now known as the Salt Sea). They served Kedarlaomer for twelve years; but in the thirteenth year they rebelled. Accordingly, in the fourteenth year, Kedarlaomer and his allied kings defeated the Refaim at Ashteroth's Horn, and the Zuzim at Ham along with them, and the Emin at the Devil's Horns,⁴ and the Horites in the mountains of Seir, as far as the pastures which adjoin the desert. They then returned and came to the Well of Justice⁵ and conquered all the plain of Amalakites, and also the Amorites who inhabited the palm groves. The king of Sodom accordingly went out with the king of Gomorrah, and the king of Admah, and the king of Zeboiim, and king Bela of Zoar; and they commenced hostilities in the valley of Siddim with Kedarlaomer king of Elam, and Thidal king of the Gentiles, and Amrafel king of Shinar, and Ariok king of Ellassar—four kings against five. The valley of Siddim, however, was full of petroleum pits, and the kings of Sodom and Gomorrah took flight and fell there; and the Hittites pursued, and seized all the wealth of Sodom and Gomorrah, and the whole of their stores and marched off. They also took Lot, the nephew of Abram, and his chattels when they marched,

¹ Mesopotamia, as we now call it.

² Western Persia.

³ The heathen.

⁴ Hebrew, "Shava Qtrnm."

⁵ Or the Fountain of Judgment, "Kadesh."

for he resided in Sodom. A fugitive then came and reported to Abram, the Colonist, who had settled at the Oakwoods of Mamrah, the Amorite, the brother of Ashkol, and brother of Aner, who were confederate chiefs with Abram. When Abram heard that they had taken captive his relative, he then mustered the trained youths of his own family, to the number of three hundred and eighteen, and pursued to punish them; and overtook them in the night-time, and he and his followers defeated and pursued them to Hobah, which is on the north of Damascus. And he recovered all the property, as well as Lot his relative, and his property, together with the men and the people.

The king of Sodom then met him to congratulate him after his return from defeating Kedarlaomer, and the kings who were with him at the Devil's valley.¹ Melkizedek, also, king of Salem, came out to them with bread and wine; and he was a priest of ALMIGHTY GOD. And he gave him his blessing, and said:

"ALMIGHTY GOD, Creator of Heaven and Earth, bless Abram; and you thank the Most High who gave your enemies into your hand."

He then gave to him a tenth of all the spoil.

The king of Sodom also said to Abram, "You have given me my life, so take all the wealth to yourself."

But Abram replied to the king of Sodom, "I have lifted my hand to the EVER-LIVING GOD ALMIGHTY, the Maker of Heaven and Earth, against taking even a shoe-strap, or from taking anything that is yours, so that you may not say, 'I have made Abram rich;' except what the soldiers have eaten, and the share of the men who came with me, Aner, Ashkol, and Mamrah—allow them to take their share."

The Ever-living appears to Abram, with a Promise.

It was after these events that the EVER-LIVING spoke to Abram in a vision, saying, "Be not afraid. Abram; I am your Shield, your abundant reward; I will greatly enrich you."

¹ "(The same as the King's Valley)" is an inserted note of an ancient transcriber, not a part of the original text. I therefore put it at the foot of the page.—F. F.

- 2 But Abram replied, "Mighty GOD, why should You give to me, when I go childless? and the possessor of my house will be Eliezer of Damascus?"
- 3 And Abram continued, "Look at me; You have not given me offspring, so that the steward of my house will become my heir."
- 4 But the EVER-LIVING answered him, saying, "That man shall not be your heir; but one who shall owe his birth to yourself, shall become your heir."
- 5 Then He took him to the open, and said, "Look up to the sky, and count the stars;—if you are able to count them;" telling him also,
- 6 "Thus shall your race be." And Abram believed in the EVER-LIVING, and it was repaid to him in righteousness. He also said to him, "I am the EVER-LIVING Who brought you from Ur of the Kaldées to give you this land as an inheritance."
- 8 But he replied "Mighty LORD, how am I to know that I shall inherit it?"
- 9 Who answered him; "Select for me a three-year-old heifer, a three-year-old goat, a three-year-old ram, a turtle dove, and a young pigeon."
- 10 Taking all these he split them in the middle, and placed each part opposite its neighbour, but he did not split the birds. Then the kites descended upon the carcasses; but Abram
- 12 drove them away. And, when the sun was sinking, a stupor fell upon Abram, and also a great and terrible
- 13 darkness oppressed him.
- HE then said to Abram, "Know this, and be assured that your race will be foreigners in a land not their own, and they shall enslave them and oppress them for four hundred years.
- 14 The nation which enslaves them, however, I will punish, and after that I will bring them out with great
- 15 wealth. But you shall go to your forefathers in peace; you shall be buried with beautiful grey hairs.
- 16 And in several generations they shall return here, when the sins of the Amorites will be complete."
- 17 After the sun set, followed by thick darkness, a bright cloud appeared; a blazing fire, which passed between the
- 18 pieces. At the same time the EVER-LIVING made a covenant with Abram, saying, "I will give this country to your race, from the River of Egypt
- 19 to the great River Euphrates: The
- 20 Kenite, the Kenizzite, the Kadmonite, the Hittite and the Perizzite, and the 21 Refaim, and the Amorite, and the Canaanite, and the Girgashite, and the Jebusite."

Sarai advises Abram to marry Hagar.

Sarai, Abram's wife, had given him 16 no children, but she had an Egyptian maid named Hagar. So Sarai said to 2 Abram, "See, now, the EVER-LIVING has kept me childless, therefore go to my maid, perhaps she will have a son for me." And Abram listened to the voice of Sarai. Therefore Sarai, the 3 wife of Abram, took Hagar the Egyptian maid, at the end of the tenth year of Abram's residence in the land of Canaan, and gave her to Abram her husband, as a wife. So he went to 4 Hagar, and she conceived; when she saw that she had conceived, her mistress was despicable in her eyes. Then Sarai said to Abram, "My 5 wrong came from you. I gave my maid to you as wife, and she sees that she has conceived, and I am despicable in her eyes. Let the EVER-LIVING decide between me and you."

Abram answered Sarai, "Well, 6 your maid is under your hand; do to her whatever you consider right." So Sarai persecuted her, and she fled from her presence. A messenger of 7 the EVER-LIVING met her, however, at the Well of Waters in the Desert, at the Well by the road to the Wall, 8 and asked, "Hagar, servant of Sarai, where have you come from? and where are you going?"

And she answered, "I am flying from the hand of Sarai, my mistress." But the messenger of the EVER-LIVING 9 said, "Return to your mistress, and submit yourself to her." The EVER- 10 LIVING's messenger further said to her, "I will greatly increase your race, so that they cannot be numbered for multitude." The EVER-LIVING'S mes- 11 senger also continued, "You are now with child, and you will give birth to a son, and you must call his name Ishmael, for GOD heard your sorrow. And he shall be a free man; his hand 12 shall be with every man, and the hand of every man with him, and he shall stand up in the presence of all his brothers."

1 The wall across the Isthmus of Suez built to protect Egypt from border raiders.

2 "He shall hear God." לִישְׁמַעֵל = Ishmael in Hebrew.—F. F.

- 13 She accordingly called the name of the EVER-LIVING Who spoke to her. "You are the GOD I saw; I can say this, for I have lived after He appeared to me." So the well was named "the Well of the Vision of Life." It is situated between Kadesh and Bered. And Hagar gave birth to a son to Abram, and Abram called the name of his son by her, Ishmael.¹
- 15 Abram was eighty-six years old when Hagar gave birth to Ishmael to Abram.

The Second Appearance of Jehovah to Abram, and Promise of a Son to Sarai.

- 17 When Abram was ninety-six years old, the EVER-LIVING revealed again to Abram, and said to him, "I am GOD ALMIGHTY, walk before Me and be perfect; and I will make a Covenant between Myself and you; and I will increase you very, very greatly."
- 2 Abram then fell on his face, and
- 3 GOD spoke to him saying, "I now make a Covenant with you, and you shall be a father of many nations; so your name shall be Abraham; for you shall be the father of many nations. And I will make you very fruitful, and I will make nations and
- 7 kingdoms proceed from you. I will also establish My Covenant between Myself and you, and with your descendants after you from generation to generation for ever, to be a GOD
- 8 to you and your race after you. I will also give to you and your race this country where you are a foreigner, the whole land of Canaan for a possession for ever, and I will be their GOD."
- 9 GOD also repeated to Abraham, "Now this is the Covenant which you shall keep, as well as your race after
- 10 you, in their generations. This is the Covenant which you shall keep between Myself and you, and your race after you; Circumcise every male of them; and they shall be circumcised in the foreskin of the body, for an attestation of the Covenant
- 12 between Myself and them. And upon the eighth day every male shall be circumcised, in their generations, whether born of the family, or purchased for money; although he is
- 13 not of your race. Whoever is the child of your own family, or bought for money, shall be circumcised; and it is My Covenant in your body as an everlasting bond. But the degraded male who has not been circumcised shall then become separated from My people, because he has broken the Covenant."

GOD further said to Abraham, "Sarai, your wife, shall no more be called by the name of Sarai, for Sarah shall be her name; and I will bless her, and also give you a son from her, and she shall become the mother of nations, and of kings of peoples."

Then Abraham fell upon his face and laughed, and said in his heart, "When I am an hundred years old? and will Sarah also, when ninety years of age, have children?" Then Abraham said to GOD, "I wish that Ishmael might live in Your favour."

God repeats His Promise to Ishmael.

And GOD replied, "Feeble Sarah, your wife, shall give you a son, and you shall call his name Isaac; and I will fix My Covenant with him as an everlasting Covenant for his race after him. And for Ishmael I have also heard you. My Blessing will be with him, and I will cause him to prosper and extend him very greatly. He shall beget twelve princes, and I will grant him to become a great nation; but that other is the covenant I will fix with Isaac, whom Sarah your wife will bear about this time next year." Then He ceased to converse with Him, and the Divine Messenger went up from Abraham.

Abraham accordingly took his son Ishmael, and all who were born in his family, and all bought with his money, every male of the people of the household of Abraham, and circumcised the foreskin of their bodies on that very day which God spoke to him. And Abraham was ninety-nine years old when he was circumcised in the foreskin of the body. Ishmael also was thirteen years of age when he was circumcised in the foreskin of his body. On the very same day Abraham and his son Ishmael were circumcised. All the men born in his house, or bought with his money, and foreigners, were circumcised with him.

¹ See note ² on p. 14.

⁴ Laughter.

God appears a Third Time to Abraham.

- 18 The LORD again revealed to him at the Oakwoods of Mamrah, when he sat at the door of his tent in the heat of the day.
- 2 Then he raised his eyes and looked, and saw three men standing opposite to him; and he looked, and called to them from the door of his tent, and bowing to the ground, said,
- 3 "My masters, if now I have found favour in your eyes, will you not come 4 in to your servant? Take a little water, and wash your feet, and rest 5 under the wood; and take a bit of bread, and refresh your heart, and afterwards proceed; perhaps for this you passed near your servant?"
- And they replied, "Do as you have 6 said." Abraham then hastened into his tent to Sarah, and said, "Hasten with 7 three measures of fine flour kneaded and make cakes." Abraham also ran to the fold, and took a fine, fat calf and gave it to a youth, who at 8 once dressed it. Then he took cheese and milk, and the calf which he had dressed, and placed before them, and he stood opposite them under the 9 trees while they were eating. They afterwards asked him, "Where is Sarah your wife?" and he replied, "She is in the tent."
- 10 They then said, "I will restore you, as at the period of youth, and there shall come a son from Sarah your wife," and Sarah heard it at the door of the tent, where she was behind 11 him. Now, Abraham and Sarah were old—advanced in years and feeble. It was not with Sarah as 12 women are; so Sarah laughed in her apartment, saying, "After I am wasted, will there be pleasure for me, even when my master is old?"
- 13 The Lord¹ consequently said to Abraham, "Why did Sarah laugh? saying, 'Shall I suckle a child when 14 I am old?' Is it a great thing for the EVER-LIVING to say, 'At such a time, I will return to you the period of youth, and give a son to Sarah?'"
- 15 But Sarah denied, replying, "I did not laugh," for she was afraid. He, however, answered, "Yes, you did laugh."

¹ The word Lord here does not mean the Almighty, but only the Divine Messenger. See note on Exodus, Ch. iv. v 24, and Ch. vi. v. 3.—F. F.

The Doom of Sodom.

The men then departed from there, 16 and faced towards Sodom, and Abraham walked with them to converse. Then the LORD said, 17 "Shall I conceal from Abraham what I am about to do? When 18 Abraham is to become a great and mighty nation, and every nation of the earth to be blest through him? For I have instructed him in order 19 that he may command his sons, and the sons of his house after him, that they must keep to the path of the EVER-LIVING, and do right and justice, so that the EVER-LIVING may cause to come upon Abraham what He has promised to him." So the 20 LORD continued: "Sodom and Gomorrah shriek, for their sins are many; and are very grievous. I 21 have therefore come down and I will see what causes the shrieks that have come to Me: have they full cause? if not I will know."

So the men turned from there, and 22 went towards Sodom; but Abraham stood firm in the presence of the LORD; and Abraham approached 23 and said, "Will You destroy the just along with the wicked? If there are 24 fifty just persons within the city, will You destroy it, and not raise Your hand from the place, because of the fifty just persons that are within it? Far be it from You to do as You have 25 said, thus to kill the just with the wicked, and to make the just and the wicked alike. It is far from You. Will not the Judge of the whole earth do justice?"

The LORD accordingly answered, 26 "If I find fifty just men in the whole city of Sodom, then I will for their sakes take off My hand from all the place."

Then Abraham answered and said, 27 "See, now, I began to speak to my LORD, although I am but dust and ashes. If there should want five just 28 persons of the fifty, will You sweep away the whole city for want of five?"

And He answered, "I will not sweep it away, if I find there forty-five."

But he continued still to speak to 29 Him, and said, "If there are found forty there?"

He replied, "I will not do it for the sake of the forty."

"Still," he said, "let not my LORD 30 be angry now, and I will speak; if thirty are found there?"

And He answered, "I will not do it if I find thirty."

31 He continued however, "See, now, I will dare to speak to my LORD; if there are found twenty there?"

And He answered, "I will not destroy it for the sake of the twenty."

32 He then said, "Let not my LORD be angry now, and I will speak once more; if ten are found there?"

And He replied, "I will not destroy it for the sake of the ten."

33 Then the LORD went to do what He had told to Abraham; and Abraham returned to his own place.

The Destruction of Sodom for Sin.

19 And two of the Messengers came to Sodom at evening, when Lot was sitting at the gate of Sodom, and Lot saw and rose to invite them, and 2 bowed his face to the ground, and said, "See now my good sirs, turn aside to the house of your servant, and rest yourselves, and wash your feet, and quench your thirst, and you can then proceed on your journey."

But they replied, "No; for we must go further."

3 Then he pressed them much; so they turned with him, and came to his house; and he made them a repast with unleavened cakes, and 4 they partook of them. It was not yet time for sleep, when the men of the city, the men of Sodom, surrounded the house, from youths to old men; in fact, all the people of the 5 neighbourhood; and called out to Lot, and said to him, "Where are the men who came to you to-night? bring them out to us, that we may ravish them."

6 Lot however went out to them to the porch; and the doors were closed behind him; and he said, "My friends, do not commit such wickedness. 8 Look now, I have two virgin daughters; I will bring them to you, and you can do to them whatever you like; only to these men do not such a thing; for as a protection from it, they came to the shelter of my roof."

9 But they replied, "Be off with that! This fellow came here a foreigner, and he dictates decisions; now it shall be worse for you than for them."

Then they rushed to the man Lot with a vengeance, and attempted to break the gates. But the men put 10 out their hands, and brought Lot to themselves into the house, and closed the gates; and they struck the men 11 in front of the house with blindness, from the youngest to the oldest, so that they could not find the door-way.

Then the men said to Lot, "Now, 12 who is with you here, relative, or son or daughter, or any one that you have in this city; let them go out from this place, for we shall destroy 13 this place, for its great shriek has come before the EVER-LIVING; and the EVER-LIVING has sent us to destroy it." Lot therefore went out 14 and spoke to his relatives, to the husbands of his daughters, and said, "Come let us go out from this place, for the EVER-LIVING will destroy the city."

But he was considered a fool in the eyes of his relatives. So, when dawn 15 arrived, the Messengers urged Lot, saying: "Get up, take your wife and your two daughters, and go out, for the crimes of this city are completed."

But he hesitated; so the men 16 seized hold of his hand, and the hand of his wife, and the hands of his two daughters, from the pity of the LORD towards him, and brought them out, and placed them outside the city. And when they had brought 17 them out, they then said, "Fly for your life! Look not behind you, and delay not, in all the plain; take flight to the mountains; take yourself there."

But Lot answered them, "Oh! my 18 Lords, let now your servant find favour in your sight, and increase the kindness which you have done to me, to enliven my soul; for I am not able to 19 escape to the hills before the disaster will overtake me, and I shall die. See 20 now this city, it is easy to escape there, in a little time I can escape to there; is it not a trifle? and my life will be preserved."

So one replied to him, "Yes, I will 21 accept your presence, also for this thing, I will not destroy this town on behalf of which you have spoken. Be 22 quick to escape there, for I am not able to do the thing until you arrive there." He accordingly called the name of that place Tzoar.¹ The 23

¹ Trife.

sun had risen above the land when Lot entered Tzoar.

- 24 The EVER-LIVING then rained upon Sodom, and upon Gomorrah, lightning and fire from the EVER-
- 25 LIVING from the skies, and overwhelmed those towns, them and all the plain, and all the inhabitants of the towns, and the produce of the
- 26 land. But his wife looked back, and was transformed into a pillar of salt.
- 27 And when Abraham went in the morning to the place where he stood before the Lord, and looked out towards Sodom and Gomorrah, and towards all the land of the plain, he saw and perceived a stench and smoke rise up from the country, like the smoke from a furnace.
- 29 Thus it was that GOD destroyed the cities of the plain. But GOD remembered Abraham, and sent Lot beyond the reach of the destruction with which he destroyed those towns
- 30 where Lot lived. And Lot went up from Tzoar, and settled in the hills along with his two daughters, for he was afraid to stay in Tzoar; so he lived in a cave along with his two
- 31 daughters. And the elder said to the younger, "Our father grows old, and there is not a man in the country to come to us as others do all the
- 32 world over. Come on, let us make our father drunk with wine, and cohabit with him; and it may be that we shall have children by our father."
- 33 So they made their father drunk with wine that night, and the elder went and lay with her father, but he was not aware of the fact when she lay down or rose up.
- 34 It was some time afterwards that the elder said to the younger, "See, I went with my father the other night, let us make him drunk with wine also to-night, and you can go and lie with him, and it may be you will have
- 35 children by your father." So they made their father drunk also that night with wine, and the younger rose and went with him, and he knew not when she lay down or
- 36 when she rose up. Thus both of the daughters of Lot conceived from their father. Then the elder gave birth to a son, and she called his name Moab; he was the ancestor of
- 37 Moab, of to-day. And the younger also gave birth to a son, and she called his name Ben-Ami; he was the ancestor of Ammon, of to-day.

Abraham and Abimelek.

Abraham then removed quietly 20 from there landward, and settled between Kadesh and the Wall, and resided in Gherar. And as Abraham 2 said of Sarah his wife, "She is my sister," Abimelek the king of Gherar sent and took Sarah. GOD, however, 3 came to Abimelek in a dream at night, and said, "Beware of death because of this woman whom you have taken, for she is a man's wife."

But Abimelek had not made ad- 4 vances to her, so he replied, "My LORD, would you kill a just person? Has not this man said to me 'She is my sister?' and did not she herself 5 say to me, 'He is my brother?' In the honesty of my heart, and the innocence of my hand, I have done this."

Then GOD said to him in a dream, 6 "I also know that in the honesty of your heart you have done this, so I restrained you; I also warned you from sin against Me; therefore I did not permit you to approach her. So 7 now return the woman to her husband, for he is a Great Teacher, and will intercede for you. But if you do not return her, know that you shall certainly die, and all that you have."

When Abimelek awoke in the 8 morning, he called his ministers, and related in their hearing the whole of these events, and the men were greatly afraid. Abimelek con- 9 sequently called Abraham and asked him, "What have you done to us? and what have I sinned against you, that you have brought on me and my kingdom this great danger for acts they have not done? You have done us a wrong." And Abimelek con- 10 tinued to Abraham, "What have you seen that you have done this thing?"

But Abraham replied, "I said that, 10 perhaps, there is no fear of GOD in this place, and they will kill me on 11 account of my wife. And indeed she 12 is my sister, the daughter-in-law of my father, but not of my mother; and she was given to me for a wife. But 13 when GOD caused me to be a wanderer from my father's house, then I said to her, 'This is the kindness which you shall show to me in every place where we come; say I am your brother.'"

Abimelek, however, took sheep, 14 oxen, slaves, and girls, and gave to

- Abraham; and he returned Sarah his wife to him. And Abimelek said,
- 15 "See my country is before you, stay wherever it is good for your eyes;" while to Sarah he said, "I have given a thousand gifts to this 'brother' of yours, for he must be a covering of the eyes to all who are with you, and to all who meet you."
- 17 Then Abraham appealed for Abimelek to GOD; and GOD made the wives of Abimelek fruitful, and his servants as well, and they gave birth to children; because the EVER-LIVING had sterilized those of the household of Abimelek, on account of Sarah the wife of Abraham.

The Promise fulfilled in Isaac.

- 21 The EVER-LIVING afterwards effected with Sarah what He had promised, and the LORD did for Sarah that which He had said; and Sarah conceiving, gave birth to a son to Abraham in his old age, in the way that GOD had promised him. Abraham accordingly gave the son born to him, by Sarah, the name of Isaac; and Abraham circumcised Isaac on the eighth day, as GOD had instructed him. And Abraham was then one hundred years old when his son Isaac was born to him. Sarah then said,
- "GOD has made a delight for me; For He has heard my laugh to Him, All who hear will laugh with me;"
- 7 and she continued,
- "For Abraham I am a flowing brook,
- He has made me suckle children, For I have borne a son to his age."
- 8 When the lad grew and was weaned, Abraham celebrated the weaning of Isaac with a great feast. Sarah also saw the son, which Hagar the Egyptian had borne to Abraham, playing;
- 10 and said to Abraham, "Drive out my maid and her son, for the son of this slave shall not be an inheritor with my son Isaac."

The Renewed Promise to Ishmael.

- 11 But in Abraham's view, this speech was very bad, in regard to his son;
- 12 but GOD said to Abraham: "Let it not be disheartening in your sight; do all that Sarah has said against the lad, and against his mother. Listen to what she says; for from Isaac I will nominate an Heir to you. And also
- 13 from the son of your second wife I will found a great nation:—for he is your heir."

Abraham accordingly rose up at 14 dawn; and taking bread and a skin of water, he placed them on the shoulder of Hagar, and the lad's, and sent her away; and she went and wandered in the desert of Beer-sheba.¹ When the water in the skin was ex- 15 hausted, however, she placed the lad under a bush; and went and seated 16 herself on the other side, about the distance of a bow shot, for she said, "I shall not then see the lad's death." So she rested on the other side, and she raised her voice and wept. GOD 17 then heard the voice of the youth, and a Messenger of GOD called from the sky to Hagar and said to her, "What, Hagar, is the matter? Be not afraid, for GOD has heard the voice of the lad, from where he is. Arise, 18 take the lad, and support him, for I will make from him a great Nation." Then GOD opened her eyes, and she 19 saw a spring of water, at which she filled the skin, and she gave the lad a drink. Thus GOD gave life to the lad, 20 and he grew, and dwelt in the desert, and became a mighty archer, and settled in the desert of Paran; and 21 she took a wife for him from the land of Egypt.

Abraham's Treaty with Abimelek.

It was about this time that Abime- 22 lek, and Pikel the commander of his army, addressed Abraham, saying, "GOD is with you in all that you do. So now take an oath to me before 23 GOD, that you may not deceive, and to my children and posterity, that the kindness which I have shown to you, you will show to me, and to the land where you have been a foreigner."

And Abraham replied, "I will take 24 the oath." Abraham then reproved 25 Abimelek about the affair of the well of water, which the servants of Abimelek had stolen.

Then Abimelek answered, "I did 26 not myself know of that matter; and neither did you report it to me; and I never heard it until to-day."

Abraham then took sheep and oxen, 27 and gave to Abimelek, and the two entered into a treaty. Abraham then took seven she-lambs from his flock, and put them aside.

Abimelek then asked Abraham, 28

¹ The Well of the Oath.

- 29 "What are these seven lambs for, which you have put by themselves?"
- 30 "You take these seven lambs from my hand," he answered, "that they may be an evidence for me that I dug this well." They accordingly called that place the Well of the Oath,¹ and he entered into a treaty at the Well of the Oath, with both Abimelek and Pikel, the commander of his army. Then they returned to the land of the Philistines. They also planted tamarisk trees by the Well of the Oath, and called there on the name of the EVER-LIVING ETERNAL GOD. So Abraham remained in the land of the Philistines for many days.

The Trial of Abraham's Faith.

- 22 After these events, GOD tried Abraham and said to him, "Abraham," and he replied "I am here."
- 2 Then He said, "Take your son, your peculiar one, whom you love—Isaac—and go to the Land of Vision, and offer him there as a burnt-offering upon one of the hills which I will point out to you."
- 3 When Abraham woke in the morning he saddled his ass, and took two youths along with him, and Isaac his son, and split up wood for a sacrifice; and they rose up and went to the place which God had told him. On the third day, Abraham looked up, and saw the spot some distance off.
- 5 Then Abraham said to his attendants, "Stay here by yourselves, with the ass, and the lad and I will go and worship, and will then return to you."
- 6 Abraham accordingly took the wood for the sacrifice and placed it upon Isaac his son, and took in his own hand the fire and the knife, and the two went together.
- 7 Isaac then said to Abraham, his father, "My father," and he replied, "I am here, my son." "There is fire and wood," he said, "but where is the lamb for the burnt-offering?"
- 8 "God," answered Abraham, "will provide a lamb for Himself for a burnt-offering, my son;" so they went on together. When they came to the place that GOD had commanded him, Abraham built an altar, and arranged the wood, and bound Isaac his son, and laid him upon the altar, upon the top of the wood. Then Abraham stretched out his hand, and took the knife to slaughter his son; but a Messenger from the EVER-LIVING called to him from the skies, and said, "Abraham! Abraham!" And he replied, "I am here." "Stretch not your hand against the young man," he said, "nor do to him what you intended, for now I know that you reverence GOD, and would not withhold from Me your son, your special one."

¹ Beer-sheba.

Abraham then looked up and saw a goat caught in a bush by its horns. So Abraham went, and took the goat, and offered it as a burnt-offering instead of his son. Abraham therefore called the name of that place Jehovah-Irah.¹ Then the messenger of the EVER-LIVING called again to Abraham from the skies, and said to him, "I promise," the LORD declares, "that because you have done this thing, and not held back your special son, that when blessing I will bless you, and when increasing I will increase your race as the stars of the skies, and like the sand upon the sea-shore; and your race shall possess the gates of its enemies; and I will benefit all the nations of the earth through your heir, because you have listened to My voice."

Abraham afterwards returned to his attendants, and they rose up and went back to the Well of the Oath.

After these events a message was delivered to Abraham, "Your sister Milka has given birth to children to Nahor your brother, Uz and his brother Buz, and Kemuel the father of Aram, and Kesed, and Hazo, and Kildash, and Zidlaf, and Bethuel; and Bethuel has produced Rebekka, these eight Milka has borne to Nahor your brother. And his second wife, whose name is Raumah, she also has given birth to Tabakh, and Gaham, and Thahash, and Makah."

The Death of Sarah.

Now the life of Sarah was one hundred and twenty-seven years, the whole of the life of Sarah; and Sarah died in Kiriath-Arba,² in the land of Canan; and Abraham came to mourn and lament for Sarah.

¹ The Revealing LORD. The words, "It is said to this day, In the Hill of the LORD it can be seen," are a note of an old copyist, not part of the text of Moses.—F. F.

² "Now Hebron," is also an ancient explanatory note.—F. F.

- 3 Then Abraham rose up from the presence of his dead, and spoke to the sons of Heth saying; "I am a foreigner and wanderer with you, give me the possession of a grave among you, and I can bury my dead from my sight."
- 5 And the sons of Heth replied to Abraham, "We listen to my lord, who stands like a god among us. Choose from our tombs a grave for your dead. None of us will deny his tomb to you, where you can bury your dead."
- 7 Then Abraham rose up, and bowed to the people of the land, to the sons of Heth, and addressed them saying; "If it is in your minds to let my dead be buried from my sight, listen to me, and apply for me to Ephron, the son of Tzohar, and let him sell to me the Cave of Macphelah, which is within the boundaries of his land. He shall sell it to me for full value as a tomb possessed among you."
- 10 Now Ephron resided among the sons of Heth, and Ephron spoke after Abraham, in the hearing of the sons of Heth, to all who came to the gates of the town, saying; "No, my lord, listen to me! I give you the field, and the cave that is in it; I give it to you in the presence of the sons of my people; I give it to you as a grave to bury your dead."
- 12 Then Abraham bowed to the people of the land; and addressed Ephron in the hearing of the people of the land, saying; "Nay, if you are disposed to listen to me, I will pay you money for the field; so accept it from me and I will bury my dead there."
- 14 Then Ephron, in reply to Abraham said; "My lord, listen to me; for four hundred shekels of money between me and you, the land is yours, and you can bury your dead."
- 16 So Abraham listened to Ephron, and Abraham weighed to Ephron the money which he had agreed upon, in the sight of the sons of Heth, four hundred shekels of silver currency.
- 17 Thus he bought the field of Ephron, that is in Macphelah, which is opposite Mamrah, the field and the cave which is in it, and all the trees which were in the field, with all the hedge around it. Thus Abraham bought it in the presence of the sons of Heth, of all who came to the gate of the town; and after that, Abraham buried Sarah his wife in the cave of the field of Macphelah, opposite Mamrah,¹ in the land of Canan; and the field with the cave in it was acquired by Abraham for a burial ground from the sons of Heth.

The History of Isaac's Marriage.

Abraham however grew old, and advanced in years; and the LORD had prospered Abraham in everything. Then Abraham said to his servant, the chief of his household, and steward over all he had; "I wish you to put your hand under my thigh, and take an oath to me by the EVER-LIVING, the GOD of Heaven, and the GOD of the earth, that you will not take a wife for my son from the Cananites, among whom I reside; but that you will go to my old family, and take a wife for my son Isaac."

But the servant asked him, "If a woman does not desire to come along with me to this country, shall I return and take your son to the land from which you came?"

When Abraham, in reply to him said, "Be careful not to take my son there. The EVER-LIVING, the GOD of Heaven, who took me from my father's home, and from the land of my birth, and who spoke to me, and also took oath to me, saying, 'I will give this country to your race,' He will send His Messenger before you; and you will bring a wife for my son from there. But if a woman does not desire to come along with you, then you shall be free from this oath; except that you must never take my son there."

Abraham's servant accordingly put his hand under the thigh of his master, and took an oath to him upon this matter. The servant afterwards took ten camels of his master, and plenty of his master's wealth in his hand, and rose up, and went to Aram-between-the-Rivers, to the town of Nahor; and he knelt the camels outside the town, at the well of water, in the evening, at the time when they came out to draw water, and prayed;—

"EVER-LIVING GOD of my master, Abraham, turn now Your face to-day, and do a kindness to my master

¹ The words, "That is now Hebron," are the note of an ancient editor, not part of the original text, for Hebron had not attained its name in the days of Moses.—F. F.

13 Abraham. I am here encamped at the spring of water; and the daughters of the men of the town will come out to draw water; so let it be, that when

14 the girl to whom I say, 'Hand me your jar, and I will drink,' if she replies, 'Drink, and I will also give drink to your camels,' let Your servant take her to Isaac; for by that I shall know that You will do a kindness to my master."

15 And it so happened, as he was coming to the end of his prayer, that Rebekka, who was the daughter of Bethuel, the son of Milka, wife of Nahor, the brother of Abraham, came out with a bucket upon her shoulder;

16 and the girl was very beautiful to look upon, a maiden, who had no sweet-heart, and she ran to the well, filled her bucket, and drew it up. The steward was delighted, and spoke to her, and said; "Will you give me a drink of a little of the water from your bucket?"

18 "Drink, sir," was her reply, and she tripped on, and lowered her bucket to her hand and gave him a drink. When she had given him a drink, she added, "And now, I will draw for your camels, that they may all have a drink." Then she ran and carried her bucket to the spring, and dipped it into the well to draw, and she drew for all the camels. The man watched her silently, to know whether or not the EVER-LIVING had granted prosperity to his journey.

22 And when she had watered all the camels, then the man took a brooch of gold of half a shekel, and placed on her arms two bracelets of rich gold of a shekel and said, "My girl, will you now ask the men of your father's house for a place for us to lodge in?"

24 And she answered him, "I am the daughter of Bethuel, the son of Milka, whom she had to Nahor." And she continued, "We have plenty of straw and fodder, and room enough for you to lodge."

26 Then the man bowed, and thanked the EVER-LIVING, and said; "Thank the EVER-LIVING GOD of my master Abraham, Who has not forgotten His goodness and truth to my master, for the EVER-LIVING has led me to the house of the brother of my master."

28 And the girl ran, and reported to the house of her mother, as it is here related; and to Rebekka's brother, whose name was Laban. Then Laban rose to go to the man who rested near the well, when he saw the brooches and the bracelets on the hands of his sister, and heard the words of Rebekka his sister, "That the man said this to me," he went to the man, who remained by the well with his camels, and said, "Come in, you blessed of the LORD. Why do you stand outside, when I offer you the house, and a stable for your camels?" Then the man entered his house, and he unloaded the camels, and gave straw and fodder to the camels, and water to wash his feet, and the feet of the young men, who were with him. He also placed food before them.

But he replied; "I will not eat until I have delivered my message."

"Speak," he said.

"I am the servant of Abraham," he answered; "and the EVER-LIVING has prospered my master very greatly; and has given to him sheep and oxen, and silver and gold, and men and women servants, camels and asses. Sarah also, my master's wife, had a son to my master, a son in his old age, and he will give him all he has. Now my master has pledged me to say, 'Take not a wife for my son from the daughters of the Cananites among whom I reside in their land; but go instead, to the home of my father, and choose a wife for my son from among my own family.' I replied to my master, 'Perhaps the woman will not come with me.' Then he said to me; 'The EVER-LIVING Who has caused me to walk in His presence, will send His Messenger along with you, and He will guide you in your path so as to secure a wife for my son, from among the children of my own tribe, and from the home of my father. So take an oath to me that you will go to my tribe, and if they will not give to you, you shall be free from your oath to me.' And I came to-day to the well, and said, 'LORD the GOD of my master Abraham, if it pleases You, point me to the path that I should follow. See! I have arrived at this well of water, so let it be that when a young girl comes to draw, when I say to her give me a little water from your bucket and she answers to me, "Drink yourself, and I will also draw for the camels," she shall be the wife the LORD will grant to the son of my master.' This speech had not come to an end on my lips, when Rebekka approached with her bucket upon her shoulder; and she dropped it into the well, and drew. Then I said to her, 'Pray, give me a drink,' and she quickly lowered the bucket from off her, and said; 'Drink, and I will also water your camels.' So I drank; and she watered the camels as well. Then I inquired of her and asked; 'My girl, who are you?' And she replied, 'The daughter of Bethuel, the son of Nahor, whom Milka had to him.' So I placed the brooches on her brow, and the bracelets upon her hands. Then I bowed to the LORD and worshipped, and thanked the EVER-LIVING GOD of my master Abraham, Who had been kind to me, leading me in the right way to the house of the brother of my master, for his son. And now, if it is your will to show kindness and truth to my master, inform me; and if not, tell me so, and I will turn to the right or to the left."

Then Laban and Bethuel answered and said, "This has proceeded from the LORD; we are not able to say to you either good or ill. See, Rebekka is before you; take her and go; and she shall be a wife to the son of your master, as the EVER-LIVING has directed."

And when Abraham's steward heard their words, he bowed to the ground to the LORD. The steward also brought out ornaments of silver, and ornaments of gold and clothing, and put them upon Rebekka; and gave treasures to her brother and mother. Then they ate and drank he and the men with him, and rested; and rising in the morning, he said, "I will now return to my master." The brother and mother, however, said, "Let the girl remain with us a day or two, after that she shall go."

He, however, replied, "If she will not go with me, then the LORD will prosper the way of return, and I will go back to my master."

Then they said, "Let the girl be called, and ask her own self." So they called Rebekka, and asked her, "Will you go with this man?" "I will go," was her reply. They, therefore, sent off Rebekka their sister, with her nurse, and the steward of Abraham and his attendants, and they gave Rebekka their blessing, and said to her;

"You are our sister. Increase to thousands, and may your descendants possess the gate of their enemies." Then they lifted Rebekka and her attendants, and placed them upon camels and they rode after the man; thus the steward took Rebekka and departed.

Now, Isaac was travelling towards the Well of Vision, for he resided in the south country; and he had come out to meditate in the field at the approach of the evening, and there he raised his eyes and looked, and saw camels coming. Rebekka also raised her eyes, and saw Isaac, and dismounted from her camel, and asked the steward, "What man is that who walks in the field?" and the steward replied, "He is my master." So she took a veil, and put it on. Then the steward reported to Isaac all the things that he had done; and Isaac brought her to the tent of his mother Sarah; so he took Rebekka, and she was a wife to him, and he loved her, and Isaac was comforted after his mother.

Abraham and Melurah.

Abraham prospered, and he took a wife whose name was Keturah, and she bore him Zimram, and Yokshan, and Midan, and Midian, and Ishbak, and Shuakh. And Yokshan begot Sheba, and Dedan. And the sons of Dedan were Ashurim, and Tushim, and Lammim. And the sons of Midian, Aifah and Afer, and Hanok, and Abida, and Aldaha, all were descendants from Keturah. Abraham left all that was with him to Isaac, but to the sons of the secondary wives that Abraham had, Abraham gave fortunes and sent them from his son Isaac, during his own life, to the east of the eastern country.

These were the days of the life of Abraham that he lived; one hundred and seventy-five years; so Abraham expired and died, a fine grey-headed old man, and satisfied, and they placed him with his people; and his sons Isaac and Ishmael buried him in the cave of Makphelah on the estate of Ephron the son of Zohar the Hittite, which is before Mamrah; the field which Abraham bought from the sons of Heth; there Abraham was buried

- 11 with Sarah his wife. After the death of Abraham GOD prospered Isaac his son, and he resided at the Well of Vision.

The History of Ishmael.

- 12 Now these are the sons of Ishmael, son of Abraham, whom Hagar, the Egyptian, the slave of Sarah, had by 13 Abraham. These are the names of the sons of Ishmael, by the names of their families. The eldest of Ishmael was Nebioth, and Kedar, and Abdal, 14 and Mibsam, Mishma, and Dumah,
15 and Masa; Khader, and Thema,
16 Zetur, Nafish, and Kadmah. These were sons of Ishmael; and these their names, by their villages and towers, twelve men by their nations.
17 The years of the life of Ishmael were a hundred and thirty-seven years, when he expired and died, and was 18 added to his people; and they took him from Havilah to the Wall which is between Egypt and the road to Ashur, laying him with all his relatives.

History of Isaac.

- 19 And these are the children of Isaac, son of Abraham; Abraham begat 20 Isaac. And Isaac son of Abraham was forty years old when he took for his wife Rebekka the daughter of Bethuel the Aramite of Padan Aram, and sister of Laban the Aramite.
21 And Isaac prayed to the EVER-LIVING about his wife, for she was childless, and the LORD answered him; for 22 Rebekka his wife conceived, and the children struggled together in her breast and she consequently said, "Why does this happen to me?" so went to enquire of the EVER-LIVING.
23 And the LORD said to her, "Two nations are in your breast, and two peoples shall proceed from your womb, and one people shall be stronger than the other people, and the elder shall serve the younger."
24 When her days were full for her 25 delivery there were twins; and the first born boy came out covered with hair, and she called his name Esau.¹ Then after him came his 26 brother, with his hand holding the heel of Esau, so they called his name Jacob.²
Isaac was sixty years old at the birth of them.

¹ The Halry.

² The Tripper-up.

Esau sells his Birthright foolishly.

When the lads grew up, Esau was 27 a man skilful in hunting,—a man of the field; but Jacob was a quiet man,—a stayer in the tent. So Isaac loved 28 Esau because he hunted with him; but Rebekka loved Jacob.

Once when Jacob was boiling por-29 ridge, Esau came from the field, and he was exhausted; so Esau said to 30 Jacob, "Feed me now with that red porridge, for I am exhausted"; therefore they called his name "Red-soup."¹

But Jacob replied, "Sell me your 31 Birthright to-day."

Then Esau answered, "Now I am 32 going to die—what is that Birthright to me?"

So Jacob said, "Swear to me now 33 at once." And he swore to him, and sold his Birthright to Jacob.

Then Jacob gave to Esau bread
34 and lentil porridge, and he ate, and drank, and rose up, and went. Thus Esau was careless about his Birthright.

Isaac during a Famine goes to Gherar.

Afterwards there was a famine in 20 the land, beside the former famine which was in the days of Abraham, so Isaac went to Abimalek, king of the Philistines of Gherar. Then the
2 EVER-LIVING appeared to him in a vision and said, "Descend not to Mitzer;³ dwell in the land that I promised you; remain in this land,
3 and I will be with you, and will bless you, for to you and your race I will give the whole of this country as a dwelling; and I will complete the oath which I swore to your father Abraham; and I will increase your race like the 4 stars of the sky; and I will give to your race the whole of this country for a home, and I will bless all the nations of the earth through your Heir. In accordance with what I
5 promised to Abraham according to My words;—'if you will carefully keep My commands and statutes and 6 laws.'" So Isaac remained in Gherar.

When the men of the place asked 7 about his wife, he replied, "She is my sister," for he feared to say, "my wife," lest the men of the place should murder him for Rebekka, for she was beautiful to look on. After he had 8 resided a considerable time, it happened that Abimalek king of the Philis-

¹ Edom.

² Egypt.

9 times was looking out of his window, when he saw Isaac sporting with his wife Rebekka. Abimalek therefore summoned Isaac, and said; "Now she is your wife!—then why did you say to me 'she is my sister'?"

And Isaac answered, "Because I said to myself, I fear they will kill me because of her."

10 "Why did you do so to us?" Abimalek said, "perhaps one of the people might have lain with your wife, and you would have brought sin upon us." Abimalek, therefore, commanded to all his people, saying, "Whoever touches this man, he shall as surely die."

Isaac goes to Bashan and Elsewhere.

12 Isaac, however, removed from that country, and went to Bashan, he and his possessions, and the EVER-LIVING prospered him. Thus the man travelled about and increased until 13 he was very great. He also had flocks of sheep and herds of cattle, and many servants, and the Philistines were envious of him; so the Philistines filled with earth all the wells that the servants of his father Abraham had dug in his days. Abimalek, also, said to Isaac, "Go from among us, for you are much stronger than 14 we." So Isaac went from there, and encamped by the river Gherar, and remained there. Isaac, also, settled, and cleared out the wells of water which were dug in the time of his father Abraham, and he called them by the names they were called in the 15 days of his father. The servants of Isaac also dug in the valley and discovered there a spring of living water. 16 But the shepherds of Gherar contended with the shepherds of Isaac, and said, "The water is ours," so he called the name of the well Strife, 17 because they disputed with him. He therefore dug another well, and they contended about that also, so he called its name Contention. He then 18 removed from there, and dug another well, and they did not fight over it, so he called its name "Room-enough," for he said, "Now, LORD, You have given us room, and made us fruitful 19 in the land." Afterwards he arose from there and went to the Well of the Oath. 20 And the EVER-LIVING appeared to him that night, and said; "I am the God of your father Abraham; fear not; I am with you, and will bless you and increase your race, because of My servant Abraham."

Then he built an altar at the place 25 and called on the name of the EVER-LIVING: and he pitched his tent there. The servants of Isaac also dug a well.

But Abimalek went to him from Gherar, with his chief herdsman, and Pikol, the general of his army. Isaac, 27 therefore, asked them; "Why have you come to me? when you are my enemies, and have driven me from among you?"

And they replied;—"We are terribly 28 afraid, because GOD is with you: so we would say, let there now be an understanding between us and you, and let a treaty be made with you so that 29 you will not do wrong to us, if we do not touch you, and as we have certainly done good to you, and sent you away in peace. You are now The Blessed of the EVER-LIVING."

He therefore made them a feast, 30 and they ate and drank, and rose up 31 in the morning when they swore each to his brother. Then Isaac sent them away, and they went from him in peace. In the same day also the 32 servants of Isaac came and informed him about the well which they had dug; and they said "We have found water." He therefore called it "Satisfaction." Consequently the name of 33 the village by that well is called Satisfaction¹ to this day.

The History of Esau; and of Jacob's Reception.

When Esau was forty years old, he 34 took as a wife Judith the daughter of Bari the Hitite; and Basmath the daughter of Ailon the Hitite. But 35 they were a bitter wind to Isaac and Rebekka.

And when Isaac was old, and his 27 eyes dim that he could not see, he called his eldest son Esau, and said to him; "My son," and he replied; "I am here." Then he said; "See 28 now, I am old, and I know not the day of my death; so now take up 3 your spear, quiver, and bow, and go to the field and hunt venison for me, and make me tasty food such as I 4 love, and bring it to me, and I will eat it, so that my soul may bless you before I die."

But Rebekka heard the speech of 5 Isaac to Esau his son, and that Esau

¹ Shebech, in Hebrew.—F. F.

had gone to the field to hunt venison to bring in. Then Rebekka spoke to Jacob her son, and said, "I have just heard your father speak to your brother Esau, saying, 'Bring to me venison, and make me tasty food, that I may eat it, and I will bless you before the EVER-LIVING, before I die.' So now, my son, listen to my voice to do what I shall order you. Go to the flock, and select for me two good kids of the goats and I will make tasty food for your father such as he loves, and you shall carry it to your father, when he will eat, and because of it he will bless you before his death."

But Jacob said to Rebekka his mother: "But my brother Esau is a hairy man, and I am a smooth man; when my father feels me I shall be in his eyes like a swindler, and shall bring a curse on myself, and not a blessing."

His mother however said to him: "Let any curse for you come on me my son, only you go and do as I tell you."

He consequently went, and did it, and brought to his mother, and she made for him tasty food such as his father loved. Then Rebekka took some of the clothes of her son Esau, which were in the house with her, and put them on her younger son Jacob, and put the skins of the kids of the goats on his hands, and the smooth part of his neck. Then she gave the dainties and the bread which she had made into the hand of her younger son Jacob, and he went to his father, and said to him: "Father," and he replied, "I am here; who are you?" When Jacob answered, "I am your eldest son Esau, I have done as you asked me. Rise now, turn and eat of my venison, so that your soul may bless me."

Isaac, however, asked his son: "How is it you have been so quick in meeting with it my son?"

So he replied: "Because your EVER-LIVING GOD brought it before me."

Then Isaac said to Jacob, "Come near me, my son, and I will feel if you are really my son Esau, or no."

So Jacob approached to Isaac his father and he felt him, and said "The voice is the voice of Jacob, but the hands are the hands of Esau," therefore he did not detect him, because his hands were like the hands of his brother Esau, hairy, and he was thankful. Yet he asked, "Are you really my son Esau?" and he replied, "I am."

Then he said; "Bring it to me and I will eat of the venison of my son, so that my soul may bless you."

He consequently presented it to him and he ate; and he brought wine to him and he drank.

Then Isaac his father said, "Come close now, my son, and give me a drink." So he approached and gave him a drink; and he smelt the smell of his clothes and was satisfied, and said;—"Yes! the smell of my son is like the smell of a field which the LORD has blessed, so may GOD give to you the dew from the skies, and the fatness of the earth, and increase and possession. Nations shall serve you, and bow down to you; yes, a multitude of mighty peoples, with your brothers also shall pay tribute to you, my son. If any curses you, he shall be cursed; and if any blesses you, he shall be blessed."

But it happened that as Isaac finished blessing Jacob, and Jacob had gone away from the presence of Isaac his father, that Esau his brother came with his venison, and he also had made dainties, and brought them to his father, and said to his father, "Arise, my father, and eat of the venison of your son, so that your soul may bless me."

Isaac his father however asked of him; "Who are you?" and he replied "I am your firstborn son Esau."

Then Isaac was terrified with a very great terror, and asked; "Who then is he who has hunted venison, and brought it to me, and I have eaten of all before you came, and I have blessed him?—Yes and he must be blessed."

When Esau heard the speech of his father, then he cried with a very great and bitter cry, and said to his father; "Bless me, also me, my father."

But he replied; "Your brother has come with deception and stolen your blessing."

And he answered; "He was rightly named 'Tripper-up' for he has tricked me this twice; to take my birthright, and also now to take my

1 "Tripper-up." In Hebrew Yakoo= English Jacob.—F. F.

- blessing." Then he asked, "Have you not a blessing left for me?"
- 37 But Isaac replied and said to Esau; "Since I have made him your Master, and have given all his brothers to him for servants, and with increase and possession I have endowed him;—where now my son is there anything I can do?"
- 38 But Esau said to his father; "Is there then only One Blessing with you my father? Bless me also, my father;" and Esau lifted up his voice and wept.
- 39 Then Isaac his father answered and said to him;
"Yes! in the most fertile land shall be your dwelling.
And with the dew from the skies above.
- 40 And you shall live by your sword, but shall serve your brother;
Yet when you extend, you shall break his yoke
From off your neck."
- 41 But Esau hated Jacob for the blessing with which his father had blessed him; and Esau said in his heart, "The day approaches for the mourning of my father, when I will kill my brother." But the words of her elder son Esau were reported to Rebekka, so she sent and called her younger son Jacob, and said to him;
"Now Esau, your brother, intends to
- 43 kill you; consequently my son listen to my voice, and arise and go away to Laban my brother, at Kharan, and stay with him for some time, until the anger of your brother has passed away. When the rage of your brother against you has passed, and he forgets what you have done to him, I will send and fetch you from there. Why should I be deprived of both in one day?"
- 46 Then Rebekka said to Isaac, "I hate my life in the presence of these Hittite girls! If Jacob should take a wife from among these Hittite girls—such girls as they are, in this country,—why should I live?"
- Jacob sent to Padan Aram.
- 28 Consequently Isaac called for Jacob and blessed him, and commanded him not to take a wife from the girls of Canan. "Arise, go to Padan Aram, to the house of Bethuel, your mother's father, and take yourself a wife from there from the daughters of Laban, your mother's brother. And may ALMIGHTY GOD bless you, 3 and make you fruitful, and increase, and may you become an assembly of nations, and may He give the bless- 4 ings of Abraham to you and your race with you, to inherit the land of your strangerhood, which GOD gave to Abraham." Thus Isaac sent off 5 Jacob, and he travelled to Padan Aram, to Laban, the son of Bethuel, the Arami, the brother of Rebekka, the mother of Jacob and Esau.

But when Esau knew that Isaac 6 had blessed Jacob and sent him to Padan Aram to take himself a wife from there to comfort him,—and had ordered him saying, "Take not a wife from the girls of Canan," and 7 that Jacob had listened to the voice of his father and mother, and had gone to Padan Aram,—then Esau 8 perceived that the girls of Canan were displeasing in the eyes of Isaac his father, so Esau went to Ishmael 9 and took Malath the daughter of Ishmael the son of Abraham, the sister of Nebaioth, besides his other wives, as a wife to himself.

Jacob's History in Padan Aram.

Jacob, however, set out from the 10 Well of the Oath and travelled to Kharan. And he arrived at a place, 11 and rested there, for it was sunset; so he took one of the stones of the place and put it for his pillow, and laid down on the spot to sleep. Then 12 he dreamed and saw a ladder with its foot standing on the ground and its head reaching to the heavens, and there were MESSENGERS of GOD ascending and descending it. And 13 he saw the EVER-LIVING stationed above it, Who said; "I am the EVER-LIVING GOD of your father Abraham, and the GOD of Isaac,—the land which you now lie upon I will give 14 to you and your race; and your race shall be like the dust of the earth, and shall spread West and East, and North and South, and all the Nations of the world shall be benefited by you and your Heir. Be assured also 15 that I am with you, and will guard you wherever you go, and I will give you a quiet return to this country, for I will not forsake you until I have accomplished what I have promised to you."

Then Jacob awoke from his sleep, 16 and exclaimed; "The EVER-LIVING is certainly in this place, and I knew it not;" so he was afraid and said; "How terrible this place is! Is not this truly the House of GOD? and this the Gate of Heaven?" When Jacob arose in the morning, he took the stone which he had placed for a pillow and sat it upright, and poured oil on the top of it, and called the name of that place "GOD'S House"¹ (but Andam-loz was its former name). Then Jacob vowed a vow, saying; "If the EVER-LIVING GOD is with me, and will guard me in the way that I now go, and give to me bread to eat and clothing to put on, and bring me back safely to the house of my father,—then the EVER-LIVING shall be my GOD. And this stone which I placed for a pillow shall be a House of GOD, and of all that You give to me, I will return a tenth part to You."

Then Jacob arose on to his feet, and went towards the land of the sons of the East; and he looked and saw a Well in the field and there were by it three flocks of sheep lying down, for from that Well they watered the flocks,—but a great stone was on the mouth of the Well. So when all the flocks had collected there, they rolled away the stone and watered the sheep, and then returned the stone to its place on the mouth of the Well. Jacob, therefore, asked them, "Brothers, where do you come from?" and they replied, "We are from Kharan."

Then he asked them if they knew Laban the son of Nahor? When they answered, "We know him."

He next asked them, "Is he well?" and they said; "He is well,—and here is Rachel his daughter coming with his sheep."

Then he asked; "Look! it is full day already;—is it not time to water the cattle and sheep that they may go and feed?"

But they replied, "We cannot, until all the flocks are collected, and they roll away the stone from off the mouth of the Well and water the sheep."

Whilst he was speaking with them Rachel came with her father's sheep, for she shepherded them. But it happened that when Jacob saw Rachel the daughter of Laban the brother of his mother, and the sheep of Laban his mother's brother, that Jacob rolled the stone from off the mouth of the Well and watered the sheep of his mother's brother Laban. Then Jacob kissed Rachel, and lifted up his voice and wept: and Jacob said to Rachel, "I do it because I am a relative of your father, and because I am the son of Rebekka." So she ran and reported it to her father.

When Laban had heard the report about Jacob, the son of his sister, he ran to invite him and embraced him, and kissed him, and brought him to his home, where he related to Laban all these events.

Then Laban said, "You are my bone and my flesh"; so he stayed five days with him, when Laban said to Jacob, "Since you are my relative, now serve me, and also inform me what wages I shall pay you?"

Jacob's Faithful Love.

Now Laban had two daughters the name of the eldest Leah, and the name of the youngest Rachel. But the eyes of Leah were timid, and those of Rachel perfect in form and beautiful to see, and Jacob loved Rachel, so he replied, "I will serve you seven years for your youngest daughter Rachel."

Laban then replied, "Good; she shall be yours.—I will give her for a wife after you have stayed with me."

So Jacob waited for Rachel seven years, but they were to him like a single day because of the love he had for her. Then Jacob said to Laban, "Give me my wife, for the time is up, and I will go to her."

Laban then collected all the men of the place and made a feast, and when it was dark he took Leah his daughter and brought her to him, and he went to her. Laban also gave Zilfa his servant, to Leah to be her servant.

But when it was morning he discovered it was Leah, and said to Laban, "Why have you done this to me? Was it not for Rachel that I served you? Then why have you cheated me?"

But Laban answered, "It is not our custom in this country to give the younger before the elder. Count the seven for this, then I will give to you also the other, and for her you shall serve with me another seven years afterwards."

¹ Beth-el

28 Jacob therefore agreed to it, that he would serve thus, so he gave Rachel his daughter to him for a wife. Laban also gave to Rachel Bilah his servant to be her servant.

29 He therefore went to Rachel, and he loved Rachel completely, and served to him other seven years afterwards.

30 But the EVER-LIVING saw that he hated Leah, so he opened her womb, but Rachel was childless. So Leah conceived and bore a son, and she called his name Reuben, for she said, that "The EVER-LIVING has looked on my sorrow, so that now my husband may love me." And she conceived again and bore a son, and said, "Now the EVER-LIVING has heard that he hates me, so He has given to me also this;" and she called his name Simeon. Then she conceived again and bore a son, and she said, "Now certainly my husband will cling to me, for I have borne him three sons;" therefore she called his name Levi. She also conceived again and bore a son, and she said "This time I will praise the LORD," so she called his name Judah. Then she ceased to bear children.

31 When Rachel saw that she bore no child to Jacob she envied her sister, and said to Jacob, "Give me children, and if not I shall die!"

2 But Jacob's anger fired at Rachel, and he answered, "Am I in the place of GOD, to hold back from you the fruit of your body?"

3 She therefore said, "See now my attendant Bilah;—go to her and she shall bear at my knee, so that I also myself shall have children from her;"

4 so she gave to him Bilah her servant for a wife. And Jacob went to her, and she conceived and bore a son to Jacob. Then Rachel said; "GOD has done me justice, and also has heard my voice and given me a son," therefore she called his name Dan.

5 Again Bilah the servant of Rachel conceived and bore a son to Jacob, when Rachel exclaimed, "I struggled with GOD; I also struggled with my sister;" so she called his name Naphthali.

6 When Leah saw that she ceased to bear, she took Zilfa her attendant and gave her to Jacob for a wife, so Zilfa the servant of Leah bore a son to Jacob. Then Leah said, "By a troop," and called his name Gad.

Zilfa the attendant of Leah also bore a second son to Jacob; and Leah exclaimed, "I am blest, for the women will bless me," she therefore called his name Asher.

Reuben once went out at the time of wheat harvest, and found love apples in the field, and brought them to Leah his mother, when Rachel said to Leah, "Give me, I pray, some of your son's love apples."

But she said, "Is it a trifle that you have taken my husband, and would you also take the apples of my son?"

When Rachel replied;—"Come, now,—he shall sleep with you to-night, in exchange for your son's apples."

When Jacob came from the field in the evening, Leah met him, and said to him; "You must come, for I have hired you with the love apples of my son, so sleep with me to-night." And GOD heard Leah, so she conceived and bore a fifth son to Jacob. Leah therefore said, "GOD has paid me wages, because I gave my servant to my husband." She therefore called his name Issakar.¹

Leah afterwards conceived again a sixth son to Jacob. Then Leah said, "GOD has endowed me, even me, with a good dowry, so that my husband will live with me, for I have borne him six sons," therefore she called his name Zebulun.² She afterwards also bare a daughter, and called her name Dinah.³

But GOD remembered Rachel, and GOD listened to her, and opened her womb; and she conceived and bore a son. Then she said; "GOD has taken away my reproach." She therefore called his name Joseph,⁴ saying, "The EVER-LIVING has added to me another son."

But it occurred that when Rachel had borne Joseph, Jacob said to Laban, "Send me away, and I will go to my own home, and to my own country. Give me my wives and my children, whom I have served you for, because I must go with them, for you know the wages for which I have served to you."

But Laban replied, "If I can content you I shall be pleased, for by your means the EVER-LIVING has prospered me."

¹ Meaning in Hebrew "Wages."—F. F.
² Endowment. ³ Justice. ⁴ Increase.

29 So he answered him; "You know how I have served you, and how your herds have been with me; for they were small that were with you before me, and they have spread out to many, and the EVER-LIVING has blessed you at my feet. Yet have I gained even a house of my own?"

31 But he replied; "What shall I give?"

Then Jacob answered; "You shall not give me anything. If you will do this thing for me I will conduct your 32 sheep and guard them. I will go over all your sheep to-day counting. Every sheep speckled or spotted, and every black sheep among the lambs, and every spotted or speckled in the 33 rams, they shall be my wages; and you shall assign them justly to me from to-day forward, as my wages from you. All that is not spotted or speckled in the goats, or black in the sheep, it shall be a theft with me."

34 And Laban replied; "It shall be exactly as you say."

35 He therefore separated on that day the marked and spotted rams, and all the marked and speckled of the goats from all that were white, and all the black sheep, and gave them to the 36 hands of his sons, and put a three days' journey between them and between Jacob's; but Jacob shepherded the other sheep for Laban his father-in-law.

37 Jacob then selected young wands of willow, and almond, and sycamore, and peeled them; peeling to the white so as to show the whiteness of the wands, and he stuck the wands which he had peeled near the watering troughs where the sheep came to drink, in the sight of the sheep, when they were hot for breeding after 39 drinking. So the sheep were hot amongst the wands, and bore, and the sheep bore marked, and spotted, 40 and speckled. Then Jacob separated the lambs and placed the faces of the sheep towards the striped, and gave all the black among the sheep of Laban to his own flocks, and did not assign them to the sheep of Laban.

41 Thus when any of the strong sheep were hot for union, then Jacob placed the wands before the eyes of the sheep, near the troughs, to inflame them among the wands. Before the feeble of the sheep, however, he placed them not; so the feeble went to Laban and the strong to Jacob.

Thus the man increased very much, 43 and he possessed many sheep, and women and men servants, and camels and asses.

However he heard the sons of 31 Laban talking, saying, "Jacob will take all that our father has, and from what our father possessed he has made all his wealth." Jacob consequently watched the face of Laban, and perceived it was not with him as formerly.

Then the EVER-LIVING said to 3 Jacob, "Return to the land of your fathers and your birth, and I will be with you." So Jacob sent and called 4 Rachel and Leah to the field to his sheep, and said to them, "I see that 5 the face of your father is not with me as formerly,—but the GOD of my fathers is with me. Now you know 6 that with all my strength I have served your father. But your father 7 has deceived me, and changed my wages ten times; GOD however did not allow him to do evil to me. For 8 when he said, 'The spotted shall be your wages,' all the sheep were spotted;—but if he said, 'The streaked shall be your wages,' then all the sheep were streaked; so GOD took 9 away the flocks of your father and gave them to me.

"It also happened in the season of 10 the heat of the sheep, that I raised my eyes in a dream and saw the rams leaping on the streaked, speckled and spotted sheep, and the Messenger 11 of GOD said to me in the dream, 'Jacob;' and I replied 'I am here.' Then he said, 'Lift up your eyes 12 and see all the rams leaping on the streaked, speckled and spotted sheep, for I have seen all that Laban has done to you. I am the GOD of the 13 HOUSE of GOD¹ which you consecrated there in the pillar which you dedicated to me,—where you vowed a Gift. Go from this country, and return to the country of your birth.'"

Then Rachel and Leah answered 14 and said to him; "What portion or inheritance is there to us in the house of our father? Are we not like 15 strangers and outcasts to him? for he sold us, and has eaten up our money. For all the wealth which 16 GOD has stripped from our father

¹ Beth-el in Hebrew means H+D+G of God.—F. F.

- that is ours, and our children's, so do all that GOD has said to you."
- 17 Therefore Jacob arose, and mounted his children and wives on camels, 18 and collected the whole of his herds, and the whole of the property which he had acquired by trading; property he had acquired in Padan Aram, to go to his father Isaac in the land of Canan.
- 19 Laban, however, had gone to shear his sheep, so Rachel stole the Teraphim which were her father's. Thus Jacob stole away secretly from Laban the Arami, without informing him, 21 for he fled from him. So he fled, he and all he possessed, and they went up and crossed over the river, and he set his face to Mount Gilad. But on the third day it was reported to Laban that Jacob had fled.
- 23 Then he took his relatives with him and pursued after him—a seven days' journey, and came up with him at Mount Gilad. But a Messenger appeared to Laban the Arami in a dream by night, and said to him; "Guard yourself in what you do to Jacob for either good or ill." Laban, however, overtook Jacob; and Jacob had pitched his tent on the hill, but Laban with his relatives on Mount Gilad.
- 26 Laban then said to Jacob; "What have you done? You have carried away my daughters like captives, desolate? Why did you steal away to fly and deceive me, and not inform me, when I would have sent you away with pleasure, and with the sound of 28 drums and harps? You have not even let me kiss my children, and your children. You have acted like a fool! Truly there is a GOD who guides me from evil in acting with you; for the GOD of your father last night said to me, 'Guard yourself in dealing with Jacob for good or ill; so go your journey; for you desire the house of your father;—but why have you stolen my gods?'"
- 31 Then Jacob replied, "Because I was afraid; for I said he will certainly steal his daughters from me. If, however, you find your Gods, it is not known to me. Go round what is with me, and take your own." (For Jacob did not know that Rachel had stolen them.)
- 33 Laban, therefore, went round the tent of Jacob, and the tent of Leah, and to the tents of the two mothers, and did not find them; consequently he left the tent of Leah and went to the tent of Rachel. But Rachel had 34 taken the Teraphim and placed them under the camel-saddle, and sat upon them, so Laban searched all the tent and could not find. And she said to her father "Let it not grieve your eyes my Lord that I am not able to rise before you, for the way of women is on me." So he searched and did not find the Teraphim.

Then Jacob was furious, and abused 36 Laban, and Jacob was angry and said to Laban, "What is my fault; and what is my sin? that you have come after me? Now you have 37 searched all my goods, what have you found of all the goods of your house? Put it before my people and your people, and they shall decide between us. During the twenty years I have been with you, I have not lost a sheep or a goat of yours, and I have never eaten a ram of your flock. I have 39 not brought you the maimed. I have borne the loss from my own hand. I have restored to you the stolen by day, and the stolen by night. I have 40 borne the heat by day, and the cold by night, and my eyes never rested. This twenty years I have been in 41 your house,—I served you fourteen years for your two daughters, and six years for your sheep, and you cheated me over my wage ten times. If the 42 GOD of my father Abraham, and the WORSHIPPED of Isaac, had not been with me, then you would have sent me away empty. But GOD saw my weary feet, and defended me last night."

But Laban answered; and said to 43 Jacob; "The girls are my girls, and the children my children, and the sheep my sheep, and all that you see is mine; and for the girls what shall I do for them or the children which they have borne? However, now, 44 come on, and let you and me make a settlement, and let it be a witness between Myself and You."

Then Jacob took a stone and set it 45 up with both his hands, and Jacob 46 said to his father-in law, "Let them collect stones." So they collected stones and made a heap. Then they feasted on the heap there, and Laban 47 called it for himself, "The Heap of Witnesses," but Jacob called it for himself "The Heap of Evidence."

1 Gilad.

48 Laban also said; "This heap is a Witness between me and between you to-day;" therefore 49 they called its name Gilad¹ and a "Watch-tower," for he said, "Let the EVER-LIVING watch between me and between you to keep each from 50 evil. If you grieve my daughters,— and if you take wives beside my daughters, when we are not together, let GOD see the Witness between me and you." Then Laban added to 51 Jacob, "See this heap, and see the pillar which I have raised between me and between you;—Witness this Heap, and Witness this Pillar, if I should pass over to you beyond this Heap; or if you should pass over to me beyond this Heap, and this Pillar 53 for evil, the GOD of Abraham, and the GOD of Nahor judge between us; the GOD of our fathers."

Jacob then swore by the WOR- 54 SHIPPED of his father Isaac. And Jacob sacrificed a sacrifice on the Heap, and invited his relatives to eat bread. So they ate bread, and they rested on the Heap.

32 Laban then rose up in the morning, and kissed his sons and his daughters and blessed them, and went and 2 returned to his own place. But Jacob continued his journey; and a 3 Messenger of GOD met him. So Jacob said, "What a glorious encampment of GOD this place is!"— therefore he called the name of that place, "The Encampment."

Meeting of Esau and Jacob.

4 Then Jacob sent messengers before himself to his brother Esau, at Mount 5 Seir, in the land of Edom, and he commanded them saying; "You shall say this to my Lord Esau,— 'Jacob, your servant, says thus,—' I have lodged with Laban, and stayed 6 until now, and there are with me bullocks, and asses, and sheep and serving men and women, so I have sent to inform my Lord, to find favour in your eyes.'"

7 When the messengers returned to Jacob they reported;

"We went to your brother, to Esau, and he is also coming to call upon you, and four hundred men with him."

8 Jacob, consequently, was very greatly afraid, and it distressed him;

so he divided the people who were with him, and the sheep and the cattle, and camels into two camps; "because," he said, "if Esau comes to the one camp, and assails it, then there will be the other to fly to." Jacob also said, "GOD of my father 10 Abraham, and GOD of my father Isaac, the LORD Who said to me 'Return to the land of your birth and I will be good to you.' I am un- 11 worthy of all the mercies and of all the support which You have shown to me when I, Your servant, passed over this torrent with my staff, and I am returning as two camps. Grant 12 me a deliverance from the hand of my brother, from the hand of Esau, for I fear that he will come and cut off mothers with children. But You 13 have said 'Supporting I will support you, and I will make your race like the sand of the sea, which cannot be counted for quantity.'"

So he rested there that night. 14 Then he took presents in his hand;— presents for his brother Esau: A 15 hundred goats, and twenty he-goats; a hundred sheep, and twenty rams; thirty suckling camels with their 16 foals; forty cows and ten bulls; twenty she-asses and ten asses; and 17 he put them under the hands of servants separately, troop by troop, and said to his servants, "Go before me, and spread a space between troop and troop." He also ordered 18 the foremost, saying, "If you meet Esau, my brother, and he asks you 'Who are you? and where are you going? and whose are these before you?' you shall reply, 'From your 19 servant, from Jacob, a present he sends to my Lord, to Esau. And look also he is behind us!'"

He ordered the second also, with 20 the third, with all the servants who followed after them, repeating, "You shall say the same words to Esau if he meets with you, and you shall 21 also say to him, 'See, your servant, Jacob is behind us.'" For he remarked, "I will pacify him first by the presents that I send to him, and afterwards I will see by his face whether or no I can stand before him."

Thus he sent presents over before 22 him; but he himself stopped that night in the camp. However he 23 arose at night and took his two wives, and the two second wives, and his eleven lads and crossed the ford of Jabok.

¹ Witness-heap.

- 24 So he took them and passed them over the brook, and sent over all who were with him. Jacob, however, was left alone by himself, and a man wrestled with him until the departure of the darkness. He saw, however, that he was not equal to him, so he touched him in the hollow of the thigh, and struck the hollow of the thigh of Jacob whilst wrestling with him. Then he said, "Release me, for the darkness is going."

But he replied, "I will not let you go unless you bless me." Then he answered, "What is your name?"

And he said, "Jacob."

- 29 When he responded, "Your name shall no longer be called Jacob, but 'Israel';—for you have wrestled with a Divine Messenger, as with men, and been equal to it."

30 Then Jacob asked, and said, "Tell me your name?"

And he replied, "Why do you ask my name?" but he then blessed him.

- 31 Jacob, consequently, called the name of that place "Pen-i-El"—that is "God's face"—"for I have seen divinities face to face and preserved my life." And the sun arose on him as he crossed over from Peniel, but he limped on his thigh. Therefore the children of Israel do not eat the sinew-nerve from the foot to the thigh until this day, for he struck Jacob in the sinew-nerve at the hollow of the thigh.

Jacob and Esau Meet.

- 33 Then Jacob raised his eyes and saw that Esau approached, and four hundred men with him; so he separated the children of Leah and of Rachel, and of the two second wives, and placed the second wives and their children in the front, and Leah and her children next, and Rachel and Joseph behind; but he passed to the front of them and bowed to the earth seven times whilst approaching to his brother.

- 4 But Esau rushed forwards, and called to, and embraced him, and fell on his neck and kissed him, and wept. Then he lifted his eyes and saw the wives and children and asked, "Who are these with you?"

And he replied, "The children which God has given me, your servant."

Then the second wives approached 6 with their children and they bowed. Leah also came forward and her 7 children, and they bowed, and afterwards Joseph and Rachel, and they bowed.

So he asked, "What is all this camp 8 with you which approaches me?"

When he replied, "To find favour in the eyes of my Lord!"

Esau, however, answered, "I have 9 plenty, my brother: let your own remain to yourself." But Jacob said, 10 "Not so; if now I have found favour in your eyes, take a present from my hand, for certainly I have seen your face as if I had seen the face of God, and am delighted. Now do take the 11 thanks which I have brought to you, for God has favoured me, and because there is plenty for me as well." So he pressed him until he took them.

Then he said, "I will rise up and 12 travel and we will go along together."

But he answered him, "My Lord 13 knows that the children are many, and the sheep and the cattle with me are breeding, so if we drive them a single day, then all the sheep will die. But let my Lord now go before 14 me, and I will be travelling at my ease, according to the pace of the guide before me, and the pace of the children, until that I come to my Lord, at Seir."

But Esau said, "I will then assign 15 to you some of the people who are with me."

And he replied, "Why have I found this favour in the eyes of my Lord?"

So Esau returned that day on his 16 journey to Seir, but Jacob pitched 17 his tent, and built himself a house, and cattle yards, making an encampment; therefore he called the name of the place Skuth.¹

Afterwards Jacob went quietly to 18 the village of Shekhem, which is in the land of Canan, on his return from Padan Aram, and encamped before the village, and bought that 19 part of the land, where he pitched his tent, from the hand of the son of Hamor the father of Shekhem for a hundred kesitas. He also built an 20 Altar there and called on God, the God of Israel.

¹ "The Tents," when translated from the Hebrew.—F. F.

Shekhem's Outrage on Dinah.

- 34 But it happened that Dinah the daughter of Leah, whom she bore to Jacob, went out to visit the women of the country, and Shekhem, the son of Hamor, the Hivite Chief of the country, saw, and seized her and violated her, and disgraced her. But his soul was attached to Dinah the daughter of Jacob, and he loved the girl, and spoke to the girl's heart.
- 4 So Shekhem spoke to Hamor his father, saying, "Get me this girl for a wife."
- 5 Jacob, however, heard that he had defiled his daughter Dinah, but his sons were at the fold in the fields, so Jacob kept silence until their return. Then Hamor the father of Shekhem came to Jacob to speak with him. But the sons of Jacob returned from the field upon hearing it, and the men were grieved, and very angry at it, for he had done an outrage to Israel in violating the daughter of Jacob,—which ought not to be done.
- 8 But Hamor spoke to them saying, "My son Shekhem is attached by his soul to your daughter, therefore give her to him for a wife, and you can give your girls to us, and we can give ours to you, to take for yourselves, and you can dwell with us and the land shall be before you. Reside, and travel about, and possess it." Then Shekhem said to her father and her brothers "Let me find favour in your eyes, and whatever you ask of me I will give it. Heap upon me a great dowry and settlement, and I will give whatever you say to me, only give me the girl for a wife."
- 13 Then the sons of Jacob answered Shekhem and Hamor his father craftily, "because," they said, "he has corrupted our sister Dinah." So they replied, "We are unable to do such a thing as to give our sister to an uncircumcised man, for that would be a reproach to us. Yet if you will agree with us, that, like us, every male of you should be circumcised, then we will give our daughters to you, and we will take your daughters to us, and we will reside with you, and be one people.
- 17 But if you will not listen to us, then we will take our sister and depart."
- 18 And the idea was good in the eyes of Hamor and his son Shekhem—so the youth did not delay to do the thing, for he had an affection for the daughter of Jacob; and he was the most honoured of all his father's house. So Hamor and Shekhem his son went to the gate of their village, and addressed the men of their town saying; "These men are peaceable with us, and they travel in it, and the country lies open to their hands before them. We would wish to take their daughters to us for wives, and give our daughters to them. However the men will only unite with us in this way, to reside with us and to be one people, by our circumcising every male of us, as they are circumcised. Their herds and possessions and all they have—will they not be ours if we agree with them, and they reside with us?"

All who sat in the gate of the village listened therefore to Hamor and Shekhem his son, and they circumcised every male who came to the gate of the town. But on the third day when they were in pain, Simeon and Levi, the two sons of Jacob, brothers of Dinah, each took his sword, and went into the village quietly and slew every male. They also slew Hamor and his son Shekhem with the edge of the sword, and took Dinah from the house of Shekhem, and went away. Then the sons of Jacob came on the booty, and plundered the town, which had defiled their sister. They took the sheep, the cattle, and the asses, and the wealth in the village and the wealth in the field, and captured their youths and little children, and wives, and plundered all the furniture in the houses. But Jacob said to Simeon and Levi; "You are a sorrow to me;—you have made me hateful to the inhabitants of the land, to the Cananites, and the Perizites, and I being few in number, they will outnumber me and assail, and destroy me and my house."

They however answered; "Ought they to use our sister as a harlot?"

GOD afterwards said to Jacob "Arise: go to Beth-el and reside, and make an altar there to the GOD who appeared to you in your flight from your brother Esau."

Jacob Destroys the Idols of his Family and Servants.

So Jacob said to his family, and all who were with him; "Throw away the strange Gods which are among you, and purify yourselves, and change your clothing, and let us be rising; and we will go to Beth-el; and I will there build an Altar to the GOD who pitied me in the day of my distress, and was with me in the journey that I went."

They, therefore, gave to Jacob all the strange Gods which were in their hands, and the earrings that were in their ears, and Jacob buried them under the oak which was near Shekhem. Then they marched, and a terror from GOD was upon their neighbours, and they did not pursue after the sons of Jacob. So Jacob came to Luz in the land of Canaan (it is Beth-el), and his people with him.

He also built an altar there, and called the HOUSE of GOD, Beth-el,¹ for there GOD appeared to him in his light from the presence of his brother. But Deborah the nurse of Rebekka died, and he buried her between Beth-el and Alon, and called the name of the place "The Oak of weeping."

Another Divine Appearance to Jacob, and Promises.

GOD also appeared another time to Jacob, on his return from Padan Aram, and spoke with him, when GOD said "Your name shall no longer be called Jacob, for Israel shall be your name;" so He called his name Israel; and GOD said to him, "I am the ALMIGHTY GOD. Be fruitful and multiply. A Nation and an Assembly of Nations shall come from you, and Kings shall proceed from your loins; and the land which I gave to Abraham and Isaac, I will give to you, and the same land I will give to you and your race after you." Then the Divine Messenger went up from him from the place where he spoke with him. So Jacob erected a pillar at the place where he had spoken with him,—a pillar of stone, and poured a libation upon it, and poured oil upon it. Jacob also called the name of that place where GOD spoke with him GOD'S HOUSE.² He afterwards marched from there, and had gone some distance into the country towards Ephrathah, when Rachel was taken in labour, and the childing went hard with her; but when she was delivered with hard labour, the midwives said to her, "Be not down-hearted, for this child is a son." But she breathing out her life—for she was dying—named him Son-of-my-Anguish,¹ but his father called him Benjamin.² So Rachel died, and they buried her at Ephrathah, which is near Bethlehem, and so Jacob erected a pillar over her tomb.³

Then Israel marched from there, and pitched his tent at the encampment of Migdal-Adar. And it was whilst Israel resided in that country, that Reuben went and committed adultery with Bilah his father's second wife,—and Israel heard of it.

Registers of Jacob's Sons.

These are the twelve sons of Jacob: 23 The first born by Leah to Jacob, Reuben; then Simeon; then Levi; then Judah; and Issackar; then Zebulon.

The sons of Rachel Joseph and Benjamin. And the sons of Bilah the servant of Rachel; Dan and Naphthali: And the sons of Zilpha, the servant of Leah, Gad and Asher; these are the sons of Jacob, who were born to him in Padan-Aram.

Jacob afterwards went to his father Isaac, at Mamra, near Kiriath Arba, where Abraham and Isaac dwelt. And 28 the days of Isaac were a hundred and eighty years. Then Isaac expired, and 29 died, and was added to his people, old and satisfied with years, and Esau and Jacob his sons buried him.

History of Esau continued.

Now these are the descendants of 36 Esau, who is Edom:—

Esau took wives from the women of 2 Canan; Ada the daughter of Ailon the Hivite; and Ahlibamah, the daughter of Zibaon the Hivite; and 3 Bashmath the daughter of Ishmael, the sister of Benaioth.

And Ada bore to Esau Ailifaz, and 4 Bashmath bore Ruel; and Ahlibamah bore Jaish and Jamal, and Korah;— these are the sons of Esau, which they bore to him in the land of Canan.

Esau afterwards took his wives, and 6 his sons and daughters, and all the persons of his house, and the flocks, and all his cattle, and all property

¹ Ben-oni.

² Son of my right hand.

³ "This pillar at Rachel's grave still exists." Editorial note by an Old Hebrew editor.—F. F.

⁴ "The same as Hebron," is also an ancient explanatory note.—F. F.

¹ "God's-house."

² Beth-el.

- which he had acquired in the land of Canan, and left the land from the face of his brother Jacob, for their possessions were too great to remain together, for the land was not able to lodge the both of them, because of their herds. So Esau remained in Mount Seir. (Esau is Edom.—Esau was the father of the Edomites in Mount Seir.)
- 10 These are the names of the sons of Edom:
Ailifaz the son of Ada, the wife of Esau; Ruel the son of Bashmath wife of Esau;
- 11 And these are the sons of Ailifaz: Omar, Tzifo, and Nathan, and Kenez;
- 12 and Thimna was secondary wife to Ailifaz, the son of Esau, and she bore to Ailifaz Amalek;—these are the sons of Ada the wife of Esau.
- 13 And these are the sons of Ruel: Nahath, and Zarath, Shama, and Mizah; these were the sons of Bashmath, wife of Esau.
- 14 And these are the sons of Ahlibamah, the daughter of Anah, the daughter of Tzibaon, wife of Esau, which she bore to Esau:—Jaish; and Jalam; and Korah.
- 15 These were the chiefs from the sons of Esau and of the sons of Ailifaz, the eldest of Esau:—
Chief Thamar; Chief Omar; Chief Tzifo; Chief Kenez; Chief Korah; Chief Nathan; Chief Amalek:—These were the Chieftains of Ailifaz, in the land of Edom. They were the sons of Ada.
- 17 And these were the sons of Ruel, the son of Esau:—
Chief Nahath; Chief Zerah; Chief Shama; Chief Mizah;—These were Chieftains of Ruel in the land of Edom. They were sons of Bashmath the wife of Esau. These were sons of Esau, and were Chieftains in the land of Edom.
- 20 These are the sons of Seir (the Horites who inhabited the country) Lotan and Shubal, and Zilaon, and Anah; and Dishon and Azar, and Dishan. These were Chieftains of the Horites sons of Seir, in the land of Edom.
- 22 And these were the sons of Lotan, Hori and Himam; and the sister of Lotan was Thimna.
- 23 And these are the sons of Shobal:—Alwan, and Manahath, and Aibal, Shefa, and Annam.
- 24 And these are the sons of Zibaon:—

Aiah and Anah (he is the Anah who discovered mules in the desert while attending the asses of Zebau his father).

These are the children of Anah: 25 Dishon, and Ahlibama, daughter of Anah.

And these are the sons of Dishon:— 26 Hamedan; and Ashban, and Ithran and Keran.

These are the sons of Azan, Bilk- 27 han, and Zavan, and Akan;

These are the sons of Dishan, Aur, 28 and Aran.

These are the Chiefs of the Horites: 29 —Chief Lotan; Chief Shubal; Chief Zibaon; Chief Anah; Chief Dishon; Chief Azer; Chief Dishan:—These were Chiefs of the Horites, as Chieftains in the land of Seir.¹

And these are the names of the 40 Chieftains of Esau by their families, with their Tribal names. Chief Thimnah; Chief Alva; Chief Ithath; Chief Alibamah; Chief Alah; Chief 41 Pinan; Chief Kana; Chief Theman; 42 Chief Mibzar; Chief Magdiel; Chief

¹ NOTE.—The verses Ch. xxxvi., 31—39, are not a part of the text of Moses, but a note of an ancient editor. From internal evidence Professor the Rev. A. H. Sayce, D.D., of Oxford, suggests to me that this note was made after David's conquest of Edom, and not by Ezra. The number of Kings named show ten generations of Monarchy, which came after the Tribal Government under Chiefs, and as the Kings were clearly elective, the certainty of long wars between each election would extend the time too much for the Tribal Commonwealth and the succeeding Monarchical period to be contained in the epoch between the death of Esau and the conquests of Moses east of the river Jordan, during which he wrote Genesis.

"And these are the kings which reigned 31 in the land of Edom (before a king reigned over the sons of Israel). There reigned in 32 Edom Bela, the son of Baur, and the name of his city was Dinabba. And Bela died 33 and Jobab the son of Zerakh reigned instead of him in Bozrah. And Jobab 34 died and Hasham reigned instead of him from the land of the Thimani. And when 35 Hasbam died, Hadad the son of Bedad reigned instead of him, in Makah of Midian, in the land of Moab, and the name of his city was Avith. And Hadad 36 died, and Shamlah, from Masrakab, reigned instead of him. And when 37 Shamlah died, Shaul from Rakoboth on the river reigned in his stead. And Shaul 38 died, and Bal the Merciful, the son of Akkor, reigned instead of him. And Bal 39 the Merciful, the son of Akkor died, and Hader reigned in his stead, and the name of his city was Pau, and the name of his wife Mahitabel, the daughter of Matrod, the daughter of Mizahab."—F. F.

Airam;—These were Chieftains of Edom, with the names of the districts they possessed. Esau himself was the father of the people of Edom.

Continuance of the History of Jacob and of Joseph.

37 Jacob continued to reside in the land of his father's foreignhood—in the land of Canaan.

2 These are the progeny of Jacob.

Joseph a lad of seventeen years was attending to the sheep with his brothers, the young men who were sons of Bilah and sons of Zilfa two of his father's wives. And Joseph reported their bad conduct to their

3 father, Israel, also, loved Joseph more than all his children, because he was the son of his old age, so he made him a robe with long sleeves.
4 And his brothers saw that their father loved him more than all his brothers, so they hated him, and would not let 5 him be in peace. Joseph, however, dreamed a dream, and told it to his brothers, and they hated him the 6 more for it; for he said, "Listen now to the dream that I dreamed:
7 We were binding sheaves in the middle of a field, when my sheaf arose, and stood up, and your sheaves turned, and bowed to my sheaf."

8 But they replied to their brother; "Reigning, would you reign, and ruling would you rule over us?" So they hated him the more, because of his dream, and his talk.

9 Then he dreamed another dream, and related it to his brothers, and said, "I have dreamed another dream, when the sun and the moon and eleven stars came and did homage to me."

10 He told it to his father and to his brothers, and his father reproved him, and said, "What is this dream which you have dreamed? Shall I and your mother, and your brothers, come and bow down to the ground to 11 you?" So his brothers envied him; but his father remembered the event.

12 His brothers afterwards went to pasture their father's sheep in 13 Shekhem, and Israel said to Joseph, "Are not your brothers feeding the sheep in Shekhem? Go! I will send you to them."

And he replied, "I am ready."
14 Then he continued; "Go, then, and see how your brothers are, and how the sheep are, and bring me word."

They had gone, however, from the vale of Hebron, and removed to Shekhem.

And a man met him while search- 15
ing the field, and asked him, "What are you seeking?" When he answered, 16
"I am seeking my brothers. Tell me where I can find them?"

So the man responded, "They 17 have marched from here, for I heard them say 'Let us go to the Two Wells.'" Joseph consequently went after his brothers and found them at the Two Wells. When they saw him 18 in the distance, and before he approached them, they determined to murder him; and each said to his 19 brother, "Here is My Lord the Dreamer! There he comes! So 20 now let us go and murder him, and fling him into one of these wells and we will say a wild beast caught him,—then we shall see what will come of his dreams!"

But Reuben heard it, and wished 21 to deliver him from their hand, so he said, "Let us not destroy his life." Reuben also said to them, "Let us 22 not shed his blood. Let us fling him into this dry well," for he was desirous that they should not stab him, so that he might rescue him from their hands to return him to his father.

Therefore when Joseph was come 23 to his brothers, they stripped the robe from Joseph;—the long-sleeved robe which was on him,—and took 24 him and flung him into the empty well, with no water in it. Then 25 they turned to eat bread. But looking up, they saw at a distance Ishmaelites coming from Gilad with their camels loaded with spices, and nuts and balm, who were going down to Mitzeraim.¹

Then Judah said to his brothers, 26
"What profit is it to us to murder our brother and dabble ourselves in his blood? Come on! Let us sell 27 him to these Ishmaelites, and that guilt will not be upon us; for he is our brother, and our own flesh:" so they listened to their brother. Mean- 28 time those Midianite merchants came on, and approached; so they pulled up Joseph from out of the well, and sold Joseph to the Ishmaelites, for twenty shekels. Thus Joseph was taken down to Mitzeraim; therefore 29

¹ Egypt.

- when Reuben returned to the well he did not find Joseph in the well, so he tore his garments. When he went back to his brothers he said;—"The lad is not! and mourning, I shall grieve, and die of grief."
- They, however, took and slaughtered a goat kid and dabbled his robe in its blood, and sent the long-sleeved robe to their father with this message, "About this robe which we send you, send back and say if it is the robe of your son or no?" And he replied, "It is the robe of my son. Some wild beast has torn and eaten my son." Jacob consequently tore his garments, and put on sackcloth for his death, and mourned for his son many days.
- Then all his sons and all his daughters arose to console him, but he refused their consolations, and said, "I know that I shall go mourning for my son to the grave;" so he wept for his son.
- But the Midianites sold him in Mitzeraim to Potiphar, the General of Pharaoh, Commander of his Guards.

History of Judah.

- About this same time Judah went and separated from his brothers, and joined with an Adulamite, whose name was Hirah. Whilst there he saw the daughter of a Cananite, whose name was Beth-Shua and he took her and married her, and she conceived and bore a son, and called his name Ar. Then she conceived again and bore a son, and called his name Onan. She afterwards increased and bore a son and called his name Shelah; then she ceased to be child-bearing.
- When Judah took a wife for his eldest son Ar, her name was Thamar.
- But Ar, Judah's eldest son, was wicked in the presence of the EVER-LIVING, so the LORD caused him to die. Judah consequently said to Onan, "Marry the wife of your brother, and raise up an heir for your brother." But Onan knew that the heir would not be his own, therefore when he approached his brother's wife, he ejected on the ground, instead of giving seed to his brother.
- What he did was, however, wicked in the eyes of the EVER-LIVING, and therefore He caused him to die.
- Then Judah said to Thamar "Return as a widow to your father's house until Shelah my son grows up," for he reflected "Perhaps she may also kill him like his brothers." Therefore Thamar went and returned to her father's house.

But time went on, and Beth-Shua the wife of Judah died and Judah grieved for her, and went up with Hirah the Adulamite, his partner, to shear the sheep at Timnath; and it was reported to Thamar, that her father-in-law was going up to Timnath to shear his sheep, so she put off her widow's weeds and concealed herself in her veil, and went down and sat at the opening by the wells which are on the road to Timnath, for she saw that Shelah was grown up, and he was not given to her as a husband: Judah saw her, and he thought she was a harlot, for she had hidden her face, so he turned from the road to her, and said, "Come on, go with me;"—for he knew not she was his daughter-in-law.

Then she asked, "What will you give to me, if I go with you?"

Then he replied—"I will send you a kid of the goats or sheep."

And she replied—"If you will give me a pledge that you will send them?"

He replied, "What is the pledge that I shall give you?"

And she answered "Your ring and the stick you have in your hand."

So he gave her them, and he went with her, and she conceived to him.

Then she arose, and went and put the veil from off her, and dressed herself in her widow's weeds. But Judah sent the kid of the goats by the hand of his partner the Adulamite, who was to receive the pledge from the hand of the woman;—and he could not find her. He therefore enquired of the men of the place asking, "Where is the whore of the wells by the road?" But they replied, "There is no whore by there." So he returned to Judah and reported, "I cannot find her;—and the men of the place said 'there was not a whore there.'"

Judah, therefore, said; "You have taken it to her, therefore I cannot be abused by her; for I sent the kid, but you could not find her."

But three months after it was reported to Judah "Your daughter-in-law Thamar has prostituted herself, and she is also with child from her fornication;" and Judah replied, "Bring her here and burn her."

- 25 They brought her when she produced the ring and walking stick;—and said, "By the man that these belong to I am with child;" and she continued, "To whom belongs this ring and its motto, and this walking stick?"
- 26 Then Judah replied and said, "You are more virtuous than I; for I did not give you Shelah my son." He therefore proceeded no further to examine her.
- 27 When, however, the time for her delivery came, there were twins in her
- 28 belly, and it happened in her childing one put out his hand, so the midwife took it, and tied a scarlet thread upon its hand, remarking,
- 29 "This came the first." But it occurred that he drew back the hand, and then his brother was produced, when she said, "What? Have you broken? The breach be upon yourself:" therefore she called
- 3 his name Pherez;¹ and afterwards his brother was born, upon whose hand was the scarlet thread; so she called his name Zarah.²

History of Joseph continued.

- 39 Thus Joseph had been taken down to Mitzer,³ and sold to Potiphar, Pharaoh's General, Commander of the Guards, a Mitzerite, from the hands of the Ishmaelites who had brought him there. But the EVER-LIVING was with Joseph, and he became a prosperous man, and was steward to his master, the Mitzerite,
- 4 for his master saw that the EVER-LIVING was with him, and that all he did the LORD prospered it in his
- 5 hand. Joseph therefore found favour in his eyes, for he was honest towards him, consequently he appointed him chief of his house, and entrusted all his possessions to his control; with the result that from when he was appointed over the house and over all that belonged to him, the EVER-LIVING blessed the house of the Mitzerite under the administration of Joseph, and he was blessed by the EVER-LIVING in all his possessions,
- 6 in the house and in the field, so that all he had increased under the direction of Joseph; consequently he made no enquiry what he had, except for the bread which he ate. Joseph was also handsome in form, and handsome in face.

It happened, however, after these 7 events, that the wife of his master lifted up her eyes to Joseph, and said, "Lie with me!" But he 8 refused, and said to his master's wife; "My master knows not what is in his house, and all that he possesses he has placed in my control. There 9 is not a greater than I in this house, and he has withheld nothing from me, except yourself, because you are his wife. Therefore I will not commit that great sin, and outrage, against GOD."

However she solicited Joseph day 10 after day, but he would not listen to her to lie beside her, or be with her. But it happened that one day when 11 he came to her apartment with a message for her, and there were none of the attendants of the house there in the apartment, that she seized him 12 by his wrapper, saying "Lie with me," but he let his wrapper slip off in her hand, and fled away naked. So when she saw that he had left 13 his wrapper in her hand, and had fled naked, she cried out to the atten- 14 dants of her house and said to them, "Look! he has brought this foreign fellow to us to insult us! He came to me to violate me;—but I shrieked out; and when he heard that I raised 15 my voice and shrieked, then he left his wrapper beside me and fled naked!" She also laid by the 16 wrapper with her till her lord came home, when she spoke to him about 17 all this matter, saying, "There came to me the Hebrew slave whom you brought to us, to insult me, but when 18 I raised my voice to cry out, he abandoned his wrapper near me and fled away naked."

And when his master heard the 19 tale of his wife, which she told him, asserting, "Your servant acted towards me according to my statements," he was fired with anger; therefore Joseph's master took and 20 put him into the tower-house, the place where the prisoners of the king were imprisoned, and he was confined in the tower-house. But the EVER- 21 LIVING was with Joseph, and gave him mercy, and gave him favour in the eyes of the commander of the tower-house, so that the commander of the 22 tower-house placed in Joseph's hands the whole of the prisoners who were in the tower-house, and all that was done there he directed it. The commander of the tower did not superintend anything, the whole was in his hands, because the EVER-LIVING was with him, and what he did the LORD prospered it.

1 Breaker. 2 Sunrise. 3 Egypt.

But it occurred after these events, that the butler of the king of the Mitzeraim offended, and the king of the Mitzeraim, his master, was angry. And Pharaoh was enraged with two of his officers, with the chief of the butlers, and with the chief of the cooks, and he ordered them to be confined in the house of the Commander of the Guards—in the tower-house,—the place where Joseph was also imprisoned. The Commander of the Guards consequently remitted them to Joseph, and he kept them, and they were many days under restraint.

But they dreamed, both of them, a dream; each dream in the same night; each dream had a separate appearance, to the butler and to the cook whom the king of the Mitzeraim had imprisoned in the tower-house.

When Joseph came to them in the morning, he saw their pining gloom, so he asked the officers of Pharaoh who were in his custody in the house of his master, "Why are your faces sad and sorrowful to-day?"

And they replied, "We have dreamed dreams, and we have not an interpreter."

But Joseph answered, "Is not GOD the interpreter of dreams? Tell to me now."

The chief butler therefore told his dream to Joseph and said to him; "In my dream I saw a vine before me, and on the vine three branches, and the berries grew on them, and the clusters of grapes were ripe, and Pharaoh's cup was in my hand; so I took the grapes and crushed them into the cup of Pharaoh, and put the cup into the hand of Pharaoh."

Joseph then said to him, "This is the interpretation. The three branches are three days: after three days hence Pharaoh will raise your head, and restore you to your station, and you will give Pharaoh's cup to his hand, as was appointed formerly, when you were his butler.—Then remember me, because I was kind to you. Do me therefore a kindness, and remind Pharaoh of me, and cause him to bring me out of this house, for by treachery I was dragged from the country of the Hebrews, and also here I have done no crime that should put me in a dungeon."

When the chief baker saw that the interpretation was good, he also said to Joseph: "I have dreamed as well; and there were three baskets filled on my head, and in the highest basket of all victuals for Pharaoh, ready baked, but the birds ate them from the basket, from off my head."

Then Joseph answered and said, "This is the interpretation. The three baskets are three days. Three days from hence Pharaoh will take your head from off you, and will hang you on a gallows, and the birds shall eat your flesh from off you."

It happened that three days after was Pharaoh's birthday, and he made a feast for all his officers, and raised the head of the chief of the butlers, and the head of the chief of the bakers among his officers, and restored the chief of the butlers to his butlership, and he gave the cup to the hand of Pharaoh; but he hung the chief of the bakers, as Joseph had interpreted the dream. The chief of the butlers, however, did not remember Joseph, but forgot him.

Some time after it occurred that Pharaoh dreamed, and seemed standing by the river, and saw seven cows come up from the river, beautiful to see, and full fleshed, and they fed upon the rushes. Then he saw seven other cows come up after them from the river, poor to look upon and lean in flesh; and they approached the cows on the bank of the river, and the cows that were poor to look upon and lean in flesh, ate up the seven beautiful looking and fat cows.—Then Pharaoh awoke.

He slept again, and dreamed; and saw seven ears of corn spring up from one stalk very beautiful and good. He saw also seven ears of corn spring up after them withered and blighted by the east wind; and the seven withered ears of corn swallowed the seven beautiful and good ears. Then Pharaoh awoke;—and it was a dream.

When morning came his spirit was oppressed; so he sent and summoned all the writers of Mitzeraim, and all her scientists, and Pharaoh related his dreams to them. But there was not an interpreter among them for Pharaoh.

9 Then the chief of the butlers spoke to Pharaoh, saying, "I remember my 10 offence of the day when Pharaoh was angry with his servant, and put me into custody in the house of the General of the Guard, and the chief of the 11 bakers was with me, and we dreamed a dream in the same night, I and he; each according to the form of the dream we had dreamed: But there was with us a Hebrew youth, a slave of the General of the Guard, and we related them to him, and he interpreted to us our dreams. He interpreted to each his own dream: And it happened to us exactly as he interpreted to us our dream."

14 Pharaoh, therefore, sent and summoned Joseph, and they took him from the dungeon, and shaved him and changed his clothes, and brought him to Pharaoh.

15 Then Pharaoh told Joseph the dream he had dreamed, and that none could interpret it to him; "but I have heard a report about you, that you heard a dream and interpreted it."

16 Joseph, accordingly answered to Pharaoh, saying, "May GOD return an answer of peace to Pharaoh."

17 So Pharaoh related his dream to Joseph: "I stood by the bank of the river, and saw come up from the river seven cows, full fleshed and beautiful to see, and they pastured on the rushes. Then I saw seven other cows come up after them miserable and very bad to look at, and lean in flesh. I never saw such wretched things in all the land of the Mitzeraim, they were so bad. But the lean and wretched cows ate up the seven former beautiful cows, and they came and approached me, and yet I noticed as they came and drew near, and could observe they were as poor as before. Then I awoke.

21 "Again I was in a dream and saw seven ears of corn spring from one stalk, each full and good. Then I saw seven ears blasted, poor, and withered by the east wind follow them; and the poor ears swallowed the seven good ears; and I told it to the writers and they cannot inform me about it."

25 Then Joseph replied to Pharaoh, "The dream of Pharaoh is all one. What GOD has determined to do, He has related to Pharaoh. The seven good cows are seven years; and the seven good ears of corn are seven years,—these dreams are all one. And 27 the seven lean and poor cows that came up after them, are seven years; and the seven poor ears of corn, blasted by the east wind, they are seven years of famine. This event 28 which I have stated to Pharaoh GOD has made known to Pharaoh. The 29 seven years before us will be great years in all the land of the Mitzeraim; but they will be followed by seven 30 years of famine afterwards, and those seven shall be forgotten in the land of the Mitzeraim, for the famine shall desolate the land. For those seven 31 shall not be recognized in the land before the presence of the famine that will follow them;—for it will be very heavy. As for the double dream 32 granted to Pharaoh, that confirms the event from GOD,—and GOD will hasten to effect it. Therefore let Pharaoh 33 seek out a man, firm and skilful, and set him over the Mitzeraim, and let 34 Pharaoh act, and appoint officers over the land, and take a fifth part produced by the land of the Mitzeraim in the first seven years of the sevens, and store up all that food in the seven good years that are coming, and 35 store up corn under the hand of Pharaoh for food in cities and fortresses, so that there may be food to support the land in the seven years of famine which will be in the land of the Mitzeraim, so that the country may not be cut off by the famine."

And this advice was good in the 37 eyes of Pharaoh, and in the eyes of his ministers. Therefore Pharaoh 38 commanded his ministers to select some man with the spirit of GOD in him. Then afterwards Pharaoh said 39 to Joseph, "I have perceived that GOD is with you in all this, and there is certainly no intelligence like yours, therefore you shall be over my house, 40 and by your mouth all my affairs shall be regulated; only in the throne will I be greater than you." Pharaoh 41 also said to Joseph, "See, I appoint you over all the land of the Mitzeraim."

Then Pharaoh took his ring from his hand, and put it upon the hand of Joseph, and clothed him in a white robe, and put a golden chain on his neck, and mounted him in a hooded 43 chariot of his own, and they proclaimed before him the appointment given to him over all the land of the Mitzeraim. Pharaoh also said to 44 Joseph, "I am Pharaoh!—but without your order no man shall move his hand or foot in all the land of the Mitzerites."

- 45 Pharaoh consequently called the office of Joseph "The High Treasurership," and gave him Aseneth the daughter of Poti-Phara, priest of On, for a wife.

Joseph has Egypt surbeysed and stores up Corn.

- Joseph at once made a survey of the whole land of the Mitzerites.
- 46 Joseph was thirty years old on his appearance before Pharaoh king of the Mitzerites, and Joseph went from the presence of Pharaoh and organized
- 47 all the land of Mitzer. The earth also produced big loads in the seven
- 48 years of the sevens, and he collected much provision in the seven years, in the land of Mitzer, and stored up the provision. For every town he stored up provision from the fields
- 49 around it. Joseph consequently stored corn like the sand of the sea for quantity; the amount was so great that they ceased to measure it, because it was immeasurable.
- 50 Joseph also had two sons born to him before the years of the famine came. Aseneth the daughter of Poti-Phara the priest of On bore
- 51 them, and Joseph called the name of the eldest Manasseh,¹ "For GOD has made me forget all my troubles, and
- 52 all my father's house." But he called the name of the other Ephraim,² "For GOD has enriched me in the land of my wrongs."
- 53 Then the seven years of the sevens which were to be in the land of the
- 54 Mitzeraim came to an end; and at their end the seven years of famine began, according to the declaration of Joseph; and the famine was upon all the lands, but in the land of the Mitzeraim there was bread. At last the whole
- 55 country of the Mitzerites hungered, and the people called upon Pharaoh for bread, but Pharaoh replied to all the Mitzerites, "Go to Joseph, who will tell you what to do." And as the
- 56 famine was over the whole surface of the country, Joseph opened the stores which he had by him, and distributed to the Mitzerites. Although the famine raged in the land of the Mitzeraim, yet all the countries came to
- 57 the Mitzeraim to buy corn from Joseph, for the famine raged over all the countries round.

¹ Forgotten.

² Fruitful.

Joseph's Brothers are sent to Egypt to buy Corn, and terrified by being called Spies.

Jacob also learnt there was corn in 42 Mitzeraim, so Jacob said to his sons, "Why do you look at each other?" He also said, "I have heard that there is corn in Mitzeraim. Descend to there and buy for us from it, that we may live and not die."

Therefore ten brothers of Joseph 3 went down to buy corn from the Mitzeraim. But Jacob did not send 4 Benjamin the own brother of Joseph with his other brothers, for he said, "I fear an injury might happen to him."

Thus the sons of Israel went down 5 to buy corn, together with other travellers, for there was a famine in the land of Canan.

Joseph was then Protector over all 6 the country, to distribute to all the people of the land, and Joseph's brothers came and bowed to him, face to the ground. When Joseph 7 saw them he scrutinized and recognized them, but spoke to them harshly, and asked, "From what country do you come?"

They replied, "From the land of Canan, to buy food."

Although Joseph recognized his 8 brothers they did not recognize him,—but Joseph remembered the dream 9 which he dreamed to himself, and said to them, "You are spies; come to survey the nakedness of the land."

But they replied to him, "No, my 10 lord, but your slaves have come to buy food; and all of us are sons of 11 one man;—we are honest men;—we are not spies."

However he replied, "No! but you 12 are come to see the nakedness of the country."

They then answered, "Your slaves 13 were twelve brothers. We are the sons of one man in the land of Canan. The youngest is at home to-day, and one is not."

But Joseph returned, "That is just 14 what I said to you, when I said you are spies. By this I will prove you. 15 By the life of Pharaoh! you shall not go from here until you have brought your youngest brother here! Send 16 one of yourselves to take your brother, and return; then you will prove your words true about him, and if not, by the life of Pharaoh, you are spies!" And he further ordered them to be 17

18 imprisoned three days. But after the third day Joseph said to them, 19 "Do this and live;—for I fear GOD. I will select one of your brothers, whom I will put into confinement instead of you; and you others take corn for your starving families. But you must bring your younger brother to me, and verify your statement, and live and not die." And they did so.
 21 But each said to his brother: "We suffer for our sins against our brother, because we saw the anguish of his soul imploring us to have pity on him, and we would not listen. Therefore this distress has come upon us."
 22 Then Reuben answered them, and said, "Did I not speak to you and say, 'Let us not sin against the lad,' and you would not listen to me? And now his blood is sought for!"
 23 And they did not know that Joseph understood them, for he used an interpreter with them. But he withdrew from them and wept. Then he returned to them and spoke, and selected Simeon from them and fettered him before their eyes.
 25 Joseph afterwards commanded and their waggons were loaded with corn; but he caused their money to be returned into the load of each. Then he gave them leave to go,—and showed politeness to them. They also loaded corn upon their asses, and set out. But one of them opened a sack of his, to give fodder to his ass in the inn, and saw his money, which was placed openly in its mouth.
 28 Then he said to his brothers, "He has caused my money to be returned, and here it is in my bag;" and their hearts stopped; and they trembled each at his brother, exclaiming; "What is this that GOD has done to us?"
 29 They went, however, to Jacob in the land of Canan and reported to him all these proceedings, saying, "The man who is master of the country spoke to us harshly, and took us for spies upon the land. But we said to him, 'We are honest, and are not spies; we are twelve brothers, sons of our father—one is not, and the youngest is now with our father in the land of Canan.' But the man, who is master of the country, said 'By this I will discover if you are honest; I will select one of your brothers to remain with me; but take for your starving families, and go. But you shall bring me your youngest brother, that I may be convinced you are not spies when I will return the brother I have selected from you, and you may trade in the country.'"

When, however, they were empty-
 35 ing their loads, then each found his money in his cargo, and they were in fear at the finding of the money; both they and their father were afraid, and Jacob their father said 36 to them, "I am bereaved! Joseph is not, and Simeon is not, and you would take from me all there are!"

Then Reuben replied to his father, 37 saying, "Kill my two sons, if I do not bring them back to you!—I now place them in your hands as a pledge that I will them return to you!"

But he answered, "My son shall 38 not go down with you, for his brother is dead, and he alone remains, and an accident might happen to him in the journey that you are going;—and you would bring down my grey hairs with sorrow to the grave."

But the famine oppressed the 43 country, and it arrived that when all the food they had bought from the Mitzeraim ended, that their father said to them, "Return, and buy us a little food."

When Judah replied to him saying,
 3 "The man swore to us, asseverating, 'You shall never see my face, unless your brother is with you.' If you are 4 wise enough to send our brother with us, we will return and buy food for you to eat. But if you will not
 5 send, we will not go down; for the man said to us, 'You shall not see my face unless your brother is with you.'"

Israel, however, answered, "Why
 6 did you wrong me by telling the man that there was another brother to you?"

And they responded, "The man
 7 demanded of us about our birth-place, asking, 'Have you a father living? Have you a brother?' and we told him straightforwardly about those things. How could we know he would say 'Bring your brother down with you?'"

Then Judah exclaimed to Israel,
 8 his father, "Send the lad with me! Let us arise and march, and live and not die—both ourselves, you, and our children! I pledge myself for him!
 9 From my hand seek him if I do not bring him back to you! then banish me from your face, for I shall have sinned against you all my days. If 10

- you had not hesitated, we should already have returned before now."
- 11 Therefore Israel their father said to him, "If it must be, do this; take some of the productions of this country in your waggons, and go down to the man with a present;—some balsam, and honey, perfumes,
- 12 and myrrh, nuts and almonds. Also take double money in your hands, and the money that was returned in the mouth of your bags, return with your
- 13 own hands to him again. Take your brother also, and arise, go back to the man, and may the Almighty GOD give you mercy before the man, and send your brother back with Benjamin. For if I am to be bereaved, I shall be bereaved."

Joseph's Brothers' Second Journey to Egypt; and they Dine with him.

- 15 Consequently the men took the present, and took double money in their hands and Benjamin, and arose and went to Mitzeraim and appeared
- 16 before Joseph. And Joseph saw Benjamin with them, and said to the chief of his house, "Invite those men to my house, and prepare a dinner, for those men shall eat with me at noon."
- 17 The man therefore did as Joseph ordered, and he brought the men to
- 18 Joseph's house. But the men were afraid at being brought to Joseph's house, and said "It is on account of the money which was returned to our bags last time that we are brought, to have an excuse against us, and to fall upon us and to take us for his
- 19 slaves, with our asses." Therefore they approached the steward of Joseph's house, and spoke with him in the verandah of the house, and said, "By the EVER-LIVING we came
- 20 down for the purpose of buying food; but when we returned to the inn and opened our bags, there was our money in the mouth of our bags, in full amount. But we have returned
- 22 with it in our hands. We have also brought other money with us to buy food. We knew not that our money was there in our loads."
- 23 But he answered, "Be quiet, and fear nothing. Your GOD and the GOD of your father has given you that money secretly into your loads. Come with me." Then he brought Simeon
- 24 to them. The man, the steward of Joseph's house, also went out and ordered water, and they washed their feet. Then he ordered fodder for their asses. They then prepared the 25 present against Joseph's arrival at noon; for they heard they were to dine with him. When Joseph came 26 to the apartment, they presented him the present which they had brought from home, and bowed to the ground before him.

Then he asked them about their 27 health, and said, "Is your father well?—the old man you told me of? Is he alive yet?"

And they replied, "Your slaves are 28 well, and our father is yet alive," and bent and bowed. But he raised his 29 eyes and saw Benjamin his brother, the son of his mother, and asked; "Is this your youngest brother, of whom you spoke to me?" Then he added,— "GOD show you mercy, my son."

Then Joseph hastened, for his 30 affection burned for his brother, and he sought to weep, so he went into his chamber and wept there. But 31 afterwards he washed his face and came again, and restrained himself, and ordered dinner to be served.

They therefore served it for him, 32 by himself; and to them apart, by themselves; for the Mitzerites dined by themselves; for the Mitzerites are not allowed to eat food with foreigners: for that is disgusting to the Mitzerites. But they placed in his presence the 33 eldest, according to his age, and youngest according to his youth, and arranged the men each by his relative, and they took dishes from before 34 him to offer to them: but they offered to Benjamin more dishes than to any of the rest, presenting five, which they presented and left with him.

Joseph discovers Himself to his Brothers.

Afterwards he commanded his 44 steward, saying; "Fill the loads of these men with food as much as they are able to carry, and put the money of each on the top of the carts; and 2 my cup, the cup of silver, place at the top of the load of the youngest, with the money for his corn." So they did as Joseph ordered.

At morning-light the men went off 3 with their asses. When they had 4 gone not far from the city, Joseph said to his steward, "Mount and follow those men; secure them, and say to them, 'Why have you returned evil for good? Where is that my lord 5 drinks from? He is very sharp-sighted. He saw what you were doing!"

6 So he pursued, and said this to them.

7 But they replied; "Why has my lord spoken these words accusing your servants of having done such a thing? You know we returned to you from the land of Canan the money which we found in the top of our loads. We have not stolen silver or gold from the house of your lord. If it is found with any of your servants, kill him, and we also will be slaves to my lord."

10 And he replied, "It shall be as you say; Therefore with whoever of you it is, he shall be my slave, and you shall be innocent."

11 Then they hastened and each one

12 unloaded his load, and he searched beginning at the eldest to the youngest, and found the cup in Benjamin's

14 load. Then they tore their garments, and mounted each man his ass and returned to the city.

14 When Judah and his brothers came to Joseph's house, and were again brought in, they fell on their faces to the ground. While Joseph said to them, "How has this occurred that you have committed? Did you not know that I observe what happens around me?"

16 Then Judah replied, "What can I say to my lord? What assert? or how vindicate myself? God has found out the sin of your slaves in their hands; —alas! we are slaves to my lord! both we, and the one in whose hand the cup was found!"

17 But he answered and said; "Far be it from me to act thus. The one in whose possession the cup was found, he shall be a slave to me, but you can go in peace to your father."

18 Then Judah approached him and said; "To me, my lord, grant now for your slave to speak to the ears of my lord, and let not your anger burn with your slave;—for you are to me

19 like Pharoh. My lord asked of his slaves, saying, 'Have you a father, or brother living?' and we replied to my lord, 'A father lives with us; an old man, and a lad of his old age, the youngest; but his brother is dead. And beside him there is none from his mother, so his father loves him.'

21 Then you said to your slaves, 'Bring him to me, that I may set my eyes

22 on him.' But we replied to my lord, 'The youth is not able to leave his father; for if he leaves his father then he will die.' You, however, said 23 to your slaves, 'If you do not bring down your youngest brother with you, you shall not again see my face.' And when we went up to your slave, 24 my father, he was informed of the demand of my lord, so that when our 25 father said, 'Return and buy us a little food,' we replied 'We cannot 26 go down unless our youngest brother is with us. Even should we descend, we cannot see the face of the man unless our youngest brother is with us.' Then your slave, my father, said 27 to us, 'You know that my wife bore me two lads, and one went from me, 28 and I said, alas! he has been torn to pieces, and I shall see him no more. And if you take this one from my 29 face, and an accident should happen to him, you will bring my grey hairs with sorrow to the grave.' So now if 30 I should go to your slave, my father, and the youth is not with us, whose life is bound to his life, it will be then 31 when he sees that the youth is not with us, he will die, and your slave will cause the grey hairs of your slave, our father, to go down in agony to the grave. Besides, your slave pledged 32 himself for the youth to my father, saying, 'If we do not bring him back to you, then let me be banished from my father all my days.' So now, I 33 pray, let your slave remain, instead of the youth, a slave to my lord, and let the youth return with his brothers; for if I go up to my father, 34 and the youth is not with me, then I shall see the misery that will come upon my father!"

Then Joseph was not able to re- 45 strain himself before all the officers around him, and cried;—"Every man go out from me!" So not a man remained with him while Joseph made himself known to his brothers. Then Joseph discovered his language 2 to his brothers, and the Mizerites heard, and it was reported to the house of Pharoh, and Joseph said to his brothers, "I am Joseph. Does 3 my father yet live?" But his brothers were not able to answer him, for they were terrified, at the sight of him.

Joseph, therefore, said to his 4 brothers, "Come near to me." So they approached, when he said, "I really am Joseph, your brother, whom you sold to go to Mitzer. Now, let 5 not trouble and terror be in your eyes, because you sold me—for God sent me

6 before you to preserve life; for these two years the famine has encircled the land, and for five years more there will not be ploughing or harvest,

7 therefore GOD has sent me before you to preserve to you a posterity in the earth, and a secure refuge for

8 your lives. Consequently it was not you who sent me, but GOD who appointed me as a Father to Pharaoh, and an Administrator of all his house, and a Governor for all the land of

9 the Mitzeraim. Therefore arise and go up to my father, and say to him; 'Your son Joseph says thus:—GOD has appointed me as Administrator of all the Mitzerites, so come down

10 to me: Do not delay. You shall reside in the land of Goshen, and be near to me;—you, your children, and your children's children, with your sheep and your oxen and all that you

11 have, and I will provide for you there, for there are five years of famine yet; therefore come down, yourself and your family, and all that you have;

12 so that my eyes may see you and the eyes of my brother Benjamin, and that my mouth may also speak with 13 you.' You must also inform my father of all my power among the Mitzeraim, and all that you have seen, and cause your father to mount and come down to here."

14 Then he fell upon the necks of his brothers and wept, and Benjamin

15 wept upon his neck. He also kissed all his brothers, and wept over them, and afterwards his brothers conversed with him. And a report was communicated to the Palace of Pharaoh saying, "Joseph's brothers have come!" and it was good in the eyes of Pharaoh, and of his ministers.

17 Pharaoh therefore said to Joseph, "Say to your brothers thus,—' Load up all of you from the city and go to the land of Canan, and take your father and your families and come to me, and I will give you the best of the land of the Mitzeraim, and you shall be fed on the fat of the land.'

19 You, yourself, also command this to be done:—' Take from the land of Mitzer waggons for your little children and wives, and your father, and bring

20 them. Care nothing also for the abandonment of your goods; for the best of the land in Mitzer shall be yours.'"

21 The sons of Israel accordingly did so, and Joseph gave them waggons from Pharaoh's arsenal, and provided provisions for the journey. He also ²² gave all of them a suit of clothes, but to Benjamin he gave three hundred pounds, and five suits of clothes. To ²³ his father he sent in addition ten he riding asses the best in Mitzer, and ten she riding asses besides, with bread and meat for his father on the way. Thus he sent off his brothers, and said ²⁴ to them, "Do not quarrel on the road."

They accordingly went from ²⁵ Mitzeraim and ascended to the land of Canan, to Jacob their father, and ²⁶ reported to him saying, "Joseph is yet alive, and he is also Governor of all the land of the Mitzeraim." Then his heart failed, for he could not believe them. Then they related ²⁷ that Joseph had said to them;—but when he saw the waggons which Joseph had sent to carry himself, then the spirit of Jacob their father revived, and Israel said, "It is enough! ²⁸ my son Joseph does live! I will go and see him before I die!"

Israel consequently marched, and ⁴⁶ all that were with him, and went to the Well of the Oath, and offered offerings to the GOD of his father Isaac. Then GOD appeared to Israel ² in a vision at night, and said "Jacob! Jacob!"—and he replied "I am here." When He answered, "I am GOD, ³ GOD of your father Isaac; fear not. Go down to the Mitzeraim, for you shall become a great nation there. I, THE MIGHTY, will be with you in ⁴ Mitzer, and I will support you, and Joseph shall place his hands upon your eyes."

Jacob afterwards arose from the ⁵ Well of the Oath, and the sons of Israel carried Jacob their father, and their children and wives in the waggons which Pharaoh had sent to carry them in. They also took their ⁶ herds, and the property they had purchased in the land of Canan, and went to the Mitzeraim,—Jacob and all his race with him: his sons and sons ⁷ of his sons with him; his daughters and his daughters' sons and all his race went with him to the Mitzeraim.

The Roll Call of the Patriarchs.

Now these are the names of the ⁸ sons of Israel who went to the Mitzeraim:—

Jacob; and the eldest son of Jacob, Reuben, and the sons of Reuben, ⁹ Hanok, and Phelwa, and Hetzon and Karmi.

- 10 The sons of Simeon, Jemuel, and Jamin, and Ahad, and Jakin, and Tzokhar, and Shaul ben Cananith.
- 11 And the sons of Levi, Gershan, Kehath and Merari;
- 12 And the sons of Judah, Ar, and Onan, and Shelak, and Pherez, but Zarak, and Ar, and Onan died in the land of Canan; and the sons of Pherez were Hotzeon and Hamal;
- 13 And the sons of Issacker, Tholah, and Phurah, and Job, and Shimron;
- 14 And the sons of Zebulon, Sered, and Alon, and Jakhlal;
- 15 These were children from Leah, which she bore to Jacob in Padan Aram, beside Dinah his daughter; and the persons of her sons and daughters were thirty-three.
- 16 And the sons of Gad, Tzifion, and Hani, Sheni, and Atzbon, Ari, and Arodi and Akheli;
- 17 And the sons of Asher were, Jamna, and Ishnah, and Ishur, and Beriah, and Sirakh, his twin brother; and the sons of Beriah, Heber, and Malkiel;
- 18 These were the children of Zilfa, whom Laban gave to Leah his daughter, and who bore them to Jacob, six and twenty persons.
- 19 Sons of Rachel, wife of Jacob, were
- 20 Joseph and Benjamin. But there were born to Joseph in the land of the Mitzeraim whom Aseneth the daughter of Poti-Para, priest of On, bore;—Manasseh, and Ephraim.
- 21 And the sons of Benjamin, Bela, and Beker, and Ashbol, Ghera and Namen, twins, and Rash with the twin Muphi, and twin Khuphi, and Arad;
- 22 These were the sons of Rachel which she bore to Jacob, fourteen persons in all.
- 23 And the son of Dan was Kushan;
- 24 And the sons of Naphtali, Jakhzel, and Guni, and Jetzer, and Shilam;
- 25 These were the children of Bilah, whom Laban gave to Rachel his daughter, and she bore these to Jacob;—in all seven persons.
- 26 And the souls who went with Jacob to Mitzer, who sprung from his loins, being men only, sons of Jacob;—all the persons were seventy.
- 27 But the sons of Joseph, who were born to him in Mitzer were two persons, men; so all the persons of the family of Jacob who came down to Mitzer were seventy.

Jacob and Joseph Meet.

- 28 But he sent Judah before himself to invite Joseph to meet him in Goshen, when he arrived in the land of Goshen. Joseph accordingly at once mounted his chariot, and went to meet Israel his father in Goshen. Whom he looked at, and fell upon his neck, and wept on his neck for a long time; and Israel said to Joseph, "Let me die at once,—after I have seen your face! Why should I live longer?"

Joseph afterwards said to his brothers, and to the family of his father, "I will go and inform Pharaoh, and tell him that my brothers, and the family of my father who were in the land of Canan have come to me, and that the men feed sheep, they have lived with people of the fold; and their sheep and cattle and all that they have they have brought. But it must be that when Pharaoh calls you and enquires 'What can you do?' you must say; 'Your slaves have lived as cattle-men from their youth, until now, both we and our fathers;—grant us to settle in the land of Goshen;' for the Mitzerites hate every shepherd of sheep."

Joseph accordingly went and reported to Pharaoh, and said, "My father and brothers, and their sheep and cattle, and all that they have, are come from the land of Canan, and are in the land of Goshen." Then he selected five from his brothers to take and present to Pharaoh, and Pharaoh asked his brothers, "What is your business?" When they replied to Pharaoh, "Your slaves are shepherds of sheep,—as we are, so were our fathers." They also said to Pharaoh, "We have come to reside in the land, for there is no pasture for your slaves' sheep, because the famine is heavy in the land of Canan, so allow your slaves to live in the land of Goshen."

Pharaoh therefore in reply said to Joseph, "Your father and your brothers have come to you; the land of the Mitzeraim is before you, so fix your father and brothers on the best of it. Let them settle in the land of Goshen, and if you know also a skillful man amongst them, appoint him superintendent of my farms."

Joseph afterwards took Jacob his father and presented him before Pharaoh, and Jacob blessed Pharaoh; and Pharaoh asked Jacob, "How many are the days of the years of your life?"

- 9 When Jacob replied to Pharaoh; "The days of the years of my stay have been one hundred and thirty years. Few and evil have been the years of the days of my life! and they have not reached to the days of the years my fathers lived in the days of their stay." Then Jacob blessed Pharaoh, and retired from the presence of Pharaoh.
- 11 Joseph afterwards settled his father and his brothers, and gave them possession in the land of the Mitzeraim in the best district in the country of Ramases, as he was commanded.
- 12 Joseph also provided food for his father and brothers, and all their families, according to their children.

History of Egypt's Famine continued.

- 13 Bread failed in all the country, for the famine was very severe, and the land of the Mitzeraim and the land of Canan fainted before the famine,
- 14 therefore Joseph gathered up all the money he found in the land of Mitzraim, and in the land of Canan; and all the Mitzeraim came to Joseph for the corn which they bought, and Joseph brought the money to the treasury of Pharaoh. Thus he collected the money from the land of Mitzeraim and the land of Canan.
- Then all the Mitzeraim came to Joseph to say: "Provide bread for us, so that we may not die before you, for our money is exhausted."
- 16 Joseph, however, answered them: "Bring your cattle, and I will give you it for your cattle, instead of for money."
- 17 Consequently they brought their cattle to Joseph and he gave them bread, for horses and cattle and sheep; for herds of oxen and asses he supplied them with bread, in exchange for all their cattle for that year.
- 18 But that year ended; so they came to him in the next year, and said to him; "We have kept back nothing from my lord: We have nothing left before my lord, except our bodies, and our land. Why should we ourselves die before your eyes? Buy to yourself our land for bread, and we and our land will be slaves to Pharaoh."
- 20 Thus the Mitzeraim sold every one his farm, for the famine was cruel upon them;—and the land became Pharaoh's. But he transferred the people upon it to fresh villages, from the one extreme boundary of Mitzraim to the other extreme of it; except that he did not buy the lands of the priesthood, for he protected the priesthood by laws from Pharaoh, and they were fed from rations provided for them; therefore he did not buy their lands.

Then Joseph proclaimed to the nation, "You see I have bought you to-day, and your land for Pharaoh. I will supply seed to you, and you can sow the land. But of its produce you shall give one-fifth to Pharaoh, and four-fifths shall be for yourselves, to sow the fields and to feed you, with those you employ, and as food for your children."

They thereupon replied, "Our lives have found favour in the eyes of my lord, and we will be slaves of Pharaoh."

So Joseph made it the constitution to this day;—that the land of the Mitzeraim was Pharaoh's for the fifth tax, except the lands of the priesthood, which were not to become Pharaoh's.

Joseph also settled Israel in the district of Goshen, and they possessed there, and flourished, and increased greatly.

The Sickness and the Death of Jacob.

Jacob, however, lived seventeen years in the land of the Mitzeraim, and all the days of the years of Jacob were one hundred and forty-seven years. But the day approached for Israel to die, and he called his son Joseph to him, and said to him, "If now I have found favour in your eyes, put your hand under my thigh, and do to me a true kindness, and bury me not among the Mitzeraim, but lay me to sleep with my fathers, and carry me from Mitzraim, and bury me in their burial place."

And he replied, "I will do as you have said."

But he answered, "Swear to me;" and Israel was reclining on the surface of his bed.

But it was after these events that it was reported to Joseph, "Your father is ill," so he took his two sons, Manasseh and Ephraim, with him; and Jacob was told, "Your son 2 Joseph has come to you."

Then Israel exerted himself and sat up in his bed, and Jacob said to Joseph, "The ALMIGHTY GOD appeared to me on my departure from the land of Canaan, and blessed me, and said to me; 'I will make you flourish, and increase your family, and make you an assembly of nations; and I will give this land to your race after you as a possession for ever!' But now for your two sons, who have been born to you in the land of the Mitzeraim before I came to you in Mitzraim;—let then Ephraim and Manasseh be mine, as Reuben and Simeon are mine. But your children whom you have begot after them they shall be yours. They shall not be called by the name of their brothers in their inheritance.

7 "When I came from Padan, Rachel died from me in the land of Canaan, on the journey, in Kibrath-artz, near the pass of Ephratha, and I buried her there by the road at Ephratha."¹

8 Then Israel looked at the sons of Joseph, and said, "These are mine!"

9 But Joseph said to his father, "They are the sons which GOD gave me here!"

He, however, replied, "I will take them now for myself, and bless them."

10 But the eyes of Israel were heavy from age. He was not able to distinguish, so he drew them to him and kissed them, and embraced them.

11 Afterwards Israel said to Joseph, "I have seen your face unexpectedly, and now GOD has shown me also your heirs."

12 Then Joseph brought them for his blessing and they bowed before his face, earthward.² Then Joseph took both of them, Ephraim in his right hand for the left hand of Israel, and Manasseh in his left, for the right hand of Israel, and approached him. But Israel stretched out his right hand and placed it upon the head of Ephraim, who was youngest, and his left hand upon the head of Manasseh, intentionally,

¹ Ch. 48, v. 7. The words, "Which is Bethlehem," are a comment of a Rabinal copyist, not part of the Text, so I put it at the foot of the page.—F. F.

² V. 12. A learned Jewish gentleman hearing of my work sent to ask how I rendered the 12th verse of the 48th of Genesis—"for," he said, "It is translated totally wrong in both the Authorized and Revised Versions, and all others." I copied out from my MSS. my translation as above, and my enquirer declared I was correct, as well as in another passage of which he had asked my translation. My readers can see the value of the correction by consulting the A.V. and R.V.—F. F.

although Manasseh was the eldest. Then he blessed Joseph, and said: 15
 "The GOD in the presence of Whom my fathers Abraham and Isaac walked,
 The GOD Who appeared to me from of old until this day;
 The MESSENGER Who redeemed 16
 me from all misfortune,
 Bless the lads, and give them my Power,
 The Power of my fathers Abraham and Isaac,
 And pour out their increase to the bounds of the earth!"

Joseph then discovered that his 17 father had placed his right hand on the head of Ephraim, and it was displeasing in his eyes, so he took hold of his father's hand to change it from off the head of Ephraim to the head of Manasseh. Joseph also said 18 to his father, "Not thus my father, for this is the eldest; place your right hand on his head."

But his father refused, saying, "I 19 knew it my son, I knew it. He also shall be a nation,—and he also shall be great,—but nevertheless his younger brother shall be greater than he, and his race shall be a multitude of nations, and when blessing in that period they shall say, 20
 'The Blessing of Israel be upon you! May GOD make you like Ephraim and like Manasseh,' and they will place Ephraim above Manasseh."

Then Israel said to Joseph;—"I 21 shall die, but GOD will be with you, and will return you to the land of your fathers. Therefore I give to you Shekem alone, above your brothers, which I took to me by my hand, from the Amorites, by my sword and my bow."

Jacob's Blessings to his Sons.

Jacob afterwards called his sons 49
 and said;
 "Assemble and I will inform you 2
 What will befall you in future times;
 Collect and listen, sons of Jacob,
 Yes, list to your father Israel;

To Reuben.

Reuben! The first of my vigour,— 3
 You are the crown of my passion;
 Excelling in beauty, excelling in strength!
 Boiling like water, you lost com- 4
 mand;—
 For mounting your father's bed,
 Yes! defiling my honour's abode.

To Simeon and Levi.

- 5 Simeon and Levi are brothers; Cruel weapons are hidden with
them;
- 6 To their plottings go not my soul!
My honour, join not their clan!
For they murdered guiltless men,
And joyfully murdered a prince.
- 7 Curse their crime, as great, and their transgression,
For it sorely troubled Jacob, and Israel shamed.

To Judah.

- 8 Judah you shall direct your brothers;
Your hand shall be on the neck of your foes;
To you shall the sons of your father bow!—
- 9 A young lion, Judah, for plunder!
My son springs from his couch like a lion—
And as a lioness,—who dare rouse him?
- 10 The sceptre shall not depart from Judah,
Or the Giver of Law from between his feet,
Till peace arrive, and the nations
obey him.—
- 11 Bound to the vine like an ass,
And a colt the son of a stepper,
He washed his garments in wine,
And his clothes in the blood of clusters!
- 12 His eyes shall be bright as grapes,
And his teeth be white as milk!

To Zebulun.

- 13 Let Zebulun dwell on the shore of the sea,
On the shore of the ships,
And extend his legs to the fishery!

To Issakar.

- 14 A strong ass, Issakar, lies in the stall;—
- 15 And he saw that rest was good,
And the land, that it was pleasant,
So he gives his back to the load,
And becomes a servant for hire!

To Dan.

- 16 Dan shall govern his people,
As a sceptred Prince of Israel!
- 17 Dan is a snake in the path,—
An adder laid in the road,—
He will bite the heels of the horses,
Who will throw their riders backwards.
For your victory trust on the LORD!

To Gad.

Gad,—A troop!—He shall troop,— 18
But a troop shall deceive him! 19

To Asher.

For Asher, his food shall be rich, 20
And his are the royal pleasures.

To Naphtali.

Naphtali is a nimble stag, 21
Has the gift of eloquent speech!

To Joseph.

Joseph! a fruitful plant! 22
A fruitful plant by a well,—
With branches spread on the wall!
But the master of arrows provoked, 23
And shot, and pierced him;
But he turned to his powerful bow, 24
And the hands of his arms were quick
By the hands of the mighty GOD of Jacob,
From Whom is Israel's guardian stone.
May the GOD of your father guard 25
you;—
And the ALMIGHTY bless you!
With blessings from the sky above,
With blessings below of dancing
water,
With the bliss of the breasts, and love!
May the blessings of your father 1 strengthen,
With the bliss of the fertile vales.—
May the wealth of the ancient hills
He heaped on the head of Joseph;—
More nobly crowned than his brothers!

To Benjamin.

Benjamin! a wolf, shall eat plunder 27
at morn,
And at night shall divide his spoil."

All the offshoots of Israel were 28 twelve. And their father said this to them, and blessed each with his blessing: with blessings adapted to each.
Then he addressed them and said:— 29
"I shall be added to my people.
Bury me with my fathers, in the cave which is in the field of Ephron the Hitite; in the cave which is in the 30 field of Makphelah, which is near Mamra in the land of Canaan, which field Abraham bought from Ephron
the Hitite for a place of burial.
Abraham is buried there, and Sarah 31 his wife. Isaac is buried there, and Rebekka his wife, and there I buried

- 32 Leah. The field was bought, and the cave in it, from the sons of Heth."
 33 Jacob thus finished instructing his sons, and stretched out his legs upon the bed, and expired, and was added to his people.
 50 Then Joseph fell upon his father's face and wept, and kissed him.

Embalming and Burial of Jacob.

- 2 Joseph afterwards ordered his servants the physicians to embalm his father. The physicians accordingly
 3 embalmed Israel. When the forty days were completed, which the embalming occupies, then the Mitzerites wept for him yet forty days, and at the conclusion of the forty days of mourning, Joseph addressed the court of Pharoh and said:—
 "If, now, I have found favour in your sight, speak, I request to the ears of Pharoh, and say;
 5 "My father made me swear, saying, 'When I die, bury me in the tomb which I cut out for myself in the land of Canan:' so now I wish to go up and bury my father, and will return."
 6 Pharoh then replied, "Go up and bury your father, as he made you swear." Joseph therefore went up to bury his father, and there went up with him all the ministers of Pharoh, the nobles of his court, and all the nobles of the land of the Mitzeraim, with all the family of Joseph and his brothers, and the families of his father, except the children, and except the sheep and cattle which were 9 left in the land of Goshen. There also accompanied him chariots and horsemen, making a very large army.
 10 All these marched to Goren-Hatar which is over the Jordan,¹ and mourned there with a great and very heavy mourning, and made lamentation for his father for seven days.
 11 And when the inhabitants of the land of Canan saw the lamentation at Goren-Hatar they said, "This is a great grieving, for the Mitzerites;" Therefore they called its name "Mitzers-lament." It is beyond the Jordan.¹

¹ This means on the West of the Jordan, and is an internal proof that Genesis was written upon the Eastern side, and by Moses, during the Exodus. If it were a forgery of some unknown scribe of Jerusalem of a few centuries before Christ, he would have made "beyond Jordan" lie on the East.—F. F.

Thus his sons did for him as he 12 commanded them.

So they, his sons, carried him to 13 the land of Canan, and buried him in the cave in the field of Makphelah; which field Abraham bought to be a burial place, from Ephron the Hittite, opposite Mamra.

Then Joseph returned to Mitzer, 14 himself, and his brothers, and all who had accompanied him to bury his father, after he had buried his father.

But when Joseph's brothers saw 15 that their father was dead, they said to one another, "Joseph will hate us; and will return upon us all the wrong which we heaped upon him."

They therefore sent to Joseph and 16 said, "Our father commanded us before he died; 'Say to Joseph this, 17 forgive, I pray, your brothers' fault and sin in the wrongs they heaped upon you.' Consequently we beg of you to forgive the fault of the servants of the GOD of your father."

Joseph, however, wept at their address to him.

Then his brothers went and fell 18 before his face, and said, "We are your slaves."

But Joseph replied to them; "Fear 19 nothing! For I am subject to GOD. Although you set upon me for injury, 20 GOD turned it to good, in order that I might make this nation, to give life to many peoples. Go now do not 21 fear me. I will protect you, and your children." Thus he comforted them and spoke to their hearts.

This was after Joseph returned to 22 Mitzeraim, he and his father's family.

And Joseph lived one hundred and twenty years.

And Joseph saw his great-grand- 23 children from Ephraim. Sons also of Makir the son of Manasseh were fondled on the knees of Joseph.

At last Joseph said to his relatives, 24 "I shall die. However the EVER-LIVING will visit you and take you up from this country to the land which He swore to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob."

Then Joseph administered an oath 25 to the sons of Israel to say; "When your GOD visits you, take up my bones from here." Thus Joseph died 26 a hundred and twenty years old; and they embalmed him, and placed him in a coffin in Mitzeraim.

THE SECOND BOOK OF MOSES, COMMONLY CALLED

EXODUS.

(ALAH SHAMOTH.)

The Names of the Twelve Patriarchs.

1 THESE are the names of the sons of Israel who came to Mitzeraim.

The Chief Jacob, and his family with him:—Reuben, Simeon, Levi, 2 and Judah; Issakar, Zebulon, and 3 Benjamin; Dan and Naphthali; Gad 4 and Asher; all the persons proceeding from the loins of Jacob, were 5 seventy individuals; Joseph was already in Mitzeraim.

6 Now Joseph and all his brothers 7 died, and all their children. But the sons of Israel were fruitful and bred and increased, and became very, very powerful and the land was filled with them.

A Foreign Conqueror rules Egypt and fears Israel.

8 Then a Foreign Conqueror arose over the Mitzeraim who knew nothing 9 of Joseph, and said to his nation, "This people, the sons of Israel, are more in number and stronger than 10 ourselves, therefore let us deal skilfully with them, to prevent them increasing, for it is possible they might turn upon us in war and conquer, for they hate us, and may be fighting against us and expel us from the land."

11 They consequently placed labour masters over them to force them to build, and they built fortresses for 12 Pharoh—Pithom and Ramasses. But the more they oppressed them the more they increased; therefore they trembled and feared before the 13 sons of Israel. Consequently the Mitzerites endeavoured to crush the sons of Israel, so they embittered 14 their lives by cruel labour, in the forges, and in the brick-kilns, and in every labour upon the land, by every means possible trying to crush them. The king of the Mitzeraim also 15 summoned the midwives of the Hebrews, of whom the name of the chief was Shifra, and the name of her lieutenant Phua, and decreed; 16 "When you deliver the Hebrew women examine their children; if it be a son, kill him; but if a daughter, let her live."

But the midwives feared GOD, and 17 did not do as the king of the Mitzeraim ordered them, but preserved the children alive. The king of the 18 Mitzeraim therefore summoned those midwives again and enquired from them, "Why have you not executed the law, but have preserved the children's lives?"

When the midwives replied to 19 Pharoh, "Because they are not like Mitzerite women when in labour, but lively, so that before the time the midwives have come to them they are delivered." Therefore 20 GOD showed kindness to those midwives.

So the people increased and were very strong; and seeing that the midwives were GOD-fearing he imprisoned them. Pharoh then commanded this 22 people, saying, "Every boy that is born throw him into the river, but let the girls live."

The Birth of Moses, and Adoption by Pharoh's Daughter.

But there was a man of the family 2 of Levi, who married a Levite woman. And his wife conceived and bore a 2 son. When she looked on his beauty, she hid him for three months. But 3 being no longer able to hide him, she made a boat of bulrushes and pitched it with pitch and resin and placed it in the reeds, on the bank of the

- 4 river. But his sister stood at a distance to see what would happen to him. Then the daughter of Pharaoh came down to bathe in the river, and her maids walked along the bank of the stream; and they noticed the boat amongst the rushes. So she put out her hand and took it.
- 5 When she opened it she saw the lad, and he cried; and she grieved over him, and said, "It is one of the Hebrew children."
- 7 Then his sister asked the daughter of Pharaoh, "Shall I go and seek for you a nursing woman of the Hebrews, so that she may nurse the lad for you?"
- 8 And the daughter of Pharaoh replied to her "Go"; so she went immediately and called the mother of the child; to whom Pharaoh's daughter said, "Take this child and nurse it for me, and I will pay you the cost." Its mother therefore took the child and nursed it.
- 10 When the lad grew up he was taken to the daughter of Pharaoh as a son, and she called his name Mosheh,¹ for she said "I drew him out of the water."

The Prince Moses thinks of his Nation.

- 11 But it was long after this, when Moses had become great, that he went out to his brothers, and examined into their condition. Then he saw a Mitzerite strike a Hebrew, who was related to him. Then he turned this and that way, and not seeing anyone, he struck the Mitzerite, and concealed him in the sand.
- 13 At another time when he was inspecting, there were two men, Hebrews, quarrelling, so he said to the wrong-doer, "Why do you strike your neighbour?"
- 14 But he replied, "Who appointed you as foreman and judge over us?—Are you going to murder me as you murdered the Mitzerite?"
- Then Moses was afraid and said to himself, "That affair is known to them?" The matter was also reported to Pharaoh who endeavoured to execute Moses. But Moses fled from the presence of Pharaoh, and turned to the land of Midian, where he rested beside a well.

¹ Moses = "From the Water"—F. F.

Moses and the Priest of Midian.

It happened that the Priest of 16 Midian had seven daughters, and these girls came to draw and fill the watering troughs to give drink to their father's sheep. Then the 17 shepherds came and drove them away, but Moses arose and prevented them and watered their sheep. So 18 when they returned to Ruel, their father, he asked, "How is that you have returned so quickly to-day?"

They answered him; "A Mitzerite 19 protected us from the hand of the shepherds and also drew and gave water to our sheep."

Then he replied to his daughters, 20 "Where is he? Why have you left the man there? Invite him, and let him eat bread."

Thus Moses began to stay with the 21 man, who gave Ziforah his daughter to him, and she bore a son, and he 22 called his name Gher sham,¹ "for," he said, "I am a stranger in a foreign land."

A New Tyrant arises in Egypt.

A long time after these events, that 23 king of the Mitzeraim died. But the children of Israel were still oppressed in their servitude, and their cries from their slavery reached GOD. GOD therefore heard their groaning; 24 and GOD remembered His covenant with Abraham, and with Isaac, and with Jacob; therefore GOD looked 25 upon the children of Israel; and GOD revealed Himself.

GOD's Revelation in the Burning Bush.

Moses, however, was shepherding 3 the sheep of Jethro his father-in-law, the priest of Midian, and he had led the sheep to the far side of the desert, and came to the mountain of GOD, in Horeb, where a Messenger of the 2 EVER-LIVING appeared to him, in a flame of fire, in a bush. When he looked, he saw that the bush burnt with fire, yet the bush was not consumed!

Then Moses said; "I will draw 3 near and examine this great wonder, why the bush is not burnt up." But 4 the LORD saw that he approached to examine it, so GOD called to him from the midst of Sinai, and said, "Moses! Moses!" and he answered, "I am here."

¹ Heb. "A-stranger-here."—F. F.

5 Then He said, "Approach not! Put off your shoes from your feet, for the place upon which you stand is Holy!" Then He continued; "I AM the GOD of your fathers;—the GOD of Abraham, and the GOD of Isaac, and the GOD of Jacob!"

Then Moses hid his face, for he feared to gaze upon GOD.

7 The Lord then said, "I have seen the suffering of My PEOPLE who are in Mitzeraim and I have heard their shrieks before their drivers, and I

8 have understood their sorrows, and I have come down to deliver them from the hand of the Mitzerites, and to take them up from that country to a good land, and a spacious; to a land flowing with milk and honey,—to replace the Cananites, and the Hitites, and the Amorites, and the Perizites, and the Ivites, and Jebusites.

9 For the cries of the children of Israel have now come to Me, and I have seen the oppression with which the Mitzerites oppress them; therefore you must go, and I will send you to Pharaoh, to bring My PEOPLE, the children of Israel, up from the Mitzeraim."

11 But Moses replied to GOD; "Who am I, that I should go to Pharaoh? and that I should lead the children of Israel up from among the Mitzeraim?"

12 He answered, however; "Because I will be with you;—therefore go. For I have sent you to lead the people from the Mitzeraim, and they shall serve GOD upon this mountain!"

13 Then Moses said to GOD; "Supposing I should go to the children of Israel, and should say to them, 'The GOD of your fathers has sent me to you,' and they should ask me, 'What is His name?'—what am I to say to them?"

14 When GOD responded to Moses, "I AM WHAT I AM! Therefore say 'I AM' has sent me to you."

15 And GOD further spoke to Moses; "You shall say thus to the children of Israel:—'The EVER-LIVING GOD of your forefathers;—the GOD of Abraham, and the GOD of Isaac, and the GOD of Jacob, has sent me to you. This is My Name from Eternity, and I remember this from generation to generation. Go and assemble the Chiefs of Israel, and say to them, The EVER-LIVING GOD of your fathers has appeared to me, the GOD of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and said; I have visited you, and I will save you from the Mitzerites. Therefore I command you to go from among the Mitzerites to the land of the Cananites, and the Hitites, and the Amorites, and the Perizites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites, to a land flowing with milk and honey;" and they will listen to your voice. Then go, you and the Chiefs of Israel, to the king of the Mitzeraim, and say to him, 'The EVER-LIVING GOD of your servants has commanded us, therefore we pray let us go a three days' journey into the desert and offer sacrifice to our EVER-LIVING GOD.'

18 But I know that the king of the Mitzeraim will not permit you to go, except by a strong hand. Consequently I shall stretch out My hand and strike the Mitzerites with all the wonders that I will do within their bounds, and afterwards he will send you away. Then I will give this

19 People favour in the eyes of the Mitzerites, so that it shall be when they march, they shall not march unprovided, but every woman shall demand of her neighbour and from the guests in her house, ornaments of silver, and ornaments of gold, and clothing, and put them upon her sons and daughters, and shall strip the Mitzerites."

20 Then Moses answered and said; "But they may not trust me, and not listen to my voice; for they may say, 'We have never seen your GOD, the EVER-LIVING!'"

The EVER-LIVING, however, asked him, "What is in your hand?" and he replied, "A stick."

21 And He then said, "Throw it on the ground!" So he threw it on the ground, and it became a serpent, and Moses fled from before it.

22 But the EVER-LIVING said to Moses "Stretch out your hand and seize it by the tail." So he stretched out his hand and seized it, and it became a stick in his hand. "Be certain they will believe because of that, that the EVER-LIVING GOD of their fathers appeared to you,—the GOD of Abraham, the GOD of Isaac, and the GOD of Jacob."

23 And continuing the EVER-LIVING said to him; "Put your hand now into your bosom;" so he put his hand into his bosom; and when he drew it out his hand was leperous like snow!

24 Then He said, "Replace your hand in your bosom;" so he replaced his hand in his bosom, and took it out again from his bosom, and it returned like his other flesh.

- 8 "And it shall be if they will not trust you, and not listen to your voice at the first evidence, yet they will trust to your voice after the second sign. But if they do not trust you even for this second evidence, and do not listen to your voice, then take some of the water from the river and pour it out on the dry land, and there the water which you have taken from the river shall become blood on the dry ground."
- 10 Moses, however, replied to the EVER-LIVING; "But yet, LORD, I am not an eloquent man, I have not been so in the past, nor in this speaking between You and Your servant, for I am slow of mouth and heavy of tongue."
- 11 But the EVER-LIVING replied to him, "Who gave a mouth to man? or who makes dumb, or deaf? or blind, or seeing? Is it not I, the LIVING ONE? So now go, and I will be with your mouth and show you what you shall say."
- 13 But he answered; "Indeed, my LORD, send I pray You by some other hand!"
- 14 Then the EVER-LIVING was angry with Moses, and He said; "Have you not a brother, Aaron the Levite? I know that he can talk—and he is even now coming to seek you. See that you can go cheerfully with him, and speak to him, and put words into his mouth, for I will be with your mouth, and in his mouth, and will show you what you are to do, and he shall speak for you to the people. He shall be like a mouth for you, and you shall be to him in place of Divine Messengers. And that staff;—take it in your hand, for you shall perform wonders with it."
- 18 Moses therefore went and returned to Jethro his father-in-law, and said to him; "I wish to go now and rejoice my relatives who are in Mitzeraim and see if they are alive." When Jethro replied to Moses, "Go in peace."
- 19 The EVER-LIVING afterwards said to Moses, in Midian; "Go! Return to the Mitzeraim, for all the men are dead who sought your life."
- 20 Then Moses took his wife, and his sons, and mounted them upon asses and turned towards the land of the Mitzeraim. Moses also took the Rod of GOD in his hand.
- 21 The LIVING ONE also said further to Moses; "During your journey to the Mitzeraim, regard all the signs which I put unto your hand, and do them before Pharaoh. But I shall harden his heart, and he will not let the People go. Then you shall say 22 to Pharaoh, 'Thus said the EVER-LIVING,—Israel is My eldest son, and 23 I say to you, Allow My son to go to serve Him; and if you will not allow him, then I will slay your eldest son.'"

But while he was upon the road at 24 a resting place, a Chieftain¹ met him and attempted to kill him; but 25 Ziforah took a razor and cut off the foreskin of her son and threw it at his feet, and said, "You make a blood-marriage for me." So he re- 26 tired from them, when she said, "It is a marriage circumcision."

Now the EVER-LIVING had said to 27 Aaron, "Go and seek Moses in the desert," so he went and met him at the Mount of GOD, and kissed him.

Then Moses related to Aaron all 28 the instructions of the EVER-LIVING which He had sent to him, and the whole of the miracles which He had commanded. Then Moses and Aaron 29 proceeded and collected all the Magistracy of the children of Israel. And 30 Aaron repeated all the matters which the EVER-LIVING had addressed to Moses, and produced evidences before the eyes of the People; and the people 31 were convinced, and acknowledged that the EVER-LIVING had visited Israel, and that He had looked upon their sufferings;—so they honoured and worshipped Him.

Then Moses and Aaron went and 5 said to Pharaoh;—"Thus says the EVER-

¹ The Hebrew word used is יהוה, Jehovah, and is translated "The Lord" in former versions. I, however, use Chieftain, as the word was a title of honour, as much as our vocable of "Lord" for a Parliamentary Peer, and was used in the sense of Chief, as in Genesis, ch. xviii., v. 35, by the Divine Messengers sent to Sodom, when they conversed with Abraham. After the Giving of the Law it seems to have been almost entirely reserved as a title or synonym for the Supreme Being, GOD. It means "The EVER-LIVING" by its innate sense, therefore GOD commanded (ch. iii., v. 14) that from that time His Name should be "The EVER-LIVING GOD," to distinguish Him from heathen imaginary deities, whom their deluded votaries believed could die, be murdered, or dethroned, and hence they were no basis for eternal Law or moral life. The reader thus can see the object of the name was to show the unchanging nature of the Laws of Morality as they originate from a Being of Eternal life.—F. F.

- LIVING GOD of Israel; 'Send out My People that they may hold a festival to Me in the desert.'
- 2 But Pharaoh replied, "Who is the EVER-LIVING that I should listen to His voice, to send out the Israelites? I know nothing of the EVER-LIVING; and I shall not send the Israelites out!"
- 3 They, however, replied; "The GOD of the Hebrews has summoned us. Let us go therefore three days' journey into the desert, and sacrifice to our EVER-LIVING GOD, for fear He should assail us with plague or fever."
- 4 The King of the Mitzeraim said to them; "Why do you, Moses and Aaron, break off the people from their work? Go yourselves to the buildings! And," Pharaoh went on to say, "the people are now too many for the land, yet you would take them away from building!"
- 6 Pharaoh consequently commanded, on that day, to the drivers and overseers, saying,— "You shall not continue to give straw to these people for the bricks they make, as heretofore; but let them go and collect straw for themselves. Yet the number of the bricks which they had to make heretofore lay upon them; you shall not diminish from them, for they are idle, therefore they cry out saying, 'Let us go and sacrifice to our GOD.' Increase the work upon these men, and make them do it, and not listen to absurd speeches."
- 10 The drivers and overseers of the people consequently went and reported it to the people, saying thus;
- 11 "Pharaoh has ordered us no more to give you straw. Therefore go, collect straw for yourselves wherever you can find it, for there is to be no diminution of your labours whatever."
- 12 So the people were scattered all over the land of the Mitzeraim to seek stubble instead of straw. Yet the drivers ordered them, saying, "Complete your appointed work day by day in the production of bricks."
- 14 And the overseers who were set over the children of Israel were flogged by the drivers of Pharaoh, who demanded; "Why have you not completed the stipulated number of bricks as formerly was done, before this?"
- 15 Then the overseers of the children of Israel appealed to Pharaoh, asking; "Why have you done this to your
- 16 slaves? No straw is given to your slaves, yet they say to us, 'Make the bricks,' and your slaves are beaten, and your people injured."

He, however, replied, "You are 17 idle! you are idle! Therefore you say, 'Let us go and sacrifice to the EVER-LIVING.' So now be off, 18 you slaves, for straw shall not be given to you, but you shall make the number of your bricks!"

Consequently the overseers of the 19 children of Israel saw they were in a bad position, when he said, "You shall not diminish from the number of 20 bricks day by day;" so they assailed Moses and Aaron for inciting them to go to present themselves to Pharaoh, and said to them; "May the EVER- 21 LIVING look upon you, and decide how you have made our breath stink in the opinion of Pharaoh, and in the opinion of his ministers, and have put a sword into their hands to slay us!"

Then Moses turned to the EVER- 22 LIVING and said; "ALMIGHTY! why have You caused suffering to this People, and why have You sent me 23 thus? And why have You sent me to Pharaoh saying 'I will take this People from their suffering?' when You have not delivered them?"

Then the EVER-LIVING replied to 6 Moses, "Now you shall see what I will do to Pharaoh, so that with a strong hand he shall send off, and with a strong hand he shall drive them from this country."

Appropriation of the Name Jehovah to God.

Afterwards the MESSENGER spoke 2 to Moses and said to him; "I am THE EVER-LIVING. And I appeared 3 to Abraham, and to Isaac, and to Jacob, as GOD ALMIGHTY; and by My name of the EVER-LIVING 1 I did not make Myself known to them; but however I made a covenant 4 with them to give to them the land of Canan, the land of their foreignhood, when they were foreigners in it. I have also heard the groaning 5 of the children of Israel who are enslaved by the Mitzerites, and I have remembered My covenant;

1 V. 3. "Jehvah." See on this name of the Almighty Prof. Lee's Hebrew Lexicon, voc. יהוה , Jehovah, where it is shown to indicate Christ, as the Manifestation of God Who spoke with the Patriarchs, Moses, and the Prophets, and that it was first used as a Divine name, to Moses at the bush. See also my note on ch. iv. v. 24.—F. F.

- 6 therefore say to the children of Israel, I AM, the EVER-LIVING, will cause you to come out from among the burdens of the Mitzerites; and I will deliver you from your slavery, and will redeem you with a directing arm, and with great judgments; and will take you to Myself for a People, and will be a GOD to you, and you shall know that I, your EVER-LIVING GOD, have brought you out from among the burdens of the Mitzerites.
- 8 I will, also, bring you to the land which I raised My hand to give to Abraham, and to Isaac, and to Jacob, and grant you its possession. I AM, the EVER-LIVING."
- 9 Consequently Moses repeated this to the children of Israel, but they would not listen to Moses for their anguish of spirit, and from their hard slavery.

The Repeated Message to Pharaoh.

- 10 The EVER-LIVING again spoke to Moses, saying; "Go! tell to Pharaoh King of Mitzer that he must dismiss the children of Israel from his country."
- 12 But Moses replied against the EVER-LIVING, and said; "The children of Israel themselves would not listen to me; so certainly Pharaoh will not listen to me. I am, also, dull in speech."

Reiterated Command to approach Pharaoh.

- 13 The EVER-LIVING, however, commanded Moses and Aaron again, and sent them to the children of Israel, and to Pharaoh King of the Mitzeraim to demand the release of the children of Israel from the land of the Mitzeraim.¹

¹ The verses from 14 to 25 are clearly inserted here by mistake of an old transcriber, or were a note of some editor. I therefore append them at the foot of the page.—F. F.

The Ancestral Chiefs of Israel.

- 14 These are the heads of the Ancestral Houses of the sons of Reuben, the eldest of Israel:—
Hanok, and Hazran, and Karmel,—these were of the families of Reuben.
- 15 And the sons of Simeon; Imuel, and Iman, and Ahad, and Jakin, and Zokhar, and Shaul, the son of the Cananites;—these were the families of Simeon.
- 16 And these were the names of the sons of Levi;—by their order of birth:—
Ghersham, and Kahath, and Merari,—and the years of the life of Levi were a hundred and thirty-seven years:—
- 17 The sons of Ghersham, Libal, and

Thus the EVER-LIVING spoke to Aaron and Moses to lead the children of Israel out of the land of the Mitzeraim by their armies. He caused them, Moses and Aaron, to demand from Pharaoh King of the Mitzeraim to allow the children of Israel to go out of Mitzeraim. The EVER-LIVING was speaking daily to Moses in the land of the Mitzeraim.

Thus the LORD commanded Moses; "I am the EVER-LIVING! Speak to Pharaoh King of the Mitzeraim all that I command you."

But Moses replied, in the face of the EVER-LIVING, "I am only slow of tongue, so Pharaoh will not listen to me!"

The Plagues of Egypt.

The EVER-LIVING, however, answered Moses; "See, I will make you like a GOD to Pharaoh, and Aaron your brother shall be your Reciter. Therefore you must say all that I command you to your brother, and he shall repeat to Pharaoh that he must send the children of Israel from his country. But I will make Pharaoh's heart obstinate, and I will multiply evidences and wonders in the land of the Mitzeraim. But Pharaoh will not listen to you, so I will lay My hand upon the Mitzerites, and will bring out the Army of My People, the children of Israel, from the land of the Shlmal, with their families. And the sons of Kahath were Amram, and Itzar, and Habron, and Azriel; and the years of the life of Kahath were a hundred and thirty-three years.

And the sons of Merari were Mahli, and Mushi; these were the families of Levi by their birth.

When Amram married he took his cousin Jokabad to him, and she bore to him Aaron and Moses, and the years of the life of Amram were a hundred and thirty-seven years.

And the sons of Izachar were Korah, and Nafag, and Zikri, and the sons of Azulel Mishael and Alzaphan, and Sithri!

But Aaron married as his wife Alishama the daughter of Aminadab, the sister of Nahashon, and she bore him Nadab and Abihud; Eliezar and Aithamar.

And the sons of Korah were Asir, and Altanah, and Abasaf. These were the families of Korahites.

But Eliezar the son of Aaron took as wife from the daughters of Putiel, and she bore to him Finchas. These were the chief fathers of the Levites by their families.

- 5 Mitzeraim with Great Judgments, so that the Mitzerites may know that I am the EVER-LIVING, when I stretch out My hand over the Mitzeraim and bring up the children of Israel from among them."
- 6 So Moses and Aaron did as the EVER-LIVING commanded them.
- 7 They did it. But Moses was eighty years old, and Aaron eighty-three years old, when they spoke to Pharaoh.
- 8 Thus the EVER-LIVING spoke to Moses and to Aaron, saying:—"Since Pharaoh has said to you 'Give us an Evidence' instruct Aaron,—Take your rod and throw it down before Pharaoh and it shall become a serpent!"
- 10 Moses and Aaron therefore went to Pharaoh, and did as the EVER-LIVING commanded, and he threw down his rod before Pharaoh, and before his ministers, and it became a serpent.
- 11 But Pharaoh summoned the scientists and chemists, and they also did it, assisted by the engineers of the
- 12 Mitzeraim, by their delusions. For each of them threw down their rods! and they became serpents, but the rod of Aaron swallowed their rods.
- 13 However the heart of Pharaoh was hardened, and he would not listen to them;—as the EVER-LIVING had foretold.
- 14 The EVER-LIVING then said to Moses, "The heart of Pharaoh is decided not to let the people depart.
- 15 Confront Pharaoh in the morning, when he goes to the bath, and stand to meet him at the bank of the river, and take the rod which turned to a serpent in your hand. Then say to him; "The EVER-LIVING GOD of the Hebrews has sent me to you to say, 'Let My People go and serve Me in the desert. But if you will not listen to that, thus says the EVER-LIVING, by this you shall learn that I am the MASTER:—When I strike with the rod which is in my hand upon the waters which are in the
- 18 river, they shall turn to blood! And the fish which are in the river shall die; and the river shall stink; and the Mitzerites shall loathe to drink of the water of the river!"
- 19 The EVER-LIVING also said to Moses; "Say to Aaron; Take your rod and extend your hand over the waters of Mitzter;—over the streams, over the brooks, the pools, and over all the reservoirs of water; and they shall become blood; and they shall be blood in all the land of the Mitzerites, both in wood and in stone."

Therefore Moses and Aaron did as 20 the EVER-LIVING commanded, and struck with the rod, and the hand, the waters which were in the river before the eyes of Pharaoh, and before the eyes of his ministers, and all the waters in the river turned to blood; and the fish which were in the river died, and the river stank, and the Mitzerites 21 were not able to drink of the water from the river, for it became blood in all the land of the Mitzeraim.

The engineers of Mitzter, however, 22 did the same by their delusions; therefore the heart of Pharaoh was hardened, and he would not listen to them;—as the EVER-LIVING had foretold. Pharaoh, therefore, turned his 23 face and went to his palace, and did not alter his heart even for this.

But all the Mitzerites dug pits along 24 the river for water to drink, for they were not able to drink the waters from the river. This continued for 25 seven days after the EVER-LIVING had struck the waters of the river.

Then the EVER-LIVING said to 26 Moses; "Go to Pharaoh and say to him;—Thus says the EVER-LIVING! Send My People away to serve Me; but if you will not send them, then I 27 will plague all your dominions with frogs, and the river shall swarm with 28 frogs, and they shall crawl up, and come into your palace, and to your chamber, to your couch, and up to your bed; and to the palaces of your ministers, and of your people, and to your dough-tubs. In this way the 29 frogs shall come up upon your people, and ministers."

Then the EVER-LIVING said to 8 Moses, "Command your brother Aaron; 'Extend your hand with your rod over the rivers, and streams, and lakes, so that the frogs may come up over the land of Mitzter.'"

Aaron consequently extended his 2 hand over the waters of Mitzter, and frogs came up and plagued the land of the Mitzeraim.

The scientists, however, did the 3 same by their engineering, and also brought up frogs upon the land of the Mitzeraim. Pharaoh, however, summoned Moses and Aaron, and said; "Entreat the EVER-LIVING, that He may turn away the frogs from my sight, and from my touch, when I

- will release the People, and they shall sacrifice to the EVER-LIVING."
- 5 But Moses replied to Pharaoh; "You threatened me you would kill me! Why should I pray for you, and your ministers, and your people, to drive away the frogs from you, and from your palace; except that there may be a few in the river?"
- 6 He however entreated, "Do it to-morrow."
And he returned; "It shall be done as you say, so that you may know that there is no LORD except our
- 7 GOD. Therefore the frogs shall turn back from you, and from your palace, and from your ministers, and from your people—except that in the river there shall be a few."
- 8 Then Moses and Aaron went out from Pharaoh, and Moses cried to the EVER-LIVING about the frogs, as he
- 9 had promised to Pharaoh, and the EVER-LIVING did as Moses had said and killed the frogs in the houses, and in the streets, and in the fields,
- 10 and the heaps of them corrupting, rotted.—and the country stunk.
- 11 But when Pharaoh perceived the smell of them, then he hardened his heart, and would not listen to them;—as the EVER-LIVING had foretold.
- 12 Consequently the EVER-LIVING said to Moses; "Say to Aaron, 'Extend your rod, and beat the dust of the earth, and it shall become lice in all the land of the Mitzeraim.'"
- 13 And he did so.
When Aaron extended his hand with his rod in it and struck the dust of the earth, it became lice in all the land of the Mitzeraim.
- 14 The scientists also tried by their contrivances to produce the same, and bring forth lice, but they were not able. These lice assailed both men and beasts.
- 15 Then the scientists reported to Pharaoh;—"This is the product of God," but Pharaoh hardened his heart and would not listen to them—as the EVER-LIVING had foretold.
- 16 Therefore the EVER-LIVING said to Moses; "Arise at daybreak and stand before Pharaoh, when he goes to bathe, and say to him:—Thus says the EVER-LIVING, Release My
- 17 People that they may serve Me! for if you do not release My People, I Myself will release against you, and your ministers, and your people, and your daughters, gad-flies; and the gadflies shall fill the houses of the Mitzerites, and also the land upon which they are. But at the same 18 time it shall be different in the land of Goshen, where My People dwell, for the gad-flies shall not be there, so that you may know that I am the EVER-LIVING in the midst of the earth.

"I will also make a distinction between My People and your People. This shall occur to-morrow."

And the EVER-LIVING did it. For 20 swarms of gad-flies came into the palace of Pharaoh, and the palaces of his ministers, and to all the land of the Mitzeraim. The gad-flies spread over all the country.

Then Pharaoh summoned Moses 21 and Aaron and said; "Go! Sacrifice to your GOD in this country."

But Moses replied; "We were not 22 instructed to do so. For if we were to sacrifice the bull of the Mitzerites in their sight, would they not stone us? We must go three days' journey 23 into the desert, and sacrifice to our EVER-LIVING GOD as He has commanded us."

Then Pharaoh answered;—"I will 24 send you, and you shall sacrifice to your EVER-LIVING GOD in the desert, only in separating go not a long journey.—Now pray for me!"

And Moses answered; "I will go 25 out from you and pray, and entreat the EVER-LIVING, and He will turn away the gad-flies from Pharaoh, and from his ministers, and from his people, to-morrow. Nevertheless Pharaoh will continue to oppose, and will not allow the People to go away to sacrifice to the EVER-LIVING."

Moses accordingly went out from 26 the presence of Pharaoh and prayed to the LORD, and the EVER-LIVING 27 answered Moses and removed the gad-flies from Pharaoh, and from his ministers, and from his People, and none remained. Pharaoh, however, 28 hardened his heart even after this, and would not release the People.

Consequently the EVER-LIVING 9 said to Moses; "Go to Pharaoh, and tell him; Thus says the EVER-LIVING GOD of the Hebrews,—Let My People go and serve Me. However, if you 2 are unwilling to release them, and you are again obstinate with them, then the hand of the EVER-LIVING 3 shall bring upon your herds that are in the field, and upon your horses, and asses, and camels, and cattle

- and sheep, a very severe punishment.
- 4 But the EVER-LIVING will distinguish between the herds of Israel, and between the herds of the Mitzerites, and in all the herds of Israel nothing shall die."
- 5 The EVER-LIVING, however, fixed a period, "After a while the EVER-LIVING will do this thing in the
- 6 country." The EVER-LIVING accordingly brought the event at the period, and killed a number of the cattle of the Mitzerites, but of the cattle of the Israelities not any died.
- 7 Pharaoh, also, sent to examine, and discovered that of the cattle of the Israelites none had died, yet Pharaoh hardened his heart, and would not let the People go.
- 8 Subsequently the EVER-LIVING said to Moses and Aaron; "Take up for yourselves hands full of ashes from the smeltery furnaces, and let Moses fling them to the sky in the
- 9 sight of Pharaoh, and they shall become a fine dust over all the land of Mitzer, and it shall settle upon man and beast, to inflame and produce boils in all the land of the Mitzeraim."
- 10 They took, therefore, ashes from a smeltery, and presented themselves before Pharaoh, and Moses flung them skyward, and they produced inflammatory boils upon man and beast,
- 11 and the scientists were not able to stand before Moses, for the inflammation came upon the scientists, as well as upon the other Mitzerites.
- 12 But the EVER-LIVING hardened Pharaoh's heart; so he would not listen to them;—as the EVER-LIVING had foretold to Moses.
- 13 Afterwards the EVER-LIVING said to Moses; "Arise at dawn, and go and stand before Pharaoh, and say to him; Thus says the EVER-LIVING GOD of the Hebrews, 'Release My
- 14 People to serve Me! Or else, this time, I will fling with all My might upon your heart, and on your ministers, and on your people, so that they may learn that there is none, except MYSELF, in the whole earth.
- 15 For now I will send My hand against, and strike you; yourself, and Your People, with the object of destroying
- 16 you from the earth. Nevertheless, because of this, I raised you up,—to display My power, and that My Name might be recorded to all the
- 17 earth. If you oppose yourself to My people, to prevent them from going,

I will rain, at the date appointed in the 18 future, very fierce hail, such as has not been in Mitzer from the day it was founded until now. Therefore send your 19 cattle to shelters, and all that you have in the field. Every man and beast that remains in the field, and is not gathered into houses, the hail will come down upon them and kill them."

Those of the ministers of Pharaoh 20 who feared the message of the EVER-LIVING, collected their servants, and their cattle into the houses, but those 21 who did not lay the message of the EVER-LIVING to heart, left their servants and cattle in the field.

The EVER-LIVING afterwards said 22 to Moses, "Extend your hand to the skies, and there will come hail in all the land of the Mitzeraim, upon man, and upon beast; and upon all that is in the field, in the land of the Mitzeraim."

So Moses extended his rod to the 23 skies, and the EVER-LIVING uttered His voice; and fire ran along the ground, and the EVER-LIVING poured hail upon the land of the Mitzeraim. And there was hail, and continuous 24 fire mixed with the hail, very cruel, such as had never been like it in all the land of the Mitzeraim from when it became a nation. The hail also 25 struck in all the land of the Mitzeraim whatever was in the field, from man to beast, and all the vegetation of the field was struck by the hail, and all the trees of the field broken, except in the 26 land of Goshen where the children of Israel were,—there the hail was not.

After this Pharaoh sent and invited 27 Moses and Aaron, and said to them; "I have sinned this time! The EVER-LIVING has done right, and I and my people have done wrong. Pray to the EVER-LIVING; for mighty 28 are the utterances of GOD,—and the hail;—and I will release you, and no more continue to prevent!"

But Moses answered him, "When I 29 am outside of the city, I will spread out my hands to the EVER-LIVING, when the voices will cease, and the hail will not continue; so that you may learn that the earth belongs to the EVER-LIVING, and that you and your ministers may learn at last to fear before the 30 presence of the EVER-LIVING GOD."

So the flax and the barley were cut 31 up, for the barley was in ear and the flax in flower; but the wheat and rye were 32 not cut up, for they were of later growth.

When Moses went from the 33 presence of Pharaoh outside the city, he spread his hands before the EVER-LIVING; and the voices ceased, and the hail storm poured not earthward.

- 34 But when Pharaoh perceived that the rain and hail and voices had ceased, he continued to sin, and hardened his heart,—he and his ministers. So Pharaoh's heart was obstinate, and he would not release the children of Israel;—as the EVER-LIVING foretold, by the hand of Moses.

- 10 Therefore the EVER-LIVING said to Moses; "Go to Pharaoh, for I will strike his heart, and the heart of his ministers, with two other evidences in their midst, that you can record for the ears of your sons and your sons' sons, how I brought you up from the Mitzeraim, and the evidences that I produced among them, that they might know that I am the EVER-LIVING."

- 3 Moses and Aaron consequently went to Pharaoh and said to him, "Thus says the EVER-LIVING GOD of the Hebrews; 'Until when will you refuse? resisting to My face to release My people to serve Me? 4 However if you continue refusing to release My people, I will bring locusts shortly into your dominions, and they shall hide the sight of the ground, so that you shall not be able to see the 5 ground; and they shall eat the remains of the fragments of what has been left to you from the hail; and shall eat all your fruit trees from the field; 6 and shall fill your palace, and the palaces of your ministers, and the houses of all the Mitzerites, in such a way as you have never seen, or your fathers, or the fathers of your fathers from the day they lived upon the earth to this day.'"

Then he ceased and went away from Pharaoh.

- 7 Then Pharaoh's ministers said to him, "How long is this thing to go on with us, to ensnare us? Release these men to serve their EVER-LIVING GOD.—Do you not know that Mitzer is already destroyed?"
- 8 Moses and Aaron were brought back to Pharaoh, and he accordingly said to them;—"Go! Serve the EVER-LIVING, your GOD—Who, and what do you wish should go with you?"
- 9 So Moses replied; "With our young, and our old, we shall go; with our sons and our daughters; with our sheep, and our cattle, we shall go; so that we may hold a holy festival to our GOD."

He however exclaimed; "The 10 EVER-LIVING must be with you, then, when I let you go with your children;—look out! for evil is before you! It shall never be so!—But you may 11 go now, and make a pilgrimage, and serve your EVER-LIVING—for that is what you asked."

And they were driven from the presence of Pharaoh.

Then the EVER-LIVING said to 12 Moses; "Stretch out your hand over the land of the Mitzeraim for the locusts, and they shall come up upon the land of Mitzer, and shall eat everything green in the country; all that the hail has left."

So Moses extended his rod over 13 the country of the Mitzeraim, and the EVER-LIVING drove an east wind over the country all that day and all the night until the morning came, and the east wind carried the locusts; and the locusts came up over all the 14 country of the Mitzeraim, and seized upon all the dominions of the Mitzeraim very grievously. Before them there were no such locusts, and never since have there been such. They even hid the ground from 15 sight, and blackened the earth, and ate every green thing upon the ground, and all the fruit of the trees which the hail had left, and no verdure was left on the trees, or grass on the fields, in all the land of the Mitzeraim.

Then Pharaoh hastened, and summoned Moses and Aaron, and said; "I have sinned against the EVER-LIVING GOD, and against you! Therefore pardon now my sin, only this once, and entreat the EVER-LIVING GOD to turn from me also this death."

So they went out from Pharaoh and 18 entreated the EVER-LIVING, and the 19 LORD caused a very strong west wind to blow, and it swept off the locusts and blew them into the Red Sea. There was not a locust in all the dominions of the Mitzeraim. But the 20 EVER-LIVING strengthened the heart of Pharaoh, and he would not release the children of Israel.

Afterwards the EVER-LIVING said 21 to Moses, "Stretch your hand towards the sky, and darkness shall come upon all the land of the Mitzeraim; and a darkness that may be felt."

Therefore Moses stretched his 22 hand to the skies, and thick darkness came upon all the land of the Mitzeraim for three days. No one 23 saw his brother, and no one rose from his place for three days. But to all the children of Israel there was light for their operations.

- 24 Then Pharaoh sent for Moses and said; "Go! Serve the EVER-LIVING. Only your sheep and cattle must stay; your children, also, may go with you."
- 25 But Moses replied; "You must also give to our hands sacrifices and offerings that we can make to our
- 26 EVER-LIVING GOD, and therefore our herds must go with us; not a hoof must be left; for we must take from them to serve our EVER-LIVING GOD. And we cannot be knowing what we must serve the EVER-LIVING with until we arrive there."
- 27 The Lord, however, hardened the heart of Pharaoh, and he was not willing to release the People. Therefore Pharaoh replied to him, "Get off from me! and take care to yourself never again to see my face! for on the day you look again on my face you shall die!"
- 29 When Moses answered; "As you have spoken right, I never will look on your face again!"
- 11 Then the EVER-LIVING said to Moses; "I will bring yet another blow upon Pharaoh, and upon the Mitzeraim, after which he will release you. They all will release you, driving you from here. Therefore privately instruct the People that they must demand every man from his neighbour, and every woman from her neighbour, articles of silver and 3 articles of gold." The EVER-LIVING also gave the People favour in the eyes of the Mitzerites; for the man Moses was very powerful in the land of Mitzer, in the eyes of the ministers of Pharaoh, and in the eyes of the People.
- 4 After that Moses proclaimed; "Thus says the EVER-LIVING, At midnight I will pass through the 5 land of the Mitzeraim, and kill all the first-born in the land of Mitzer, from the first-born of Pharaoh, who sits upon the throne, to the first-born of the slave who sits behind the mill; as well as the first-born of the cattle; 6 and a great cry will go up from all the land of Mitzer, when these are 7 not; and those are perished. But against all the children of Israel there shall not dart a dog's tongue, that you may know that the EVER-LIVING distinguishes between the Mitzerites and Israel. Then all your ministers 8 shall descend, and bow down to me saying, 'Go away, you, with all the People who are following you,' and after that I will depart."

Thus he went from before Pharaoh in burning anger. Then the EVER-9 LIVING said to Moses; "Since Pharaoh will not listen to you, I will increase my evidences in the land of the Mitzeraim." Therefore Moses and Aaron 10 effected all these evidences before Pharaoh; yet the EVER-LIVING hardened the heart of Pharaoh, and he would not release the children of Israel from his country.

Consequently the EVER-LIVING 12 spoke to Moses and to Aaron in the land of the Mitzeraim, commanding;

"This month shall be to you the 2 Chief Month; it shall be the first month of the year to you.

Institution of the Passover.

"Speak to all the families of Israel 3 commanding that in the tenth month they shall take for themselves each one a lamb for a father's house, a 4 lamb for a family. But if the family 4 is too small for a lamb, then let him and the neighbour to his house, according to the number of persons who are to eat, share in the lamb. It must be a perfect he lamb of a 5 year. You may take it from the sheep or from the goats; and you 6 must keep it by you until the fourteenth day of this month, then kill it. All the Assembly of the Families of Israel must kill it between the dusks.¹ Then they shall take of the blood and 7 sprinkle upon the two door-posts, and upon the lintel of the houses where they eat it. And they shall eat the 8 flesh in that night, roasted with fire. They shall eat it with unfermented 9 bread and bitter herbs. They shall not eat any of it parboiled, or boiled in a boiler, but only roasted with fire, its head, and limbs, and ribs; and 10 they shall not reserve any of it till the morning, but what is left of it at the morning they shall consume with fire. And they shall eat it in this 11 way;—girt with their belts, their shoes on their feet, and their sticks in their hands; and they shall eat it rapidly. It is a Passing-over to the EVER-12 LIVING, for I will pass through the 12

¹ The dawn and twilight.—F. F.

land of the Mitzeraim in that night, and strike all the first-born of the Mitzerites from man to beast. Upon all the gods of the Mitzerites also I will execute judgment. I the EVER-LIVING. But the blood upon your houses shall be a safeguard to you, that you are there; when I see the blood, then I will pass over you; and there shall not be a life injured in my destruction of the land of the Mitzeraim. Therefore this day shall be to you for a Remembrance, and a Festival. It shall be a Festival to the EVER-LIVING in your generations, an ordinance for ever. You shall sanctify it.

15 "You shall eat unfermented bread for seven days; that is: in the first day you shall remove ferment from your houses; for all who eat fermented bread, then, that person shall be excommunicated from Israel, from the first day to the seventh day. So the first day shall be proclaimed 'holy, and the seventh day shall be proclaimed holy for you. You shall not do any work upon them; except for what every person must eat; you shall only do that. Therefore, guard these days of unfermented bread, for on these days I led out your armies from the land of the Mitzeraim with power, consequently keep this period as an everlasting institution in your generations; beginning at the fourteenth day of the month at the dusk to eat unfermented bread, until the twenty-first of the month at dusk. During seven days, ferment shall not be brought into your houses; for everyone eating of fermented bread, that person shall be excommunicated from the families of Israel, whether a foreigner or a native of the country. You shall not eat malt cakes in your dwellings. You shall eat biscuits."

21 Moses therefore proclaimed to all the magistrates of Israel, saying: "Blow the trumpet, and select for yourselves a lamb for your families, and kill the Passover; and take a bunch of hysop and dip it in the blood which ensues, and sprinkle the lintel and the two door-posts with the blood which ensues, and none of you shall go out from the door of his house until daybreak; for at dusk the EVER-LIVING will strike the Mitzerites, but when he sees the blood on the lintel, and upon the two door-posts, then the EVER-LIVING will pass over the door, and will not allow injury to come to that house to strike it.

"You shall also keep this command as an Institution for you and your sons for ever. Also when you have arrived at the land which the EVER-LIVING will give you, as He promised, you shall there also regard this service. And when your children shall say to you: 'What is this service for?' you shall reply, 'This is the sacrifice of the Passover to the EVER-LIVING, Who passed over the houses of the children of Israel in Mitzer, when He struck the Mitzerites, and protected our houses. Therefore, the People shall bow down and worship.'"

So the children of Israel went and did as the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses and Aaron:—they did it.

When that midnight came, the EVER-LIVING struck all the first-born in the land of the Mitzeraim, from the first-born of Pharoh, who sat upon the throne, to the first-born of the prisoner in the dungeon; and all the first-born of cattle. Then Pharoh and all his ministers arose in the night, with all the Mitzerites, and there was a great shriek among the Mitzeraim, for there was not a house in which there was not someone dead!

Consequently he sent to Moses and Aaron by night, and said: "Rise up! Go away from among my People;—both yourselves and the children of Israel. Go! serve the EVER-LIVING, as He has commanded you. And take your sheep and your cattle, as you demanded, and march. But therefore bless me!"

The Mitzerites also pressed on the People to hasten them to go out from the country, "for," they said, "we shall all be dead!" So the People took up the dough before it was fermented with yeast, rolled up in their knapsacks on their shoulders.

The children of Israel also had done as Moses ordered, and had demanded from the Mitzerites ornaments of silver and articles of gold, and clothing; and the EVER-LIVING gave them favour in the eyes of the Mitzerites. Thus they demanded from them, and escaped from the Mitzeraim.

Then the children of Israel marched from Ramases to the Encampment, about six hundred thousand men, 38 beside children; many strangers also went up with them, and very great 39 herds of sheep and cattle. They also baked the dough which they had brought from the Mitzeraim into biscuits, before it was fermented, for the Mitzerites drove them, and they were not able to ferment it, as well as also being ordered not to do it.

Period of Israel's Residence in Egypt.

- 40 Now the period of the residence of the children of Israel, during which they stayed amongst the Mitzerites, was four hundred and thirty years.
 41 And it was at the end of the four hundred and thirtieth year, upon the self-same day, that all the armies of the EVER-LIVING came out from the 42 land of the Mitzeraim; it is a night to be observed to the EVER-LIVING; for He brought them out from the land of the Mitzeraim. It is the Night, the Night of observance to the EVER-LIVING, for all the children of Israel and their descendants.
 43 The EVER-LIVING had said to Moses and Aaron; "This is the Feast of the Passover: and son of a foreigner 44 shall not eat of it; but every person 45 bought with money when he has been circumcised may eat of it.
 46 "It shall be eaten by single families;
 they shall not carry any of its flesh outside of the house; and a bone of 47 it shall not be broken. Every family 48 in Israel shall offer it; and if there resides with you a foreigner, and he would offer the Passover to the EVER-LIVING, let him cause every male to be circumcised. He may then approach to offer it, when he shall be like a native of the country, but any uncircumcised person shall not eat 49 of it. One law shall be for the native, and for the foreigner, who is among
 you '
 50 So all the children of Israel did as the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses and Aaron; they did it.

Thus it was on the self-same day 51
 the EVER-LIVING caused the children of Israel to go out from the land of the Mitzeraim, with their armies.

The EVER-LIVING also commanded 13 to Moses; "Consecrate to Me every 2 first-born proceeding from every womb of the children of Israel, both of man and beast. It is Mine."

Therefore Moses said to the people, 3
 "Remember this day when you came 4 out of the land of the Mitzeraim, from the house of bondage; for with a strong hand the EVER-LIVING brought you from there:—so you shall not eat fermented bread. The time 4 when you came out was in the month of harvest; consequently, when the 5 EVER-LIVING brings you to the land of the Canaanites, and the Hitites, and Amorites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites, which He swore to give to you;—a land flowing with milk and honey;—then you shall perform this service in this month. For seven 6 days you shall eat biscuits, and on the seventh day shall be a festival to the EVER-LIVING. You shall eat 7 biscuits for seven days; and fermented bread shall not be seen with you; nor shall ferment be seen in all your boundaries. You shall inform your 8 children of this day, saying, 'This is for the Passing-over the EVER-LIVING made for us, in bringing us out from the Mitzeraim.' Thus it will be to 9 you like a mark on your hand, and as a remembrance between your eyes, so that the reverence for the EVER-LIVING may be before you; for with 10 a strong hand the EVER-LIVING led you out from the Mitzeraim; therefore you shall observe this institution for a witness for ever and ever.

"And when the EVER-LIVING has 11 brought you to the land of Canaan, which He promised to you and to your fathers that He would give you, then you shall devote every first-born 12

of the womb to the EVER-LIVING; and every first offspring of cattle which shall come to you as a male, 12 to the EVER-LIVING. But every first-born of an ass, you shall redeem with a lamb; or if you do not redeem it, then break its neck. Every eldest male, however, of your children you shall redeem.

14 "When any of your sons, then, shall ask you hereafter, saying: 'Why is this?' You shall reply to him, 'The EVER-LIVING brought us out from the Mitzeraim with a strong hand, from the house of bondage. 15 And when Pharaoh refused to release us, then the EVER-LIVING slew all the first-born in the land of the Mitzeraim, from the first-born of man, to the first-born of beast,—therefore I sacrifice to the EVER-LIVING all the first male offspring of the womb, and all 16 the first-born of men I redeem. Thus they will be like marks upon your hand, and as frontlets between your eyes, that with a strong hand the EVER-LIVING brought you from Mitzer.'"

History of the Exodus continued.

17 However, when Pharaoh had released the People, GOD did not conduct them out by way of the country of the Philistines, although it was the nearest; for GOD said; "If I should conduct the People to the sight of war, they will return to the Mitzeraim." Therefore GOD turned the 18 People to the way by the desert of the Sea of Weeds. The children of Israel, however, marched in readiness for battle from the land of the Mitzeraim.

19 Moses also took the bones of Joseph with him, for he had administered an oath to the children of Israel saying, "The EVER-LIVING will visit you; and you shall carry up my bones from here with you."

20 So they marched from the Encampment, and pitched on the borders of the desert; and the EVER-LIVING 21 went before them by day in a pillar of cloud, to direct them on the way, and in a pillar of fire by night, to light them in the way by day and night. The pillar of cloud 22 never departed by day, nor the pillar of fire by night from before the People.

Then the EVER-LIVING spoke to 14 Moses, saying;—

"Command the children of Israel, 2 that they must turn and encamp before Pi-Hakhiroth¹ between Migdol and the sea, in front of Bal-zephon. You shall encamp directly opposite the sea!

"Upon which Pharaoh will exclaim, 3 'The children of Israel have confused themselves as to the country! The desert shuts them in!' And I will 4 embolden the heart of Pharaoh and he will pursue you, and then I will be honoured by Pharaoh and by all his forces, and the Mitzerites shall know that I am the EVER-LIVING."

They accordingly did it.

When it was reported to the king 5 of the Mitzeraim that the People had fled, then the heart of Pharaoh and of his ministers changed about the People; and they said, "What is it that we have done? Why have we released the People from serving us?" Consequently he had his own chariot 6 harnessed, and took his forces with him, and took six hundred officers' 7 chariots, and all the chariots of the Mitzeraim with three men upon each of them.

Thus the EVER-LIVING emboldened 8 the heart of Pharaoh king of the Mitzeraim, and he pursued after the children of Israel. But the children of Israel went out with a high hand.

¹ "The mouth of the hollows, or shallows," when translated.—F. F.

- 9 The Mitzerites, however, pursued after them, and came up with them encamped by the sea;—all the horse chariots of Pharaoh and his forces,—at Pi-Hakhiroth, before Bal-zephon.
- 10 As Pharaoh approached, the children of Israel raised their eyes, and saw the Mitzerites marching after them; and they were terrified; so the children of Israel cried out to the EVER-LIVING;
- 11 and they said to Moses; "Because there were no graves among the Mitzeraim, have you brought us out from Mitzer into the desert to die?"
- 12 Was not this what we said to you in Mitzer; 'Let us alone and we will serve the Mitzerites'? For it is better for us to serve the Mitzerites, than that we should die in the desert!"
- 13 Moses, however, replied to the People; "Fear not! Stand still! and you shall see the victory of the EVER-LIVING, which He will effect for you to-day! For although you see the Mitzerites to-day, you shall not see them again for ever and ever!"
- 14 The LORD will fight with them, and you shall keep silent!"
- 15 The EVER-LIVING then said to Moses; "Why do you cry to Me? Command the children of Israel to
- 16 march. And you, raise your staff, and extend your hand over the sea, when it will divide itself, and the children of Israel can go through it
- 17 as upon dry land. But I, Myself, will embolden the hearts of the Mitzerites, and they shall follow after them. Then I shall be honoured by Pharaoh and by all his forces, by his chari-
- 18 :8 teers and horsemen, and the Mitzerites shall learn that I am the EVER-LIVING by My conquering over Pharaoh and his horsemen."
- 19 Then the Messenger of GOD who went before the camp of Israel marched, and went behind them, and the pillar of cloud also marched from before them and stood at their rear,
- 20 and went between the camp of the

Mitzerites, and the camp of Israel, and became a cloud and darkness—even of the light of the night,—so that the one approached not to the other all the night.

When Moses stretched his hand 21 over the sea, the EVER-LIVING caused a strong east wind to blow and rolled back the waters all that night, and made the sea like dry land, and made a plain in the waters. Then 22 the children of Israel passed through the sea on the dried-up part, and the waters were to them a protection¹ on their right hand and upon their left. The Mitzerites also pursued and 23 went after them; all the horse chariots of Pharaoh, and his horsemen, into the midst of the sea. But when 24 the morning-watch arrived the EVER-LIVING looked down from the Pillar of Fire and Cloud on to the army of Mitzeraim and broke off the wheels 25 from their chariots, and confused the ranks of the drivers, so that the Mitzerites exclaimed; "Let us fly from the presence of Israel, for the EVER-LIVING fights for them against the Mitzerites."

Then the EVER-LIVING said to 26 Moses, "Stretch out your hand over the sea, and the waters shall return upon the Mitzerites, over their chariots and over their horsemen."

So Moses extended his hand over 27 the waters, and the waters returned at the beginning of the morning to their regular flow, and the Mitzerites fled from their approach. Thus the EVER-LIVING overwhelmed the Mitzerites in the midst of the sea, and 28 the waters returned and struck the chariots and the horsemen, and all the forces of Pharaoh that went after them into the sea;—not one of them remained.

¹ Or "Circumvalation"—that is, like a moat or ditch on each side of the shallow from which the waters had been driven off by the east wind.—F. F.

29 But the children of Israel went along upon the dry land in the midst of the sea, and the water was a protection to them on the right and on 30 the left. Thus the EVER-LIVING saved Israel at that time from the hand of the Mitzerites, and Israel saw the Mitzerites dead on the shore 31 of the sea; and Israel also saw the great power by which the EVER-LIVING dealt with the Mitzerites, therefore the People feared the EVER-LIVING, and trusted in the LORD, and Moses His servant.

Song of Moses,¹

15 Then Moses and the children of Israel sang this song to the EVER-LIVING and said in chorus:—

STANZA I.

1 "I will sing to the LORD,
 For with splendid power,
 He flung the horse and rider
 Into the sea!

STANZA II.

2 "I shout and sing to my GOD,
 From Him comes my salvation!
 He is my GOD, and I rest upon Him!
 The GOD of my Fathers,
 And I will exalt Him!

STANZA III.

3 "The LORD is a warrior;
 His name is THE LIFE,— 4 He whelmed Pharoh's cars and his force in the sea!
 And his generals sank in the Sea of the Weeds!
 5 The breakers sucked to the deeps like a stone!

¹ I render this into the metre as I read the Hebrew original to run.

STANZA IV.

"Your right hand, LORD, is strong 6 and glorious,
 Your right hand, LORD, has crushed Your foes,
 And with grandeur destroyed 7
 Your opponents!
 You shot Your fire;—it consumed them as chaff!
 And the sea was filled by the 8 breath of Your mouth!
 And they lay like heaps for the plunderers;
 They curdled the waves in the heart of the sea!

STANZA V.

"'I will pursue,' said the foeman, 9
 'O'ertake, and plunder and sate
 my lust;
 Draw my sword and my hand shall destroy them!'—
 You blew with Your wind, and the 10 sea overwhelmed;
 And their Princes sank like lead in the sea!

STANZA VI.

"Who is like to the LORD among 11 Gods?
 Who like Him in Holy splen-dour,
 In brightness, and honour, and powerful acts?
 You extended Your hand and 12
 the earth was shaken,—
 You led in Your love this people 13
 free;
 And will bring in Your might to Your Holy Home,

STANZA VII.

"The Nations hearing it trembled; 14 Terror seized on Philistia's
 men;
 The Chiefs of Edom were also in 15 terror;
 The Princes of Moab shook in their fear;

- And the people of Canan dissolved like a cloud;
Dread and terror upon them fell.
- 16 At Your Mighty power they stood like a stone;
Until Your People, LORD, passed over;
Until Your Race had passed out redeemed!
- 17 Whom You brought and fixed as Your own on Your Hill;
The place You had chosen, LORD, for Your work;
- 18 To the Temple, ALMIGHTY, Your hands had made.

STANZA VIII.

- 19 "The LORD will reign for ever and ever;
For the horse of Pharoh went with his chariot,
And with his horsemen, into the sea,
Where the LORD turned on them the flood of the waters;
But the children of Israel walked on the dry,— Thro' the midst of the sea!"

- 20 Miriam the Poetess, also, the sister of Aaron, took the timbrill in her hand and all the women followed her 21 with timbrills and dances, and Miriam responded to them;

The Chorus of Women.

- "Sing to the LORD for gloriously triumphing,
He has flung the horse and his rider,—
Into the sea!"

March from the Wall to the Desert of Marah.

- 22 Moses afterwards marched Israel from the Weedy Sea, and departed from the Desert of the Wall, and advanced three days into the desert, but found no water. Thence they 23 went to Marah, but were unable to drink the waters of Marah, for they were bitter; therefore Moses called it Bitterness. Then the people 24 came to Moses to say; "What shall we drink?"

So he cried to the EVER-LIVING, 25 and the EVER-LIVING showed him a tree, which he put into the water and it sweetened it. He gave it therefore the name of the Pit of Calamity, and named it Trial, and camped there.

There he also said: "If you will 26 listen to the voice of your EVER-LIVING GOD, and do what is right in His eyes, and give your ears to His commands, and keep all His institutions, all the plagues which I laid upon the Mitzerites I will not lay upon you, for I am your EVER-LIVING RESTORER."

After that they went to Ailim, 27 where there were twelve springs of water, and many palm trees, so they encamped there by the springs.

Mans Giben.

Then all the mass of the children of 16 Israel marched from Ailim and went to the Wilderness of Sin, which is between Ailim and Sinai, on the fifteenth day of the second month from their departure out of the land of the Mitzeraim. But all the families of 2 the children of Israel complained against Moses and Aaron in the Desert; and the children of Israel 3 said to them;—

"Why do you kill us by the hand of the EVER-LIVING? In the land of the Mitzeraim we sat by the flesh pots to gorging! Why have you brought all the congregation to this Desert to die of hunger?"

Therefore the EVER-LIVING said 4 to Moses; "I will rain bread for them from the skies; and the people shall go out to collect it day by day, so that I may try if they will walk in My laws or no. But upon the sixth day they must prepare what they bring in, which shall be twice as much as the daily portion."

6 Moses and Aaron consequently said to all the children of Israel; "To-morrow morning you shall know that the EVER-LIVING brought you out of the land of the Mitzeraim, for in the morning you shall see the power of the LORD by His listening to your complaints against the EVER-LIVING, and us, regarding what you have complained against us. And," Moses continued, "the EVER-LIVING will give you flesh to eat in the evening, and bread in the morning to your fill; because the EVER-LIVING has heard your complaints, that you have complained against Him and us;—for you not only complain against us, but against the LORD."

9 Then Moses said to Aaron;—"Command all the families of the children of Israel to appear before the EVER-LIVING, for He has heard their murmurs."

10 Consequently Aaron commanded all the families of the children of Israel, and they presented themselves in the desert, and saw the splendour of the EVER-LIVING appear in the cloud.

11 Then the EVER-LIVING spoke to Moses, saying;—

12 "I have heard the complaints of the children of Israel. Speak to them and say; 'In the evening you shall eat flesh; and in the morning you shall be filled with bread:—so that you may know that I am your EVER-LIVING GOD.'"

13 When evening arrived therefore quails came up and covered the camp; and in the morning a layer of dew surrounded the camp. But when

14 the layer of dew exhaled from the surface of the desert, grains like scales,—grains like hoar-frost,—covered the ground.

When the children of Israel saw it, they said each to his brother,— "Mau hoa?"¹ for they did not know what it was. But Moses said to them, "This is the bread which the EVER-LIVING has given for you to eat. And this is the thing that He com- 16 mands; You are to collect each of you according to his requirements a homer for each individual member of the living persons, that you entertain in your tents."

The children of Israel accordingly 17 did so, and collected it from the desert much and little. But when 18 they measured by the homer there was no excess to the much, or deficiency to the little; each had according to the consuming mouths, for Moses had said to them, "Let not 19 any remain until the morning." But 20 some listened not to Moses, but reserved it by them until the morning, when it bred worms; Moses however was angry with them. Therefore they collected it morning 21 by morning, according to the consuming mouths, for when the sun arose it melted. But when the sixth day 22 came they collected a double quantity of bread, two homers, to each, and all the heads of families came to Moses and reported it. When he re- 23 plied to them; "That is what the EVER-LIVING commanded, 'You shall rest a Holy Rest to the EVER-LIVING to-morrow. What you have to bake, bake it, and what you have to boil, boil it, and all the remainder 24 keep by you until the morning.'"

So they laid it up until the morn- 25 ing, as Moses commanded, and it did not stink and worms were not in it. Then Moses said, "Eat it to-day, for to-day is a rest to the EVER-LIVING;

¹ Translated, "What is it?"—F. F.

- you shall not go out into the field.
- 26 You shall collect it six days, but the seventh day is a rest; you shall not do it then." Yet it happened that on the seventh day a man went out to collect,—but he found none.
- 28 The EVER-LIVING therefore said to Moses, "Until when shall I entreat them to observe My commands and laws? Let them see that the EVER-LIVING has given them the rest, for He has given to them on the sixth day bread for two days. Let each stay at his home. Let none go out from the camp on the seventh day."
- 30 So the People stayed at home on the seventh day.
- 31 Thus the House of Israel called it "Man,"¹ and it was like a seed of coriander, white; and the taste of it like cakes and honey.
- 32 Moses also said, "This is the rule that the EVER-LIVING commands to be practised continually, to be kept for your generations, so that you may see the bread which I caused you to eat in the desert, whilst I brought you out from the land of Mitzer."
- 33 Therefore Moses said to Aaron; "Take a basket, and put into it a full homer of Mana, and place it before the presence of the EVER-LIVING, to preserve for their posterity." So as the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses, Aaron laid it up in the presence, as a witness, in the treasury.
- 35 And the children of Israel ate the mana for forty years. Until they came to the land to rest, they ate the mana; until they came to the border of the land of Canan.²

Marching in Thirst.

- 17 Afterwards the whole body of the children of Israel marched from the Desert of Sin by stages at the command of the LORD, and encamped in exhaustion, for there was no water to quench the people's thirst. There the people contended with Moses, saying, "Give us water, and quench our thirst."
- Moses, however, replied; "Why do you mutiny against me? Why do you try the EVER-LIVING?"

¹ "What is it?"—F. F.

² 36 (But a homer is the tenth part of an epha) is an old editor's note, not part of the original text.—F. F.

But the People thirsted then for 3 water, and the People complained against Moses, and said; "Why did you bring us out from Mitzer, to kill us, with our children and cattle, with thirst?"

Then Moses cried to the EVER-LIVING, saying; "What shall I do with these People? For they are ready to stone me!"

But the EVER-LIVING answered 5 Moses; "Pass along before the face of the People and take with you the Magistrates of Israel. Take also in your hand the rod with which you struck the river, and march. I will 6 stand before your face there at the Rock in the Waste, and you shall strike upon the rock, and water shall come out from it, and quench the people."

And Moses did so in sight of the nobles of Israel, and named 7 the spot "Trial" and "Strife,"¹ because of the dispute with the children of Israel, and because of their trial of the EVER-LIVING, saying, "Does the EVER-LIVING exist with us, or not?"

The Amalekites attack Israel.

The Amalekites at this time came 8 with the Rephidites and made war with Israel. Consequently Moses said 9 to Joshua, "Choose your own men and go out to fight with the Amalekites to-morrow, and I will stand on the top of the hill with the rod of GOD in my hand."

Joshua, therefore, did as Moses 10 said to him, and fought with Amalek. But Moses and Aaron and Hur went up to the top of the hill; and when 11 Moses held up his hand, Israel became victorious, but when he lowered his hand, Amalek was victor. So when the hand of Moses became 12 weary, they took a stone and placed it under him and he rested upon it, and Aaron and Hur supported his hand, first one and then the other, so that his hand was stretched out until sunset, when Joshua defeated Amalek 13 and his people, by the edge of the sword.

The EVER-LIVING afterwards said 14 to Moses; "Write this and record it in a book, and instruct Joshua that I will blot the memory of Amalek from under the skies."

¹ Masah and Meribah.

- 15 Moses then built an altar, and called its name "The Throne of the 16 EVER-LIVING,"¹ and he said:—
"With the hand upon the throne of GOD, Fight Amalek for the LORD from age to age!"

Jethro meets Moses.

- 18 When Jethro, the priest of Midian, the father-in-law of Moses, heard all that GOD had done for Moses, and for Israel, His People;—how the EVER-LIVING had led Israel out of 2 Mitzer,—then Jethro, the father-in-law of Moses, took Zifora, the wife of Moses, who had sent her back,
3 and her two sons,—(the name of the first was Gershom, for he said, "I have been a stranger in a strange land, —and the name of the other
4 Aeliazar,—"For the GOD of my fathers has been a comfort and refuge to me
5 from the sword of Pharaoh;")—so Jethro, the father-in-law of Moses, brought his two sons and his wife to Moses in the desert, where the Mount
6 of GOD is. And he said to Moses, "I, Jethro, your father-in-law, have come to you with your wife and two sons with me."
7 Then Moses went out to meet his father-in-law, and bowed to him and kissed him, and they mutually enquired after their health. Then
8 they came to the tent. Moses there related to his father-in-law all that the EVER-LIVING had done to Pharaoh and to the Mitzeraim on account of Israel;—all the troubles which met them on the road, and how the EVER-LIVING delivered 9 them. And Jethro was glad at all the good which the EVER-LIVING had done to Israel, and His redemption of them from the hand of the 10 Mitzeraim. So Jethro said, "Bless the EVER-LIVING Who has delivered you from the hand of the Mitzeraim and from the hand of Pharaoh, and Who has delivered this People from under the hand of the Mitzerites.
11 Now you can perceive how much greater the EVER-LIVING is, than all their Gods, by the events with which He overwhelmed them."
12 Then Jethro, the father-in-law of

1 Yohvah Nis.

Moses, took burnt offerings and sacrifices to GOD, and Aaron and all the nobles of Israel came and dined with the father-in-law of Moses before GOD.¹

Moses administering Justice.

The next day, however, Moses sat 13 to administer justice to the People, and Moses remained from morning to evening. And the father-in-law of 14 Moses saw all that he did for the People, and said; "What is this business that you do for the People? Why do you sit alone, and all the People standing before you from morn till night?"

When Moses replied to his father-15 in-law; "Because all the People come to me to enquire of the EVER-LIVING. Whoever among them has 16 a dispute comes to me and I decide between man and man, and I make known the decision of GOD, and His laws."

Advice of Jethro on it.

But the father-in-law of Moses 17 answered him; "The practice that you follow is not good. You are not 18 prudent, nor are this people who are with you; for their affairs are more than you are able to bear alone. Therefore listen to my voice. I will 19 advise you, and GOD will be with you. Let now the People appear before GOD, and bring their affairs to GOD, and instruct them in the decisions of 20 His laws, and inform them the way they should walk in, and the acts they should do. Also choose for 21 yourself, from all the People, strong men, who fear GOD and hate bribes, and place over them as chiefs of thousands, chiefs of hundreds, chiefs of fifties and chiefs of tens, and let 22 them judge the People at all times, and let only all the great affairs be brought to you, but let them judge all the little matters, and thus ease yourself,—for they load you.

"If you do this and GOD confirms it, 23 then you can appoint it, and all these people can arrange their affairs with ease."

¹ V. 12. It is evident from this record that the exile of Moses in Arabia had been a period of spiritual education under Jethro, and that the Arabs had preserved the Faith of Abraham in greater purity than the Egyptised Hebrews.—P. F.

- 24 Moses, consequently, listened to the suggestion of his father-in-law, and did all that he said. Moses therefore chose strong men from all Israel, and placed them as heads over the people; chiefs of thousands and chiefs of hundreds and chiefs of tens, and they judged the people at all times in their affairs;—bringing the difficult matters to Moses,—but in the small affairs they decided for themselves.
- 27 Moses afterwards took leave of his father-in-law who went to his own country.

Israel arrives at Sinai.

- 10 At the third month from the coming of the sons of Israel out of the land of the Mitzeraim, on that day they came to the desert of Sinai. Then the Rephidim also marched and came to the desert of Sinai, and encamped in the desert. Israel also encamped there near the hill.

God appears to Moses.

- 3 Then Moses went up to GOD, and the EVER-LIVING called to him from the hill saying;—"Say this to the House of Jacob, and inform the children of Israel, 'You have seen what I did to the Mitzeraim, and lifted you on the wings of eagles, and brought you to Me, so now if you will listen to My voice, and keep My laws, then you shall be to Me a peculiar People, more than all the Peoples of the earth. And you shall be to Me a Royal Priesthood, and a Holy Nation.'—These are the words you shall speak to the children of Israel."
- 7 Moses consequently went and assembled the nobles of the People, and set before them the whole of these promises as the EVER-LIVING commanded. And all the People answered at once, and said, "We will do all the EVER-LIVING commands." Then Moses reported the declaration of the People to the EVER-LIVING.
- 9 And the EVER-LIVING replied to Moses, "Now I will come to you. In a cloud of fire I will pass by. The People shall hear Me talk with you, and also I will remain with you always." Then Moses reported the declaration of the People to the EVER-LIVING.

When the EVER-LIVING replied to 10 Moses; "Go to the People and sanctify them to-day, and to-morrow, and wash their clothes, and on the 11 third day let them assemble; for on the third day the EVER-LIVING will descend in the sight of all the People upon Mount Sinai. But you shall 12 keep the people at a distance around, by ordering, 'Take care that you do not go up to the Hill, or touch its skirts. All who touch the Hill shall die! Whether a beast or a man, let 13 them not touch it with the hand! or they shall be stoned with stones, or pierced with a dart; they shall not live who approach to ascend the Hill!'"

Consequently Moses descended 14 from the Hill to the People, and sanctified the people, and they washed their clothing. And he said, 15 "Restrain yourselves for three days, not to touch a woman."

The Divine Manifestation on Sinai.

When the third day came to the 16 day-break, there were voices and lightnings, and a heavy cloud over the Hill, and the sound of a powerful trumpet, so that all the people in the camp trembled. Then Moses brought 17 out from the camp all the people to meet GOD, and stationed them below the Hill. And the Hill of Sinai smoked 18 all over its surface, when the EVER-LIVING descended upon it in fire; and its smoke went up like the smoke of a smelting furnace, and the whole hill trembled greatly; and there was 19 the continuous sound of a trumpet; but Moses very boldly spoke, and GOD answered him by voice. Then 20 the EVER-LIVING descended on to the Hill of Sinai, on to the top of the Hill, and the EVER-LIVING called Moses to the top of the Hill, and Moses ascended.

Then the EVER-LIVING said to 21 Moses, "Descend at once to the People for fear they should break through to see, and numbers fall before Me. Let the Priests also who 22 sacrifice to the EVER-LIVING sanctify themselves, lest the LORD afflict them."

But Moses replied to the EVER- 23 LIVING; "The people cannot ascend the Hill of Sinai, for You commanded us, saying, 'Go a distance from the Hill, and sanctify yourselves.'"

- 24 The EVER-LIVING, however, answered him; "Go! Descend! and return, you, and Aaron with you. But the Priests, and the people must not attempt to ascend to the LORD, lest He afflict them."
25 So Moses descended to the people and spoke to them.

The Ten Commandments.

- 20 Then GOD dictated all these commands, and said;

COMMANDMENT I.

- 2 "I am your EVER-LIVING GOD, Who brought you out from the Mitzeraim, from the house of bondage. There shall be no other GOD to you, except MYSELF."

COMMANDMENT II.

- 4 "You shall not make for yourselves any image, or likeness of anything that is in the heavens above; or that is upon the earth beneath; or that is in the waters lower than the earth;
5 you shall not worship them or serve them, for I, your EVER-LIVING GOD, am a jealous GOD, visiting the sins of the fathers upon the children to the third and fourth generation of those 6 who hate Me; but I show mercy for thousands, to those who love Me and keep My commandments.

COMMANDMENT III.

- 7 "You shall not take the Name of your EVER-LIVING GOD in vain, for the LORD will not hold guiltless the taking of His Name in vain.

COMMANDMENT IV.

- 8 "Remember the Sabbath day to 9 keep it holy. Six days you may 10 labour, and do all your business, but the seventh day is a Rest to your EVER-LIVING GOD. You shall not then do any business, you, or your son, or your daughter, your manservant, or your maid-servant, or your cattle, or your stranger who is within 11 your gates; for in six ages the EVER-LIVING made the heavens and the earth, the sea and all that is in them, but rested at the seventh age; therefore the EVER-LIVING blessed the seventh day and hallowed it.

COMMANDMENT V.

- 12 "Honour your father and your mother, that your days may be long in the land which the EVER-LIVING GOD will give to you.

COMMANDMENT VI.

- "You shall not murder, 13

COMMANDMENT VII.

- "You shall not commit adultery, 14

COMMANDMENT VIII.

- "You shall not steal. 15

COMMANDMENT IX.

- "You shall not bear false witness against your neighbour. 16

COMMANDMENT X.

- "You shall not covet your neighbour's house; you shall not covet your neighbour's wife; or his manservant, or his maid-servant, or his ox, or his ass, or anything that is your neighbour's."

The Terror of Israel.

And all the People perceived the 18 sounds and the flamings, and the trumpet voice, and the smoke from the mountain;—so the people feared and shook in themselves, and stood at a distance, and said to Moses, 19 "You speak with us, and we can listen: but let not GOD speak with us, for fear we should die."

Moses, however, answered to the 20 People, "Fear not! for GOD has come to you to try you, and to test whether you will fear Him henceforward, and not sin."

So the People stood afar off, but 21 Moses approached the thick darkness where GOD was.

Then the EVER-LIVING said to 22 Moses; "Say this to the children of Israel, you have seen that from the heavens I have spoken with you. Never make for yourselves a God of 23 silver, or a God of gold. You shall not make them for yourselves. You 24 shall make an altar of earth for Me, and you shall offer upon it your sacrifices and your thank offerings, your sheep, and your oxen. In every place where I record MY NAME, I will come to you and bless you. But 25 if you make an altar of stone to Me, it shall not be of cut stones, for if you carve with a cutter upon it, then it will be polluted. And you shall not 26 pile up pyramids for an altar so that your shame may not be discovered when you go up to it."

The Law of Social Life.

- 21 " Now these are the decrees which 2 you shall put before them : A servant shall serve six years' servitude, and in the seventh he shall go out to free-3 dom. If he is single, he shall go out single ; if he has a wife, his wife shall 4 go out with him. But if his master has given him a wife, and she has borne sons or daughters to him, the wife and her children which she has borne shall belong to the master, and he 5 shall go away single. If, however, the servant says, ' I like my master, my wife, and my children,' he shall 6 not go into freedom ; but his master shall present him to the magistrates, and station him at the door, or at the door-posts, and his master shall pierce his ear with an awl, and he shall serve continuously.

Law of Marriage.

- 7 " If a man sells his daughter to be a mother, she should not go as if 8 going into slavery. If she is not pleasing in the eyes of her master, when he has not known her, then he shall free her to her own people without a payment ; he shall not have power to sell her because of his 9 treachery to her. But if she has borne a child to him, then he shall treat her according to the law about wives.
10 " If he takes another to her, he shall not diminish her share for 11 clothing, and conjugal rights. And if a third to these, he shall not send her away destitute, without money."

Law of Murder.

- 12 " Whoever assails a man and he dies ;—He shall be put to death. But 13 if he did not lie in wait, but his stroke came from GOD, then you shall provide a place where he may 14 fly. If, however, a man plans against his neighbour to murder him ; then you shall take him from My altar to kill him.
15 " And whoever assaults his father or his mother ; He shall be killed.
16 " Whoever steals a man and sells him ; when he is caught he shall be put to death.

" Whoever curses his father or 17 mother ; he shall be put to death.

" And when men contend, and a 18 man assaults his neighbour with a stone or a clod, but he does not die, yet is reduced to his bed, if he re- 19 covers and can walk out upon his crutch, and he escapes from the injury, except his loss of time, he shall be compensated, and the physician paid for his cure.

" And if a man strikes his slave, or 20 his maid-servant, with his stick and he dies under his hand, they shall be avenged. Yet if these continue a 21 day, or some days, they shall not be avenged, for they were his property.

" And when two persons quarrel, 22 and they strike a pregnant woman, and her child comes out, and mischief does not ensue ; he shall be fined, according to what is laid upon him to compensate the woman, and that shall be fixed by the judges.
But if mischief ensues, you shall 23 inflict life for life : eye for eye ; tooth 24 for tooth ; hand for hand ; foot for foot : mark for mark : mutilation for 25 mutilation ; wound for wound : blow for blow.

" And if any man strikes his slave 26 in the eye, so that his eye becomes blind, he shall let him go free instead of his eye.

" And if a tooth from his slave, so 27 that the tooth is destroyed, in compensation he shall set him free, instead of his tooth.

" And if a bullock butts a man and 28 the man dies, you shall stone the bullock, and not eat of its flesh, but destroy the bullock for nothing. But 29 if the bullock were accustomed to butt formerly, and his owner knew it, and did not guard it, and it kills a man, or a woman, the bullock shall be stoned and the owner put to death.

" But if a fine is laid upon him, he 30 shall pay it, and his life be free from all, because of the fine laid upon him. Whether a man or a woman 31 is butted, it shall be done according to this decree.

" If a slave man or woman is butted 32
by a bullock, thirty shekels of silver shall be given to their master, and the bullock be stoned.

Laws of Accidents and Thefts.

" And if a man opens a well, or 33 digs a well, and does not cover it, and an ox or an ass shall fall into it, because of the well he shall pay a money fine to its owner, and the dead shall be his.

- 34 "And if the bullock of a man gores the bullock of his neighbour, and it dies, then they shall sell the living bullock, and divide the money, and 35 they shall also divide the dead. But if its master know that the bullock gored formerly, and he did not guard it, he shall compensate with a bullock for the bullock, and the dead shall be to him.

- 36 "If a man steals a bullock or a sheep, and slaughters it, or sells it, he shall compensate with five bullocks in place of the ox, or four sheep in place of the sheep.

- 22 "If a thief is found breaking in, and is struck and dies; there is not blood-guilt for him. If the sun was shining on him, he may redeem his blood. If he has nothing then he shall be sold for stealing.

- 3 "If you find his theft in his hand, as a bullock, or an ass, or sheep, alive, he shall be fined by two.

The Laws of Property.

- 4 "If the farm or vineyard of a man is burnt, and ruffians from his village burn his farm, or part of his farm, or a part of his vineyard, it shall be compensated.

- 5 "If you make a fire, and it fires the bushes, and consumes the standing corn, or a homestead, or a farm; it shall be compensated from the burner to the burnt.

- 6 "Whoever places with his neighbour money or goods as trustee, and they are stolen upon the premises of that person, if the thief is discovered
7 he shall repay twice as much. If the thief is not found, then the master of the premises shall approach the House of GOD and swear he has not put his hand upon the property of 8 his neighbour; upon anything lost, upon ox, or ass, or sheep, or clothing, or anything strayed, and shall say that as a witness to GOD, he brings twice as much as was lost to GOD. He shall recompense his neighbour double.

- 9 "If a man entrusts to his neighbour an ass, or ox, or sheep, or any cattle, to take care of, and it dies or is torn, 10 or tears, out of his sight, there shall be an oath to the LORD between the two, that he has not put his hand upon the property of his neighbour, and its owner shall take it, and not be compensated. But if it has been 11 stolen from him, he shall compensate its owner. If it is torn he shall bring 12 the torn pieces as a proof. He shall not compensate.

"And if a man hires it of his neighbour, and it is broken or dies, and its owner is not with it, he shall be compensated. If its owner is with it, he 14 shall not be compensated; if it was hired, he went for the wages.

Laws of Morality.

"And if a man seduces a girl who 15 has not been betrothed to him, and lies with her so that she conceives, she shall be his wife. But if her 16 father is unwilling to give her to him, he shall pay money as a dowry for the girl. She shall not live as a slave.
17

"Whoever lies with a beast shall 18 be put to death.

"No sacrifice shall be burnt to any,
19 except to the EVER-LIVING only.

"You shall not persecute or oppress 20 foreigners; for you were foreigners in the land of the Mitzeraim.

"You shall not annoy any widow or 21 orphan. If you wrong them, so that they cry to me, I shall hear their cry, and My anger will burn, and I will 23 slay you by the sword, and your own wives shall be widows, and your own children orphans.

"If you lend money to My People, 24 My poor among you; you shall not be to them like a usurer. You shall not put upon them usury. If your 25 neighbour deposits with you as a pledge a garment, at the setting of the sun you shall return it to him; for it is his only covering with which 26 he clothes his body, in which he lies down; and it may be he will cry to Me, when I will hear, for I am merciful.

The Laws of Reverence towards God.

"You shall not blaspheme GOD, and 27 shall not curse the princes of your nation.

"You shall not delay to give to Me
28 the first produce of your farm, and vineyard. You shall do the same 29 with your cow, and your sheep. It shall be seven days with its mother. and on the seventh day you shall give it to Me.

- 30 "As you shall be holy men to Me, you shall not eat of torn flesh, that has been torn in the field. You must throw it to the dogs.
- 23 "You shall not make a false oath. You shall not set your hand to commit fraud. You shall not be a false witness.
- 2 "You shall not go with the powerful to do wrong; and you shall not plead for the powerful to make excuse for their wrong-doing. And you shall not turn away from the poor man when he pleads.
- 4 "When you meet with the cow, or ass of your enemy straying, you shall take it back to him.
- 5 "When you see the ass of your enemy fallen under its load, and you can ease and free it for him, you shall help to free it with him.
- 6 "You shall not pervert justice from the destitute when he pleads.
- 7 "Keep far off from false pretence. You shall not kill the innocent, and the righteous, for I will not acquit the wicked. And you shall not receive bribes, for bribes blind open eyes, and pervert the words of the righteous.
- 9 "And you shall not oppress a foreigner, for you know the feelings of a foreigner; since you were foreigners in the land of the Mitzeraim.

¶ Laws of Agriculture.

- 10 "For six years you shall sow the earth, and gather its produce, but in the seventh you shall fallow it, and spread it out, and the destitute of your people shall eat, and the rest of the animals of the field shall eat. You shall do the same with your vineyards and olive plantations. Six days you shall do all your business, but the seventh day you shall rest, so that your ox and your ass may take comfort, and your servants and foreigners refresh themselves.
- 13 "And all that I say to you you shall regard; for you shall not remember a name of other Gods, and it shall not be heard from your mouth.

¶ Laws about Sacred Festivals.

- 14 "Three times in a year you shall make a festival to Me.
- 15 "The feast of unfermented bread¹ you shall keep for seven days. You shall eat biscuits, as I commanded you, at the season of the month of harvest,¹ for in it you came out of Mitzer, and you did not see My presence in vain.

"And you shall make the feast of 16 the first-fruits of harvest, when you sow in the field; and the feast of harvest-home at the end of the year when you gather in your produce from the fields.

"Three times in the year all your 17 men shall come before Me, the ALMIGHTY LORD.

"You shall not sacrifice with fer- 18 mented bread a blood-sacrifice to Me; and the fat of My feast shall not be kept till the morning.

"The best of the first-fruits of your 19 ground you shall bring to the hand of your EVER-LIVING GOD.

"You shall not boil a kid in its mother's milk.

"Then I will send My Messenger 20 before your face to guard you in your way, and to bring you to the place where I will fix you. Regard his 21 presence, and listen to his voice. Grieve him not, that he may not rise to punish you, for My POWER is around him. But if you listen to 22 his voice, and do all that I shall command, then I will love you, but I will distress your distressers. For 23 My Messenger shall march before you, and bring you to the Amorites, and the Hittites, and the Perizites, and the Canaanites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites, and destroy them.

¶ Prohibition of Paganism and Idolatry.

"You shall not worship their Gods, 24 and not serve them, and you shall not make like them, but you shall destroy, and you shall break their pillars; and you shall serve your 25 EVER-LIVING GOD, and He will bless your bread, and your water, and will turn war away from around you. You shall not be childless, and 26 sterile in your land. You shall fulfil the number of your days.

¶ Promises to the Faithful.

"I will send My terror before your 27 face, and will terrify every Nation when you arrive at them; and I will make all your enemies to turn their back to you. And I will send the 28 Destroy before you, and drive out the Hittites and the Canaanites and the Hivites from before your approach. I will not drive them away in a year from before you, lest the earth should become waste, and the beasts of the field should increase upon you. I will drive them out little by little before you, until you multiply and can inherit the country. And your two boundaries shall be from the Sea of Weeds at the Sea of Philistia through the desert to the River,¹ which I will give to your hand, and I will drive the inhabitants of the country from before you. You shall not make a treaty with them, or a covenant with their Gods. They shall not reside in your land, for fear they would cause you to sin against Me, so that you would serve their Gods, for I am the EVER-LIVING, for you to reverence."

¹ Biscuits.

¹ Abib.

Moses and Aaron and the Princes ascend Sinai.

24 Then it was commanded to Moses; "Go up to the LORD, you and Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, and seventy of the princes of Israel, and let them worship at a distance. But Moses shall approach alone to the EVER-LIVING; for they must not approach, nor the people go up with him."
3 So Moses went and reported to the people the whole of the commands of the EVER-LIVING, and the whole of His decrees; when all the people answered with one voice, and said; "All the commands which the EVER-LIVING commands, we will do."

Moses records these Laws.

4 Moses afterwards wrote down all the commands of the LORD and arose in the morning, and built an altar under the hill, and twelve pillars for the twelve tribes of Israel. And he commissioned representatives of the children of Israel who went out and offered burnt offerings, and sacrificed peace-offerings to the EVER-LIVING.
6 Moses also took part of the blood and put it in basins, and part of the blood he sprinkled upon the altar.
7 Then he took the book of the Covenant, and read it in the hearing of the People, and they said; "All that the EVER-LIVING has commanded, we will do and listen to."

¹ Euphrates.

Moses consequently took the blood⁸ and sprinkled it upon the People, and said, "This is the blood of the Covenant which the EVER-LIVING has settled with you, in all these commands."

The Chiefs ascend Sinai.

Afterwards Moses, Aaron, Nadab, 9 and Abihu, and the seventy princes of Israel went up, and saw the GOD¹⁰ of Israel, and under His feet was like the dazzle of sapphire stones, and the splendour of the clear sun; but upon¹¹ the nobles of the children of Israel, He did not extend His hand. They however gazed upon God; and they ate and drank.

Moses called to Sinai.

Then the EVER-LIVING said to¹² Moses; "Come up to the mountain to Me, and stay there, and I will give you stone slabs, with the Laws and Commandments which I have written for your instruction."

Therefore Moses arose with Joshua¹³ his attendant, and Moses went up the mount to GOD. He, however,¹⁴ said to the Princes, "You remain here until we return, for Ahron and Hur will be with you in case a litigant seeks decisions from them."

Consequently Moses ascended the¹⁵ hill, and a cloud covered the hill,¹⁶ and the splendour of the EVER-LIVING rested upon the hill of Sinai; and the cloud covered it six days. Then He called to Moses on the seventh day out of the cloud, and the¹⁷ glory of the EVER-LIVING appeared like a consuming fire on the head of the mountain to the eyes of the children of Israel.

Moses, therefore, went into the¹⁸ midst of the cloud, and ascended the hill. And Moses was upon the hill forty days and forty nights.

The Instructions on Sinai.

There the EVER-LIVING spoke to⁵ Moses and said, "Tell the children of Israel that they must bring offerings to Me. From anything their heart induces them, they may offer. And these are the offerings they may² offer for themselves, gold, silver, and brass, and blue, and purple, and⁴ scarlet, and red; spun goats' hair, and red ram skins, and badgers' skins, and acacia wood; oil for the light for⁶ the lamps, with oil to anoint, and incense to perfume; and make for⁸

Me a Sanctuary, and I will dwell 9 amongst them. Exactly according to the pattern I have shown you, you shall form the dwelling, and form all its furniture,—thus you shall make it.
 10 "You shall also make an ark of acacia wood, of two cubits and a half long and two cubits and a half breadth, and a cubit and a half high, 11 and you shall plate it with pure gold inside and out, and wreath and make 12 a border of gold around it. You shall also cast rings of pure gold, and place on the four corners of it. That is, two rings on one side of it, and two rings on the other side of it.
 13 And you shall make staves of acacia 14 wood, and plate them with gold, and put the staves into the rings on the sides of the ark, to carry the ark by 15 them. The staves shall remain in the rings;—they shall not be removed 16 from them. You shall then put into the ark the evidences that I will give 17 to you. You shall also make a cover of pure gold of two cubits in length and a cubit and a half in breadth.
 18 You shall besides make two covers of gold, shaped as dishes, in two divisions 19 for the covers. Make the cases thus;—one for each side, and a kerub for that division of the cover. You shall make it with kerubim upon the 20 two divisions. Thus the kerubim will be stretching their wings as overshadowing the covers with their wings with the wings of each towards his brother over the covers. The kerubim shall be face to face.
 21 "Then you shall place the covers upon the top of the ark, and you shall put into the ark the evidences that 22 I will give to you. Then I will instruct you there, and I will speak to you from off the covers, from between the two kerubim, which are upon the ark, all that I command you for the children of Israel.
 23 "You shall also make a table of acacia wood, two cubits long and a cubit broad, and a cubit and a half 24 high, and plate it with pure gold, and make a border of gold around it.
 25 Construct thus a border like a coping around it, and make points of gold 26 upon the surrounding border. Also make for it four staves of gold, and put the staves in the four sockets 27 which are above the legs. These four sockets shall be above the border, for the staves to carry the table by.
 28 So you shall make the staves of acacia wood, and plate them with gold, to carry the table. You shall 29 also make dishes, and spoons, and bowls, and the cups in which the wine is, of pure gold, and place upon 30 the table the shewbread before Me continually.

"You shall also make lamps of 31 pure gold. Make the lamp with spreading branches, with a stalk rising upwards like a blossom, with a bowl on it. Let there be six stalks 32 going from the sides of it. Three stalks for lamps on one side of it, and three stalks for lamps on the other side of it. Three nob with 33 almonds on each stalk, a flower and a bowl; the same for each of the three stalks that are provided for the lamps, and for the fourth lamp a 34 nob with an almond, a nob and a bowl, and a nob under two of the stalks between them, and a nob under two 35 of the stalks between them, and a nob under two of the stalks between them, for the six branches that come from the lamp. The nobs and the 36 stalks between them shall be, all of them, each one, turned from pure gold.

"You shall also make seven re- 37 flectors to throw the light in front of themselves. And dishes and snuffers 38 of pure gold. You shall use a talent¹ 39 of pure gold for it, and all its instruments. And be careful to make them 40 according to the pattern I showed you on the mountain.

"You shall also make for the tent 26 ten curtains of twisted linen, and azure, purple, and blue, ornamented artistically with two kerubs. The 2 width of each curtain shall be eighteen cubits, and the height of it four cubits. The extent of each curtain shall be the same to all the curtains. Two curtains shall be 3 attached one to the other; and five curtains attached one to the other.
 You shall also make loops of azure 4 on the edge of each of the curtains in the selvage to join them; and make 5 the same in the selvage of the two curtains to join them. Make five loops to each curtain; thus make five loops on the selvage of the two curtains that are joined by the opposite loops to the first one. And make five 6 golden hooks to unite the curtains,

¹ £5.475 sterling, at £4 per oz. But the purchasing power of gold was at that period at least forty or fifty times what it is now.—F. F.

each to the other by hooks, so that they may be one tent.

7 "Also make curtains of goat-skin as a covering for the first tent. Make 8 eleven curtains of them. The length of the first curtain to be thirty cubits, and the breadth four cubits. Make each one of the eleven curtains the same. Then join five of the curtains together, and six curtains together, for the doublings of the sixth curtain in the front of the tent. You shall also make fifty loops upon the edge of the first curtain, upon the selvage at the juncture; and fifty loops upon the edge of the second curtain. And make fifty brass hooks for the loops and unite them for the pavilion and let it be one. But part of the curtains must hang down from the roof of the pavilion; half the curtains of the roof you shall hang over the back part of the tent, with a cubit on this side, and a cubit on that side, for the fold in the length of the curtains of the pavilion shall hang down over the sides of the tent on this side, 14 and that side, to conceal it. You shall in addition, make a covering to the tent of red ram skins; and a covering of skins of badgers all over it.

15 "You also make the boards of the Sanctuary of acacia wood, planed; ten cubits the length of each board, and a cubit and a half the breadth of each plank. You shall set clasps upon the first plank at the edges of each of its counterparts. You shall do the same to all the planks of the Sanctuary. And make the planks for the Sanctuary twenty planks for the face to the right; with forty sockets of silver to fix under the twenty planks. Two sockets under each plank to fix the clutches into.

20 "And upon the second side of the Sanctuary, to face the north, twenty planks, and forty sockets of silver, two sockets under each plank, and two clutches under each plank.

22 "And to the breadth of the Sanctuary, westward, you shall make six planks, with two planks made for a corner of the Sanctuary at its lengths. And there shall be rings to fasten them: for the one shall have a ring on the top of it, to meet the ring of the other. This shall be for the two corners: that is eight planks, with their sockets of silver; sixteen sockets; two sockets for each plank.

26 "Make also cross-bars of acacia wood, five to a plank at one side of the Sanctuary; and five cross-bars 27 for the second side of the Sanctuary; and five cross-bars to the planks at the side of the Sanctuary stretching west; and fix the cross-bars in the middle of the planks, with bolts from one junction to the other junction. And overlay the planks and their 29 rings with gold. Make also of gold, rests for the cross-bars, and plate the cross-bars with gold. And erect 30 the Sanctuary according to the plan I showed you in the mount.

"Make besides a veil of azure, and 31 purple and blue, and red, and twisted linen. Ornament it with an embroidery of kerubim, and place it 32 upon four supports of acacia, overlaid with gold, with pins of gold, upon four sockets of silver. And 33 hang the veil below the hooks, and bring there, within the veil to the Holy of Holies, the Ark of the Witnesses. Then put the covers upon 34 the ark in the Holy of Holies. And place the table outside the veil, and put the lamp upon the table at the south side of the Sanctuary, and place the table towards the north side.

"Then make a skreen for the door 36 of the tent; of azure and purple, and blue, and have it embroidered with spun flax. Also make five standards 37 of acacia for the skreen, and plate them with gold, and have pins of gold, and cast for them five sockets of brass.

"Make besides an altar of acacia 27 wood, five cubits long and five cubits broad. The altar shall be square, and its height three cubits. And 2 make horns to it upon its four sides. The horns shall project from it. You shall also sheathe it in brass. And 3 make buckets for the ashes, and shovels, and brushes, and tongs. Make all its instruments of brass. Make also a net like a lattice of brass, 4 and form on the network four projections of brass, on its four corners, and fix it below the fire-place of the altar by its projections, so that the grating may be in the centre of the altar.

"Make also staves for the altar, 6 staves of acacia wood, and plate them with brass; so that the staves may go 7 into projections, and let the staves be upon the two sides of the altar, to carry it by. Make it with hollow 8 panels such as were shown to you in the mountain. You shall make them the same.

Form of the Sanctuary.

9 "Make the court of the Sanctuary to face towards the south. The curtains of the court of spun linen, one hundred cubits in length on one face, 10 with twenty standards, and twenty sockets, of brass, with spikes to the standards, and hooks of silver.

11 "And then on the length of the north side one hundred cubits of curtains, and twenty standards, with their twenty sockets of brass, with spikes for the standards, and hooks of silver.

12 "Let the breadth of the court to face the west be fifty cubits of curtains, ten standards, and ten sockets.

"And the breadth of the court to 13 face the east, towards the sun-rise, fifty cubits, with fifteen cubits of curtains to the gateway, with three standards, and three sockets. And from the other shoulder fifteen cubits with three standards, and three 16 sockets. But for the gate of the court let there be a mask of twenty cubits, made of azure, and purple, and crimson, and blue, and red, and embroidered spun linen, with four 17 standards and four sockets. All the standards around the court shall have silver connecting rods and pins of 18 silver, and sockets of brass. The length of the court a hundred cubits, and the breadth fifty by fifty: and the height five cubits of spun linen with standards of brass; with all the 19 furniture of the Sanctuary, and all the service, and all its nails, and all the nails of the court of brass.

20 "You shall further command the children of Israel that they must bring to you pure pressed olive oil for the lamps, for a continual offering, in the pavilion of the Testimony, outside the veil which is over the evidences, providing it for Aaron and his sons to serve till the morning before the 21 EVER-LIVING, as an everlasting institution for their descendants, among the children of Israel.

The Institution of a Priesthood.

28 "And you shall separate to yourself Aaron your brother, and his sons with him from among the children of Israel, to be Priests to Me: Aaron, Nadab, and Abihu, Eliazar, and Aithamar, the sons of Aaron. Also make sacred 2 robes for Aaron, your brother, to honour and beautify him. And speak 3 to all the skilful-minded, who have a skilful intellect, that they should make those robes for Aaron, to consecrate him as a Priest to Me. And these 4 are the robes which they shall make; a breastplate, and ephod, and a cloak, and a cape of embroidery; with a turban and girdle.—These are the sacred robes to be made for Aaron your brother, and for his sons, as Priest to Me.

"They must also bring gold and 5 azure, and purple, and blue, and red, and thread.

"Make the ephod of gold, azure, 6 purple, blue, red, and spun linen embroidery. The two shoulder pieces 7 shall be joined to it on the two sides, and fastened; and the embroidery, 8 which they work upon the ephod, shall be of gold, azure, and purple, and blue, red, and spun flax. Then 9 you shall take two onyx stones and engrave upon them the names of the sons of Israel; six of their names 10 upon one stone, and the names of the other six of them upon the second stone, in order of their birth. 11 You shall make the engraving like a seal. Having engraved the two stones with the names of the sons of Israel, you shall cause them to be surrounded with settings of gold; and set the two 12 stones upon the two shoulders of the ephod, as stones of remembrance for the sons of Israel, and Aaron shall carry their names before the EVER-LIVING upon his two shoulders for a remembrance.

"Make, as well, settings of gold, 13 and two chains of pure gold. Make 14 them with edgings, as a wreath is made, and fix the chains on to the settings.

"Also make a breastplate of Justice, 15 of embroidery like the ephod. Make it of gold, azure, and purple, and blue, red, and spun linen combined. It shall be square; a double span long, 16 and a span wide, with settings in it: 17 a setting of four stones in a row.

"A ruby, a topaz, and a diamond for the first row.

"The second row, an emerald, a 18 sapphire, a jasper.

"The third row, a ligure, an agate, 19 and an amethyst.

"The fourth row, an amber, an 20 onyx and pearl.

21 "They shall be in settings of gold with their fastenings: and the stones shall have the names of the twelve sons of Israel, their names engraven like a seal; each shall have one name of the twelve tribes.

22 "Also make for the breastplate linked chains, of pure gold, as a wreath. Also make for the breastplate two buttons of gold, and fix the two buttons on the two edges of the breastplate, and fix the two wreaths of gold upon the two buttons at the edges of the breastplate, and the two ends of the two wreaths you shall fasten on to the two settings, and put them upon the shoulders of the ephod, upon its front face.

26 "Also make two rings of gold, and place them on the two sides of the breastplate, upon its edges, where the ephod turns over to its inside. Besides, you shall make rings of gold and fix them upon the two shoulders of the ephod, extending from the front of it to the juncture at the top of the girdle of the ephod, and shall bind on the breastplate by its rings to the rings of the ephod, with the blue lace which is upon its hem, so that the breastplate shall not fall from off the ephod. Thus Aaron will carry the names of the sons of Israel, upon the breastplate of justice, upon his heart, when he goes to the Sanctuary, as a remembrance before GOD continually.

30 "Also fix on to the breastplate the Urim and Thumim,¹ so that they may be over the heart of Aaron when he goes before the EVER-LIVING, and Aaron shall carry justice for the children of Israel before the EVER-LIVING continually.

31 "Also make for the cape of the ephod loops of azure, and let there be eyelets at the middle of the edge; at the seam around it, made like the weaving for the eyelets of a coat of mail, so as not to tear away.

33 "Also make upon the hem pomegranates of azure, and purple, and blue, and red, on the hems around, and bells of gold beside them around; a bell and a pomegranate, a bell of gold and a pomegranate upon the hem of the cape around. And they shall be upon Aaron when ministering, so that their sound may be heard at his going into the

¹ "Light and Truth" is the meaning when translated, the lesson of which I need not dwell upon.—F. F.

Sanctuary before the EVER-LIVING, and coming from Him, so that he may not die.

"Make also a Flower of pure gold, 36 and engrave upon it like the engraving of a seal, 'Holiness to the LORD,' and fasten to it an azure cord, that it may be held upon the turban, in the front of the turban, and be above the 38 brow of Aaron, so that Aaron may carry their weaknesses to the Sanctuaries when he sanctifies the children of Israel, sanctifying them with every offering; so it shall be above his brow continually, to bring favour to them from the EVER-LIVING.

"Also embroider a robe of white 39 linen, and make a turban of white linen, and make an embroidered sash.

"Make also robes for the sons of 40 Aaron; and make for them sashes, and make them mitres, to honour and adorn them. And clothe with them 41 Aaron your brother, and his sons with them. Then consecrate them, and put a ring on their hands and sanctify them, and they shall be My Priests. Also make drawers for their legs, to 42 cover their naked body from the waist, and to extend down the thighs. These 43 shall be worn by Aaron and his sons when they go into the Tent of the Congregation, or to clothe them at the altar, when serving religion, so that they may not excite passion and die. This is a perpetual order to him, and his descendants after him.

The Method of Consecrating Priests.

"And these are the things you shall 29 use in consecrating them to be Priests to Me:—

"You shall take an heifer from the cows, and two perfect rams; and un- 2 fermented bread, and unfermented cakes mixed with oil; and then unfermented wafers buttered with oil, which you shall make of wheaten flour, and put them in a basket, and 3 offer them in the basket, with the heifer and the two rams.

"Then Aaron and his sons shall 4 approach the door of the Hall of Assembly and you shall wash them with water.

"Next you shall take the garments 5 and clothe Aaron with the robe, and the cape of the ephod, and the ephod, and the breastplate, and you shall invest him with the adjuncts of the ephod. Then you shall place the 6

- turban upon his head, and the Crown of Righteousness upon the turban.
- 7 "Afterwards take the Oil of Consecration and pour it upon his head, and consecrate him.
- 8 "Then bring forward his sons and clothe them with their robes, and gird Aaron and his sons with the sashes and bind the mitres on them, which shall indicate the priesthood, as a perpetual institution. Appoint Aaron, and appoint his sons in this manner.
- 10 "Next you shall bring forward the heifer before the Hall of Assembly, and Aaron and his sons shall strike their hands upon the head of the 11 heifer. Then slay the heifer before the EVER-LIVING at the door of the 12 Hall of Assembly, and take of the blood of the heifer and put upon the horns of the altar with your finger, and the rest of the blood pour out at the 13 foundation of the altar. Then take all the fat of the caul of the bowels, and the caul over the liver, and two kidneys, and the fat which is about them, and burn them before the altar. But 14 the flesh of the heifer, and its skin, and the dung, you shall burn with fire outside the camp, as a sin offering.
- 15 "Then you shall take one of the rams, and Aaron and his sons shall strike their hands upon the head of the ram. Afterwards slay the ram, and take its blood and sprinkle upon 17 the altar all round. But divide the ram into portions, and wash its entrails and its legs, and lay them upon 18 the portions with its head, and burn all the ram upon the altar. It is a whole burnt offering to the EVER-LIVING, it is a sweet odour to the EVER-LIVING.
- 19 "Afterwards take the second ram, and let Aaron and his sons strike their hands upon the head of the ram. 20 Then slay the ram, and take some of its blood and put upon the tip of the right ear of Aaron, and on the tip of the ears of his sons, and upon the thumb of their right hands, and upon the great toe of their feet, and sprinkle 21 the blood all around the altar. Next take some of the blood which is upon the altar, and some of the oil of consecration, and sprinkle upon Aaron, and upon his robes, and upon his sons, and upon their robes with him, and sanctify him and his robes, and his sons, and their robes as well.
- 22 "Afterwards take from the ram the fat, and the suet; and the fat of the caul of the bowels, and the lobe of the liver, and the two kidneys, and the fat that is over them, and the right shoulder,—for it is a ram of consecration,—and one round 23 loaf of bread; and one loaf buttered with oil; and one thin cake from the basket of unfermented cakes that are before the EVER-LIVING, and place 24 the whole on the hands of Aaron and the hands of his sons, and they shall wave them before the EVER-LIVING. Then take them from their hands and 25 burn with incense upon the altar for a whole offering, as a sweet smell before the EVER-LIVING. They shall be for the EVER-LIVING. Next take 26 the breast of the ram of consecration, which was for Aaron, and you yourself shall wave it before the EVER-LIVING, and it shall be to yourself for a portion. And sanctify the breast of 27 the wave-offering, and the legs of the wave-offerings which were raised up from the Ram of Consecration, which was for Aaron and for his sons, and 28 they shall be for Aaron and his sons to take always from the children of Israel;—a sacrifice of thanks—you shall raise them to the EVER-LIVING.

"And the sacred robes that are for 29 Aaron shall be for his sons after him to be consecrated in, and to serve with their hands in them. The priests from 30 his sons after him, who come to the Hall of Assembly for the holy service, shall be clothed in them seven days.

"Next take the Ram of Consecration and boil its flesh in the holy place, and Aaron and his sons shall eat the 32 flesh of the ram, and the bread which was in the basket at the door of the Hall of Assembly. They shall eat it 33 as a protection to them in the work of their hands,—in the Sanctuary alone: and a stranger shall not eat that holy thing with them. But if 34 there remains any of the flesh of the consecration, or of the bread until the morning, you shall burn the remnants by fire. They shall not be eaten, because they are holy.

"Do this with Aaron and his sons, 35 exactly as I have commanded. Thus for seven days you shall fill their hands, and offer a bullock for a sin 36 offering daily, as a protection for them, with a sin offering upon the altar to protect yourself; and you shall consecrate it to sanctify it. You 37 shall protect for the altar seven days and sanctify it. Then the altar shall be holy of holies, all approaching to the altar shall be sacred.

The Ritual of the Altar.

- 38 "This is what you shall offer daily upon the altar, two lambs of a year old, continually. Offer the first lamb in the morning, and offer the second lamb between the dusks; with a tenth of flour mixed with a quarter of a hin of olive oil, and a quarter of a hin of wine with the first lamb as a drink offering.
- 41 "And offer the second lamb between the dusks; like the offering in the morning, and offer a similar drink offering with it; a sweetmeat to the EVER-LIVING; as continuous offerings from your posterity before the EVER-LIVING at the door of the Hall of Assembly, at the place He indicates to you, where He will speak to you.
- 43 For I will show Myself to the children of Israel, and will sanctify them by My Majesty. Thus I will sanctify the Hall of Assembly and the altar; and I will also sanctify Aaron, and his sons to Myself as Priests, and I will dwell in the midst of the children of Israel, and be their GOD, and they shall know that I am their EVER-LIVING, the GOD Who brought them from the land of the Mitzeraim, and dwell in the midst of them. I am the EVER-LIVING GOD.
- 30 "Make also an altar for incense of acacia wood. It shall be square, a cubit long and a cubit wide, and two cubits high, from the base of it. And you shall plate it with pure gold, its top and its sides all round, and round its top make battlements of gold.
- 4 You shall also make two projections of gold on it, below the battlements. Make also two golden rings below the battlements; you shall form them upon both sides, as sockets for two staves to carry it by. Make the staves of acacia wood, and plate them with gold. And place it before the veils which are over the Ark of the Witnesses; before the veils which are over the Witnesses where I will meet you.
- 7 "And Aaron shall offer incense of spices upon it morning by morning. He shall burn the incense at the lighting of the lamps. When Aaron's sons light the lamps between the dusks, he shall burn the incense perpetually, before the EVER-LIVING, among your descendants. You shall not offer upon it scattered incense, or whole burnt offerings, or gifts; nor shall you pour a drink offering upon it, but Aaron shall expiate once a year upon its horns with blood; he shall expiate upon it with a sin-offering of expiations once in a year, for your descendants. It is the Holy of Holies to the EVER-LIVING."

The Law of the Census.

Afterwards the EVER-LIVING spoke to Moses, saying:—

"When you take a conscription of the children of Israel, to regiment them, then each shall give an expiation for his life to the EVER-LIVING for conscripting them, so that there may be no punishment on them for conscripting. This is the offering for everyone passing to the conscription, half a shekel, by the sacred shekel, twelve gheras to the shekel. You shall offer half a shekel to the EVER-LIVING. Everyone passing to the conscription, from the age of twenty years old and upwards, shall give this offering to the EVER-LIVING. The rich shall not add, and the poor shall not diminish from the half shekel, given as an offering to the EVER-LIVING, as a protection for their lives. And you shall take the protection money from the children of Israel and give it to the workers in the Hall of Assembly, and it shall be as a remembrance for the children of Israel before the EVER-LIVING, to protect their lives."

The Apparatus of the Tabernacle.

Another time the EVER-LIVING spoke to Moses, saying:—

"Make a bath of brass, with a base of brass, for washing, and place it between the Hall of Assembly and the altar, and put water in it, and Aaron and his sons shall bathe themselves in it, both their hands and their feet. Upon coming into the Hall of Assembly they shall wash with water, so that they may not die, when they approach the altar to offer sweet perfumes to the EVER-LIVING. They shall wash their hands and their feet, so that they may not die, and this shall be a perpetual order to him, and to his descendants, in their generations."

Composition of the Oil of Consecration.

22 Again the EVER-LIVING spoke to Moses, saying;

"Now take to you perfumes; of heads of flowering myrrh five hundred, of sweet cinnamon one hundred and twenty-five; and of sweet cane one hundred and twenty-five: of sweet cassia five hundred shekels weighed by the sacred shekel, and a hin of olive oil, and make from them the holy consecrating oil; a compound of compounds. It shall be a perfumed Holy Consecrating oil, to consecrate the Hall of Assembly and the Ark of Witnesses: and the table, and all the instruments of the altar, the lamp and its furniture, and the altar of incense: and the altar of burnt offerings, and all its furniture; and the bath, and its appliances. Consecrate them thus, and they shall be holy.

30 "Consecrate Aaron and his sons, also. Consecrate them to be priests to Me.

31 "Then you shall speak to the children of Israel saying:—

"This is the Holy Oil of Consecration to Me, in all your generations. It shall not be poured upon a man's body; nor shall you make any of similar ingredients. It is Holy of Holies for you to the EVER-LIVING. The man who compounds like it, and whoever puts it upon a foreigner shall be excommunicated from his people."

Compound for Sweet Powder.

34 The EVER-LIVING also said to Moses;—"Take to yourself sweet drops, and scented shell, and sweet galbanum, and pure frankincense of equal weights, and make of them a sweet compound, seasoned with pure holy salt, and pound it very fine. Lay some of it before the witnesses in the Hall of Assembly, where I will meet you. It shall be Holy of Holies for you.

37 "And this perfume that you make by weight they shall not use for themselves. It is sacred to you and the EVER-LIVING. The man who uses it as a personal perfume shall be excommunicated from his people."

Skilled Workmen Appointed.

31 The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses, saying;

2 "See I have called by name Bezalal, the son of Auri, the son of Hor, of the tribe of Judah. I have also filled 3 him with a divinespirit of skill, and understanding, and knowledge, and with constructive ability, and with inventive genius to work in gold, and silver, and brass; and to cut stone for all 5 works, and to cut timber to work for any purpose. I have also given him 6 Ahaliab the son of Ahisamak of the tribe of Dan. And I have endowed him also with intelligence and science, so that they may construct all I have commanded you:—

"The Hall of Assembly and the Ark 7 of Witnesses, and the covers which are upon it, and all the furniture of the Tabernacle, with the table and 8 its appurtenances, and the lamps of purity, and all their appliances, and the altar of incense; and the altar of 9 burnt offerings, and all its furniture; with the bath and its bases; and the 10 robes for service, and the sacred robes of Aaron, the priest, and the robes of his sons to officiate in, besides the oil of 11 consecration and the sweet perfumes, to sanctify all, as I commanded you."

Order to Keep the Sabbath.

Afterwards the EVER-LIVING spoke 12 to Moses saying:—

"Now speak to the children of Israel and say, 'Take care and keep My Sabbaths, for they are a witness between you and Me in your generations, that I am the EVER-LIVING Who sanctifies you. Therefore you shall 14 keep the Rest, for it is sacred to you. Whoever curses it, he shall die; and whoever does work in it, that person shall be excommunicated from the community of his people.

"You may do your business upon 15 six days, but on the seventh is the day of rest; it is a Holy Rest to the EVER-LIVING. All who do business upon the day of Rest, shall die.

"The children of Israel shall keep 16 the Sabbath to make a rest for their posterity, as an everlasting covenant. It is a sign between Me and the 17 children of Israel for ever; for in six ages the EVER-LIVING made the solar system and the earth, but upon the seventh age, He rested and refreshed."

Tables of the Law given to Moses

Then He gave to Moses when He 18 had finished His commands to him upon Mount Sinai, two tablets of stone, with the evidence written by the finger of God.

The Revolt.

The People make an Idol.

- 32 But when the People saw that Moses delayed to descend from the mountain they called upon Aaron, and said to him, "Rouse up, and make us gods who may go before us for as for this fellow, Moses, who brought us up out of the land of the Mitzeraim, we know not what has become of him!"
- 2 Then Aaron replied to them, "Pull off the earrings of gold that are in the ears of your wives, sons, and daughters, and bring them to me."
- 3 All the people pulled off the rings of gold which were in their ears and brought them to Aaron, and he took them from their hands, and modelled for it with a tool, and made a calf by casting, and said;
- "Israel! these are your Gods who brought you up out of the land of the Mitzeraim."
- 5 Then Aaron paid it reverence and built an altar before it. Aaron also proclaimed and said
- "A feast to the POWER to-morrow."
- 6 So they arose early on the morrow and offered sacrifices, and presented thank offerings. Then the People sat down to eat and drink, and got up to play.
- 7 The LORD however said to Moses, "Go! Descend!—For your People whom you led out of Mitzraim have corrupted themselves! They have soon turned from the path which I commanded them! They have made for themselves a cast-metal calf and they are worshipping it! And they sacrifice to it, and say; 'This is your God, Israel! that brought you up from the land of the Mitzeraim.'" And the LORD said to Moses, "I see this People; that it is a people of stiff neck.—So now let Me alone, and My anger will burn against them, and consume them, and I will make from you a great nation."
- 11 But Moses fell upon his face before his EVER-LIVING GOD, and said; "Why, LORD, should Your anger burn against Your people, whom You have brought up out of the land of the Mitzeraim with great power and with a strong arm? Why should the Mitzraimites say; 'He brought them out for evil, to kill them among the mountains, and to exterminate them from the face of the earth?'—Turn away Your anger and forgive Your people. Remember Abraham, and Isaac, and Israel, Your servants, what you swore to them by YOURSELF, and promised them that their race should be as numerous as the stars of heaven; and also of this land which You promised to give to their descendants to inherit for ever." So the EVER-LIVING had compassion upon the sin which His people had done against Him.

The Laws of God Broken.

Then Moses turned and descended from the hill, with the two tables of the Law in his hands;—both tablets written upon both sides with writing. And GOD had made those tablets; and GOD wrote the writing that was engraved upon the tablets.

When Joshua heard the voice of the people at sin, he said to Moses; "There is the sound of war in the camp."

But he replied; "It is not the sound of contention with swords;—nor is it the sound of contention in charging, that I hear the roar of!"

And when they approached the camp, and saw the calf, and the dancing, then the anger of Moses burnt, and he flung the two tablets from his hands, and broke them under the mountain.

¹(He afterwards took the calf which they had made and burnt it in the fire, and ground it until it was like dust, and threw it upon the face of the water, and made the children of Israel drink it.)

Then Moses demanded of Aaron, "What have this People done to you, that you should bring upon them this great sin?"

But Aaron replied, "Let not my Prince's anger burn! You know this people, how bad they are! and they said to me, 'Make Gods for us, who can go before us— for as for this fellow Moses, who brought us up from the land of the Mitzeraim, we know not what has become of him.'

¹ V. 20, in parentheses, does not refer to the immediate act of Moses, but to his subsequent action after suppressing the revolt. The narrative starts again at v. 21. See v. 30, Ch. 11:11. —F. F.

- 24 So I said to them, 'Bring me gold,' and they brought it, and gave me it, and I threw it into the furnace, and this calf was produced!"
- 25 Then Moses saw that the People were in revolt, and had involved 26 Aaron in their insurrection. Therefore Moses stood up at the gate of the camp, and cried; "Who is for my EVER-LIVING GOD?" when all the sons of Levi joined him.
- 27 And he said to them, "Thus says the EVER-LIVING, the GOD of Israel; 'Let every man bind his sword upon his thigh! Go through and return from gate to gate of the camp and kill every man his brother, and every man his neighbour, and every man his friend!'"
- 28 So the sons of Levi did it, as Moses commanded, and there fell of the people in that day three-thousand men.
- 29 Moses afterwards said; "Your hands to-day have worked for the EVER-LIVING; thus each man has gained for himself a blessing through his son, and through his brother."
- 30 Some days afterwards, however, Moses said to the people themselves; "You have sinned a great sin; so now I will offer to the EVER-LIVING a ram as an expiation on account of your sin."
- 31 Therefore Moses turned to the EVER-LIVING and said; "Certainly this People have sinned a great sin, when they made a god of gold for 32 themselves; but yet remove their sin; and if not, strike me out of Your Book which You have written."
- 33 Then the EVER-LIVING answered Moses, "What is their sin to Me? I will strike it from My Book. But 34 now go, lead the People to where I command you, and My Messenger shall go before your face, and in the day of visitation I will visit upon them their sin."
- 35 Thus the EVER-LIVING punished the People for what they had done, regarding the calf that Aaron had made.
- 33 Then the EVER-LIVING said to Moses; "Go from here; you and the people whom you brought up from the land of the Mitzeraim to the land which I promised to Abraham, and to Isaac, and to Jacob, saying, 'To your 2 descendants I will give it.' And I will send My Messenger before your face, and drive out the Cananites, the Amorites, the Hittites, the Perizites, 3 the Hivites, and the Jebusites, from the land flowing with milk and honey.—Yet I shall not bring you straight to it, for you are a stiff-necked people, therefore I shall march you by a journey."

When the people heard this hard 4 command they grieved; and many men would not put on their armour.

Therefore the EVER-LIVING spoke 5 to Moses, "Say to the children of Israel, 'You are a stiff-necked people;—a rebellious one. If I came a single moment into your midst I could destroy you. However, strip off your arms, and I will make known what I will do to you.'"

So the children of Israel quickly 6 stripped off their armour at Mount Horeb.

Moses carries off the Tabernacle at Witness and the Word Appears.

Then Moses seized the tabernacle, 7 and pitched it for himself outside the camp, at a distance from the camp, and named it his Hall of Meeting, so that all who wished to inquire of the EVER-LIVING were obliged to come to him to his Hall of Assembly that was outside the camp. But when Moses 8 had gone away with the tabernacle, all the people rose in insurrection, and every man stood at the door of his tent and looked after Moses as he went off with the tabernacle. And 9 when Moses went with the tabernacle, the cloud tremblingly descended and stood at the door of the tabernacle, and the WORD was with Moses. When 10 all the people saw the trembling cloud standing at the door of his tabernacle, then all the people arose and everyone bowed down towards that tent.

There the EVER-LIVING spoke with 11 Moses face to face, as a man speaks with his friend;—Then he turned towards the camp, and watched it; but Joshua the son of Nun, his attendant, did not depart from the inside of the tabernacle.

And Moses said to the EVER-LIVING; 12 "See, You spoke to me to bring up this people, but yet You have not instructed me as to whom You will send with me. You have, however, said, 'I know you by name, and you have found favour in My eyes.' So now, if 13 I have found favour in Your eyes, teach me Your path, that I may know You, since I have found favour in Your sight, and perceive that Your People are this Nation."

- 14 Then He replied, "Turn! Go, and I will descend to you."
 15 But he answered to Him, "If Your PRESENCE is not with our marches, do not take us from here. And by what can it be possibly known that I have found favour in Your sight, I and Your people? Would it not be by Your marching with us? and distinguishing me and Your People from every nation upon the face of the earth?"

- 17 Then the EVER-LIVING answered Moses; "I will grant also this request which you have made, for you have found favour in My eyes, and I have made MYSELF known to you by a NAME."

- 18 He therefore replied:—"Show me, I pray, Your Majesty."

- 19 And he was answered; "I have passed all My beauty before your face; and I made MYSELF known to you openly by My Name of the EVER-LIVING. I show favour to those I love; and compassion to those I compassionate. — But," He added, "you are not able to see My face, for no man can see Me and live. However," said the EVER-LIVING, "mount up to Me and sit on the rock, and My Majesty shall pass over, and I will place you in a cleft of the rock, and shade you with My hand over you, until I pass over, so that upon removing My hand you may see My back, for you cannot look upon My face."

Command to make New Tablets for the Commandments.

- 34 The EVER-LIVING afterwards said to Moses, "Cut for yourself two tablets of stone, like the former ones, and I will write upon them the Commandments which were upon the first that you broke; and when dawn comes, go up at dawn to the Mount Sinai, and sit with Me upon the top of the hill. But no man shall come up with you; for no man must be seen in all the hill, nor sheep, or beast approach to the hill."

- 4 Moses accordingly cut two tablets of stone like the former, and arose at morning, and ascended Mount Sinai, as the EVER-LIVING commanded him, and took in his hands the two tablets of stone. Then the EVER-LIVING descended in the cloud and sat there with him; and he called on the Name of JEHOVAH, when the EVER-LIVING 6 passed over before his face, and he cried out "EVER-LIVING! LIVING GOD of GENTLENESS and PITY, SLOW to ANGER, but GREAT in MERCY and TRUTH; preserving 7 mercy to thousands; taking away passion, and rebellion; and forgiving sin;—but not ceasing to visit the passions of the fathers upon their children, and upon the children of their children to the third and the fourth generation!"

Then Moses hastily rose and fell to 8 the earth and worshipped, and said: 9 "If now I have found favour in Your sight, ALMIGHTY, come, I pray, ALMIGHTY, near to us, for they are a stiff-necked People, and pardon our passions and sins, and give us our inheritance."

And He replied; "Now I make a 10 covenant with all your People. I will produce wonders such as have not been from creation in all the earth, or in any nation; and every people among whom you are, shall see the work of the EVER-LIVING, for what I will do by you will be splendid. Attend to what I have communicated 11 to you to-day;—Then I will drive before you the Amrites, the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Perizites, the Hivites, and Jebusites.

"Keep yourselves from making 12 treaties with the residents of the land when you come to it, for fear they should be a snare in your midst. Therefore overthrow their altars; and 13 break down their pillars; and cut down their shrines, for you shall not 14 worship another god, for the EVER-LIVING is jealous of HIS NAME; He is a jealous GOD.

"Beware of making alliances with 15 the inhabitants of the land, for fear you whore after their gods, and sacrifice to their gods, and approach to eat at their altars; or take from 16 their daughters for your sons, for their daughters will whore after their gods; and your sons whore after their gods. Nor shall you make a metallic 17 god for yourselves.

Repetition of Social Law.

"You shall keep the feast of un- 18 leavened bread for seven days: You shall eat biscuits as I have commanded you, at the assembly in the harvest month,¹ for in the month of harvest I brought you from among the Mitzeraim.

- 19 "All breaking the womb is Mine: 2nd every male of your possessions, of cattle or sheep bursting it; but an ass bursting it, you shall redeem with a sheep; and if you do not redeem it you shall break its neck.

"All your eldest sons you shall redeem, for you shall not see My presence empty-handed.

- 21 "You shall labour six days, but on the seventh you shall cease from ploughing, and rest in harvest. You shall also make a festival of rest for yourselves at the first fruits of the wheat harvest; and a festival at the completion of the solar circuit of the year.

- 23 "Three times in a year all your men shall appear before the Presence of the LORD, the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel, for I will drive out the heathen before you, and will extend your boundaries, therefore no man of your land shall neglect to go up three times in a year to see the Presence of your EVER-LIVING GOD.
- 25 You shall not shed the blood of My sacrifices away from it; and you shall not leave until the morning the sacrifice of the Passover. You shall also decorate the house of your EVER-LIVING GOD with the first fruits of your fields when you come up.

"You shall not boil a kid in its mother's milk."

- 27 Finally the EVER-LIVING said to Moses;—"Write these commands, for upon the basis of these Commands I have made a covenant with you, and with Israel."

The Time Moses stayed on Sinai.

- 28 And he was there with the EVER-LIVING forty days and forty nights, and ate no bread, nor drank water, but wrote upon the tablets the commands of the Covenant;

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS.

The Splendour of the Face of Moses.

- 29 Then Moses descended from Mount Sinai with the Tables of the Testimony in the hands of Moses. On his descent, however, from the hill, Moses did not know that blinding rays of light¹ from his face, prevented their speaking to him!

But Aaron, and all the children of 30 Israel saw those rays of light from his face, and they were afraid to approach him.

Moses, however, called to them, 31 when Aaron turned to him, with all the leaders of the Assembly, and Moses addressed them; and after 32 that all the children of Israel approached, and he communicated all that the EVER-LIVING had commanded him in Mount Sinai.

But that Moses might speak to 33 them, he put a veil over his face. But when Moses went to speak with 34 the EVER-LIVING he removed the veil from his face, until he returned, and came and related to them what he had been commanded. So the 35 children of Israel feared in the presence of Moses, for rays of splendour preceded Moses, therefore Moses placed the veil over his face when he went to speak with them.

Moses addresses the Parliament of Israel.

Then Moses assembled all the 35 parliament of the children of Israel, and said to them;

"These are the Commandments which the EVER-LIVING has commanded you to practise:—

"You shall do your work for six 2 days, but the Seventh Day shall be a Holy Rest for you. You shall rest to the EVER-LIVING. Every one doing business on it shall die. No 3 man shall labour in all your habitations upon the Day of Rest."

Moses continued to speak to all 4 the parliament of the children of Israel, saying:—

"This is also a commandment 5 which the EVER-LIVING commanded, saying:—'Let everyone of willing heart bring an offering from themselves to the EVER-LIVING!'"

Gifts to God from the People.

All of free heart consequently brought an offering from themselves to the EVER-LIVING of gold, silver, and brass; and azure and purple, 6 and blue, red, and spun linen; and 7 ram skins, dyed red, and badger skins, and acacia wood; and oil for 8 the lamps, and perfumes for the Oil of Consecration, and incense for the veils, and onyx stones, and stones for the settings of the ephod, and breastplate. Whilst those of skill among them came and made all that the EVER-LIVING commanded. The enclosures of the tent, and its veils; the hooks, and the planks, the cross-bars, the standards and the bases; the ark and the staves for it; the covers, and the covering veil; the table, and its staves, and all its appurtenances; and the Shewbread; and the reflectors for the lamps, and the appurtenances for them; and the burners, and the oil for the lights; and the incense altar, and its staves; and the Oil of Consecration, and the perfumes for the aromatics; and the veil for the door, at the opening of the sanctuary. The altar of burnt offering, and its base of brass; the staves and the whole of the instruments; the bath and its bases. The curtains for the court and its standards, and their bases, and the skreen for the gate of the court. The stakes for the sanctuary, and the stakes for the court, and the rest.

¹ Abib.

¹ Literally "Horns of Light."—F. F.

The robes for the service, when serving in the Holy-place; the sacred robes for Aaron the priest, and the robes for his sons, the priests.

Then the whole of the chiefs of the children of Israel came before Moses, and brought whatever their heart suggested, and all that their spirit dictated to them, they brought as an offering to the EVER-LIVING, to supply the Hall of Assembly, and its appurtenances, and for the sacred robes. Thus men and women came—all who were of liberal heart,—and brought ear and nose rings, and brooches, and beads and all things made of gold, and everything which was adorned with gold to the EVER-LIVING. Every man, also, who possessed azure, and purple, and blue-red, and spun linen, and red goat skins, and badger skins brought them. Many nobles brought gifts of silver and brass, as presents to the EVER-LIVING, or of anything they possessed. Some brought acacia wood for the works. And the skillful women brought yarn in their hands, azure yarn, and purple, and blue-red, and linen. All the men also who were skillful in spinning, invited by their hearts, gave goat-hair yarn.

Other men brought precious stones to set the ephod and the breastplate; and perfumes, and oil for the lights, and for the Consecration Oil, and perfumes for the incense. Every man and woman with a liberal heart brought all the things that the EVER-LIVING commanded, by the hand of Moses, to be made as gifts to the EVER-LIVING.

Appointment of Architects and Mechanics for the Sanctuary.

Then Moses said to the children of 30 Israel,

"The EVER-LIVING has called Bezalal, the son of Auri, the son of Hor of the tribe of Judah, and has filled him with genius, skill, intelligence and knowledge, and a mechanical mind, and inventive faculties for working in gold, and silver, and brass; and to cut stones for jewellery; and to shape timber for use, and for all engineering work. He has also given as a fitting assistant to him, Ahaliab the son of Ahlismak, of the tribe of Dan, filling them with intelligence to work in every kind of contrivance, in jewellery, and embroidery, in azure, and purple; in blue, and red, and flax; and to weave all materials, and to make patterns."

Bezalal and Ahaliab consequently worked, with all the skillful men to whom the EVER-LIVING had given intelligence and understanding, to assist them in their operations, for the production of all the furniture for the sanctuary, which the EVER-LIVING had commanded. Thus Moses appointed Bezalal and Ahaliab, and all the skillful men to whom the EVER-LIVING had given an intelligent mind, with everyone whose mind invited them to go to the work to effect it; and they received in the presence of Moses all the offerings that the children of Israel had brought to make the appliances for the services of the sanctuary. They fetched their part from the treasury morning by morning, and every skilled worker brought back the articles for the sanctuary which he had made from his workshop; until they reported to Moses, saying, "The material which the people have brought is more than the requirements for the furniture that the EVER-LIVING commanded to be made from it."

Moses, therefore, ordered to make 6

a proclamation in the camp to inform every man and woman not to bring further material to offer for the sanctuary. So the people ceased to bring it, for the material was sufficient for all the appliances that had to be made, and in excess.

8 So the workmen made the furniture for the tent; Ten curtains of spun linen, and azure, and purple, and blue-red, with pictures of Kerubim formed in damask. The length of the curtains was eighteen cubits each, and the width four cubits, each curtain;—the same to each curtain; and the end of one curtain was joined to the other, and the next curtain's edge was joined to the following; for they made loops upon the selvage of each of the curtains at the end of the edges. Thus they made the curtains with attachments to join the two. They made fifty loops on each curtain; and fifty loop attachments were made upon the second curtain which joined it to the next, opposite to the loops, one for one. They also made fifty hooks of gold to join the curtains one to the other, so as to form one tent.

14 They also made curtains of goat-skins for the canopy over the tent, which were divided into twenty curtains. The length of each curtain was thirty cubits, and four cubits broad for each curtain; all the twenty curtains were made equal; and they joined five of the curtains together, and six of the curtains together; and made fifty loops on the lip of a curtain, at its edge to fasten with, and made fifty loops upon the lip of the second curtain for fastenings. They also made hooks of brass to join the canopy to form it into one piece.

19 Then they made the Hall of Assembly of red ram-skins, with a verandah of badger skins over all of it.

20 They also made the planks for the tabernacle of acacia wood planed.

21 The length of a plank was ten cubits, and a cubit and a half broad, for each plank. There were two hands to each plank at the joinings on one side and the other. They made the same to all the planks of the tabernacle. Twenty planks were made for the tabernacle on the side towards the south. And forty bases of silver were formed under the twenty planks;—two bases under a plank with two hands on them.

And for the opposite side towards the north, they made twenty planks, with forty bases of silver, two bases for each plank. But the width of the tabernacle to the west was six planks; and two planks made the corners of the tabernacle at the corners. And there were clutches fitting together and uniting them. Thus both were fastened at their edges. Thus there were eight planks, and sixteen silver bases, two bases, and two bases, under each plank. He also made bars of acacia wood, five bars for the planks at the first side of the tabernacle; and five bars to the planks at the other side of the tabernacle, and five bars to the planks of the tabernacle at its length towards the west; and bars were made for the uprights placed between the sets of planks from end to end. The planks, however, were plated with gold, and their buttons were made of gold with lock-holes to each one, and the bars were plated with gold.

The veils also were made of azure, and purple, and blue-red, and spun linen, with damasked Kerubims worked on them. They also made four posts of acacia, and plated them with gold, with pins of gold, and cast for them four bases of silver. They also made a skreen for the door of the sanctuary of azure, and purple, and blue-red, and spun linen, worked as embroidery. And the five pillars and the pias, with the chapters on their heads, and the rods were of gold, but the five bars were of brass.

Bezalel himself made the ark of acacia wood. Its length two and a half cubits, and its breadth a cubit and a half, and a cubit and a half its height; and he plated with pure gold within and without, and made it a wreath of gold around; and cast four knobs of gold for its four feet; two knobs at the one side, and two knobs at the other side. He also made staves of acacia wood and plated them with gold, so that they could put the staves into the ears upon the sides of the ark to carry the ark by.

He also made covers of pure gold, two cubits and a half in length and a cubit and a half in width. Besides he made two Kerubim of gold. They were made standing at the two ends of the covers; one kerub at this end, and the other at that. But the kerubim were extending their wings like a protection from above with their wings over the covers, with the face of each towards the other over covers:—the kerubim faced each other.

10 He also made the table of acacia wood, two cubits in length and a cubit and a half in breadth, and a cubit and a half in height, and plated it over with pure gold, and made a 11 coronal round about it of gold. He also made a ridge of a handbreadth around it, with rays of gold upon the 12 ridge all round; and cast four tabs of gold, and fixed the tabs upon the four 13 sides where its feet were. The tabs were fixed near the ridge for the 14 staves to carry the table with. He made the staves, to carry the table, of acacia wood and plated them with 15 gold; as well as the instruments that were upon the table,—the dishes and the plates which covered them,—of pure 16 gold.

17 He also made the lamp of turned work of pure gold; its shank, upright stalk, its branches, its cups, and 18 blossoms were made of it. And there were six branches going from the sides;—three branches from one 19 side, and three branches from the other side. There were three almond cones and flowers upon one branch, a cup and a blossom;—and three 20 almond cones and flowers on an alternate branch, a cup and a blossom; thus six branches rose up for the 21 lamps. And upon the lamp four cones like almonds, a cup, and a blossom. But there was a ball between two of the branches mutually; and a ball between two of the 22 branches mutually; and a ball between two of the branches mutually; for the six branches that rose up from them. There were balls and 23 appliances were of pure gold. He also made seven reflectors, and holders, and snuffers of pure gold; 24 a talent weight of pure gold made these, and all the instruments.

25 Afterwards he made the Altar of Incense of acacia wood. Its length was a cubit, and its breadth a cubit, square, and its height two cubits, with its horns; and he covered the 26 top of it with pure gold, and around its sides, and its horns, and made a coronal of gold around it. He also 27 made two tabs of gold for it, between the coronal, upon the two sides, upon its opposite sides, to insert the two 28 staves to carry it by. He made the staves also of acacia wood, and plated them with gold. He also 29 made the Holy Consecration Oil, and the incense of pure spices for perfume.

Then he made of acacia wood the 30 Altar of Burnt Offerings. Its length was five cubits, and its breadth five cubits, square; and its height three cubits. He also made horns upon 2 its four faces; its horns were all alike and he plated them with brass. Besides he made all the instruments 3 for the altar; the cauldrons, and the brushes, and the sprinklers, and the rakes, and the shovels, he made of brass. He also made for the altar 4 a netted sieve of brass under its fire-place, with projections at its edges; and he cast four tabs of brass for the 5 borders of the sieve—as receptacles for staves, which he made of acacia 6 wood, and covered them with brass, and placed the staves in the tabs at 7 the sides of the altar, to carry it by;—he made them to fit into valves.

He also made the bath and its 8 pedestals of brass, with the mirrors for the use of whoever served before the Hall of Assembly.

He also made the court at the side 9 towards the south. The curtains for the court were a hundred cubits of spun linen. The pillars twenty, and 10 the bases twenty. The spikes of the pillars and the pins were of brass, but the rods of silver. And on the 11 north face it was a hundred cubits, with twenty pillars and twenty bases. The spikes of the pillars were brass, but the rods of silver. But on the 12 west face, the curtains were fifty cubits, ten pillars and the bases, with spikes for the pillars, but the rods were of silver. And upon the eastern 13 face, the sun rise, fifty cubits: fifteen 14 cubits of curtains to the gate-posts, six pillars and six bases, but from 15 the other gate-post, on this side and that, to the gate of the court, curtains for fifteen cubits; six pillars and six

- 16 bases. All the curtains around the 17 court were of spun linen, and the bases of the pillars were of brass, but the spikes of the pillars and the rods were of silver, and the capitals of the pillars of silver; with rods of silver for all the pillars of the court.
- 18 The skreen for the gate of the court, however, was made of embroidery of azure, and purple, and blue-red, and spun linen; and its length was twenty cubits, and in height at the fold-back five cubits, to the juncture with the curtains of the 19 court; with four pillars and four bases of brass; but the pins of silver, and the capitals of the heads of the 20 pillars of silver, with all the other things for the tent and the court around of brass.

The Officials of the Tabernacle.

- 21 These were the officers of the tent,
 —the Hall of Assembly—which were appointed by the mouth of Moses, for the service of the Levites, under Aithamar, the son of Aaron the priest, 22 with Bezal the son of Auri, the son of Hor of the tribe of Judah to make everything that the EVER-LIVING had 23 commanded by Moses; and with them Ahaliab the son of Ahhismak of the tribe of Dan, to engrave, and damask, and embroider, in azure, and purple, and blue, and red; and in spinning.

Amount of Gold and other Metals used in the Tabernacle.

- 24 The whole of the gold that was used in the furniture of the sanctuary was twenty-nine talents, and nine hundred and thirty shekels, by the 25 sacred weight. And of silver from the chiefs of the congregation one hundred talents and one thousand seven hundred and fifty-seven shekels by the sacred weight.
- 26 The half shekel poll-tax by the sacred weight, from those who were passed into the regiments, from twenty years of age and over that, was six hundred and thirty thousand, five 27 hundred and fifty. And there were used one hundred talents of silver in casting the bases of the sanctuary;
 and the bases of the doors;—a hundred bases from a hundred talents:— 28 a talent to a base. They also used a thousand, seven hundred, and seventy-five for the spikes to the pillars, and the capitals on their heads, and the rods for them.

Besides, the brass offered was 29 seventy thousand talents, and four hundred shekels, which were used 30 for the bases of the doors of the Hall of Assembly and the brass of the door-posts, and the Brazen Altar, and the lattice work of brass for it, and the whole of the instruments of the altar, with the bases of the court 31 around, and the bases of the gates of the court, and all the rest of the tent, and the remainder of the court around.

And of the azure, and purple, and 39
 blue-red, they made the service robes, to serve in the sanctuary, as well as the holy robes for Aaron, as the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses.

They also made the ephod of gold, 2 azure, purple, and blue-red, and spun linen. And there were strips of 3 gold and wire twisted in the working among the azure, and among the purple, and among the blue-red, and among the linen threads that made the damasking. They made shoulder 4 pieces that joined upon the two halves by a seam. They also made 5 the breast-plate of the ephod, to be worn over it, of gold, azure, and purple, and blue-red, and spun linen, as the EVER-LIVING commanded Moses.

Besides they made two onyx stones 6 surrounded with gold settings, engraved like the engraving of a seal with the names of the sons of Israel; and placed them upon the shoulders 7 of the ephod as memorial stones for the sons of Israel,—as the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses.

They also made the breast-plate of 8 damasked work, as they made the ephod, of gold, and azure, and purple, and blue-red, and spun linen. The 9 breastplate was made a square doubled,—a span long and a span broad, doubled; and it was filled 10 with four rows of stones:

The first row was;

A ruby, a topaz and a diamond.

The second row was: 11

An emerald, a sapphire and an opal.

The third row was: 12

A figure, an agate and an amethyst;

And the fourth row was: 13

A tarshish, an onyx, and a jasper.

Surrounded by settings of gold to 14 fix them, thus there were twelve stones with the names of the sons of Israel; with the names engraven like a seal; each with one name of the twelve tribes.

15 They also made for the breastplate chain borderings of plaited work of 16 pure gold. Beside which they made two gold fastenings, and two buttons of gold, and fixed the two buttons upon the two sides of the breastplate, 17 and placed the two chains of gold upon the two buttons at the sides of the 18 breastplate, and the two ends of the two chains they fixed upon the two buttons, and fastened them upon the two shoulders over the front of them.

19 They also made two gold buttons and placed them upon the two edges of the breastplate, upon the lips which 20 went over the ephod inwards. Besides they made two buttons of gold and fixed them upon the two shoulders of the ephod before and behind to unite together at the top of the ephod 21 with the breastplate; and they laced the breastplate, from button to button to the ephod with laces of azure, to secure the breastplate to the ephod, so that the breastplate might not fall off from the ephod;—as the EVER-LIVING had commanded to Moses.

22 They also made a mantle for the 23 ephod, of azure woven velvet; and the mouth of the mantle was in the middle of it, like a coat of mail, with a binding around it so that it might 24 not tear. And they made on the hem of the mantle pomegranates of azure, and purple, and blue-red, with em-25 broidery; and also made bells of pure gold, and fixed the bells between the pomegranates, upon the hem around the mantle between the pome-26 granates; a bell and a pomegranate upon the hem around the mantle;—as the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses.

27 They also made vests of woven linen work for Aaron and his sons, 28 and turbans of linen, and mitres of linen, and white drawers of spun 29 linen; with girdles of spun linen, and azure, and blue-red, as the EVER-LIVING commanded Moses.

30 They also made the flower of the Holy Crown of pure gold, and engraved upon it, with the engraving of a seal, "Holiness to the EVER-LIVING," 31 and fixed a cord of azure upon it to fasten it upon the top, as the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses.

Thus were completed all the 32 appliances for the Hall of Assembly.
 They were made in the manner that the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses.

Therefore they brought the tent to 33 Moses;—the sanctuary and all its furniture, its hooks, its planks, its 34 bars, its pillars and bases; and the awning of red ram skins, and the awning of badger skins, and curtains for the skreen; with the Ark of 35 Witnesses, and its staves, and its covers; and the table, and all its 36 furniture; and the Shewbread,¹ with the Lamp of Splendour, and its re- 37 flectors, and its series of lamps, and the whole of its appliances; and the oil for the lamps; with the altar of 38 gold, and the Oil of Consecration, and the sweet incense; and the skreen
 of the veil of the pavilion. The 39 brazen altar; and the brass grating for it; its staves, and all its instruments; the bath and its buckets; 40 the curtains of the court, its pillars and their bases; and the skreen for the gate of the court; its ropes and pegs, and the rest of the appliances for the uses of the tent of the Hall of Assembly.
 The ornamented robes for service in 41 the sanctuary; the sacred robes for Aaron, the priest, and the robes for his sons, the priests; according to 42 all that the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses, the children of Israel made the whole for the service.

Then Moses inspected all the 43 work, to see if they had made all of it according to the command of the EVER-LIVING. They had done so, and Moses blessed them.

Command to Erect the Tent.

Then the EVER-LIVING spoke to 40
 Moses, saying;—

"To-morrow is the first month. 2 Upon the first of the month you shall set up the tent of the Hall of Assembly, and place there the Ark of Witnesses, 3 and cover the ark with the veil.
 Then you shall bring the table, and 4 arrange its appliances, and bring the Golden Lamp, and set up its re-flectors; and place the golden altar 5 of incense before the Ark of the Witnesses, and fix the skreen of the doors to the tabernacle. Then 6

¹ Bread of the Presence.—F. F.

place the altar of burnt-offering opposite the door of the Hall of Assembly, 7 and set the bath between the Hall of Assembly and the altar, and put water 8 in it. Afterwards fix up the court around, and put the skreen to the 9 gate of the court ; and then take the Oil of Consecration and consecrate the tent, and everything in it, and sanctify it, and the whole of its furniture ; when it shall be sacred.

" The altar shall be Holy of Holies.

11 " Next consecrate the bath and its 12 buckets, and sanctify it. Then present Aaron and his sons at the door of the Hall of Assembly, and wash 13 them with water, and clothe Aaron in the sacred robe, and consecrate him. Thus you shall make him holy, and 14 he shall be a priest to ME. Afterwards present his sons and clothe 15 them with vests, and consecrate them, as you consecrated their father, and they shall be priests to ME ; and the consecration shall be an appointment of them as priests for ever in their descendants."

16 Moses consequently did all that the EVER-LIVING commanded him. He effected it.

17 Thus it was in the first month, in the second year, on the first of the 18 month, they erected the tent. And Moses set up the tent, and fixed its bases, and placed its planks, and fixed its curtains, and erected its pillars, 19 and spread the canopy over the Tabernacle, and put the awning of the Tabernacle over its roof ; as the EVER-LIVING commanded him.

20 Then he took and put the witnesses into the ark, and placed the staves to the ark, and put the covers upon the 21 top of the ark, and brought the ark to the tent, and hung the veil of the skreen, and veiled off the witnesses ; as the EVER-LIVING commanded 22 Moses.

22 Then he placed the table in the Hall of Assembly, at the north side 23 of the Tabernacle outside of the veil, and arranged upon it the prepared bread before the EVER-LIVING ;—as the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses.

Next he placed the lamp in the 24 Hall of Assembly, upon the table opposite at the south side of the Tabernacle, and raised the lights 25 before the EVER-LIVING ; as the EVER-LIVING commanded Moses.

Then he placed the golden altar in 26 the Hall of Assembly before the veil, and offered sweet incense upon it ;— 27 as the EVER-LIVING commanded Moses.

Then he put the skreen to the 28 door of the Tabernacle, and set the altar of burnt-offering at the door of the tent of the Hall of Assembly, and offered upon it the burnt offering, and the gift ;—as the EVER-LIVING 29 commanded Moses.

Then he placed the bath between 30 the Hall of Assembly and the altar, and put water in it to wash with, and 31 Moses washed himself his feet and hands there, with Aaron and his sons, before going into the Hall of 32 Assembly, and approaching the altar, they washed themselves ;—as the EVER-LIVING commanded Moses.

They also erected the court around 33 the Tabernacle, and the altar and fixed the skreen at the gate of the court.

Then Moses ceased from his labours.

Then the cloud covered the Hall of 34 Assembly, and the splendour of the EVER-LIVING filled the tabernacle, and Moses was not able to go into the 35 Hall of Assembly for the cloud rested upon it, and the splendour of the EVER-LIVING filled the tent. After- 36 wards when the cloud arose from off the Tabernacle, the children of Israel marched in all their marches ; and if 37 the cloud did not arise, then they did not march until the day when it arose ;—for the cloud of the EVER- 38 LIVING was upon the Tabernacle by day, and there was a fire by night. It was in the sight of the house of Israel in all their marches.

THE THIRD BOOK OF MOSES, COMMONLY CALLED LEVITICUS.

(VA IKRA AL MOSHEH=AND HE CALLED TO MOSES.)

The Ritual of Sacrifices.

1 THEN the EVER-LIVING called to Moses and spoke to him from the Hall of the Assembly, saying:—

Ritual of Burnt Offerings.

2 "Speak to the children of Israel and say to them; A man of you who would offer an offering to the EVER-LIVING, can offer it from the herd, or from the fold, or from the flock.
3 "If they offer a burnt offering from the fold, it shall be a perfect male. It shall be offered at the door of the Tent of Assembly, as a pleasure to 4 him before the EVER-LIVING. Then he shall lay his hand upon the head of the sacrifice and present it before the EVER-LIVING to expiate for 5 himself; and he must slay the son of the fold before the EVER-LIVING.
Then the sons of Aaron the priest shall approach the blood, and sprinkle some of the blood around over the 6 altar, that is at the door of the Hall of Assembly. Afterwards he shall 7 skin the sacrifice and divide it into parts. Then the sons of Aaron the 8 priest shall lay the parts of the head and fat in order upon the wood and 9 put fire upon the altar, and arrange wood upon the fire that is on the 10 altar, after washing the inwards and the feet in water, and the priest shall burn the whole of them on the 11 altar as a sweet delightful perfume to the EVER-LIVING. But if he offers from the sheep or from the lambs, or from the goats, he shall offer as a burnt 12 offering a perfect male; and slay it at the north side of the altar before the EVER-LIVING, and the sons of Aaron the priest shall sprinkle some of its 13 blood around the altar. Then he shall divide it into parts; and the priest shall arrange its head and its fat upon the wood that is upon the 14 fire that is on the altar. Then he shall wash its inwards and legs in water, and the priest shall offer the whole of them with incense upon the altar of burnt offering, as a sweet breath delightful to the EVER-LIVING.

"But if he sacrifices a gift from 14 the birds to the EVER-LIVING let him offer his gift from the turtle doves or the young of pigeons; and the priest 15 shall take it to the altar and wring off its head, and perfume the altar, and present its blood at the side of the 16 altar, and pull out its crop and feathers; and throw them to the eastern side of the altar into the receptacle for the fat. Then the 17 priest shall cleave it,—not separate—and perfume the altar for it, offering it upon the wood which is on the fire;
—it is sweet smell delightful to the EVER-LIVING.

"And the soul that gives a present 2 to the EVER-LIVING, let it be of fine flour, and pour oil upon it, and put frankincense on it, and bring it to the 2 sons of Aaron, the priest; and the priest shall grasp a handful from the fine flour and the oil, with all the frankincense, and shall burn as a remembrance on the altar;—a sweet perfume delightful to the EVER-LIVING. But the rest of the offering 3 shall be for Aaron and his sons, holy of holies from the fire of the EVER-LIVING.

"But if he would offer a present 4 baked in the oven, let it be of fine ground flour, biscuits mixed with oil, or wafer biscuits buttered with oil.

"If, however, your gift is a present 5 of baked bread, it shall be of fine flour with oil, unfermented and broken 6 in pieces with oil poured upon it. It is a present.

"But if you give a boiled present,
7 let it be made of fine flour with oil.
And you shall bring the present that 8 you have made from it to the EVER-LIVING, and approach to the priest, and he shall carry it to the altar.
Then the priest shall lift up the 9

present as a remembrance, and perfume the altar; a sweet smell delightful to the EVER-LIVING. But the rest of the present shall be for Aaron and his sons;—holy of holies from the fire of the EVER-LIVING.

11 "Any present which they offer to the EVER-LIVING shall not be made with ferment, for not any ferment or any honey shall be burnt with it as a delight to the EVER-LIVING. You shall bring them as an offering of the best kinds to the EVER-LIVING; they shall not be burnt upon the altar as a breath of delight. Every offering presented by you shall be salted with salt; and you shall not withhold the salt of the Covenant of your God from your presents; upon every offering you shall offer salt.

14 "And if you offer a present from your crops to the EVER-LIVING, it shall be ears of wheat or oats,¹ from the field, as a present from your crops. You shall also put upon it oil, and add along with it frankincense. It is a present; therefore the priest shall burn the remembrance from the corn and from the oil, with all the frankincense as a perfume to the EVER-LIVING.

3 "But if anyone offers a thank-offering, let it be offered from the herd;—only a perfect spotless male may be offered to the EVER-LIVING; and he shall lay his hand upon the head of his offering, and slay it at the door of the Hall of Assembly, and the sons of Aaron, the priest, shall sprinkle some of the blood around upon the altar. He shall offer on the altar the thank-offering as a delight to the EVER-LIVING;—the fat of the caul, the chest, and the whole of the fat that is upon the chest; with the two kidneys, and the fat that is upon them; and on the viscera; but the rest on the liver, and upon the kidneys he shall put aside; for the sons of Aaron shall offer them upon the altar of burnt-offering, with wood and fire, as a sweet breath to the EVER-LIVING.

6 "But if he offers a sacrifice from the flock as a thank-offering, let him offer a perfect male or female. If he offers a lamb as his gift, then he shall bring it before the EVER-LIVING, and lay his hand upon the head of the gift, and slay it before the Hall of Assembly, and the sons of Aaron shall sprinkle some of its blood around the altar, and shall carry to 9 the altar—from the thank-offering made by fire to the EVER-LIVING,—the entire fat of the rump cut near the backbone, and the fat of the caul, and of the chest, and all the fat that is upon the chest, and the two¹⁰ kidneys and the fat which is upon them, with that upon the bowels, and the remainder that covers the kidneys he shall put aside; and the priest¹¹ shall offer them upon the altar as a sweet scent to the EVER-LIVING.

"But if he offers a gift of a goat¹² before the EVER-LIVING he shall lay¹³ his hand upon its head, and slay it before the Hall of Assembly; and the sons of Aaron shall sprinkle some of its blood around the altar, and offer¹⁴ of the gift as a sweet scent to the EVER-LIVING, the fat of the caul, and the chest, and the whole of the fat that is upon the chest, and the two¹⁵ kidneys, and the fat that is on them, with that upon the bowels, but the remainder, covering over the kidneys, he shall put aside. Thus the priest shall¹⁶ burn them on the altar, consuming as a sweet breath, delightful to the EVER-LIVING, all the fat.

"It is an Institution for ever, for your descendants, in all your dwelling-places, that you shall not eat any fat or any blood."

The Law of Involuntary Sins.

Then the EVER-LIVING spoke to 4 Moses saying;

Sins of a Priest.

"Speak to the children of Israel, to 2 command;—

"The soul that sins by ignorance in any of the commands of the EVER-LIVING, through not having done, or doing it unconsciously;—If a con- 3 secrated priest shall sin to the injury of the People;—then he shall offer for the sin which he has sinned a perfect bullock from the fold, to the EVER-LIVING for his sin. And he 4 shall bring the ox to the door of the Hall of Assembly before the EVER-LIVING, and lay his hand upon the head of the ox, and slay the ox before the EVER-LIVING. Then the con- 5 secrated priest shall take some of the blood of the ox and carry it into the Hall of Assembly, where the priest 6 shall dip his fore-finger into the blood

¹ Heb.: "Fire-corn." For oats are roasted previous to being ground, to remove the shells or husks.—F. F.

seven times before the EVER-LIVING opposite the door of the sanctuary, and the priest shall put some of the blood upon the horns of the altar of perfumed incense which is before the EVER-LIVING in the Hall of Assembly, and the rest of the blood of the ox shall be poured at the side of the altar which is at the door of the Hall of Assembly. Then he shall remove the whole of the fat of the ox of the sin-offering from it;—the fat of the caul, with the chest and all the fat upon the chest; and the two kidneys, and the fat which is upon them, with the fat of the bowels, and the remainder covering the kidneys he shall put aside; exactly as it is taken from the ox sacrificed as a peace-offering. Then the priest shall burn it upon the altar of burnt offering. But all the skin of the ox, and the whole of the flesh, with its head and chest, and dung, he shall also cause to be brought, the whole of the ox, to the outside of the camp, to a clean place, to burn the fat upon wood with fire. It shall be burnt where the ashes are poured out.

Sins of Members of the Parliament.

But if any of the Chiefs of Israel goes and secretly commits out of the sight of the public, a breach of one of the commandments of the EVER-LIVING,—which they should not do,—and he sins; then he shall confess the sin that he has sinned; and shall offer Publicly an ox from the fold for his sin, and bring it to the front of the Hall of Assembly, where the elders of the Parliament shall lay their hands upon the head of the ox before the EVER-LIVING, and slay the ox before the LORD. Then the consecrated priest shall bring some of the blood of the ox to the Hall of Assembly, where the priest shall dip his forefinger into some of the blood, and sprinkle it seven times before the EVER-LIVING at the front of the veil. But he shall put some of the blood upon the horns of the altar, that is before the EVER-LIVING in the Hall of Assembly; and all the rest of the blood he shall pour out at the side of the altar of burnt-offerings, at the door of the Hall of Assembly. He shall then remove the whole of the fat from it, and offer it on the altar; and do with the ox as he does with the ox for a sin-offering, he shall do the same. Thus the priest shall expiate for him, and forgive him.

Next, he shall cause the ox to be brought outside of the camp and burn it, as he burnt the former ox. It is a Public offering.

Sins of Ordinary Men.

When a Noble sins, and breaks one of all the commandments of his EVER-LIVING GOD,—which he ought not to do—by ignorance, and has sinned; or if he is informed of his sin that he has sinned, then he shall offer as a gift a perfect ram of the goats, and lay his hand upon the head of the ram, and slay it in the place where the burnt-offerings are slain before the EVER-LIVING. It is a sin-offering. Then the priest shall take some of the blood upon the tip of his forefinger and put it upon the horns of the altar of burnt-offerings, and pour the rest of the blood at the side of the altar of burnt-offerings, and offer all the fat on the altar, like the fat of the thank-offering, and expiate for him for his sin; when it shall be forgiven to him.

Sins of the Working Classes.

But if any of the people of the land break a commandment of the EVER-LIVING,—which ought not to be done,—and transgresses; or he is informed that he has sinned some sin, he shall then bring a perfect she goat as an offering for the sin he has sinned, and lay his hand upon the head of the sin-offering, and slay the sin-offering in the place of burnt-offerings. Then the priest shall take some of the blood upon his forefinger and put on the horns of the altar of burnt-offerings, and pour out the rest of the blood at the side of the altar; and remove the whole of the fat, as he removed the fat from off the thank-offering. Then the priest shall offer it upon the altar, as a breath delightful to the EVER-LIVING, and the priest shall expiate for him, and he shall be forgiven.

The Law of Absolute Wilful Sins.

But if a person brings his gift for a sin, let him bring for it a perfect female, and lay his hand upon the head of his sin-offering, and slay it in the place where the burnt-offerings are slain. Then the priest shall take some of the blood of the sin-offering on his forefinger and put it on the horns of the altar of burnt-offerings, but pour out all the rest of the blood at the side of the altar, and remove all the fat, as he removed the fat of the lamb offered for thanks, and the priest shall consume it upon the altar as a perfume to the EVER-LIVING, and the priest shall expiate for him for his sin that he sinned, and it shall be forgiven to him.

The Law of Expiation for Perjury.

5 "When a person who is a witness sins when he has taken the declaration of an oath, about an event he saw, or knew, if he does not relate it, he shall bear his crime. Or a person who has touched anything unclean, or a corpse that is unclean; or carcase of an unclean beast; or an unclean reptile; and it was unknown to him; or he is unclean and guilty; or if he touches uncleanness of blood, or any uncleanness that may defile him, and he did not know it, yet he is guilty; or a person listening to a libel injurious to his neighbour, or who delights in anything which injures the man by being reported, and hides it, when he knew it,—then he is guilty by it; and as he has offended in this, he shall make confession that he has sinned over it, and shall bring to the EVER-LIVING for his fault that he has sinned, a female lamb from the sheep, or a female goat for a sin-offering, and the priest shall expiate for his sin. But if he did not personally participate with the fault, then he shall bring for the fault that he has sinned two turtle-doves, or two young pigeons, to the EVER-LIVING;—one for a sin-offering, and one for a burnt-offering. Let him bring them to the priest, and offer that which is for the sin-offering first, and wring off its head from its neck, but not separate it, and sprinkle some of the blood of the sin-offering at the side of the altar, and throw the rest of the blood to the side of the altar for sin-offerings. But make of the second a burnt-offering for judgment, and the priest shall expiate for him for the sin he has committed; and it shall be forgiven to him.

11 "But if he does not possess the two turtle-doves or two young pigeons, then let him bring, as his gift for the sin he has sinned, the tenth of an epha of fine flour. He shall not pour upon it oil, nor put frankincense with it, for it is a sin-offering, but bring it to the priest, and the priest shall grasp a handful of it for a remembrance, and burn it on the altar, for a perfume to the EVER-LIVING. It is a sin-offering. Then the priest shall expiate for him over the sin which he has sinned, and it shall be forgiven to him. But the gift shall belong to the Priest."

The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses saying:—

The Law about Intentional Sins.

"A person who perversely sins in what is holy to the EVER-LIVING, shall bring for his guilt to the LORD a perfect ram of the sheep, of the value of two shekels by the sacred shekel, for his fault, and that in which he has sinned, in what is holy, he shall restore fivefold as much for it, and give it to the priest, and the priest shall expiate with the ram for his fault; and it shall be forgiven to him.

Involuntary Wrong-doing.

"But if a person has sinned and broken one of the commandments of the EVER-LIVING,—which should not be done,—and did not know it, yet he is faulty, and shall bear his fault and bring a perfect ram of the sheep on account of his fault to the priest, and the priest shall expiate for him over his error which he has erred, when he knew it not;—and it shall be forgiven to him. It is a fault offering for error to the EVER-LIVING."

The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses saying:—

Law of Perverse Criminality.

"A person who sins, with wilfulness against the EVER-LIVING by deceiving his neighbour in a contract, or in a confidential trust; or robs; or betrays his neighbour; or retains a find, and lies about it; and swears with falsehood about anything which may injure the man, sins by it. But if it be that he has sinned and done wrong; but returns the theft that he has stolen; or the deception that he

- has sinned in; or the trust that was entrusted to him; or the straying that he has found; or in anything where he has sworn about it to deceive, and rectifies it; on the head of it he shall add fivefold to what he took to himself: they shall be given in place of his fault. Then the guilty man shall bring for the EVER-LIVING a perfect ram of the sheep to the priest, because of his fault; and the priest shall expiate for him before the EVER-LIVING, and he shall be forgiven at once, for all that he has done wrong in it."
- 6 The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses saying:—

The Law for National Offerings.

- 2 "Command Aaron, and his sons, saying—These are the laws of the burnt-offerings;—that is the offerings for burning upon the altar. All the night, until daybreak, fire shall burn upon the altar for it.
- 3 "The priest shall be clothed with his garments upon his limbs, and his frock on to cover his flesh, and he shall rake out the ashes that the fire upon the altar produces, and supply wood to the altar. Then he shall strip off his clothes, and put on other clothes, and carry the ashes outside the camp to a clean place. The fire of the altar must burn unextinguished upon it. None shall quench it, but the priest shall lay wood upon it every morning and lay upon it the burnt-offering, and incense with the fat of the peace-offerings. The fire shall always burn upon the altar. It shall not be quenched.
- 7 "And these are the laws of the food gifts, that the sons of Aaron shall offer before the EVER-LIVING in front of the altar. They shall take some from the flour of the gift and put upon the altar, with the whole of the frankincense which is with the gift, and burn as incense upon the altar, as a delightful breath of remembrance to the EVER-LIVING.
- 9 But the rest of it Aaron and his sons shall eat. They shall eat it unfermented in the Holy Place in the court of the Hall of Assembly. They shall not bake their portion with ferment. I give it to them for a flavour. It is Holy of Holies, like the sin-offering, and like the trespass-offering. Any male of the children of Aaron may eat of it. This is a perpetual constitution, for their descendants. As it is a flavour of the EVER-LIVING, let all be holy who touch it."

The EVER-LIVING further spoke to Moses saying:—

The Law of Gifts at the Consecration as Priests.

"This is the gift that Aaron and his sons shall offer during the period of their consecration. The tenth of an epha of flour, as a perpetual offering between daybreak and evening, or half at the daybreak, and half at the dusk. Let it be made saturated with oil in a pan; bring it in baked flat cakes; a delightful breath to the EVER-LIVING. The consecrated priest of that course shall make it. It is a perpetual constitution to the EVER-LIVING, to be totally burnt. Every food offering from a priest shall be burnt—you shall not eat it."

The Law of Sin-offerings.

The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses, saying—

"Speak commanding Aaron and his sons,—

"These are the laws of the sin-offering;—in the place where you slay the burnt-offering, you shall slay the sin-offering before the EVER-LIVING. It is Holy of Holies. The priest that offers it for sin shall eat it in the Holy Place. Eat it in the court of the Hall of Assembly. All who touch the flesh shall be holy. And whoever is sprinkled with the blood upon his garments, whatever is sprinkled with it shall wash his clothing in the Holy Place. Any vessel of pottery, also, in which it is boiled shall be broken; and if it is boiled in a vessel of bronze it shall be scoured, and washed with water. Every male of the priests may eat of it. It is Holy of Holies. But any sin-offering that is brought to the Hall of Assembly for a holy expiation you shall not eat:—it shall be consumed by fire.

The Sacrifices for Trespass.

"These are also laws of the trespass-offerings. They are Holy of Holies.

"In the place where they slay the sacrifices for sin, they shall slay the trespass-offerings, and their blood shall be sprinkled around the altar, and all the fat of it shall be offered up; the fat of the tail, and the fat of 4 the caul, and of the chest; but the two kidneys with the fat that is upon them, he shall put aside. Then the priest shall burn them with incense at the altar, as a flavour to the EVER-LIVING. It is a trespass-offering. Every male of the Priests may eat it in the Sanctuary. It is most holy. As with the sin-offering, so with the trespass-offering; there is one law for them; the priest who has expiated with it shall have it for himself.

Requisites of the Priests.

8 "The priest who offers up the burnt-offering for a man, the skin of the burnt-offering that he has offered shall belong to the priest. Every food offering which is baked in an oven, and all made in a pan, or upon a pan, it shall belong to the priest who presents it. But every food offering mixed with oil, or dry, shall belong to all the sons of Aaron, each one as brothers.

The Law of Thank-offerings, and against Insanitary Food.

11 "And these are the laws of the sacrifices of thanks which may be presented to the EVER-LIVING. If a man offers for thanksgiving; let him offer as a sacrifice of thanksgiving, cakes of unfermented bread mixed with oil, and unfermented wafers buttered with oil, and flour saturated by rolling in oil. Let him offer no cakes of fermented bread with his gift upon the altar when thanksgiving for a benefit. And let him offer the same with every offering lifted up to the EVER-LIVING. It shall belong to the priest who sprinkles the blood of the thank-offering for him to the EVER-LIVING. But the flesh of the sacrifice of the thank-offering shall be eaten that day; none of it shall be left till the next morning.

16 "But if he gives a sacrifice for a vow, or a free-will gift, he may eat of it the day it is offered in sacrifice, and what remains of it he may eat to-morrow. But the remainder of the flesh of a sacrifice shall be burnt with fire on the third day; and if he eats of the flesh of a sacrifice for a benefit on the third day, it shall not be accepted as an offering from him; it shall not benefit him. It will be unclean, and the person who eats of it shall bear his punishment.

19 "Flesh also that has touched anything unclean shall not be eaten;—

it shall be burnt with fire; but the flesh of everything clean may be eaten as food. But the person who eats the flesh of a sacrifice made to the EVER-LIVING for a benefit, and defiles himself over it,—that person shall be excommunicated from his people. The person, also, who touches anything defiled by the defilement of blood; or by an unclean beast, or by any unclean reptile; and yet eats of the flesh as a sacrifice of thanksgiving to the EVER-LIVING:—that person shall be excommunicated from his people."

Eating Fat Prohibited.

Again the EVER-LIVING spoke to 22 Moses, saying: "Tell the sons of 23 Israel—any of the fat of an ox, or sheep, or goat you shall not eat; but 24 the fat of a carcass, and the fat of a torn animal may be used for any other work;—but you shall not eat of 25 it; and whoever eats the fat of a beast which is offered by fire to the EVER-LIVING;—that person shall be excommunicated from his people. Nor shall you eat any blood in any 26 of your dwelling places, either of bird or beast. Every person who eats any 27 blood; that person shall be excommunicated from his people."

The Law of Thank-offerings.

The EVER-LIVING spoke further to 28 Moses, saying;—

"Speak to the children of Israel, 29 saying;—Whoever offers at the altar his thank-offering to the EVER-LIVING, let him bring his gift to the altar of the EVER-LIVING for his benefit. He shall bring in his hand the present 30 to the EVER-LIVING. Bring the breast with its fat to be waved, for waving before the EVER-LIVING, but 31 the priest shall burn the fat upon the altar, and the breast shall be for Aaron and his sons. The right leg 32 also you shall give to the priest who lifts it up as a sacrifice for a benefit. Whoever of the sons of Aaron offers 33 the blood of the thank-offering, shall have the right leg for a gift. For the 31 waved breast, and the raised leg I have taken from the children of Israel, from their sacrifice of thanks, and I give them to Aaron the Priest and to his sons to be taken by them for ever from the children of Israel.

"They are the portion of Aaron, and 35 the portion of his sons from the gifts to the EVER-LIVING, during the time they offer them as priests to the EVER-LIVING; which the EVER-LIVING commanded to be given to them at the time He consecrated them, as an endowment from the children of Israel, and their posterity for ever."

37 This is the law for burnt-offerings, and for sins, and for trespasses, and for consecrations, and for sacrifices of thanks, which the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses upon Mount Sinai, at the time He commanded the children of Israel to offer gifts to the EVER-LIVING in the desert of Sinai.

The Ritual of Priestly Consecration.

8 The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses, saying:—

2 "Take Aaron, and his sons with him, with the robes and the oil of consecration, and the bull for a sin-offering, and the two rams, and the basket of biscuits, and the whole of the chiefs of the Parliament to the door of the Hall of Assembly."

4 Moses consequently did as the EVER-LIVING commanded him; and summoned the chiefs to the door of the Hall of Assembly. Then Moses said to the chiefs, "The EVER-LIVING commands this to be done."

6 Then Moses took Aaron and his sons and washed them in water, and put the vests upon them, and girt them with the girdle, and clothed them with the mantle; and put the ephod on him, and girt him with the embroidered belt of the ephod, and ephoded him with it. Then he put on the breastplate of the Urim and Thumim;¹ and put the turban upon his head, and fastened upon the turban, at the front of it, the golden flower consecrated to holiness; as the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses.

10 Moses next took the oil of consecration and consecrated the Tabernacle and all that was in it, and sanctified them, and sprinkled with it seven times on the altar, and consecrated the altar, and all its instruments; and the bath, and all its cans, to sanctify them; and poured the oil of consecration on the head of Aaron, and consecrated him, to sanctify him.

13 Then Moses brought forward the sons of Aaron and dressed them with vests, and girt them with girdles, and bound upon them the mitres; as the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses.

Next he brought up the bull for a sin-offering, and Aaron and his sons laid their hands upon the head of the bull for a sin-offering. Then he slew it; and Moses took some of the blood, and put it around the horns of the altar with his forefinger, to purify the altar from sin; and he poured out the rest of the blood at the side of the altar, and sanctified it with an expiation for it. He also took the fat which is on the chest, and the other fat of the liver, and the two kidneys, with the fat upon them, which Moses burnt upon the altar. But the bull and its skin, and its flesh, and its dung he burnt with fire; as the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses.

Then he took the ram for the burnt-offering, and Aaron and his sons laid their hands upon the head of the ram. Then Moses slew it, and sprinkled some of the blood on the altar around, and divided the ram into parts. Moses then burnt the pieces of the head, and its fat; but the chest and the feet Moses washed in water, and burnt the whole of the ram upon the altar, as a whole burnt-offering. It was a pleasant breath given to the EVER-LIVING; as the EVER-LIVING commanded Moses.

Then he took the ram—the second ram—of consecration, and Aaron and his sons laid their hands upon the head of the ram. Moses afterwards slew it, and took some of its blood and put it on the tip of Aaron's right ear, and on his right thumb, and on his right great toe; Moses also sprinkled the blood upon the altar around. Next Moses took the sons of Aaron, and put some of the blood on the tips of their right ears, and on the thumbs of their right hands, and on the great toes of their right feet. Moses afterwards sprinkled some of the blood around the altar. He also took the fat, and the tail, and the whole of the fat that is on the chest, and the rest of the fat, and the two kidneys with their fat, and the right leg, and some from the basket of biscuits which was before the EVER-LIVING;—he took one biscuit, and one oil-bread cake, and one wafer, and placed them with the fats upon the right leg, and put the whole into the hands of Aaron and the hands of his sons, and they waved them before the ¹ The breastplate of "Light and Truth," when translated from the Hebrew.—F. F.

- 28 presence of the EVER-LIVING. Then Moses took them from their hands, and offered them as a whole burnt-offering on the altar, as an appointment of them. It was an offering of pleasing flavour to the EVER-LIVING.
- 29 Moses then took the breast of the ram of consecration and waved it before the EVER-LIVING.—It was as a portion for Moses; as the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses.
- 30 Moses afterwards took some of the oil of consecration, and some of the blood from the altar, and sprinkled upon Aaron, upon his sons, and upon his robes and upon the robes of his sons with him, and sanctified Aaron and his robes, and his sons, and the robes of his sons with him.
- 31 Moses also said to Aaron and his sons, "Boil the flesh at the door of the Hall of Assembly, and sit to eat it, with the bread that is upon the basket of consecration, as I have been commanded to instruct Aaron and his sons that they should eat. But what is left of the flesh and bread burn with fire. You shall, however, not quit the Hall of Assembly for seven days, until the days are fulfilled;—the days of your consecration;—for seven days will complete their number. What has been done to-day, the EVER-LIVING commanded to be done, to expiate for you. You shall remain at the door of the Hall of Assembly day and night for seven days, and guard the trust of the EVER-LIVING; and not remove; for so I have been commanded."
- 36 Aaron and his sons consequently did all the things that the EVER-LIVING commanded by the hand of Moses.
- 9 But when the eighth day came Moses summoned Aaron and his sons, and the judges of Israel, and said to Aaron;—"Select for yourself a perfect heifer from the fold for a sin-offering, and a ram for a burnt-offering, and approach to the presence of the EVER-LIVING."
- 3 Then He spoke also to the children of Israel, saying;—
"You must take a ram from the goats for a sin-offering; and a lamb and bullock of a year old both perfect, for a burnt-offering, with a bull and a ram for a thank-offering, to sacrifice before the EVER-LIVING; and a food-offering mixed with oil, for to-day the EVER-LIVING will appear to you."
- 5 They consequently brought what

Moses ordered to the front of the Hall of Assembly, and all the chiefs approached and stood before the EVER-LIVING.

Then Moses said;

"This is the thing that the EVER-LIVING commanded you to do; now the majesty of the EVER-LIVING will appear to you."

Moses next said to Aaron; "Advance to the altar and offer the sin-offering, and the burnt-offering for yourself, and expiate first on account of Yourself, afterwards on account of the People; and make a gift for the People, and expiate on account of them; as the EVER-LIVING has commanded."

Aaron consequently advanced to the altar and slew the calf that was for his sin-offering. The sons of Aaron also advanced to the blood of it, and dipped their forefingers into the blood of it, and placed upon the horns of the altar, and poured the rest of the blood at the side of the altar. But the fat, and the kidneys, and the rest from the breast of the sin-offering, he burnt on the altar;—as the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses;—but the flesh, and the skin, and dung he consumed in fire outside the camp.

Then he slew the burnt-offering; and the sons of Aaron took its blood to him, and he poured it upon the altar around.

Then they took the whole burnt-offering to him with its pieces and the head, which he burnt upon the altar. Afterwards he washed the chest, and the legs, and burnt them as a burnt-offering on the altar.

Then he offered the gift for the People, and took the goat for the sin of the People, and made a sin-offering, like the former sin-offering. Next he presented the burnt-offering, and did as with the offering for righteousness. Afterwards he presented the food-offering, and filled his hand from it, and burnt it upon the altar, besides the burnt-offering of the morning.

Then he slew the bull, and the ram, as a sacrifice of thanks from the People, and the sons of Aaron brought some of the blood and sprinkled it around upon the altar, with the fats from the bull, and the fat from the tail of the ram, the caul, and the kidneys, and the rest of the breast; and they piled up the fats upon the chest, and burnt the fats upon the altar; but the breast, and the right leg Aaron waved before the EVER-LIVING;—as the EVER-LIVING commanded Moses.

22 Then Aaron raised his hands and blessed the People, and came down from making the sin-offering, and the burnt-offering, and the thank-offering.

23 Moses and Aaron next entered the Hall of Assembly, and went and blessed the People,—when the splendour of the EVER-LIVING appeared to all the People, the fire came from the presence of the EVER-LIVING and consumed the burnt-offering on the altar, and the fats. When all the People saw it they cheered, and fell upon their faces.

Nadab and Abihu slain for Disobedience to God.

10 But the sons of Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, each took a fire-pan, and placed on them fire, and put incense upon it, and presented strange fire before the EVER-LIVING, which they were not commanded, therefore fire came out from the presence of the LORD and consumed them, and they died before the LORD.

3 Consequently Moses said to Aaron, "What was it that the EVER-LIVING spoke, saying, 'In approaching Me I will be sanctified, and respected before all the People?'" And Aaron was silent.

4 Then Moses called to Mishal, and to Altzaphan, sons of Azial, the uncle of Aaron, and said to them;—

"Approach! and take up those from the presence of the sanctuary to the outside of the camp."

5 So they approached, and carried them in their vestments to the outside of the camp, as Moses had ordered.

6 Then Moses said to Aaron and to Aliazar, and to Aithamar, his sons, "You shall not uncover your heads, and you shall not strip off your robes, lest you should die, and anger come upon all the congregation; but your relatives of all the house of Israel, shall weep for the burning that the EVER-LIVING has burnt. You shall also not come out of the Hall of Assembly, lest you should die,—for the oil of consecration to the EVER-LIVING is upon you."

So they did as Moses ordered.

The Priests forbidden to Drink Intoxicants before going to the Sanctuary.

Then Moses spoke to Aaron and 8 commanded;—

"You or your sons with you shall 9 not drink of wine or an intoxicant when you are going to the Hall of Assembly,—so that you may not die. This is an everlasting institution for your posterity.

"For you shall distinguish between 10 the Sacred and the Common, and between Sin and Purity, so that you 11 may teach the sons of Israel all the Institutions which the EVER-LIVING dictated to them by means of Moses."

Moses also spoke to Aaron, and 12 Aliazar, and Aithamar, his sons;—

"Take again another food-offering for a present to the EVER-LIVING, and eat it with biscuits at the side of the altar, for it is Holy of Holies, therefore you shall eat it in the Holy 13 Place, for it is a portion to you, and a portion to your sons from the presents to the EVER-LIVING, for so I have been commanded. But you may eat 14 the waved breast, and the raised leg in a clean place, you and your sons, and your daughters with you; for they are given from My altar as a portion to you and to your children as thank-offerings from the children of Israel. The raised leg and the waved breast, 15 with the presents of the fats which they bring to be waved, you shall wave before the EVER-LIVING, and they shall be for you and your children for a perpetual portion,—as the EVER-LIVING has commanded."

But when Moses inquired for the 16 goat for the sin-offering, he found it had been burnt; therefore he was angry with Aliazar and Aithamar, the sons of Aaron, again, and said;—

"Why have you not eaten the sin- 17 offering in the Holy Place?—for it is Holy of Holies,—and it was given to you to bear the frailty of the congregation, to expiate for them before the EVER-LIVING. Look! its blood was 18 not brought into the sanctuary. You ought to have eaten it in the sanctuary as I commanded."

Then Aaron spoke to Moses, "On 19 the day they presented their sin-offering, and their burnt-offering before the EVER-LIVING, you instructed me about it, and I ate the sin-offering that day. Let that compensate in the eyes of my Lord."

- 20 So Moses listened and it compensated in his eyes.

Clean and Unclean Foods.

- 11 Then the EVER-LIVING spoke to Moses and to Aaron saying to them;—

- 2 "Speak to the children of Israel to command;—

"These are what you may eat of all the animals that are upon the earth:—

The Laws of Animal Food.

- 3 "All that have hoofs, and divide the hoofs, and chew the cud;—you may eat those beasts:—

- 4 "But you shall not eat those that chew the cud, and do not divide the hoof;—

"The camel; for it chews the cud, but has not divided the hoof. It is unclean to you;—

- 5 "And the jerboa, for it chews the cud, but has not a divided hoof;—it is unclean to you;

- 6 "And the Leaper,¹ for it chews the cud, but has not a divided hoof; it is unclean to you;

- 7 "And the swine; although it has hoofs, and divides the hoof, but it does not chew the cud; it is unclean to you;—

- 8 "You shall not eat of their flesh, nor touch their carcases; they are unclean to you;

Clean Fish.

- 9 "You may eat of all these that are in the waters;—

"All that have fins and scales, in the waters, and the seas, and the rivers; you may eat them.

- 10 "But all that have not fins and scales on them in the waters, and rivers, of all the swarms of the waters, and of every form of life that is in the waters, they must be loathsome to you; and their flesh shall be loathsome to you. You shall not eat of their carcases; you shall loathe them.
- 12 All in the waters that have not fins and scales, shall be loathsome to you.

Unclean and Clean Birds.

- 13 "And these shall be loathsome to you among birds. You shall not eat them; they are loathsome. The eagle, and the osprey, and the fish-
- 14 hawk; the kite, and the vulture

¹ In Hebrew "Arnabeth" means a Leaper usually rendered "hare," but more probably the Kangaroo.—F. F

species; and all the raven species; 15 and the ostrich, and the goatsucker, 16 and seagull and the buzzard species; and the pelican, and the gannet, and 17 the owl; and the crested owl, and 18 the turkey buzzard, and the carrion-eagle; and the stork, and snorter 19 species; and hoopoo, and the bat; and every winged reptile that crawls 20 shall be loathsome to you.

"However you may eat of these; 21 of all the swarms of wing that crawl, that have knees above their feet to leap upon the earth, you may eat 22 these from among them; the locust kind, and the gnawer kind, and the grasshopper kind and swarmer, but 23 all the winged-breed that crawls on its feet shall be loathsome to you, and 24 they defile. All who touch their dead bodies are unclean until the evening. And anyone who carries their carcases 25 shall wash his clothes and be unclean until the evening.

"Besides every beast that has hoofs, 26 but does not divide its hoofs, and does not chew the cud; they are unclean to you. All who touch them are unclean.

"And everything that walks upon 27 its paws; every insect that walks on all fours;—they are unclean to you; everyone who touches their dead 28 bodies is unclean, and whoever carries their dead bodies shall wash his clothes and be unclean until the evening. They are unclean to you.

Unclean Vermin.

"These also are unclean to you of 29 the species breeding upon the earth; the mole, and the mouse, and the 30 lizard species; the groaner, and the panter, and the shrew, and the ignanodon, and the camelion. These are 31 unclean to you in all their breeds; all touching them when dead shall be unclean until the evening; and all 32 who eat of them when dead are unclean; and all upon which any of them may fall, and any vessel of wood, or clothing, or skin, or a sack,—any article that is made use of,—shall be put into water, and be unclean until the evening;—then pure. And 33 any vessel of earthenware that they fall into, all that they fall into, is unclean, and it shall be broken; and 34 all food that they have gnawed, or their water falls upon, is unclean; and any cup from which they drink, of all vessels, is unclean. And any 35

thing upon which their dead bodies may fall is unclean;—pan, or tub—it shall be broken. They are unclean and shall be unclean to you. Except a spring, or well, or reservoir of water;—they shall be pure;—but all touching their dead bodies are unclean. But if their dead bodies fall upon any grain to be used for seed that is to be sown, it is pure. Also if you have put water upon the seed, after their dead bodies fall upon it, it is clean to you.

Cattle dying of Disease Unclean.

39 "And when any of the cattle, that you possess for food dies, whoever touches its carcase is unclean until evening; and whoever eats from its carcase, shall wash his clothes and is unclean until the evening; and whoever carries the carcase shall wash his clothes and be unclean until the evening.

All Reptiles are Unclean.

"All vermin, also, of the vermin on the earth shall be loathsome; it shall not be eaten.

42 "Everything going upon its belly; and everything going by crawling upon many feet, of all the vermin of the vermin of the earth, you shall not eat, for they are loathsome. You shall not make yourselves loathsome with the bodies of any of the spawn of the vermin, and you shall not defile yourselves with them, nor be defiled by them; for I am your EVER-LIVING GOD, Who sanctifies you, and you shall be healthy, for I am HOLY, and you shall not defile yourselves or your lives by any of the vermin that crawls upon the earth; for the EVER-LIVING brought you up from the land of Mitzraim to be a GOD to you; so you must be healthy;—for I am HOLY.

46 "These are the laws about cattle, and birds, and every animal life that crawls in the waters, and every animal life that spawns upon the land; with the difference between the unclean and the pure, and between the animals for food, and the animals that are not for food."

12 The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses saying;—

Sanitary Laws for Women.

1 "Speak to the children of Israel commanding;—

"A woman who is delivered and bears a boy is unclean for seven days, as though she were unclean with the uncleanness of menstruation; and at the eighth day his fore-flesh shall be circumcised. But for a period of thirty-three days she shall be secluded for her purification. She shall not approach anything sacred, and shall not come to the sacred place until the days of her purification are completed.

"But if she bears a girl, then she shall be separated as unclean for twice seven, as in menstruation; and for a period of sixty-six days she shall be secluded, for purification from her blood. But upon the completion of the days of her purification for a son or for a daughter, she shall bring a she lamb of one year for a burnt-offering, and a young dove or a turtle dove, as a sin-offering to the door of the Hall of Assembly, to the priest, and he shall present them before the EVER-LIVING, and expiate for her, and purify her for the flow of her blood.—These are the laws about the childbirth of a boy or girl.

"But if she does not possess a she lamb, then she shall take two turtle doves, or two young pigeons, one for a burnt-offering, and the other for a sin-offering, and the priest shall expiate for her, and she shall be pure."

Sanitary Laws of Contagious Diseases.

The EVER-LIVING also spoke to 13 Moses and Aaron saying;—

"When a man has on the skin of 2 his flesh a swelling or scab, or scurf, and there is on the skin of his flesh an irritation, he shall go to Aaron the priest or to one of the medical priests, and shall show the priest the spot on 3 the skin of his body, and the hair in the spot turned white. Should the spot appear hollow under the skin of his body, it may be a contagion, and the priest shall diagnose it, for it is a disease.

"But if a white scurf is upon the 4 skin of his body, which does not appear to be below the skin, and the hair is not changed to white, then the priest shall isolate the patient for seven days; and upon the seventh 5 day the priest shall examine the patient, and if the mark appears to him to stand still, without the spot spreading, the priest shall isolate

6 him for a second seven days; but the priest shall examine him on the seventh day the second time, and if the mark is mitigated, and the spot has not spread on the skin, then the priest shall cleanse off the scurf from it, and he shall wash his clothes, and
7 be clean. But if the eruption spreads, and with scabs on the skin, after he has shown himself to the priest to be pronounced clean, then he shall show himself again to the priest, and the priest shall examine him, and if the eruption has spread on his skin, the priest shall declare him diseased with a contagion.

9 "When a man has been attacked by a contagion, he shall go to a priest, and the priest shall examine him, and if he sees a white swelling in his skin, and if the hair has turned white, and corrupting flesh lives in the 11 swelling, it is chronic leprosy on the skin of his body, and he is unclean. The priest shall not isolate him, but he is unclean.

12 "But if the disease spreads on the skin, and the irritation covers the whole of his skin with an attack from his head to his feet, he shall show all
13 to the eye of the priest, and the priest shall examine it; and if the irritation covers the whole of his body, and the eruption is bright, all of it, turned 14 white,—he is clean; but if at any time raw flesh appears, he is contagious; therefore he shall show the raw flesh to the priest, and be declared contagious;—the raw flesh is a 16 contagion;—it is contagious. But if the raw flesh ceases and turns white,— 17 he shall also go to the priest, and the priest shall examine it, and if the eruption has turned white and bright, the priest shall declare him free from contagiousness.

18 "When there is on the body a burning ulcer to be cured, and there may 19 be on the inflamed part a white swelling, or a white-reddish scurf, it shall be shown to the priest, and the priest shall examine it, and if he sees a sinking of the skin and the hair turning white, the priest shall declare him unclean with a contagion of spreading inflammation.

21 "But if when the priest examines him, there is no white hair, and there is no sinking in the skin, but there is degeneration, then the priest shall 22 isolate him for seven days, and if it spreads in the skin, then the priest shall declare him diseased by a contagious attack. But if afterwards, the inflammation abating, the irritation ceases to burn in the ulcers the priest shall declare him clean.

"When there is in the flesh an acute inflammation, and there is rawness on the inflammation, with white scurf, and red and white pimples; when the priest examines 25 him, and observes the hair to be turning white, on the scurf, and he observes pitting in the skin, it is an attack of inflammatory ulceration, and the priest shall pronounce him diseased. It is a contagious disease.

"But if on examining it, the priest does not perceive white hair on the inflammation, nor a pitting in the skin, but it is fiery;—then the priest shall isolate him for seven days; but 27 when the priest shall re-examine him on the seventh day, if it is spreading over the skin, the priest shall declare him unclean. It is a contagious disease. But if afterwards the inflammation abates, and does not spread on the skin, but the inflammation of the swelling is relaxed; then the priest shall pronounce him clean, for it is only an attack of inflammation.

"And when a man or woman may have spots on the head or chin, the 30 priest shall examine the spot, and if he sees on examining it a sinking in the skin, and with it a small yellow hair; then they are unclean, until the priest has extirpated it. It is a disease of the head or chin.

"But when the priest examines, if the attack is extirpated, and discovers after examination that there is no depression on the skin, and strong black hair on it, then the priest shall isolate the patient he has cured seven days. But the priest shall examine 31 the patient on the seventh day, and if it has not spread during the seclusion and there is not on him a yellow hair, and he observes not upon the isolated person a depression in the skin, the priest shall cause the patient
33 to be shaved, and the priest shall isolate the patient for a second seven days. But the priest shall examine 34 the patient on the seventh day, and if it has not spread upon the patient's skin, and he observes that there is not a pitting of the skin, then the priest shall pronounce him clean; and he shall wash his clothes and be clean.

35 "But if it spreads upon the patient's skin, after he has been pronounced 36 clean, the priest shall re-examine him, and if he observes a spreading on the skin of the patient, the priest need not examine for the yellow hair ;
37 he is unclean. But if when the patient stands for re-inspection and black hair has sprung up on him, the patient is cured. The priest shall pronounce him clean.

38 "And if a man or woman has in the skin of their body a bright shining with whiteness, then the priest shall examine, and if he observes in the skin of their body a bright shining, with whiteness, it is an eruption flowering in the skin. It is clean.

40 "And if a person is sprinkled with 41 baldness on his head he is clean. And if at the front of his face his head is sprinkled, it is fore-baldness. He is clean. But if there should be upon his bald head or forehead, a whitish-42 outbreak, it is an ulcerous attack, whether on the crown or the forehead ;
43 so the priest shall examine it, and if he observes a rising white-reddish eruption upon the crown or the forehead when he examines the scurf
44 on the skin of the body, the man is diseased,—he is unclean—the priest shall declare him unclean by a 45 disease of the head ; but the attack is constitutional. His clothes shall be torn, and his head shall be uncovered, and he shall not curl his 46 beard ; but shall cry Unclean, Unclean ! all the time he is suffering it, he is unclean. He must be isolated, outside the camp ; must be made to remain outside.

47 "The clothing, also, that may be upon him is infected by the disease ;—whether woollen clothing, or cotton
48 clothing ; whether warped and wefted with wool or cotton, or of skin, or of any preparation of skin ; and if there is a greenish or reddish stain, on the 49 clothing, or skin, whether of warp or weft ; or any article of skin is marked by the discharge, it shall be examined
50 by the priest. The priest who examines the patient shall then isolate the sufferer for seven days ; but shall 51 re-examine the patient on the seventh day, when if the infection has discharged upon the clothing, whether in warp or weft, or on the skin of any article made of skin for use, it is an attack of itch.¹ It is unclean. Consequently he shall burn that clothing 52 whether warped and weft, whether of wool or cotton, or of any article of skin, in which the infection may be, for it is infected with itch ;—it must be burnt in fire. But if when the priest 53 examines it, he observes that the infection has not spread in the fabric of warp and weft, or in the leather or any article of leather, then the priest

54 shall order them to wash whatever has the infection upon it, and isolate them for a second seven days. But 55 the priest shall examine the infected articles after the washing, and if he observes that the infection has not disappeared from sight, and the stain has not gone, it is unclean. They shall consume it in fire. It is corroded by vermin or microbes.

"But even if when the priest ex-56 amines, and observes a mitigation of the attack, after the washing of it, yet there is a wearing away from the garment, or from the skin, or from the warp, or from the weft, and he 57 perceives that the garment of warp and weft, or any article of leather, is still fretted, they shall burn in fire everything in which the infection remains. But the clothing of warp 58 and weft, or any article of leather which has been washed and the infection has departed from them, shall be washed a second time, and be clean.

"These are the laws respecting in-59 fection in clothing of wool or cotton, of warp and weft, or any article of skin, as to cleanness or uncleanness."

Sanitary Laws for Convalescents.

The EVER-LIVING also spoke to 14 Moses, saying ;—

"These are the laws about sufferers 2 from infectious diseases at the time they are cured, and submitted to the priest.

"The priest shall go to the outside 3 of the camp, and the priest shall examine, and look at the patient recovered from infection. Then the 4 priest shall prepare, and take for purification two clean living birds, and cedar wood, and scarlet wool, and hysop ;—and the priest shall 5 prepare and slay the first bird into a vessel full of living water, then 6 take the living bird to him, and the cedar wood, and the scarlet wool, and the hyssop, and sprinkle them and the living bird in the blood of the slain bird and the living water, and also upon the man cleansed from the infection, seven times, and declare him clean, and send the living bird out into the open field. Afterwards the cleansed man shall wash his clothes, and shave his head, and bathe in water, and be clean, and after that go into the camp. He shall however keep out of his tent for seven days.

¹ Literally "with irritation an attack."—F. F.

9 But on the seventh day he shall shave the whole of his head, both the head and his beard, and his eyebrows; he shall also shave the whole of his hair, and wash his clothes and bathe his body in water, and be clean. Upon the eighth day he shall also take two perfect he lambs, and a perfect ewe lamb of one year, and three tenths of flour mixed with oil as a food-offering, and one log of oil, and the priest shall station the cleansed man, or the cleansed woman, before the presence of the EVER-LIVING, at the door of the Hall of Assembly.

12 "Then the priest shall take one of the he lambs and present it as a trespass-offering, with the log of oil, and wave them before the EVER-LIVING, and slay the lamb in the place where they slay the sin-offering, and the burnt-offerings, in the Holy Place; for, as a sin-offering, the trespass-offering shall be Holy of Holies to the priest.

14 The priest shall also take some of the blood of the trespass-offering and place upon the tip of the right ear of the recovered man, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot. Then let the priest take some of the log of oil and pour it into the palm of the priest's left hand, and dip the right hand of the priest in the oil that is in his left hand palm, and sprinkle the oil seven times with his finger before the EVER-LIVING, and from the rest of the oil that is in his palm, the priest shall put some upon the tip of the right ear of the restored person, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot, with some of the blood of the trespass-offering. And the rest of the oil that is in the palm of the priest, he shall put upon the head of the recovered person.—Thus shall the priest expiate for him before the EVER-LIVING.

"The priest shall also make a 19 sin-offering, and expiate for the recovered man for his sins, and slay a burnt-offering for him. Thus 20 the priest shall offer up the burnt-offering, and the food-offering on the altar, and expiate for him. The priest shall afterwards declare him clean.

"But if he is poor, and has no property, then he shall take a single he lamb for a trespass-offering to wave, to expiate for himself, and a tenth of flour mixed with oil for a food-offering, and a log of oil; or two turtle-doves 22 or two young pigeons, whichever he may possess, and one shall be for a sin-offering, and the other for a burnt-offering. He shall bring them upon 23 the eighth day after his recovery to the priest, at the door of the Hall of Assembly, to present to the EVER-LIVING. Then the priest shall take 24 the lamb for a trespass-offering, and the log of oil, and the priest shall wave them before the EVER-LIVING, and slay the lamb for a trespass-offering. 25 Then the priest shall take some of the blood of the trespass-offering and put it upon the tip of the right ear of the recovered person, and upon the thumb of the right hand, and upon the great toe of the right foot. The priest shall also pour some of 26 the oil into the priest's left hand palm, and the priest shall sprinkle 27 with his right forefinger some of the oil which is in his left palm, seven times before the EVER-LIVING. Then 28 the priest shall put some of the oil that is in his left palm upon the tip of the right ear of the recovered person, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot, on the place for the blood of the trespass-offering. But the rest 29 of the oil that is in the palm of the priest he shall put upon the head of the recovered person, to expiate for him before the EVER-LIVING. Or he 30 shall take one of the turtle-doves, or young pigeons, which he possesses;—which he holds in his hand;—the 31 one for a sin-offering, and the other for a burnt-offering, with the food-offering.—Thus the priest shall expiate for the recovered person before the EVER-LIVING.

"These are the laws about those 32 attacked by contagious disease, who do not possess enough for the regular purification."

The Sanitary Law for Dwelling Houses.

- 33 The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses and to Aaron, to command;—
- 34 "When you arrive in the land of Canan, which I shall give to you to possess, and find a contagious disease in a house in the land you possess, then the owner of the house shall go to the priest and inform him, saying that a contagious disease has appeared in his house, and demand that the priest should visit the house. The priest shall at once go and enquire the nature of the disease, and declare all in the house unclean. Then, after that, the priest shall go to examine the house itself, and enquire into the disease, and if he finds the infection in the walls of the house;—the drains having a greenish-yellow, or purplish, rotting, and there appears decay in their walls, then the priest shall remove the family from the neighbourhood of the house and isolate the house for seven days.
- 39 But the priest shall re-visit it on the seventh day and examine it again, and if the infection has spread in the drains¹ of the house, the priest shall command, and they shall pull away the stones in which the infection is, and remove them to the outside of the town, to the receptacle for refuse;
- 41 and the house shall be cut off from the houses surrounding it, and they shall pour out the rubbish caused by the cutting it off at the outside of the town, into the receptacle for refuse.
- 42 Then they shall take other stones in the place of these stones, and take other mortar, and repair the house.
- 43 But if the infection returns and spreads in the family after the removal of the stones, and after the destruction of the stones, and after the cutting off of the house, and after its repairing; then the priest shall come and examine it, and if he observes the infection spreading in the house, it is a virulent contagion
- 45 --the house itself is unclean. Therefore he shall break down the house with its stones, and its timber, and all the mortar of the house, and carry it outside the town to the refuse heap.

¹ Literally "ditch" or "runnings," קִרְרִים in root, Heb. קָרַן, to run towards, improperly translated walls in the current version.—F. F.

And whoever enters that house, all the time that it is isolated, shall be unclean until the evening. Whoever rests in that house shall wash his clothes; and whoever eats in that house shall wash his clothing.

"But if the priest upon coming to examine observes that the infection is not spreading in that house after the house has been repaired;—then the priest shall pronounce the house clean; for it is cured of the infection. Then he shall take, as a sin-offering for the house, two he-goats, and cedar wood, and scarlet wool and hyssop, and slay one of the goats into an earthen bowl filled with living water, then prepare the cedar wood, and hyssop, and scarlet wool, and the living goat, and dabble them with some blood of the slain goat, and with the living water, and sprinkle the house seven times, and expiate for the house by the blood of the goat, and by living water, and by the living goat, and by the cedar wood, and scarlet wool. Afterwards he shall turn the living goat outside the village on the face of the field, and expiate for the house, and declare it clean.

"These are the laws about any infectious disease, and its removal, and for infected fabrics or houses; and for ulcerations, and running sores, and for scrofula, with eruptions,—from the day of contagion, until the day of their cure;—these are the laws of infection."

Sanitary Laws for Sexual Diseases.

The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses and to Aaron, saying;—

"Speak to the children of Israel and say to them;

"If any one of you has a discharge from their generative organs, they are contagious. These then are the diseases in his genitals: a discharge from his generative organ; or if the organ ceases from generative power. He is then unhealthy. Any bed upon which the sufferer from such discharge lies is defiled; and every chair upon which he sits is defiled; and any persons touching his bed shall wash their clothes, and bathe in water, and be unclean until the evening. And whoever sits on an article where the sufferer from the discharge has sat, shall wash their clothing, and bathe in water, and be unclean until the evening. And whoever touches the discharging flesh, shall wash his clothing, and bathe in water, and be 8 unclean until the evening. And upon whoever the issue spurts in cleansing it, they also shall wash their clothing, and bathe in water, and be unclean

 9 until evening. And every carriage upon which the patient rides is unclean.
 10 And anyone touching anything that has been under him, shall be unclean until the evening, and whoever carries them shall wash their clothing, and bathe in water, and be 11 unclean until evening. And everyone who touches the sufferer from that discharge, with his hand, shall plunge it in water, and wash his clothes, and bathe in water, and be 12 unclean until the evening. And an article of pottery that has touched the patient with that discharge, shall be broken; and any article of wood shall be washed with a rush of water.
 13 "But when he is cured of the discharging, fix for him seven days to purify himself; and to wash his clothing, and to bathe his body in 14 living water, and to cleanse. Then upon the eighth day let him prepare two turtle-doves, or two young pigeons, and go to the priest before the EVER-LIVING, at the door of the Hall of 15 Assembly, and the priest shall offer one of them as a sin-offering, and the other as a burnt-offering. Thus the priest shall expiate for him before the EVER-LIVING for the discharge.
 16 "And a man from whom has come the pouring of seed, shall wash the whole of his flesh in water, and be 17 unclean until the evening, and any fabric, or any skin, upon which shall be the pouring of seed, shall also be washed in water, and be unclean until 18 the evening. And every woman with whom a man has poured the pouring of seed, shall also wash in water and be unclean until evening.
 19 "And a woman with whom may be menstruation shall have seven days for the discharge of her body in seclusion, and all touching her shall be 20 unclean until the evening. And all that she lies on during her seclusion is unclean, and all she sits 21 upon is unclean; and all who touch her bed shall wash their clothes and bathe in water, and be unclean until 22 the evening. And all touching any article upon which she has sat, shall wash their clothing and bathe in water and be unclean until the evening. And if anyone lies down with 23 her, or upon any article where she has sat, or touches it, they are unclean until the evening. And if any 24 husband copulates with her, when there is menstruation on her, then he shall be unclean for seven days, and any bed upon which he copulated with her is unclean.

Law of Sexual Diseases in Women.

"But a woman who has a discharge 25 of blood for many days, which is not her menstruation, or who discharges sap at her menstruation for a long period, beyond the time of her menstrual period, is unclean.

"Every bed upon which she lies 26 all the time of her discharge, shall be to her as a bed of menstruation; and every article upon which she sits shall be unclean, as with menstrual uncleanness; and whoever touches 27 her is unclean, and shall wash their clothes and bathe their bodies and be unclean until the evening.

"But if she is cured of her dis-28 charge, appoint seven days for her, and afterwards she shall be clean. Then at the eighth day she shall take 29 two turtle-doves, or two young pigeons, and bring them to the priest at the door of the Hall of Assembly, and 30 the priest shall make of the one a sin-offering, and of the other a burnt-offering, and the priest shall expiate for her before the EVER-LIVING, for the defect of her uncleanness.

"In this way the children of Israel 31 shall separate themselves from their sins, and not die in their sins; with the sins of the populations among whom you reside.

"These are the laws regulating 32 generative diseases, that come to you from sexual sins, both for a menstrous 33 woman, and for the man sexually diseased, and for a husband who connects with a diseased woman.

Laws for the Ministering Priests.

The EVER-LIVING also spoke to 16 Moses, after the death of the two sons of Aaron, while offering in the presence of the LORD, when He killed them. The 1 EVER-LIVING then said to Moses:

"Say to Aaron your brother, that he must not come at all times from the sanctuary of the house to within the veil before the expiatories which are over the ark, lest he should die; for I appear in the cloud upon the coverings.

3 "This is how Aaron must go to the sanctuary; with a bull, the son of the fold, for a sin-offering, and a 4 ram for a burnt-offering; his body clothed with the sacred robes, and his trousers shall be upon his body, and girt with his waist belt, and turbaned with his turban, and with the sacred robes; and his body and
5 clothing washed in water; and he shall take two goats for a sin-offering, and a ram for a burnt-offering, for the Chiefs of the Children of Israel.
6 "And Aaron shall present the bull he has with him for the sin-offering, and expiate for the sins of himself, and the family of his own house;
7 then take the two goats and place them before the EVER-LIVING, at the door of the Hall of Assembly; where 8 Aaron shall cast lots over the two goats:—to allot one to the EVER-LIVING and allot the other as a scapegoat.
9 Aaron shall afterwards sacrifice the goat which the lot came upon for the 10 EVER-LIVING; and the goat which the lot came upon for a scapegoat, he shall place alive before the EVER-LIVING, to expiate with it, by sending it as a scapegoat into the field.
11 "Aaron shall next sacrifice the bull on account of his own sins, and expiate for himself, and on account of his own house; and slay the bull
12 for his own sins. Then he shall take a shovelful of burning coals from off the altar before the EVER-LIVING, and fill his hand with sweet incense powder, and bring it from the house
13 to the veil, and put the incense on to the fire before the EVER-LIVING, and the cloud from the incense shall cover the veil that is over the witnesses,—and he shall not die.
14 "Let him next take some of the blood of the bull and sprinkle with his forefinger before the veil towards the east; and before the expiatories he shall sprinkle the blood seven
15 times with his finger; then slay the goat that is for the sins of the nation, and bring some of its blood from the house to the veil, and do with that blood as he did with the blood of the bull, and sprinkle some of it upon the veil, and before the veil, 16 and expiate for the sins of the children of Israel, and for their rebellions with all their sins; and do the same to the Hall of Assembly which is erected in the midst of their 17 sins; and no person shall be in the Hall of Assembly when he goes to expiate in the sanctuary, when he expiates on account of himself, and on account of his house, and for the whole congregation of Israel. Then 18 he shall come to the altar that is before the EVER-LIVING and expiate for himself, and take some of the blood of the bull, and some of the blood of the ram, and put upon the horns at the side of the altar, and sprinkle some 19 of the blood with his forefinger seven times, and purify it, and sanctify himself from the sins of the children of Israel. When he has 20 finished expiating for the sanctuary, and the Hall of Assembly, and the altar:—he shall then present the live goat; and Aaron shall lay his 21 two hands upon the head of the live goat, and confess upon it the whole of the frailties of the children of Israel, and the whole of their faults, and the whole of their sins, and lay them upon the head of the goat, and send it by the hand of a man of My People into the desert; and that goat 22 shall carry upon itself the whole of their frailties to the land of forgetfulness; thus the goat shall be sent to the desert.

"Aaron shall next go to the Hall
23 of Assembly, and strip off from himself the robes with which he was clothed at his going to the sanctuary, and leave them there; and bathe his 24 body in water in the Holy Place, then put on his robes, and come and offer the burnt-offering for himself, and the burnt-offering for the nation, and expiate on account of himself and on account of the nation; and 25 burn the fat of the sin-offerings with incense upon the altar.

The Scapegoat-man's Duty.

"The man who, drove out the 26 scapegoat shall afterwards wash his clothes, and bathe his body in water, and then he may go into the camp.

The Priests' Duty continued, and Burning the Sin-offering outside the Camp.

"Next the bull of the sin-offering, 27 and the ram of the sin-offering, some of whose blood was brought for expiating to the sanctuary, shall be brought to the outside of the camp, and burnt with fire;—the skin, and the flesh, and the dung. But the person who burns them shall wash his clothes, and bathe his body in water; previous to returning to the camp.
28

The Reason for the Festival.

- 29 " This shall be a perpetual Institution for you in the seventh month, in the tenth day of the month, that you may humble yourselves, and do no business, either the native, or the 30 foreigner living amongst you, for on that day there is an expiation made for you, to purify you from all your sins before the EVER-LIVING; you 31 must be pure. It shall be to you a Rest of Rests, when you shall humble your lives: an Institution for ever.
32 At that time the priest who has been consecrated, and who has been appointed as priest in the place of his fathers, and has put on himself the 33 sacred robes, shall thus expiate for the Holy of Holies, and the Hall of Assembly; and also expiate for the altar, and for the priests, and expiate for all the people of the congregation.
34 And this shall be a perpetual Institution for you, to expiate for the whole of the children of Israel on account of all their sins, once every year."
And it was done as the EVER-LIVING had instructed Moses.

The Law of Excommunication for Unauthorized Sacrificing.

- 17 The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses, commanding:—
2 " Speak to Aaron and his sons, with all the children of Israel, and say to them:—
" This is the thing that the EVER-LIVING has commanded to be said;
3 Any man of the house of Israel who slays a bullock, or sheep, or goat, at the altar; or who slays it outside the 4 camp, or at the door of the Hall of Assembly, who comes not to offer a gift to the EVER-LIVING, before the dwelling of the EVER-LIVING; blood shall be imputed to that man;—
blood spilt;—that man shall be excommunicated from association with 5 his People. So that, instead of the children of Israel going to their altars that they have in the open fields, they must bring their offerings to the EVER-LIVING at the door of the Hall of Assembly, to the priest, that he may offer for them to the 6 EVER-LIVING;—and the priest shall sprinkle the blood upon the altar of the EVER-LIVING at the door of the Hall of Assembly, and burn the fat with incense, as a delightful breath to the EVER-LIVING.

" For you shall never sacrifice your 7 sacrifices to demons that you whore after.—This is an everlasting command to them, and their posterity.

" Say also to them; Any man of the 8 House of Israel, or of the foreigners who reside among them, who offers a burnt-offering or sacrifice, and does 9 not cause it to be brought to the door of the Hall of Assembly to offer it to the EVER-LIVING— that man shall be excommunicated from his people. And every person of the children of 10 Israel, or of the foreigners who reside amongst them, who eats any blood, or places before Me what he has eaten with the life-blood in it; I will cause him to be excommunicated from association with the nation;— for the life of the body is in its blood, 11 and I have given it to you for the altar, to expiate for your sins;—for the blood with its life expiates. Therefore I say to the children of 12 Israel;—No person of you shall eat the blood; and the foreigner that resides among you shall not eat blood.

Law for Huntsmen.

Any person also from the children of 13 Israel, or from the foreigners who reside among you, who hunts animal or bird, that he may eat it, shall also pour out the blood and cover it with dust, because the life of all flesh is 14 in its blood, as its life. Therefore say to the children of Israel you shall not eat the life with the blood of any flesh; for the life of all flesh is in its blood. All eating of it, shall be excommunicated. And every person 15 who eats of a dead carcase, or one torn, or mangled, or worried, shall wash his clothes, and bathe in water, and be unclean until the evening— and then clean,—but if he does not wash his body or bathe, he shall bear his sin."

Order to abandon Heathen Customs.

The EVER-LIVING also spoke to 18 Moses, commanding:

" Speak to the children of Israel 2 and say to them; I am your EVER-LIVING GOD.

" You shall not do as in the land of 3 the Mitzrajim when you dwell there.

And you shall not do as the land of Canan does to which I shall bring you. You shall not continue their customs. You shall practise My Decrees, and observe My Institutions; to walk by them.—I am your EVER-LIVING GOD. And you shall guard My Institutions, and My Decrees, which were made for you, and live in them.—I am the EVER-LIVING.

The Laws of Affinity, and Marriages and Sex.

- 6 "No person shall approach to a relative of his body to uncover their sexuality; I am the EVER-LIVING.
- 7 "The sexuality of your father or the sexuality of your mother you shall not uncover. She is your mother. You shall not uncover her sexuality.
- 8 "You shall not uncover the sexuality of a wife of your father. I am the EVER-LIVING.
- 9 "The sexuality of your sister, a daughter of your father or a daughter of your mother, born in the house, or born out of it; you shall not uncover the sexuality of them.
- 10 "You shall not uncover the sexuality of the daughter of your son, or the daughter of your daughter, for that is your own sexuality.
- 11 "You shall not uncover the sexuality of the daughters of the wives of your father, born to your father. She is your sister.
- 12 "You shall not uncover the sexuality of the sister of your father, she is of your father's blood.
- 13 "You shall not uncover the sexuality of the sister of your mother. She is of your mother's blood.
- 14 "You shall not uncover the sexuality of the wife of the brother of your father. Your love shall not approach to her.
- 15 "You shall not uncover the sexuality of your daughter-in-law. She is the wife of your son. You shall not uncover her sexuality.
- 16 "You shall not uncover the sexuality of your brother's wife. She is your brother's wife.
- 17 "You shall not uncover the sexuality of a woman and her daughter; the daughter of her son; or the daughter of her daughter you shall not take to uncover their sexuality. Copulation with them is wickedness.
- 18 "And you shall not marry a wife's sister, to grieve her by uncovering her sexuality, whilst she lives.

"You shall not approach to a woman unclean by menstruation to uncover her sexuality.

"And to the wife of your neighbour you shall not give your copulation for seed, to defile her.

"And you shall not give of your seed to pass to Molok; and thus defile the name of your GOD. I am the EVER-LIVING.

"And with a man you shall not copulate, with the copulation of a woman. It is abominable.

"And to any beast you shall not give your copulation to defile it. And a woman shall not place herself to the face of a beast, to copulate. It is incest.

"You shall not defile yourselves with any of these, for with all these the heathen defiled themselves, whom I shall drive out from before you; and they defiled the land. Therefore I punish the sin in it, upon them; and the land spews out its inhabitants.

"Therefore you, yourselves, must preserve My Institutions and Decrees, and not practise any of these abominations; either you natives, or foreigners residing among you. For the whole of these abominations the population of the land, whom I shall drive out from before you, practised,—and they defiled the land; if you do so the land will spew you out for your defiling it, as it spewed out the heathen who were before you, for that they did, with all these abominations. Therefore the people who do them shall be cut off from the boundaries of your people."

The Laws of Moral Duty.

The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses, commanding;—

"Speak to all the chiefs of the children of Israel, and say to them, Be holy; for I your EVER-LIVING GOD am Holy.

"Each of you reverence your mother and father; and keep My Sabbaths; I am the EVER-LIVING GOD.

"You shall not turn to idols; and you shall not make metal gods for yourselves. I am the EVER-LIVING your GOD. And when you offer a thank-offering, you shall offer it to your EVER-LIVING STRENGTH. You shall eat it in the day of sacrifice and

- the day after ; but the remainder to the third day you shall burn with fire. And if anyone eats of it on the third day, it is worthless, and will not be accepted, and the eater of it shall bear his fault, for he profanes the holiness of the EVER-LIVING ; so that person shall be excluded from his family.
- 9 " And when you reap the harvest of your land, you shall not continue cutting to the sides of your field, cutting and gleaning ; you shall not cut the gleanings. And you shall not strip your vineyard ; nor shall you glean the scatterings of your vineyard. You shall leave them for the poor, and the foreigner. I am your EVER-LIVING GOD.
- 11 " You shall not rob ; and you shall not deceive ; and you shall not lie each to his neighbour ; and you shall not swear by My Name to a lie ; and disgrace the Name of your GOD. I am the EVER-LIVING.
- 13 " And you shall not oppress ; and you shall not plunder ; nor retain the wages of a workman with yourself until the morning.
- 14 " You shall not curse the deaf ; and before the blind you shall not place a stumbling-block ; but you shall fear your GOD. I am the EVER-LIVING.
- 15 " You shall not do wrong instead of justice. You shall not despise the face of the lowly, and honour the face of the great. You shall judge your neighbour in righteousness.
- 16 " You shall not go about slandering your neighbour.
- " You shall not lie in wait for the blood of your neighbour. I am the EVER-LIVING."
- 17 " You shall not hate your brother in your heart.
- " You may reprove your neighbour, but not bear ill-will against him.
- 18 " You shall not take revenge upon the child of your neighbour ; but you shall love your neighbour as yourself. I am the EVER-LIVING.
- 19 " You shall preserve My Institutions.
- " You shall not yoke together different kinds of cattle ;
- " You shall not sow in your field mixed kinds of seed ;
- " And you shall not put on yourself cloth woven of different materials.
- 20 " And anyone who lies with a woman in pouring of seed, and she was enslaved as a slave to the man, and was not free as a free woman.

or at liberty,—punishment shall not be given to her ; she shall not be killed ; for she was not free. But she shall bring to the EVER-LIVING to the door of the Hall of Assembly a ram for a sin-offering, and the priest shall expiate for her before the EVER-LIVING with the ram as a sin-offering, for the sin which she has sinned, and the sin which she has sinned shall be forgiven.

" When you arrive in the land, and plant any tree for food, you shall consecrate its fruit. It shall remain upon it three years for a consecration. You shall not eat of it. But in the fourth year all its fruits shall be devoted as thanks to the EVER-LIVING. But in the fifth year you may eat its fruit ; its produce shall be for yourselves. I am your EVER-LIVING GOD.

" You shall not eat anything with its blood.

" You shall not worship serpents.

" You shall not worship clouds.

" You shall not cut off the beard on your cheeks ; and you shall not destroy the beard of your chin.

" You shall not make tattooings on your flesh for spirits, nor put written brands upon yourselves. I am the EVER-LIVING.

" You shall not pollute your daughters to whoredom ; by causing them to whore, and filling the country with wickedness.

" You shall keep My Sabbaths, and you shall reverence My sacred things. I am the EVER-LIVING.

" You shall not turn to spirits ; or to fortune-tellers, to inquire of them, to sin with them. I am your EVER-LIVING GOD.

" You shall rise up before the grey-headed, and pay respect to the presence of a judge, and reverence to your GOD. I am the EVER-LIVING.

" And when a foreigner resides in your land you shall not oppress him. As it is with you natives, so it shall be with the foreigners among you ; you shall love them as yourselves ; for you were foreigners in the land of the Mitzeraim. I am your EVER-LIVING GOD.

" You shall not do wrong, in measuring as to length, weight, or measure. You shall have a true scale, true weights, a true bushel, a true gallon. I am your EVER-LIVING GOD Who brought you out of 37 the land of the Mitzeraim, therefore you shall keep the whole of My Institutions, and all My Decrees, and practise them. I am the EVER-LIVING."

The Law against Idolatry.

20 The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses, commanding;

2 "Speak to the children of Israel, to each one of the sons of Israel, and to the foreigners,—the foreigners among Israel. Whoever gives their offspring to Molok, they shall be killed;—the People of the country shall stone them with stones. And I will place My face against that person, and will cut him off from his people for giving his offspring to Molok, to defile MY HOLINESS, and to pollute MY HOLY NAME. And if, to conceal it, the people of the country cover their eyes from the person who gives his offspring to Molok, to destroy him in death, I, however, will set My face against that person, and destroy him, and cut him off, with all those who whore after him, whoring after Molok; from the midst of their people.

Law of Domestic Morality.

6 "The person also who turns to spirits, and to wizards¹ to whore after them;—I will put My face against that person, and will excommunicate him from the midst of his people; for you shall make yourselves holy, and be holy, for I am your EVER-LIVING GOD. Therefore you shall preserve My Institutions, and practise them. I the EVER-LIVING must make you Holy.

9 "Whatever person outrages his father or his mother, let him be put to death. The blood of the outrager of his father or mother is upon himself.

10 "The man who commits adultery with a wife; the man who commits adultery with the wife of his neighbour, shall be killed;—both the adulterer and adulteress.

11 "The man who copulates with a wife of his father, uncovering the sexuality of his father;—they shall both die;—their blood is on themselves.

12 "The man who copulates with his daughter-in-law;—both, who have done that villany, shall die. Their blood is upon themselves.

"And the man who copulates with a male, with the copulation of a woman, commits abomination. They shall both die. Their blood is on themselves.

"And the man who takes a woman and her mother. It is wickedness. They shall burn him in fire with them. That wickedness shall not be in the midst of you.

"And the man who copulates with a beast shall be killed; and the beast shall be slaughtered.

"And the woman who approaches to a beast, to copulate with it, with the copulation of a woman, both the beast and she shall be killed. Their blood is on themselves.

"And the man who takes his sister, the daughter of his father, or the daughter of his mother, and sees her sexuality, and she sees his sexuality,—they are disgraceful, and shall be excommunicated in the sight of their people. He shall bear his sin for uncovering the sexuality of his sister.

"And a man who copulates with a sick woman, and uncovers the nakedness of her fount upon her,—and uncovers the fount of her blood; both shall be cut off from association with their people.

"You shall not uncover the sexuality of the sister of your mother, or the sister of your father, for they are his flesh. Whoever uncovers them shall bear their sin.

"The man who copulates with his aunt, uncovering the sexuality of his aunt, they shall each bear their sin. They shall be killed openly.

"And the man who takes the wife of his brother, in uncovering the sexuality of his brother; they shall be exposed.

"Thus you shall keep all My Institutions, and all My Decrees, and shall practise them, and then the land that I will bring you to as a residence will not spew you out. Thus you shall not conduct yourselves according to the customs of the heathen whom I shall drive out from before you, for they practised all these things in their land, therefore I promised you you should inherit their country, and I will give to you the inheritance of that land flowing with milk and honey. I am your EVER-LIVING GOD, Who will destroy them from among the nations.

¹ Heb.: Fortune-tellers.—F. P.

25 " You shall also distinguish between the clean animals and the unclean, and between the unclean birds and the clean; and you shall not pollute your lives with animal or bird, or any reptile of the field, which I have
26 pointed out to you as unclean; but you shall be healthy before Me, for I, the EVER-LIVING, am HOLY, and have separated you from the nations, to 27 be for MYSELF. Therefore the man or woman who possesses a spirit, or a foreteller, shall be put to death. They shall be stoned with stones. Their blood is upon themselves."

Law as to the Mourning of Priests

21 The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses commanding, " Speak to the priests the sons of Aaron, and command them, that they shall not defile
2 themselves for their relatives. Not even for a near blood relation of them;—for their mother, or for their father, or for their son, or for their
3 daughter, or for their brother, or for their sister, or their dearest loved daughter who has not been to a man
4 to wed her;—he shall not debase, or degrade himself with grief.
5 " They shall not shave strips upon their heads, nor shave off their whiskers, nor cut gashes on their bodies.
6 " They are sacred to their GOD; and shall not lower the NAME of their GOD; for they offer bread to the EVER-LIVING their GOD; they offer themselves, and they shall be healthy.

Marriage Law of Priests.

7 " They shall not take for a wife a whore, or a loose woman; and they shall not marry a woman who has been divorced; for they are holy to 8 the EVER-LIVING. And they shall keep themselves holy, as an offering to your GOD. He who approaches the Holy must be the same; for I the EVER-LIVING make you holy.
9 " And the daughter of a priest who defiles herself with whoredom—she defiles her father. You shall burn her with fire.
10 " The chief priest, also, over his brothers, upon whose head has been poured the Oil of Consecration and his hand filled by the investiture of the robes, shall not neglect his head, 11 and shall not neglect his robes, and never disorder his person for a death;—not if it comes to his father, or his mother,—shall he degrade himself; nor shall he go from the 12 sanctuary; nor shall he wail;—for he has been separated by the Oil of Consecration to his GOD. I am the EVER-LIVING. Therefore he shall 13 take a maiden for his wife. He shall 14 not take a widow, or a divorced woman, or one abandoned to whoredom, any of them, but he shall take a wife only from the virgins of his own people. He shall not degrade 15 his race, or his family; for I the EVER-LIVING have sanctified it."

Law of the High Priestly Succession.

The EVER-LIVING also spoke to 16 Moses saying;—
" Speak to Aaron, and say;—Any 17 man from the offspring of your posterity who may be disfigured shall not approach to offer bread to his 18 GOD. For any man in whom there 19 is a defect shall not approach;—anyone blind, or lame, or flat-nosed, or deformed; or a man who has 20 broken leg; or a broken hand, or humpbacked; or a dwarf, or squint-
21 eyed, or scurried, or scabbed, or defective in his testicles;—any man 22 of the race of Aaron the priest in whom there may be a defect shall not approach to present offerings to the EVER-LIVING;—because of his defect he shall not approach to present bread to his GOD. It is the 23 Bread of GOD for them, Holy of Holies, and the healthy shall eat it. He shall also not come within the 24 veil, nor approach to the altar, because of his defect, so as not to profane My HOLINESS; for I am the EVER-LIVING SANCTIFIER."

Moses consequently spoke this to 24 Aaron and his sons, and to all the children of Israel.

Domestic Laws for Priests.

The EVER-LIVING also spoke to 25 Moses, commanding;—

" Speak to Aaron and his sons, and 2 separate them, as consecrated, from the children of Israel, so that they may not defile My HOLY NAME by which they are sanctified to Me. I am the EVER-LIVING.

" Say to them, for their posterity;
3 Every man of all your race who approaches to the sanctuary which the children of Israel have sanctified to the EVER-LIVING, whilst there is un-cleanness upon him, that person shall be excommunicated from before Me. I am the EVER-LIVING.

4 "Any man from the race of Aaron who has leprosy, or the disease of fornication, shall never eat of what is pure; or if he has a contagion of any disease on his body; or a man who comes from procreative copula; 5 or a man who has touched any reptile that may defile him; or a man that may defile himself by anything that defiles him; a person who defiles him by touch until the evening; 6 he shall not eat of the sacred offerings unless he bathes his body in water. But when the sun sets then he will be clean, and afterwards may eat of the sacred offerings,—for he is clean.

8 "Of a dead or torn carcase he shall not eat, to defile himself with it. I am the EVER-LIVING.

9 "Thus they shall reverence MY TRUSTS, and not bring sin upon themselves, and die in it, to condemn themselves. I the EVER-LIVING consecrate them.

10 "No foreigner shall eat of the sacred offerings. A visitor to the priest, and the hired servant of the family shall not eat of the sacred 11 offerings, but a priest who buys a person, having bought him for money,—that person may eat, and those born in his house may eat of the 12 food. But the daughter of a priest who has a foreign husband may not eat of the Raised-leg of the sacred 13 offerings. But the daughter of a priest who may be a widow, or divorced, and has no offspring for herself, and dwells in the house of her father as in her youth, she may eat of the bread of her father; but any foreigner may not eat it.

14 "Any person, however, who unknowingly eats of sacred offerings, shall return five times as much for it, and give it to the priest for the 15 offerings; for the children of Israel shall not profane My sacred offerings, which are lifted up to the EVER- 16 LIVING; and they shall bear the sin of trespass, if they eat of the sacred gifts, for I am the EVER-LIVING Who sanctifies them."

General Rules of Worship.

17 The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses and said;—

18 "Speak to Aaron and to his sons, and to all the children of Israel, and say to them;

"Any man of the House of Israel, or of the foreigners in Israel, who offers a gift for any of their vows, or for any free-will gift, which they present to the EVER-LIVING for a burnt-offering, that will please, let it 19 be a perfect male from the oxen, or sheep, or goats. Anything that has 20 a defect in it they shall not present, for it will not be pleasing to the EVER-LIVING from them.

"And the man who presents a 21 sacrifice of thanks to the EVER-LIVING to fulfil a vow, or a free-will offering, let it be a perfect beautiful sheep,—there must be no defect in it. The blind or torn shall not be 22 presented to the EVER-LIVING, or the sick, or broken-winded, or scurried, or scabbed. A female, also, shall not be offered by them at the altar of the EVER-LIVING. And an 23 ox, or sheep that is deformed or a dwarf,—if you make a vow of them, they will not be accepted. And if 24 castrated, or crushed, or mutilated, or wounded, you shall not present them to the EVER-LIVING—and you shall not so mutilate them in your country.

"You shall also not present food to 25 your GOD from any of these, by the hand of a foreigner, for to offer by him would be to desecrate them. They would not be accepted from you."

The Rules of Humanity to Animals.

The EVER-LIVING also spoke to 26 Moses commanding;

"When a cow, or a sheep, or a 27 goat has young, then you shall let it be for seven days with its mother, but on the seventh day it will be acceptable as a gift of trespass to the 28 EVER-LIVING. But you shall not slay a cow or a sheep and their young upon the same day. ☽

"And when you sacrifice a sacrifice 29 of thanksgiving to the EVER-LIVING, you should sacrifice it for your delight. Eat it upon the same day; 30 leave nothing of it until the morning.

"I am the EVER-LIVING; and you 31 shall keep My Commandments, and practise them;—I am the EVER-LIVING. And you shall not defile My 32 HOLY NAME; for I will be sanctified in the midst of the children of Israel; I am the EVER-LIVING, Who

33 consecrated you. I brought you out from the land of the Mitzeraim to be a GOD to you. I am the EVER-LIVING."¹

Rams of Festivals.

23 The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses commanding;—

2 "Speak to the children of Israel and say to them;

"These are the festivals of the EVER-LIVING, which you shall proclaim with a Holy Proclamation, as MY FESTIVALS.

3 "You shall do your work for six days, but on the Seventh Day there shall be a rest of rests, with a holy proclamation from all work; you shall do none on the Sabbath. It is for the EVER-LIVING in all your dwelling places.

4 "These are festivals to the EVER-LIVING, with a Holy Proclamation, which you shall proclaim at your festivals.

5 "In the first month, in the fourteenth day of the month, between sunrise and sunset is the Passover

6 of the EVER-LIVING. And on the fifteenth day of that month is the Feast of Unfermented Bread to the EVER-LIVING. For seven days you

7 shall eat unfermented bread. Upon the first day you shall make a holy proclamation. You shall do no servile work; and you shall offer a trespass-offering to the EVER-LIVING, for seven days. For seven days, by a Holy Proclamation, you shall do no labouring work."

The Ram of Harvesting.

9 The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses commanding;

10 "Speak to the children of Israel and say to them;

"When you come into the country that I will give to you, and reap its harvest, you shall bring the first sheaf of your harvest to the priest, and he shall wave the sheaf before the EVER-LIVING to delight you. The priest shall wave it the day after the Sabbath; and you shall offer on the day of your waving of the sheaf a perfect lamb, the son of that year, as a burnt-offering to the EVER-LIVING; with a food offering of a twelfth of flour mixed with oil as a perfume to the EVER-LIVING, a pleasant breath; and, as a draught of wine, the quarter of a hin. And you shall not eat in public bread, or oats, or vegetables on that day, until you have brought this gift to your GOD. This is a perpetual Institution for your posterity, in all your dwelling-places.

¹ I cannot refrain from remarking that no heathen Code of Law has ever contained laws enforcing humanity to animals. Doing so is the peculiar distinction of God's Revelation to man. Let the reader reflect on it.—F. F.

"You shall also count for yourselves from the day after the Sabbath that you bring the Wave-sheaf, seven Sabbaths. They must be complete. Then after the seventh Sabbath, you shall count fifty days, when you shall present a new offering to the EVER-LIVING. You shall bring from your dwellings two wave cakes of two tenths of fine flour. They shall be fermented,—baked in an oven for the EVER-LIVING.

"You shall also offer with this bread seven perfect lambs of a year, and a bullock, a son of the fold, and two rams, which shall be a burnt-offering to the EVER-LIVING, with their food-offerings and their drink-offerings, as a gift of sweet-odour to the EVER-LIVING. You shall offer as well one he goat for a sin-offering, and two lambs of a year old for a thank-offering, and the priest shall wave them with the first-made-bread; he shall wave them before the EVER-LIVING. They shall be sacred to the EVER-LIVING; with the two lambs for the priest.

"Then there shall be made a holy proclamation to the public on that day; it shall be Holy of Holies to you. You shall not do any labouring work. This is an everlasting Institution, in all your dwellings, for your posterity, that in reaping your harvests, you shall not reap to the edge of your fields in your reaping; and you shall not glean. Leave the gleanings for the poor and the foreigners amongst you. I am your EVER-LIVING GOD."

Rams of the Feast of Remembrance and Forgiveness of Sins.

The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses saying;—

"Speak to the children of Israel and say;

"In the seventh month, in the first day of the month, there shall be a Rest for Remembrance of Sins. It is 5 Holy of Holies. You shall not do any labouring work, and you shall offer a burnt-offering to the EVER-LIVING."

A Day of Expiation.

6 The EVER-LIVING also spoke to 7 Moses, to say, further; "On the tenth of the seventh month, there shall be a Day of Expiation. It shall be Holy of Holies to you; and you shall humble yourselves and offer a burnt-offering to the EVER-LIVING.
8 You shall do no labouring work on that day, for it is a Day of Expiation to expiate for you before your EVER-LIVING GOD. Therefore every person who does not humble himself publicly on that day shall be cut off from his family; and every person who does any labouring work on that day, I will trouble that person in the midst of his family. You shall do no work. This is a perpetual Institution for your posterity in all your dwellings.
9 It is a Rest of Rests¹ for you, when you shall humble your souls, on the ninth of the month at daybreak, from dawn to evening;—you shall rest to refresh yourselves."

Laws of the Feast of Tabernacles.

33 The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses;
34 "Speak to the children of Israel and say;—
"On the fifteenth day of the seventh month there shall be the Feast of Tabernacles to the EVER-LIVING for seven days. From the first day proclaimed holy, you shall do no labouring work. You shall present a burnt-offering to the EVER-LIVING for seven days. The eighth day shall be proclaimed Holy for you, and you shall present a burnt-offering to the EVER-LIVING, It shall be a Public Holiday. You shall do no labouring work in it.

General Festivals.

37 "These are the Assemblies of the^o EVER-LIVING, which you shall proclaim with a Holy Proclamation, for presenting and offering a burnt-offering to the EVER-LIVING. A whole burnt-offering and a food-offering; a sacrifice and fragrance day by day;
38 besides the Sabbaths of the EVER-

LIVING, and besides your gifts, and besides all your vows, and free-wills, which you give to the EVER-LIVING.

Feast of the Harbrest Home.

"Also on the fifteenth day of the seventh month after the reaping of the produce of your land, you shall enjoy the feast of the EVER-LIVING for seven days, from the first day after the Sabbath, until the eighth day after the Sabbath, You shall 40 then take for yourselves on the first day handfuls of the finest fruits from the trees, with the palm, and boughs of the bushes, and willow, and enjoy yourselves before your EVER-LIVING GOD for seven days. Thus you shall 41 feast in this Feast to the EVER-LIVING seven days every year. It shall be a perpetual Institution for your descendants. You shall hold the festival in the seventh month; living in tents for 42 seven days. All the natives of Israel shall live in tents; so that your posterity may know that the sons of Israel dwelt in tents when I brought you out from the land of the Mitzraim. I am your EVER-LIVING GOD."

Moses consequently commanded 44 these feasts of the EVER-LIVING to the children of Israel.

The Law of the Lamps and Shetobread.

The EVER-LIVING also spoke to 24 Moses, commanding;—

"Order the children of Israel to 2 bring to you olive oil, pressed pure, for the lamps to raise a clear light outside the Veil of the Witnesses in 3 the Hall of Assembly, which Aaron shall arrange continually from evening till dawn before the EVER-LIVING. It shall be an Institution for your posterity for ever, to arrange 4 a pure light before the EVER-LIVING continually.

"Yourself, also, take flour and 5 bake from it twelve cakes;—these twelve cakes shall be of equal size, and place them in two piles six in a 6 pile, on the pure table before the EVER-LIVING; and place upon the 7 piles pure incense, and they will be the Bread of Remembrance, like a burnt-offering to the EVER LIVING. From a Sabbath Day to a Sabbath
8 Day they shall be always arranged before the EVER-LIVING as an everlasting covenant with the children of

¹ Sabbath of Sabbaths.—F. F.

9 Israel. And they shall belong to Aaron and to his sons, and be eaten in the Holy Place, for they are Holy of Holies to them from the offerings to the EVER-LIVING. This is a perpetual Institution."

The Law of Blasphemy.

- 10 It occurred once that the son of an Israelitish woman, who was also the son of a Mitzerite man, among the sons of Israel, quarrelled in the camp with the son of an Israelitish woman and an Israelite man; and the son of the Israelitish woman cursed THE NAME, and insulted it. They therefore brought him to Moses. The name of his mother, however, was Shelamith, the daughter of Dibri of the tribe of Dan. So they put him under guard to enquire about him from the EVER-LIVING.
- 13 The EVER-LIVING consequently spoke to Moses, commanding;—
- 14 "Take the blasphemer outside the camp, and let all who heard him lay their hands upon his head, and let all the Assembly kill him. Then you shall command the children of Israel saying;—Whatever person curses his GOD shall bear his sin, and the blasphemer of the name of the EVER-LIVING shall die. You shall kill him; all the Assembly shall stone him. All of the population who blasphemes the NAME, whether native or foreigner, shall die.
- 17 "And whoever strikes off the life of a man, shall die.
- 18 "And whoever strikes the life of a beast, shall pay life for life.
- 19 "And a person who inflicts injury upon his neighbour; as he has done, so you shall do to him. Wound for wound; eye for eye; tooth for tooth; whatever injury he has done to a man, the same shall be done to him.
- 21 "Thus whoever kills a beast shall compensate for it; but whoever kills a man shall die.
- 22 "There shall be equal justice with you for the foreigner, and the native;—For I am your EVER-LIVING GOD."
- 23 Moses consequently spoke to the children of Israel, and they brought out the blasphemer from the camp, and killed him with stones. Thus the children of Israel did as the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses.

Law of the Sabbath of the Land.

The EVER-LIVING also spoke to 25 Moses in Mount Sinai commanding;—

"Speak to the children of Israel and say to them;—When you arrive in the land that I will give to you, you shall grant the land a rest of rests to the EVER-LIVING.

"You shall sow your fields for six 3 years, and prune your vineyards for six years, and then cease to go to them; and in the seventh year there 4 shall be a Rest of Rests for the land to the EVER-LIVING. You shall not sow your fields, nor prune your vineyards. You shall not reap the self- 5 grown harvest, nor cut off the bunches from your vine. It is a Rest of Rests for the earth. There shall 6 be a rest of the earth to feed it; for you, and for your servant, and for your maid servant, and for your hired labourer, and for the foreigners residing with you, and for your cattle 7 and animals that are in your country—who shall all be allowed to eat of it.

The Law of the Jubilee.

"Also reckon for yourselves seven 8 Sabbaths of years,—seven years seven times, and they shall be for you a period of seven sevens of years,— 9 forty-nine years. Then pass a loud 9 sounding trumpet through all the country. It shall be sent out upon the tenth day of the seventh month, on the Day of Expiation, to sanctify 10 the fiftieth year, and proclaim liberty 10 in the country to all its inhabitants. It shall be a JUBILEE to you, when every person shall return to his inheritance, and everyone shall be restored to his family. Every fiftieth 11 year shall be a JUBILEE for you. You shall neither sow nor reap, nor prune the vines; for it shall be a 12 Holy Jubilee for you. Eat from the field what springs from it. In this 13 Jubilee Year everyone shall return to his inheritance. For what you buy 14 in a sale of your neighbour, or acquire from the hand of your neighbour, does not dispossess your brother of it. According to the 15 number of years after a Jubilee you must purchase from your neighbour, you must buy it according to the number of years to run for yourself, 16 in proportion to the number of years you shall increase the money, and in proportion to the fewness of the years you shall decrease the purchase price. Thus from the number to run it shall be purchased for yourself. For you shall not dispossess any of your neighbours, but fear your EVER-LIVING GOD; for I am your EVER-LIVING GOD, and you shall practise My Institutions and My Decrees; guarding and observing them; and dwell in the land in safety. Then the earth will give her fruits, and you can eat them to your fill, and live securely upon it. But if you ask; 'What shall we eat in that seventh year, when we have neither sown nor continued our labours?' I will then send My blessing to you in the sixth year, and make the produce of it for three years. But you may sow in the eighth year, and eat the stored produce in the eighth year until the coming in of products in the ninth year—until its produce comes you must eat what was stored.

23 "Thus you shall not sell your land for ever, for the land is MINE, and you only foreigners and visitors with Me, and with all the land you purchase, a power of redemption for the inheritance shall be given with the land.

Restoration of Land may be Purchased before the Jubilee.

25 "When your brother is reduced to poverty, and sells some of his inheritance, if a relative of his brings the redemption for it, then the purchaser shall restore it to his brother. But if the person has not the redemption money, but he acquires it, and obtains possession of the amount for its redemption, then the years from its purchase shall be counted, and the balance paid to the person who purchased it, and his inheritance shall be restored. But if he cannot attain possession of enough to pay to the purchaser, it shall remain in his possession until the year of JUBILEE, and when the JUBILEE comes then he shall return to his inheritance.

The Law of Real Estate in Walled Towns.

29 "But if a person sells a dwelling-house in a walled town, then the redemption shall be at the end of a year from its purchase;—that shall be the time of its redemption. But if he has not redeemed at the end of the complete year, and the house stands in a town which has walls, he is dispossessed for ever; it shall not return to his posterity at the JUBILEE.

"But houses in a court, where there are not fortified walls around, shall return with the land of the farm that belongs to them. They shall return with it when the JUBILEE comes.

The Law of Real Estate in Levite Cities.

"But the cities of the Levites,—the houses in the cities of the Levites are their inheritance. They shall always be redeemable to the Levites; but when redeemed, it shall be by the Levites, and the purchaser shall quit the house, or village he has acquired, at the JUBILEE; for the village homes of the Levites are their inheritance in the midst of the children of Israel. But they shall not sell the grazing lands around their villages, for they are a perpetual inheritance for them.

The Law of Insolvency.

"But if your brother becomes poor, and his hand fails among you, you must help him like a foreigner and settler, and let him live with you. Take no usury or increase from him, but fear your GOD, and let your brother live with you. You shall not lend your money to him at usury, and you shall not lend him food at increase; for I am your EVER-LIVING GOD Who brought you from the land of the Mitzeraim to give you the land of Canaan, to be for you from the EVER-LIVING.

"Therefore when your brother becomes poor with you, and sells himself to you, you shall not work him as slaves work. He shall be with you as a hired man, until the year of JUBILEE, to serve you. Then he shall go from you, he and his children with him, and return to his family, and to the inheritance of his fathers; for you were slaves in the land of the Mitzeraim when I brought you out. You shall not purchase him as you purchase a slave. You shall not reduce him to slavery, but shall fear your GOD.

Laws of Slavery.

- 14 "Your men and women slaves, however, you may buy from the nations that surround you; they shall be 45 your slaves. And you may also buy the children of the foreign residents among you, and from their families who are with you who are born in your country, and they shall be your 46 property. You may also bequeath them to your children after you, to hold them as property for ever, and they shall serve you. But your relatives of the children of Israel are men, and your brothers; you shall not reduce them to slavery.

A Hebrew Slave may Work Himself Free.

- 47 "When, however, a foreigner or settler among you obtains property in one of your poor brethren, and he is sold to the foreign resident, to be added to the family of the 48 foreigner; he shall be redeemable after he has been sold to him; any one of his relatives may redeem him.
 49 His uncle or cousin may redeem him, or any relation by blood of his family may redeem, or he may acquire property and redeem himself, and pay to his purchaser according to the years he bought him for, up to the year of JUBILEE. That shall be the price given to his purchaser—proportionate to the number of years by the scale of wages that 51 might belong to him. If the years are many before them, he shall give back equivalent money to his purchaser; and if few of the years are remaining to the year of JUBILEE, then he shall repay to him proportionate to the space of years, as the 53 redemption fee; according to the wages year by year it shall be. You shall not add a profit for your eyes.
 54 But if he is redeemed by none of these, then he shall be freed at the year of JUBILEE, both himself and his children with him. For the children of Israel are MY SERVANTS, whom I brought up out of the land of the Mitzeraim. I am their EVER-LIVING GOD.

Prohibition of Idol-making.

- 26 "You shall not make idols for yourselves; nor shall you set up columns for yourselves; nor shall you erect stone images in your country, for objects of worship,—for I am your EVER-LIVING GOD.

"You shall keep My Sabbaths, and 2 you shall reverence My Sanctuary. I am the EVER-LIVING.

THE SONG OF BLESSINGS.

Blessings secured by Obedience and Punishment by Rebell.

"If you are guided by My Institu- 3
 tions,
 And guard My Commandments, and do them,
 I will then give my rain in its 4
 seasons,
 And the earth will give her produce,
 And the trees of the field their fruit.

And your thrashing shall last till 5
 vintage,
 And vintage shall overtake seedtime,
 And you shall eat bread to fulness,
 And live secure in your land.

And I will give the land peace; 6
 And drive savage beasts from its fields;
 And the sword shall not govern
 your country,
 And your enemies you shall subdue, 7
 And fell them before your sword.
 Five of you shall conquer a hun- 8
 dred,
 And a hundred defeat ten thousand,
 And your foes fall to your sword,

My Presence shall be with you, 9
 And you shall increase and grow,
 I will fix My covenant with you,
 And feed till you rest in peace, 10
 And sleep and rise refreshed.¹

I will fix My Home among you, 11
 And turn not away My soul.
 March with you and be your GOD, 12
 And My PEOPLE you shall be:
 For I am your LIVING GOD, 13

¹ V. 10. Alternative reading, "And you shall eat the old (or sleeping) store; and bring out the old from the face of the new." But this rendering does not carry the Oriental idea of sleep as the highest blessing, and to my view to translate the word as "old" is a violation of the Hebrew verb "Yashen," "to sleep," although A. V. and R. V. adopt it—F. P.

Who brought from Mitzer's land
 To whom you had been enslaved,
 And from off you broke their rod,
 And in triumph marched you out!

14 But if you refuse to hear Me,
 And obey not all My Commandments;

15 And if you despise My Statutes;
 And turn your souls from My Laws,
 To neglect to do My Commandments,
 And break away from My Bonds;—

16 Then this I will do to you;—
 Will send you consumption, and fever,
 Wasting of eyes, and a fainting soul;
 And scatter your race to the wind;
 And your foes shall devour yourselves.

17 I will set my face against you,
 And strike you before your foes;
 And those who hate you shall drive,
 And you fly from instead of pursue,

18 And if for this you will not hear Me,
 I will sevenfold punish your sins,

19 And break the pride of your strength;
 And turn your skies into iron,
 And make your ground like brass;

20 And to nothing reduce your strength.
 Your land shall not give her increase,
 Nor the trees of the land their fruit.

21 And if you load Me perversely,
 And will not listen to Me,
 I will sevenfold punish your sins,

22 And wild beasts shall destroy your sons,
 And cut off your herds, and reduce,
 And haunt you upon your roads.

23 If for these you turn not to Me,
 But perversely load Me still;

24 Then I will load you with grief,
 And heavily strike your sins;

25 And bring cruel slaughter upon
 you,
 To avenge the broken Law,
 And crowd you into your cities,
 And there send the plague to you,
 And give to the hand of your foemen.

26 I will then break the staff of your bread;
 And in one oven ten shall bake.

And your bread shall be given by weighing,
 You shall eat, but shall not be filled.

If for this you will not hearken, 27
 But still recoil upon Me,
 I then will advance on you fiercely, 28
 And charge on you in My wrath,—
 I, Myself, for your sevenfold sins.
 You shall then eat the flesh of 29
 your sons
 And the flesh of your daughters consume.
 And I will destroy your High 30
 Towers,
 And cut off your Sin-gods from
 you,
 Your carrion fling to your carrion
 Idols,
 And from you My soul turn away. 31

I will turn your cities to deserts,
 And your sanctifications reject,
 And smell not the smell of your sweets.
 Your land shall be turned to a 32
 waste,
 And o'er it your enemies rule,
 And reside in it as their own;
 While I fling you out to the 33
 heathen,
 And a hot wind blow after
 you,
 And by it your land shall be wasted,
 And your skins shall be burnt by its breath,—
 Till the ground has enjoyed all its 34
 Sabbaths
 By the time that it lies as a waste,
 And your haters shall be in the land,
 Whilst it rests, and delights in its rest.
 It shall rest in its desolate time,— 35
 For you gave it not rest in your rests,
 While upon it you rested yourselves.
 Your fragments shall have coward 36
 hearts,
 As you crouch in the lands of your foes;—
 Who shall drive you by threatening voice;
 And you fly as men fly from hot blasts,
 And fall down when no one pursues.
 You shall stagger the one on the 37
 other,

- As though from the face of such blasts,
Though no one pursues,
And never stand up to your foes.
- 38 You shall wander among every nation,
And tramp in the lands of your foes,
- 39 And your remnants shall waste in your sins
In the land of your foes as they watch,
For the sins of your fathers and selves,—
Till confessing the faults of yourselves,
- 40 And the faults that your fathers have done;
And your treacherous revolt against Me,
And the fury with which you assailed!
- 41 I, therefore, dealt fiercely with you,
And brought to the land of your foes.
- If your hard hearts, however, there bow,
And you purify them from their sins,
- 42 I will think of My Bond made with Jacob,
And also with Isaac My Bond,
And with Abraham remember My Covenant,—
And also remember the Land.
- 43 Thus the Land rid of their load,
And freed, shall in quietude rest.
But they shall be gorged with their sins,
And gorged by My Judgments despised,
And My Statutes their souls had abhorred.
- 44 But tho' thus, in the land of their foes,—
I will not reject them, nor loathe,
So far as My Treaty to break,
For I am their STILL-LIVING GOD!
I therefore will bring to their minds
- 45 My old treaty contracted with them
In the sight of the Heathen around,
To be their GOD,—for I am THE LIFE!
- 46 These are the Institutions and Judgments and the Laws which the EVER-LIVING appointed between Himself and between the children of Israel at Mount Sinai, by the hand of Moses.

The Law of Personal Vows on Mankind.

The EVER-LIVING also spoke to 27
Moses, saying:—

"Speak to the children of Israel 2 and say to them, When a person separates himself, for you to value his life for the EVER-LIVING, you 3 shall value him for a male from twenty years old to sixty years; and your valuation for a male shall be fifty shekels of silver by the sacred shekel, but if it is for a female, your valuation 4 shall be thirty shekels. But if from 5 five up to twenty years old, then the value of a male shall be twenty shekels, and for a female ten shekels. But if from a month up to five years 6 old, then the value of a male shall be five shekels of silver, and for a female the value three shekels of silver. But if they are sixty years old or more, 7 if a male, then the value shall be fifteen shekels, and for a female ten shekels. But if the redeemable person is defective, then he shall be placed before 8 the priest, and the priest shall estimate what may be the amount of his value for the vow he is to pay to the priest.

Vows upon Animals.

"But if it is a beast that they sacrifice from, that is vowed to the EVER-LIVING, all that belongs to it shall be sacred to the EVER-LIVING. They 9 shall not alter or change it good for bad, or bad for good; but if it is changed it shall be changed for a beast of the same kind, and the exchange shall be sacred. But if of any 11 unclean beast, which they do not offer as a gift to the EVER-LIVING, then the beast shall be shown to the priest, and the priest shall estimate 12 its value between good and bad, and it shall be redeemed as the priest decides, but if they redeem it, they 13 shall then add a fifth part to the valuation.

Vows upon a House.

"But if a man devotes his house as 14 sacred to the EVER-LIVING, then the priest shall estimate between good and bad; as the priest values it so it 15 shall stand, but if the consecrator redeems his house, he must add one fifth to the money-value above what has been fixed for it.

Holies on a Farm.

16 "But if anyone consecrates his inherited farm to the EVER-LIVING, it shall then be valued according to its acreage; what takes a khomer of seed
17 at fifty shekels of silver. But if he consecrates his farm before the year of Jubilee, the priest shall then calculate for him the money on the basis 18 of the years remaining until the year of Jubilee, and equate the valuation.
19 But if he redeems the farm which he had consecrated, he shall then add a fifth above the valuation price, and it 20 shall continue his. But if he does not redeem the farm, or if he sells the land to another person afterward, 21 he cannot redeem it for ever; but the farm shall be consecrated to the EVER-LIVING; until the arrival of the Jubilee the estate shall be as a farm
22 for cultivation for the priests. But if the farm has been purchased, and was not an entailed estate which he 23 consecrated to the EVER-LIVING then the priest shall fix a redemption for him by the amount of value according to the year of Jubilee, and decide the value from the day he has consecrated to the EVER-LIVING.
24 Then the estate shall return at the year of Jubilee from the person who bought it, to the person to whom it was an entailed land. Every valuation shall be by the sacred shekel; twenty ghera are a shekel.
25
26 "However, a first-born that is born to the EVER-LIVING, no man shall consecrate, whether an ox or a sheep. It is the EVER-LIVING'S.

"But if of an unclean beast, then 27 it shall be valued as an ox, and one fifth of the price above it, and if it is not redeemed, it shall be sold at the valuation.

"However, anything devoted to 28 destruction, which a person devotes to the EVER-LIVING, of anything he possesses, from man to beast, or an estate of inheritance, he shall not sell it, but he shall redeem¹ every devoted thing; it shall be Holy of Holies to the EVER-LIVING. Any- 29 thing devoted, which is devoted by a man, which is unredeemable, shall be put to death.

What is Tithable.

"And all tithe of the land, from the 30 grain of the earth, from the fruit of the tree, is sacred to the EVER-LIVING; but if a person redeems it, 31 from tithe, he shall add one fifth to it. All tithe of cattle and sheep, all 32 that passes under the measure for tithing, shall be sacred to the EVER-LIVING. You shall not distinguish 33 between good and bad, and not change, but if you do change, then the exchange shall be sacred, it shall not be redeemed."

These are the commands which the 34 EVER-LIVING commanded by Moses to the children of Israel at Mount Sinai.

¹ V. 28. The Hebrew text reads, לֹא יִקָּדֵשׁ, "loygal," "shall not be redeemed," which is clearly an error of transcription, as it is contrary to the sense. — F. F.

END OF THE BOOK OF LEVITICUS.

THE FOURTH BOOK OF MOSES, COMMONLY CALLED NUMBERS.

(BE MIDBAR = IN THE DESERT.)

Command to Organize an Army.

The Census of Israel.

- 1 THE EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses in the desert of Sinai, at the Hall of Assembly, in the first month, in the second year of the years after coming from the land of the Mitzeraim, commanding ;
- 2 "Record the names of all the chiefs of the children of Israel by the families of their ancestors in the Register of Names; each man from his own roll; from twenty years old and upwards, all who can go to war of the children of Israel—you and Aaron organize them into their own regiments. They must be assigned each to his own tribe,—each to the captain of the house of his ancestors.
- 3 And these are the names of the men you shall appoint over them.
- 4 "To Reuben, Alizur the son of Shadiaur ;
- 5 "To Simeon, Shemulial, the son of Tzurishadai ;
- 6 "To Judah, Makshan, the son of Aminadab ;
- 7 "To Issakar, Nakishan the son of Tzoar ;
- 8 "To Zebulon, Aliab, the son of Khilon ;
- 9 "To the sons of Joseph;—To Ephraim, Alishamar, the son of Amihud ;
- 10 "To Manasseh, Gamalial the son of Phidatzur ;
- 11 "To Benjamin, Abidan the son of Ghidoni ;
- 12 "To Dan, Akhiazur the son of Amishaddai ;
- 13 "To Asher, Phanuel the son of Aknan,
- 14 "To Gad, Aliashur the son of Rael ;
- 15 "To Naphthali, Akhira the son of Ainan ;
- 16 "I have nominated these to be chiefs to bear the standards of the tribes of their ancestors. They are the princes of the regiments of Israel."

Moses and Aaron therefore took 17 these men who were indicated to them by name, and they summoned all the 18 chiefs of families on the first of the second month, and they produced to them their records of the houses of their fathers, from the Books of Register, from twenty years old and upwards by their records ;—as the 19 EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses, and appointed in the desert of Sinai.

And these were descendants of the 20 sons of Reuben, the oldest son of Israel, according to the registers of their ancestral houses in the records of names on their heads ;—all males of twenty years old and upwards ; all capable of army-service, regimented 21 under the standard of Reuben, forty-six thousand, five hundred.

Of the men descended from Simeon, 22 by the register of the house of their fathers, arranged from the records of names on their heads, all males of twenty years old and upwards,—all capable of army-service,—regimented 23 under the standard of Simeon, fifty-nine thousand, and six hundred.

Of the men descended from Gad, 24 from the registers of their ancestral houses by the record of names, from twenty years old and upwards,—all capable of army-service,—regimented 25 under the standard of Gad, forty-five thousand, six hundred and fifty.

Of the men descended from Judah, 26 by the register of their ancestral houses, by the record of names, from twenty years old and upwards,—all capable of army-service,—regimented 27 under the standard of Judah, seventy-four thousand, six hundred.

- 28 Of the men descended from Issakar, by the registers of their ancestral houses in the record of names, from twenty years old and upwards,—all
- 29 capable of army-service,—regimented under the standard of Issakar, fifty-four thousand, four hundred.
- 30 Of the men descended from Zebulon, by the registers of their ancestral houses in the record of names, from twenty years old and upwards,—all capable of army-service,—
- 31 regimented under the standard of Zebulon, fifty-seven thousand, four hundred.
- 32 Of the men of Joseph; of the sons descended from Ephraim, by the registers of their ancestral houses, by the record of names, from twenty years old and upwards,—all capable of army-service,—regimented under
- 33 the standard of Ephraim, forty thousand, five hundred.
- 34 Of the men descended from Manasseh, by the registers of their ancestral houses, by the record of names, from twenty years old and upwards,—
- 35 all capable of army-service,—regimented under the standard of Manasseh, thirty-two thousand, two hundred.
- 36 Of the men descended from Benjamin, by the registers of their ancestral houses, by the record of names, from twenty years old and upwards,
- 37 —all capable of army-service,—regimented under the standard of Benjamin, thirty-five thousand, four hundred.
- 38 Of the men descended from Dan, by the registers of their ancestral houses, by the record of names, from twenty years old and upwards,—all
- 39 capable of army-service,—regimented under the standard of Dan, sixty-two thousand, seven hundred.
- 40 Of the men descended from Asher, by the registers of their ancestral houses, by the record of names, from twenty years old and upwards,
- 41 —all capable of army-service,—regimented under the standard of Asher, forty-one thousand, five hundred.
- 42 Of the men descended from Naphthali, by the registers of their ancestral houses, by the record of names, from twenty years old and upwards,
- 43 —all capable of army-service,—regimented under the standard of Naphthali, fifty-three thousand, four hundred.
- 44 These were the Army Divisions that Moses and Aaron organized; and the generals of Israel were twelve men;—each was appointed from the house of their fathers. And the 45 officers of the children of Israel were all from the house of their fathers from twenty years old and upwards, all capable of army-service in Israel; and the total number of all the 46 enrolled was six hundred and three thousand, five hundred and fifty. The Levites, however, were not 47 enrolled among them.

The Appointment of a Priesthood.

Then the EVER-LIVING spoke to 48 Moses commanding;

"Regarding the tribe of Levi; you 49 shall not enrol it, so that they may not raise their head in the midst of the sons of Israel. However you 50 shall organize the Levites for the sanctuary of the nation, and for all the services, and for all pertaining to them. They shall carry the sanctuary and all its furniture, and shall encamp round and guard the sanctuary. When the sanctuary is to advance, 51 the Levites shall take it down; and when the sanctuary is to be pitched the Levites shall raise it, and the stranger who approaches shall be killed. But the sons of Israel shall 52 attend each to their own camp, and each to the flag of their regiments, 53 whilst the Levites must attend about the sanctuary of the nation, that there may not be anger upon the nation of the sons of Israel; therefore the Levites shall guard the sanctuary of the nation."

The children of Israel consequently 54 did all that the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses. They did it.

The Orders for Encamping.

The EVER-LIVING also spoke to 2 Moses commanding;

"Let each encamp by his flag at the 2 standard of the ancestral house of the sons of Israel. Let them begin to encamp around the Hall of Assembly on the east.

"The encampment on the east, from 3 the sunrising, shall be for the standard of the camp of the army of Judah; and let Nakhishan the son of Aminadah command the sons of Judah, with his organized force of 4 seventy-four thousand, six hundred.

"And let the tribe of Issakar en- 5 camp next them, and the commander of the sons of Issakar be Nathanael

- 6 the son of Tzoar, with his organized force of fifty thousand, four hundred.
- 7 "Next the tribe of Zebulon. Let the commander of the sons of Zebulon be Aliab the son of Khelon,
- 8 with his organized force of fifty-seven thousand, four hundred.
- 9 "All the regiments in the camp of Judah numbering one hundred and eighty-six thousand, four hundred; this force shall march first.
- 10 "The standard of Reuben shall be on the south with its force; and the commander of the sons of Reuben shall be Aliezar the son of Shadiaur,
- 11 with his organized force of forty-six thousand, five hundred.
- 12 "And let the tribe of Simeon encamp next them; and the commander of the tribe of Simeon be Shilumiel the son of Tzurishadai;
- 13 and his organized force be fifty-nine thousand, six hundred.
- 14 "Then the tribe of Gad; and let the commander of the sons of Gad be Alisaph the son of Rael, with his organized force of forty-five thousand, six hundred and fifty. All the organized forces in the camp of Reuben were one hundred and fifty-one thousand, four hundred and fifty. And this division shall march second.
- 17 "But the camp of the Hall of Assembly shall march with the Levites between the camps: as they encamp,—they shall march each alongside of their flag.
- 18 "Let the standard of the camp of Ephraim with his force be on the west; and the commander of the sons of Ephraim shall be Alishamah the son of Amihud; and his organized force be forty thousand, five hundred.
- 20 "And next to him let there be the tribe of Manasseh; and the commander of the sons of Manasseh shall be Gamaliel the son of Phidatzur; and his organized force be thirty-two thousand, two hundred.
- 22 "Then the tribe of Benjamin; and the commander of the sons of Benjamin shall be Abidan the son of Khidaoni; and his organized force be thirty-five thousand, four hundred.
- 24 "All the enrolments in the camp of Ephraim were one hundred and eight thousand, one hundred; they shall march third with their force.
- 25 "Let the standard of the tribe of Dan be on the north with its force; and the commander of the sons of Dan shall be Akhiazur the son of Amishadai, and his organized force be sixty-two thousand, seven hundred.

"And let the tribe of Asher encamp next them; and the commander of the sons of Asher shall be Phanuel the son of Akran, and his organized force was one and forty thousand, five hundred.

"Then the tribe of Naphthali; and let the commander of the sons of Naphthali be Akhira the son of Ainan; and his organized force be fifty-three thousand, four hundred.

"All the enrolments in the camp of Dan were one hundred and fifty-seven thousand, six hundred, who marched in the rear after their flags."

These were the divisions of the children of Israel, by their ancestral houses. The numbers in the regiments, in the camps of their forces, were six hundred and three thousand, five hundred, and fifty.¹ But the Levites were not enrolled among the sons of Israel, as the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses.

The children of Israel did as the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses. They encamped by their regiments, and thus they marched;—each with his family, by the house of their fathers.

Families of Moses and Aaron.

The following were the children of Aaron and Moses at the time the EVER-LIVING spoke with Moses at Mount Sinai.

The Sons of Aaron.

And these are the names of the sons of Aaron. The eldest Nadab, and Abihu, Aliazar and Aithamar. These were the names of the sons of Aaron the consecrated priest, who filled the office of priests. But Nadab and Abihu died before the LORD, when they offered strange fire before the EVER-LIVING in the Wilderness of Sinai; and they had no sons, so Aliazar and Aithamar became priests in the presence of Aaron their father.

Confirmation of Tribes as Priests.

Then the EVER-LIVING spoke to Moses saying,
"Present the tribe of Levi, and station them before Aaron the priest,

¹ Note 50=lit. "a set of ten fives."—F. P.

7 and they shall serve with him, and guard what is intrusted to him, and the trusts of all the congregation, in the Hall of Assembly, and perform
 5 the services of the sanctuary. They shall also guard all the furniture of the Hall of Assembly, and the trusts of the children of Israel, and perform
 7 the services of the sanctuary. Therefore give the Levites to Aaron and his sons. Presenting them to him as an offering for the children of Israel, 10 and instruct Aaron and his sons, that they must preserve the priesthood, and the stranger who approaches it shall die."

Separation of the Tribe of Levi.

11 The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses commanding;—
 12 "I, also, now, have taken the Levites from among the children of Israel; so the Levites shall be Mine, for all the firstborn were Mine at the 13 time when I cut off all the firstborn in the land of the Mitzeraim. I then dedicated all the firstborn of Israel to Myself, from man and also from beast. They shall be Mine. I am the EVER-LIVING."

The Levites to be Organized.

14 The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses in the Wilderness of Sinai, commanding, 15 "Organize the sons of Levi by their ancestral houses from their registers,—you must organize every male from a month old and upwards."
 16 Moses consequently organized them as the EVER-LIVING commanded; and these were the sons of Levi by their names;—Ghershon, and Kahath, and Merari.
 18 And these were the names of the sons of Ghershon, by their registers, Libni and Shimai.
 19 And the sons of Kahath, by their registers, Amram and Itzar, Khabron and Ouzial.
 20 And the sons of Merari by their registers, Makhli, and Mashi.
 These are from the registers of the 21 ancestral houses of Levi; from the registers of Ghershon, from the registers of Libni; from the registers of Shimai. These were from the registers of the Gherшонites.
 22 They were organized from the books, every male from a month old and upwards;¹—their enrolment was seven thousand, five hundred.

"The families of the Gherшонites shall encamp behind the sanctuary, to the westward; and the commander 24 of the house of the Gherшонites shall be Aliasaph the son of Lael. Thus the duties of the sons of Ghershon shall be in the Hall of Assembly
 25 about the sanctuary, and the sacred tabernacle, and the screen before the entrance of the Hall of Assembly, and 26 the curtains of the court, and the screen at the entrance of the court, that is above the sanctuary; and around the altar, and all the instruments for the whole of the services."

And those enrolled from the families of the Amramites, and from the families of the Izeharites, and from the families of the Khabronites, and from the families of the Azrialites, those who were from the families of Kaharites according to the register,— 28 all the males, from a month old and upwards, were eight thousand, six hundred to form the guard of the Holy Place.

"The families of the sons of Kahath shall encamp upon the south side of the sanctuary; and the commander of the families of Kalathites shall be Alizaphan the son of Azial. They shall be entrusted with the ark, 31 and the table, and the lamp, and the altars, and the sacred furniture, which they shall guard; with the screen, and all the appliances of the services. The prince who commands
 32 the Levites shall be Aliazar the son of Aaron, the priest, who shall be appointed to guard the sacred trusts."

But in conjunction with Merari were the families of Makhli, and the family of Mushi. They were with the family of Merari. They were also enrolled in the register every male from 34 a month old and upwards, six thousand, two hundred;

"And the commander of the 35 ancestral house of Merari shall be Tzurial the son of Abikhail. They shall encamp at the north side of the sanctuary; and the duties of the sons 36 of Merari shall be the guardianship of the planks of the sanctuary; and the cross-bars, and the pillars; and the bases, and all the appurtenances, as well as the pillars of the surrounding court, and their bases, and the spikes and ropes.

¹ V. 22. N.B. lit. "from the son of a renewal and upwards." I.e., a renewal of the simplest astronomical cycle, a month. Compare "Sons of the Resurrection."—F. F.

38 "But Moses and Aaron shall encamp before the sanctuary on the east, in front of the Hall of Assembly, and Aaron and his sons shall guard the sacred things confided to them in trust for the children of Israel; and if a stranger approaches he shall be killed."

39 All the enrolments of the Levites that Moses and Aaron organized before the EVER-LIVING from their families, all males from a month old and upwards, were twenty-two thousand.

Census of the Firstborn ordered.

40 The EVER-LIVING also said to Moses, "Take a census of every first-born male of the children of Israel, from a month old and upwards, and record them in a register by name.
41 But you shall separate the Levites for Myself,—I, the EVER-LIVING—instead of all the firstborn of the children of Israel, and the cattle of the Levites also instead of the firstborn of the cattle of the children of Israel."

42 Moses therefore enumerated as the EVER-LIVING commanded him, every male of the children of Israel, and all the firstborn males were recorded in the register of names, from a month old and upwards, to the number of forty thousand, two hundred and seventy-three.

Separation of the Levites ordered.

44 The EVER-LIVING afterwards spoke to Moses, commanding;—

45 "Separate the Levites instead of the firstborn of the children of Israel, and the cattle of the Levites instead of their cattle. The Levites shall be 46 Mine; I am the EVER-LIVING. And for the redemption of the firstborn of the children of Israel in excess of the 47 number, take five shekels for each head, by the sacred shekel. Let there be twenty grains to a shekel, 48 and give the money to Aaron and his sons to redeem that excess."

49 Moses consequently collected the money for their ransom from the persons in excess of the firstborn 50 who were ransomed, from the children of Israel. The tax by that money produced one thousand, three hundred and sixty-five shekels, by the sacred shekel. Moses gave the money 51 of the ransom to Aaron and his sons before the EVER-LIVING:—as the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses.

The Sons of Kahath appointed Guardians of the Sacred Vessels.

The EVER-LIVING also commanded 4 Moses and Ahron to say,

"Enumerate the persons of the 2 sons of Kahath from among the sons of Levi, by the registers of their ancestral house, from the age of 3 thirty years and upwards to fifty years;—all capable of army service,—to conduct the business of the Hall of Assembly. The work of the sons 4 of Kahath shall be in the Hall of Assembly, Holy of Holies. But 5 Aaron and his sons shall proceed to pitch the tabernacle and to take down the veil of the screen and to cover with it the Ark of Witnesses; and 6 they shall put over it the covering of badgers' skins, and spread the beautiful azure cloth over all, and put in the staves. And spread the azure 7 cloth over the Table of the Presence, and place upon it the dishes, and the cups, and the hammers, and the coronal, and the pitcher, and the bread, arranged upon it. Then they 8 shall spread over them the blue-red cloth, and cover it with the covering of badger skin and put the staves into its handles. Then take the 9 azure cloth and cover the lamps of light, and the reflectors, and the snuffers, and their dishes, and collect the whole of the furniture, whose guardianship is with them, and place them, and the whole of the 10 furniture, under the covering of badger skin, and put them on the waggons. They shall also spread 11 the azure cloth over the Golden Altar, and cover it with the covering of badger skin, and put its staves into it.

"They shall also take the whole of 12 the instruments, the custody of which is with them, to the Holy-place, and cover with the azure cloth, and wrap them in the covering of badger skin, and put them on the waggons. They 13 shall also clean the altar and spread over it the purple cloth and place upon it all its instruments whose custody is with them:—the shovels, 14 the rakes, and sprinklers, and the brushes, and all the instruments of the altar, and spread over them a covering of badger skin, and put the staves into the handles. And Aaron and his sons shall complete the covering of the sanctuary, and the whole of the sacred furniture, at the striking of the camp; and afterwards the sons of Kahath shall come to carry them. But they shall not approach the sanctuary for fear of death. The sons of Kahath shall carry them to the Hall of Assembly, and Aliazar, the son of Aaron the priest, shall provide oil for the lamps, and sweet incense, and pure offerings, and Oil of Consecration,—having the care of all the sanctuary, and all that is in it, with the Holy-place, and all its furniture."

17 The EVER-LIVING also commanded Moses and Aaron;

18 "Separate for Me the family of the Kahathites from amongst the Levites, and do this to them, so that they may live and not die. Let Aaron and his sons conduct them up to the Holy of Holies, and set each of them to the work he is to do, and to his labour. But they shall not approach to see, except the covering of the sacred things, for fear of death."

21 The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses commanding;—

Organization of the Ghershonites.

22 "Enumerate the individuals of the sons of Ghershon from the registers of their ancestral house, from thirty years old and upwards to fifty years old. Organize all of them capable of army service, to perform the work of the Hall of Assembly. These are the services for the families of the Ghershonites to work and carry out; they shall carry the curtains of the sanctuary and cover the Hall of Assembly with the covering of badger skin that is extended above it, and the screen at the door of the Hall of Assembly, and the curtains of the court that is around the sanctuary, and the altar, and the ropes, and all the furniture of the services, all this is their service. The sons of the Ghershonites shall be under the direction of Aaron and his sons, for any service; for any carrying, and for any labour, and you shall organize them for every labour by their families. 28 This shall be the service of the families of the Ghershonites at the Hall of Assembly; and also their duties under the order of Aithamar, the son of Aaron the priest.

Organization of the Sons of Merari.

"Organize the sons of Merari from 29 the registers of their ancestral house; from thirty years old up to fifty years 30 old. Organize all capable of army service, to do the work of the Hall of Assembly. And this is their duty to 31 carry in all the appliances of the Hall of Assembly; the planks of the sanctuary, and the cross-bars; and the pillars and their sockets; with the 32 pillars of the court around it, and their sockets, and pegs, and ropes; with all the furniture and all the instruments; and they shall pack up the furniture carefully for carriage.

"This shall be the duty of the 33 family of the sons of Merari in all their service in the Hall of Assembly, under the orders of Aithamar, the son of Aaron the priest."

Moses consequently organized, and 34 Aaron enumerated the family of the sons of Kahathites from the registers of their ancestral house, from the age 35 of thirty years and upwards to fifty years of age, all capable of army service, for work in the Hall of Assembly. And there were organized from the 36 registers, one thousand, seven hundred and fifty. These were enrolled 37 from the registers of the Kahathites, all for service in the Hall of Assembly, as Moses and Aaron were instructed from the presence of the EVER-LIVING, by the hand of Moses.

The sons of Ghershon were thus 38 enrolled from the registers of their ancestral house, from thirty years of 39 age, and upwards, to fifty years old, all capable of army service, to serve in the Hall of Assembly. And there 40 were enrolled from the registers of their ancestral house, one thousand-six hundred and sixty. They were 41 organized from the families of the sons of Ghershon, all for service in the Hall of Assembly, whom Moses and Aaron organized by the command of the EVER-LIVING.

There were also enrolled from the 42 families of the sons of Merari from the registers of their ancestral house, from thirty years of age upwards to 43 fifty years old, all capable of army service, for the service of the Hall of

44 Assembly, and their number was by the registers, three thousand, two 45 hundred. These were enrolled from the registers of the sons of Merari whom Moses and Aaron appointed by an order from the EVER-LIVING, by the hand of Moses.

46 Moses and Aaron, and the Princes of Israel, with the Levites, appointed all those enrolled from the registers 47 of their ancestral houses, from thirty years of age, and upwards, to fifty years old, who were all to execute the duties of the service, and do the carrying in the Hall of Assembly;
48 and their number was nine thousand,
49 five hundred and eighty. They were appointed by order of the EVER-LIVING, by the hand of Moses, every one to his duty, and to his office, and appointment; as the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses.

Command to expel Prostitutes and Prodiges from the Camp.

5 The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses commanding:—

2 "Command the children of Israel that they must send out of the camp all afflicted by contagious disease, and all with venereal diseases, and all of foul life; whether male or female, so that they may not infect the camp, in the midst of which I dwell."

4 The children of Israel accordingly did so, and sent them to the outside of the camp, as the EVER-LIVING had commanded to Moses. The children of Israel did it.

The Law of Forgiveness of Sin.

5 Then the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses saying:—

6 "Say to the children of Israel, The man or woman who perversely commits any human sin against the EVER-LIVING; that person is guilty. But if they make confession of the sin which they have committed, and would remedy the wrong they have done, and remove it from them, let them add a fifth part to it, and give to him
8 who has been wronged. But if the man does not possess the means of restoration for the wrong he has done, the culprit shall return to the EVER-LIVING, by the priest, in place of it, a ram as an expiation which shall expiate for him as to the wrong.

9 "And every such oblation consecrated by the children of Israel, which they offer through the priest, shall be the priest's. But whatever a person 10 devotes must be his own property; and what a man gives to the priest shall be the priest's property."¹

Law of Suspicion of Adultery.

The EVER-LIVING also spoke to 11 Moses commanding:—

"Speak to the children of Israel 12 and say to them; If a man suspects his wife of having gone astray, and of a man having had sinful intercourse with her; and that his wife has hidden 13 from his sight that she has been defiled; but he has no witness of it, and she has not been divorced; yet 14 the breath of suspicion has passed over her, and he suspects his wife, that she has been defiled, or that a breath of suspicion has passed over her, and he suspects his wife although she may not have been defiled; then 15 the man shall bring his wife to the priest, and shall bring as a gift for her with her, the twelfth of an epha of barley meal, without any oil poured upon it; nor shall he put incense with it,—for it is an offering of jealousy;—an offering of remembrance, for reminding of frailty.

"Then the priest shall make her 16 advance, and place her before the EVER-LIVING, when the priest shall 17 take holy water in an earthenware cup, and some dust that is on the floor of the sanctuary, and put it into the water. The priest shall then 18 station the woman before the EVER-LIVING, and uncover the woman's head, and place in her hands the Gift of Remembrance,—the Gift of Jealousy,—and the bitter water of cursing shall be in the hand of the priest. The priest shall also ad- 19 minister an oath to her, and say to the woman;

"If a man has not had connection with you, and if you have not turned to a seducer instead of your husband, be free from the water of this bitter curse; but if you have 20 turned to another than your husband, with whom you have been sinning, and that a man has been to you instead of your husband"—(here the 21 priest shall swear the woman with this oath, and the priest shall say to the woman)—' then may the EVER-LIVING make you a curse and imprecation among your relatives! May the EVER-LIVING make your thigh to rot and your belly to swell, and may this water of cursing become in your bowels as rottenness to the bowels, and as swelling to your thigh!'

¹ V. 10. This verse is very obscure in the Hebrew, but the version above given seems to be its meaning.—F. F.

"(Then the woman shall say) 'So let it be! So let it be!'

"The priest shall afterwards write these curses on a tablet, and wash them off with the bitter water, and the woman shall drink the water of the bitter curses, and swallow the water of the bitter curses.

"Then the priest shall take from the hand of the woman the Gift of Jealousy, and wave the Gift before the EVER-LIVING, and offer it upon the altar. The priest shall also take a handful from the remembrance, and cause it to be burnt at the altar, and after that the woman shall drink the water, and the water drunk shall—if she has been corrupted, and has dishonoured her husband—then become a bitter curse, and swell her belly, and rot her thigh, and the woman shall be a curse in the circle of her relatives.

"But if the woman has not defiled herself, and is pure, then she shall be free from them, and be conceiving children.

"These are the laws about the suspicious that a woman has turned from her husband and degraded herself; or for a man when there passes over him the breath of suspicion, and he suspects his wife, and brings her before the EVER-LIVING. The priest shall proceed towards them according to this enactment, and free the husband from his passion, and thus continue the woman's marriage rights."

Law of Nazarite Vows.

The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses commanding;—

"Speak to the children of Israel and say that a man or woman may dedicate themselves by a vow. The Nazarite by separation to the EVER-LIVING shall not consume grapes or sugar; fermented grapes or fermented sugar; nor shall he drink any decoction of intoxicating berries, or consume cakes of those berries, or their powder. During the days of dedication he shall not consume anything which is made from the vine plant, from its roots to its skins. Nor during the period of his dedication shall a razor be passed over his head, until he has completed the time for which he dedicated himself to the EVER-LIVING. The flowing locks of the hair of his head shall be sacred to the EVER-LIVING. Nor shall he, during the whole period of his dedication to the EVER-LIVING, approach to a dead body; nor defile himself for his father or his mother, or his brother, or his sister, if they die; for the dedication to his GOD is upon his head. All the period of his dedication he is sacred to the EVER-LIVING. Even if anyone shall die near him suddenly, that incident will defile the dedication of his head. To purify himself he shall shave his head on the same day, and it shall be shaven again on the seventh day; and on the eighth day he shall bring two turtle-doves or two young pigeons to the priest, at the door of the Hall of Assembly, and the priest shall use one of them for a sin-offering, and the other for a burnt-offering, and expiate for him about the defilement of his body, and his head shall be sanctified in that day. But he shall separate himself anew for his dedication to the EVER-LIVING, and bring a he lamb of one year as a trespass-offering, for the previous period has failed by a defect in his separation.

Law of Release from Nazaritehood.

"And these are the rules for the Nazarite, at the day when he completes the period of his separation—he shall come to the door of the Hall of Assembly, and present as his gift to the EVER-LIVING a perfect he lamb of the year for a burnt-offering; and a perfect ewe lamb of the year for a trespass-offering; and a perfect ram for a peace-offering; and a basket of cakes of flour mixed with oil; with their food and drink offerings, and the priest shall offer them before the EVER-LIVING, and make the sin-offering, and the burnt-offering. But of the ram he shall make a sacrifice of thanks to the EVER-LIVING with the basket of cakes, and the priest shall also offer the food-offering, and the drink-offering.

"He shall then shave the Nazarite at the door of the Hall of Assembly, at the end of his dedication, and take the hair of his head that he had dedicated and put it upon the fire

- which is under the sacrifice of thanks.
- 19 Then the priest shall take the boiled shoulder of the ram, and one of the unfermented cakes from the basket, and one of the thin cakes, and put them into one of the hands of the Nazarite, who is being released from his dedication. Then the priest shall wave them before the EVER-LIVING, they shall be sacred to the priest, as well as the raised breast, and the raised leg;—and the Nazarite may afterwards drink wine.
- 21 "These are the laws of separation when anyone vows to give himself to the EVER-LIVING. He shall not dedicate himself, unless he knows he is able to perform what his mouth has vowed. When he has vowed he shall perform it, by this law of separation."

The Priestly Blessing.

- 22 The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses, commanding;—
- 23 "Speak to Aaron and to his sons, You shall bless the children of Israel in this way, saying;—
- 24 "'The LORD bless you and guard you.
- 25 The LORD spread His canopy over you,
And be gracious to you.
- 26 The LORD make His face beam upon you,
And give you peace !'
- 27 "Then I will place My Name upon the children of Israel and bless them."

The Consecration of the Sanctuary.

- 7 And when the time came that the sanctuary was finished, Moses erected, and consecrated, and sanctified it, with all its furniture; and the altar and all its instruments; and sanctified them. Then the Princes of Israel, the heads of their ancestral houses, the Princes of the tribes and the commanders of regiments, approached, and brought as their gifts to present to the EVER-LIVING six covered waggons and twelve bullocks; a waggon for two princes, and a bullock for each, and presented them before the sanctuary.
- 4 Then the EVER-LIVING spoke to Moses, commanding;—
- 5 "Receive them, and they shall be to perform the work of the Hall of Assembly. Therefore give them to the Levites, each according to the amount of their work."

Moses consequently accepted the 6 waggons, and the bullocks, and gave them to the Levites;—he allotted two 7 waggons and four of the bullocks to the sons of Ghershon, for their work.

And four of the waggons and eight 8 of the bullocks he allotted to the sons of Merari for their work, under the control of Aithamar, the son of Aaron, the priest.

But to the sons of Kabath he gave 9 none, for the sacred work they did was laid upon their shoulders.

Consecration of the Altar.

The princes also came forward at 10 the dedication of the altar, on the day of its consecration, and the princes presented their gifts before the altar.

Gifts from the Princes.

But the EVER-LIVING said to Moses, 11 "Let them offer their gifts at the dedication of the altar, one prince a day, then another prince a day."

So Nakhshon the son of Aminadab 12 of the tribe of Judah, presented his gift the first day; and his gift was a 13 silver dish of a hundred and thirty shekels, a silver watering-can, of seventy shekels, by the sacred weights, both filled with fine flour mixed with oil as a food-offering.

One cup made of gold, full of 14 incense.

A bullock from the fold; a ram; 15 a sheep of the year, for a burnt-offering, one he-goat for a sin-offering and 16 two bullocks for a sacrifice of thanks, 17 with five rams, five he-goats, five sheep of a year old;—these were the gift of Nakhshon the son of Aminadab.

On the second day Nathaniel the 18 son of Tzoar, prince of Issakar, came forward. He offered as his gift a 19 silver dish of one hundred and thirty shekels, a silver watering-pot of seventy shekels, by the sacred weight, both of them full of fine flour mixed with oil, as a food-offering. A cup 20 made of gold, full of incense; a 21 bullock from the fold, a ram, a sheep of the year for a burnt-offering, a he- 22 goat for a sin-offering, and as a sacrifice of thanks, two bullocks, five rams, 23 five he-goats, five sheep of a year old;—this was the offering of Nathaniel the son of Tzoar.

- 24 On the third day, the prince of the sons of Zebulun, Aliab, the son of Khelou, presented a silver dish of a hundred and thirty shekels, a silver watering-can of seventy shekels, by the sacred weights, both full of fine flour mixed with oil for a food-offering; a cup made of gold, full of incense, a bullock from the fold, a ram, a sheep of the year, for a burnt-offering; a he-goat for a sin-offering; and for a sacrifice of thanks two bullocks, five rams, five he-goats, five year old sheep—these were the gift of Aliab the son of Khelou.
- 30 On the fourth day, the prince of the sons of Reuben, Aliazer the son of Shadiaur, presented a silver dish of one hundred and thirty shekels, a silver watering-can of seventy shekels, by the sacred weights; both full of fine flour mixed with oil, for a food-offering; a cup made of gold, full of incense; a bull from the fold, a ram, a lamb of the year for a burnt-offering; a he-goat for a sin-offering; and for a sacrifice of thanks, two bullocks, five rams, five he-goats, five year old sheep—these were the gift of Aliazer the son of Shadiaur.
- 36 On the fifth day the prince of the sons of Simeon, Shelumial the son of Tzorishadai, presented a silver dish of one hundred and thirty shekels, by the sacred weight, a silver watering-can of seventy shekels, by the sacred shekel, both full of fine flour mixed with oil for a food-offering; a cup made of gold, full of incense; a bull from the fold, a ram, a year old lamb for a burnt-offering, a he-goat for a sin-offering; and for a sacrifice of thanks, two bullocks, five rams, five he-goats, five year old sheep—these were the gift of Shelumial the son of Tzorishadai.
- 42 On the sixth day the prince of the sons of Gad, Aliasaf the son of Rael presented a silver dish of one hundred and thirty shekels, by the sacred weight, a watering-can of seventy shekels, by the sacred weight, both full of fine flour mixed with oil for a food-offering; a cup made of gold, full of incense, a bull from the stall, a ram, a lamb of one year old for a burnt-offering; and for a sacrifice of thanks, two bullocks, five rams, five he-goats, five year old sheep—these were the gift of Aliasaf the son of Rael.
- 48 On the seventh day the prince of the sons of Ephraim, Alishamah the son of Amihud, presented a silver dish of one hundred and thirty shekels, a silver watering-can of seventy shekels, by the sacred weights; both full of fine flour mixed with oil for a food-offering; a cup made of gold, full of incense; a bull from the fold, a ram, a sheep of a year old for a burnt-offering; a he-goat for a sin-offering; and for a sacrifice of thanks two bullocks, five rams, five he-goats, five year old sheep—these were the gift of Alishamah the son of Amihud.

On the eighth day the prince of the sons of Manasseh, Gamalial the son of Phidhatzur, presented a silver dish of one hundred and thirty shekels, a silver watering-can of seventy shekels, by the sacred weights, both full of fine flour mixed with oil, for a food-offering; a cup made of gold, full of incense; a bull from the fold, a ram, a year old sheep, for a burnt-offering; a he-goat for a sin-offering; and for a sacrifice of thanks, two bullocks, five rams, five sheep of a year old. These were the gift of Gamalial the son of Phidhatzur.

On the ninth day the prince of the sons of Benjamin, Abidan, the son of Gadoni, presented a silver dish of one hundred and thirty shekels, a silver watering-can of seventy shekels, by the sacred weights, both full of fine flour mixed with oil, as a food-offering; a cup made of gold, full of incense, a bull from the fold, a ram, a sheep of a year old, for a burnt-offering; and for a sacrifice of thanks, two bullocks, five rams, five year old sheep. These were the gift of Abidan the son of Gadoni.

On the tenth day the prince of the sons of Dan, Akhiazar the son of Amishadai, presented a silver dish of one hundred and thirty shekels; a silver watering-can of seventy shekels, by the sacred weights, both full of fine flour mixed with oil, as a food-offering; a cup made of gold, full of incense; a bull from the fold, a ram, a year old sheep for a burnt-offering, a he-goat for a sin-offering, and as a sacrifice of thanks, two bullocks, five rams, five he-goats, five year old sheep. These were the gift of Akhiazar the son of Amishadai.

On the eleventh day the prince of the sons of Asher, Phanuel the son of Akran, presented a silver dish of one - hundred and thirty shekels, a silver watering-can of seventy shekels, by the sacred weights, both full of fine flour mixed with oil, as a food-offering, a cup made of gold, full of incense, a bull from the fold, a ram, a sheep of a year old, for a burnt-offering; a he-goat for a sin-offering, and for an offering of thanks, two bullocks, five rams, five goats, five year old sheep. These were the gift of Phauel the son of Akran.

- 74 On the twelfth day the prince of the sons of Naphthali, Akhaira the son of Ainan, presented a silver dish of one hundred and thirty shekels, a silver watering-can of seventy shekels, by the sacred weights, both full of fine flour mixed with oil, for a food-offering, a cup made of gold full of incense, a bull from the fold, a ram, a lamb of a year old, for a burnt-offering, a he-goat for a sin-offering, and as a sacrifice of thanks, two bullocks, five rams, five he-goats, five sheep of a year old. These were the gift of Akhaira the son of Ainan.
- 75 These were dedicated on the altar at the time it was consecrated, by the Princes of Israel:—twelve silver dishes; twelve silver watering-cans, twelve cups made of gold. Each of the silver dishes was one hundred and thirty, and each of the watering-cans seventy; all the silver vessels were one thousand four hundred, by the sacred shekel.
- 76 The cups of gold full of incense were twelve; ten to a cup, by the sacred shekel; all the gold was one hundred and twenty.
- 77 All the bullocks for burnt-offerings were twelve, the bulls and rams, twelve, the lambs of a year old, twelve, with their food-offerings, and the he-goats were twelve for sin-offerings.
- 78 And all the cattle for the sacrifices of thanks, twenty-four bulls, sixty rams, sixty he-goats, sixty sheep of a year old. Thus the altar was dedicated after its consecration.

God speaks to Moses at the Dedication of the Altar.

- 79 Then Moses went into the Hall of Assembly to speak to HIM, and heard the VOICE speaking to him from the expiatories which are upon the Ark of the Witnesses, from between the two Kerubim, there HE spoke to him.

Consecration of the Lamps.

And the EVER-LIVING spoke to 8 Moses commanding;—

“ Speak to Aaron, and say to him; 2 When you set up the lamps opposite the reflectors, light the seven lamps.”

Aaron consequently did so, erecting 3 the lamps opposite the reflectors, as the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses. And this was the form of the 4 reflectors, concaves of gold on stalks at the cups. They were concave that they might reflect the light, as the EVER-LIVING showed Moses, so he made the reflectors.

The Levites consecrated to God.

The EVER-LIVING also spoke to 5 Moses commanding;—

“ Take the Levites from among the 6 children of Israel and purify them. Purify them in this manner; pour 7 water for sin over them, and let them pass it naked over all their body, and wash their clothing and purify themselves.

“ Then take a bull from the fold, 8 with its food-offering of fine flour mixed with oil, and a second bull from the fold take for a sin-offering, and present the Levites before the 9 Hall of Assembly, and collect all the chiefs of the children of Israel. 10 And when you have presented the Levites before the EVER-LIVING, then the children of Israel shall lay their hands upon the Levites, and Aaron 11 shall wave the Levites before the EVER-LIVING for the children of Israel, and they shall be appointed to perform the services of the EVER-LIVING.

“ Then the Levites shall lay their 12 hands upon the head of the bulls, and Aaron shall make of the first a sin-offering, and of the other a burnt-offering to the EVER-LIVING, to expiate for the Levites.

“ Afterwards station the Levites 13 before Aaron, and before his sons, and wave them to the EVER-LIVING, and separate the Levites from the 14 midst of the children of Israel, and the Levites shall be Mine. And after 15 that you shall bring the Levites to serve in the Hall of Assembly, but you must purify them and wave them; for they are a Gift, given to Me, from 16 out of the children of Israel. I have taken them to Myself instead of the first-born product of the womb of all

17 the children of Israel. For all the first-born of the children of Israel were Mine, of man or of beast, from the day when I cut off all the first-born in the land of the Mitzeraim I sanctified them to Myself. Therefore I take the Levites instead of all the first-born of the children of Israel, and I give the Levites to Aaron, and to his sons from among the children of Israel to perform the duties of the children of Israel in the Hall of Assembly, and to expiate for the children of Israel, and that the children of Israel may not be struck when the children of Israel approach to the sanctuary."

20 Moses and Aaron consequently did in conjunction with all the chiefs of the families of the children of Israel to the Levites, according to all that the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses, regarding the Levites. The children of Israel did it to them. 21 They also offered sin-offerings for the Levites, and they washed their clothing, and Aaron waved them before the EVER-LIVING, and Aaron expiated for them, and purified them, and after that the Levites went to perform their duties in the Hall of Assembly before the EVER-LIVING; as JEHIOVAH commanded to Moses about the Levites, so they did.

The Duties of the Levites.

23 The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses commanding;—

24 "The Levites shall do this—from the age of twenty-five and upwards they must serve in the duties of the Hall of Assembly, but at the age of fifty they shall retire from service in those duties; and not serve further, except to superintend their brothers in the Hall of Assembly, to keep guard, but not perform the services. This is how you shall arrange for the Levites who superintend."

The Passover instituted.

9 The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses in the Wilderness of Sinai, in the second year after coming out from the land of the Mitzeraim, in the first month, commanding;—

2 "Let the children of Israel make the Passover in their Assembly, offering it upon the fourteenth day of this month, between morning and evening. You shall sacrifice it in the Assembly with all its ordinances, and all its rites."

Moses consequently spoke to the 4 children of Israel to sacrifice the Passover. Therefore they offered the 5 first Passover on the fourteenth day of the month between morning and evening, in the Wilderness of Sinai. The children of Israel did all that the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses.

But there were men who were unclean from a human corpse, so that they were not able to eat of the Passover, or to sacrifice the Passover on that day, so they approached the presence of Moses and the presence of Aaron upon that day, and those 7 men said; "There is a defilement upon us from a human corpse, by which we are prevented from offering the Gift to the EVER-LIVING in the Assembly together with the children of Israel."

When Moses replied, "Stay, and I 8 will hear what the EVER-LIVING commands about you."

Then the EVER-LIVING spoke to 9 Moses commanding;—

The Unclean to eat the Passover as well as the Clean.

"Speak to the children of Israel 10 saying; Any one of you who may be unclean from a human corpse, or away upon a journey, or in your families, still let him sacrifice the Passover to the EVER-LIVING; in the 11 second month, he shall offer it. It shall be eaten with unfermented bread and bitter herbs. None of it 12 shall remain with you until the morning, and you shall not break a bone of it, but sacrifice it with all the ordinances of the Passover. And 13 whoever may be clean, and has not been on a journey, and fails to sacrifice the Passover,—that person shall be excommunicated from his relatives, for not offering the gift to the EVER-LIVING with the Assembly. That person is guilty for his sin. And if 14 a foreigner resides with you and sacrifices the Passover to the EVER-LIVING it must be with the ordinances of the Passover and its rites. It must be offered with the same ordinances by you, both for the foreigner and the native of the country."

The Erection of the Sanctuary.

On the day of the erection of the 15 sanctuary, the cloud covered the Tabernacle of the Hall of Witnesses, and in the evening there was over the Tabernacle like the light of fire until morning. So it was always—16 the cloud covered by day, and the 17 light of fire at night. And when the cloud arose from off the Hall, then the children of Israel marched, and at the place where the cloud settled the children of Israel encamped.

 18 The children of Israel marched at the command of the EVER-LIVING, and they encamped at the command of the EVER-LIVING every day:—they encamped where the cloud rested upon the Tabernacle. But when the cloud rested upon the Tabernacle many days, then the children of Israel watched the EVER-LIVING and did not march. And if the cloud remained a number of days upon the Tabernacle by command of the EVER-LIVING they encamped, and at the command of the EVER-LIVING 21 they marched. But if the cloud remained from evening to morning, and the cloud went up at the morning, then they marched, whether day or night; thus when the cloud went up they marched; but whenever for days, or a month, or long periods, the cloud rested upon the Tabernacle the Children of Israel encamped, and did not march; but 23 on it going up they marched. By command of the EVER-LIVING they marched. They waited the order of the EVER-LIVING by the hand of Moses.

The Order to make Gongs.

10 The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses commanding:—
 2 "Make two silver gongs for yourself. Make them concave, and use them to call the Parliament, and to prepare the camp for marching, so that when you beat them all the Parliament will know how to come to you at the door of the Hall of Assembly. And if you beat one of them the generals and colonels of the regiments of Israel, will know to come to you. When you beat an Arise, then the divisions of the camp on the east shall march.
 6 "When you beat the Arise, a second time, the divisions of the camp on the south shall march. They shall prepare to march at the Arise.
 7 "But at the call for a Meeting you shall blow a trumpet, not sound an Arise. The sons of Aaron, the 8 priest, shall beat the gongs, and this shall be a perpetual institution for your posterity.

"And when you go to war in your 9 land, to distress those who distress you, terrify them with the gongs, and remember the presence of your EVER-LIVING GOD, and He will encourage you against your enemies.

"Also in the days of your festivals, 10 and in your assemblies, and on the first of the months, beat the gongs with your burnt-offerings, and with your thank-offerings, and they shall be reminders for you before your GOD; I am the EVER-LIVING GOD."

The First March from Sinai in Martial Array.

It occurred in the second year, in 11 the twelfth month, that the cloud arose from off the Tent of Witnesses; so the children of Israel marched 12 from the Wilderness of Sinai, and the cloud settled on the Wilderness of Paran. They also marched in divisions 13 by the order of the EVER-LIVING, under the control of Moses.

The standard of the sons of Judah 14 marched in divisions as an army, and Nakhshon the son of Aminadab was over that army.

And Nathaniel the son of Tzoar 15 was over the army of the tribe of the sons of Issakar;

And Aliab the son of Khelon 16 was over the army of the sons of Zebulun;

Then the sons of Ghershon and the 17 sons of Merari having taken down the Tabernacle marched, carrying the Tabernacle.

Then the standard of the tribe of 18 Reuben marched with their army, and Aliazer the son of Shadiaur was over it.

And Shelumial the son of Tzori- 19 shadai was over the army of the tribe of Simeon.

And Aliasaf the son of Daul was 20 over the army of the tribe of the sons of Gad.

Then the Kahathites marched carry- 21 ing the sanctuary, and they erected the Tabernacle after the advance.

Then the standard of the camp of 22 the sons of Ephraim marched with their army, and Alishamah the son of Amihud was over that army.

And Gamalial the son of Phidatzhur 23 was over the army of the tribe of the sons of Manasseh.

- 24 And over the army of the tribe of the sons of Benjamin was Abidan the son of Gidoni.
- 25 Then marched the standard of the camp of the sons of Dan, by regiments, with all the troops of their army, and Akhazer the son of Amishaddi was over that army.
- 26 And Phanael the son of Akhan was over the army of the tribe of Asher.
- 27 And Akhira the son of Ainan was over the army of the sons of Naphthali.
- 28 Thus the children of Israel marched;—they marched by their armies.

Moses invites his Father-in-Law to join Israel.

- 29 Moses, however, spoke to Khobabben-Rauel the Midianite, the father-in-law of Moses, "We are starting for the place that the EVER-LIVING said to us, I will give it to you. March with us, and we will benefit you; for the EVER-LIVING has promised good to Israel."
- 30 But he replied to him, "I will not go from my country and from my children, with you."
- 31 But he answered, "Do not now forsake us; for you know the routes of the desert, and you can be eyes for us. And it shall be that if you will go with us then when we receive the success the EVER-LIVING will obtain for us, we will reward you."
- 32 So they marched from the Mount of the EVER-LIVING three days' journey, and the Ark of the Covenant of the EVER-LIVING marched before them, three days' journey, to guide them to a halting place; and the cloud of the EVER-LIVING was over them by day, in their march from the camp. And when they began their march, Moses stood up and said, "The EVER-LIVING deliver you from your enemies, and march before your face supporting you." But when they encamped, Moses said, "JEHOVAH bring home the many regiments of Israel."
- 33 But the people murmured badly in the ears of the EVER-LIVING,—and the LORD heard it, and was displeased, so the LORD caused a fire to break out amongst them, and it consumed the rear of the camp; so the people called upon Moses, and Moses prayed to the EVER-LIVING,—and quenched the fire. He therefore called the name of that spot "The Burnings,"¹ because the LORD there burnt them with fire.

A Muting in the Camp.

But the mixed people who were 4 amongst them, longed, and desired, and sat, and wept. Some of the children of Israel also did the same and said; "Who will feed us with flesh? We 5 remember the fish that we ate in Mitzter for nothing; with the cucumbers, and the melons, and the lettuces, and the onions, and the garlic! But 6 now our souls are sick! There is nothing but this manna to look at!"²

Moses, however, heard the people 10 weeping, each family at the door of their tent, and the LORD was very angry; and in the eyes of Moses it was bad. Therefore Moses said to 11 the EVER-LIVING, "Why have You brought evil upon Your servant? And why have I not found favour in Your eyes for You to remove the weight of all this people from off me? Have I 12 begotten all these people? or have I brought them forth, that You should say to me carry them in your lap, as a mother carries her infant to the land which You promised to their fathers? I have no flesh to give to all this nation! who cry to me saying, 'Give us flesh that we may eat.' I cannot feed them! I cannot carry all 14 this nation! They are too heavy for me, and therefore do this to me;—kill me, now, kill me, if I have found 15 favour in Your eyes!—that I may not see myself torn to pieces!"

But the EVER-LIVING answered 16 Moses; "Assemble before Me seventy men from the rulers of Israel whom you know to be able to rule the people and to control them, and take them with you to the Hall of Assembly, and present them there with yourself, and I will descend and speak 17

¹ Thabarah.—F. F.

² Verses 7 to 9 are evidently the note of an old transcriber, so I place them at the foot, as not being part of the original text.—F. F.

And the manna was like coriander seed, 7 and the look of it was like the appearance of gum! The people despised it, but they 8 gathered it and ground it in mills, or beat it in mortars, and boiled it in pans, and made their cakes of it, and its taste was like the taste of pancakes. When the dew 9 fell upon the camp at night the manna came down with it.

- with you there, and will support you with the spirit that is upon you, and I will put it upon them, and they shall carry, along with yourself, the load of this nation, and you shall not carry it alone.
- 18 "But as for this People, order them to sanctify themselves for to-morrow, and they shall eat flesh, for the EVER-LIVING has heard their weeping, saying, 'Would that we could eat meat, such as we enjoyed among the Mitzeraim.' Therefore the EVER-LIVING will give them flesh, and they can eat it.
- 19 They shall not eat it for one day only, or for two days, or for five days, or for ten days, or for twenty days; but for a month's time,—until it is ejected from their mouth, and the greedy loathe it,—because they have turned away from the EVER-LIVING, Who is in the midst of them, and wept before Me saying, 'Why has He brought us from the Mitzeraim?'"
- 21 But Moses replied, "There are six hundred thousand of marching men in the nation I am surrounded by,—and you say supply them with flesh meat, and let them eat it for a month. If the sheep and cattle are slaughtered for them, could they obtain it? If all the fish in this sea were added to them,—could they obtain it?"
- 23 The EVER-LIVING, however, answered Moses, "Is the hand of JEHOVAH cut off? Now you shall see whether My Word is honoured or not!"
- 24 Then Moses went out, and related to the People all the words of the EVER-LIVING, and he selected seventy from the rulers of the People, and stationed them around the Hall, and the EVER-LIVING descended in the cloud, and spoke with him and strengthened him with the spirit that was over him, and placed it upon each of the seventy rulers, and the spirit rested upon them and they addressed the audience, and did not fail. But two men separated themselves in the camp;—the name of one was Aldad, and the name of the other was Midad;—but the spirit fell upon them, for they were enrolled, although they did not go to the Assembly, and they addressed the
- 27 people in the camp. Therefore a youth ran and reported it to Moses and said, "Aldad and Midad are addressing a meeting in the Camp!" So Joshua the son of Nun, the lieutenant of Moses, went to enquire, and then said "My Lord Moses, restrain them"

Moses, however, replied to him, 29 "You displease me! for I wish the EVER-LIVING would make all the People orators. I wish the EVER-LIVING would lay His spirit upon them."

So Moses and the rulers of Israel 30 remained in camp, and a wind came 31 from the EVER-LIVING and brought up quails from the sea, and they were scattered over the camp for a day's journey on this side, as far as a day's journey on the other side, all round the camp, and were heaped on the surface of the ground.

Then the people arose all that day 32 and all that night, and all the next day to collect the quails, and the smallest collection was ten bags, and they spread them all about the camp.

The flesh was still between their 33 teeth unconsumed when the anger of the LORD burnt against the People, and the LORD struck them with a very great stroke, so they called the 34 name of that spot the "Graves of Greed"¹ for they buried there the people who were greedy. Then the 35 people marched from the Graves of Greed to the Greenfields, and stayed at those fields.²

Miriam and Aaron quarrel with Moses over his Marriage.

Then Miriam and Aaron quarrelled 12 with Moses about the Kushite woman whom he had taken, for Moses had married a Kushite, so they asked 2 "Has the EVER-LIVING spoken only with Moses? Has He not also spoken to us?" And the EVER-LIVING heard it. But the man Moses 3 was very gentle, more so than any man on the face of the earth.

Then the EVER-LIVING spoke sud- 4 denly to Moses, and to Aaron, and to Miriam, "Go all three of you to the Hall of Assembly."

So all three went, and JEHOVAH 5 descended in the form of the cloud and stood at the door of the Hall, and called Aaron and Miriam. Both of them accordingly went. When he 6

¹ Kibroth Hathavah.—F. F.
² Katzeroth, in Hebrew.—F. F.

- said to them, "Listen now to My words. If there is a prophet among you, the LORD shows Himself to him by vision or speaks by dream.
- 7 It is not the same as with My servant Moses;—he is faithful in all My House. I speak face to face with him, and openly, and he has not to seek the EVER-LIVING in enigmas and parables. Then why have you not regarded the message of My servant Moses?" And the anger of the EVER-LIVING burnt at them, and He departed.
- 10 Then the cloud turned from above the Hall, and Miriam had become a leper as white as snow; and Aaron recoiled from Miriam now she was a leper, and Aaron said to Moses, "Pray to the ALMIGHTY so that HE may not lay upon us the sin which we attempted, and that we have committed. Let her not be like what comes dead from its mother's womb,—with half of its flesh consumed!"
- 13 Therefore Moses cried to the EVER-LIVING, saying, "I pray GOD to cure her now."
- 14 And the EVER-LIVING replied; "If her father had spit in her face would she not be disgraced for seven days? Let her be isolated for seven days outside the camp; and afterwards she may return."
- 15 Miriam was therefore isolated outside the camp for seven days, and the people did not march until the return of Miriam, but the people marched afterwards, from the Green-fields,¹ and encamped in the Wilderness of Paran.

A Survey of Canaan ordered.

- 13 Then the EVER-LIVING spoke to Moses, commanding;
- 2 "Send men and let them survey the land of Canaan, which I will give to the children of Israel. You shall send a man from each tribe of their fathers,—all of them nobles."
- 3 Moses consequently sent them from the Wilderness of Paran by command of the EVER-LIVING. All were nobles, chiefs of the children of Israel, and their names were these:—
- 4 Of the tribe of Reuben, Shamua the son of Yikri;
- 5 Of the tribe of Simeon, Shafat the son of Khorì;

¹ Katseroth, in Hebrew.—F. F

- Of the tribe of Judah, Kaleb the 6 son of Jephunah;
- Of the tribe of Issakar, Izal the 7 son of Joseph;
- Of the tribe of Ephraim, Hoshea 8 the son of Nun;
- Of the tribe of Benjamin, Phalat 9 the son of Rafna;
- Of the tribe of Zebulon, Gadiel the 10 son of Sodi;
- Of the tribe of Joseph—the tribe of 11 Manasseh, Gadi the son of Susi;
- Of the tribe of Dan, Amiel the son 12 of Gamali;
- Of the tribe of Assher, Sethor the 13 son of Mikal;
- Of the tribe of Naphthali, Nahbi 14 the son of Wafsi;
- Of the tribe of Gad, Ganal the son 15 of Makri;
- These were the names of the nobles 16 whom Moses sent to survey the land, and Moses surnamed Hoshea the son of Nun, Joshua.¹

Instructions to the Spies.

Moses then sent them to survey 17 the land of Canaan, and instructed them; "Go up from the south, and ascend to the hills and examine the 18 land, what it is; and what its people are who inhabit it. Their strength, their weakness;—if they are few or many. And what kind of country it 19 is they live in, whether it is good or bad; and what kind of cities they inhabit; with their camps and fortresses. Also examine the fertility of 20 the land; if it is watered; if there are trees in it or not; and their size; you must also collect some of the fruit of the country, for it is the time of grape harvest."

They therefore went up, to survey 21 the country from the Wilderness of Tzin to the plain that extends to Khamath.

Thus they ascended from the south 22 as far as Hebron, where resided Akhiman, Shashai, and Thalmai, three children of Anak.² So they only 23 went as far as the brook Eshkol, and decided to cut off a single branch of grapes from there, and carried it on a yoke between two.

¹ The Saviour, or Victor.—F. F.

² The parenthesis, v. 22, is apparently an editorial note, not part of the text of Moses.—F. F.

"(Hebron was built seven years before Zoan in Mizraim.)"—F. F.

They also took pomegranates, and 24 figs; therefore they named that spot the Brook of Grapes on account of the grapes which they cut from there for the sons of Israel.
 25 There they turned back from surveying the country at the end of forty 26 days, and marched and came to Moses and Aaron, and all the chiefs of the children of Israel, in the Wilderness of Paran, at Kadish, and reported the matter to them and all the Council, and showed the fruit of the country,
 27 and continued, and said:—

Report of the Spies.

"We have been to the country to which you sent us, and it is indeed flowing with milk and honey, and 28 this is its produce; however, the people who inhabit the country are strong, and their cities are very great fortresses, and we saw the sons of 29 Anak there! Amalek inhabits the south country, and the Hitites, and the Jebusites, and the Amorites inhabit the hills, and the Cananites inhabit along the sea, and alongside the Jordan."

30 But Kaleb had been silent before the people and Moses. Now he said;
 "Ascending let us go up and conquer them, for we are able to do it!"

31 But the princes who went up with him replied; "We are not able to overpower those people, for they are 32 stronger than us!" And they brought reports to the Children of Israel about the country they had surveyed, saying; "The country that we travelled over to examine it, is a country that devours its inhabitants; and all the people whom we saw were 33 tall men; and we saw the Nephilim there, sons of Anak, more than giants, and we were in our own eyes like locusts,—and we were like gnats in theirs!"

14 Then all the Council arose and gave out their votes. The people also wept in that night; and 2 all the children of Israel complained against Moses and against Aaron. And all the Council asked;
 "Which was better for us? to die in the land of the Mitzeraim, or for us 3 to die here in this desert? And why did the EVER-LIVING bring us to this country to fall by the sword? Our wives and our children will be plunder. Is it not better for us to return to Mitzer?"

Then every man said to his brother, 4
 "Let us choose a leader and return to the Mitzeraim."

But Moses and Aaron fell on their 5 faces before all the chiefs of the children of Israel, and Joshua the 6 son of Nun, and Kaleb the son of Jephunah, who had surveyed the country tore their garments, and 7 addressed all the chiefs of the children of Israel and said:—

"The country that we travelled over to survey it, is a very, very good land. If the EVER-LIVING is pleased 8 with us, and goes with us to this country, He can give us this land which flows with milk and honey.
 Rebel not against the EVER-LIV- 9 ING! and fear not the people of the country, for we can devour them, throwing a shadow over them. Since the LORD is with us, fear them not!"

All the Council threatened, how- 10 ever, to murder them with stones;
 but the Glory of the EVER-LIVING appeared in the Hall of Assembly to all the children of Israel.

Then JEHOVAH said to Moses, 11
 "How long shall I be despised by this people? How long will they not trust to Me, in spite of all the wonders I have effected for them? I 12 could strike them with a word and destroy them, and could make from yourself a nation mightier than they."

Moses, however, said to the EVER- 13 LIVING, "But when the Mitzerites hear of it, from the midst of whom YOU brought up this people by Your Might, and the inhabitants of this 14 country hear, who have heard that JEHOVAH is in the midst of this People,—who eye to eye have seen
 You are the EVER-LIVING,—and Your cloud has stood over them,— and with a perpetual cloud You have marched before them by day, and with a perpetual fire by night,—that 15
 You have killed this People as a single man,—then the heathen, who have heard this report of You, will say; 'Because JEHOVAH was not able 16 to bring this People to the country that He swore to them, He has slain them in the desert!' Consequently, 17 now, O! EVER-LIVING, increase Your mercy, as You promised, saying, 'I am the EVER-LIVING, slow 18 to anger, and of great mercy; forbearing towards passion and sin;
 and not destroying the helpless:
 punishing the fault of the fathers upon their children to the third and 19 the fourth generation.' Forgive, now, the passion of this people;—for Your Mercy is great, and as You have endured these people from Mitzer until now."

20 Then the EVER-LIVING replied,
 "I will forgive, as you request;—for 21 I LIVE FOR EVER, and the Majesty of the EVER-LIVING will fill the 22 whole earth. However all the men who have seen My Majesty, and the wonders that I effected amongst the Mitzeraim, and in the Wilderness,— yet have revolted from Me these ten times and not listened to My Voice, 23 —they shall not see the land which I promised to their fathers,—that is, all who despised Me, shall not see 24 it. But I except My servant Kaleb.
 His spirit was steadfast in him, and he was perfect after Me, therefore he shall arrive at the country where he went and his posterity shall inherit it."

The Israelites Retreat.

25 However, as the Amalekites and the Cananites occupied the valley, on the next day they turned face and retreated from them towards the Wilderness leading to the Sea of Suf.¹

Punishment for the Rebolt denounced.

26 There JHVOVAH spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying;— 27 "For how long shall I hear the complaints of this vile mob complaining against Me? These com-28 plaints of the children of Israel that they murmur against Me? Say to them, 'As I live, says JHVOVAH, according to their demand to My 29 ears, I will do to them! In this desert their corpses shall fall with all their officers and rulers, from the age of twenty years and upwards, 30 who complained against Me. They shall not arrive at the country that I raised My hand to lead them into,— except Kaleb the son of Jephunah, 31 and Joshua the son of Nun. But their children which they said would be enslaved,—I will bring in, and they shall see the country which you 32 despised; but your corpses shall fall
 33 in this desert, and your sons shall be

¹ Red Sea: literally "The Sea of Weeds." Not the main sea, but only the shallows at the head of the Gulf of Suez, as the whole history seems to indicate.—F. F.

scattered in the desert forty years, for you shall carry your whoredom until your bodies sink in the desert. By 34 the number of the days when you should have been examining the country,—forty days,—a year for a day, a year for a day, you shall carry your crimes,—forty years. Thus shall you recognize My hostility. I, the 35 EVER-LIVING, have declared I will do this, to all this vile mob, who revolted against Me in this desert.—They shall perish there.—They shall die! And 36 the men whom Moses sent to spy the country, and who returned and complained about it, the whole of that band shall become dung upon the earth! Those men shall die who 37 reported bad of the land, to fight against the EVER-LIVING. Yet Joshua 38 the son of Nun, and Kaleb the son of Jephunah, shall live from among those who went to survey the country."

The Israelites demand a Battle, but the Amalekites defeat Israel.

And Moses repeated these words 39 to all the children of Israel, and the People mourned greatly. At the 40 morning, however, they arose to go up to the top of the hill, crying,
 "Here we are! Let us go up to the place which the EVER-LIVING said,
 —for we have sinned."

But Moses replied, "What is this?
 41 You transgress the command of JHVOVAH,—and He is not pleased.
 You shall not go up;—for the EVER-42 LIVING is not with you, so you will be defeated before your enemies, for 43 the Amalekites and Cananites are before you, and they will defeat you by the sword, because you have deserted from the EVER-LIVING, and JHVOVAH is not with you."

They, however, arrogantly ascended 44 to the top of the hill; but the Ark of the Covenant of the EVER-LIVING and Moses did not move from the camp.—So the Amalekites and the 45 Cananites who were encamped upon the hill, charged down and repulsed them, and pursued them as far as the valley.

The Fains of Sacrifices and Offerings.

Afterwards the EVER-LIVING spoke 15 to Moses commanding;—

"Speak to the children of Israel 2
 and say to them;

1 "When you come to your permanent country which I will give to you, and you make a gift to the EVER-LIVING,—a burnt-offering, or a sacrifice to fulfil a vow, or a free-will offering, or in your festivals to make a pleasant breath to the EVER-LIVING with an ox or a sheep, then approaching, present as your gift to the EVER-LIVING as a food-offering, a tenth of fine flour mixed with the fourth of a hin of oil, and of wine for a drink-offering you shall offer the fourth of a hin, with the burnt-offering, or the sacrifice of a single lamb. Or with a ram, you shall offer as a food-offering a twelfth of fine flour mixed with the third of a hin of oil, and the third part of a hin of wine for a drink-offering, presented as a pleasing breath to the LORD.

8 "And when you offer a bullock as a burnt-offering, or a sacrifice to fulfil a vow, or as a thank-offering to the EVER-LIVING, you shall offer with the bullock, as a food-offering, three tenths of fine flour mixed with half a hin of oil; and as a drink-offering, present half a hin of wine as a gift of pleasant breath to JEHOVAH.

11 "And the same shall be done with each ox, each ram, each lamb of the sheep, or goats. According to the number which are offered, this shall be done, with each one of the number. Make every presentation in the same way as these, to offer a pleasing breath to the EVER-LIVING. 14 And whatever stranger resides with you, or is settled among your posterity, when he makes an offering of a pleasing breath to the EVER-LIVING, he shall do the same as you do. It is a common Institution alike for you and the foreigner who resides with you. It is a perpetual Institution for your posterity, both for you and the foreigner before JEHOVAH. There shall be one law, and one rule for yourselves and for the foreigners residing with you."

Law of Harvest-home Offerings.

17 The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses commanding;—
18 "Speak to the children of Israel and say to them; 'When you arrive at the country where I will bring you, and eat of the bread of the land, you shall lift it up before the EVER-LIVING. You shall lift up the first cake from the dough the same as you hold up of your grain;—so shall you hold it up. You must give the first of your grindings to the EVER-LIVING as a lift-offering from your produce.

Offerings for National Sins.

"But if you wander from, and do not practise all these commands which JEHOVAH has dictated to Moses; all that the EVER-LIVING has commanded to you by the medium of Moses, from the day when the LORD commanded them, to your furthest posterity; or if your Parliament should inadvertently commit an error, then all your Parliament shall offer a bull from the herd as a burnt-offering, for a pleasant breath to the EVER-LIVING; with its food-offering and drink-offering, as decreed, and a ram of the goats for a sin-offering; and the priest shall expiate for all the Parliament of the children of Israel, and forgive them their fault, when they bring the offering to present to JEHOVAH, and make a sin-offering for their fault.

Offerings for Personal Faults.

"But if an individual commits a fault, then he shall present a she-goat of a year old as a sin-offering; and the priest shall expiate for that person for the fault he has inadvertently committed, before the EVER-LIVING. He shall expiate for it, and shall pardon him for it. There is one law for the native of the children of Israel, and for the foreigners among them, for you to observe regarding faultiness. But the person who acts with a wicked hand, whether a native or a foreigner, in contempt of the EVER-LIVING,—that person shall be excommunicated from among his people. For he has despised the command of the LORD and broken His decree, by his sin."

The Law of Sabbath-breaking.

While the children of Israel were in the Wilderness, they found a man collecting sticks on the Sabbath day, and those who found him gathering sticks presented him to Moses and Aaron and to all the Parliament, who put him under guard, for they could not decide what to do with him. But the EVER-LIVING said to Moses;—

"The man must die! Let all the Assembly kill him with stones outside the camp."

- 36 The whole Assembly, therefore, took him outside the camp and killed him with stones;—so he died as the EVER-LIVING had commanded to Moses.

Jarnel ordered to make Fringes.

- 17 The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses, commanding;—
- 38 "Speak to the children of Israel and say to them; Make fringes upon the borders of your clothing always, and place above the fringes cords of purple, so that the fringes may be like flowers for you to remember the commands of the EVER-LIVING by, and to practise them, and that you may not wander after your hearts, and after your eyes, as you have wandered after them, but, instead, that you may remember and practise all My commands, and live holily to your
- 40 GOD. I am your EVER-LIVING GOD, Who brought you from the land of the Mizteraim to be your GOD. I am the EVER-LIVING GOD."

The Rebolt of Korah.

- 16 Korah, the son of Itzhar, the son of Kahath, the descendant of Levi, and Dathan and Abiram, sons of Aliab, and Ann, the son of Pelath, the son of Reuben, conspired and stood up to resist Moses, with a hundred and fifty others of the princes of the Parliament of the children of Israel, 2 titled nobles of the nation; and they addressed Moses and Aaron and said to them;

"You assume too much to yourselves;—for all the Parliament, all of them, are sacred, and the EVER-LIVING is among them."

- 4 When Moses heard it, he bowed his head, and spoke to Korah and all his band, saying; ♣

- "In the morning JEHOVAH will make known who are His, and sacred; and who are to approach to Him, and whom He has chosen to approach to Himself. Let Korah and all his band 6 take bowls for themselves, and put fire and sweet incense into them, and the men whom JEHOVAH chooses shall be the Sacred. You are presumptuous, sons of Levi." And Moses 8 continued to Korah, "Listen, now, 9 sons of Levi. Was it too little for you that the GOD of Israel appointed you from among the families of Israel, to approach to Him, to perform the services of the sanctuary of the EVER-LIVING, and to stand before the congregation to minister, and included you and all your brothers with you,—but would you demand the Priesthood also? However, you, and 11 all your associates, station yourselves before the EVER-LIVING together with Aaron.—What is he that you should murmur against him?"

Then Moses sent to summons 12 Dathan and Abiram, the sons of Aliab, but they would not come, but replied—

"We will not come! Is it nothing 13 that you have brought us up out of a land flowing with milk and honey to kill us in this desert,—that you would dominate over us as a tyrant? You 14 have brought us to no land flowing with milk and honey! nor given us farms and vineyards to possess! Would you dig out the eyes of these men? We will not come!"

Moses was very angry at this and 15 said to JEHOVAH; "I have not taken as a gift even an ass from them, and I have not wronged one of them."

Then Moses said to Korah, "Let 16 you and all your associates come before the EVER-LIVING,—you, and they, and Aaron to-morrow; and let 17 each take a censer and put on it incense, and present it before the EVER-LIVING,—each of the hundred and fifty, a censer; and you and Aaron, each a censer."

So each took his censer; and they 18 put fire in their censers, and offered incense upon it, and stationed themselves at the door of the Hall of Assembly, with Moses and Aaron. Korah also collected all his associates with himself at the door of the Hall of Assembly, and the Glory of the EVER-LIVING appeared to all the congregation.

But the EVER-LIVING spoke to 20 Moses and to Aaron saying, "You shall be magnified in the midst of this Assembly,—but I will consume them 21 with might!"

They however fell upon their faces 22 and said, "GOD, the GOD giving life to all flesh! one man only has sinned,—and will you be angry with all the Parliament?"

Destruction of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram.

Then the EVER-LIVING spoke 23 to Moses, saying; "Speak to the 24

Parliament and command them to run out from around the tents of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram."

- 25 Moses therefore arose, and went to Dathan and Abiram, and the Judges of Israel went after him, and they spoke to the Parliament saying; "Remove from the halls of these depraved men, and touch nothing belonging to them, for fear you should share in their sin." Consequently they came away from the tents of Dathan and Abiram; but Dathan and Abiram came. And stood at the opening of their tents, with their wives and children, and infants. Then Moses spoke and said;—

"You shall learn by this whether JEHOVAH has sent me to do all these things; for I have not done them by myself;—if these die as all men die, and the fate of all men falls upon them, then the EVER-LIVING has not sent me. But if JEHOVAH prepares it, and the earth opens her mouth and swallows them, and all who are with them, and they go down alive to the grave,—then you will know that the EVER-LIVING has rejected these men."

- 31 And it occurred that as he finished speaking these words, the ground split under them, and the earth opened her mouth and swallowed them and their homes, and all the men who were with Korah, and all their wealth; and they, and all who were with them, rushed down alive into the grave, and the earth closed over them, and they perished in the midst of the public. Then all Israel who were around them fled with a shriek; for they said, "The earth may swallow us also." Fire also came out from JEHOVAH and consumed the hundred and fifty men as they offered incense.

17 The EVER-LIVING then spoke to Moses saying; "Command Ahiazar the son of Aaron the priest, to collect the censers from among the burnt people, and the fire, for they are sacred.

- 3 "The censers of these sinners are for their lives, and you shall make of them thin spread plates for the altar, for they have been presented before the EVER-LIVING and are sacred, and they shall be warnings to the children of Israel." (Ahiazar, the priest, subsequently took the censers of brass which the burnt persons presented, and made plates of them for the altar.) "And the children of Israel shall remember the reason why a strange man, who is not of the family of Aaron, may not approach to offer incense before the EVER-LIVING, so that he may not be like Korah; and that they may know that JEHOVAH has spoken by the medium of Moses."

The Parliament and the Crowd Meeting.

But all the Parliament of the children of Israel murmured against Moses and Aaron next day, exclaiming;—"You have killed the People of the EVER-LIVING!"

But when the Parliament collected against Moses and Aaron, they retreated to the Hall of Assembly, and then the cloud descended, and the Glory of the EVER-LIVING appeared, so Moses and Aaron came into the front of the Hall of Assembly, and JEHOVAH spoke to Moses, saying;—

"Rise up from the midst of this crowd and I will consume them with might."

But they fell on their faces and Moses said to Aaron, "Take you a censer, and put fire into it from off the altar, and place incense, and go quickly and make an expiation for them, because anger is coming from the EVER-LIVING to strike the profane."

So Aaron did as Moses commanded, and rushed into the midst of the meeting, where the stroke of destruction was on the People, and offered incense and expiated for the nation, and stood between the living and the dead;—and the stroke was arrested. But the dead from the stroke were fourteen thousand seven hundred, besides those who died over the affair of Korah. Then Aaron returned to Moses to the opening of the Hall of Assembly, and the stroke was arrested.

Tribal Staves ordered to be taken away.

The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses, commanding;—

"Speak to the children of Israel and take the staves from each of their tribes. The staff from each ancestral house; from each chief of an ancestral house.—Twelve staves; and record the name of each upon his staff. And record the name of 18

Aaron upon the staff of the tribe of Levi. Thus there shall be a staff from the head of each ancestral house; and place them in the Hall of Assembly with the Witnesses as an evidence for them there. And the staff of the man I may choose shall blossom. Thus I will exclude the complaints of the children of Israel from Me."

21 Moses accordingly spoke to the children of Israel, and each of the princes gave him their staff,—each prince a staff,—each prince of an ancestral house of the twelve tribes. But the staff of Aaron was placed in the middle of the other staves.

22 Afterwards Moses presented the staves before the presence of the EVER-LIVING in the Hall of Assembly.

23 And when Moses came next day to the Tabernacle of the Witnesses, the staff of Aaron had budded and blossomed for the House of Levi! Buds had also come out, and borne flowers, and ripened into almonds. Moses 24 therefore brought out all the staves from the presence of the EVER-LIVING to all the children of Israel, and they examined them, each man taking his own staff!

25 Then the EVER-LIVING said to Moses, "Return the staff of Aaron to the presence of the Witnesses, to keep it as an evidence to the Sons of Disobedience, and let them stop their complaints against Me, that they may not die."

26 Moses consequently did as the EVER-LIVING commanded him. He did it.

The People decree Death to all who attempt to enter the Sanctuary.

27 The children of Israel after that spoke to Moses saying:—"We perceive that we shall expire; we shall perish, all of us will perish. Let all who approach to the sanctuary of the EVER-LIVING be killed, so that we may not all expire."

18 Then the EVER-LIVING commanded Aaron "You and your sons, and the house of your father with you, shall carry the spirit of consecration; and you and your sons with you shall carry the spirit of the priesthood, and your brothers of the tribe of Levi, of the standard of your father, shall also approach with you and attend upon you, and guard you, and your sons with you, before the Tabernacle of the Witnesses. And they shall guard you, and guard all the Hall, together with the sacred furniture. But they shall not approach to the altar, for fear they, as well as you, should die; but they shall attend upon you and guard in watches the Hall of Assembly and all the services of the Hall, and a foreigner shall not approach with them. By them also the holy things shall be guarded, and the altar be guarded so that anger may never come upon the children of Israel. For I have taken to Myself your brothers of Levi from among the children of Israel, to give them as gifts to the EVER-LIVING, to perform the services of the Hall of Assembly. But you and your sons with you shall guard the priesthood, and all the matters of the altar, and of the House of the Veils, and perform the services prescribed for the priesthood. And the stranger who approaches shall die."

Confirmation of Endowments for the Priesthood.

The EVER-LIVING also said to Aaron "And I, see, I have given to you the guardianship of My High Things, and of all the sacred things of the children of Israel;—I have given them to you and to your sons to consecrate, and to preserve for ever.

"These shall be yours from the sacred offerings;—all the gifts offered by fire; all food-offerings, and sin-offerings; and all the presents which they make to Me. They are consecrated strictly to you, and to your sons. You shall eat them in the sanctuary. Every male may eat of them with you. They shall be sacred to you. You shall also take something from all the wave-offerings of the children of Israel for yourself and your sons, and for your daughters with you, as a perpetual Institution. All the clean in your house may eat of them.

"All the melted fat, and the best of the vintage, and the first of the corn which they present to the EVER-LIVING are given to you. The first fruits of all that their land produces which they bring to the EVER-LIVING, shall be yours. All who are clean in

- 14 your houses may eat of them. Every convict in Israel shall be yours.
- 15 Every thing bursting the womb of any species which they offer to the EVER-LIVING, whether of man or beast, shall be yours; but you must set free for a ransom the firstborn of man, and the firstborn of cattle you shall free for a sin-offering; and they shall be ransomed at a month old, at a valuation of five shekels of silver by the sacred shekel.¹
- 17 "You shall not, however, ransom the firstborn of a cow, or the firstborn of a sheep, or the firstborn of a goat, they are sacred; their blood is to be poured out on the altar, and their fat is to be burnt as an offering of pleasant perfume to the EVER-LIVING. But of their flesh, the breast shall be yours, for waving it,
- 19 and the right leg shall be yours. All the exalted offerings of the sanctuaries, which the children of Israel lift up to the EVER-LIVING, I give to you, and to your sons with you, as a perpetual Institution. It is a covenant of salt for ever before the EVER-LIVING for you and your posterity after you."

Endowments of the National Church.

- 20 The EVER-LIVING also said to Aaron, "You shall have no possession in the land, and there shall be no portion for you in it. I am your portion, and inheritance among the children of Israel.
- 21 "But to the sons of Levi I give all the tithe of Israel for an inheritance, in payment for the work they perform in the services of the Hall of Assembly, and if ever the children of Israel offer a sacrifice in the Hall of Assembly, they shall bear the sin to death; because the work of Levi is in the Hall of Assembly, and they shall bear its burden, as a perpetual Institution, for your posterity. Therefore they have no inheritance among the children of Israel, for the tithes of the children of Israel which they bring to lift up and present to the EVER-LIVING I give to the Levites as an inheritance; therefore I have said to them, you shall hold no inheritance among the children of Israel."

¹ V. 16. "It is ten grains" is an ancient editor's note.—F. F.

"(It is ten grains.)"

The Duties of the Levites.

The EVER-LIVING also spoke to 25 Moses, commanding;—

"Speak to the Levites and say to them,

"Since I have taken you from the 26 children of Israel, the tithe which I have given to you from them as your inheritance,—you shall present from it as a present to the EVER-LIVING, —a tenth of the tithe with which they are tithed, for your account. 27 You shall also lift up some of the grain from the corn, and a portion from the grapes. Thus you shall 28 present presentations to the EVER-LIVING, from all the tithes which are taken from the children of Israel; and give a part of those presentations to the EVER-LIVING, to Aaron the Priest. From all the presentations 29 presented to the EVER-LIVING, present a part of all the best that is consecrated for you.

"You shall therefore command 30 them,¹ when presenting the fat, to account some of it as for the Levites, like the offerings of corn, and the offerings of grapes; and they may eat 31 them in any of their villages, and houses, as their wages on account of their work in the Hall of Assembly, and they will not be committing sin 32 by taking away the fat, and the offerings of the children of Israel. They do no wrong, and they shall not die."

The National Sacrifice for Sin.

The EVER-LIVING also spoke to 19 Moses, commanding;—

"The following is a constitutional 2 law which JEHOVAH commands, saying;—Command the children of Israel to select for you a red heifer, perfect, and who has not a spot upon her, which has never been under a yoke. Let them 3 bring it to Aliazar the priest, and he shall take her outside the camp and slay her in their presence. Then 4 Aliazar the priest shall take some of her blood on his finger, and sprinkle the front of the Hall of Assembly seven times with the blood, and burn 5 the heifer in their sight with its skin, and flesh, and its dung.¹ He shall burn it to dissolution. Then the 6 priest shall take cedar and hyssop wood, and scarlet wool, and ashes from among the cinders of the heifer.

¹ V. 30. The "them" here clearly refers to the Nation or Offshoots, not to the Levites. If this is not borne in mind the passage seems contradictory.—F. F.

- 7 "The priest shall then change his clothing, and wash his body with water, and afterwards return into the camp. But the priest shall be 8 unclean until the evening. Those who burnt her also shall change their clothes, and wash their bodies in water, and be unclean until the evening.
- 9 "Afterwards a clean man shall remove the ashes of the heifer and place them outside the camp in a clean place, and they shall be as a witness to the children of Israel to keep themselves from the impurity of sin.
- 10 "Then the remover of the ashes of the heifer shall strip off his clothes, and be unclean until the evening.

The Law against Contagion by a Corpse.

- "This also shall be a perpetual Institution to the children of Israel, and to the foreigners who reside 11 among them, that whoever touches the corpse of a man shall be unclean
12 for seven days. If he offers a sin-offering on the third day, then he shall be clean on the seventh day; but if he does not offer a sin-offering on the third day he shall not be clean on the seventh.
- 13 "Whoever touches a corpse,—the body of a man who died,—and does not make a sin-offering at the sanctuary of the EVER-LIVING, is defiled; and that person shall be excommunicated from Israel, because he has not washed the filth from off himself with water; he shall be unclean while the impurity is on him.

Sanitary Laws about Deaths.

- 14 "These are the laws about persons who have died in a dwelling. All who come in the dwelling are unclean for 15 seven days. Every vessel, also, which is open, unless there is a lid upon the 16 opening, is defiled. And whoever touches a man killed in fight, or the bones of a man, or killed accidentally, 17 shall be defiled for seven days. You shall consequently take to the defiled person some of the ashes of the fires of sin-offerings, and put them on 18 living water, in a cup, and take byssop and dabble with the water the man who is to be purified, and sprinkle it upon the dwelling and over all the furniture, and over all the persons who may be there, and over the man who has touched the bones, or the slain, or the dead by accident, and 19 sprinkle the purification upon the defiled at the third day, and upon the seventh day, and make a sin-offering for him upon the seventh day, and he shall change his clothes and bathe in water, when he shall be purified at evening. But the man who is 20 defiled, and does not offer a sin-offering, that person shall be excluded from the entry into the Holy Assembly of the EVER-LIVING. The defiled not having washed his filth from off him, is unclean. Therefore this shall 21 be a perpetual Institution to you; and for this reason the filthy shall change their clothes, and who touches anything filthy shall be unclean until the evening; and all that touches 22 him who is unclean, shall be unclean, and the person he touches shall be unclean until the evening."

March to the Wilderness of Tzin.

All the congregation of the children 20 of Israel afterwards marched to the Wilderness of Tzin, in the first month, and settled in Kadesh. Now Miriam died there, and they buried her there. However water was deficient for the 2 nation, so they appealed to Moses 3 and Aaron, and the people disputed with Moses, and, complaining, they said;—"Oh that expiring we could die before the LORD! And why has 4 the LORD brought the congregation to this Wilderness,—we and our 5 cattle? And why did He bring us up from Mitzor to conduct us to this 6 vile place? It is not a place of vegetables, and figs, and cucumbers, and 7 pomegranates! and there is no water to drink!"

Moses and Aaron therefore went 8 before the crowd at the opening of the Hall of Assembly, and fell on their faces, and the Majesty of the EVER-LIVING appeared over them.

The Waters of Sifted: Water brought from the Rock.

Then the EVER-LIVING spoke to 7 Moses, commanding;—

"Take your staff, and convoke the 8 Parliament,—you and your brother Aaron,—and command the rock in their sight, and it will give them water; and bring out water for them from the rock, and quench the thirst of the people and their cattle."

- 9 Moses therefore took his staff from the presence of the EVER-LIVING, as he was commanded; and Moses and Aaron addressed the crowd before the rock, and said to them;

"Listen now you rebels! out of this very rock water shall come for you."

- 11 Then Moses raised his hand, and struck the rock with his staff twice, and a rush of water came out, and quenched the thirst of the people and of their cattle.

- 12 But the EVER-LIVING said to Moses and Aaron:—"Because you have not been true to Me, to consecrate Me in the sight of the children of Israel,—you shall not bring this People into the land which I will give them."

- 13 These were the Waters of Strife,¹—where the children of Israel strove with the EVER-LIVING. But He was sanctified at them.

The King of Edom asked to Allow Israel to Pass.

- 14 Moses afterwards sent messengers from Kadesh to the Commander of Edom, to say;—

"Thus says your brother Israel, you know all the labours that we have met.

- 15 How our fathers went down to the Mitzeraim and resided in Mitzer many days, and how the Mitzerites ill-treated our fathers. But we appealed to the EVER-LIVING and He heard our voice, and sent a messenger,

- 16 and brought us from among the Mitzerites, and now we are at Kadesh a village at the edge of your borders.

- 17 Let us now pass through your country. We will not pass through farms and vineyards. We will not drink of water from the wells, but travel upon the Travelling Highway. We will not delay in our march nor extend to the right or the left when we cross your boundaries."

- 18 But Edom replied to him; "You shall not pass through me,—or I will advance with the sword, and fight you."

- 19 Then Israel answered;—"I will go up by the mountain road, and if I drink water I will buy it, and I will give a price for biscuits. Nothing shall stick to my feet as I pass over."

But he replied; "You shall not pass through!" And Edom came out to fight with the People grievously, and with a strong hand. Thus Edom refused to give Israel a passage through his boundaries. So Israel turned away from them.

March to the Highlands.

Then the children of Israel marched, all the nation, to the peak of the Highlands, where the EVER-LIVING said to Moses and Aaron in the Highlands, on the borders of the land of Edom;—

Death of Aaron.

"Aaron shall be added to his people, because he shall not arrive at the land which I will give to the children of Israel, because you did not exalt My Presence at the Waters of Strife. Take Aaron and his son Aliazar, and ascend with them the Peak of the Highlands, where Aaron shall take off his robes, and you shall put them upon Aliazar his son. And afterwards Aaron shall die there."

Moses consequently did as the EVER-LIVING commanded, and ascended the Peak of the Highlands, in the sight of all the People. Then Moses stripped Aaron of his robes, and clothed Aliazar his son with them, and Aaron died there on the top of the Peak. Then Moses and Aliazar came down from the Peak.

And all the People saw the death of Aaron, all the house of Israel; so they wept for Aaron thirty days.

The Cananites of Arad attack Israel.

When the Cananites of the kingdom of Arad, who occupied the south, heard that Israel was coming by the road of the Atharim, they fought with Israel, and took some of them prisoners. Then Israel waved a vow to the EVER-LIVING, and said;—

"If you will give this people to my hand, then I will destroy their towns."

And the EVER-LIVING listened to the voice of Israel, and gave them the Cananites; so they destroyed them and their towns, and named the district Destruction.

¹ V. 13. Mel Meribah = "Waters of Strife." —F. F.

Retreat towards the Sea of Weeds.

- 4 Then they marched from the Peak of the Highlands towards the Sea of Weeds, and skirted the land of Edom, but the retreat depressed the spirit of the People, so the People spoke against GOD, and against Moses,—
- 5 "Why have you brought us up from the Mitzeraim to die in a desert, where there is neither bread, nor water, and our spirits depressed by this vile food?" The LORD therefore sent to the People inflammatory serpents, who stung the People, and a great number of the people of Israel died.

- 7 Then the People came to Moses and said, "We have sinned; because we have spoken against the EVER-LIVING and against you. Pray to JEHOVAH that He may send the serpents away from us."

- 8 So Moses prayed on account of the People. Then the EVER-LIVING said to Moses, "Make for yourself a Fiery Serpent, and put it up as a standard, —and it shall be that when anyone is stung, he can look upon it and live."

The Brazen Serpent made.

- 9 Then Moses made a serpent of brass, and set it up as a standard, and when anyone was stung by a serpent and looked upon that serpent of brass, he lived.

The March to Aboth and Ain.

- 10 The children of Israel afterwards marched, and encamped in Aboth.
- 11 Then they marched to Aye-on-the-fords, in the desert which is facing Moab, away from the rising sun.¹
- 12 From there they marched and encamped at the brook of Arad, From there they marched and encamped at the ford of Arnon which is in the desert that extends as a boundary for the Amorites; for the Arnon was the boundary between Moab and the
- 14 Amorites. As it is said in "The Book of the Wars of the Lord":²
- "At Suf he was parched, and the gorges of Arnon,
- 15 The cliffs that lean down from the dwellings of Ar,
And slope to the boundary of Moab,

¹ Note, V. 11. That is, upon the western side of Moab.—F. P.

² Note. I think the last clause of verse 13, and on to the end of verse 16, is an explanatory note of a copyist of a later time, and not part of the diary of Moses.—F. P.

And from there to the Well." 16
This is the Well where the EVER-LIVING said to Moses, "Let the people rest, and provide them water."
Then Israel sang this song, 17

Song at the Well.

"Spring up Well to refresh us;—
Dug by rejoicing princes; 18
By the People's Chiefs and Ruler;—
A refreshing gift in the Desert!
And a gift from the rivers of GOD, 19
From the rivers of GOD in the hills.

From the heights it passed to the 20
valley;
To Moab's plain from the Peak of Pisgah,
And clothed the face of the waste!"¹

Ambassadors sent to Sihon.

Then Israel sent ambassadors to 21
Sihon, king of the Amorites, saying;—

Request to March through the Amorites.

"I wish to pass through your 22 country. I will not extend into the farms and vineyards. I will not drink water from the wells, and I will march on the Traveller's Highway

¹ Note upon verses 18—20. Part of v. 18 and all verses 19, 20 are in A.V., and R.V., translated as a description of marches, not as I do, as a part of the "Song at the Well." But to take those verses as geographical names is a clear contradiction to the context, which states that the Israelite army was on the borders of Moab and the Amorites, waiting for permission to pass over, not five marches—100 miles—from there; as five marches in Oriental reckoning would have been. Therefore I read them as a part of the song of thanksgiving for finding the well after the long waterless marches.

However, I here add the usual version of the verses as translated in a jargon of Hebrew and English, for those who prefer it.

A.V. Ch. xxi., v. 18 (part of) to 20: "And from the Wilderness they went to Mattanah: and from Mattanah to Nahaliet: and from Nahaliet to Bamoth: and from Bamoth in the valley, that is in the country of Moab, to the top of Pisgah, which looketh towards Jeshimon."

To further prove that verses 18 to 20 are a part of the Song of the Well, and not a series of geographical names, consult Ch. xxxiii., vv. 47—50, where in the Way-book of the Marchings no mention is made of any such places or journeys, as all former translators make the verses above seem to be.—F. P.

only, until I have passed over your boundaries."

Sihon Refuses and the Amorites are Defeated.

- 23 But Sihon would not allow Israel to pass over his borders; so Sihon collected all his forces and advanced to attack Israel in the desert. When he arrived at Yatz, he fought with Israel, but Israel defeated him by the sword, and seized the country from the Arnon as far as the Jabok, from the sons of Ammon,—for that is the
- 24 boundary of the Amorites. The Israelites also captured all the cities—Israel occupied all the villages of the Amorites,—with Heshbon and all its villages; for Heshbon was the capital of Sihon, the king of the Amorites, for formerly he had a war with the king of Moab, and took the whole of his country from his possession as far as the Arnon. Therefore the poets say;—

- "Bring straw to Heshbon,
And build a city for Sihon,
For a fire coming from Heshbon,
A flame from the palace of Sihon,
Has burnt up Ar of Moab,
Going up to the cliffs of Arnon!

- 29 Alas! for Moab, lost people of Kemoth!

Your sons are given to flight,
And your girls are destroyed,
With Sihon the Amorite king!

- 30 And the archers destroy from Heshbon to Dibon,
And waste from Noph as far as Mideba!"

- 31 Thus Israel occupied the country of the Amorites.

Iazer Captured.

- 32 Moses then sent infantry to Iazer, who captured it and its villages, and they drove out the Amorites who were there. Then they turned and ascended by the road from Heshbon, when Og, king of Bashan advanced to attack them, he and all his forces, in the battle of Adrai.

- 34 But the EVER-LIVING said to Moses;—"Fear him not! For I will give him into your hand,—him and all his People, and his country; and you shall do to him as you did to Sihon, king of the Amorites, who resided in Heshbon." They consequently defeated him, and his sons, and all his forces, until there was not a detachment left to him, and they seized his country.

Then the children of Israel marched 22 and encamped again on the plain of Moab, at the ford of the Torrent, opposite Jerikho.

Balak sends for Balaam.

When Balak the son of Tzifor saw all 2 that Israel had done to the Amorites, Moab was greatly terrified at the 3 presence of the People,—for they were many,—and Moab was startled at the sight of the children of Israel. Therefore Moab said to the judges of 4 Midian, "Now this Crowd is licking up all round about us, like a bullock licks up the grass of the field!" So Balak the son of Tzifor, the king of Moab, was terrified. Consequently 5 he sent ambassadors to Balaam the son of Beor, of Pethor, which is by the river of the land of the sons of Amo, to invite him, saying;—

The Letter to Balaam.

"A nation has come out from the Mitzeraim and covers the face of the country, and it occupies my borders. So, now, I pray you to come and 6 curse this People for me, for it is stronger than mine, so that I may be able to defeat and drive it from the country; for I know that whoever you bless is lucky, and whoever you curse is unfortunate!"

The princes of Moab consequently 7 went, with the princes of Midian, with presents in their hands, and came to Balaam, and gave him the message of Balak, and he replied, 8 "Stay here to-night, and I will return to you the answer that the EVER-LIVING dictates to me." So the princes of Moab stayed with Balaam.

But a Divine Messenger came to 9 Balaam and asked, "Who are these men with you?"

And Balaam replied to the Angel, 10 "Balak the son of Tzifor, king of Moab, has sent to me, 'There is a People that 11 has come from Mitzer and it covers the face of the country. Now come, blast it for me, so that I may be able to fight with, and drive it away!'"

Then the Messenger replied to 12 Balaam, "You must not go with them, nor curse this People—for it is blessed."

13 Balaam therefore arose in the morning, and said to the princes of Balak, "Return to your own country, for the EVER-LIVING refuses to allow me to go with you!" So the princes of Moab arose and went to Balak, and said, "Balaam refused to come with us!"

14 However Balak proceeded to send again more princes, and of higher rank than the former, and they came to Balaam and said to him; "Balak the son of Tzifor says thus;—'Do not refuse, I pray you, to come to me, for I will honour you very greatly, and whatever you demand of me I will do; only come, I entreat you, to curse this People for me!'"

15 But Balaam replied to the servants of Balak, and said; "If Balak would give to me his palace full of silver and gold, I should not be able to pass beyond the command of the EVER-LIVING GOD, to do little or much.

16 But yet rest yourselves, I beg, here to-night, and I will learn what the EVER-LIVING may say again to me."

17 A Divine Messenger then came to Balaam at night and said to him, "If these men invite you, arise, go with them. But you shall execute the command that I shall command you!"

18 Therefore Balaam arose at day-break, and saddled his ass, and went with the princes of Moab. But GOD was angry because he went, and placed a Messenger of the EVER-LIVING in the path to oppose him as he rode on his ass, and the two youths with him, and the ass saw the Messenger of JEHOVAH stationed in the path with a drawn sword in his hand; so the ass turned out of the path and went on to the field. But Balaam struck the ass to turn her into the path. Then the Messenger of JEHOVAH placed himself in the hollow path of a vineyard, with a wall on both sides. But the ass saw the Messenger of JEHOVAH and she pressed against the wall, and squeezed the leg of Balaam against the wall, and refused to go forward. Then the Messenger of JEHOVAH passed on, and stationed himself in a narrow place where there was no room to turn to the right or to the left. But the ass saw the Messenger of JEHOVAH, and crouched down under Balaam. And Balaam was furious, and struck the

19 ass with his stick. Then the EVER-

LIVING opened the mouth of the ass, and she said to Balaam "What have I done to you, that you have struck me these three times?"

But Balaam answered the ass;—
 "Because you have vexed me! I wish there were a sword handy to me, that I might kill you on the spot!"

The ass, however, replied to Balaam,
 "Am I not your own ass, upon whom you have ridden from the day I was yours? Have I been accustomed to do this to you?" And he answered "No."

Then JEHOVAH opened the eyes of Balaam, and he also saw the Messenger of the EVER-LIVING standing in the path, with a drawn sword in his hand. And he bowed and made reverence before him.

But the Messenger of the EVER-LIVING said to him, "Why have you struck your ass these three times? I was sent to oppose you, for your conduct is perverse before me, and the ass saw me, and turned from my face these three times. If she had not turned away from me, I should most certainly have struck and slain you, but yet preserved her alive."

Then Balaam said to the Messenger of JEHOVAH, "I have sinned! But I did not know that you stood to meet me in the path. Yet now if I am wrong in your sight I will return home?"

The Messenger of the EVER-LIVING however, replied to Balaam, "Go with these men;—but except the words that I shall command you, utter nothing." So Balaam went with the princes of Balak.

When Balak heard that Balaam was coming, he went out to meet him to Ar of Moab, which is on the banks of the Arnon where his border ends, and Balak said to Balaam; "Did I not send to you to invite you? Why did you not come to me? Am I not quite able to honour you?"

But Balaam answered Balak;—
 "Although I have come to you, I am not now able to speak a word except what the EVER-LIVING puts into my mouth! That I must utter!"

The First Sacrifice at Balak and Balaam.

Then Balaam walked with Balak, and they went into the Palace

- 39 gardens, where Balak sacrificed an ox and a sheep, and sent them to Balaam, and to the princes who were with him. But in the morning Balak took Balaam, and ascended the tower of Bal, and showed from there the whole mass of the People.
- 23 Then Balaam said to Balak; "Build for me here seven altars, and prepare for me here seven bullocks and seven rams."
- 2 Balak accordingly did as Balaam said, and Balak and Balaam offered up a bullock and a ram on each altar.
- 3 Then Balaam said to Balak; "Stand here by your offerings, and I will go yonder to meet the EVER-LIVING to inquire; and whatever He may show me I will report to you."
- 4 So he went to a cliff, where the Divine power met Balaam, and he said to Him; "I have built seven altars, and offered a bullock and a ram on each altar."
- 5 The EVER-LIVING then put a speech into the mouth of Balaam, and said;—"Return to Balak and say thus;—"
- 6 So he returned to Balak, who stood by his offerings;—he, and all the Princes of Moab, and he there began his poem and said;—

Balaam's Prophecy.

- BALAAM. "From Aram, Balak, Moab's king brought me,— From the hills of the East I have come."
- BALAK. "Curse for me Jacob; insult for me Israel!"
- BALAAM. "How can I curse, whom GOD has not cursed?"
- 8 How can I insult, whom JEHOVAH insults not?
- 9 Whom I see from the top of the rocks,
And from the hills I survey him—
A People dwelling alone,
And not mixed up with the nations!—
- 10 Who can number the dust of Jacob?
Who can count Israel's increase?
Let my life die the death of the righteous!
Let my last days be like to his!"
- 11 Then Balak exclaimed to Balaam, "What have you done for me? I instructed you to curse my enemies! And yet you have blessed them!"

But he answered and said, "Was 12 it not what the EVER-LIVING put into my mouth?—I was obliged to speak it!"

Balak, however, answered him, 13 "Come, then, with me to another place, where you can look and only see a part of the encampment, and not survey the whole;—and curse them from there!"

The Second Sacrifice of Balak and Balaam.

So he took him to the Field of 14 Towers, at the top of Pisgah, and built seven altars, and offered a bullock and a ram on each altar. Then he said to Balak, "Stand here 15 by the offerings and I will go yonder." And the EVER-LIVING met Balaam 16 and put a speech in his mouth, and said, "Return to Balak and say thus;—" So he went to him, 17 and found him standing by his offerings, and the princes of Moab with him, and Balak asked him, "What does the EVER-LIVING command?" Then he began his 18 poem and said;—

The Second Prophecy of Balaam.

- "Stand up, Balak, and hear!
Listen intently, son of Tzifor!
GOD is not a man to lie;— 19
Or a son of man to change his purpose!
HE has said!—and will HE not do?
And spoken!—will HE not perform?
Blessing, HE ordered me to 20
bless,—
And I cannot reverse it!
He perceived no fault in Jacob, 21
And saw not in Israel wrong!
The LIVING GOD is with him,
And a Kingly Cheer is his!
GOD brought him up from Mitzer; 22
He is like to a mighty bull!
There is no chain for Jacob,— 23
For Israel no subjector!
In time they will say of Jacob and Israel,
What wonders GOD has done!
See the People! how it 24
advances!—
Like a lion it rears and stands!
It lies not down till the prey is devoured,
And its thirst is quenched in blood!"

- 25 Balak then exclaimed to Balaam,
 "Alas! cursing, you have not cursed!
 but blessing you have blessed!"
- 26 But Balaam responded, and said to Balak, "Did I not tell you this, saying—All that the EVER-LIVING commands to me I must do?"

The Third Sacrifice of Balak and Balaam.

- 27 And Balak answered to Balaam,
 "Come now,—I will take you to another place. Perhaps it may be right in the eyes of the Gods, and they may curse for me from there."
- 28 So Balak took Balaam to the top of the Gorge of Paur;—to the cliff opposite the desert.
- 29 There Balaam said to Balak,
 "Build for me here seven altars and prepare for me seven bullocks and seven rams." And Balak did as
- 30 Balaam told him and offered a bullock and a ram on each altar.
- 24 But Balaam saw that it was good in the eyes of the EVER-LIVING to bless Israel; therefore he went not, as at the other times, to call upon snakes, but turned his face towards the 2 Wilderness, and seeing Israel encamped by tribes, and seeing the spirit of the EVER-LIVING 3 above them, he began his poem
 and said;—

The Third Prophecy of Balaam.

FIRST STANZA.

- "Balaam the son of Beor, says,—
 And the man with opened eyes
 declares,—
- 4 Who heard the speaking GOD
 dictate,
 Who saw the ALMIGHTY Life; Entranced, but yet with opened eyes!—
- 5 How lovely, Jacob, are your halls,
 What tents are yours, O Israel!
- 6 They wave like rivers,
 Like watered gardens,
 Like groves that GOD has planted!
 Like cedars beside the brooks,
 Dew-drops hang from his leaves;
- 7 And his seed has plenty of water,—
 His king shall be greater than Agagi
 And his dominions exalted.

SECOND STANZA.

- "GOD brought him from Mitzer! 8
 What a mighty bull he is!
 He devours opposing nations,
 Grinds their bones, and crushes to splinters!
 He shall couch his paws like a 9
 lion,—
 Like a tiger—who dare arouse
 him?
 Who blesses you, myself will bless,
 And I will curse your curser!"

Balak then became furious with 10
 Balaam, and struck his hands together, and Balak exclaimed at Balaam,

"I invited you to curse my enemy, and yet you have blessed him these three times! So now be off, by 11 yourself, to your own country! I said I would ennoble you;—but, however,
 the LORD keeps you from honours."

Balaam, however, replied to Balak, 12
 "Did I not also inform the ambassadors whom you sent to me, that if 13 Balak should give me his palace full of silver and gold, I should not be able to pass beyond the command of the EVER-LIVING to do good or bad?
 Whatever the EVER-LIVING commands me, I must speak! And as I 14 am going to my country, I will inform you what this people will do to your people hereafter." Then he began 15 his poem and said;

The Doom of Moab.

- "Balaam the son of Beor says,—
 And the man with opened eyes
 declares,—
 Who heard the speaking GOD, 16 proclaim,—
 Who knows the intention of the Highest,—
 Who saw the Almighty in a trance,—
 Who fell,—when his eyes were opened!
 I shall see Him,—but not now! 17
 I behold Him, but not near!
 He brings a Star from Jacob!
 And from Israel wields a Staff,
 That breaks the sides of Moab,
 And destroys his warlike sons.
 And he will seize upon Edom, 18
 And possess his enemy Seir,—
 For Israel forms his Host, 19
 And Jacob's son comes down,
 And cuts off escape from the Fort!"

- 20 Then he turned towards Amalek and continued his poem and said ;

The Doom of Amalek.

"Amalek was the first of the nations,
But his posterity shall be destroyed."

- 21 Next he looked towards the Keni and continued his poem and said ;—

The Doom of the Keni.

- 22 " You place and fix your house in the rock, Yet the flame shall rage on the wall of your home! "

- 23 And concluding his poem he exclaimed,

- " Alas! who can stand against GOD?
For he strikes with a crushing hand!
Then woe to Ashur, and woe to Heber,—
For they also at last shall fail! "

- 25 Then Balaam arose and went and returned to his own country; and Balak also went away.

Israel Seduced by Moab's Girls.

- 25 But Israel remained at The Acacia Woods,¹ and the people polluted themselves by fornication with the women of Moab, who invited the people to the sacrifices of their gods. So the people ate, and worshipped their gods, and Israel joined itself to Bal-peor. Therefore the EVER-LIVING was angry with Israel, and the LORD said to Moses. " Seize the whole of the chiefs of these People, and hang them before the EVER-LIVING in open sunlight, so that the burning anger of the LORD may be turned from Israel."

- 5 Consequently Moses said to the rulers of Israel, " Each of you slay the men who have joined themselves to Bal-peor."

- 6 But a prince of the children of Israel went and brought to his brothers a Midianitess in the sight of Moses, and in the sight of all the Parliament of the children of Israel, while they were weeping at the door of the Hall of Assembly.

- 7 When Phinehas the son of Aliazer, the son of Aaron, the priest, saw it, he arose from among the Parliament, and took a javelin in his hand, and went after the Israelite to his tent, and stabbed both the man of Israel and the woman through their bodies, and arrested the plague upon the children of Israel. But those who died from the plague were twenty-four thousand.

Promise to Phinehas for Zeal.

Then the EVER-LIVING spoke to 10 Moses, commanding;—

" Phinehas the son of Aliazer, the 11 son of Aaron the priest, has turned My anger from the children of Israel, by the zeal with which he was zealous for Me among them. There- 12 fore I command to give to him the bond of peace; and he and his heirs 13 after him shall have an enduring priesthood, because he was zealous for his God; therefore he shall expiate for the children of Israel."

But the name of the Israelite who 14 was killed when the Midianitess was killed, was Zimri, the son of Salwa, an ancestral prince of the house of Simeon; and the name of the 15 Midianitess was Kozbi, the daughter of Tzur, chief of a tribe of an ancestral house of Midian.

Order to attack Midian.

The EVER-LIVING spoke to Moses, 16 commanding;—

" Assail the Midianites, and cut 17 them off from you, for they troubled 18 you by their plots, which they contrived against you in the affair of Kozbi the daughter of a prince 19 of Midian, their sister, who was slain at the time of the plague, about the Peor matter; when the plague 20 was ended."

A Fresh Census ordered.

The EVER-LIVING afterwards also 26 commanded to Moses, and to Aliazer the son of Aaron the priest, saying: " Take a census of all the families 2 of the children of Israel, from the age of twenty years and upwards by the houses of their ancestors, all in Israel capable of army service."

Consequently Moses and Aliazer 3 the priest, ordered them in the plain of Moab, by the Torrent near Jeriko, saying;

¹ "Shittim," in Hebrew.

- 4 "Enrol them from the age of twenty years and upwards, as the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses, when the children of Israel were brought up from the land of Mitzer."

Census of the Hereditary Nobles of Israel.

- 5 Reuben was firstborn son of Israel; of Reuben, Khanok; from him were the families of the Khanokites;
From Philua, the families of the Philuaites;
- 6 From Hezron, the families of the Hezronites;
From Karmi, the families of the Karmites;
- 7 These were the families of the Reubenites, and there were enrolled forty-three thousand, seven hundred and thirty.
- 8 And the son of Philua was Eliab.
- 9 And the sons of Eliab Nemuell, and Dathan, and Abiram,—from him came Dathan and Abiram who excited the Parliament that revolted against Moses and Aaron, in the revolt of Korah, when they rebelled against
- 10 the EVER-LIVING, but the earth opened her mouth and swallowed them and Korah into death, with all those persons to the number of one hundred and fifty men, who had
- 11 joined them. But the son of Korah did not die.
- 12 The sons of Simeon by their families were;—
From Namuel, the families of the Namuelites;
From Jamin, the families of the Jaminites;
From Jakin, the families of the Jakinites;
- 13 From Zarakh, the families of the Zarakhites;
From Shaul, the families of the Shaulites;
- 14 These were the families of the Simeonites;—twenty-two thousand, two hundred.
- 15 The sons of Gad by their families were;—
From Tziphon, the families of the Tziphonites;
From Khaghi, the families of the Khaghitites; *
From Shuni, the families of the Shunites;
- 16 From Azni, the families of the Aznites;

From Ari, the families of the Arites;
From Arod, the families of the 17 Arodites;

From Arali, the families of the Aralites;

These were the families of the sons 18 of Gad; there were enrolled of them forty thousand, five hundred.

The sons of Judah, Ar, and Ounan, 19 but Ar and Ounan died in the land of Canan.

These, however, were the sons of 20 Judah by their families;

From Shelah, the families of the Shelaites;

From Pheretz, the families of the Pheretzites;

From Zerakh, the families of the Zerakhites;

And there were of the sons of 21 Pheretz,

From Khatzran, the families of the Khatzranites;

From Khamal the families of the Khamalites;

These were the families of Judah 22 who were enrolled, seventy-six thousand, five hundred.

The sons of Issakar by their families 23 were;—

From Thola, the families of the Tholites;

From Phuwah, the families of the Phuites;

From Yashub, the families of the 24 Yashubites;

From Shimron, the families of the Shimronites;

These were the families of Issakar, 25 with an enrolment of sixty-four thousand, three hundred.

The sons of Zebulon by their 26 families were;—

From Sored, the families of the Soredites;

From Alan, the families of the Alanites;

From Yakhlal, the families of the Yakhlalites;

These were the families of the 27 Zebulonites; with an enrolment of sixty thousand, five hundred.

The sons of Joseph, by the families 28 of Manasseh and Ephraim were;—

The sons of Manasseh; 29
From Makir, the families of the Makirites;

But Makir begot Gilad—from Gilad were the families of the Giladites

These were the sons of Gilad, 30
From Aiazar the families of the Aiazarites;

- From Keleq, the families of the Khelaqites;
- 31 From Asrial, the families of the Asrialites;
- From Shekem, the families of the Shekemites;
- 32 From Shemida, the families of the Shemidaïtes;
- From Khefer, the families of the Kheferites;
- 33 From Tzilafkad, the son of Khifir, there were no sons, but only daughters, and the names of the daughters of Tzilafkad were Makhlah, and Neah, Khaglah, Milkah and Thirtzah.
- 34 These were the families of Manasseh enrolled, fifty-two thousand and seven hundred.
- 35 These were the sons of Ephraim by their families;
- From Shuthlakh were the families of the Shuthlakhites;
- From Beker, the families of the Bekerites;
- From Thakhan, the families of the Thakhanites;
- 36 And these were the sons of Shuthlakh;
- From Aran, the families of the Aranites;
- 37 These were the families of the sons of Ephraim, by enrolment, thirty-two thousand, five hundred. These were the sons of Joseph by their families.
- 38 The sons of Benjamin by their families were;—
- From Bola, the families of the Bolites;
- From Ashbel, the families of the Ashbelites;
- From Akhirm, the families of the Akhirmites;
- 39 From Shifafam, the families of the Shifafamites;
- From Khofam, the families of the Khofamites;
- 40 And there were sons of Bola, Arad, and Naman;
- From Arad, the families of the Aradites;
- From Naman, the families of the Namanites;
- 41 These were the sons of Benjamin by their families, by enrolment, forty-five thousand, six hundred.
- 42 These were the sons of Dan by their families;
- From Shukham, the families of the Shukhamites;
- These were the families of Dan by
- 43 their families, all the families of the Shukhamites, by enrolment, were sixty-four thousand, four hundred;

The sons of Asher by their families 41 were;

From Imna, the families of the Imnites;

From Ishua, the families of the Ishuïtes;

From Beriah, the families of the Beriahites;

From the sons of Beriah; 45

From Kheber, the families of the Kheberites;

From Malkiel, the families of the Malkielites;—and the name of the daughter of Asher was Sarakh.

These were the families of the sons 40 of Asher, by enrolment, fifty thousand, three hundred.

The sons of Naphtali, by their 48 families, were;

From Yakhzal, the families of the Yakhzalites;

From Guni, the families of the Gunites;

From Itzer, the families of the 49 Itzrites;

From Shilam, the families of the Shilamites;

These were the families of Naph- 50 thali, by their families, by enrolment, forty-five thousand, four hundred.

These were enrolled of the sons 51 of Israel, six hundred and one thousand, seven hundred and thirty (601,730).

Division of the Land ordered.

The EVER-LIVING afterwards 52 spoke to Moses and said,

"You shall divide the country into 53 estates for them according to the number of the names. To the more 54 numerous you shall increase the portions, and to the lesser lessen the portions; each according to the enrolment shall be given their possessions. You shall distribute the 55 portions of land by lots. Upon the 56 decision of a die you shall decide the portion whether large or small."

The Noble Families of Rebi.

These also, were enrolled of Levi, 57 by their families;

From Ghershon, the families of the Ghershonites;

From Kahath, the families of the Kahathites;

From Merari, the families of the Merarites;

58 These are the families of the Levites;

The family of Libni, the family of Khabani; the family of Makhli; the family of Mushi; the family of Kharaki; and Kabath begot Amram, 59) and the name of Amram's wife was Yokabed, a descendant of Levi, who was born to Levi in Mitzer,¹ and she bore to Amram, Aaron, and Moses, 60) and Miriam their sister. And there were born to Aaron, Nadab and Abihua, and Aliazer, and Aithamar. 61) But Nadab and Abihua died in presenting strange fire in the presence of the EVER-LIVING.

62) Their enrolment was twenty-three thousand, all males from a month old and upwards. But they were not numbered among the children of Israel, for no portion was given to them among the children of Israel.

63) This was the census taken by Moses and Aliazer the priest, when they enumerated the sons of Israel in the plain of Moab near the

64) Torrent, by Jeriko. But among these there was not one who had been enrolled by Moses and Aaron the priest when they enumerated the children of Israel in the desert of 65) Sinai, for the EVER-LIVING had said; "They should die in the desert, and there should not remain a man of them, except Kaleb, the son of Jephthah, and Joshua, the son of Nun."

The End of Heiresses.

27) The daughters of Tzilaskad, the son of Khafer, son of Gilad, son of Makir, son of the family of Manasseh, son of Joseph,—(and the names of these girls were Makhlah, Neah, and Khaglah and Mikah, and Thirtzah.)

2) —approached, and placed themselves before Moses, and Aliazer the priest, and the Princes, and all the Parliament at the opening of the Hall of Assembly, saying;—

3) "Our father died in the desert, although he was not among the confederacy who revolted against the EVER-LIVING with the associates of Korah, who died for his sin, and he had 4) no sons. Why should the name of our father be taken from among his family because he had not a son? Give us an inheritance among the brothers of our father."

Moses therefore presented it for 5) decision before the EVER-LIVING, and JEHOVAH commanded Moses 6) saying;—

"What the daughters of Tzilaskad 7) have asked of you grant.—Give them a share to inherit amongst the brothers of their father, and assign the inheritance of their father to them. You shall also command the 8) children of Israel, that, when a man dies and has not a son, you shall assign his estate to his daughters. But if he has no daughter you shall 9) assign his estate to his brother. But if he has no brother then you 10) shall give his estate to his father, or 11) to his next of kin of his own family, and he shall possess it, and this shall be an institution of justice, which the EVER-LIVING commands to Moses."

The Death of Moses fixed.

Then the EVER-LIVING said to 12) Moses, "Ascend this hill by the fords, and survey the country which I have given to the children of Israel. When 13) you have seen it, you shall be added to your fathers, yourself, as Aaron your brother was added, because you 14) rebelled openly in the Wilderness of Tzin, when the Parliament rebelled, in not sanctifying Me at the Waters, in their sight, at the Waters of Strife in the Wilderness of Tzin."

And Moses replied to the EVER- 15) LIVING and said; "Appoint a man, 16) LIVING God of the spirit of all flesh, over the Assembly, who may 17) go out before them and come in before them; and who can lead them out and bring them back, so that the Assembly of the EVER-LIVING may not be like sheep without a shepherd."

Joshua appointed to succeed Moses.

The EVER-LIVING replied to 18) Moses "Take to yourself Joshua the son of Nun; a man who has spirit in him, and strike your hand upon him, and place him before Aliazer the 19) priest, and before all the Parliament, and appoint him in their sight; and 20) put your Majesty upon him, so that all the representatives of the children of Israel may listen to him. Thus 21)

¹ V. 39. "Born to Levi in Mitzer," in the Hebrew idiom of language, does not mean to Levi personally, but simply a descendant of the Tribe. The length of time makes it impossible for her to have been Levi's personal child.—F. F.

let him stand in the presence of Aliazer the priest, who shall enquire for him by the decision of the Urim in the presence of JEHOVAH. At his command they shall come in, and at his command they shall go out, and all the children of Israel with him, and all their Parliament."

- 22 Moses therefore did as the EVER-LIVING ordered him, and took Joshua, and stationed him before Aliazer the priest, and before the Parliament, and struck his hand upon him, and he was appointed as the LORD commanded to Moses.

The Shewbread ordered, and Daily Offerings.

- 28 Then the EVER-LIVING spoke to Moses and said;

- 2 "Command the children of Israel and say to them; You shall take care to present to Me the Shewbread, as an acceptable offering, at the proper times. Also give them this order about the offering which they are to make to the EVER-LIVING of the two perfect lambs of a year old daily, as a perpetual burnt-offering.
- 4 They shall offer one lamb at daybreak, and offer the second in the afternoon; with the tenth of an ephah of fine flour mixed with a quarter of a hin of beaten oil; sacrifices such as were made constantly at Mount Sinai, for a delightful offering to the EVER-LIVING. With a drink-offering of a quarter of a hin for each lamb to pour as a drink-offering to JEHOVAH. And sacrifice the second lamb in the afternoon as a grateful, pleasant perfume to the EVER-LIVING.
- 9 "But upon the Sabbath day two perfect lambs of a year old, with two tenths of fine flour mixed with the oil and the drink-offering. That shall be the burnt-offering for the Sabbath, as well as the perpetual burnt-offerings with their drink-offerings.
- 11 "And on the first of the month you shall present as a burnt-offering to the EVER-LIVING, two bullocks from the fold, and one ram, with seven perfect he-lambs of a year old, and three tenths of fine flour mixed with oil as a food-offering for a bullock; and two tenths of fine flour mixed with oil as a food-offering with a single ram, and a tenth of an asheran of fine flour mixed with oil to one lamb, as a sacrifice of pleasant scent to the EVER-LIVING, and their drink-offerings shall be half a hin for a bullock, and the third of a hin of wine for the ram, and a quarter of a hin of wine for a lamb. This shall be the burnt-offering month by month for every month of the year; with one ram of the goats for a sin-offering to the EVER-LIVING. It shall be offered along with the perpetual burnt-offering and the drink-offering.

"In the first month also,—on the fourteenth day of the month,—is the Passover of the EVER-LIVING; and on the fifteenth day of this month shall be a festival of seven days, when biscuits shall be eaten. On the first day proclaim a holy rest. You shall do no labouring work, but present as a sweet burnt-offering to the EVER-LIVING, two bullocks from the herd, and a ram, and seven lambs of a year old. Perfect ones shall be chosen; with a food-offering of three tenths of fine flour mixed with oil, for each bullock, and two tenths offered with the ram. A single tenth shall be offered with each lamb of the seven lambs. One he-goat also for a sin-offering, to expiate for you; you shall offer these beside the sacrifice at daybreak, which is offered continually. Do the same daily for seven days offering bread as a sweet, delightful perfume to the EVER-LIVING. It must be offered besides the perpetual burnt-offering, and drink-offering. Proclaim also that the seventh day shall be holy to you. You shall do no labouring work in it.

"And upon the Day of First-fruits you shall present a bread-offering from the land to the EVER-LIVING, when a holiday shall be proclaimed as a rest for you. You shall not do any labouring work in it; but present, as a burnt-offering, delightful to the EVER-LIVING, two bullocks from the herd and a ram with seven lambs of a year old, and as a bread-offering, three tenths of fine flour mixed with oil for each bullock, and two tenths with a ram, with a tenth of an asheran for each lamb, of the seven lambs; and a he-goat to expiate for you; beside perpetual sacrifices and the bread-offerings you offer daily, there shall be these with their drink-offerings.

20 "And in the seventh month you shall proclaim the first of the month holy to the EVER-LIVING. You shall do no servile work. Make it your
2 day of rejoicing to the LORD, and offer as a burnt-offering delightful to the EVER-LIVING a bullock from the fold, a ram, and seven perfect lambs
3 of a year old; and as a bread-offering three tenths of fine flour mixed with oil for the bullock,—two tenths with 4 the ram, and one tenth with each one of the seven lambs; and a ram of the 5 goats as a sin-offering to expiate for you; beside the burnt-offerings of the 6 month, and the food-offerings, and the perpetual sacrifices, and their bread-offerings, and drink-offerings as decreed, for a pleasant scent to the EVER-LIVING.

7 "And you shall proclaim the tenth of the seventh month holy to the EVER-LIVING, when you shall lower
8 your lives, and do no work; but offer in burnt-offerings to the EVER-LIVING as a sweet perfume, a bullock from the herd; a ram; seven perfect
9 lambs of a year old; and as a bread-offering three tenths of fine flour mixed with oil for the bullock; two 10 tenths for the ram; the tenth of an asheran for each one of the seven
11 lambs; with a ram of the goats as a sin-offering; beside the sin-offerings of expiation, and the perpetual sacrifices, and the food-offerings and drink-offerings.

12 "And you shall also proclaim the fifteenth day of the seventh month holy to you. You shall not do any labouring work in it, but feast a festival to the 13 EVER-LIVING for seven days. Then you shall present as a burnt-offering of delightful scent to JEHOVAH, thirteen bullocks; two rams; fourteen he-lambs for a year old. They 14 shall be perfect; with their food-offerings of three tenths of fine flour mixed with oil, to each bullock, of the thirteen bullocks; two tenths to 15 each ram of the two rams; and a tenth of an asheran to each of the 16 lambs, of the fourteen lambs; with a he-goat as a sin-offering; beside the perpetual food-offerings and drink-offerings.

17 "And upon the second day, twelve perfect bullocks from the herd; two 18 rams; fourteen lambs of a year old; with bread-offerings and drink-offerings for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambs by the rule as decreed; with a ram of the goats as a sin-offering, beside the perpetual sacrifices with their bread and drink offerings.

"And upon the third day, twelve 20 perfect bullocks, two rams, fourteen lambs of a year old, with bread and 21 drink offerings with the bullocks, rams, and lambs, according to the rule decreed; and a goat for a sin-22 offering; beside the perpetual sacrifices, and their bread and drink offerings.

"And upon the fourth day, ten 23 perfect bullocks, two rams, fourteen lambs of a year old; with bread and 24 drink offerings according to the rule decreed; and a he-goat for a sin-25 offering, beside the perpetual sacrifices with their bread and drink offerings.

"And upon the fifth day;—nine 26 perfect bullocks, two rams, fourteen lambs of a year old; with bread and 27 drink offerings for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambs, according to the rule decreed; and a he-28 goat for a sin-offering, beside the perpetual sacrifices, with their bread and drink offerings.

"And upon the sixth day;—eight 29 perfect bullocks, two rams, fourteen lambs of a year old; with bread and 30 drink offerings for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambs, according to the rule decreed; with a he-31 goat for a sin-offering, beside the perpetual sacrifices, with their bread and drink offerings.

"And upon the seventh day;—
32 seven perfect bullocks, two rams, fourteen lambs of a year old; with 33 bread and drink offerings for the bullocks, the rams, and lambs, according to the rule decreed; and a 34 he-goat for a sin-offering, beside the perpetual sacrifices, with their bread and drink offerings.

"And upon the eighth day you 35 shall have a Festival. You shall do no servile work, but present as a 36 sacrifice of delightful scent to the EVER-LIVING a perfect bullock, a ram, and seven lambs of a year old; with bread and drink offerings for 37 the bullock, for the ram, and for the lambs, according to the rule decreed; with a he-goat for a sin-offering, 38 beside the perpetual sacrifices with their bread and drink offerings. You 39 shall sacrifice these to the EVER-LIVING in your Festival, beside your vows, and free-will offerings, with your sacrifices, and your bread and drink offerings, and your thank-offering."

- 30 Moses consequently reported to the children of Israel all that the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses.

The Law of Vows to God.

- 2 Then Moses addressed the chiefs of the tribes of the children of Israel, saying:

"This is the thing that the EVER-LIVING commands,

- 3 "A person who vows a vow to JEHOVAH, or swears an oath to bind his soul, shall not repudiate his word, but perform all that has come out of his mouth,

Law of Vows by Women.

- 4 "And a woman who has vowed a vow and bond to the EVER-LIVING, but who is yet in the house of her father in her youth; when her father hears of her vow, and the bond with which she has bound her soul, and her father is silent upon it, then every vow shall stand, and every bond shall stand, with which she has bound her soul. But if her father comes to forbid her at the time he hears of any vow or bond with which she has bound her soul, it shall not stand; and JEHOVAH will release her, because her father forbids it.
- 7 "But if she has a husband, and she takes a vow upon her, or rashly utters from her lips what might bind her soul; when her husband hears of it, if he keeps silent to her at the time he hears, then the vow and bond with which she has bound her soul shall stand; but if at the time her husband hears of it, he prohibits it; then the vow which she has vowed upon herself, and the rash utterance of her lips by which she has bound her soul, shall be annulled, and the EVER-LIVING will release her.
- 10 "But the vow of a widow, or a divorced woman,—all that they bind upon their souls shall stand upon them.
- 11 "Yet if in her husband's house she binds a bond upon her soul with an
- 12 oath; if when her husband hears of it he keeps silent to her, not forbidding it, then every vow, and every bond which she has bound upon her soul shall stand. But if at the time her husband hears it he annuls them, all that came out of her lips as a vow, or a bond upon her soul, shall not stand. Her husband has annulled it, and the EVER-LIVING will release it. Every vow and every oath binding to afflict the soul, her husband may confirm and her husband may annul; but if her husband keeps silent to her from day to day, then he confirms them; for he was silent to her at the time he heard. But if he annuls them, after having heard of them, then he takes away any blame."

These are the laws that the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses about husband and wife; and about father and young girl in the house of her father.

War with Midian commanded.

The EVER-LIVING spoke to Moses and said:—

"Avenge the children of Israel against the Midianites after you have enumerated My people."

Moses therefore spoke to the People saying:—

"Select from yourselves officers for a war with the Midianites, to advance against Midian, to execute the punishment of the LORD upon Midian. Send a thousand of the troops from each tribe of Israel to go to this war. So they massed from the tribes of Israel, a thousand from each tribe, twelve thousand strong for the war. So Moses sent those bands to the war, and Phinehas the son of Aliazer the priest, with the sacred furniture, and the gongs in his possession to encourage them. These made war against Midian as the EVER-LIVING commanded Moses, and slew every male. They also slew the kings of Midian in the slaughter, Avi, and Rekem, and Tzur, and Khur, and Raba, the five kings of Midian, and also slew Balaam the son of Beor with the sword.

Then the children of Israel captured the women of Midian, with their jewels, and all the cattle, and all their property, and dispersed all their heroes, and all the villages which they inhabited, and burnt all their furniture with fire, and carried off all the plunder, and all the spoil from the field and from the person. Then they brought the captives to Moses, and Aliazer the priest, and to the Parliament of the children of Israel, along with the plunder, and the booty, to the camp on the plain of Moab, which was beside the Torrent near Jeriko.

13 Then Moses and Aliazer the priest, with all the princes of the Parliament went out to meet them outside the camp. But Moses was angry with the officers of the army, the colonels of regiments, and captains of companies, who returned with the army from the war, and Moses asked them:

"Why have you kept the women alive? What were they to the children of Israel under the advice of Balaam?—They seduced them to desert the EVER-LIVING in the affair of Peor, and they brought a pestilence upon the congregation of JEHOVAH. Now, therefore, kill every male child, and every woman who has known man sexually,—kill! But let every young girl who has not known a man sexually live for yourselves. Also pitch your tents outside the camp for seven days, all who have killed a person, or been wounded in battle. You must be cleansed from defilement at the sixth day, and on the seventh day, you and your prisoners, and all your clothing and every article of leather, and all fabrics of hair, and every article of wood, shall be cleansed."

The Law of Prize in War, and its Purification.

21 Then Aliazer the priest said to the commanders of the army who came from the war, "This is the Constitutional Law which the EVER-LIVING has commanded to Moses. All the gold and the silver, and the brass, and the iron, the tin, and the lead, all things which can resist fire, you shall put through the fire to purify them; but everything that is not able to endure fire shall be cleansed by passing through water, by washing in water. You shall also wash your clothes for seven days, and purify yourselves, and afterwards you may enter the camp."

Law of Dividing Booty of War.

25 The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses and said;

26 "You, and Aliazer, and the princes of the fathers of the Parliament, take an account of the booty of the prisoners; both of the men and of the cattle, and divide the booty among 27 the captors of the brigade who brought it from the campaign, and among all their people. But take off a tax from 28 them for the EVER-LIVING from the soldiers who actually went into battle, one head from five hundred of the men, and of the cattle, and of the asses, and of the sheep. You shall take 29 it from their share, and give it to Aliazer the priest, as a tax for the EVER-LIVING. But from the share 30 for the children of Israel you shall take one from every fifty of the men, of the cattle, and of the asses, and of the sheep, and from all the animals, and give them to the Levites who form the guard of the sanctuary of the EVER-LIVING."

Moses and Aliazer therefore did as 31 JEHOVAH commanded to Moses; and the prize, beside the plunder that the People plundered in the army,—was of sheep six hundred and seventy-five thousand, and of cattle seventy-two thousand; and of asses sixty-one 32 thousand, and of persons, with the 33 girls who had not known man sexually, all the human individuals were thirty-two thousand. 34 35

But the half of the booty that came 36 to the army was;—from the number of sheep three hundred and thirty-seven thousand, and five hundred. And the tax of the LORD from the 37 sheep was six hundred and seventy-five; and of cattle thirty-six thousand; 38 and the tax to the LORD seventy-two. And of asses thirty thousand and five hundred; and the tax for the LORD was sixty-one. And of human 39 beings, sixteen thousand; and the tax for the EVER-LIVING thirty-two persons. 40

And Moses gave the taxes which 41 were the LORD'S, as a raised offering, to Aliazer the priest, as the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses.

But the portion of the children of 42 Israel, which Moses took from the soldiers, and which was the share of 43 the Parliament,—was of sheep three hundred and thirty-seven thousand, and five hundred; and of cattle, 44 thirty-six thousand, and of asses 45 thirty thousand, five hundred; and of human beings sixteen thousand. 46 Moses also took from this share of 47 the children of Israel one from every fifty, both of the men, and of the beasts, and gave them to the Levites of the guard who guarded the sanctuary of the EVER-LIVING, as the LORD commanded to Moses.

The Army Officers offer a Free Gift.

48 Then the officers of the regiments of the army—the colonels of regiments, and the captains of companies, presented themselves to Moses, and said to Moses;—

“Your servants were promoted to be the chief commanders in the campaign which is in our hand, and not a man of us is missing. therefore we present this gift to the EVER-LIVING, each from what he has found of articles of gold, anklets, and bracelets, seals, earrings, and beads, to expiate for our persons before the EVER-LIVING, for our lives.”

51 Moses and Aliazer the priest, therefore, accepted from them all these articles made of gold. And the weight of the gold presented to the EVER-LIVING by the colonels of the regiments, and the captains of companies, was sixteen thousand, seven hundred and fifty shekels; for the commanders in the army had each plundered for themselves; so Moses and Aliazer the priest accepted the gold from the commanders of regiments and companies, and brought it into the Hall of Assembly, as a remembrance from the children of Israel before JEHOVAH.

The Reubenites and Gadites ask for Yazer and Gilad.

32 But the number of cattle belonging to the sons of Reuben, and the sons of Gad was very numerous, and they saw that the district of Yazer, and the district of Gilad were places for cattle. So the sons of Gad and the sons of Reuben came to Moses and Aliazer the priest, and the princes of the Parliament, to say;—

3 “Ataroth, and Dibon, and Nimrah, and Heshbon, and Alalah, and 4 Shibom, and Nebo, and Ban,—the country that the EVER-LIVING has conquered before the Commonwealth of Israel,—is a place for cattle, and 5 your servants possess cattle. And,” they continued, “if then your servants have found favour in your eyes, give this district to your servants to possess and we will not pass over the Jordan.”

But Moses said to the sons of Gad, 6 and to the sons of Reuben;—

“Your brothers are going over the Jordan, and would you stay here? Why should you discourage the hearts 7 of the children of Israel from passing to the country which the EVER-LIVING has given to them? Your fathers 8 did the same, when I sent them from Kadesh-Barnea to survey the country, when they proceeded to the brook of 9 Ashkol, and examined the country, and discouraged the hearts of the children of Israel, so that they would not go to the land which the EVER-LIVING had given them, and the 10 anger of JEHOVAH burnt at that time, 11 and He declared, saying;—‘Them men who come up out of the Mitzeraim, from twenty years old and upwards, shall not see the country which I promised to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob,—for they are not sincerely following Me;—except Kaleb the son 12 of Jephunah, the Kenezite, and Joshua the son of Nun, who sincerely followed the EVER-LIVING.’ The anger 13 of JEHOVAH consequently burnt against Israel, and they wandered forty years in the Wilderness, until all that generation who had done wrong in the sight of the EVER-LIVING had died. And now you arise 14 in the place of your fathers to continue the burning anger of the LORD against Israel, for you are turning 15 back from Him, and will cause Him to retain them in the Wilderness and consume all this people!”

But they pressed upon him and 16 said;—

“We will build folds to guard our sheep, and cities for our children, but 17 we ourselves are ready for action, and will advance ardently before the children of Israel to their districts wherever they may go. But our children can rest in the fortified towns, guarded from the inhabitants of the country. We will not return to our 18 homes until the children of Israel have each been put into possession of his estate. And we will not inherit 19 over the Jordan, nor westward, but our possessions shall be to the east of the fords of the Jordan.”

Then Moses replied to them; 20

“If you will do this,—if you will be ready for action before the EVER-LIVING in the war, and pass fully 21 armed over the Jordan before the EVER-LIVING until His enemies are

- 22 driven from before Him, then, when the country is subdued to JEHOVAH, you may return; and this district shall be given you from the EVER-LIVING, and from Israel, and this country shall be yours to possess it
- 23 in the presence of the LORD. But if you will not do so, then you will sin against the EVER-LIVING,—and you know the punishment for sin that will meet you. You can build towns for your children, and folds for your flocks,—and return when you have done so.”
- 25 The sons of Gad and the sons of Reuben replied to Moses saying;—“Your servants will do as Our Lord
- 26 commands. Our children, wives and property shall be here in the cities of
- 27 Gilad; but your servants will pass over a fully-equipped army before the EVER-LIVING, to war, as our Lord has said.”

The Parliament called to sanction the Proposals of Reuben and Gad.

- 28 Then Moses convoked Aliazer the priest, and Joshua the son of Nun, and the chief fathers of the tribes of the children of Israel,—and Moses said to them, “If the sons of Gad and the sons of Reuben pass over the Jordan fully equipped for the war of the EVER-LIVING, and subdue the country before you, then you shall give them the land of Gilad for a
- 30 possession. But if they do not go over ready for action, then they shall only inherit in the land of Canan.”
- 31 The sons of Gad, and the sons of Reuben answered, saying;—“Your servants will do what the
- 32 EVER-LIVING has said. We will pass over fully equipped before the EVER-LIVING to the land of Canan, and we will possess our inheritance on this side of the Jordan.”
- 33 So Moses gave to the sons of Gad and the sons of Reuben, and the half tribe of Manasseh, the son of Joseph, the kingdoms of Sihon, king of the Amorites, and the kingdoms of Og, king of Bashan. The land and its towns, with the surrounding country of the villages.
- 34 So the sons of Gad built Diban, and
- 35 Ataroth, and Arar, and Ataroth-Shufan, and Jazer, and Igbakkah, and Beth-minrah, and Beth-horon;—
- 36 fortified towns, with folds for sheep.
- 37 And the sons of Reuben built Heshbon, and Alalah, Kiriathaim, and Athbano, and Athbal-maon, 38 changing its name, and Sibma, and they called Bethmoth, Shemoth. These were the towns they built.

Then the descendants of Makir, the 39 son of Manasseh, marched to Gilad and captured it, and drove out the Amorites who were in it, so Moses 40 gave Gilad to Makir, the descendants of Manasseh, and he occupied it.

Then Yair the son of Manasseh 41 marched and captured some forts, and called them the forts of Yair.

Then Nobakh marched and cap- 42 tured Kaneth, and its villages, and named it Nobakh, after his own name.

Record of Israel's Marches from Egypt to the Jordan.

These are the marches of the 33 children of Israel who came under the direction of Moses and Aaron from the land of the Mitzeraim by their armies. (For Moses registered 2 their advance by marches, by instructions from the EVER-LIVING; and these are the marches they advanced by.)

They marched first from Ramases, 3 in the first month, upon the fifteenth day of the first month;—

After the morrow of the Pass- over, the children of Israel advanced brandishing arms in the sight of all Mitzeraim, whilst the Mitzerites were 4 burying those whom JEHOVAH had killed among them,—all their first-born. And JEHOVAH also executed justice upon their gods.

So the children of Israel marched 5 from Ramases, and pitched their tents at Skuth. Then they marched 6 from Skuth and pitched at Atham, which is on the border of the desert. Then they marched from Atham, and 7 pitched and occupied the Mouth of Hakhiroth,² which is opposite Balzeton, and pitched before the fortress. Then they marched from Hakhiroth 8 and passed over through the sea to the desert, and advanced in that direction three days to the Desert of Atham, and pitched at Marah. Then 9 they marched from Marah and came to Ailam, and there were at Ailam

¹ Vv. 1 and 2. Verse 2 is an ancient Editor's note, introducing the record of Moses, not part of his text, apparently, as the change of person shows.—F. F.

² V. 7. Hakhiroth, “the Mouth of the Shallows.”—F. F.

twelve springs of water, and seventy palm trees, so they pitched there.

10 Then they returned from Ailam and pitched at the Sea of Weeds.¹ Then they marched from the Sea of Weeds, and pitched in the Desert of Sin.

12 Then they marched from the Desert of Sin, and pitched in Dafakah.

13 Then they marched from Dafakah,

14 and pitched in Alush. Then they marched from Alush, and pitched in Rephidim; but there was no water there for the people to drink. Then they marched from Rephidim, and pitched in the Desert of Sinai. Then they marched from the Desert of Sinai, and pitched in Kibroth Hathavah. Then they marched from Kibroth Hathavah, and pitched in Khatzeroth.

18 Then they marched from Khatzeroth, and pitched in Rithmah. Then they marched from Rithmah, and pitched in Rimon-fartz. Then they marched from Rimon-fartz, and pitched in Libnah. Then they marched from Libnah, and pitched in Risah. Then they marched from Risah, and pitched in Kahlatha. Then they marched from Kahlatha, and pitched at Mount Shafr. Then they marched from Mount Shafr, and pitched in Kharadah. Then they marched from Kharadah, and pitched in Makhloth.

26 Then they marched from Makhloth, and pitched in Thakhath. Then they marched from Thakhath, and pitched in Tharakh. Then they marched from Tharakh, and pitched in Mithaka. Then they marched from Mithaka, and pitched in Khashmona.

30 Then they marched from Khashmona, and pitched in Moseroth. Then they marched from Moseroth, and pitched in among the Beni Yakan. Then they marched from the Beni Yakan, and pitched in the vale of Gadgad.

33 Then they marched from the vale of Gadgad, and encamped in Yatbatha.

34 Then they marched from Yatbatha,

35 and encamped in Aberona. Then they marched from Aberona, and encamped in Atzin-gaber. Then they marched from Atzin-gaber, and encamped in the desert of Tzin.²

37 Then they marched from Kadesh, and encamped at the Peak-hill, on the borders of the land of Edom, and Aaron the priest ascended the Peak-hill¹ by the order of the EVER-LIVING, and died there, in the fortieth year from the coming of the children of Israel out of Mitser, on the first of the fifth month. And Aaron was a hundred and twenty-three years old at his death on the Peak-hill.

The Cananites of Arad oppose Israel.

When the Cananite king of Arad heard that the children of Israel were advancing by the south country, he occupied the Peak-hill.

So they marched from the Peak-hill, and encamped at Tzalmonah. Then they marched from Tzalmonah, and encamped at Foonan. Then they marched from Foonan, and encamped at Aboth. Then they marched from Aboth, and encamped at Avi, at the Passes, on the border of Moab. Then they marched from Avi, and encamped at Diban-Gad. Then they marched from Diban-Gad, and encamped at Alman, towards Diblathim. Then they marched from Alman to Diblathim, and encamped at the Hills of the Passes, opposite to Nebo. Then they marched from the Hills of the Passes, and encamped at the plain of Moab, on the Jordan. Then they extended along the Jordan from Beth-Yeshimoth to the Acacia Meadows² upon the plains of Moab.

There the EVER-LIVING spoke to Moses on the Plains of Moab,² opposite Jeriko, commanding;—

Commands on the Invasion of Canan.

"Speak to the children of Israel, and say to them;

"Now you are about to pass over the Jordan to the land of Canan, you shall drive out all the possessors of that country before you, and destroy them, and their towers, and destroy all their bronze idols, and desolate all their High-places, and seize the country; for I have given the land to you to possess. But you shall divide the land by lots to your families. To

¹ Sea of "Weeds"; in Heb., "Suf"—F. F.
² ("Which is Kadesh.") The words in the parentheses are a note of an ancient editor to explain the text, not part of the Masala record.—F. F.

¹ Ar-Ahar.—F. F.

² The Acacia Meadows, in Hebrew "Abal shittim."

- the large you shall increase the portions, and to the small you shall lessen the portions. Whatever lot falls to any one shall be his, and apportioned to him in the tribe of his fathers.
- 55 But if you do not drive out the inhabitants of the land who occupy it, the remainder of them will be pricks in your eyes, and thorns in your sides, and a torment to you in the land where you reside. And I will do to you as I intended to do to them."

The Bounds of the Promised Land.

- 34 The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses to say:—
- 2 "Command the children of Israel and say to them;
- "Now you are come to the land of Canan;—the land which has fallen to you to inherit,—the land of Canan with her surroundings. And they shall be yours on the south side from the Wilderness of Tzin, on the borders of Edom.
- "These are your borders south; from the end of the Salt Sea eastward; and along from there your boundary towards the south shall be from the ascent of Akrabim, and across to Tzin, then turn up from the south to Kadesh Barnea, and proceed to the sheep-fold, and pass over to the Dam, and the border shall turn from the Dam to the River of Mitzer, and thence go westwards to the sea-shore, and the Great Sea be your boundary. That shall be your west border.
- 7 "And this shall be your boundary on the north; you shall mark out from the Great Sea, at the Hill of Hills.¹ From the Hill of Hills you shall mark out to the Pass of Khamath, and take a line to the borders of Tzadda. Thence your northern boundary shall start and proceed to Khatzar-ainan; that shall be your border to the north.
- 10 "Then you shall mark your eastern boundary from Khatzar-ainan to Shafnah; and the frontier shall run from Shafnah with Riblah on the east, to Ain, where the line shall descend and extend to the eastern shoulder of the Lake of Kinereth. Thence the frontier shall run by the Jordan and extend to the Salt Sea. This shall be your country with its surrounding bounds."

¹ Lebanon.—F. F.

The Allotment of Palestine to the Nine and a Half Tribes.

Therefore Moses commanded the 13 children of Israel, saying:—

"This is the country which you shall divide by lot; which the EVER-LIVING has commanded to give to the nine and a half tribes; because the 14 tribe of Reuben have taken for their ancestors' house; and the tribe of the sons of Gad for their ancestors' house with the house of Ephraim and the half tribe of Manasseh, have taken their share;—these two tribes and 15 the half tribe, have taken their shares before the Jordan, opposite Jeriko.¹

The EVER-LIVING also spoke to 16 Moses, commanding:—

"These two men shall divide the 17 land for you,—Aliazer the priest, and Joshua the son of Nun, with one prince from each of the tribes who shall superintend the division of the land; and these are the names of the 18 men;

"From the tribe of Judah, Kaleh 19 the son of Jehunah;

"From the tribe of the sons of 20 Simeon, Shamucl the son of Amihud;

"From the tribe of Benjamin, 21 Alidad the son of Kislou;

"From the tribe of the sons of Dan, 22 Prince Buki, the son of Izli;

"From the sons of Joseph:—From 23 the tribe of the sons of Manasseh, Prince Khaniel the son of Afod;

"From the tribe of the sons of 24 Ephraim, Prince Kamual, the son of Shiftan;

"From the tribe of the sons of 25 Zebulon, Prince Alizafan, the son of Parnak;

"From the tribe of the sons of 26 Issakar, Prince Faltiel, the son of Azan;

"From the tribe of the sons of 27 Asher, Akhihud, the son of Shalmi;

"From the tribe of the sons of 28 Naphthali, Prince Fidahl, the son of Amihud;

"The EVER-LIVING commands 29 these to divide the land of Canan to the children of Israel."

¹ V. 15. "Before the Jordan, opposite Jeriko," is evidence that in this allotment we have the actual words of Moses, who wrote his narrative on the eastern side of Jordan;—"on the east towards the sunrise") is a Jerusalem editor's note, written as an explanation for readers on the West of Jordan, centuries after the death of Moses.—F. F.

Cities ordered for the Levites.

- 35 The EVER-LIVING spoke to Moses at the plain of Moab by the Jordan opposite Jeriko, saying:
- 2 "Command the children of Israel, that they must give to the Levites, as a heritable portion, towns for residence, with pastures around those
- 3 towns, for the Levites. And the towns shall be for their residence, and the pastures for their cattle and their animals. The pastures which you are to give to the Levites outside the walls of the towns shall be a space
- 5 of two thousand cubits. You shall thus measure from the outside wall of the towns, on the eastern side, two thousand cubits, and on the south side two thousand cubits, and on the west side two thousand cubits, and on the north side, two thousand cubits; with the town in the centre. These shall be the pasture lands of these towns.
- 6 "You shall also assign to the Levites these towns;—six cities of refuge to be provided for man-slayers. And beside them provide forty-two
- 7 cities—a total of forty-eight. All these towns shall be assigned to the Levites, being for them, and their pasturage.
- 8 But the towns that you assign from the children of Israel shall be according to their numbers, large, and according to their fewness, small,—each according to the extent of the district which they inherit shall give towns to the Levites. According to their shares, they shall assign equivalent towns to the Levites."

Cities of Refuge ordered.

- 9 The EVER-LIVING also spoke to Moses, commanding;—
- 10 "Speak to the children of Israel and say to them;
- "You are now about to pass over the Jordan to the land of Canan.
- 11 Therefore appoint for yourselves Cities of Refuge, that man-slayers, who have cut off a life by accident,
- 12 may fly to them. And they shall be your Cities of Refuge from the Avenger, so that the fugitive may not be killed, until he has stood in the presence of
- 13 a jury for trial. Therefore shall you appoint six Cities of Refuge for yourselves. You shall appoint three of the Cities on this side the Jordan, and three Cities in the land of Canan,
- 15 to be Cities of Refuge, for the children of Israel and for foreigners residing among you. These three cities shall be Cities of Refuge for everyone who has cut off a life by accident. Thus: 16 if he strikes any with an instrument of iron, and he dies, he is a man-slayer; the man-slayer would be killed; or if he throws a stone which 17 wounds mortally, and the wounded dies, he is a man-slayer; the man-slayer would be killed; or strikes 18 with an instrument of wood a deadly blow, and the wounded dies from it, he is a man-slayer; the man-slayer would be killed. The Avenger 19 would kill the wounder; he would kill the wounder when found. He would kill him.

"But if from enmity he stabs or 20 shoots at one from a hiding place, and kills, or from hatred strikes with 21 his hand, and kills; he shall be killed who has struck the wound; The Avenger of Blood shall kill the wounder when he finds him.

"But if undesignedly, not from 22 enmity, one stabs or shoots another with any instrument, not treacherously, or kills with a stone, not having 23 seen;—or it falls upon a person who dies,—whom he did not hate, and did not seek to injure,—then the jury 24 shall judge between the accused and the Avenger, according to these rules; and the jury shall deliver the accused 25 from the hand of the Avenger. But the jury shall assign him to the City of Refuge to which he shall go, and stay there until the death of the High Priest who has been consecrated with the Oil of Consecration.

"But if the man-slayer goes beyond 26 the boundaries of the City of Refuge to which he has fled; and the Avenger 27 of Blood meets him outside the bounds of the City of Refuge, then the Avenger of Blood may kill the slayer, without blood being upon himself; for he ought to have remained in the 28 City of Refuge until the death of the High Priest. But after the death of the High Priest the man-slayer may reside in his own district.

The Constitutional Law of Murder

"These shall be Constitutional 29 Laws to your descendants, in all your residences:—

"Whoever cuts off a life, the slayer 30 shall be slain on the evidence of two witnesses; but upon the evidence of one you shall not condemn a person

31 to death. And you shall not take any ransom for a life; the man-slayer who mortally injures, shall die a death.

32 You shall also not accept a ransom from the refugee to a City of Refuge, to return to rest in the country, until

33 the death of the priest, so that you may not corrupt the land you reside in; for blood pollutes the land, and the land will not cover the blood that is shed upon it, except by the shedder's blood; consequently you shall

34 not defile the land you dwell in,—amidst which I encamp,—for I, the EVER-LIVING, encamp in the midst of the children of Israel."

The Law of the Marriage of Heiresses.

36 The ancestral chiefs of the family of the sons of Gilad, the descendant of Makir, the son of Manasseh of the family of the son of Joseph, came before Moses and the presence of the Princes, the ancestral chiefs of the children of Israel, and said;

"The EVER-LIVING commanded Our Prince to apportion the land by lot to the children of Israel, and the Prince was commanded by the EVER-LIVING to give the share of Tzilafad,

3 our brother, to his daughters. But they may take any one of the sons of the tribes of Israel for a husband, and carry away their shares from the shares of our families, and thus lessen the portions of the tribe to which they belong, and take away from our

4 allotted share. And when the Jubilee comes to the children of Israel, then that portion will be added to the portion of the tribe to which they have gone, and the share of the tribe of their fathers will lose their shares?"

Consequently Moses commanded 5 the children of Israel by instruction from the EVER-LIVING, saying:—

"The argument of the sons of the tribe of Joseph is fair. This is the 6 order of the EVER-LIVING to the daughters of Tzilafad:—They may decide to be wives to anyone who is good in their eyes; but their husband shall be only from a family of their father's tribe, so that the portions of 7 the children of Israel may not be removed from tribe to tribe, for all the portions of the ancestral houses of the children of Israel shall be kept together. Therefore any daughter 8 inheriting an estate in any of the tribes of the children of Israel, shall become the wife of one from her father's clan, so that the children of Israel shall each inherit the share of his father; for no estate shall 9 change from tribe to tribe. After each portion has been allotted, it shall be kept in the same tribe of the children of Israel."

The daughters of Tzilafad accord- 10 ingly did as the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses. And the daughters 11 of Tzilafad, Makhla, Thirza, Khagla, and Milka, and Noah, were given as wives to the sons of their uncles, of 12 the family of the sons of Manasseh, the son of Joseph, they were their wives. Thus their portions remained in the tribe of Manasseh their father. These were the commands, and the 13 institutions which the EVER-LIVING ordained through the medium of Moses, to the children of Israel, at the plains of Moab, by the Jordan, beyond Jeriko.

END OF THE BOOK OF NUMBERS.

DEUTERONOMY.

(ALEH HE DIBARIM MOSHEH.)

THE SPEECHES OF MOSES.

INTRODUCTION.¹

1 The following are the Speeches which Moses addressed to all Israel, before the passage over the Jordan, in the desert, extending from Suf, between Paran, and Thofel, and Laban, and Khatzroth, and Zahb.²

3 It was during the fortieth year, in the eleventh month, upon the first of

¹ This Introduction was probably written by Ahiazer, the High Priest, for the Sacred Copy kept in the Ark of the Covenant.—F. F.

² V. 2, in parentheses, is an explanatory note of an old Hebrew editor.—F. F.

³ (It is eleven days' journey from Horeb, when marching by the way of Mount Salt to Kadesh-Barnea.)

the month, Moses related to the children of Israel all that the EVER-LIVING had commanded him for them; after he had defeated Sihon, King of the Amorites, who lived in Heshbon, and Og King of Bashan, who lived at Ashtaroth, in Adarai, on that side¹ of the ford of the Jordan, in the land of Moab, Moses began to publish the law, and said;—

¹ That is the eastern side. This geographical description proves this Introduction to have been written before Joshua invaded Palestine, and shows the age of the Orations, and is an internal proof that we have them now as Moses wrote and spoke, except for a few inserted explanatory notes which I shall indicate as my version proceeds.—F. F.

SPEECH I.

History of the Exodus.

- 6 Our EVER-LIVING GOD spoke to us in Horeb, saying;—"You have remained long enough on this mountain.
- 7 Turn and march, and proceed with all your camps to the highlands of the Amorites, and all their neighbours in the dry lands of the hills, and thence to the plains and desert along the shore of the sea of the land of Canaan, and from Lebanon, as far as the great river Frath."¹
- 8 Attend! I have opened the country to you! Go and seize the land which the EVER-LIVING promised to give to your fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob,—to give it to them and to their posterity after them.
- 9 But I told you at that time, I myself could not support you alone!
- 10 And now your EVER-LIVING GOD has increased you, and, see! you are to-day like the stars of the sky in number!
- 11 And the EVER-LIVING the GOD of your fathers will add to you, beyond this, a thousand times, and will
- 12 bless you, as He promised.—How can I alone bear your troubling? and carry your contentions? Go!
- 13 Choose for yourselves skilful, clear-sighted, and educated men to control you, and I will appoint them your chiefs.
- 14 When you answered me, "What you have said is good; what you have said, do it!"
- 15 I therefore chose as the chiefs of your tribes, skilful and educated men, and gave them to you as your chiefs; colonels of regiments, and captains of companies, and captains of fifties, and captains of tens; with magistrates
- 16 for your tribes. I also ordered your judges at that time saying;—
- "Listen between your brothers, and decide just judgments between a man and his brother, and the foreigners
- 17 among you. Do not regard social station in deciding, whether low or high. Listen not in fear of the station of a man; for justice belongs to GOD HIMSELF. But any matter that is too difficult for you, bring to me, and I will hear it."

¹ Euphrates.—F. F.

I instructed you also at that time 18 as to what things you ought to do.

Then we marched from Horeb and 19 proceeded through all that great and terrible desert, which you saw on the way to the Hills of the Amorites, when our EVER-LIVING GOD commanded us to advance to Kadesh-Barnea, where I said "You are now 20 arrived at the Hills of the Amorites, which our EVER-LIVING GOD is giving us. Look! your EVER-LIVING 21 GOD has provided the country before you to possess. Go up, seize it as the EVER-LIVING GOD of your fathers commands you,—fear not, nor be terrified." But all of you approached 22 me, and said, 'Let us send men before us to examine the country, and to report to us about the road by which we can go up to it; and about the cities that we must go to.' And 23 the request seemed good in my opinion, and I appointed twelve princes,—one from each tribe;—and 24 they turned and went up to the hills, and descended to the vale of Eshkol, and examined it, and took into 25 their hands some of the produce of the country and came back to us, and reported the matter, saying; "It is a beautiful country that our EVER-LIVING GOD has given us." But you 26 were not willing to go up; and rebelled against the order of your EVER-LIVING GOD; and murmured 27 in your tents and exclaimed, "Because the EVER-LIVING hated us He brought us out of the land of the Mitzeraim, and would give us into the hands of the Amorites to destroy us!—Alas for 28 our advance! Our brothers have depressed our hearts, by saying they are a people finer and taller than us! Their cities are large and fortified up to the skies; and we also saw the sons of Anak there!"

But I replied to you, "Be not terri- 29 fied, nor fear them. Your EVER-LIV- 30 ING GOD Who goes before you, He will fight for you, in the way He did in your sight among the Mitzeraim, and 31 in the desert where you saw how the EVER-LIVING carried you as a man carries his child, along all the way that you went, until He brought you to this spot." But on that occasion 32

33 you were not relying upon your EVER-LIVING GOD, Who marched before you in the journey to choose your encampments, as a fire at night, to show the way you should go, and 34 as a cloud by day. And the EVER-LIVING heard the sound of your words and was angry, and declared, 35 saying; "This vile generation shall never see the beautiful land which I promised to give to their fathers; 36 only Caleb the son of Jefonah shall see it; and I will give to him and his sons the country which he travelled through, for he went up confidently, following the EVER-37 LIVING." The EVER-LIVING was also angry with me on account of you, and said, "You shall not go there!
 38 Joshua the son of Nun, your lieutenant, shall go. Encourage him, for he 39 shall put Israel into possession. But your infants whom you said would be captured; and your sons who to-day know neither good nor evil,— they shall go there and I will give it to them, and they shall possess it.
 40 But you, turn back and march to the desert, towards the sea of Suf!"
 41 Then you were grieved and replied;
 "We have sinned against the EVER-LIVING!—We will now go up and conquer, according to all that the EVER-LIVING GOD commanded!"
 And each one of you put on arms, 42 and went up to the hill. But the EVER-LIVING said to me, "Order them, Go not up, and fight not, for I am not with you;—therefore you will fly before your enemies."
 43 So I spoke to you, but you would not hear, and you rebelled against the order of the EVER-LIVING, and were insolent, and went up to the 44 Hill,—and the Amorites who occupied the Hill advanced against you, and drove you, like bees would do, and routed you like a tempest to the 45 valley. So you returned, and wept before the EVER-LIVING. But the EVER-LIVING would not hear your 46 voice, nor listened." Consequently you were detained at Kadesh for many days. You remained there a 2 long time; then turned back and marched to the desert towards the Sea of Suf, as the EVER-LIVING commanded me, and wandered about the hill of Sair a long time.
 2 At last the EVER-LIVING said to 3 me; "You have wandered about this hill enough! Turn to the north, and command the People saying to 4 them, 'Pass over the borders of your brothers, the sons of Esau, who dwell in Sair. But they will be afraid of you, so carefully guard yourselves.

 And injure them not; for I will not 5 give you a foot's space of their country, because I have given Mount Sair to Esau as a possession. You must 6 buy food from them with money, and eat it; and also purchase water from them for money, and drink it; for 7 your EVER-LIVING GOD has blessed you in every work of your hand, whilst you travelled this great desert
 these forty years; your EVER-LIVING GOD has been with you, and you have wanted for nothing.'" We 8 consequently passed by our brothers the sons of Esau, who occupy Sair, by the road of the Arabah, to Ailath, and Atzian-gaber, where you turned off and traversed the road of the desert of Moab.

There the EVER-LIVING said to 5 me, "Do not trouble Moab, but keep yourselves from fighting. Turn, for I have not granted you his country, because I have given Ar to the sons of Lot as a possession."¹

But now arise and pass the Vale 13 of Yared, and at the passage of the Vale of Yared, including the 14 period of the march from Kadesh-Barnea, until the time you crossed the Vale of Yared, was thirty-eight years, until all the generation of fighting men belonging to the camp were dead, as the EVER-LIVING threatened them. For the hand of 15 the EVER-LIVING was against them to destroy them out of the camp until they perished. And when all the 16 fighting men had died from among the People, then the EVER-LIVING 17 spoke to me, and said, "Now cross 18

¹ Vv. 10 to 13 are an ancient editor's note, not a part of the text of Moses. It was probably added by Ezra, when he edited the Pentateuch, after the return from Babylon, as all the other notes which I consequently transfer to the foot of the pages.—F. F.

(The Amim formerly occupied it, a 10 great and numerous nation, and tall, like Anakim; they considered themselves also 11 to be Rephaim like the Anakim,—but the Moabites called them Amim. And the 12 Khorites dwelt in Sair before them, but the sons of Esau expelled them, and drove them from the place, and occupied it in their stead, as Israel did in the country they seized which the EVER-LIVING gave to them.)

over to-day the boundaries of Moab at Ar. But when you approach the sons of Amon, neither distress nor hurt them, for I will not give the country of the sons of Amon to you to possess, for I have given it to the sons of Lot as a possession.¹

24 "Rise! march! and cross the River Arnon! See! I have given you Sihon, King of Heshbon, the Amorite, and his country to break, assail, and defeat it in war! I have broken him this day,—putting the dread and fear of you upon the face of the nations, under every sky, who may hear the reports about you. They tremble and faint before you!"

26 Then I sent ambassadors from the desert of the East to Sihon, King of Heshbon with proposals of peace, and said;—

27 "I wish to pass across your country by the king's highway, I will not deviate right or left. You shall sell food for money, and I will eat it; and pay money for the water you give and I drink it. I will only pass over with my troops. Do to me as the sons of Esau did who dwell in Sair, and the Moabites who inhabit Ar, until I have crossed the Jordan, to the land which our EVER-LIVING GOD has given us."

30 But Sihon, King of Heshbon, was not willing we should cross over him, for your EVER-LIVING GOD had stupefied his mind, and emboldened his heart, that by it He might give him into your hand, as He has now done.

31 The EVER-LIVING GOD also said; "See! I have begun to give up Sihon and his country before you; seize it! take his land for a possession!"

¹ Vv. 20 to end of 23 are a note of an ancient editor, probably Ezra, not part of the original text of Moses.—F. F.

20 (This also was considered a country of the Rephaim, because the Rephaim resided there formerly, but the Amorites called them Yim-yimim. They were a great and numerous people, like the Anakim, but the EVER-LIVING destroyed them before those, who drove them out, and inhabited in their place; as He did for the sons of Esau who occupy Mount Sair, who expelled the Khorites formerly, and drove them out, and dwell in their place until this day. The Avites also resided in the fortresses until the powerful Kaphtorites came from Kaphtor and defeated them, and they reside after them.)

Then Sihon advanced to meet us, he and all his force to fight at Jahaz. But our EVER-LIVING GOD delivered him to us; and we struck him and his son and all his forces; and at that time we captured all his towns, and devoted all his cities, nor allowed the men, women or children to escape. However, the cattle we seized for ourselves, and the plunder of the cities which we captured; from Aroar on the banks of the Arnon, and the town in the valley, and as far as Gilad—there was not a city that was too strong for us,—our EVER-LIVING GOD delivered the whole to our approach (except the country of the Ammonites), all along the vale of Jabbok, with the towns of the Highlands, and all that our EVER-LIVING GOD commanded.

Then we turned and went up towards Bashan, and Og, king of Bashan advanced to meet us with all his forces, to fight at Adarai.

Then the EVER-LIVING said to me, 2—"Fear him not, for I have given him into your power, with all his forces, and his country; and you shall do to him as you did to Sihon, king of the Amorites, who lived in Heshbon."

So our EVER-LIVING GOD also subjected to us Og, king of Bashan and all his forces, until not a remnant remained to him. We also captured all his towns, in the same campaign;—there was not a city we did not take,—from the sixty towns in the district of Argob, to the capital of Og in Bashan.—All which towns were fortified with high walls, gates and bars,—beside a great many towns of the Perizites. We devoted them as we did to Sihon, king of Heshbon;—we devoted every city, men, women and children; and all the cattle, and plunder of those towns we seized for ourselves. We thus took, in the same campaign, their country from the possession of the two kings of the Amorites which are this side of the Jordan, extending from the vale of Arnon to the Hill of Hermon.¹ All the towns of the plain, and all Gilad, and all

¹ V. 9. The parenthesis is the note of an ancient commentator, probably Ezra's, not part of the original text.—F. F.

(The Zidonians call Hermon, Shirion, and the Amorites call it Shenir.)

- Bashan, to Salkah, and Adarai;— 12 towns of the dominions of Og in Bashan.¹ These countries we conquered in that campaign, extending from Aroer which is on the river Arnon. Half Mount Gilad and its villages I gave to the Reubenites 13 and Gadites. But the remainder of Gilad and all Bashan, with the dominions of Og, I gave to the half tribe of Manasseh;—all the plain of Argob, and all Bashan which is called the land of the Rephaim.
 14 Yair the son of Manasseh took all the district of Argob, as far as the borders of the Ghesurites and the Makath-ites, and he called them after his own 15 name;—Yair's Towns.²—But I gave 16 Gilad to Makir. To the Reubenites and Gadites I also gave a part of Gilad, to the middle of the vale of Arnon, the river as a boundary as far as Jabok, with its river to the 17 border of the Ammonites; and the plain of the Jordan as a boundary, from Kineroth as far as the Sea of the Plain,—the Dead Sea,—down to the hill-foot of Pisgah, from the east.
 18 But I commanded you at the time, saying, "Your EVER-LIVING GOD has given you this country to possess, but you must march fully equipped in the front of your brothers the children of Israel, with all your forces.
 19 However the women and children, and cattle, (for I know you have many cattle,) may remain in the 20 cities which I have given you, until the EVER-LIVING has settled your brothers like yourselves, and they are also in possession of the country which their EVER-LIVING GOD will give to them, beyond the Jordan;
 then you may each return, and each dwell upon the estates I gave you." 21 I also commanded Joshua at that time, saying, "Your eyes have seen all that your EVER-LIVING GOD has done to these two kings;—the EVER-

¹ V. 11, in parentheses, is an ancient editor's note, probably Ezra's, not part of the speech of Moses.—F. F.

² (Og, king of Bashan was of the remnant of the race of the Rephaim. He can be seen lying upon a couch of iron which is preserved in Rabath of the Ammonites. Its length is nine cubits, and breadth four cubits, by the common cubit.)

³ The parenthesis is the note of an old Hebrew editor, not part of the oration of Moses.—F. F.

(As they are to this day.)

LIVING will do the same to all the kingdoms which are over there. Fear them not, for your EVER-LIVING 22 GOD will fight for you."

And at that time I implored the 23 EVER-LIVING, saying, "ALMIGHTY 24 LORD You have now begun to show to Your servant Your grandeur, and Your Strong Hand. What POWER in Heaven or on earth can do as You have done with YOUR MIGHT? Let 25 me, I pray, go over, and see this beautiful country that is beyond the Jordan;—those beautiful hills and Lebanon!" But the EVER-LIVING 26 was angry with me because of you, and would not listen to me, and the EVER-LIVING said to me,—“Let this be enough for you. Continue not to speak to Me again about this matter. Go up to the top of Pisgah, and 27 your eyes westward, and northward, and southward, and eastward, and see it with your eyes;—for you shall not pass over this river Jordan.

“Therefore command Joshua, and 28 encourage, and strengthen him, for he shall go over before the people, and he shall conquer for them the 29 country that you will survey."

We were then staying, in the valley near Beth-peor. Consequently, now, Israel, listen 4 to the constitutions and decrees which I will teach you to practise, that you may live, and go, and possess the country which the EVER-LIVING GOD of your fathers will give you. You shall not add to the 2 matter that I command you, nor shall you detract from it, but keep the commands of your EVER-LIVING GOD, as I have commanded you. Your eyes saw what the EVER-LIVING 3 did because of Bal-peor,—how the EVER-LIVING destroyed every man who went after Bal-peor among you. But you who kept fast to your EVER- 4 LIVING GOD are all of you alive to-day!

Attend to me as I teach you the 5 constitutions and decrees which the EVER-LIVING, my GOD, commands you to practise when you arrive in the country which you are going to possess, and guard them, and practise them;—for they will make you wise and intelligent in the eyes of the Peoples who hear of all these constitutions, who will say; "This is a wise and intelligent People—this Great Nation!" For what nation is 7

so great that its gods approach to it, as our EVER-LIVING GOD does to us whenever we appeal to Him? And what nation is so great as to possess institutions and just laws, like the whole of this Law which I place before you to-day? Only guard yourselves, and guard your souls carefully, from forgetting the events that your eyes have seen, and from turning your heart away all the days of your life; and teach them to your children, and to your children's children.

10 Upon the day when you stood before your EVER-LIVING GOD at Horeb, when the EVER-LIVING commanded me. "Collect the People to Me, and I will let them hear My words, that they may learn to fear Me all the time they live on the earth, and 11 teach their children." So you approached and stood below the hill, whilst the hill burned with fire up to the heart of the skies, with darkness,

12 cloud, and gloom. There the EVER-LIVING spoke to you from the midst of the fire. You heard a VOICE speaking to you!—but no Image appearing! A VOICE alone!—And it informed you of the Covenant which He commanded you to practise;—the Ten Commandments,—and wrote them upon two tables of stone.

14 But to me, the EVER-LIVING ordered at that time to teach you the constitutions and decrees, which you were to practise in the land into which you would pass, to possess it.

15 Therefore you must guard your minds very carefully,—for you did not see any SHAPE on the day the EVER-LIVING spoke with you in Horeb from the midst of the fire,—

16 from wickedly making for yourselves a carved SHAPE,—any Image; or

17 model of Man or Woman; or form of any beast that is upon the earth; form of any bird which flies in the 18 sky; form of any reptile on the ground; form of any fish that is in the waters lower than the earth;—

19 Or, if you raise your eyes heavenward, and see the sun, or the moon, or the stars,—all the host of the skies,—and bow to, and worship them, and serve those which your EVER-LIVING GOD has apportioned to all the nations under all the skies;

20 —but the EVER-LIVING selected you, and brought you from the iron works of the Mitzeraim, to be a People for

21 Himself,—as you are to-day. Yet

the EVER-LIVING was angry with me over your affairs, and swore to prevent me crossing the Jordan, and to prevent me arriving at the beautiful country which your EVER-LIVING GOD has given to you to possess! For I must die in this country,—I 22 may not pass over the Jordan!—but you will pass over, and possess that beautiful land!

Guard yourselves from forgetting 23 the covenant of your EVER-LIVING GOD, which He contracted with you, for fear you should make for yourselves a carved image,—contrary to the command of your EVER-LIVING GOD; for your EVER-LIVING GOD is 24 a consuming fire;—HE is a jealous GOD!

When you have begotten children 25 and children's children, and are in the country, and have corrupted yourselves, and make carved images, and do evil in the eyes of your EVER-LIVING GOD, provoking Him;—I call 26 to witness to-day the Heavens and the Earth to witness to you, that perishing you shall perish quickly from off the land which you pass over the Jordan there to possess;—your time shall not be prolonged in it;—but you shall certainly waste away; and the EVER-LIVING will scatter 27 you among the nations, and you shall remain a small number among the nations where the EVER-LIVING has driven you. And you shall there 28 serve gods made by human hands!—of wood, and stone; who cannot see, or hear, or eat, or breathe! But if 29 you should from there entreat your EVER-LIVING GOD, and decide to seek HIM with all your heart, and with all your soul,—when all these 30 events meet you in future times, in your misery you should return to the EVER-LIVING, your GOD, and listen to His voice,—a GOD of Mercy is the 31 EVER-LIVING, your GOD,—He will not desert you, and will not turn from you, and will not forget the covenant with your fathers, which He swore to them.—Therefore 32 search, now, the former times that were before you,—from the day when GOD created man upon the earth,—and from one extreme of the heavens to the other extreme of the heavens,—has there ever been such a great event as this?—or has there been heard its like?— a People who heard the VOICE of 33

34 GOD speaking from amid the fire, as you heard it,—and lived? or that GOD attempted to go and take for Himself one nation from the breast of another nation, with trials, with miracles, and portents, and war, and with a strong hand, and a directing arm, and great manifestations, such as all those your EVER-LIVING GOD has made in your sight upon the Mitzeraim for you?

35 Then see, and learn that the EVER-LIVING is GOD,—and except Him

36 NONE!—From the heavens you have heard HIS VOICE!—when He taught you,—and upon earth you have seen His Great Fire!—and heard His commands from the midst of the

37 fire; because He loved your fathers, and chose their race after them, and brought you by His great might to His PRESENCE from among the Mitzeraim, and will drive great and 38 more powerful nations than you before your face, to bring you to,—to give you,—their country as a possession,—as at this day! Therefore 39 learn to-day,—and fix it in your heart,—that the EVER-LIVING, He is GOD in heaven, and upon the earth,—and except HIM there is no other! —So keep His institutions, and His 40 commandments, as I order you to-day, that you may prosper, and your children after you;—and then your days will be long upon the land which your EVER-LIVING GOD will give to you for all time.¹

¹ Vv. 41—43 are a note of an ancient editor, not a part of the text of Moses. This note was most probably written by Ezra.—F. F.

- 41 (At this period Moses selected three cities over the Jordan towards the sun-rise, for the man-slayer, who might kill his neighbour accidentally, whom he had not previously hated, to fly to,—that he might fly to one of those CITIES OF GOD and live.
- 42 They were Betzer in the desert in the district of Misher, for the Reubenites, and Ramoth in Gbilad, for the Gadites, and Golan in Bashan, for the Manassites.)²

² Vv. 44—48 are also a note of an ancient editor, probably Ezra, as the remark that Moses was on the Eastern side of Jordan indicates the commentator as looking from the Western side—say, Jerusalem. All these are internal proofs of the authenticity of the main text.—F. F.

(This was the Law which Moses put 44 before the children of Israel.)

The following are also Constitutional 45 Enactments, and Decrees, which Moses dictated to the children of Israel at their coming out from the Mitzeraim, at the ford of the Jordan, in the valley opposite Beth-peor, in the country of Sihon, king 46 of the Amorites, who resided in Heshbon, whom Moses and the children of Israel defeated upon their coming out from the Mitzeraim, when they seized his country, 47 and the country of Og, king of Bashan, both kings of the Amorites, who were beyond the Jordan, toward the rising of the sun, extending from Arar, which is 48 upon the bank of the river Arnon, to the Hill of Shian,—that is Hermon,—and all the plain beyond the Jordan towards the sun-rise, and to the Sea of the Plain, below the feet of Pisgah.

END OF THE FIRST ORATION.

SPEECH II.

Upon the Covenant of Sinai.

- 5 Moses again assembled all Israel and said to them;—
Listen, Israel, to the constitutions and decrees which I proclaim in your hearing to-day,—both to learn them, and preserve them by practising.
- 2 Our EVER-LIVING GOD contracted
3 a covenant with us in Horeb. Not with our fathers did the EVER-LIVING contract that covenant, but with us, ourselves; those in this place, 4 all of us alive to-day. The EVER-LIVING spoke face to face with you at the Hill, from the midst of the fire.
- 5 I stood between the EVER-LIVING and you at that time to report to you the dictation of the EVER-LIVING, for you were afraid at the presence of the fire, and could not ascend to Him, and He said;—
- 6 I. "I am your EVER-LIVING GOD Who brought you out of the land of Egypt,—from the house of bondage. You shall have no other gods except Myself.
- 7 II. "You shall not make for yourselves an Image,—any likeness of what is in the heavens above, or what is on the earth beneath; or what is in the waters lower than the land.
- 9 You shall not bow down to them nor serve them, for I, your EVER-LIVING GOD, am a jealous GOD, punishing the sins of the parents upon their children to the third and fourth generation, of those who hate Me; but I show mercy to thousands of generations of those who love Me and keep My commandments.
- 11 III. "You shall not take the Name of your EVER-LIVING GOD in vain, for the EVER-LIVING will not hold him guiltless who takes His Name in vain.
- 12 IV. "Regard the Sabbath Day to keep it holy; as the EVER-LIVING 13 GOD commanded you. You may labour six days and do all your business, but the seventh day is a rest to your EVER-LIVING GOD; you shall not do any business upon it;—you, or your son, or your daughter, or your servant, or your handmaid, or your ox, or your ass, or any of your cattle, or your hired man, who may be in your house,—because your workmen, and your maid servant shall rest like yourself. Remember also that you were slaves in the land of the Mitzeraim, but your EVER-LIVING GOD brought you out from there with a strong hand, and a directing arm,—therefore your EVER-LIVING GOD commanded you to make the Day of Rest.

V. "Honour your father and your mother, as your EVER-LIVING GOD commanded you, so that your days may be lengthened, and that you may prosper upon the land which your EVER-LIVING GOD gives to you.

VI. "You shall not murder. 17

VII. "You shall not fornicate. 18

VIII. "You shall not steal. 19

IX. "You shall not bring up false evidence against your neighbour. 20

X. "You shall not covet your neighbour's wife; you shall not long for your neighbour's farm, or his slave, or his handmaid, his ox, or his ass, or anything that is your neighbour's."

The EVER-LIVING dictated these 22 commands to the whole assembly of you, from the midst of the fire, of the cloud, and of the gloom;—a GREAT VOICE,—and did not desist there, but wrote them upon two tables of stone, and gave them to me.

But when you heard the VOICE 23 from the midst of the darkness, and the mountain burning with fire,—then all the Chiefs of your tribes, and your nobles approached to me, and 24 said;—

"Now we have seen our EVER-LIVING GOD;—His Majesty and His Greatness;—and have heard His VOICE, His VOICE from the midst of the fire to-day. We have seen that GOD can speak with mankind, and lives. Therefore, now, why should 25 we die? For this Great Fire will consume us, if we ourselves remain longer to hear the Voice of our EVER-LIVING GOD,—we shall die, for who 26 is there of any race who has heard the Voice of the Living GOD speaking from the midst of the fire, like us, and has lived? Go yourself near 27 and listen to all that our EVER-LIVING GOD says, and then report to us all that our EVER-LIVING GOD dictates to you, and we will listen to it, and do it."

- 28 And the EVER-LIVING heard the voice of your speeches when you spoke to me, and the EVER-LIVING said to me;—"I have heard the voice of this People speaking to you. All they have said is beautiful! What would I give if there were such a heart in them to attend to Me, and to keep all My commands for all time? Then there would be prosperity to them and to all their children for ever!—Go! tell them to return to their tents. But you, stay here, and I will dictate to you all My Commands, and the Constitutions, and Decrees, which you must teach them to practise in the country which I will give them to possess." Therefore you must practise them as your EVER-LIVING GOD commanded you;—you shall not turn away to the right or the left.
- 33 You shall walk in every way as your EVER-LIVING GOD commanded you, so that you may live, and prosper, and lengthen your days in the country which you shall possess.
- 6 And these are the commands, and constitutions, and decrees which your EVER-LIVING GOD commands you to learn to practise in the land to which you will pass over to possess.
- 2 So you must fear your EVER-LIVING GOD, and preserve all the Constitutions, and Commandments, which I command you;—you and your children, and the children of your children, all the time of your life. Listen, therefore, Israel! and keep and practise them,—so that you may prosper, and so that you may increase greatly, as your EVER-LIVING GOD promised to your fathers,—upon entering into the land flowing with milk and honey!
- 4 Listen, Israel! Our EVER-LIVING GOD is a Single LIFE. Therefore love your EVER-LIVING GOD with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your strength. And let these words that I command you to-day be in your heart; and teach them to your sons, and speak about them when sitting in your house,—and in travelling on your journeys,—and when lying down,—and when rising up. Bind them also as ornaments upon your hands, and as frontlets between your eyes, and write them upon the doors of your house, and upon your gates. And then when your EVER-LIVING GOD brings you to the country which He promised to your fathers,—to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob,—to give to you great and beautiful cities that you built not; and houses full of furniture that you did not make; and many fortresses which you did not fortify; vineyards and olive yards which you did not plant;—where you may eat and be satisfied,—take care to yourselves lest you forget the EVER-LIVING Who brought you from the land of the Mitzeraim,—from the house of bondage!

Fear your EVER-LIVING GOD, and serve Him, and swear by His Name. You must not go after other gods,—than GOD;—those of the Peoples around you,—for your EVER-LIVING GOD is a jealous GOD. Guard yourselves lest the anger of your EVER-LIVING GOD should burn against you, and He should destroy you from off the face of the land.

You shall not try your EVER-LIVING GOD, as you tried Him in Masah. You shall carefully preserve the commands of your EVER-LIVING GOD, and His proofs, and His constitutions that He ordered you. And you shall practise Justice, and Right in the sight of the EVER-LIVING, so that you may prosper and possess that beautiful country where the EVER-LIVING promised to your fathers to repulse all your enemies before you;—as the EVER-LIVING will do.

When your son enquires of you hereafter, asking; "Why did the EVER-LIVING GOD order these Proofs and Constitutions and Decrees for you?" You shall answer to your son;—"We were slaves to Pharaoh in Mitzeraim, and the EVER-LIVING brought us out from among the Mitzerites with a strong hand. And the EVER-LIVING produced great wonders, and portents, and inflicted sufferings on the Mitzerites, upon Pharaoh and upon all his family in our sight; but brought us from there, and brought us up to give us this country which He had promised to our fathers. Therefore the EVER-LIVING commanded us to practise all these constitutions, and to fear our EVER-LIVING GOD, for our benefit, all the time of our lives,—as at this day. And it is right for us that we should continue to practise the whole of these commands before our EVER-LIVING GOD, as He commanded us."

- 7 For your EVER-LIVING GOD will bring you to the country which you are now going to seize, to plunder nations more numerous than yourselves,—the Khithites and the Ghergashites and the Amorites, and the Cananites, and the Amorizites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites—seven nations more numerous and stronger than yourselves, whom your EVER-LIVING GOD will deliver up before you, and you will defeat them. Destroy them, and make no treaty with them; and do not pity them!
- 2 Do not marry with them; give not your daughter to his son, nor take his daughter for your son,—for it will turn your heart from following ME, and you will serve other gods;—when the anger of the EVER-LIVING will burn against you, and He will destroy you quickly. Consequently you shall do this to them;—you shall throw down their altars; and break their columns; and smash their shrines; and melt their cast images in the fire; because you are a People devoted to your EVER-LIVING GOD. Your EVER-LIVING GOD chose you to be a People for Himself,—separated from all the Peoples who are upon the face of the earth!—Has He not increased you more than all the Peoples? The EVER-LIVING did not unite with you because you were the most numerous of the Peoples,—but chose you when you were the least of all the Peoples; and the EVER-LIVING loved you because of keeping the oath which He swore to your fathers,—therefore the EVER-LIVING brought you out with a strong hand, and freed you from the House of Bondage, from the hand of Pharaoh king of the Mitzeraim!
- 9 Therefore know that the EVER-LIVING is GOD;—the GOD Who faithfully keeps His covenant, and shows favour to those who love Him and regard His commands, for a thousand generations; but repays His enemies, those who hate Him, to their face, by destroying them. He will not delay to repay those who hate Him to their face. Therefore preserve the Commandments, and the Constitutions, and the Decrees which I command you to-day, and practise them.
- 12 For there will be a reward if you listen to these decrees, and preserve, and practise them,—for your EVER-LIVING GOD will keep the covenant, and the favour which He promised to your fathers, and will love you, and bless you, and increase the fruit of your body, and the fruit of your grounds; your corn, your grapes, and your oil;—your cattle shall breed, and your sheep bring forth upon the ground which He promised to your fathers to give to you! You shall be more blessed than any People! Neither male nor female shall be sterile among you, nor your cattle barren. And the EVER-LIVING will turn from you every disease and sickness of the Mitzerites,—the sufferings that you know;—He will not lay them upon you, but will put them on all who hate you; therefore you shall consume all the Peoples whom your EVER-LIVING GOD gives to you. Your eye shall not have pity on them;—nor serve their gods, for they will be your snare.

If, however, your heart should say to you, "These nations are more numerous than I,—I am not able to dispossess them;" fear them not! Remember what your EVER-LIVING GOD did to Pharaoh and to all the Mitzerites;—the great calamities that your eyes saw, and the wonders, and the portents, and the strong hand, and the directing arm with which your EVER-LIVING GOD brought you out! Your EVER-LIVING GOD will do the same to all the Peoples before whom you are afraid! Your EVER-LIVING GOD will also send upon them fever, to destroy the remnants who hide themselves from you! You shall not be pursued by them, for your EVER-LIVING GOD is among you,—a GREAT GOD OF LIGHT. Your EVER-LIVING GOD, however, will drive these nations before you little by little,—you shall not be able to master them quickly, for fear the beasts of the field should multiply upon you. But your EVER-LIVING GOD will displace them before you, and dissolve with much confusion until they perish. And He will deliver their kings to your hand, and you shall destroy their names from under the skies;—not a man can stand before you, until you have desolated them. You shall burn their carved gods with fire. You shall not desire the gold and silver they are made of, or take it for yourself, for fear you should be ensnared by it; for it is hateful to 26 your EVER-LIVING GOD;—therefore you shall not bring their foul practices into your house,—but you shall be pure,—for what contaminated them will contaminate you; and what defiled them will defile you.—Therefore be pure.

8 You must regard all the commands, that I order you to-day, in practice, so that you may live and increase, and go to seize the country that the EVER-LIVING promised to your 2 fathers. But remember how all the way your EVER-LIVING GOD led you these forty years in the desert, to try you, to prove you, to examine you, whether you would keep His Commands from your heart or not.
 3 Therefore He afflicted you, and hungered you, and fed you with manna, which you had not known,—nor had your fathers known,—so that He might teach you "that man lives not by bread alone,—but that man lives by all that comes from the mouth of the EVER-LIVING."
 4 Your clothes were not rags, nor your feet shoeless in those forty years;
 5 and you knew in your heart that as a man instructs his son, your EVER-6 LIVING GOD instructed you; therefore keep the Commands of your EVER-LIVING GOD, and walk in His 7 paths, and fear Him; for your EVER-LIVING GOD brings you to this beautiful land,—a land of brooks of water, springs, and torrents, coming out of 8 the valleys, and out of the hills;—a country of wheat and barley, and vines and figs, and pomegranates; a 9 land of olive oil and honey! A country where you will not eat from stores! Bread shall never fail at all in it. A land where the rocks have iron, and from whose hills you can dig copper! Where you can eat and 10 fill yourselves, and bless your EVER-LIVING GOD over the beautiful land He has given to you!

Take care of yourselves lest you 11 should forget the EVER-LIVING, your GOD. Only keep His Commandments, and Decrees, and Institutions, which I command you to-day, for fear when 12 you eat and are full, and have built yourselves beautiful houses, and reside in them, and your cattle, and your 13 sheep multiply, and your silver and gold have increased, and all your pos- sessions have grown,—and your heart 14 rises,—then you might forget your EVER-LIVING GOD Who brought you up out of the land of the Mitzeraim, —from the House of Bondage. Who 15 led you through this great desert where you saw the fiery serpents and scorpions, and the dry waterless land, —where He brought you water from the flinty rock,—feeding you in the 16 desert with manna which your fathers had never known;—so that He might try you, with the purpose of ultimately benefiting.

You, however, may say to your 17 heart, "I have obtained this power by my own courage, and the vigour of my hands."—Yet remember it was 18 your EVER-LIVING GOD Who gave you that courage, and granted that power, so that He might establish the covenant which He swore to your fathers,—as He does to-day.

But if ever it comes that you forget 19 your EVER-LIVING GOD, and go after other gods, and serve and worship them,—I bear witness to you to-day, that you shall perish, like the 20 nations the EVER-LIVING destroyed from before you,—thus you shall perish,—because you did not listen to the voice of your EVER-LIVING GOD.

END OF THE SECOND ORATION.

SPEECH III.

Why Israel was Chosen.

- 0 Listen, Israel! you are about to cross the Jordan to seize nations greater and more powerful than yourself, great cities fortified up to the skies! A People great and tall, sons of the Anakim whom you know, and of whom you heard, "Who can stand before the sons of Anak!" But learn to-day that your EVER-LIVING GOD, Who goes before you as a consuming fire, will devastate them, and He will defeat them before you, and you shall drive out and destroy them from the hills, as the EVER-LIVING commanded you.
- 4 When your EVER-LIVING GOD has driven them away from you, think not to say to your heart, "For my righteousness, the EVER-LIVING has brought me to possess this country; for because of the vices of these tribes the EVER-LIVING has driven them before you!"
- 5 Not for your righteousness, nor for the rectitude of your heart did you come to possess their country, but because of the wickedness of those nations your EVER-LIVING GOD drove them out before you; and for the same reason He established the covenant which He swore to your fathers,—to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob.—Consequently learn that your EVER-LIVING GOD has not given you to possess that beautiful country because of your righteousness;—for you are a stiff-necked
- 7 people. Remember! forget not how you have provoked your EVER-LIVING GOD in the desert, from the day He brought you out of the land of the Mitzeraim, until you arrived at this spot,—you have been rebels against
- 8 the EVER-LIVING! In Horeb also you provoked the EVER-LIVING; and the EVER-LIVING was angry with you
- 9 to destroy you, when I went up the mountain to receive the two tables of stone,—the Tables of the Covenant which the EVER-LIVING made with you;—when I stayed forty days and forty nights, eating no bread and
- 10 drinking no water; when the EVER-LIVING gave to me the two tables of stone, written by the finger of GOD;

and upon them, all the Commandments which the EVER-LIVING dictated to you on the Hill, from the midst of the fire, at the time of the public assembly. And there, at the end of forty days and forty nights, the EVER-LIVING gave to me the two tables of stone;—the Tables of the Covenant.

When the EVER-LIVING said to me, "Arise! Go down from this Hill!—for your People, whom I brought out from among the Mitzeraim, have gone to corruption! They have turned quickly from what I commanded them. They have cast an Idol for themselves!"

The EVER-LIVING also spoke to me saying, "I have observed this people, and see that it is a perverse people. Fly from Me, and I will destroy and sweep their name from under the heavens, and I will make from you a powerful nation, and a greater than they."

I consequently turned and descended from the Hill, and the Hill burnt with fire. But the two tables of stone were in my two hands. Then I looked and perceived that you had sinned against your EVER-LIVING GOD, having made for yourselves a Cast-metal Calf,—turning yourselves soon from the path which the EVER-LIVING commanded you. So I raised the two tables, and threw them from my two hands, and broke them in your sight.

I afterwards fell before the EVER-LIVING, as at first, for forty days and forty nights; I ate no bread nor drank water, because of all the sin that you had sinned, in doing wrong in the sight of the EVER-LIVING, to provoke Him; for I was afraid in the presence of the anger and indignation which stirred the EVER-LIVING against you to destroy you; but my EVER-LIVING GOD heard me again at that time. The EVER-LIVING also, was very angry with Aaron, and would have destroyed him, but I prayed at the same time for Aaron himself; and your sin,—the calf that you had made,—I took and melted in fire, and beat it, grinding as small as fine dust, and threw the dust upon the brook that flowed from the 22 Hill. At Thabarah again, and at Masah, and Kibroth-Hathavah, you

 23 were provoking the EVER-LIVING.
 And when the EVER-LIVING sent to you at Kadesh-Barnea, an order, saying, "Go up and seize the country which I have given you," again you rebelled against the order of your EVER-LIVING GOD, and were not true to Him, and would 24 not listen to His voice. You were always rebels from the EVER-LIV-25 ING, from the day I knew you! I fell, however, before the EVER-LIVING for those forty days and those forty nights,—I fell down,— because the EVER-LIVING said He would destroy you. But I prayed 26 to the EVER-LIVING and said, "AL-MIGHTY LORD, do not wreck Your People, and Your inheritance, whom You redeemed by Your greatness, —whom You brought up from the Mitzeraim with a strong hand.
 27 Remember your servants Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob. Turn not to afflict this People for its wickedness 28 and for its sin; lest the country from which You brought them should say; "Because the EVER-LIVING was not able to bring them to the land which He promised, and because He hated them He brought them out to 29 kill them in the desert. They are also Your People, and Your Inheritance, whom You brought out by Your Great Power, and with a directing arm."
 10 Then the EVER-LIVING said to me,
 "Cut two tables of stone, like the former ones, and come up to ME to the Hill. Also make an ark of wood.
 2 And I will write upon the tables the Commandments that were upon the former tables, that you broke, and 3 you can put them in the ark." I consequently made an ark of acacia wood, and cut two tables of stone, like the first ones, and ascended the Hill with the two tables in my hands, 4 and He wrote upon the tables the same writing as upon the former ones,—the Ten Commandments,— which your EVER-LIVING GOD proclaimed on the Hill, from amid the fire, on the day of the Public Assembly. Then the EVER-LIVING 5 gave them to me. So I turned and descended from the Hill, and placed the two tables in the ark that I had made,—and they are there, as the EVER-LIVING instructed me.¹

I then remained on the Hill, as at 10 the previous time, forty days and forty nights, and the EVER-LIVING listened to me also again, that He should not desire to wreck you. So 11 the EVER-LIVING said to me, "Arise!
 Proceed! March before the People, and let them go on and seize the country which I promised to their fathers to give to them."

And now, Israel, what your EVER 12 LIVING GOD asks of you is;—That you should fear your EVER-LIVING GOD, and walk in all His ways, and love Him, and serve your EVER-LIVING GOD, with all your heart, and all your life; and to keep the command-13 ments of the EVER-LIVING, and all His institutions, which I have commanded you this day for your own benefit.

Look! The heavens, and the 14 heaven of the heavens,—the earth and all it contains, belong to your EVER-LIVING GOD. Yet the EVER-15 LIVING chose to love your fathers, and He selected their race after them from all the Peoples,—as at this day, —therefore circumcise the flesh of 16 your hearts, and never stiffen your necks, for your EVER-LIVING GOD is 17 a GOD OF GODS, and ALMIGHTY OF ALMIGHTIES, the GREAT GOD, the POWERFUL, and the ENLIGHTENER;
 —Who will not regard appearances, and will not take bribes! Who does 18 justice to the orphan and the widow, and loves to give bread and clothes to the stranger. Therefore you should 19

¹ Vv. 6—9 are a note of an ancient editor, not a part of the speech of Moses. They are probably a note of Ezra's, made after the return from Babylon, but have been by a transcriber widely misplaced, for they have not the least connection with the subject of the text.—F. F.

(Afterwards the children of Israel
 6 marched from the Wells of the son of Yakan, to Moserah, where Aaron died, and was buried, and Aliazar his son was made priest in his stead. From there they 7 marched to Gudgudah, and from Gud-gudah to Yatbathali, a country of water brooks. At that period the EVER-LIVING 8 separated the tribe of Levi to bear with Aaron the Ark of the Covenant of the EVER-LIVING, to stand before the EVER-LIVING to officiate, and to bless in His Name—until to-day. Consequently there 9 is not a portion or an inheritance for the tribe of Levi with its brothers. The EVER-LIVING is its inheritance, as your EVER-LIVING God said to it.)

love the stranger, for you were a stranger in the land of the Mitzeraim!

20 Fear your EVER-LIVING GOD; serve Him, and hold to Him, and 21 swear by His Name. He led you, and He is your GOD, Who produced for you those great things, and the revelations that your eyes saw.

22 Your fathers went down to the Mitzeraim as seventy persons, and now your EVER-LIVING GOD has collected you as a multitude like the stars of the heavens!

11 Therefore love your EVER-LIVING GOD, and carefully regard Him, and His Institutions, and His Decrees, and His Commands for all time; and learn them to-day. For you are not children who have not known, and have not seen the corrections of your EVER-LIVING GOD,—His greatness, and His strong hand, and His directing arm, and His wonders, and the events that He effected in the midst of the Mitzerites,—upon Pharaoh, king of the Mitzeraim, and all his country; and what He did to the army of the Mitzerites, to their horsemen, and to their chariots;—how the sea,—the Sea of Suf,—rushed over their heads when they followed after you,—how the EVER-LIVING destroyed them on that day. Also what He did for you in the desert, until you arrived at this spot; and what He did to Dathan and Abiram, the sons of Aliab, the son of Reuben;—how the earth opened her mouth and swallowed them, and their homes, and their tents, and the whole of their supporters, slaying them in the centre of all Israel.

7 For your eyes have seen all the great events that the EVER-LIVING has done,—therefore attend to all the commands that I command you to-day, so that you may be hearty, and go and seize the country that you are advancing to possess; and so that you may lengthen your stay upon the land which the EVER-LIVING swore to your fathers to give to them, and to their race;—a land flowing with milk and honey.

10 For the country you are going to possess is not like the land of the Mitzeraim, whence you have come, where you sowed your seed, and watered it on your feet, like a vegetable garden;—but the country you are advancing to possess is a land of hills and vales, and of rain from the skies, refreshed with water;

—a land that your EVER-LIVING GOD visits;—the eyes of your EVER-LIVING GOD are continually upon it, from the first of the year until the last of the year.—So it will happen, if you attentively listen to my commands that I command you to-day, and love your EVER-LIVING GOD, and serve Him with all your heart, and with all your life, that I will give rain upon your land at the season of sprouting, and of ripening, and you shall harvest your corn, and your fruit, and your oil. I will also give herbage upon your fields for your cattle, that you may eat and be satisfied. But guard yourselves from seducing your hearts, and turning to serve other gods, and worshipping them. For then the anger of the EVER-LIVING will burn against you, and He will shut the skies, and there will be no rain, and the land will not give its increase, and you will soon perish from upon the beautiful country which the EVER-LIVING gave you. Therefore fix these words upon your hearts, and upon your souls, and bind them as ornaments upon your hands, and let them be as frontlets between your eyes, and teach them to your children, to talk about in your homes, in your families, and in your journeys on the road, and at your lying down, and rising up! Write them also upon the doors of your house, and upon your gates,—so that you may increase your days, and the days of your children upon the ground which the EVER-LIVING promised to your fathers to give to them as long as the skies endured over the earth!—For if you carefully keep all these commands which I command you to practise, and love your EVER-LIVING GOD, and walk in all His ways, and adhere to Him, then the EVER-LIVING will drive all those nations from before you, and you shall possess nations greater and stronger than yourself,—every place that the sole of your foot treads shall be yours,—from the desert to Lebanon, from the river, the river Frath¹ backwards to the sea, shall be your boundaries.

None shall stand before you; you shall terrify and chase them. Your EVER-LIVING GOD will give all the country to you which you have travelled through, as He promised.

¹ Euphrates.—F. F.

- 26 Attend! I will place before you 27 to-day CURSING and BLESSING. The Blessing which you have heard in the commands of your EVER-LIVING GOD, which I command to you this 28 day; and the Cursing, if you do not listen to the commands of your EVER-LIVING GOD, but turn from the path which I command to you this day, to walk after other gods whom you have not known.
- 29 So when your EVER-LIVING GOD has brought you to the country that you go to possess, you shall place the Blessing upon the Hill of Gherizim, and the Cursing upon the Hill of 30 Aibal.—Are they not over the Jordan, following the path of the declining sun?—in the land of the Cananites, who reside in the west opposite Gilgal, at the side of the 31 Oakwood of Morah?—When you cross the Jordan to go to seize the country which your EVER-LIVING GOD will give to you,—you shall seize 32 it and settle in it. But take care to practise the whole of the institutions, and the legislation which I have placed before you to-day:—
- 12 These are the Institutions and the Legislation which you shall carefully practise in the land which the EVER-LIVING, the GOD of your fathers, will give to you to possess all the time that you live upon the earth.
- 2 You must absolutely destroy all the columns which the nations whom you drive out, worship. Their gods upon the hills, and heights, and upon the mountains, and which they call 3 upon under every shadowy tree. You shall also throw down their altars, and break their pillars, and burn their shrines in fire, and smash the images of their gods, and destroy their names from the places where they are.
- 4 You shall not do so to your EVER-5 LIVING GOD; for at the place which your EVER-LIVING GOD may choose from any of your tribes to place His Name there, to fix it, you shall go 6 to it, and bring there your burnt-offerings, and sacrifices, and your services, and the presents of your hands, and your vows, and the first fruits of your herds, and flocks; and you shall eat them there before your 7 EVER-LIVING GOD, and cheer yourselves in all the success of your hand,—you, and your families, when your EVER-LIVING GOD blesses you.

 You shall not offer as we do here
 8 to-day,—all that is right in your own sight,—for you have not yet arrived 9 at the REST, and the Inheritance which your EVER-LIVING GOD will give to you. But when you pass over 10 the Jordan, and occupy the country that your EVER-LIVING GOD will divide among you, and rest from all your enemies around, and dwell securely, then to the place where 11 your EVER-LIVING GOD shall choose to fix HIS NAME, you shall bring all that I have commanded you,—your burnt-offerings, and sacrifices, your gifts and the presents of your hand, and all your free vows, that you vow to the EVER-LIVING. You shall enjoy 12 yourselves there before your EVER-LIVING GOD, you, and your sons and daughters, and men servants, and maid servants, and the Levite who is in your village, for he has not a share or estate among you. You 13 must guard yourselves from offering your burnt-offerings in every place you see, except in the place which 14 the EVER-LIVING may choose in one of your tribes,—there you shall offer your burnt-offerings, and there you shall do all that I have commanded you. However, you may, to all the 15 desires of your life, sacrifice and eat flesh according to the blessings which your EVER-LIVING GOD has given you, in all your villages. Both the clean and the unclean may eat of them,—like as of the gazelle and the stag,—except that they shall not eat 16 the blood;—that shall be poured upon the ground like water. You shall not eat in your villages from the offering of your corn, and fruit, and oil, or of the firstlings of your herd or flock, or of any vow which you vow as free-will offerings, or of presents from your hands,—you shall 18 only eat such in the presence of your EVER-LIVING GOD, at the place which your EVER-LIVING GOD chooses to Himself; you and your son and your daughter, and your man servant and maid servant, and

¹ This poetic and striking indication of these localities is an internal evidence that these sublime orations are the work of Moses, and written and spoken by him on the East of the Jordan, and he pointed to the West as he uttered the words. Had they been the work of a forger in Jerusalem, as some modern sceptics assert, he would never have used the words and gesture indicated.—F. F.

- the Levite who is in your village, shall enjoy yourselves before your EVER-LIVING GOD in all the prosperity of your hand.
- 19 Take care that you do not forget the Levite all your time upon the earth, for your EVER-LIVING GOD will extend your boundaries, as He promised—and you say, "I would eat flesh," because your life wishes for flesh, you may eat it;—eat flesh
- 20 whenever your life needs it, for the place where your EVER-LIVING GOD may choose to fix His Name may be far from you, therefore you may sacrifice from your herd and from your flock that the EVER-LIVING gives you, as I commanded you, and may eat in your villages of all that your life desires;—
- 21 but only as the gazelle and the stag are eaten,—thus the clean and the unclean may eat, they may both eat.
- 22 Only refrain from eating the blood; for the blood is the life; and you shall not eat the life with the flesh.
- 23 You shall not eat it; you shall pour it upon the earth like water. You shall not eat it; for it is well to you, and to your children after you, that you should do right in the sight of the EVER-LIVING. Only what you have consecrated by yourself, and your vows, you shall take up and bring to the Place which the EVER-LIVING has chosen; and you shall offer your burnt-offerings with the flesh and the blood upon the altar of your EVER-LIVING GOD; for the blood of your sacrifice shall be poured upon the altar of your EVER-LIVING GOD, and you shall eat the flesh.
- 24 Listen attentively to all these words that I command you, so that you may prosper, and your children after you for ever, while you do fair and right in the sight of your EVER-LIVING GOD.
- 25 When your EVER-LIVING GOD has defeated the nations where you are going, driving them before you, and you possess them, and reside in their country, guard yourselves from enquiring about them,—from turning to enquire about their gods, and asking, "How did these nations serve their gods? for I would do the same myself." You shall not do so with your EVER-LIVING GOD, for all the offerings to the EVER-LIVING which you take up to offer to your GOD, as well as those of your sons and your daughters shall be burnt with fire to your GOD.

You must carefully practise all the 13 doctrines which I have commanded you. You must not add to them, nor shall you take away from them.

When a Preacher arises among 2 you, or a dreamer of dreams, and gives you a proof, or an evidence, and the proof or the evidence which 3 he has declared to you comes, to persuade you to walk after other gods, whom you have not known, and to serve them;—listen not to the 4 words of that Preacher, or to that dreamer of dreams, for your EVER-LIVING GOD is trying you to learn if you are lovers of your EVER-LIVING GOD with all your heart, and soul. You must walk after your 5 EVER-LIVING GOD, and fear Him, and keep His Commandments, and listen to His voice, and serve Him, and adhere to Him. Therefore that 6 Preacher, or that dreamer of dreams, shall be put to death, for advising to turn from your EVER-LIVING GOD, Who brought you from the land of the Mitzeraim, [and freed you from the House of Bondage, for he would seduce you from the path your EVER-LIVING GOD commanded you to walk in,—so you must burn the evil from your breast.

If your brother, the son of your 7 mother, should seduce you,—or your son, or your daughter, or the wife of your bosom, or your friend who is like your life;—should say privately, "Let us go and serve other gods," whom you have not known, nor your fathers;—some of the gods of the 8 Peoples who are around you,—close to you,—or far from you,—from one boundary of the land to the other boundary of the land,—do not incline to him, or listen to them. Let not your eye feel pity for them, and do not grieve or feel compassion for them,—but kill! Your hand shall be 10 the first to bring them to death, and the hand of all the people after you, who shall stone them with stones;— 11 for they shall die,—because they sought to seduce you from your EVER-LIVING GOD, Who brought you from the land of the Mitzerites, from the House of Bondage. Then all Israel 12 will hear, and fear, and not continue to practise that sin in your midst.

If you shall hear that at any city 13 where your EVER-LIVING GOD has granted you to reside, it is said, 14 "There came men, sons of Belial, from your midst, and seduced the residents of our city, saying;—Let us go and serve other gods, whom 15 we know not," then you shall enquire, and investigate; and if the truth of 16 the report is established, about that abomination in the midst of you, you shall strike the residents in that town with the edge of the sword, and devote it with all that are in it, and put the cattle to the edge of the 17 sword; and collect the whole of the furniture to the middle of its market-place, and consume all its furniture completely to your EVER-LIVING GOD, and it shall be a ruin for ever,—it shall not be built again.

 And nothing of the accursed things 18 shall stick to your hands, so that the EVER-LIVING may turn away from His burning anger, and grant you mercies, and benefit you, and increase you, as He promised to your fathers, so long as you listen to your EVER- 19 LIVING GOD, and keep all His Commandments which I command you to-day, and do right in the sight of your EVER-LIVING GOD.

END OF THE THIRD ORATION,

SPEECH IV.

Laws against Sins and Self-Degradation.

- 14 You are the children of your EVER-LIVING GOD; you shall not cut yourselves, nor shave your eyebrows for 2 the dead. For you are a People consecrated to your EVER-LIVING GOD; and the EVER-LIVING chose you to be a People separated from all the Peoples who are upon the face of the earth.
 3 You shall eat no fith.
 4 These are the beasts that you may eat, the ox, the sheep kind and the goat kind, the stag and gazelle, and roebuck, and chamois, and antelope
 6 and springbok, and bison, with all cattle that divide the hoof and chew the cud,—those animals you may
 7 eat. But of these, who chew the cud you may not eat, although they divide the hoof; the camel, and the kangaroo, and the rabbit, who chew the cud, but do not divide the hoof;—
 8 they are unclean to you, with the hog, although it divides the hoof, yet it does not chew. It is unclean to you. You shall not eat of its flesh or touch its dead body.
 9 You may eat of these among all that are in the waters,—all that have 10 fins and scales you may eat, but of all that have not fins and scales, you may not eat. They are unclean to you.
 11 You may eat every clean bird,
 12 But you may not eat of these,—the eagle, and the osprey, the buzzard 14 and kite; with their species, and the whole of the raven species; and the 15 ostrich, and the night-hawk, and the sea-gull, and the cormorant, with 16 their species; with the pelican, the snake-eater, and the bittern, and the vomiter, and the eagle-vulture, and 18 the turkey-buzzard, with the stork, and the snorter, with their species; 19 and the hoopoo and the bat; and all the winged spawners are unclean to 20 you,—you may not eat them. You 21 may eat every clean bird, but you may not eat any self-dying carcass;— give them to the foreigner who resides among you to be eaten, or sell to merchants; for you are a People consecrated to your EVER-LIVING GOD.

You shall not boil a kid in its mother's milk.

You shall tithe the whole of the 22 produce of your grain, as it comes from the field year by year, and you 23 shall eat of it before your EVER-LIVING GOD, in the place that He chooses to fix His Name,—both of your corn, and wine, and oil; and of the blessings of your herd and flock, so that you may learn to reverence your EVER-LIVING GOD at all times. But if the journey is too long for you 24 to be able to carry it because the place which your EVER-LIVING GOD has chosen to fix His Name is too far from where your EVER-LIVING GOD has blessed you,—then you shall 25 convert it into money, and take the money in your hand, and go to the place that your EVER-LIVING GOD has chosen for Himself, and expend that 26 money in all that your life requires,—in oxen, and sheep, and fruit, and flesh, and in all that your life demands, and eat them there before your EVER-LIVING GOD, and enjoy yourself with your family. But you shall 27 not forget the Levite who is in your villages, for he has no inheritance and share with you. At the end of 28 the third year you shall bring the whole of the tithe of your produce in that year, and leave your villages. The Levite shall also come, for he 29 has no share or inheritance, with you, and the foreigner, along with the fatherless, and the widow who are in your villages, and they shall eat, and be satisfied, because your EVER-LIVING GOD has blessed you in all the work of your hands which you have done.

At the end of seven years, there 15 shall be a releasing, and this is the 2 kind of releasing.—Every possessor of mortgaged land which his neighbour has mortgaged shall release it, he shall have no claim against his neighbour or his brother, because it is a Release by the EVER-LIVING. You may have a claim against 3 foreigners, but you must release from your hand what belongs to your brothers for nothing, for you will not 4 be poor yourself, because blessing, the EVER-LIVING will bless you in

- the country which your EVER-LIVING GOD will give to you to possess.—
- 5 That^s is, if you listen to the voice of your EVER-LIVING GOD, and continue to practise the whole of His Commandments, which I command you
- 6 to-day; for your EVER-LIVING GOD will bless you, as He has promised, and you shall lend to many nations, but you will not borrow; and you shall rule over many nations, but they shall not rule over you
- 7 Yet there will be poor among you one brother with another in your villages, in the country which your EVER-LIVING GOD gives you. Harden not your heart, nor close your hand
- 8 from your poor brother; but open your hand to him, and lend, according to his necessity what is needful to
- 9 him. Guard yourself from saying to your vile heart, "The seventh year, the year of release, is near,"—and your eye is cruel to your poor brother, and you will not lend to him,—when he will cry against you to the EVER-LIVING, and it will be a sin to you.
- 10 Lend freely to him! and let not your heart grudge against lending, but rely upon this fact that your EVER-LIVING GOD will then bless you in all you do, and in all sent
- 11 from your hand! For the poor will never be wanting in the breast of the land;—therefore I have commanded you saying, "Open your hand freely to your distressed brother,—to your poor,—in the land!"
- 12 When your relative is sold to you,—a Hebrew man or a Hebrew woman,—he shall serve you six years, but in the seventh year you shall set him
- 13 free from you. But when you set him free from you, you shall not
- 14 send him away destitute. You shall reward him liberally from your flock, and from your corn, and from your oil cask, which your EVER-LIVING GOD has blessed. You shall give to
- 15 him,—and shall remember that you were a slave among the Mitzeraim, and your EVER-LIVING GOD freed you,—therefore I command this thing to-day.
- 16 But if it occurs that he says to you, "I will not go from you, for I like you and your house, for I have been
- 17 satisfied with you," then you shall take an awl, and fix him by his ear to your door, and he shall always be your servant,—that is, until your death. That is how you shall do.

It shall not be hard in your sight to send him from you into freedom, for you shall only purchase your servant by the year for six years;—then your EVER-LIVING GOD will bless you in all your work.

Every first-born which your herd, 19 or your flock bears, remember you must dedicate to your EVER-LIVING GOD. You shall not work the first-born of your cow, nor shear the first-born of your ewe,—you shall eat them 20 year by year before your EVER-LIVING GOD, in the place that the EVER-LIVING chooses, you and your family. But if there be a defect or 21 lameness in it, or bareness, or any disease, you shall not sacrifice it to your EVER-LIVING GOD; you must eat it 22 in your villages, the clean and the unclean together, as you do the gazelle and stag;—only you must not 23 eat their blood. Pour it upon the earth like water.

Regard the harvest month¹ and 16 offer the Passover to your EVER-LIVING-GOD; for in the harvest month your EVER-LIVING GOD brought you out of the land of the Mitzeraim at night;—therefore sacri- 2 fice as the Passover to your EVER-LIVING GOD of the flock and herd in the place which your EVER-LIVING GOD has chosen to fix His Name there.

You shall not eat any ferment upon 3 it for seven days. You must eat unfermented bread only; for you came out from the Mitzeraim in haste, therefore you shall remember the day you came out from the land of the Mitzeraim, all the days of your life, and nothing fermented shall be 4 seen in all your boundaries for seven days, and you shall not leave any of the flesh which you sacrifice at the beginning of the evening of that day until the morning. You will not be 5 permitted to sacrifice the Passover in any of the villages which your EVER-LIVING GOD gives to you;—but only 6 at the place which your EVER-LIVING GOD may choose to fix His Name there, may you sacrifice the Passover, at the afternoon as the sun declines, at the time you came out from the Mitzeraim. 7 So you shall roast and eat it in the place which your EVER-LIVING GOD has chosen for Himself,—as you turned on that morning and went to your tents.

¹ Abb.—F. F.

- 8 You shall eat unfermented bread with your GOD for six days, and on the seventh day you shall assemble to your EVER-LIVING GOD. You shall do no business upon it.
- 9 Count seven Sabbaths from the beginning of putting the sickle to the corn;—count to the end of seven Sabbaths. Then you shall make the Festival of Sab'aths to your EVER-LIVING GOD, and enjoy yourselves before your EVER-LIVING GOD; you, and your sons, and your daughters, and man and maid servants, and the Levite who is in your village, and the foreigner, and the fatherless, and the widow, who are among you, at the place that your EVER-LIVING GOD has chosen to fix His Name in.
- 12 For you must remember you were slaves among the Mitzeraim,—therefore preserve and practise these institutions.
- 13 You must also make yourselves a festival of seven days after the harvesting of your corn and vintage, and enjoy yourselves in that feast; 14 you, your son, and your daughter, and your man and maid servants, and the Levite and the foreigner, and the fatherless, and the widow, who are in your villages. You must feast for 15 seven days to your EVER-LIVING GOD in the place that the EVER-LIVING may choose, because your EVER-LIVING GOD has blessed you in all your products, and in all the work of your hand;—therefore you must be glad.

All your men shall see the Pre- 16 sence of your EVER-LIVING GOD three times in a year, in the place He may choose; at the Feast of Unfermented Bread;¹ and at the Feast of Weeks; and the Feast of Tabernacles; and 17 you shall not see the Presence of the EVER-LIVING empty-handed.

¹ Literally, "of biscuits."—F. F.

END OF THE FOURTH ORATION.

SPEECH V.

Local Government.

- 18 You shall appoint Judges and Recorders for yourselves in every village which your EVER-LIVING GOD gives to you, to control you, and to govern the People with honest 19 government. You shall not distort justice. You shall not regard stations. You shall not take bribes;— for bribes blind the eyes of the intelligent, and pervert the decrees 20 of justice. You shall follow perfect justice, so that you may live and possess the country that your EVER-LIVING GOD has given to you.
- 21 You shall not plant shrines, or any trees, at the side of the altar you make 22 to your EVER-LIVING GOD; nor shall you erect for yourselves columns, as standards, to your EVER-LIVING GOD.
- 17 You shall not sacrifice to your EVER-LIVING GOD an ox or a sheep in which there is any defect,—anything bad,—for that would be an insult to your EVER-LIVING GOD.
- 2 If there should be found in any of your villages which your EVER-LIVING GOD gives you, a man or a woman who does wrong in the sight of the EVER-LIVING by slighting his 3 Covenant, and going and serving other gods, and worshipping them,— or the sun, or the moon, or any of the hosts of the skies contrary to my 4 command,—and it is reported to you; when you hear it, then you should enquire carefully, and if the truth of the thing is confirmed, that such an outrage has been done in 5 Israel, you shall bring out that man or that woman, who have done that wicked thing, to the gates, and stone them to death with stones.
- 6 They shall be put to death on the evidence of two or three witnesses.
Upon the evidence of one witness, 7 they shall not be put to death. The hands of the witnesses shall be first upon them, to kill them;—then the hands of all the People afterwards.
You shall thus burn that wickedness from among you.
- 8 If a case should occur among you difficult to decide between blood and blood, between right and right, and between stroke and stroke,—an affair of a contention in your gates,—you shall take it up to the place which your EVER-LIVING GOD has chosen for Himself, and go to the priests, to 9 the Levites, and to the Judge who may be in your times, and appeal, and they will give you their decision, and 10 you must act on the order they give at the place which the EVER-LIVING has chosen. You shall act strictly according to all they direct. You shall not 11 turn from the order that he communi-cates to you, to the right or to the left.
And the person who acts insolently 12 against the decree of the priest appointed to serve your EVER-LIVING GOD there, and the Chief Judge,—that man shall die! Thus you shall burn that evil out of Israel, and all the 13 People will hear, and fear, and no longer be contumacious.
- When you arrive in the country 14 which your EVER-LIVING GOD has given to you, and possess it and reside in it, and say to yourselves;—
“I will place a king over myself, like all the nations who are around,” you 15 shall only place over you the king whom your EVER-LIVING GOD may choose for Himself. You shall place a king over you from your brothers; you are not permitted to appoint a foreigner over yourselves, a man who is not your brother.
- Further he shall not collect horses 16 to himself, and he shall not take the People back to the Mitzeraim, because of its abundance of horses, for the EVER-LIVING has commanded you not to contemplate to return by that way for ever.
- He shall not collect wives about 17 himself, nor turn his heart to silver and gold, to accumulate them excessively.
- When he is set upon the throne for 18 his kingship, there shall be written out for him a Duplicate of the Law, from the book in the custody of the Levitical priests, and he shall keep 19 it with him, and read in it every day of his life, so that he may learn to fear the EVER-LIVING his GOD,—to guard the whole of the commandments of the LAW, and to administer these Institutions; so that his heart 20 may not rise above his brothers, and that he may not turn from its commands to the right or to the left; so that he may extend his days in his kingship, he and his sons in the circuit of Israel.

- 18 There shall be no share or inheritance to the Levitical Priests or any of the tribe of Levi with Israel. The EVER-LIVING is their inheritance and 2 feeder; therefore they shall have no inheritance among their brothers;—the EVER-LIVING is their inheritance,
 3 as I said to you; therefore there shall be decreed for the priests something from each sacrifice sacrificed by the people, whether ox or sheep. There shall be given to the priest the fore
 4 leg, jaws, and breast. You shall give to them the first-fruits of your corn also; the first-fruits of your oil; and the first fleece of your flock. For your EVER-LIVING GOD chose them from all your tribes to stand to serve to the Name of the EVER-LIVING, they, and their children for all time.
 6 And when a Levite comes to one of your villages, in any part of Israel, although he is a stranger there, and comes from any village where he formerly lived, he may serve to the Name of the EVER-LIVING, his GOD, like all his brothers who are fixed there in the Presence of the EVER-LIVING. They shall eat share and share alike, of equal value on account of their ancestry.
 9 When you enter the country that your EVER-LIVING GOD has given you, you shall not learn the depravities of those heathens. You shall not take with you your son or daughter to a throwing over a fire, to divinations, and enchantments, or 11 for witchcraft, or incantations, or enquiry of spirits, or fore-tellers, or questioning the dead;—for the EVER-LIVING loathes all these practices; and to sweep away all these practices your EVER-LIVING GOD has driven them from before you. You must be perfect before your EVER-LIVING
 14 GOD;—for those heathens, whom you will drive out, listened to cloud-makers, and to diviners,—but you must not,—consequently give yourselves to the EVER-LIVING, your GOD.
 15 Your EVER-LIVING GOD will raise up a Prophet like me for you from among your brothers, after me;—listen to him.
 16 You all requested one from your EVER-LIVING GOD, at Horeb on the day of the Public Meeting, saying; "We cannot continue to hear the voice of the EVER-LIVING GOD, nor longer to see this great fire, for fear of death." When the EVER-LIVING 17 replied to me, "What they have said is good. I will raise for them, from 18 amongst their brothers, ONE LIKE YOU; and will put words into his mouth, and he shall report to them all I command them. And any man 19 who will not listen to the messages which he delivers in MY NAME, I will drive out from My People.

"But the Prophet who shall pre- 20 sume to deliver a message in MY NAME, which I have not commanded him to deliver, or who shall speak in the name of other gods;—that Prophet shall die!"

But perhaps you may say in your 21 heart,—"How can I distinguish such a message as what the EVER-LIVING has not spoken? When the Prophet 22 delivered it in the Name of the EVER-LIVING,—although he was not commanded?"

When the event does not happen, —then the EVER-LIVING has not spoken. The Prophet has spoken it, in his presumption;—fear him not.

When your EVER-LIVING GOD has 19 destroyed those heathen of whom your EVER-LIVING GOD has given you the country, and has driven them out, and you dwell in their cities and their houses, you shall separate three 2 cities to yourselves in the midst of the country that your EVER-LIVING GOD gives you to possess. You shall then 3 make roads for your use to these three cities, from the boundaries of the country which your EVER-LIVING GOD has divided amongst you, so that any man-slayer can fly to them.

However, this is the kind of man- 4 slayer who may fly there and live;—he who has struck his neighbour unintentionally, when he did not previously hate him.—For instance one 5 who went with his neighbour to a wood to cut timber, and the iron flew from the handle of the axe in cutting the timber; or the iron flew from the tree and caught his neighbour, and he dies. He may fly to one of these cities, and live, lest the Avenger of 6 Blood pursue after the man-slayer, whilst his heart is hot, and overtake him, owing to the length of the way, and deprive him of life, before he has been condemned to death,—for he

7 did not hate before the event. Consequently I command you to appoint three cities to be provided for yourselves. But if your EVER-LIVING GOD extends your boundaries, as He promised to your fathers, and gives to you the whole of the country which He promised to give to your fathers, you shall also attend to all these orders, to do what I have commanded you to-day, and love your EVER-LIVING GOD, and walk in His ways, at all times. Therefore add three other cities beside these three. Because you shall not shed innocent blood in the breast of the land that your EVER-LIVING GOD has given you to inherit, for that blood would he upon yourselves.

11 But if it happens that a man hates his neighbour, and waits for him, and arises against him, and strikes at his life so that he dies, and then flies to one of those CITIES OF GOD; the Magistrates of that city shall send, and apprehend him there, and deliver him to the hand of the Avenger of Blood, and he shall be killed. Your eye shall not pity over him, for you must burn out innocent blood from Israel, that you may prosper.

14 You shall not remove the boundary of your neighbour, which your chiefs placed to your estate, when they divided the country which your EVER-LIVING GOD gave you to possess.

15 A single witness shall not be received against a person for any offence, or for any sin. For every offence that may be committed, the evidence of two witnesses, or of three must establish it.

16 When anyone makes a quarrel with a man, to do him an injury, both the persons between whom the dispute is, must appear before the presence of the EVER-LIVING, and before the Priests and Judges who may be in 18 their times; and the judges shall enquire carefully to ascertain who is the false witness,—giving false evidence to injure his brother,—and shall do to him as he intended to do to his brother;—and burn that wrong from their midst, so that when others hear they may fear and not continue to do similar wrong amongst you. Your eyes shall consequently not pity. Life for life; eye for eye; tooth for tooth; hand for hand; foot for foot.

1 When a corpse is found fallen in a field in the land which your EVER-LIVING GOD gives you to possess, and it is not known how killed, your chiefs and magistrates shall go and measure to the towns that are round about the corpse, to ascertain the town that may be nearest to the corpse. Then the head man of that town shall take a heifer from the herd, which has not worked,—which has not drawn wheels,—and the head man of that town shall cause the heifer to be taken down to a vale with a constantly flowing brook, which has not been cultivated nor reaped, and break the neck of the heifer at the brook.

Then the priests of the sons of Levi shall approach,—for the LORD your GOD chose them to officiate, and to bless in the name of the EVER-LIVING, and every contention and every dispute shall be decided by them, with all the Magistrates of the surrounding towns;—to the corpse, and wash their hands over the broken-necked heifer at the brook, and severate and say; "Our hands have not shed this blood, and our eyes did not see it. Cover it to the people of Israel whom you have chosen, LORD, and lay not innocent blood on the breast of your People of Israel." Then the blood shall be covered for them, and you will burn the innocent blood from amongst you,—for you must practise justice in the eyes of the EVER-LIVING.

1 Ch. xix.—xxi. These first nine verses of Ch. xxi. have been evidently misplaced by some transcriber, and should be at the end of Ch. xix., as I now place them, as they complete the subject dealt with by Moses. I therefore restore them to their proper position. The reader, however, will probably ask my reasons for these alterations which I make in the arrangement of the text in Ch. xix.—xxi. They are as follows: I had always felt that the accepted order of the matter had become confused by some very ancient transcribers, and therefore consulted scholars whom I believed to be fully competent to assist me in a rectification, by which I proposed to bring the thought of the speeches of Moses in those chapters to a perfectly consecutive current of meaning. All agreed with me that the old text had been confused, but would not venture to decide whether my new proposed arrangements were correct. I was disappointed, so at last appealed to my talented friend the Reverend John Bowen, B.D., Rector of St. Lawrence, Pembroke-shire, who is an accomplished Classic and Oriental Scholar, and he kindly consented to co-operate with me, and I accepted his exact and careful amendments to my suggestions, feeling convinced that they were right. The confusion of the text at the various points noted

DEUTERONOMY.

In my margin, I think, arose at the time when our present text was copied on to a roll of skins, from the original stone plates or tablets upon which Moses engraved the Speeches for record in the Ark of Witnesses, as stated by Aliazer, his Editor, in Ch. xxxi., v. 24, of Deuteronomy. The Scribe then evidently confused the order of the plates. The fact that the various passages implicated contain about the same number of words, I take as an indication that my view is the right one. My learned and judicious friend, the Rev. J. Bowen, however, informs me that a previous commentator upon this part of Deuteronomy, who had noted the confusion in the records, has suggested an even earlier period for its origination. He believed, and Mr. Bowen seems to agree with him, that it was made at the time when, in accordance with the command of Moses, the Law was engraved, "deeply cut," upon the pillars set up, and covered with some enduring chemical plaster, in the Vale of the Jordan, upon the passage of Joshua and his Army. That there the autographic tablets of Moses were in these paragraphs misarranged, and subsequent transcribers failed to rectify the error. I leave my readers to decide which theory has the best weight of evidence to support it.—F. F.

END OF THE FIFTH ORATION.

SPEECH VI.

The Third of War.

- 20 When you go to war with your enemies, and see horses and chariots, —a people more numerous than yourselves, fear them not,—for your EVER-LIVING GOD is with you, Who brought you from the land of the Mitzeraim.
- 2 And when you are preparing for the war, the Priest shall come forward and address the People and say to them,
- 3 "Listen, Israel! You are now preparing for war with your enemies. Let not your heart shrink. Fear not, nor be startled, nor terrified at them!
- 4 for your EVER-LIVING GOD marches with you, to fight for you against your enemy, and save you."
- 5 The Magistrates, also, shall address the People, saying; "What man is there who has built a new house, and not dedicated it? Let him go and return to his house, for fear he should be killed in the war, and another man should dedicate it.
- 6 "And what man has planted a vineyard and has not reaped it? Let him go and return to his home, for fear he should be killed in the war, and another man reap it.
- 7 "And what man is engaged to a woman, and has not married her? Let him go and return to his home, for fear he should be killed in the war, and another man marry her."
- 8 The Magistrates shall even add to this address to the People, and ask;— "What man fears with a timid heart? Let him go and return to his house, and not depress the hearts of his brothers, like his own heart."
- 9 And when the Magistrates have ceased speaking to the People, then they should appoint officers to the regiments to command the People.¹
- 10 When you approach a city to war against it, you shall propose peace to it; and if they will adopt peace, and open to you, then all the people found in it shall be subject to you, and serve you. But if they will not accept peace with you, but make war against you, then assail them; for your EVER-LIVING GOD has given them into your hands, and destroy all the men by the edge of the sword. The women and children, however, and the cattle, and all that may be in the city, all the booty, you may seize for yourselves, for you may use the booty of your enemies which your EVER-LIVING GOD gives to you.

When you advance to war with your 21 enemies, and your EVER-LIVING GOD gives them into your hand, and you take them captive, and see amongst 11 the captives there is a beautiful woman, and you have a desire for her to take her to yourself as a wife, you shall take her into the sanctuary 12 of your house, and uncover her head, and pare her nails, and she shall put 13 off the clothing in which she was captured, and reside in your house, and weep for her father and mother the space of a month, and after that you can go to her and marry her, and she shall be your wife. But if it then 14 happens that you do not like her, you shall free her for life,—you shall not sell her for money,—you shall not treat her as a slave, because you have degraded her. You must do the same 20 to all the cities afar from you, which are not of cities of these nations here.

But in the cities of these Peoples, 16 that your EVER-LIVING GOD has given to you to divide, you shall not preserve a living breath, but devote 17 them;—the Hitites, and the Amorites, and the Cananites, and the Perizites, the Hivites and the Jebusites,—according to the command of your EVER-LIVING GOD. The reason is,— 18 so that you may not learn from them to practise all the depravities which they practise against GOD, and thus you would sin against your EVER-LIVING GOD.

When you besiege a city for a long 19 period, warring with it to capture it, you shall not destroy the fruit trees by assailing them with the axe, for you can feed from them, therefore you shall not cut them down, for the trees of the field sprang from the ground before you came to the siege. However the trees that you know are 20 not trees for food, you may destroy and fell, and build towers with them against the city which is warring with you, until you subdue it.

¹ Vv. 10—14 of Ch. xxi. should come in, as I now put them, at Ch. xx. v. 9, they having been misplaced into Ch. xi. by some old copier. See also note on Ch. xxi. forward.—F. F.

END OF THE SIXTH ORATION.

SPEECH VII.

Domestic Felony.

- 21 When a man has two wives, and loves the one and dislikes the other, and they bear children to him, both the loved and the disliked, and the son of the disliked one is the eldest, 16 when it comes to the time for his sons to inherit, he cannot make the son of his darling the eldest in place of the son of the disliked, who is eldest, but he must acknowledge the son of the disliked, who is the eldest, and give to him two parts of all he possesses, for he is the first fruits of his love. He is justly first-born.
- 18 When a man has a disobedient and rebellious son, who will not listen to the voice of his father or the voice of his mother, but disobeys them and will not listen to them, his father and mother shall take him and conduct him to the Magistrates of the town, and to the open court, and say to the Magistrates of the city, "This son of ours is disobedient and rebellious. He will not listen to our voice. He is depraved and drunken."
- 21 Then all the people of his town shall stone him with stones, and kill, —and that evil will be burnt out from your breast,—and Israel will hear and fear.
- 22 When a person has committed a crime condemnable to death, you shall kill him and hang him upon a tree. You shall not however leave him upon the tree, but bury him the same day, for GOD abhors the hung, consequently you shall not defile your country that your EVER-LIVING GOD has given you to possess.
- 22 You shall not see the ox or sheep of your neighbour straying, and hide it from him. You shall drive them 2 back to your neighbour. But if you cannot find your neighbour in your vicinity, or do not know him, then you shall preserve them in your own premises; but if it occurs afterwards that your neighbour enquires for them from you, then return them to him.
- 3 You shall also do the same with his ass, and the same to his clothing, and the same with everything lost by your neighbour,—which he has lost and you have found. You shall not use them secretly.

You shall not see the ass or ox of 4 your neighbour that has fallen on the road, and hide yourself from them. Going to the spot, you shall lift them up for him.

A woman shall not wear a man's 5 dress; and a man shall not dress like a woman, for your EVER-LIVING GOD abhors all who do thus.

When you find a bird's nest before 6 you in the path, or on any tree, or chicks upon the earth, or eggs, and the mother sitting upon her chicks, or upon her eggs, you shall not take the mother with her young. You must 7 drive off the mother, but you may take her young for yourself;—so that it may be well with you and you may extend your days.

When you build a new house, you 8 shall make a battlement on the circuit of the roof, so that you may not bring blood upon your house, if anyone falls from it.

You shall not double-crop your 9 farm; that would spoil the full development of the seed you sow, and the produce of the farm.

You shall not plough with an ox 10 and an ass yoked together.

You shall not weave silk, wool, and 11 flax together.

You may make tassels upon the 12 four corners of the cushions that you sit upon.

When a man takes a wife, and on 13 going to her hates her, and puts insulting reports upon her, and brings a bad name upon her, by saying, "I married this woman, and when I approached her I found she was not a maiden!" then the father and 15 mother of the girl shall take and bring the maiden, with the proofs of her maidenhood, to the Magistrates of the village, and the father of the 16 girl shall say to the Magistrates;— "I gave my daughter to this man as a wife, but he hates her; and now 17 he sets up insulting reports, saying, 'I did not find your daughter a maid,' but here is the proof of her chastity." Then they shall spread the garment before the Magistrates of the town, and the Magistrates of the town shall 18

- 19 take that man, and punish him, and fine him a hundred silvers, and give them to the father of the girl, because he had brought a bad name upon a virgin of Israel, but she shall be his wife, he shall not be able to divorce her for his life.
- 20 But if that report is true, that the youth found her not to be a virgin,
- 21 then they shall take the youth to the door of the house of her father, and then the men of her village shall pelt her with stones, and kill her, because she has acted disgracefully in Israel, by prostitution, in the house of her father. And thus you shall burn that evil from amongst you.
- 22 When a man is found fornicating with a married woman,—they shall die, both of them. The man who committed adultery with the woman, and the woman. Thus you shall burn that evil from Israel.
- 23 When a young maiden who is engaged to a man, meets a man in a town, and he fornicates with her,
- 24 bringing both of them to the gate of the town, and stone them with stones, and kill the girl, because she did not cry out in the town; and the man because he has degraded the wife of his neighbour. Thus you shall burn that evil from your breast.
- 25 But if the man meets the betrothed girl in the fields, and the man overpowers her and ravishes her, then the man alone who has ravished her shall die; and you shall do nothing to the girl. The girl has committed no sin for death, for as a man rises against his neighbour and murders him, so is this crime, for he met her in the field,—and the betrothed girl cried out, but none heard her.
- 28 When a man meets a young maiden, who is not engaged, and takes her and seduces her,—when he is discovered, that man who corrupted her shall give to the father of the girl fifty silvers, and she shall be his wife afterwards. Because he degraded, he shall not be able to divorce her all his days.
- 23 A man shall not marry the wife of his father; and not lift up the skirts of his father.
- 2 A eunuch, and an emasculated man, shall not enter a public meeting of the EVER-LIVING.
- 3 The child of incest shall not enter a public meeting of the EVER-LIVING. They shall not enter into a public meeting of the EVER-LIVING'S for ten generations.

An Ammonite and a Moabite shall not enter a public meeting of the EVER-LIVING'S; they shall never enter into a public meeting of the EVER-LIVING'S for ten generations, because they did not supply you with bread and water upon the march when you came from among the Mitzeraim, and because they hired against you Balaam the son of Beor from the centre of Aram of the rivers¹ to curse you. But it did not please your EVER-LIVING GOD to listen to Balaam, so your EVER-LIVING GOD turned the cursing into a blessing; for the EVER-LIVING, your GOD, loves you. You shall not seek their peace or benefit all your days for ever.

You shall not exclude an Edomite, for he is your brother. You shall not exclude a Mitzerite, because you were a foreigner in his country. The children that they produce may be naturalized with the EVER-LIVING after three generations.

When you go to war with your enemy, keep yourselves from any vile practice. If there happens to be with you a man unclean from any accident at night, let him go outside the camp, and not come into the middle of the camp, and at the approach of evening let him bathe in water, and at the decline of the sun he may enter the heart of the camp. You shall therefore provide a trench near your camp, where you can make a cesspool.

You shall also have a spade with your weapons, so that when you turn yourselves to the cesspool and have evacuated, you can carefully cover up your excrement; for your EVER-LIVING GOD marches in company with your camp to protect it, and to defeat your enemies before you, therefore your camps must be clean, that He may not see anything unsightly about you, and turn away.

You shall not deliver up a slave who has taken refuge with you from his master to his master. Let him reside amongst you in the place he chooses, in one of your villages, to benefit himself. You shall not drive him out.

You shall not make a prostitute of a daughter of Israel.

¹ Mesopotamia.—F. F.

- There shall not be a sodomite among the sons of Israel.
- 19 You shall not bring the wages of a harlot, or the hire of a ruffian to the house of your EVER-LIVING GOD for any vow; for your EVER-LIVING GOD loathes both of them.
- 20 You shall not take interest from your brothers;— interest upon money; interest upon food; interest upon anything which can be lent at interest. You may charge interest to foreigners;—but from your countrymen you shall not take interest, so that your EVER-LIVING GOD may bless you in every endeavour of your hand in the country which you are going to possess.
- 21 When you vow a vow to your EVER-LIVING GOD, you shall not delay to pay it, for the EVER-LIVING your GOD will demand it from you;— and that would be a sin to you. But 23 if you do not vow, it will be no sin. You must carefully perform the 24 utterance of your lips; whatever you vow to your EVER-LIVING GOD, you must give whatever you have promised with your mouth.
- When you go into your neighbour's 25 vineyard, you may eat grapes to satisfy your wish, but you shall not put any into your basket.
- When you go through your neigh- 26 bour's corn fields, you may pluck the ears with your hand,—but you shall not cut from your neighbour's corn with a sickle.

END OF THE SEVENTH ORATION.

SPEECH VIII.

Laws of Marriage and Domestic Life.

- 24 When a man takes a wife and marries her, if she does not find favour in his eyes, because there are found repulsive qualities in her;—let him write her a letter of divorce, and put it into her hand, and send her from his house, so that she can go from his house and depart, and be the wife of another. But if the other man hates her, then let him write her a letter of divorce, and put it in her hand, and send her from his house; or if the second man dies who took her to him as a wife, she shall not be allowed to return to the first who divorced her, to be married as his wife, after she has sinned, for that would be loathsome in the presence of the EVER-LIVING. Therefore you shall not defile the land which your EVER-LIVING GOD gives you to inherit.
- 5 When a man has recently taken a wife he shall not go out with the army, and no expedition shall be laid upon him for any thing. He shall be freed for his home for one year, and enjoy the wife he has married.
- 6 You shall not take in pledge a millstone or its carriage;—for that would be to pledge a life.
- 7 When a man is discovered stealing a person who is his brother of the sons of Israel, and has caused him to be bound and sold;—that thief shall be put to death. Thus you shall burn that crime from amongst you.
- 8 Regarding contagious diseases, take especial care to do all that I have instructed you. The priests and the Levites must take care to do according to the rules I commanded them.
- 9 Remember that your EVER-LIVING GOD did to Miriam on the march out of Mitzeraim.
- 10 When as a creditor you lend your neighbour anything, you shall not go into his house to advance upon the pledge. You shall stand outside, and the man to whom you lend shall bring to you the pledge at the outside; and although the man is poor you shall not take his bed as the pledge. You shall return to him, 13 from his pledge, at the decline of the sun both his bed and blanket, that he may bless you;—and it will be righteousness to you in the presence of your EVER-LIVING GOD.

You shall not oppress the poor and 14 helpless of your brothers in their wages, nor the foreigner who is in your country, or your villages. You 15 shall pay them their wages daily, when the sun shall set upon them, for they are poor, and their life depends upon them,—so that they may not cry to the EVER-LIVING against you; for it would be a sin against you.

You shall not kill parents on 16 account of their children; nor children on account of their parents. A man shall only be put to death for his own crimes.

You shall not refuse justice to the 17 orphan of a foreigner; nor shall you distort it against the widow of a foreigner, but remember that you 18 were slaves to the Mitzrites, but your EVER-LIVING GOD released you from that; therefore I command you not to do those things.

When you reap your harvest on 19 your farm, and have forgotten a sheaf in the field, you shall not return to take it. It shall be for the stranger, the fatherless, and the widow, so that your EVER-LIVING GOD may bless you in all the work of your hand.

When you strip your olives you 20 shall not pick after yourself; that shall be done by the stranger, the fatherless, and the widow.

When you gather your vineyard, 21 you shall not glean after yourself; that shall be for the stranger, the fatherless, and the widow; for you 22 must remember you were a slave in the land of the Mitzeraim; therefore I command you to do these things.

When there is a dispute between 25 men, and they appear before the Judge, he shall examine between right and right, and wrong and wrong; and when he has decided between 2 the assailant and the assailed, he shall cause him to be punished in his own presence according to the extent of his crime. You may inflict 3 forty strokes,—not more; for fear if you strike him beyond these many lashes, your brother should become degraded in your sight.

- 4 You shall not muzzle a bullock when thrashing.
- 5 When brothers reside together and one of them dies, and does not leave a son; the wife of the dead man shall not be wife to a stranger. Her brother-in-law shall go to her himself, and marry his brother's wife, and the first son that she bears he shall bring up with his dead brother's name, so that his name may not be wiped out
- 7 from Israel. But if the man refuses to marry his sister-in-law,—then his sister-in-law shall go to the court of the judges and say to them, "My brother-in-law who could raise up a name to his brother in Israel, is not willing to do his duty."
- 8 The Judge of the town shall then summon him, and examine him about it, when he shall appear and say, "I am not willing to take her."
- 9 Then the sister-in-law shall approach to him in the sight of the Judges and pull the shoe from his foot and spit in his face and insult him and say, "So let them do to the man who will not build up his brother's house!" And he shall be nicknamed in Israel, "The Slipshod-man."

When men are fighting together, a man and his neighbour, and the wife of one approaches to help her husband by a stroke of her hand, and puts out her hand and seizes him by the genitals,—her hand shall be cut off,—your eye shall not spare her.

There shall not be in your bag weight and weight; full weight and short weight.

There shall not be in your house measure and measure; full measure and short measure. You shall have a just and right weight; you shall have a just and right measure; so that your time may be extended in the land which your EVER-LIVING GOD gives to you, for the EVER-LIVING your GOD abhors all who do those wicked things.

END OF THE EIGHTH ORATION.

SPEECH IX.

Upon Conduct in the Promised Land, and Ritual for Freewill Offerings.

- 17 Remember what Amalek did to you on your march, as you came from 18 the Mitzeraim. How he met you in the road and assailed your rear,—all the sick who were following you,—when you were weary, and harassed you,—and he did not regard the ambassadors,—therefore when your EVER-LIVING GOD has given you peace from all your enemies around, in the country that your EVER-LIVING GOD has given you to divide into estates, wipe out the memory of Amalek from under the skies. Do not forget.
- 26 When you come into the country which your EVER-LIVING GOD has given you to divide, and possess, and live in, you shall take the first fruit of all the produce of the ground that comes from the land which your EVER-LIVING GOD gives you, and put it in a basket and carry to the place where the EVER-LIVING, your GOD, chooses to fix His Name, and go to the priest who may be in those days, and say to him ;
- " I have to-day brought to the presence of the EVER-LIVING, your GOD, what the land has produced which the EVER-LIVING promised to our fathers to give us."
- 4 Then the Priest shall take the basket from your hand, and set it before the altar of your EVER-LIVING GOD. You shall then kneel and say in the presence of your EVER-LIVING GOD ;
- " My ancestor was a wandering Aramite and he went down to the Mitzeraim, as a foreigner, with a few persons ; but he became there a great, strong and numerous nation. Then the Mitzerites wronged us, and oppressed us, and imposed a cruel slavery upon us ; but we cried to the EVER-LIVING GOD of our fathers, and the EVER-LIVING heard our voice, and looked upon our affliction, and our sorrow, and our oppression ; and the EVER-LIVING brought us out 8 from among the Mitzeraim with a strong hand, and a directing arm, and with great signs and wonders, and revelations, and conducted us to 9 this place, and gave us this country ; —a land flowing with milk and honey. So now, see! I have brought some 10 produce of the ground which the EVER-LIVING has given to me, and have placed it before your EVER-LIVING GOD."

Then you shall bow down before 11 your EVER-LIVING GOD, and enjoy yourself with all the good things that your EVER-LIVING GOD has given you, and your family,—yourself, and the Levite, and the stranger who is amongst you.

Then afterwards fully tithe the 12 whole that is titheable of your produce in the third year. You shall tithe yearly, and give to the Levite, to the foreigner, to the fatherless, and to the widow, and they shall be fed in your villages, and be satisfied.

You shall also declare before your 13 EVER-LIVING GOD ;—

" I have eaten the consecrated part with my family, and I have also given of it to the Levite, and to the foreigner, and the fatherless, and the widow, according to all Your commands which You have commanded me. I have not passed over from Your commands, and I have not evaded. I have not used any part in self- 14 indulgence ; I have not consumed any part in depravity ; I have not given any part to the dead ; I have listened to the voice of the EVER-LIVING GOD ; I have done all that He has commanded me. Look down 15 from Your Holy Dwelling, from Heaven, and bless Your People of Israel, and the land that You have given to us, as You promised to our fathers,—the land flowing with milk and honey."

This very day your EVER-LIVING 16 GOD commands you to practise these institutions, and these decrees, and to preserve and do them, with all your heart, and with all your soul.

- 17 The EVER-LIVING has told you to-day He will be your GOD, and that you must walk in His paths, and preserve His institutions, and His commands, and His decrees,—and 18 to listen to His voice. The EVER-LIVING has also told you to-day to be His Separated People,—as He commanded you,—and to preserve all His orders, and to fix yourself high 19 over all the heathen, so as to make yourself glorious, and famous, and beautiful; and that you should become a People sacred for your EVER-LIVING GOD — as He commanded you!

END OF THE NINTH ORATION.

SPEECH X.

Confirming all Laws by the Parliamentary Consent, and Denouncing Punishments on Disobedience.

27 Then Moses and all the Judges of Israel commanded the People, saying;—

“Preserve all the commands which I have ordered you to-day. And at the time you pass over the Jordan to the country that your EVER-LIVING GOD will give to you, set up great stones, and spread them over with plaster, and engrave upon them the whole of the commands of these laws, when you pass over and arrive in the country which the EVER-LIVING, your GOD, has given you;—a land flowing with milk and honey,—as the EVER-LIVING GOD promised to your fathers.

4 “And when you have passed over the Jordan you shall set up those stones, as I command you to-day, upon the Hill of Aibal, and plaster

5 them with plaster. You shall also build an altar there to your EVER-LIVING GOD,—an altar of stones,—you shall not use iron upon them.

6 You shall build the altar to your EVER-LIVING GOD of whole stones, and shall offer upon it a burnt-offering to the EVER-LIVING, your GOD.

7 You shall also sacrifice thank-offerings, and feast there, and enjoy yourselves before the EVER-LIVING.

8 Then write upon the stones the whole of the words of this Law, engraved deeply.”

9 (Moses and the Levitical Priests also proclaimed to all Israel, saying;—)

“To-day be silent, and listen, Israel. You are to become the People of the EVER-LIVING, your GOD! Therefore listen to the voice of your EVER-LIVING GOD, and put in practice the Commands and Institutions that I command you to-day.”

11 (And Moses further commanded the People at that time, saying;—)

12 These shall stand upon Mount Gherezim to bless the People;—

Simeon, and Levi, and Judah, and Issakar, and Joseph, and Benjamin.

And these shall stand upon Mount Aibal, for the cursing;—Reuben, Gad, and Asher, and Zebulon, and Dan, and Naphthali.

And the Levites shall speak with a loud voice and say to every man of Israel;—

“Cursed be the man who makes a statue or a casting, hateful to the LORD, the product of the hands of a mechanic, and sets it up in secret.”

(Then all the People shall answer and say;) “He shall be.”

“Cursed be whoever insults his father or his mother!”

(Then all the People shall say;) “He shall be.”

“Cursed be whoever removes his neighbour’s land mark.”

(Then all the People shall say;) “He shall be.”

“Cursed be whoever misdirects a blind man in his road.”

(Then all the People shall say;) “He shall be.”

“Cursed be whoever refuses justice to the foreigner, orphan, or widow.”

(Then all the People shall say;) “He shall be.”

“Cursed be whoever commits adultery with his father’s wives;—who raises the covering of his father.”

(Then all the People shall say;) “He shall be.”

“Cursed be whoever copulates with any beast.”

(Then all the People shall say;) “He shall be.”

“Cursed be whoever fornicates with his sister, the daughter of his father, or the daughter of his mother.”

(Then all the People shall say;) “He shall be.”

“Cursed be whoever fornicates with his mother-in-law.”

(Then all the People shall say;) “He shall be.”

“Cursed be whoever strikes his neighbour in secret.”

(Then all the People shall say;) “He shall be.”

“Cursed be whoever takes a bribe to kill an innocent person.”

(Then all the People shall say;) “He shall be.”

¹ Ch. xxvii., vv. 1, 9, and 11 are an editorial note of Allazer to explain the proceedings.—F. F.

26 "Cursed be whoever does not stand by the commands of this Law to practise them."

(Then all the People shall say;) "He shall be."

28 But if you attentively listen to the voice of your EVER-LIVING GOD, and take care to practise all the commandments that I command you to-day, then the EVER-LIVING, your GOD, will give you superiority over every nation on earth, and all these blessings shall come to you, and surround you, because you listen to the voice of your EVER-LIVING GOD:

The Blessings of Obedience.

3 You shall be blest in the city, And blest in the field;
4 Blest in the fruit of your body, And blest in the fruit of your farm;
And blest in the fruit of your cow, And blest in the cast of your cattle, And breeds of your sheep.
5 Blest in your basket, And blest in your cask.
6 Blest in your going, And blest in your coming.
7 JEHOVAH will make your opponents To stumble before you,— They shall advance by one path, And fly from you by seven!
8 The EVER-LIVING will command blessing to your barns, and to every work of your hand, and will bless you in the country that your EVER-LIVING
9 GOD has given you. JEHOVAH will establish you as a People sacred to Himself, as He promised, if you keep the commands of your EVER-LIVING
10 GOD and walk in His paths. Then every People of the earth will see that the NAME of the EVER-LIVING has been fixed upon you, and they 11 will fear you, when the EVER-LIVING causes you to abound in benefits; in the fruit of your body; and the fruit of your cattle; and the fruit of your fields; in the land which the EVER-LIVING promised to your fathers to 12 give you. The EVER-LIVING will open His best treasures from the skies for you to give rain to adorn your land, and to bless every work of your hand.

Many nations shall borrow of you, 13—but you shall not borrow!—for the LORD will make you the Head, and not the Tail! and you shall continually rise higher and not be depressed, —whilst you attend to the commands of your EVER-LIVING GOD, which I command you to-day to preserve and practise.—Therefore turn not from 14 any of the things that I have commanded you to-day, yesterday, and before that, but walk after your EVER-LIVING GOD, and serve Him.

But if you will not listen to the 15 voice of your EVER-LIVING GOD, to continue to practise the whole of His Commands and Institutions, as I instruct you to-day, then these curses will come upon, and surround you:—

The Curses of Rebolt from God.

You shall be cursed in the city, 16 And cursed in the field!
Cursed in your basket, 17 And cursed in your cask!
Cursed in the fruit of your body, 18 And fruit of your farms, The cast of your cattle, And breeds of your sheep!
You shall be cursed in your going, 19 And cursed in your coming!
The EVER-LIVING will send you 20 cursing, blundering, and blame in every attempt of your hand, till you waste and rapidly perish before the evils assailing you, and become desolate!

These things shall pursue, until 21 you cease from the land that you go to possess!

The LORD will strike you with con- 22 sumption, and fever, and wasting, and burning; and with sword, and blight, and jaundice, and pursue until you perish! And the skies over your 23 head shall be brass; and the ground beneath you iron! The LORD will 24 rain powder on your land; and dust from the skies shall fall upon you, until you are a desert! The LORD 25 will give you to defeat before your enemies! They shall meet you on a single road,—but you shall fly before them by seven roads; and be in terror of every government on earth! And your carcases shall be 26 food to all the birds of the sky, and to the beasts of the earth; and none will drive them off! And the EVER- 27 LIVING will inflict the ulcer of the Mitzeraim upon you, and tumours, and scurvy, and the incurable itch; and 28 the EVER-LIVING will afflict you with madness, and blindness, and bewilderment of heart! And you shall grope 29 for a window, as a blind man gropes in the darkness, and shall not find your way;—and you shall also be wronged, and robbed, daily; and find no defender! You shall wed a wife, and another man lie with her!

 You shall build a house, but not dwell in it! You shall plant a vineyard, and not eat of it! They shall kill your ox in your sight, but will not allow you to eat of it! They will steal your ass before your face, and never return it! Your sheep will be given to your enemies, and no one will help you! Your sons and your daughters will be sold to foreign nations,—your eyes shall see it,—and long for them every day, and possess them not!

33 A People whom you have not known shall consume the produce of your 34 farms, and all your acquisitions; and you shall be plundered, and oppressed at every time, and be maddened by the sights your eyes shall see.

35 The EVER-LIVING will inflict you with a bad ulcer on your knees, and on your legs, which you cannot cure, from the sole of your foot to your crown! The EVER-LIVING will make you, and the kings you have raised over yourselves, go to a nation which neither you nor your fathers have known, and there you shall serve 37 vile gods of wood and stone; and become a word of reproach and abuse among all the Peoples where the EVER-LIVING drives you!

38 You shall take much seed out to the field, and reap little, for the locust 39 shall destroy! You shall plant a vineyard,—but not drink its wine, nor collect its grapes,—for the worm shall 40 consume them. Olive groves shall be in all your fields, but you shall not refresh yourselves with oil,—for 41 the olives shall drop off! You shall beget sons and daughters,—but they shall not be yours, but shall go to slavery!

42 The caterpillar shall seize all your trees, and the fruits of your fields!

43 The foreigner who is amongst you shall climb up above you from station to station,—but you shall sink lower 44 and lower! He shall lend to you,— he shall be the head, and you shall be the tail!

45 And all these curses shall come upon you, and pursue, and hunt you to destruction, because you have not listened to the voice of your EVER-LIVING GOD, to preserve His Commands and the Institutions which He ordained for you, and which should have been a guide and instruction to you, and to your posterity for ever.

 But as you served not your EVER-47 LIVING GOD with delight and gladness of heart in your abundance of all things;—therefore you shall serve 48 your enemies, whom the EVER-LIVING will send to you,—in heat and raging thirst, and nakedness, and want; and an iron yoke shall be put upon your neck, until you perish!
 The EVER-LIVING will arouse against 49 you a nation from afar, flying like an eagle from the end of the earth;—a nation whose language you have not heard; a furious nation, who will not respect the presence of the old, nor pity the young;—and it shall devour 51 the produce of your cattle, and the produce of your fields, until you are ruined; until you shall possess neither corn, nor wine, nor a calf from your cow, nor lamb from your sheep, until you are brought to ruin! And you 52 shall be oppressed in all your villages, and your walls, towers and fortifications in which you trusted shall be thrown down in the whole country,— and you shall be harassed in every village of the land which your EVER-LIVING GOD gave to you! And you shall eat the fruit of your body,—the 53 flesh of your sons and your daughters, —whom your EVER-LIVING GOD had given you,—in the siege and distress with which your enemies shall distress you! The friend who was very dear 54 and delightful to you shall turn his eyes evil to his brother; and to the wives of his bosom, and to the remainder of his children who are left, to give one from amongst them as 55 food for his children, so that the rest may eat from the corpse with him in the siege and distress with which your enemies distress you in all your cities! The delicate lady who allowed 56 not the sole of her foot to touch the earth from delicacy and refinement, shall look with evil eyes upon the husband of her bosom, and her sons, and her daughters, and the new-born 57 child that comes on her lap, and her children whom she has borne, that she may eat them in the absolute famine in secret, in the siege and distress with which your enemies shall distress you in your gates.—If 58 you do not take care to practise the whole of the things of this Law, written in this book, and to reverence the 59 glory of this magnificent Revelation of your EVER-LIVING GOD; for the EVER-LIVING will make your own punishments, and the punishments of your posterity, astounding by these 60 great inflictions and diseases, and sicknesses, and prostrations; and will turn upon you all the maladies of the Mitzerites which you feared when present with them,—and they 61 shall stick to you;—besides numerous diseases, and many plagues that are not written in the record of this Law.

The EVER-LIVING will bring them 62 upon you, until you are desolate, and are a small remnant, instead of being like the stars of the heavens for number, because you have not listened to the voice of your EVER-LIVING 63 GOD. And as the EVER-LIVING was before delighting over you to benefit you, and to increase you,— then the EVER-LIVING will delight to destroy, to desolate, and to bear you away from the ground which you 64 have come to possess! And the EVER-LIVING will scatter you amongst all the Peoples, from one end of the earth to the other end of the earth;

—and there you shall serve vile gods, which neither you nor your fathers knew, of wood and stone! And amid 65 those heathens you shall have no quiet or comfort to the soles of your feet, but the EVER-LIVING will give you there a trembling heart, and languishing eyes, and a wretched spirit; and your life shall be in sus- 66 pense to you in the present, and you shall tremble night and day, and have no certainty for your existence.
In the morning you shall say; "I 67 wish it were evening!" and in the evening you shall exclaim, "I wish it were morning," because of the fear of your heart that terrifies you, and from foreseeing what your eyes perceive!

The EVER-LIVING will also cause 68 you to return to the Mitzeraim, by that mournful way, which I have told you never to retrace, or to look upon;
—and you will there offer to sell yourselves to your enemies as men and women slaves,—and none will buy you,

END OF THE TENTH ORATION.

SPEECH XI.

Exhortation to Obedience, and Appointment of Joshua as Commander.

- 69 (The following are records of the Covenant that the EVER-LIVING commanded Moses to make with the children of Israel in the country of Moab, in addition to the Covenant that was recorded with them in Horeb.)
- 29 (Moses accordingly assembled all Israel and said to them;—)¹

You saw all that the EVER-LIVING did in your sight, in the land of Mitzeraim, to Pharaoh and to all his officers, and to all his country, 2 their great defeats which your eyes saw,—the wonders, and the great manifestations upon them.

3 But the EVER-LIVING did not give you a heart to understand, and eyes to see, and ears to hear, until to-day.

4 Although you wandered forty years in the desert, you were not deficient in clothing upon yourselves, and your shoes were not stripped from your feet. You did not eat bread or drink wine or beer, so that you might learn that I am your EVER-LIVING GOD.

6 Then you came to this place and met Sihon king of Heshbon, and Og king of Bashan, and you advanced to fight, and slew them, and took their country, and give it to be divided by the Reubenites, and Gadites, and the half tribe of Manasseh. Therefore remember the contents of this covenant and practise them, so that you may reflect upon all you are bound to do,

9 You are to-day all of you stationed before the EVER-LIVING, your GOD;—your nobles, your governors, your judges, and your officials, every man of Israel; your children, your wives, and the foreigners who are amongst you;—the hewers of wood, and drawers of water for you;—to assent to the Covenant of your EVER-LIVING GOD, and to swear to what the EVER-LIVING, your GOD, has agreed with 12 you to-day, so that you may rise up from to-day to be a People for HIM, and HE may be a GOD to you, as HE promised you, and as HE swore to your fathers,—to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob. Since it is not I 13 alone who made this Covenant and this confirmation with you, that is 14 established here with us to-day before the EVER-LIVING our GOD, and which is confirmed to us here to-day. For 15 you know that we resided in the land of the Mitzeraim, and that you were slaves amongst the heathen whom you served; and you saw their cor- 16 ruptions, and their idols, of wood, and stone, of silver and gold, that they have! Take special care to 17 yourselves, man or woman, or family or tribe, who has a heart, from turning to-day from our EVER-LIVING GOD, to go and serve the gods of those Heathen,—lest there should be a root bearing poison and anguish amongst you.

But should anyone listening to the 18 words of this oath say to himself in his heart, "I shall prosper, although I walk in the ideas of my heart, for my cup is full when I am thirsty!"—the EVER-LIVING will not be ready 19 to forgive him, but the LORD's anger and indignation will smoke at that person, and HE will heap upon him all that is written in this record, and the EVER-LIVING will wipe his name from under the skies, and the LORD 20 will set him apart for evil, in every tribe of Israel, for all the curses of the covenant written in the record of this Law. And the future genera- 21 tions of your sons, who may arise after you, and the strangers who come from distant countries and see the afflictions of the country, and the curses with which the EVER-LIVING has cursed it, shall exclaim, 'Brim- 22 stone and salt burn all the country! It is not sown—does not grow,—and produces no vegetation, like ruined Sodom and Gomorah, Admah and Tzeboim, whom the EVER-LIVING destroyed in HIS anger and in HIS wrath!"

And all the nations shall ask, 23 "Why has the EVER-LIVING afflicted this land? Why should His great indignation burn so?" When they 24

¹ V. 69 of Ch. xxviii., and v. 1 of Ch. xxix., are an editorial note, probably by Aliazar the Priest, when editing his Master's Orations for the Ark of Witnesses.—F. F.

- will be answered, "Because they rejected the Covenant of the EVER-LIVING, the GOD of their fathers, which He made with them when He brought them out of the land of the 25 Mitzeraim, and they went and served other gods, and worshipped them;—gods whom they knew not, and who could not benefit them." Therefore the anger of the LORD burnt against the country, and He caused all the affliction written in this record to come upon it.
 27 The EVER-LIVING will also pluck you up from the ground with violence, and with great wrath, and fling you into other countries.¹
 28 The Secret Reasons are with our EVER-LIVING GOD; but the revelations are with us and our children for ever, that we may practise the whole of the Decrees of this Law!

Rewards of Return to God.

- 30 Consequently when these events come upon you, the blessings and the cursings which I have put before you, and you cause your heart to turn back in every nation where your EVER-LIVING GOD has scattered you,
 2 and you return to your EVER-LIVING GOD, and listen to His voice in all that I have commanded you to-day, you and your children, with all your
 3 heart and with all your soul,—and return to your EVER-LIVING GOD,—your rest and your comfort,—then the EVER-LIVING, your GOD, will come again and collect you from every People where He had scattered
 4 you. If you have been drawn to the limits of the sky, your EVER-LIVING
 5 GOD will collect you from there,—the EVER-LIVING, your GOD, will take you and bring you to the country your fathers possessed, and you shall possess it, and will cause you to prosper, and increase more than 6 your fathers. And the EVER-LIVING GOD will mould your hearts, and the hearts of your posterity, to love your EVER-LIVING GOD, with all your 7 soul, so that you may live; and the EVER-LIVING will put all those afflictions upon your enemies, and on those who hated and persecuted you,
 8 when you repent and listen to the voice of the EVER-LIVING, and practise all His commands, which I command you to-day. Your EVER-LIVING GOD also will cause you to excel in every work of your hand,—in the fruit of your body, in the produce of your cattle, in the beautiful produce of your farms,—for the EVER-LIVING will come to rejoice over you in delight, as He rejoiced over your fathers,—because you listen 10 to the voice of your EVER-LIVING GOD, to preserve His Commandments and Institutions which are written in this record of the Law,—when you return to the EVER-LIVING, your GOD, with all your heart and with all your soul. For these laws which I 11 command you to-day, will never depart, or go far from you. They 12 are not in the heavens, that you should say;—"Who can go up for us to the heavens, and bring them to us that we may listen to and practise them?" Nor are they across the sea, 13 that you should say, "Who can cross over for us, and bring them to us, that we may hear and practise them?"—for the matter is very close to you, in your mouth, and in your heart to 14 practise.

Look! I put before you to-day
 15 Life, and Prosperity,—and Sin, and Death! What I propose to you 16 is Life,—to love the EVER-LIVING, your GOD,—to walk in His ways, to preserve His Legislation, and Institutions, and Decrees, when your EVER-LIVING GOD will increase you, and bless you in the land which you are going to possess!

But if your heart revolts, and you 17 will not listen, but degrade yourselves, and worship vile gods, and serve them, I announce to you to-
 18 day that perishing you shall perish;—your time shall not be long on the ground which you are passing the Jordan to go and possess! Bear 19 witness to me, now, Heavens and Earth! I place Life and Death before you,—the Blessing and the Curse! Therefore choose for yourselves the Life,—that you and your posterity may live! Love your EVER-LIVING GOD, listen to His voice, and 20 hold to Him,—for He will give you life, and extend your time, to rest upon the land that the EVER-LIVING promised to your fathers,—to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob to give them.

¹ End of v. 27, "as it is now," is a Masoretic note, not part of the text.—F. F.

Oratorical to the Parliament of Israel.¹

- 31 (Then Moses proceeded to conclude his speeches to all Israel, and said to them:)
- 2 "I am the son of a hundred and twenty years to-day! I am no longer able to go out far, or to come back; and the EVER-LIVING has said to me, 'You shall not pass over this
- 3 Jordan.' The EVER-LIVING, your GOD, Himself will pass over before you! HE will destroy those heathens from before you, and drive them out! Joshua himself will pass over before you, as the EVER-LIVING has said, and the EVER-LIVING will do
- 4 to them as He did to Sihon and to Og, kings of the Amorites, and to their country which you destroyed.
- 5 The EVER-LIVING will thus deliver them to your face, and you shall do to them, exactly as you were com-
- 6 manded. Take courage! Be strong! Fear not! Tremble not before them! for your EVER-LIVING GOD HIMSELF marches with you! HE will not forsake or desert you."²

¹ Ch. xxxl., v. 1 is an editorial note undoubtedly contemporary with Moses, probably by Allazer the priest.—F. F.

² Ch. xxxl., vv. 7, 9, 10, are original introductory notes to the last addresses of Moses, probably by Allazer.—F. F.

(Moses then called to Joshua and said to him in the sight of all Israel:)

"Be strong and bold! for you shall bring this People to the land which the EVER-LIVING promised to Abraham, to give to them, and you must divide it amongst them, and the EVER-LIVING HIMSELF will march before you,—HE will be with you. HE will not forsake, or abandon you! Fear not! Shrink not!"

(Moses afterwards engraved this law, 9 and gave it to the Priests, the sons of Levi, who carried the Ark of the Covenant of the EVER-LIVING, and to all the Judges of Israel; Moses also ordered them saying:)

"At the end of every seven years, at the year of release, and at the Feast of Tabernacles, when all Israel goes to see the Presence of your EVER-LIVING GOD, in the place which He chooses, you shall read this Law to all Israel, in their hearing, at a Public Meeting of the People, of the men, the women, the children, and the foreigners who are in your villages, so that they may hear, and learn, and fear the EVER-LIVING, your GOD, and take care to practise all the commands of this law, and that their children, who know it not, may hear and learn to fear the EVER-LIVING, your GOD, all the time of their life upon the land that you are crossing the Jordan to possess."

END OF THE ELEVENTH ORATION.

SPEECH XII.

Being the Public Song of Moses, and Appointment of Joshua.

14 The EVER-LIVING afterwards said to Moses; "Now that your days approach death, summon Joshua, and station him in the Hall of Assembly, and I will instruct him."

(Moses and Joshua therefore went and stationed themselves in the Hall of Assembly, and the EVER-LIVING appeared in the Hall of Assembly in a Pillar of Cloud, and the Pillar of Cloud stood at the opening of the Hall, and the EVER-LIVING said to Moses:)¹

God foretells the Apostasy of Israel.

"You are now to sleep with your fathers; when this People will arise and whore after the foreign gods of the country where they are going to reside, and they will revolt from ME, and break the Covenant that I made with them! But My anger will burn against them at that time, and I will turn from them, and hide My face from them, and they shall meet many miseries and sufferings to devour them, when they will exclaim; 'Is there no GOD near me to bring me out from these miseries?' But I will hide My presence carefully at that time, because of all the wickedness which they have done when turning after other gods! Therefore, now, write for them this song, and teach the children of Israel to put it into their mouths, so that this song may be a witness for ME with the children of Israel; for I will bring them to the land, which I promised to their fathers, flowing with milk and honey, which they will eat, and be satiated, and fatten, and revolt to vile gods, and serve them, and despise Me, and Break My Covenant. But when these many miseries, and distresses, and troubles meet them, then this song will be before them as an evidence;—for it will not be forgotten from the mouth of their race,—that I knew to-day the distress which they would then suffer, before they arrived in the country which I had promised."

Moses consequently wrote the song 22 on that day, and taught it to the children of Israel.

(Afterwards he instructed Joshua the 23 son of Nun, saying;—)

"Be strong and bold! for now the children of Israel are going to the country which I promised to them and I will be with you."

(When Moses had finished engraving 24 the commands of this Law in a record to its end, he commanded the Levites who 25 carried the Ark of the Covenant of the LORD, saying:)

"Take this Book of the Law, and 26 place it inside the Ark of the Covenant of the EVER-LIVING, your GOD, and it shall be there as a witness to you, that I knew your rebelliousness 27 and your stiff neck;—here, whilst I lived with you; to-day, you are murmuring against the EVER-LIVING, and will be so after I die! Assemble all 28 your Judges, Princes, and Governors to me, and I will recite in their hearing these words, and I will call as witnesses to them Heaven and Earth, that I knew that after my death you 29 would corrupt, and turn yourselves from the path which I commanded you, and acquire for yourselves misery in the future,—for you will do evil in the eyes of the EVER-LIVING, and provoke Him by the fabrications of your own hands."

(Then Moses repeated the words of 30 this song in the hearing of all the Assembly of Israel to their end.)

SONG OF MOSES.STANZA I.*The Invocation.

Listen, Heaven, and I will speak, 32
And hear my utterance, Earth!
My teaching shall drop like rain, 2
My utterance spread like dew,—

¹ This introduction is clearly from the pen of Aliazer the Priest, who edited these Orations of Moses, and is another internal proof of the authenticity of these speeches of Moses.—F. F.

¹ Ch. xxxi., vv. 23, 25, and 30 are an editorial note by Aliazer the Priest, upon the original Copy for the Ark of Witnesses. All further notes are the same.—F. F.

- Like showers upon the herbage,
And like sprinklings on the grass.
3 For I proclaim Jehovah's Name,
I exalt our Glorious GOD!
4 Whose fort is a perfect refuge,
For all His lines are straight!
A GOD of Truth, and not unjust, Righteous and upright, HE.

STANZA II.

The Rebolt from God.

- 5 Corrupt, you have not His Son's form,—
You wayward and fickle race!—
6 Repay not thus to the LORD,
You stupid, and unwise clan.
Is HE not your Forming-Father
Who made and constructed you?
7 Remember the Times Everlasting,—
Reflect on the ages of years,— Ask your father, who will inform
you,
Your elders, and they will relate,
8 How the Highest allotted the races,
When He divided the sons of Man,
Fixing the bounds of the nations,
With a place for Israel's sons!

STANZA III.

How God pities His People.

- 9 For the LORD is kind to His People,
To Jacob He measured his share!
10 Whom He met in a desert country,— When he strayed in a howling
waste,
He turned him, and He directed,
He watched as the ball of His eye,
11 He guarded his nest, like an eagle,
He fluttered over his prey;
He spread His wings to support him,
He carried him by their strength;—
12 He was led by JEHOVAH alone,—
He had no strange god with him.

STANZA IV.

How God prospered Jacob, yet how his Sons were wicked.

- 13 He will raise him high in the country;
He will eat of the fruits of the field,
And oil from the flinty rock!
14 Cows' cheese, and butter of sheep
Along with the best of the lambs,
And of Bashan's rams and goats,
With the fattest grains of the wheat!
15 Drank the foaming blood of the grape;—

- Yet the fat good-man will kick!—
You will be fat, be stout and bloated,
And forsake your Maker,—your GOD!
And fall from the Rock of His safety, 16
And by Strangers raise His wrath,
By Depravities raise disgust, 17
And Godless worship Demons;—
Gods that you never knew,— Fresh from abroad imported,
Whom your fathers never feared,— 18
And neglect the Power that made
you,
And forget your GOD in your lust. 19

STANZA V.

How God sorrows over Man's Sins.

- But the LORD will see—and will sorrow,
Be sad for His daughters and sons, 20 Say, "My face I will veil from them,—
I will see what it is they pursue!
For they are a race that is faithless,
They never will build on the truth. 21
They provoke Me with futile gods, They insult with the idols they make.
So I vex by an Unknown People,
By a nation unthought I provoke! 22

STANZA VI.

The Punishment upon Sin.

- Then a fire shall go from My presence,
And burn down to the pit below,—
And consume the land and its produce;
And, igniting the base of the hills, 23
It shall rush to their top with a roar!—
I will feed My arrows upon them:— 24
Mad with famine and fever's rage,
As a bitter force of destruction,
I will send fierce beasts upon them,
With the venomous snakes of the 25 dust;—
Without the sword shall devour,
And Terrors invade their homes,
Alike on the youth and the maiden,
The suckling child, and the grey 26
beard:—
I declare I would blow them away,
I would blot from the memory of 27
man,—
Unless on account of their foemen,— Lest their oppressors should see,
And say, "Our own hand has conquered!"—

- 28 But did not JEHOVAH do it?
For the race was bereft of its senses,
29 And had no understanding left.

STANZA VII.

God grieves at Man's Irreflection.

- 30 I would they were wise to reflection,
That they understood its results;
Then one should chase a thousand
And two could repulse a host;—
Except for the POWER Who sold
31 them,
And the LORD Who delivered them up!
For their Rock is not like our Rock,
32 Our foes being judges themselves.
For their vine is a true stock of Sodom,
From Gomorah's blasted farm;
Its bunches are bunches of 33 poisons,—
Bitter clusters of grapes it yields.
Their wine is the venom of serpents,
34 And the poison of deadly asps.—
Is it not stored up beside Me,
35 And well sealed up in My barns,
A means of avenge and requital,
When the time of their punishment comes?
When their day of distress ap-36 proaches,
Its agents are ready prepared.

STANZA VIII.

God will redeem His repentant
People.

- Then the LORD will redress His People:—
For His servants He deeply grieves,
When He sees their power depart-
37 ing,
And fail, and fade, and decay.
Then He asks, "Where now are their godlings?
38 The powers upon whom they trust,—
Who ate the fat of their offerings,
And drank up the draughts of their wine?
39 Can they now arise and help you?
Can they now be your hope?"

STANZA IX.

God is our only Refuge, our true Helper.

Look! I only Myself am THAT!
And there is no GOD but Me,—
I am the TRUTH and the LIFE,—

I wound, and I can restore,
And none can tear from My hand!
So I lift up My hand to the heavens, 40
And declare, as for ever I live,
I will flash My sword as the light- 41
ning,
And Justice stands on My right!
I will put distress upon tyrants,
And repayment upon My foes!
My darts will be drunk with their 42
blood,
And My sword will devour their flesh;
Drink the blood of the slain and captives,
And the chiefs who lead on My toes!

STANZA X.

God promises Salvation and Freedom to the Heathen and His People.

You Heathen, rejoice with His 43
People!
For He raises the blood of His saints,
And upon their oppressors does justice,
And the land of His People protects.¹

(Moses came forward and recited all the 44 words of this song in the hearing of the People, and of Hoshea the son of Nun.

When Moses had finished reciting all 45 these verses to Israel, he said to them;)

"Fix upon your hearts all the ideas 46 which I have commanded to you, and to your children, from the first until to-day, and take care to practise the whole of the purport of this legislation; for I have not merely spoken 47 myself to you, but He Who is your Life has spoken it, to extend your times upon the land which you pass over the Jordan to possess."²

(The EVER-LIVING afterwards spoke to 48 Moses on that very day saying:—)

¹ Vv. 44, 45, are an editorial note of Aliazer the Priest, for the Sacred Copy of the Ark of Witnesses.—F. F.

² Vv. 48, 49. The words in brackets are an editorial note of Aliazer, not part of the text.
—F. F.

(It is in the country of Moab, opposite 49 Jerikho.)

All these statements that these speeches were recorded in writing on the east of Jordan, in Moab, are conclusive proof that they are the production of Moses.—F. F.

- 49 "Go up the hill by the ford,—to Mount Nebo,—and survey the land of Canaan, which I will give to the chil-50 dren of Israel for possession; and you shall die upon the mountain that you ascend, and be added to your people, as Aaron your brother died on the Hill of Hills, and was 51 added to his people,—because you did not exalt Me among the children of Israel at Meribah of Kadesh, in the desert of Tzin, where you did not sanctify My presence among the 52 children of Israel. Therefore you shall survey the country near it, but you shall not enter the country which I will give to the sons of Israel."

STANZA I.

The Blessing of Moses.

- 33 (And having been thus spoken to, Moses,
the Man of God, blessed the sons of Israel before his death and said;—)¹
- 2 "The LORD came down from Sinai,
And on them shone from the Tempest,
He blazed from Paran's hill,
And brought ten thousand Saints
His flaming right-hand ruled,
3 For love of His sacred tribes.

STANZA II.

The Almighty's Decree.

- "On your hand let them trust,
At your word rise and march,
4 Let Moses give them Laws,
As Prince of Jacob's Host,
5 And be Yeshurun's Leader, Controlling the Nations' Chiefs, Uniting Israel's Tribes.

Moses Blesses the Tribes.

- 6 "Let Reuben live,—not die,—
And let his number be great!"
7 (He then said to Judah,)
"Let the LORD hear Judah's voice, And His hand go out with his
men,
As a power and help from his foes."
8 (And then to Levi he said;)
"You have the SWEETNESS and LIGHT,—
You are with the one with a trust,

For at Massah you showed your truth,
And fought at the Waters of Strife,
Who said to his father and 9
mother,
'I have no reverence for you;'
And as brother he recognised none,
And had no regard for his son,
When he was the guard of Your TRUTH,
And stood in defence of Your BOND;—
Let them teach Jacob Decrees, 10
And in Israel settle Your laws,
And offer the incense to You,
On Your Altar presenting the Gifts.
Bless, LORD, their power, and 11
work,
And break through the strength of their foes,
And their enemies when they arise."

- (He said to Benjamin;) 12
"The Beloved of the LORD rests secure,
Relying on Him all the day,
And borne safe up in His arms."
(Then to Joseph he said;) 13
"May the LORD give bliss to His
land,
By the gifts of the skies and the dews,
And with fountains bubbling
below,
And the bounties produced by 14
the sun,
And the gifts that increase with
the moon,
And gifts from the hills of the 15
East
And the wealth of the ancient 16
hills,
And the gifts that burst from the ground,
And delights of the shadowing
palms,
Come all upon Joseph's head,
And crown him his brothers'
Prince.
Like a noble and splendid 17
prince,—
His horns are the horns of a bull;
With them he will conquer nations,
And unite the Land into one,
For the ten thousands of Ephraim,—
And Manasseh's thousands are his!"

¹ Ch. xxxiii., v. 1, was a note undoubtedly by Allazer the High Priest, made upon the original copy for the Ark of Witnesses.—F. F.

- 18 (Then he said to Zebulon :)
 "Zebulon be glad in your Ports ;
 And Issaker in your Halls !
- 19 They are called the Men of the Hills,
 Where they feast in a noble feast,
 For they suck of the wide spreading seas,
 And the treasures that hide in the sand !"
- 20 (Then turning to Gad, he said :)
 "Let the horseman, Gad, be blest ;—
 Like a tiger he crouches down,
 And tears with his arms and jaws !
- 21 But he thought at the first for himself,
 So was granted a princely home,
 And produced the leaders of men,
 Who did the work of the LORD,
 And first led My People right."
- 22 (Then he exclaimed to Dan :)
 "Dan is the whelp of a lion,
 Who leaps up out of Bashan !"
- 23 (Then he said to Naphthali :)
 "Naphthali loves to take rest,
 And be filled with the gifts of the LORD :—
 He possesses the tides of the sea."
- 24 (Then as to Asher said :)
 "Let Asher be blessed with his
 sons,

By his brothers let him be loved,
 And dabble his footsteps in oil!—
 Your bars shall be iron and 25
 bronze,
 And your wealth like the tide of the seas."

The Last Psalm of Moses to God.

"There is none like the GOD of 26
 Yeshurun,
 Who rides on the heavens to your aid,
 And floats on the heights of the clouds !
 His GOD is above from of old, 27
 And beneath, the Eternal Arms, Who sweeps out the foe from your face,
 And gives the command to destroy.

Israel dwells alone, and secure, 28 Jacob's spring in a land of the corn and fruit,
 And his skies will drop down dew !
 Blest Israel ! who is like you ? 29
 A Victor Race for JEHOVAH,— Your shield, your help, and your sword !
 You shall grow, and subdue your
 foes,
 And advance on their hills like a road."

Aliazer's Concluding Narrative.

- 34¹ Moses then ascended the Hill of Nebo, from the plains of Moab, up to the peak of Pisgah, which is opposite Jeriko, and the EVER-LIVING showed him all the country.²
- 4 For the EVER-LIVING had said to him, "This is the country that I promised to your fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and Jacob,—saying I will give it to your race. Look at it with your eyes, for you shall not pass over to it."
- 5 Moses, the servant of the EVER-LIVING, consequently died there before JEHOVAH, in the land of Moab, and was buried in a valley in that country behind Beth-peor.³
- 7 Moses was one hundred and twenty years old at his death. His eyes were not weak, and his strength had not gone.
- 8 The children of Israel, however, wept for Moses at the Fords of Moab, thirty days, until the time of mourning the loss of Moses was completed.
- 9 But Joshua the son of Nun was full of spirit and intelligence, for Moses

¹ Ch. xxxiv., v. 1. This chapter is an editor's note, undoubtedly that of Aliazer the High Priest, as a record of the death and burial of Moses.—F. F.

² ² [from Gihlad to Dan, and Naphthali, and the country of Ephraim and Manasseh, and all the land of Judah to the Western Sea; and the south plain of the valley of Jeriko, the City of Palms, as far as Tzur (Tyre)]

Vv. 2, 3. The above words in brackets are not part of the original text, but the note of an ancient editor, probably Ezra, when he edited the Books of Moses after the return from the Babylonian Captivity, as the geographical indications are clearly from the standpoint of Jerusalem, not like the rest of the chapter, from the Plain of Moab, east of the Jordan.—F. F.

³ (But no one knows his grave at this day.)

had laid his hands upon him, so the children of Israel listened to him, and he acted as the EVER-LIVING had commanded to Moses.¹

Embog by Ezra or some Old Transcriber.

"The Fifth of the Fivefold Law is done;—

Thank GOD the Great and Enlightening Sun."

"Courage."

(There never, however, arose a prophet again in Israel like Moses, who saw the EVER-LIVING face to face, with all the signs and wonders which the EVER-LIVING sent him to effect upon the land of the Mitzeraim, upon Pharoh and his Ministers, and all his country, and with so strong a hand, and with such great revelations as Moses produced in the sight of all Israel.)

¹ Vv. 10, 11, 12. These bracketed lines are a note of Ezra probably, or some ancient editor of his period, and do not form a part of the original text. Such notes were formerly usually bracketed in the original matter, the ancient plan of writing upon a long roll of skin or leather affording no space to put them at the foot of the page, as we now do. I have, however, in this translation, put them in their proper place for our day,—at the foot of the page. These ancient notes are a strong proof of the authenticity and great age of the Text as we still have it, as they must have been added before the use of papyrus paper had introduced the plan of folding books and records into leaves. Layard's discoveries at Nineveh prove that as late as the time of Ezra (500 years before Christ) clay tablets, written or engraved upon, and then baked, were the ordinary materials used for records and correspondence, although the Jews would seem also to have begun to write upon skins, then or shortly after, and hence the interlining of these notes. Papyrus paper seems to have been invented not much earlier than 400 before Christ, and not thousands of years as modern sceptics assert. Consequently all papyri pretending to greater antiquity are forgeries.—F. F.

END OF VOLUME I.

THE COMPLETE BIBLE IN MODERN ENGLISH.
SECTION II.

THE
BIBLE IN MODERN ENGLISH.

SECTION THE SECOND.

THE HISTORY OF THE PEOPLE OF ISRAEL,

BY

ISAAH-BEN-AMAZ, THE PROPHET.

(SEE II. CHRON. CH. 32. V. 32)

FROM THE

CONQUESTS OF JOSHUA TO THE DEATH OF KING HEZEKIAH

(IN VI. BOOKS.)

TRANSLATED DIRECT FROM THE HEBREW INTO ENGLISH, WITH A CRITICAL INTRODUCTION AND NOTES,

BY

FERRAR FENTON, M.R.A.S., M.C.A.A.,

AUTHOR OF "THE NEW TESTAMENT IN MODERN ENGLISH," "ST. PAUL'S EPISTLES IN MODERN ENGLISH," "THE BOOK OF JOB IN ENGLISH IN THE ORIGINAL METRE,"
"THE FIVE BOOKS OF MOSES IN MODERN ENGLISH," ETC., ETC., ETC.

NINTH EDITION.

LONDON:

S. W. PARTRIDGE & CO., LTD.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS, AMERICAN BRANCH,
29-35, WEST 32ND STREET, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

ALL RIGHTS RESERVED.]

MADE IN GREAT BRITAIN.

ORDER OF THE BOOKS IN SECTION II.

	PAGE		PAGE
JOSHUA	1	II. SAMUEL	91
JUDGES	27	I. KINGS	120
I. SAMUEL	34	II. KINGS	(3)

INTRODUCTION TO THE STUDY OF THE HISTORY OF ISRAEL AND JUDAH.

IN my study of the Historical Books of the Bible I had frequently wished for some clue to their writer, or writers, for I could never feel satisfied that the various sections of the first six of them, from Joshua to the Second Book of Kings, were each the product of separate Authors, living in long-divided ages, or that those of Joshua and Samuel were autobiographic memorials of those two statesmen, for internal evidence was against such a conclusion, and was decidedly impossible in the case of the Second Book of Samuel, which deals with events after that Prophet's death. The Book of Joshua also I could not regard as an Autobiography, for in more than one passage the Writer refers for the accuracy of his statements to older writers and public records. The style and evident object of the whole series impressed me as being the same, and to clearly indicate a single writer as the Author of the whole history from the death of Moses to that of Hezekiah. However, no critic or commentator I had come across in my reading seemed to throw any light on the question, either from tradition or analysis of the various sections of the narrative. I was puzzled, but the solution of my anxiety arrived in a most unexpected manner.

One day, whilst reading the Second Book of Chronicles in the Hebrew, I met that solution in its 32nd Chapter and the 32nd verse, like a sudden flash of electric light, in the following words;—"The remainder of the actions of Hezekiah and his beneficent rule, are recorded in the Visions of Isaiah-ben-Amotz, the Prophet, upon the History of the Kings of Judah and Israel."¹

The flood of mental light from those three lines dispelled my perplexities, and enabled me to see the great object of the six-sectioned History, by discovering its Writer. Wondering that none had previously seen this, as far as I was aware, I turned and went to my book-shelf and took down the Authorised Version, and found that its translators had entirely, by inserting the little word "and" after the name "Isaiah the son of Amoz," altered the structure and purport of the sentence as it stands in the original Hebrew, and thus destroyed the key it gave to the moral object and lessons of the historian, and to the identity of the Writer of the Six Books.

I was delighted at the discovery, and a renewed study of those six books confirmed in my mind the accuracy of my conclusion by enabling me more clearly to see the unity of style and aim of their writer, Isaiah, which undoubtedly was for them to serve as an introduction to the two succeeding volumes of his Exhortations to the Hebrews, and the adjacent Nations, to religious moral and political Reformation, contained in the First Book of his Prophecies; which also denounce swift-coming punishment as the result of a rejection of his warnings.

¹ II. Chronicles, Ch. 32, v. 32.

And also in the Second Book, in which he records the opening of his mind, by Divine inspiration, to foresee in the far-distant future of human history the advent of a Consecrated Messenger from God, the Messiah, who would bring renewed hope to the souls, and consequently to the minds and bodies, not only of Israel, but of all Peoples, who having taken warning by the exhortations of the Prophet's First Book had changed their minds from a desire for Sin to a desire for Righteousness. By that change of mind Isaiah announces to mankind the gift of a renewed Divine life, communicated through the Messiah, and thus men would be evolved in the course of progressive ages, by the hereditary practice of the laws of God, back into the original state from which they had fallen by the practice of ages of hereditary sin.

I therefore now suggest that Isaiah wrote this History of the Hebrews as an introduction to his warnings to his Nation, and to explain what would be the blessings he foretold, if it repented; for had he not done so by showing its former glorious condition and subsequent crimes, those warnings and promises would have been incomprehensible to the mass of his readers in his own day, and far more so to us. Consequently it is a mistake to read the books from Joshua to the end of the 20th Chapter of the 2nd Kings as merely a political History of Israel and Judah by several different writers, as all former students have done, for they were clearly composed for a single purpose, and meant to be the Philosophy of the History of the Hebrew Race, and to point out the sources of their national prosperity, and the causes of their decay, paralysis, and ruin at the time of the Teacher and Prophet,—for he was both,—and not only to them, but to the whole human race, by a special Divine Inspiration.

In his history he tries to make this object clear, by constantly referring his readers to the National Records, or to former historians whom he cites, for any information they might desire about merely political events.

This point of view, I think, is well worth the attention of students and critics, as well as theologians. In the old Hebrew arrangement of the Books of the Bible these Historical Books stand immediately before the Prophecies of Isaiah; which confirms my view, and the statement of II. Chron., Ch. 32, v. 32, already cited.

After long study of Isaiah's History of Israel, and also comparing it with the historical writers of every other land, whether Asiatic or European, Ancient or Modern, I have come to the conclusion that he was the Father of Historical Philosophy, and of the Analysis of the principles of Sociology. Personally, he was a man of the highest birth, a Statesman, Philosopher and Poet of the greatest genius and highest literary culture, and all these gifts brought to their perfection by a Divine Inspiration, which gave him clear insight into the times in which he lived, and also lifted him in Spiritual Vision to search into the future and to see and record for long ages of the human race the paths which would lead it, or nations of it, to ruin and destruction, and those which would bring all nations to prosperity, happiness and salvation; his visions closing in rapture as he was shown the coming of the Messiah, the Consecrated Messenger of God, who would restore Mankind from their long devolution to misery, through the hereditary practice and devotion to Sin, by recommunicating a new life to their paralysed minds and souls; and thus lead them by ages of progressive evolution, through the practice of righteousness and virtuously beneficent life and resistance to Sin, to the ability to gain a restoration to the condition of their creation. That St. Paul also saw all this in the Prophet I am satisfied by the general impress left upon my mind during study of that great Apostle, and by several definite statements of his.

But even viewing Isaiah simply as a Philosophic Historian, the handling of his matter is masterly. It will be seen that he does not deal with history by the lives of persons, as if history consisted of a series of biographies. On the contrary, he divides the whole course of Hebrew history into well-defined periods of Evolution or Decay, according to the mental objects of the people and its Leaders, as indicated to his reflective student's eye. The Period of Conquest is summed up under the title of The Book of Joshua and his Generals, probably running for 100 years after that great Commander's death, of which year he gives no details.

In Judges we have what I would call the Colonial Period, during which the Israelites were engaged in a desperate struggle with the Aborigines of Canaan for life and safety in every village and farm, until all leisure for national cohesion was lost, and the hero of a few villages, who during his lifetime kept the natives at bay around his farm, was looked upon as a wonder. In this period frightful anarchy and crime seem to have been rampant, except in such petty temporary Chieftainships, till at last the whole of the Hebrew Colonies seem to have sat down in despair under the restored tyranny of Aboriginal Despots. Here Isaiah closes his Second Period, with the Book of Judges.

With the appearance of Samson, who, by his furious strength of mind and body, showed his Race that the Philistine was not invincible, Isaiah's philosophic eye saw the re-awakening of the National spirit and hope; and in the life and policy of Samuel, that the idea of Social and Political Organisation, founded upon a restoration of the Faith of their Fathers, had begun to breathe again in the long-paralysed minds and souls of the Children of Israel. He consequently begins a fresh Book with the name of the Period of Samuel, and divides it into two sections. The First, recording up to the death of Saul and the Defeat at Gilboa, which practically ended what, for want of a better name for the fact, I would call the Parliamentary Period of Hebrew life, during which the Civil President of the Commonwealth, called THE MAN OF GOD, with the advice of an elected Parliament of seventy-two men, chosen by sixes from each Tribe, governed the Nation, and appointed, as Moses had done, a Generalissimo to execute his orders in war.

This was the appointed Constitution given through Moses, but seems to have practically lapsed after the death of Joshua and Caleb, owing to the general insurrection of the Aborigines, and the life and death struggle of the Colonists¹ to ward off their own extermination. Samuel, also, after the inhabitants of the District around his home at Shiloh, which he seems to have freed from the Philistine oppression, had demanded from him the appointment of a General, or Military Leader—for that is the meaning of the title "Melek" in Hebrew—appears to have had inspired into his mind the idea of restoring the old Constitution in practice, and attempted it by the appointment of Saul as his Generalissimo. But Saul, as soon as he felt the elation of military success, evidently conceived the design of seizing supreme power and abolishing the Civil President's authority. This struggle between him and Samuel, the President, came to a crisis and open rupture by Samuel forcing Saul to show his object through the order he gave to him in the campaign against Agag to deprive the Army of their accustomed prize distribution, their only pay, by commanding the slaughter of not only the captives, but of all the cattle, of every kind, as recorded in Chapter 15th of 1st Samuel. Saul undoubtedly found it impossible to make his men obey such an order, and probably never tried to enforce it. But this open disregard of the Civil Authority showed Samuel that, as he had feared, the Military Leader had determined to become his master, or at least only to leave him the position of a nominal President. The skilful old Statesman was not, however, to be shaken off, and he and the Generalissimo to the end of his life were at deadly feud, and the Constitutional form of Government continued to drag on a feeble life until the death of Saul, and the seizure of Absolute Power by the great military genius of David, who united to the talents of a warrior even greater talents as a Statesman and Organiser. But still an acknowledged Despotism was not established in full swing, until after David had nominated his son Solomon to the Throne without the slightest consultation with the National Parliament, or Priesthood. There the philosophic eye of Isaiah saw the end of the Representative Constitution, and accordingly made his record of it and his Fourth Book.

¹The name "Hebrim," the Hebrews, means Colonists, if we translate it into English.—F. F.

However, in the Monarchical Period, dealt with in the First Book of Kings, Isaiah saw the Ideal of the divine Hebrew Statesmanship; the establishing of an organised National Government over a wide extent of territory, and various pre-existing Tribes; the object of whose Statesmen should be the promotion of Industry, as the first aim of National Policy; and the pure administration of Justice between all classes, to give the necessary security to industrial life and pursuits; and whose Administrators should never forget, or violate, the Divine Doctrine that Governments were made for the benefit of the Governed, and not for that of the Governors, who are to regard themselves as the servants of GOD appointed for the benefit of His people. In Solomon he saw its glorious fulfilment in practice as well as theory, and he delights in the sublime spectacle, as shown by the exultant tone of his narrative.

In this Divine Revelation of Constitutional Government war was never deified or worshipped, as it always was, and is, in all Pagan lands, and in our Modern Half-Pagan European ones and their offshoots—except the English-speaking ones—as the Chief object of Nations; nor is it condemned as totally illegal; but ordered only to be used as a means of obtaining peace and protecting Industry by the punishment, and, if needed, the extermination of men of violence and bloodshed. Our Statesman Poet, John Milton, epitomised this doctrine as the National British motto, when he dictated the superscription for Cromwell's coinage, PAX PER BELLUM;—the securing an extended area of PEACE THROUGH WAR, to be its only legitimate use, as directed from GOD Himself.

In the Second Book of Kings Isaiah deals with the terrible punishments inevitably brought upon his people, and all nations, by a disregard of the Divine Principles of National Polity revealed to Moses, and with tragic sobriety follows the fall of his Race to corruption and ruin through that disregard, which he was given to foresee brooding over them, in spite of the noble efforts at reform and restoration made by his friend and relative, Hezekiah, with whose death his narrative ends.

In concluding my introduction to the reading of Isaiah's work, I will only add that I consider it the most perfect model of philosophical history, and of analysis of the principles of national life and death, the writers of the world ever produced. The underlying doctrine is, "There is a GOD in History," directing all its events upon Eternal laws of equity, and by equally eternal laws punishing the breach of the laws of morality and equity upon all nations; and that the repudiation of Divine Laws by Statesmen is shown to be the sin of the Nation, for as statesmen are simply the servants of the national will, without the tacit sanction of the people they could never disregard those laws. Isaiah's whole induction from the facts he tried to deal with may be indeed summarised in the epigram of his Ancestor, the great Thinker and Statesman, Solomou,—

"Righteousness exalts Races, But Vice destroys the nations."

—Prov., Ch. 14, v. 34.

The student of Isaiah must not, however, suppose that the prophet was simply a Moralist dealing with the personal acts of the wicked or vicious, or criminal;—fields of instruction that no one saw more clearly than he were those of the Priest, Preacher, and Administrator. He was by no means blind, however, to the necessity of education in social and domestic morals, but he himself was essentially a Statesman, and as a Statesman dealt with the fundamental laws of life and social organisation, as Moses had done, seeing, under the expansion of his genius by Divine inspiration, that the moral life and habits of the individuals constituting a Nation are originated or repressed by the acts and policy of the Governing Class, or it may be by the personal influence of the holder of the chief Representative power in a State for the time being.

In fact this is the great doctrine upon which he never ceases to insist throughout his History, and in his Prophecies. His teaching is that contained in the rule of our modern Law of Nations, "Religion follows the Government"; but Isaiah carries the doctrine to a yet wider sweep, and adds to it, "and Morality follows Religion; and the prosperity and happiness of Nations is the outcome of their religion, and their ruin inevitably follows vice and sin." His doctrine was not new, but simply a revival of the Divine Law revealed to Moses at Sinai, and it is as true now, and as vital to the life and happiness of nations, as it was then. To enforce the fact is the great object in the eyes of the Prophet from the beginning to the end of his History of his race. He illustrates it in action by showing how the depreciation of its ancestral religion invariably brought national disaster and social misery. He does not, however, teach, as all commentators have foolishly attributed to him, that at a minute's notice, upon the personal whim or vicious inclination of a Chief or King abandoning public respect to JEHOVAH, and professing devotion to Baal, or some other heathen Imagination, that the whole of the Hebrew nation did the same; or that when his successor at the head of public affairs upon attaining the chief Magistracy reverted to the public profession of the worship of GOD, that all the population followed in a moment. Such an idea and doctrine is that of idiots, or monks, whose minds have been narrowed by isolation and ignorance of the facts of life to the condition of children. Isaiah's teaching is, on the contrary, twofold: first, that the Government of a Nation being in all cases the Incarnation of the National Thought and Will, its acts are mentally those of the People it represents, and therefore the Nation is guilty of its sins, and is consequently rewarded or punished for them by GOD. The absolute truth of this doctrine is witnessed for by all human records.

The second line of his instruction is:—That the first duty of a Government consequently is to support, teach, and practise the Religion of the Nation, by public recognition and honour paid to it in the outward forms of its worship, and by using it as the groundwork of the education of the people; and by putting a social stigma upon all deviation from it. If this is not done, the Prophet-Statesman shows that from the tendency of men to follow the mode of life of the Court and those socially above them, the irreligion of the Monarch or President rapidly spreads to the lower strata of social life; while at the same time an opposite current is developed amongst the people, especially of the lower classes, who, in their earnest desire to preserve the faith of their fathers, separate themselves from the Constituted Authorities, and make the destruction of those Authorities the devouring passion of their lives, even if such destruction involves the ruin of their Nation; and in opposition to them the apostate or sceptically indifferent Governors become, step by step, savage persecutors, and call foreign allies to assist in suppressing the old National Faith which alone they find themselves unable to suppress.

Thus the Nation becomes divided into two parties, whose objects are, not the defence of their Country, but the extermination of each other; and in its distraction the land becomes the prey of its neighbours and rivals, with all the horrors of national degradation and personal slavery to follow.

To listen to these lessons and be taught by them is as important to ourselves as it was to the Hebrews of Isaiah's time, and if we neglect them, or turn in scorn to ridicule them, the same fate will be ours as fell upon the Hebrews.

These may not be the fashionable doctrines of our day, but are those of the great Prophet whose teachings I am endeavouring to point out.

The work of Isaiab, then, would seem to end with the 20th Chapter of II. Kings, and the remaining four chapters to be the product of a later hand, of a date after the Babylonian Captivity.

Probably they were by Nehemiah, written as a supplement to Isaiah's history. The style and tone is different, and the wide views of the lessons and philosophy of history contained in the work from Joshua to the 21st of Kings are wanting, and the difference in the dramatic power of the narrative in the four concluding chapters is also noticeable. I would, therefore, head them "Supplementary Chapters to Isaiah's History of Israel."

FERRAR FENTON.

LONDON, ENGLAND.

THE HISTORY OF ISRAEL.

BY ISAIAH, THE SON OF AMOZ.

BOOK I.

THE PERIOD OF JOSHUA.

(B.C. 1451.) God's Command and Promises to Joshua.

- 1 IT was after the death of Moses, the Servant of the EVER-LIVING, that the EVER-LIVING spoke to Joshua the son of Nun, the Lieutenant of Moses, saying;
- 2 "My Servant Moses has died;—therefore you arise, cross the Jordan,—you and all the people,—to the
- 3 country I will give to them. To the children of Israel, I give all the extent
- 4 that you can march over, as I said to Moses, from the desert to Lebaon; and from the Great River Frath¹ all the country of the Khithites² to the Great Sea, at the setting of the sun, shall be your boundaries.
- 5 No man shall be able to stand before you all the days of your life. As I was with Moses, I will be with you.
- 6 I will never leave nor desert you. Be strong and bold! for you shall divide that country among this People, as I promised to their fathers to give it
- 7 to them. Therefore be very strong and bold! Keep and practise all the laws that I commanded to My servant Moses! Turn not from them to the right hand or the left, but act
- 8 prudently wherever you go. You must not remove the book of these laws from before you, but think about it day and night, for you must carefully practise all written in it, for then your career will prosper,—so reflect upon it.
- 9 "Have I not commanded you to be strong and bold? Be not afraid or shrink! for your EVER-LIVING GOD is with you wherever you go!"

¹ Euphrates.—F. F.

² Hittites.—F. F.

Joshua Prepares to Advance.

Joshua consequently ordered the 10 officers of the People saying;—

"Go through the midst of the camp and command the People, thus;

"Prepare yourselves to march; for 17 at three days from now you must pass over the Jordan, to go to possess the country that your EVER-LIVING GOD has given you to hold."

The Tribes of Reuben and Gad to form the Vanguard.

But to the Reubenites, and to 12 the Gadites and the half tribe of Manasseh, Joshua issued this order: "Remember the command that 13 Moses, the servant of the EVER-LIVING, gave to you saying, 'Your EVER-LIVING GOD measured out and gave you this country. Your wives 14 and children and flocks shall remain in the country which Moses gave to you on this side Jordan, but you must pass over armed before your brothers, with all the strength of your army, and help them, until the 15 EVER-LIVING has measured out to your brothers, as He has to you, and they also are put into possession of the country which your EVER-LIVING GOD has given to them; then you may return to the country you possess, and hold that which Moses, the servant of the EVER-LIVING, gave to you, on the side of the Jordan toward the sun-rising."

And they replied to Joshua,— "We 16 will do all that you order us, and wherever you send us we will go. Exactly as we listened to Moses we 17 will listen to you, because your EVER-LIVING GOD is with you, as He was with Moses. Every man who rebels 18 against you, and will not obey your commands in whatever you order, shall die! Therefore be strong and hold it!"

(B.C. 1451.) Joshua sends Spies to Jeriko.

- 2 Joshua then sent two men from his Officers with secret instructions, saying; "Go examine the country of Jeriko." So they went and arrived at the house of a woman named Rahab, an innkeeper, and lodged there. But it was reported to the King of Jeriko that "men have arrived from the sons of Israel to-night to explore the country!"
- 3 The King of Jeriko consequently sent to Rahab to say; "Bring to me the men who have come to your house, for they have come to examine the country." But the woman took the two men and hid them, and replied;—"Some men certainly came to me, but I do not know where they came from. However, when the gates were shut at dark, the men went away, and I myself do not know where the men went. Go after them quickly, so as to catch them!"
- 6 She had, however, taken them up to the roof, and covered them over with cotton she had stored there upon the roof.
- 7 The messengers accordingly pursued after them towards the Jordan, to the fords, and the gates were shut after them as soon as they went out in pursuit. But they were in hiding. She then went up to the roof to them, and said to the men, "I know that the EVER-LIVING will give this country to you, because a terror has fallen upon us, and all the population of the land will melt away before you, for we have heard how the EVER-LIVING caused the waters of the Red Sea to dry up when you came out from the Mitzeraim, and what you have done to the two kings of the Amorites, who were beyond the Jordan,—to Sihon and to Og,—how you gave them to destruction. We have heard these things and our hearts melt, and the spirit of a man will never rise against you, for your EVER-LIVING GOD is GOD in heaven above, and on the earth beneath. Therefore now listen, I pray, to me. When the EVER-LIVING shows favour to you, you also show favour to my father's family, and give me a pledge of your truth that you will preserve the lives of my father and mother, and my brothers and sisters, and all belonging to them, from death."

The men therefore said to her, "May our lives sink in death if we do not keep this promise! if when the EVER-LIVING gives us the country we do not act fair and true to you!" She then let them down by a rope from the window, for her house was on the wall of the fortifications, and she lived on the wall. Then she said to them, "Go to the hills, for fear your pursuers should meet you; and conceal yourselves for three days until the pursuers return; and after that go your own way."

The men also replied to her, "We will stand by the oath we have sworn to you. When we arrive at this country, tie this scarlet cord to your window which we are going through, and collect your father and mother, and brothers, and all your father's family with you into the house, and it shall be that all who come outside the doors of your house,—his blood shall be upon his own head;—for all who are in your house,—their blood be upon our heads if a hand touches them. And if you attend to this instruction we will stand by the oath we have sworn."

She accordingly answered, "It shall be as you say." So she dismissed them, and they went; and she tied the scarlet cord to the window. So they proceeded and arrived at the hills, and stayed there three days, until the return of the pursuers, who sought them in all the roads but found them not. Then the two men descended from the hills, and crossed the fords and came to Joshua the son of Nun, and reported to him all these events. And said to Joshua, "The EVER-LIVING will give all the country to our hands, and will also dissolve the whole of the population of the land before us."

(B.C. 1451.) Joshua marches from The Acacia Woods.

Joshua accordingly arose in the morning and marched from The Acacia Woods and advanced to the Jordan, and all the sons of Israel with him, and halted near the fords. And there, three days afterwards, three officers mustered the camp at day-break, and ordered the People:—

 3 "When you see the Ark of the Covenant of your EVER-LIVING GOD, and the priests and Levites carrying it, march from your stations and follow
 4 it. However the EVER-LIVING interposes between you and it, two thousand cubits space. Approach not to it, except so that you may know the way that it goes,—for you will not proceed by the way you did yesterday."

Order of the Day to the Army.

5 Joshua also commanded the People to sanctify themselves, for on the next day the EVER-LIVING would do
 6 wonders among them. Then Joshua commanded the priests:—"Take the Ark of the Covenant and proceed, and march before the people carrying the Ark of the Covenant."
 7 The EVER-LIVING also said to Joshua; "I will begin to make you Great to-day in the eyes of all Israel, who shall learn that as I was with
 8 Moses, so I am with you; so now command the priests who bear the Ark of the Covenant, and say; 'When you come to the middle of the stream of the Jordan, stand still in the torrent!'"
 9 Joshua consequently said to the sons of Israel, "Now approach and hear the commands of your EVER-LIVING GOD!" Then Joshua added, 10 "By these you will learn that a LIVING GOD is amongst you, and that He will drive the Cananites, and the Hitites, and the Hivites, and the Perezites, and the Ghergashites, and the Amorites, and the Jebusites from 11 before you. Look! the Ark of the Covenant of the PRINCE of the whole earth passes before you to the Jordan;
 12 so now select for yourselves twelve men from the tribes of Israel,
 13 —one man from each,—and when the soles of the feet of the priests who bear the Ark of the Covenant of the EVER-LIVING, the PRINCE of the whole earth, touch the stream of the Jordan, the waters will cease coming 14 down from above. Then the People shall march from their camps, and pass over the Jordan, with the priests bearing the Ark of the Covenant before the People."

(B.C. 1451.) Passage of the Jordan.

15 So when the bearers of the Ark arrived at the Jordan, and the feet of the priests who bore the Ark were splashing in the middle of the waters of the Jordan (and the Jordan is full over all its banks during the time of harvest), the waters descending from 16 above stood still; below they also stood, for a distance from Adam, to the wood which is near Zarthan. But the water flowed down from off the ford at the King's stream completely, and the People crossed over towards Jeriko. And the priests who carried

 17 the Ark of the Covenant of the EVER-LIVING stood firmly on dry land in the middle of the torrent;—and all Israel passed over on dry land until all the forces had passed the Jordan. But when all the forces had finished 18 passing the Jordan, then the EVER-LIVING said to Joshua; "Select for
 2 yourself from the People twelve men, a man from each Tribe, and order
 3 them to take from the bed of the Jordan, from where the feet of the priests stand, twelve stones, and carry them over with you, and place them at the lodgment where you will lodge to-night."

Twelve Stones taken from the Bed of the Jordan for a Monument.

Joshua consequently summoned
 4 twelve men, men whom he appointed from the sons of Israel, a man from every tribe, and Joshua said to them;
 5 "Pass after the Ark of your EVER-LIVING GOD to the middle of the Jordan, and let each man lift a stone upon his shoulder, as a record to the Tribes of the sons of Israel, so that
 6 they may be an evidence in the midst of you when your children shall ask you in the future, 'What are these stones to us?' that you can say, 'The
 7 waters of the Jordan were divided before the Ark of the Covenant of the EVER-LIVING. When it passed into the torrent, the waters of the Jordan were divided, and these stones are as a memorial to the children of Israel for ever.'"

The children of Israel, therefore,
 8 did as Joshua commanded, and carried twelve stones from the middle of the Jordan as the EVER-LIVING commanded to Joshua, to the number of the Tribes of the sons of Israel, and they carried them to the lodgment, and fixed them there. And 9 Joshua set up the twelve stones from the middle of the Jordan, where the feet

against you, and will not obey your commands in whatever you order, shall die! Therefore be strong and hold!"

(B.C. 1451.) Joshua sends Spies to Jeriko.

- 2 Joshua then sent two men from his Officers with secret instructions, saying; "Go examine the country of Jeriko." So they went and arrived at the house of a woman named Rahab, an innkeeper, and lodged there. But it was reported to the King of Jeriko that "men have arrived from the sons of Israel to-night to explore the country!"
- 3 The King of Jeriko consequently sent to Rahab to say; "Bring to me the men who have come to your house, for they have come to examine the country." But the woman took the two men and hid them, and replied;—"Some men certainly came to me, but I do not know where they came from. However, when the gates were shut at dark, the men went away, and I myself do not know where the men went. Go after them quickly, so as to catch them!"
- 6 She had, however, taken them up to the roof, and covered them over with cotton she had stored there upon the roof.
- 7 The messengers accordingly pursued after them towards the Jordan, to the fords, and the gates were shut after them as soon as they went out in pursuit. But they were in hiding. She then went up to the roof to them, and said to the men, "I know that the EVER-LIVING will give this country to you, because a terror has fallen upon us, and all the population of the land will melt away before you, for we have heard how the EVER-LIVING caused the waters of the Red Sea to dry up when you came out from the Mitzeraim, and what you have done to the two kings of the Amorites, who were beyond the Jordan,—to Sihon and to Og,—how you gave them to destruction. We have heard these things and our hearts melt, and the spirit of a man will never rise against you, for your EVER-LIVING GOD is GOD in heaven above, and on the earth beneath. Therefore now listen, I pray, to me. When the EVER-LIVING shows favour to you, you also show favour to my father's family, and give me a pledge of your truth that you will preserve the lives of my father and mother, and my brothers and sisters, and all belonging to them, from death."

The men therefore said to her, "May our lives sink in death if we do not keep this promise! if when the EVER-LIVING gives us the country we do not act fair and true to you!" She then let them down by a rope from the window, for her house was on the wall of the fortifications, and she lived on the wall. Then she said to them, "Go to the hills, for fear your pursuers should meet you; and conceal yourselves for three days until the pursuers return; and after that go your own way."

The men also replied to her, "We will stand by the oath we have sworn to you. When we arrive at this country, tie this scarlet cord to your window which we are going through, and collect your father and mother, and brothers, and all your father's family with you into the house, and it shall be that all who come outside the doors of your house,—his blood shall be upon his own head;—for all who are in your house,—their blood be upon our heads if a hand touches them. And if you attend to this instruction we will stand by the oath we have sworn."

She accordingly answered, "It shall be as you say." So she dismissed them, and they went; and she tied the scarlet cord to the window. So they proceeded and arrived at the hills, and stayed there three days, until the return of the pursuers, who sought them in all the roads but found them not. Then the two men descended from the hills, and crossed the fords and came to Joshua the son of Nun, and reported to him all these events. And said to Joshua, "The EVER-LIVING will give all the country to our hands, and will also dissolve the whole of the population of the land before us."

(B.C. 1451.) Joshua marches from The Acacia Woods.

Joshua accordingly arose in the morning and marched from The Acacia Woods and advanced to the Jordan, and all the sons of Israel with him, and halted near the fords. And there, three days afterwards, the officers mustered the camp at day-break, and ordered the People;—

 3 "When you see the Ark of the Covenant of your EVER-LIVING GOD, and the priests and Levites carrying it, march from your stations and follow
 4 it. However the EVER-LIVING interposes between you and it, two thousand cubits space. Approach not to it, except so that you may know the way that it goes,—for you will not proceed by the way you did yesterday."

Order of the Day to the Army.

5 Joshua also commanded the People to sanctify themselves, for on the next day the EVER-LIVING would do wonders among them. Then Joshua commanded the priests;—"Take the Ark of the Covenant and proceed, and march before the people carrying the Ark of the Covenant."

7 The EVER-LIVING also said to Joshua; "I will begin to make you Great to-day in the eyes of all Israel, who shall learn that as I was with
 8 Moses, so I am with you; so now command the priests who bear the Ark of the Covenant, and say; 'When you come to the middle of the stream of the Jordan, stand still in the torrent!'"

9 Joshua consequently said to the sons of Israel, "Now approach and hear the commands of your EVER-LIVING GOD!" Then Joshua added, "By these you will learn that a LIVING GOD is amongst you, and that He will drive the Cananites, and the Hitites, and the Hivites, and the Perezites, and the Ghergashites, and the Amorites, and the Jebusites from
 11 before you. Look! the Ark of the Covenant of the PRINCE of the whole earth passes before you to the Jordan; so now select for yourselves
 12 twelve men from the tribes of Israel, 13—one man from each,—and when the soles of the feet of the priests who bear the Ark of the Covenant of the EVER-LIVING, the PRINCE of the whole earth, touch the stream of the Jordan, the waters will cease coming
 14 down from above. Then the People shall march from their camps, and pass over the Jordan, with the priests bearing the Ark of the Covenant before the People."

(B.C. 1451.) Passage of the Jordan.

15 So when the bearers of the Ark arrived at the Jordan, and the feet of the priests who bore the Ark were splashing in the middle of the waters of the Jordan (and the Jordan is full over all its banks during the time of harvest), the waters descending from 16 above stood still; below they also stood, for a distance from Adam, to the wood which is near Zarthan. But the water flowed down from off the ford at the King's stream completely, and the People crossed over towards Jeriko. And the priests who carried

 17 the Ark of the Covenant of the EVER-LIVING stood firmly on dry land in the middle of the torrent;—and all Israel passed over on dry land until all the forces had passed the Jordan. But when all the forces had finished
 18 passing the Jordan, then the EVER-LIVING said to Joshua; "Select for
 2 yourself from the People twelve men, a man from each Tribe, and order
 3 them to take from the bed of the Jordan, from where the feet of the priests stand, twelve stones, and carry them over with you, and place them at the lodgment where you will lodge to-night."

Twelve Stones taken from the Bed of the Jordan for a Monument.

Joshua consequently summoned
 4 twelve men, men whom he appointed from the sons of Israel, a man from every tribe, and Joshua said to them; 5
 "Pass after the Ark of your EVER-LIVING GOD to the middle of the Jordan, and let each man lift a stone upon his shoulder, as a record to the Tribes of the sons of Israel, so that
 6 they may be an evidence in the midst of you when your children shall ask you in the future, 'What are these stones to us?' that you can say, 'The
 7 waters of the Jordan were divided before the Ark of the Covenant of the EVER-LIVING. When it passed into the torrent, the waters of the Jordan were divided, and these stones are as a memorial to the children of Israel for ever.'"

The children of Israel, therefore, 8 did as Joshua commanded, and carried twelve stones from the middle of the Jordan as the EVER-LIVING commanded to Joshua, to the number of the Tribes of the sons of Israel, and they carried them to the lodgment, and fixed them there. And of the priests had stood who carried the 10 Ark of the Covenant.¹ But the priests who carried the Ark stood still in the middle of the Jordan until the accomplishment of all the things that the EVER-LIVING commanded Joshua to instruct the people to do, exactly as Moses had commanded Joshua.
 9 Joshua set up the twelve stones from the middle of the Jordan, where the feet

 Then the forces hastened and passed 11 over. When, however, the whole of the forces had finished crossing, then the Ark of the EVER-LIVING and the priests passed in the presence of the 12 forces. But the heroes of the sons of Reuben, and the sons of Gad, and the half tribe of Manasseh, preceded the children of Israel, as GOD had com-13 manded Moses. Their army of forty thousand armed men passed before the EVER-LIVING to the war, by the fords of Jeriko.

14 On that day the EVER-LIVING made Joshua great in the eyes of all Israel, and they feared him, as they had feared Moses all his life.

15 Then the EVER-LIVING spoke to 16 Joshua, saying;—"Order the priests who carried the Ark into the ford to come up from the Jordan."

17 So Joshua ordered the priests;— 18 "Come up from the Jordan." And when the priests who carried the Ark of the Covenant of the EVER-LIVING ascended from the middle of the Jordan—when the soles of the feet of the priests touched the dry land,—then the waters of the torrent returned from above and went as formerly over all its banks!

(B.C. 1451.)

19 Thus the forces ascended from the Jordan on the tenth of the first month, and encamped in Gilgal to the east of 20 Jeriko; and the twelve stones that were taken from the Jordan Joshua 21 erected in Gilgal, and spoke to the sons of Israel saying; "When your children ask you hereafter enquiring, 22 'What are these stones?' you shall inform your children that they are a memorial that the Jordan was dried up at the passage of the sons of 23 Israel, when our EVER-LIVING GOD caused the water of the torrent to dry before us until we crossed, as our EVER-LIVING GOD did to the Red Sea, which He caused to dry up before us until we had crossed over, so that 24 all the Peoples of the country might learn how strong the hand of the LORD is;—so that they might fear

 our EVER-LIVING God at all times."

(B.C. 1451.) Terror of the Kings of Canaan.

But when all the kings of the 5
 Amorites who are beyond the Jordan towards the west, and all the kings of the Canaanites who were along the sea, heard how the EVER-LIVING had caused the waters of the Jordan to dry before the children of Israel, until they had passed over, their hearts melted, and there was no spirit left in them before the children of Israel.

Joshua's Circumcision of the People with Stone Knives.

At this time the EVER-LIVING said 1 to Joshua, "Make for yourself stone knives, and remove the foreskin of the children of Israel again." So 3 Joshua prepared stone knives and circumcised the children of Israel at the Hill of Circumcision. And this event was Joshua's circumcision.¹

All the full-grown who came out 4 from among the Mitzeraim,—the men of military age,—died in the desert on the journey coming from Mitzeraim, for all the people who came out were 5 circumcised—but all the people who were born in the desert during the journey from Mitzeraim, were not circumcised. For the children of 6 Israel travelled for forty years in the desert until all the generation of men of military age, who came out of Mitzeraim, had died, because they would not listen to the voice of the EVER-LIVING; so the EVER-LIVING swore to them that they should not see the country which He had promised to Abraham to give to us,—a land flowing with milk and honey.

Therefore Joshua circumcised 7 children that had grown up after them, for they were foreskinned, because they had not been circumcised during the journey. But whilst 8 they were completing the circumcision

¹ V. 9. "And they are there to this day" is an editor's note, probably by Ezra.—F. F.

¹ Note on v. 2, ch. 5. May not the flint knives found in ancient graves be those used by tribes who also practised circumcision, and not knives for domestic use, as archaeologists imagine?—F. F.

of all the nation they kept quiet in the camp until they were restored.

- 9 Then the EVER-LIVING said to Joshua, "To-day I have rolled away the reproach of Mitzeraim from off you," therefore the name of that place is called Gilgal,¹ to this day.

The Passover celebrated.

- 10 The children of Israel afterwards camped in Gilgal and sacrificed the Passover on the fourteenth day of the month, after passing the fords of Jeriko, and they ate cakes from the corn of the land the day after the Passover, and baked oats the same day, and the mana ceased from the morning they ate of the corn of the land, and the children of Israel never again had mana, but they ate the produce of the land of Canan from that year.

Joshua's Vision.

- 13 While Joshua was resting near Jeriko, he raised his eyes, and saw a man stand near him, with a drawn sword in his hand. So Joshua went to him and asked, "Are you our enemy or no?" When he replied; "No! for I am the Chief of the Army of the EVER-LIVING who have come to you."

Then Joshua bowed his face to the earth and paid him reverence, and said; "What would my master say to his servant?"

- 15 And the Chief of the EVER-LIVING'S Army replied to Joshua, "Put your shoes from off your feet, for the place you stand upon, is Holy;" and Joshua did so.

(B.C. 1451.) The Town of Jeriko resists Joshua.

- 6 But Jeriko shut itself up;—and it was shut up before the children of Israel,—none came out, and none went in.
- 2 Then the EVER-LIVING said to Joshua, "I have given Jeriko to your hand, with the royal commanders of its power. Therefore let all the troops march round the walls of the city in a circle. Do this for six days.
- 4 But on the seventh let the priests take the seven trumpets of the Jubilee from before the Ark, and on the seventh encirclement of the city, after the seventh time, the priests shall sound with the trumpets, and at the crash of the horns of Jubilee,— at the sound of the voice of the trumpets, all the forces shall shout with a great shout, when the walls of the city will fall down, and the people shall go up, each ahead of himself."

Joshua the son of Nun consequently 6 summoned the priests, and said to them; "Take up the Ark of the Covenant, and let seven priests carry the seven Jubilee Trumpets before the Ark of the EVER-LIVING." And 7 he himself commanded the forces; "March and surround the city!" He then passed before the Ark of the EVER-LIVING, and Joshua said to 8 the People and the seven priests who carried the seven Jubilee Trumpets before the EVER-LIVING; "March on and blow the trumpets, and the Ark of the Covenant of the EVER-LIVING shall follow you."

So part marched before the priests 9 who blew the trumpets and the others marched after the Ark,—marching and blowing the trumpets. But 10 Joshua commanded the force; "Do not shout, and let not your voice be heard, and let no word come from your mouth, until the day when I tell you to shout—then shout out!" Thus the Ark of the EVER-LIVING 11 marched round the city with measured step once. Then they returned to the camp, and rested in the camp.

When Joshua arose next morning 12 the priests took up the Ark of the EVER-LIVING, and seven priests took 13 the seven Jubilee Trumpets from before the Ark. Marching, they marched and sounded the trumpets, and the vanguard marched before them, and the rear marched after the Ark of the EVER-LIVING, marching and blowing trumpets, and circuted 14 city the second day, once, and returned to the camp. They did the same for six days. But when the 15 seventh day arrived, at the departure of darkness, they circled the city as instructed seven times;—yes! they circled the city seven times, and, at 16 the seventh time, the priests sounded the trumpets, and Joshua said to the people; "Cheer! for the EVER-LIVING has given you this city! and 17 the city shall be devoted, it, and all that is in it, to the EVER-LIVING, except Rahab the innkeeper, she shall live; she and all who are in her house, for she concealed the messengers whom we sent. But except 18 them, keep yourselves from the devoted things, lest you should be tempted to take some from the devoted, and put it in the camp of Israel, and bring destruction and 19 trouble to it. For all silver, and gold, and brass, and iron, are sacred to the EVER-LIVING. It must come to the treasury of the EVER-LIVING."

¹ Rolled-away.—F. P.

The Walls of Jeriko fall.

20 Then the People cheered, and the trumpets sounded!—and when the People heard the sound of the trumpets, then the people cheered with a loud cheering; then the walls fell down, and the men went into the city, each before himself and 21 captured the town, and destroyed all who were in the city, both men and women, from the young to the old, and even cattle and sheep, and asses,
22 by the edge of the sword. But Joshua had said to the two men who spied the country; "Go to the house of the innkeeping woman, and bring that woman from there, and all who are with her, as you promised to her."
23 Consequently the young spies went and brought out Rahab, and her father and mother, and brothers, and all who were with her; however, the silver and gold, and furniture of brass and iron, they gave to the treasury of the House of the EVER-LIVING. But 24 Joshua granted life to Rahab the innkeeper, and the family of her father, and all belonging to her (and they are resident in the heart of Israel to this day), because she concealed the messengers whom Joshua had sent to spy Jeriko.

A Curse put upon the Site of Jeriko.

26 At the same time Joshua swore saying; "Let the man be accursed before the EVER-LIVING who raises and builds this city of Jeriko! Let him lay the foundation on his first born and set up the gates on his youngest!"
27 Thus the EVER-LIVING was with Joshua, and his fame spread over all the country.
7 But the children of Israel were faithless,—faithless about the devoted property,—and Akan the descendant of Karmi, the descendant of Zabdi, the son of Zarakh, of the tribe of Judah, took some of the devoted, and the anger of the EVER-LIVING burnt at the children of Israel.

(B.C. 1451.) The Crown of Ai Assaulted; but the Israelites repulsed.

Joshua then sent men from Jeriko 2 to Ai, which was near Bethaven, to the east of Bethel, and instructed them, "Go and examine the country."

3 So the men went and spied about the country of Ai, and returned to Joshua and said to him; "It is not necessary for all the People to go up—only two or three thousand men need go to capture Ai. All the people need not march there, for it is small." So about three thousand 4 men of the troops went up,—but they fled before the men of Ai, and 5 the men of Ai killed about thirty-six persons, and drove them from before their gates to Shebarim, and defeated them at Morad, so that the heart of the people melted and became like water.

Joshua's Anguish over the Defeat.

Joshua consequently tore his robes, 6 and fell upon his face to the earth before the Ark of the EVER-LIVING, until the dusk,—he and the judges of Israel also threw dust on their heads. And Joshua exclaimed; 7 "Ah! LORD OF LIFE! Why have You brought the People over the Jordan to give us to the hand of the Amorites to destroy us, when we would have been content to remain on the other side of the torrent? For myself, ALMIGHTY, what can 8 I say when Israel turns to flight before its enemies? When all the 9 Canaanites and the population of the country hear it, and surround us, and cut off our name from the earth? Who will then make Your Name great?"

(B.C. 1451.) The Cause of Defeat revealed.

But the EVER-LIVING replied to 10 Joshua; "Arouse yourself! Why are you fallen on your face? Israel 11 has sinned, and has broken the covenant I commanded them, and have taken from the devoted property, and plundered it, and hidden it, and put it amongst the baggage!

12 Therefore the sons of Israel were not able to stand before their enemies;—they fled before the faces of their enemies,—because there is sacred property with them. Let it not continue with them, if they would not be destroyed by the sacred property amongst you. Arise! Sanctify the People! and say, 'Sanctify yourselves for to-morrow; for thus says the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel! "There is sacred property in your breast, Israel! You will not be able to stand before your enemies, until you have cast out the sacred things from your breast!"' Therefore let them approach in the morning by tribes, and families. And the tribe that is intercepted by the EVER-LIVING, let it approach by families; and the family that is intercepted by the EVER-LIVING, let it approach by houses; and the house that is intercepted by the EVER-LIVING,

15 let it approach by individuals, and he who is intercepted shall be burnt in fire, with all belonging to him, for he has broken the covenant of the EVER-LIVING; and whoever has done it shall be destroyed from Israel."

Seeking the Rebel.

16 Joshua accordingly arose at day-break, and Israel marched past by its tribes, and the tribe of Judah was intercepted.

17 Then the families of Judah approached, and the families of the Zarakhites were intercepted; then the family of Zarakh approached by houses, and Zabdi was intercepted;

18 then the house of Zabdi approached by individuals, and Akan, the son of Karmi, the son of Zabdi, the son of Zarakh, of the tribe of Judah, was intercepted.

19 Joshua then said to Akan;—"My son, return thanks now to the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel! and giving thanks to Him, confess, I pray, to me what you have done?—hide it not from me."

Akan the Rebel confesses.

20 So Akan answered Joshua and said, "I have certainly sinned against the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel! and I have done like this,—and like this,

—when I saw a cloak of Shinar peculiarly beautiful, and two hundred shekels of silver, and a wedge of gold of fifty shekels weight, I desired and took them, and hid them in a box in my tent, and the silver is in it."

Joshua therefore sent messengers 22 who ran to the tent, and saw the box in the tent and the money in it; so they took it from within the tent and brought it to Joshua, and to all the sons of Israel, and they poured it out before the EVER-LIVING. Then 24 Joshua took Akan the son of Zarakh, and the money, and cloak, and the wedge of gold, and his sons and daughters, and his cattle and asses, and his sheep, and his tent, and all that he had, and all the forces of Israel with him took them to the valley of Sorrow,¹ where Joshua said, "Why, to our sorrow, did 25 you grieve the EVER-LIVING at this time?" Then all Israel slew them with stones, and burnt them with fire, and covered them up with stones, and piled upon them 26 a great heap of stones to this day. Thus the EVER-LIVING turned away His anger; therefore they call the name of that place, the Vale of Sorrow, to the present time.

(B.C. 1451.) Joshua assails Ai with his whole Forces.

Then the EVER-LIVING said to 8 Joshua, "Fear not! and do not delay to take all the forces with you to the war, but advance upon Ai, for I will give the king of Ai to your hand, with his people and city and land, when you shall do to Ai and 2 her king, as you did to Jeriko and her king; except that you may plunder the booty for yourselves.—Place an ambush behind the town."

Joshua and all the forces conse- 3 quently advanced to the war, ascending to Ai. Joshua, however, selected thirty thousand men, the best of the army, and sent them by night, instructing them thus;—"Be careful to lie in ambush behind the town, not very far from the city. And all of you be steady. While I and the 5 main body of the forces with me will advance to the town, and when they come to oppose us, as formerly, we will retreat before them, so that 6

¹ In Heb., Akar.—F. F.

they may follow after us till we separate them from the city. For they will say 'We are driving them before us, as we formerly drove them before us.' Then you must rise up from the ambush, and rush into the town;—for your EVER-LIVING GOD will give it to your hand. But when you have seized the place, set the city on fire, as the EVER-LIVING commands you to do.—Mind, I have instructed you!"

9 Joshua despatched them thus, and they went to the ambuscade, and halted there between Bethel and Ai, to the west of Ai, but Joshua remained that night in the midst of the forces.

10 Joshua, however, arose at day-break and brigaded the army, and he and the officers of Israel advanced against Ai, and the whole body of the army that was with him advanced, and approached, and came near to the city, to assail Ai from the north. Now there was a valley between them and Ai.

12 He had previously taken about five thousand men, and placed them in ambush between Bethel and Ai on the west of the town. Thus the main body of the army rested on the north of the town, with its ambuscade at the west of the city, whilst Joshua marched by night through the valley.

14 But when the king of Ai perceived it, he hastened and arose, and the man came out of Ai to oppose Israel in battle with all his forces in the open plain. But he knew not of the ambush behind the city. Joshua and his Israelite army, however, retreated before them, and retired towards the desert. Then all the people who were in the town shouted to run after them;—so they ran after Joshua, and separated themselves from the city, and there was not a man left in Ai and Bethel, who did not go out after Israel; thus they left the city unguarded to chase after Israel.

18 Then the EVER-LIVING said to Joshua; "Extend the javelin that is in your hand towards Ai, for I will give it into your power." So Joshua extended the javelin which was in his hand to the city, and the ambush arose immediately from its place, and ran with outstretched hand to the town, and captured it, and instantly fired the city. Then the men of Ai turned and looked, and saw the smoke go up from the city to the sky, and that there was no direction in which they could fly, one way or the other; so our forces, retreating to the desert, turned from their retreat,—when Joshua and the Israelite army saw that the ambuscaders had captured the city, because the smoke went up from the town,—they turned and charged on to the men of Ai, and the others came out from the city to attack them. Thus they were with Israel on both sides, front and rear, and they fought until only a remnant fled and escaped. But the king of Ai was taken alive and brought to Joshua, and when Israel had finished slaying all the people of Ai in the field of the desert to which they had fled, and all had fallen to death by the edge of the sword—the army of Israel turned back to Ai, and struck it with the edge of the sword; and the number who fell on that day, of men and women, were twelve thousand,—all people of Ai,—for Joshua did not withdraw his hand with the extended javelin until they had destroyed all the population of Ai. However the cattle and the furniture of the town Israel plundered for themselves, as the EVER-LIVING had said, when He instructed Joshua. Joshua also burnt Ai, and made it a ruin for ever, (as it is to this day),¹ and he hung the king of Ai on a tree until the dusk. But when the sun went down Joshua commanded and they lowered the corpse from the tree, and laid it at the open gate of the city, and piled upon it a great heap of stones. (They remain to this day).¹

Joshua builds an Altar upon Mount Ebal.

Afterwards Joshua built an altar to the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel on Mount Ebal, as Moses the servant of the EVER-LIVING commanded the children of Israel, and such as Moses described in the Book of the Law for the children of Israel, of Whole Stones, to which no chisel had been applied, and he offered upon it a Burnt Offering to the EVER-LIVING, and sacrificed a Thankoffering. He also carved upon the stones there a copy of the Law of Moses, which he wrote for the sons of Israel.

¹ The words in brackets are an editor's notes.—F. F.

- 33 Then the army of Israel, and the senators, and officers, and judges stood on each side of the Ark, next to the priests and Levites, who carried the Ark of the Covenant of the LORD, together with the foreigners and natives, on Mount Gherizim, and half on Mount Ebal, as Moses the servant of the EVER-LIVING commanded, to bless the Nation of Israel at the start. After that he read the whole of the Law of Blessing and Cursing, with all that was written in the Book of the Law. There was not a word of all that Moses commanded which Joshua did not read before all the Parliament of Israel, with the men and children, and the foreigners who marched with them.

(B.C. 1451.) All the Kings of Canaan make Alliance to fight Israel.

- 9 When all the kings who were beyond the Jordan, in the hills, and on the slopes, and on the shore of the Great Sea opposite Lebanon,—of the Hitites, and the Amorites, the Canaanites, the Perizites, Hivites, and the Jebusites, — heard it, they allied together for war with Joshua and Israel.

The People of Gibeon make a Treaty of Peace.

- 3 The inhabitants of Gibeon, also, heard what Joshua had done to 4 Jeriko and Ai, but they acted with cunning, and went and took worn saddles on their asses, and old wineskins broken and patched, and old patched shoes on their feet, and worn clothes upon them, and all their bread and provisions were mouldy. 6 They came thus to Joshua in the camp at Gilgal, and said to him and to the princes of Israel: "We have come from a distant country, and wish you to make a treaty with us." 7 But the Leader of Israel replied, "Do you reside amongst the Hivites? If so I cannot make a treaty with you!" 8 They, however, answered Joshua, "We are your servants." When Joshua enquired "Who are you? and whence do you come?" 9 they answered, "Your servants come from a very distant country to the Name of your EVER-LIVING GOD; for we have heard what He has done, —all that He did in Mitzeraim;¹ and all that He did to the two kings 10 of the Amorites who were beyond the Jordan,—to Sihon king of Heshbon, and to Og king of Bashan, who was in Ashtaroth,—so all the chiefs 11 and people of our country commanded us to take provisions for our journey, and go to meet you, and say; 'We are your servants, therefore make a treaty with us.' We 12 consequently prepared new biscuits at our homes on the day we began to travel to you,—and now, see, they are bad and mouldy! And these wine- 13 skins were new when we filled them, and now they are broken! And these clothes and shoes of ours are worn out from the great length of the journey." So they accepted the men 14 from their provisions, and did not enquire of the mouth of the EVER-LIVING. Joshua therefore made 15 peace with them, and concluded a treaty to preserve their lives, and the chiefs of the Parliament swore it to them. But at the end of the three 16 days after they had made the treaty with them, they learnt they were neighbours, who resided in the vicinity! For the children of Israel 17 marched and came to their towns on the third day,—the villages of Gibeon —Kaphirah, and Baroth, and Kirzath of the Woods, but the sons of Israel 18 did not strike them, because the Lords of Parliament had sworn to them by the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel.

The Public condemn the Parliament for the Treaty with Gibeon.

All the public, however, complained 19 of these lords. But they replied, "All we, the Lords of the Parliament, swore to them by the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel, so you cannot now injure them.—Do this, however, and let 20 them live, that there may not be anger upon us because of the oath which we have sworn to them." The lords 21 therefore said to them, "You shall live; but you shall be hewers of wood and drawers of water to all the Parliament, as the lords promised you."

¹ Egypt.—F. F.

Joshua confirms the Treaty on Conditions.

- 22 Joshua consequently summoned them, and addressed them thus, "Why did you deceive us, asserting, 'We are from a very great distance,' when you reside in the vicinity?"
- 23 However since you have deceived, and the result cannot be taken from you, you shall be hewers of wood and drawers of water to the House of the EVER-LIVING."
- 24 They, however, answered Joshua and said; "Because it was clear to your servants that your EVER-LIVING GOD had promised to His servant Moses to give all this country to you, and to destroy all the inhabitants of the land before you, we feared greatly for our lives in your presence, therefore we did this. And now we are in your hand for good, do with us what is right in your eyes to do."
- 26 So he showed kindness to them, and protected them from the hands of the children of Israel, that they
- 27 should not kill them. But Joshua gave them at the same time to be hewers of wood and drawers of water for the Parliament, and for the altar of the EVER-LIVING, to this day, at the place which might be chosen.

(B.C. 1451.) Adon-i-Zedik, King of Jerusalem, forms an Alliance to resist Israel.

- 10 But when Adon-i-Zedik, king of Jerusalem, heard that Joshua had captured Ai, and had burnt it, and as he had done to Jeriko and her king, so he had done to Ai and her king, and that the inhabitants of Gibeon had made peace with the children of Israel as they were approaching them, he feared much, for Gibeon was a great city, like one of the Capital Cities, because it was larger than Ai, and all its leaders were
- 3 brave. Adon-i-Zedik, the king of Jerusalem, consequently sent to Hohani, king of Hebron, and to Piram, king of Yarmath, and to Yaphia, king of Lakish, and to Debir,
- 4 king of Aglan, saying;—"Come to me and help me, and we will attack Gibeon, for it has made peace with Joshua and the children of Israel."
- 5 They assembled in consequence. And the five kings of the Amorites,—the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Yarmath, the king of Lakish, the king of Aglan,—they, and all their forces,—encamped against Gibeon, and made war upon it. But the men of Gibeon 6 sent to Joshua at the camp in Gilgal, saying;—"Drop not your hands from your servants. Come immediately to us, to save us, and help us, for all the kings of the Amorites in the hills have collected against us."

Joshua advances to attack Adon-i-Zedik.

So Joshua ascended from Gilgal, 7 he and all the army with him, and all the generals of the forces.

The EVER-LIVING also said to 8 Joshua, "Fear not for them, for I have given them into your hand. Not a man shall stand before you!" So Joshua came upon them suddenly, 9 marching all night from Gilgal, and 10 the EVER-LIVING defeated them before Israel, and routed them with a great rout from Gibeon, and pursued them towards the ascent of Beth-Horan, and defeated them at Azraka, and at Makdah. And 11 they fled before Israel in the plain of Beth-horon, the EVER-LIVING sent great stones upon them from the skies at Azrakah, and more were killed by the stones that hailed down, than the children of Israel slew with the sword.

Joshua also called to the EVER- 12 LIVING on that day;

"JEHOVAH! give the Amorites to the face of the children of Israel!" and he added,

"Sun! in the eyes of Israel be still at Gibeon,

And Moon! in the valley of Ailan!"

And the sun and moon stood still, 13 Till the nation had mastered its foes!

Is not this recorded in the true Records?—that the sun stood still in the mid sky, and hastened not to set for about a full day? and there 14 has not been such an event before it, or since it, for the EVER-LIVING to listen to the voice of a man. But the EVER-LIVING fought for Israel.

1 V. 13. Or "Book of the Just"; or it would also read, "In the accurate records"—that is, the National Archives. The last clause of verse 13, and all of verses 14 and 15, are an editorial note, of Isaiah or Ezra, his subsequent editor, upon the fact recorded in the National Archives, and quoted just above.—F. F.

15 Joshua and the forces of Israel afterwards returned to the camp at Gilgal.

The Five Kings retreat to a Cave.

16 But those five kings retreated and hid themselves in a cave in Makedah, and it was reported to Joshua "The five kings have been found concealed in a cave in Makidah." So Joshua said "Roll great stones to the mouth of the cave and place a guard of men over it to watch it; but you others stop not following your enemies, and cut off their rear.

"Do not attack their towns, for the EVER-LIVING GOD will give them to your hand."

20 So when Joshua and the sons of Israel had completed the conquest of them by absolute defeat, and the raiders had raided them; then they attacked the fortified cities. And afterwards all the force returned to Joshua at the camp of Makedah in peace, and no man sharpened his tongue against the children of Israel.

22 After that Joshua commanded to open the mouth of the cave, and they did so, and to bring out those five kings from the cave to him. They did so,—and brought the five kings to him—the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Yarmuth, the king of Lakish, the king of Aglan. And when the kings were brought out to Joshua, Joshua summoned all the leaders of Israel, and ordered the commanding Officers of the army to approach and put their feet upon their necks. Joshua also addressed them saying:—"Fear not and let not your courage fail, for the EVER-LIVING will do thus to all your enemies, when you fight with them." And after that Joshua degraded them and hung them on five trees,—and they hung upon the trees until the dusk, but when the time of sunset came, Joshua commanded and they were lowered from the trees, and laid in the cave where they had concealed themselves, and they piled great stones at the mouth of the cave. (They remain to this day.)¹

¹ V. 27. The words in brackets are an ancient editor's note. The reader must not suppose that all the events recorded here happened in twelve hours or so, as the impress left by the old translators leaves on the mind. They would occupy several months, or years, as the country traversed and towns captured cover several hundreds of miles.—F. F.

(B.C. 1451.) Joshua captures Makedah.

At the same period Joshua captured Makedah, and he devoted its territory, and all its population he spared not from ruin, but did to the king of Makedah as he had done to the king of Jeriko.

(B.C. 1451.) Joshua besieges and captures Libnah.

Joshua afterwards advanced with the forces of Israel from Makedah to Libnah and besieged Libnah, and the EVER-LIVING also gave that into the hand of Israel with its territory. And he struck with the edge of the sword all the persons in it. He did not reserve it from plunder, and did to its king as he had done to the king of Jeriko.

(B.C. 1451.) Lakish Besieged and Captured.

Joshua next advanced, and the forces of Israel with him, from Libnah to Lakish, and encamped against, and besieged it; and the EVER-LIVING gave Lakish into the power of Israel, and they captured it on the second day, and gave no quarter to the people in it, exactly as to Libnah.

Horam advancing to help Lakish is Defeated.

At this period Horam the king of Ghezar advanced to help Lakish, but Joshua defeated him, and the people with him, until nothing but a wreck was left.

(B.C. 1450.) Aglan Besieged and Captured.

Joshua, and the army of Israel with him, next advanced from Lakish to Aglan, and encamped against, and assaulted, and captured it at once, and gave no quarter to all the men in it. At the same time he devoted them as he had done to Lakish.

(B.C. 1450.) Hebron Besieged and Taken.

Afterwards Joshua, and the forces of Israel with him, marched from Aglan to Hebron, and besieged, and 37 captured it, and gave no quarter to all the garrison in it,—he did not reserve it from ruin,—exactly as he had done to Aglan,—but devoted it and all the garrison in it.

(B.C. 1449.) Dibrah Besieged and Taken.

38 Next Joshua and all the Israelite forces with him turned towards 39 Dibrah, and besieged it, and captured it, and its territory, and all its towns, and gave no quarter, but devoted all the garrison who held it. They did not refrain from plunder. They did to Dibrah as they did to Hebron and her king, and as they had done to Libnah and its king.

(B.C. 1448.) The Highlands Conquered.

40 Joshua afterwards subjected all the country of the hills, and the desert, and the plains, and the farming country, and all their kings. He did not refrain from plunder, but he devoted all the animals, as the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel ordered.

(B.C. 1447.) Joshua in a Campaign conquers Kadish-Barna and Goshenland.

41 Joshua afterwards subdued from Kadish-Barna to Gazah, and all the land of Ghosheh, as far as Gibeon, 42 and all its districts, and the country around them, in one campaign, because the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel fought for Israel.

43 Joshua afterwards returned with all the Israelite force to the camp at Gilgal.

(B.C. 1446.) North Palestine unites against Israel.

11 But when Jabin the king of Tzor heard it, he sent to Yobab, king of Madon, and the king of Shrimron,
2 and the king of Akshaf, and the kings who were to the north in the hills, and in the pastures, to the south of Kineroth, and in the grass-lands, and
3 in the marshes about the lake; the Cananites of the east, and the west, and the Amorites, and the Hitites, and the Perizites, and the Jebusites, in the Hill, and the Hivites below Hermon, in the land of Mizphah,— 4 who came and all their camps with them, a great army like the sand on the shore of the sea for number, with very many horses and chariots. So all these kings appointed a rendezvous, and came and encamped together at the Lake of Merom to fight with Israel.

(B.C. 1446.)

Then the EVER-LIVING said to 6 Joshua, "Fear not for their presence, for by to-morrow at this time I will give them to be broken before Israel. Hamstring their horses, and burn their chariots with fire."

(B.C. 1446.) Joshua advances against the Northern Confederacy.

Then Joshua rapidly advanced and 7 all the forces of the people with him to the Lake of Merom, and fell upon them, and the EVER-LIVING gave 8 them to the hand of Israel, who defeated, and pursued them at Zidon the Great, and on the shore of the sea, and at the gorge of Mizpha on the east, where he defeated them until only a wreck was left. And 9 Joshua did to them as the EVER-LIVING commanded him; he hamstringing their horses and burnt their chariots with fire.

(B.C. 1445.) Joshua captures Tzor (Tyre) the Suzerain of the Northern Chiefdoms.

Joshua also turned in this cam- 10 paign and captured Tzor and conquered its king by the sword, for Tzor was before that the head of all these chiefdoms. Therefore he gave 11 no quarter to its garrison, he devoted all to the edge of the sword, he left not a breath, but burnt Tzor with fire. And all the chiefdoms and all 12 the districts around it Joshua captured, and subdued them by the sword, devoting them as Moses the servant of the EVER-LIVING commanded. But the plunder of all 13 these towns, and the cattle, the 14 children of Israel looted for themselves, except that they put the men to the sword to destroy them. There remained none breathing. As the 15 EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses His servant, so Moses commanded to Joshua,—and so Joshua did. He did not reject a word that the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses. Con- 16 sequently Joshua obtained possession

- of all the country of the hills, and all the south, and all the land of Goshen, and the slopes, and the desert, and the hill of Israel with its slopes, from the border hills to the ascent of Sair, and from Bal-gad, to the gorge of Lebanon below the hill of Hermon, he captured and completely subdued the whole of their territories. Joshua was a long period making war against those districts. No city came peaceably to the children of Israel except the Hivites who inhabited Gibeon. The rest were taken by war. But this was from the EVER-LIVING, Who emboldened their hearts to oppose Israel in war to devote them, so that they might not find mercy, for they were to be destroyed, as the EVER-LIVING commanded Moses.
- 21 About the same period Joshua went and conquered the Anakim in the Highlands, in Hebron, in Debir, in Anab, and in all the Highlands of Judah, and all the Highlands of Israel—Joshua devoted them with their cities. He left none of the Anakim in the country of the children of Israel, except they were left in Azah, in Gath and Ashdod. Thus Joshua took possession, in the way the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses. After which Joshua allotted to Israel the districts for their tribes, and the country rested from war.

(B.C. 1451 to 1444.) Lists of the Conquests of Joshua and Moses.

- 12 Now these are the kingdoms of the country which the children of Israel conquered, and seized their territories, on the other side of Jordan towards the rising sun.—From the river Arnon to Mount Hermon, and all the pastures to the east.
- 2 Sihon, king of the Amorites, who resided in Heshbon, ruling from Aroar, which is on the banks of the river Arnon, and on an island in the river, and half of Gilead, as far as the river Yabok which river bounds the Amonites to the pastures on the Lake of Kinneroth towards the east, and to the Lake of the Pastures, the Salt Lake, easterly, as far as Yashimoth and Bethiman, below the torrents of Pisgah.
- 4 And the boundaries of Og king of Bashan were, from the border of the Rephaim, who resided in Ashteroth and Adrai, who ruled in Mount
- 5

Hermon, and in Salkah, and in all Bashan to the boundaries of the Ghesurites, and the Makathi, and the half of Gilead: to the bounds of Sihon king of Heshbon.

Moses the servant of the EVER-LIVING, and the children of Israel conquered them, and Moses the servant of the EVER-LIVING gave them into the possession of the Reubenites, and Gadites, and the half tribe of Manasseh.

(B.C. 1451 to 1445.) Joshua's Conquest West of Jordan.

These, however, are the kingdoms 7 of the country which Joshua and the children of Israel conquered on the west side of the Jordan, from Bal-gad to the gorges of the Lebanon, and to the Boundary Hills of the ascent to Sair, and which Joshua gave to the tribes of Israel to possess in their divisions, on the hills, and the slopes, 8 and on the pastures, and in the prairies, and in the desert, and in dry-lands;—the Hitites, the Amorites, the Cananites, the Perizites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites.

- The king of Jeriko, one. 9
- The king of Ai, who resided in Bethel, one. 10
- The king of Jerusalem, one.
- The king of Hebron, one.
- The king of Yarmath, one. 11
- The king of Lakish, one.
- The king of Aglan, one. 12
- The king of Gezer, one.
- The king of Debir, one. 13
- The king of Gader, one.
- The king of Harmah, one. 14
- The king of Arad, one.
- The king of Libnah, one. 15
- The king of Adiam, one.
- The king of Makdah, one. 16
- The king of Bethel, one.
- The king of Taphokh, one. 17
- The king of Khephir, one.
- The king of Aphak, one. 18
- The king of Lashron, one.
- The king of Madon, one. 19
- The king of Khatzer, one.
- The king of Shimron-Merom, one. 20
- The king of Anshaf, one.
- The king of Akah, one. 21
- The king of Megido, one.
- The king of Kadesh, one. 22
- The king of Yaknan in Carmel, one.
- The king of Dor in Nafath-dor, 23 one.

The king of the nations in Gilgal, one.

- 24 The king of Thirzah, one.
All the kings were thirty-one.

(B. C. 1420.)

- 13 But Joshua grew old and advanced in days, when the EVER-LIVING said to him—

"You are old and advanced in days, and the remainder of the country to be conquered is very large, that is the country of Nashareth, all Galilee, the Philistines, and all the Ghesurites, from the Nile¹ which bounds the Mitzeraim, and from thence as far as the borders of Akron northward, belonging to the Cananites; with the five lordships of the Philistines, the Azathir, the Ashdodi, the Ashkaloni, the Gathi, the Akrani, and the Airi, on the south. All the country of the Canani and Marah, near Zidon, to Afak on the borders of the Amori, with the district of the Ghibli, and all eastern Lebanon toward sunrise;—from Bal-gad below Mount Hermon to the pass of Hamath; all the regions of the highlands from Lebanon to the shores of the sea,—and all the Zidonians,—whom I will drive out before the face of the children of Israel;—therefore assign to Israel their allotments as I command you. Consequently divide this country into districts, for the nine and a half tribes to possess, because the Reubenites and the Gadites took their districts, which Moses gave them over the Jordan eastward."

- Moses the servant of the EVER-LIVING fixed for them, from Aroar, that is on the bank of the river Arnon, and the town in the middle of the river, and all the plain of Midba to Diban, with all the towns of Sihon king of the Amorites, who was king in Heshbon to the border of the Beni-Aman; with Gilad and the borders of the Gergushites, and the Makathites, and the Hill of Hermon, and all Heshbon, to Salcah: All the territories of Og in Bashan, who was king in Ashtaroth and Adrai,² with

¹ Ch. 13, v. 3. The Hebrew name for the Nile was "Shikhor" = Black-water. The name Nile means in Arabic "Dark-blue," an equivalent description.—F. F.

² ("That is Mashir") is an old commentator's note, inserting the then modern names for the older one.—F. F.

the remains of the Rephaim, which Moses subdued and seized:¹

Moses also gave to the tribe of 15 Reuben by their families; and their 16 boundary was from Aroar, which is on the bank of the river Arnon, and the town that is in the middle of the river, and all the plain to Midba. Heshbon and all the villages that 17 are in the plain; Dibon and Bamoth-Bal, and Beth-Bal, and the Inner, with 18 Zahtzah, and Kadmoth, and Mephath; with Kirzathaim, and Sibma, and all 19 the districts of Sihon king of the 20 Amorites, who reigned in Heshbon, 21 whom Moses executed with the princes of Midian,—Air, and Rekem, and Tzur, and Khor, and Reba lords of Sihon, residents in the country, and Bilam the son of Beor, the 22 Diviner, whom the children of Israel slew with the sword for cursing them.

These were the boundaries of the 23 sons of Reuben. They began at the Jordan, which completed the boundary of the allotments of the sons of Reuben for their families,—in their towns and in their suburbs.

Moses also gave to the tribe of Gad, 24 —the sons of Gad,—for their families. And their boundary was Jazer, and 25 all the towns of Gilad, and half the country of the children of Amon to Aroar, which is opposite Rabah; and 26 from Heshbon to Ramath, to Mizpha and Betonim, and from Makhanim to the boundary at Debir; then from 27 the vale of Beth-aram, and Beth-minrah, and Sukoth, and North Zather, from the districts of Sihon king of Heshbon, to the Jordan, and the boundary ended at the Lake of Kineroth, on the eastward beyond the Jordan.

This was the district of the sons of 28 Gad for their families. With the villages and their suburbs.

Moses also gave to the half tribe 29 of Manasseh, for the families of the half tribe of the sons of Manasseh. And their boundaries were from 30 Makhanim to Bashan, all the king-

¹ Ch. 13, v. 13. (But the children of 13 Israel did not seize the Gheshuri, and the Makathi, but they reside in Ghesbur and Makathi, in the breast of Israel to this day. The tribe of Levi were not given a portion,—the EVER-LIVING God of Israel is their Portion as He said to them.)

Vv. 13, 14, are a note of some editor, probably Ezra or Nehemiah. I, therefore, put them as a note at the foot of the page.—F. F.

- dom of Og king of Bashan, with all the villages on the river which is in 31 Bashan,—sixty towns; with the half of Gilad, and Ashteroth, and Adrai, villages of the kingdom of Og in Bashan, to the sons of Makir, the son of Manasseh,—for division to the sons of Makir for their families.
 32 This was the district of Manasseh from Arboth of Moab beyond the Jordan, eastward of Jeriko.
 33 But to the tribe of Levi Moses gave no portion;—the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel is their Portion, as He said to them.

(B.C. 1430.)

- 14 But these are the portions of the children of Israel which were allotted to them by Aliazer the priest, and Joshua the son of Nun, and the chiefs of the tribes of the children of Israel.
 2 They assigned them by lot, as the EVER-LIVING commanded by the medium of Moses, to the nine and a half tribes, because Moses had given portions to two and a half tribes beyond the Jordan, and to the Levites no portion was given amongst them. The sons of Joseph, however, were two tribes, Manasseh and Ephraim, but no portion was given to the Levites in their country, except towns for residence, and pastures for their cattle. As the EVER-LIVING commanded Moses, the children of Israel did, when they divided the country.

(B.C. 1426.) Kaleb Demands Hebron as given him by Moses.

- 6 The sons of Judah, however, approached Joshua in Gilgal, and Kaleb the son of Jefonneh the Kenezite said to him, "Probably you will remember the word which the EVER-LIVING spoke to Moses the Man of GOD about you and myself at Kadesh-barnea. I was forty years old when Moses the servant of the EVER-LIVING sent me from Kadesh-barnea to spy the country, and I brought him back a report such as was in my heart. But my companions who went with me melted the heart of the People, whilst I was strong for my EVER-LIVING GOD. So Moses swore in that day saying;—'The country that you have been to survey shall be your estate, and your children's for ever, for you are full after the EVER-LIVING GOD.' And now, look! as JEHOVAH lives with me, 10 since that word was spoken, it is forty-five years from the time the EVER-LIVING commanded that promise by Moses, while Israel wandered in the desert. So look now, I am today eighty-five years old,—yet I am 11 to-day as strong as on the day Moses sent me out. I am strong yet, and as bold now for war, both to march out and to return again. Therefore give 12 to me that highland that the EVER-LIVING promised at that time,—for the Anakim are there and have great fortified cities. If the EVER-LIVING is with me, then He will drive them out, as the EVER-LIVING promised."

So Joshua blessed him, and gave to 13 Kaleb the son of Jefonneh Hebron as an estate; consequently Hebron 14 has belonged to Kaleb the son of Jefonneh, the Kenezite, as his portion to this day, because he was full after the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel.¹

The country then was quiet from 15 war.

And the boundary of the tribe of 15 Judah for their families was from the border of Eden,—from the desert of Zin on the south, to the limits of Thiman; and their southern border 2 ran from the side of the Salt Sea, on the bay running south of the ascent of Akra bin, and passing over at Tzin, 3 and ascending from the south to Kadesh-barnea, then passing from Khatzehon, and ascending to Ader, where it turned to Karkah; thence 4 passing to Alzman and ascending the river of Mitzeraim, and the termination of the boundary is at the sea. This is their southern boundary.

But the eastern boundary is the 5 Salt Lake to the mouth of the Jordan; and the boundary on the north side is from the bay of that lake at the mouth of the Jordan, where the 6 border ascends to Beth-Khaglah, and passes on the north of Beth-arba, where the boundary ascends to Abenbahn of the Beni-Reuben. Thence the boundary ascends to 7 Debir, from the vale of Akor, and to the northward to Gilgal, where it touches the ascent of Admin, which is to the south of the river; whence the border passes to the brook of the Sun-well,¹ and its termination is at the Spies-well. Thence the boundary ascends by the vale of Ben-hinom to the cliff of the Jebusites which is south of Jerusalem, whence the line ascends to the top of the hill which is opposite the vale of Hinom, westward, which is the boundary of the 9 Rephaim, northwards. Then the line is drawn from the top of the hill to the source of the brook Nefthokh, and goes to the village of Mount Afron, where the boundary ascends 10 to Krith-Jarim, where the line turns from the ascent westwards to Mount Sair, and passes the cliff of Mount Jarim from the north to Kisalón and descends to Beth-shemesh, and passes 11 to Tbinnah. Then the boundary comes to the cliff of Akron on the north, and the line draws on to Shrikron, and passes the Hill of Balah, and comes to Jabnal, which is the termination of the boundary on 12 the west. But the western boundary is the Great Sea. This is the boundary of the sons of Judah, including their families.

¹ Ch. 14, v. 15. ("But the name of Hebron was formerly Krith-arba,—it was the land of the Great Anakim.")

This is a note, probably of Ezra, not part of the original text.—F. F.

(B. C. 1426.)

13 But to Kaleb the son of Jefunneh an estate was given amongst the sons of Judah, by command of the EVER-LIVING to Joshua, of the four cities of Ani the Anak,²—and Kaleb 14 drove out from there the three sons of Anak, Shishi and Akhiman, and Thalmi,—the descendants of Anak. 15 Then he descended from there to the 16 people of Debir,³ where Kaleb said, "Whoever conquers Krith-sefer and captures it, I will give him Aksah my 17 daughter for a wife." And Athnial the son of Kenez, the brother of Kaleb, captured it, and he gave him 18 Aksah his daughter as a wife. But when she came he persuaded her to ask her father for a farm; so she dismounted from her ass,—when 19 Kaleb asked her "What is it?" And she replied, "Give me a blessing with the southern land you have given me;—give me springs of water." He therefore gave her the upper springs and lower springs.

These are the possessions of the 20 sons of Judah, for their families.

These villages were on the borders 21 of the tribe of the children of Judah on the border of Edom towards the south: Kebzal and Adar, and Jagir; and Kinah, and Dimonah, and Adadah, and Kadesh, and Khatzor, 22 Ithran; Zuf, and Telem, and Baloth; 23 Khatzer and Khadathah, and Kiriath, 24 —Khatzron¹; Amam, and Shima, and 25 Molda, and Khatzer-Gadah, and 26 Khashman and Bethfalit; and Khatzer the lower, and Bar-Sbeba, and Biziothiah; Balah, and Azim, and 27 Atzam; and Altholad, and Kesil, 30 and Kharmah; and Ziklag, and 31 Madmanah, and Sinsanah; and 32 Libanth and Shilkhim, and Ain, and Rimón, Kal-admah, Asrim, and Thisha, and Khatzihan; Bashfilah, 33 Ashthaul, and Tzurah, and Ashuah; and Zinekh, and Ani-baním, Thafokh, 34 and Ainam; Jarmoth and Adlam, 35 Sokah, and Azkah; and Sharim, 36 and Arithaim, and Gadrah, and Gadothaim, fourteen towns, and Khazriben; Tzinan, and Khardashah 37 and Migdal-Gad, and Dilan, and 38 Mitzpha, and Zakthal; Lakish, and 39 Batzkath, and Aglon; and Kabon, 40 and Lakhmas, and Kithlish; and 41 Gaderoth, Beth-dagon, and Namah, and Makedah, sixteen towns and 42 villages; Libnah, and Athar and 43 Ashan; and Jafthakh, and Ashna, 44 and Netzib; and Kailaph, Aktzite, 45 and Marashah, nine towns and 46 villages; Akron and its daughters and villages. From Akron and west- 47 ward all that is about Ashdod, and its villages. Ashdod and its daugh- 48 ters and villages; Azah, and its daughters and villages to the river of Mitzeraim, and the shore of the Great Sea; and in the highlands 48 Shamir, and Jether, and Sokah; Danab, and Kiriah-sana,² and Anab, 49

¹ ("Which is Khatzer.") The bracketed words are an old editor's note.—F. F.

² Ch. 15, vv. 48-60. All the following bracketed explanations are later editorial notes. Therefore I remove them from the text to the page foot, their proper place.—F. F.

("Which is Debir.")
("Which is Hebron.")
("Which is Krith-Jarim.")

¹ Ain-Shemsh.—F. F.

² V. 14. ("Which is Hebron.") These words are a very ancient editorial note, probably by Ezra.—F. F.

³ V. 15. ("But the name of Debir was formerly Krith-sefir.") These words are a very ancient editorial note, probably by Ezra.—F. F.

50 and Ashtenah, and Anim, and 51 Ghoshen, and Kholon, and Ghilah, —eleven towns and their villages.
 52 Arad and Dinnah, and Ashon, and Janum, and Beth-tafoklia, and Afa-
 53 kah; and Khumtah, and Kiriath-54 arba,¹ and Tzair. Nine towns with 55 their villages; Inner Carmel, and 56 Zif, and Yotah, and Izraal, and 57 Jakdom, and Zanokh; Hakin, Ghibah, and Thimna, ten towns with their 58 villages. Khalkul, Beth-tzur, and 59 Ghider, and Marth, and Beth-Anoth, and Althekon,—six towns and their 60 villages. Krith-bal,¹ and Arbah,— two towns and their villages.
 61 In the Wilderness, Beth-arbah,
 62 Midin, and Skakah; and Nibshan, 63 and Air-amalakh, and Ain-ghedi. But the Jebusi continued in Jerusalem.
 The children of Judah were not able to expel them; so the Jebusi continue to reside amongst the sons of Judah in Jerusalem to this time.
 16 The lot for the sons of Joseph came from the Jordan at Jeriko.
 From the east of the brook of Jeriko in the desert, it ascended from 2 Jeriko to the Hill of Bethel; then went from Bethel to Luz, where the boundary passed as far as Ataroth, 3 where the boundary descended westward towards Zafleti to the border of Beth-horon the lower, and then to Ghezer, and that was its termination
 4 to the west, and the sons of Joseph,
 Manasseh and Ephraim, inherited it.
 5 But there was a boundary for the sons of Ephraim with their families; and the limit of their portion from the east was Ataroth-Ader, to Beth-6 horon the upper, and the boundary went towards the west to Mikina-thath; from Tzefon, where the line turned eastward to Thanath-shiloh, 7 and passed from it to Janokha, and descended from Janokha to Ataroth, and Naratha, and Faga, to Jeriko, 8 and arrived at the Jordan. From Thafokha, the boundary went west of the river Kana, and its termination was west of this river for the tribe of the sons of Ephraim with 9 their families. ¹⁰ These towns were assigned to the sons of Ephraim amongst the portion of the sons of Manasseh,—all the towns with their 10 villages. They did not, however, expel the Cananites who dwelt in Ghezer, consequently the Cananites

¹ See note (A), p. 16, col. 2.

reside among Ephraim to this time,
 and they are tributaries.¹

But the bounds of the tribe of 17
 Manasseh, who was the first-born son of Joseph, were: To Makir, the elder son of Manasseh, the father of Gilad, who was a great general, was given Gilad and Bashan, and to the 2 other sons of Manasseh with their families.—To the sons of Aliazer and the sons of Kholek, and the sons of Asrail, and the sons of Shekem, and the sons of Khefer, and the sons of Shemida, the sons of Manasseh, the son of Joseph the Great, with their families.

(B C. 1444.) Tzilakhdad's Heiresses given Estates as if they were Sons.

And Tzilakhdad the son of Khifir, 3
 the son of Gilad, the son of Makir, the son of Manasseh, had no sons, but only daughters. The names of his daughters were Makha and Noah, Khagla, Milka, and Thirza, who 4 approached the presence of Aliazer the priest, and the presence of Joshua the son of Nun, and the presence of the princes, saying:
 "The EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses to give us an estate amongst our relatives," consequently they gave them an estate amongst the relatives of their father.

But there fell ten districts to 5
 Manasseh, beside those in the land of Gilad and Bashan, which are beyond the Jordan; for the daughters 6 of Manasseh inherited an estate amongst the sons, but the land of Gilad came to the other sons of Manasseh.

However the bounds of Manasseh 7 were from Mikmethath to opposite Shikem, where the line runs to the right to the hamlets of Ain-Thafokh.
 The district of Thafoka belongs to 8
 Manasseh, and at Thafoka Manasseh and the sons of Ephraim are continuous. Thence the line descends 9 to the river Kanah. South of that river the towns belong to Ephraim amongst the towns of Manasseh.
 There the border of Manasseh runs from the river, and its termination is ¹ Ch. 16, v. 10. This statement of Isalah the historian absolutely refutes the common libel on the Israelites of having massacred the whole population—F. F.

- 10 the lake. On the south is Ephraim's and northward is Manasseh's, and the lake is the boundary, and it is alongside Ashur from the north, 11 and to Issakar on the east. But to Manasseh, and Issakar, and Ashur belonged Bethshon, and her daughters, and Zablan and her daughters, and the people of Dar and her daughters, and the people of Anidor and her daughters, and the people of Anak and her daughters, and the people of Megido and her 12 daughters,—three tablelands. For the sons of Manasseh were unable to seize these towns, so they permitted the Cananites to remain in this 13 district. But the children of Israel were dominant, and they placed the Cananites under tribute, and did not expel them.

(B.C. 1430.) The Tribe of Joseph demand more Extensive Territory.

- 14 The sons of Joseph, however, came to Joshua asking, "Will you only give to us a single district by lot, and a line, for I am a numerous people, since the EVER-LIVING has blessed me so much?"
 15 Joshua answered them, "If you are a numerous people go up to the forest, and acquire for yourself in the country of the Perizites and the Rephaim, since Mount Ephraim is nothing to you."
 16 But the sons of Joseph replied, "We cannot acquire the Highlands, for all the Cananites who retain the tablelands have chariots of iron; as well as the inhabitants of Bethshan, and her daughters, and those in the valley of Jezraal."
 17 Joshua however answered the house of Joseph,—Ephraim and Manasseh—saying: "You are a great people, and have great power; there shall not be another allotment to 18 you. However the highland shall be yours, for it is a forest,—so acquire it. But you must go and expel the Cananites, although they have chariots of iron,—for you are able."

(B.C. 1430.)

- 18 Afterwards all the Parliament of the children of Israel assembled at Shiloh and erected there the Hall of Assembly, for the country had been subjected before them.

(B.C. 1429.) Joshua plans a Complete Conquest of the Country.

But there remained seven tribes of 2 the children of Israel who had not received their districts, so Joshua 3 said to the sons of Israel;—

"Till when will you delay to go and seize the country which the EVER-LIVING GOD of your fathers gave to you? Choose for yourselves 4 three men, princes from each tribe, and I will send them, and they shall go over the country and map it into districts for you, and then come to me. They must divide it into seven 5 portions. Judah has had his bounds fixed from the south, and the house of Joseph has had its bounds fixed from the north. So you must map 6 out the country into seven parts, and come back to me here, and I will draw the lots for you before your EVER-LIVING GOD. However there 7 is no share for the Levites amongst you;—the EVER-LIVING is their share;—and Gad and Reuben and the half tribe of Manasseh have taken their shares beyond the Jordan, to the eastward, which Moses the servant of the EVER-LIVING gave them."

(B.C. 1429.) The Surveyors examine and map out the Unconquered Parts.

The princes then arose and went, 8 and Joshua appointed their routes to map out the country, saying, "Go and travel through the land and map it, and return to me, and then I will throw the lots for you before the EVER-LIVING in Shiloh." The 9 princes thereupon went, and passed over, and mapped out the land with its towns into seven shares on a sheet, and then returned to Joshua to the camp in Shiloh, where Joshua 10 threw the lots for them in Shiloh, before the EVER-LIVING. Thus Joshua divided the country to the children of Israel,—to each a share.

And he threw the lot for the tribe 11 of the sons of Benjamin, with their families; and the lot came fixing them between the sons of Judah 12 and the sons of Joseph. And their boundaries were, on the north side, from the Jordan, whence the line ascended to the cliff of Jeriko on the north, and went up the hill westward, and terminated at the Desert of Beth-aven; and the boundary passed from there to Luz, at the cliff of Luz, southward of Bethel, whence the line descends to Ataroth-adar, upon the hill that is to the south of Beth-horon the Lower. Thence the border extends, and turns to the side of the lake southward from the hill which is opposite Beth-horon the Southern, and terminates at Krith-bal,¹—this is the side towards the Lake. But the southern side is from the bound of Krith-bal,² whence the line goes westerly, and comes to the source of the Brook Nefthokh; thence the border descends the side of the hill which is opposite the valley of Ben-Hinom, where the gully of the Rephaim is, to the north, and descends the vale of Hinom to the cliff of the Jebusi, southward, and runs down to the Well of Roghel, then runs from the north and comes to the Suns Well,³ and goes on to Ghililoth, where it touches the ascent of Admam, and descends to Aben-bahu of the sons of Reuben; where it passes the cliff opposite the Drylands to the north and descends to Arabath, where the border passes the cliff of Beth-khagla to the north, and the terminus of the boundary arrives at the bay of the Salt Lake on the north, by the mouth of the Jordan. This is the south border southerly. But the Jordan bounds it on the eastern side. This was the share of the sons of Benjamin with its boundaries for their families. The towns of the sons of Benjamin for their families were, Jeriko, and Beth-khagla, and Amak-Katzitz, and Beth-arbab, and Zimeraim, and Bethel, and Hairim, and Parah, and Afrah, and Kefir, Amom, Afur, and Gaba,—twelve towns with their villages; Ghiban, and Harmah; and Baroth, and Mitzfah, and Kefrah, and Motzah; and Rekim, and Irfal, and Thiralah; and Tzela, Alef, and Jebusi,⁴ Gibrab, and Krith,—fourteen towns with their villages. This was the share of the sons of Benjamin for their families.

The second lot, however, came out 10 for Simeon:—for the sons of Simeon with their families,—but their share was in the middle of the sons of Judah, and that district ran from 2 Barsheba, and Sheba, and Moladah, and Fort Shoal, and Balah, and Atzem, 3 and Altholah, and Bethul, and Khar-mah, and Tziklag, and Beth-mara-4 bath, and Fort Susah, and Beth-6 libanuth, and Rashokum — thirteen towns with their villages.

Ain, Rimon, and Ather, and Ashan, 7 —four towns with their villages, and 8 all the districts that surrounded the cities, which were Abdulath, Bar, and Ramah to the south. This was the share of the tribe of the sons of Simeon, for their families. The share 9 of the tribe of the sons of Simeon was within the lines of the sons of Judah, for the district of the sons of Judah was too much for them, so the sons of Simeon shared with them.

But the third lot fell to the sons of 10 Zebulon for their families, and the boundary of their district began at Sarid. And these are the boundaries 11 to the westward, Maralah, and Faga on the Hill, and Gefa on the River, which is opposite Zaknon; but it 12 turns from Sarid eastwards, towards the rising sun, at the border of Kis-loth-Thabor, and goes to Dabareth, and the ascent of Jaghia; and from 13 there it passes eastward, towards the sunrise, to Ghith-Khafer, Atha, and Katzin and goes to Rimon, to Mithar, to Nah, where the line rounds from 14 the north of Kanathan, and its terminus is at the valley of Jathfakh-el, and Katath, and Nahlal, and Shim- 15 ron, and Yadulah, and Beth-lilkiam; — twelve towns with their villages. This 16 was the share of the sons of Zebulon, with their families,—these towns and their villages.

The fourth lot came to the sons of 17 Issakar for their families, and its 18 boundaries were, to Izraal, and Kis-loth, and Shonam, and Kafarim, 19 Shiaun, and Anakhrath, and Rabith, 20 and Kishion, and Abetz; Ramath, 21 and Ain-ghinami, and Ain-khadah, and Beth-fatatz; and Faga the 22 Great, by Thabor, and Shakhazta-mah, and Beth-shems; and the 23 terminations of the boundaries were at the Jordan;—sixteen towns and their villages. This was the district of the

¹ V. 14. Bracketed parts are the explanatory notes of an ancient editor.—F. F.

(“Which is Krith-yarhu, a city of the sons of Judah.”)

² Ain-shemsb.

³ Old editor's note, probably Ezra's.

(“That is Jerusalem.”—F. F.)

tribe of the sons of Issakar, for their families, the towns and their villages.

- 24 And the fifth lot came to the tribe of the sons of Ashur, with their families. And the boundaries of the district were:—Khali, and Beten, and Akshaf, and Abualek, and Amad, and Misheal, and Faga in Karmel; towards the west were Bashghor, with her daughters. Then it turned eastward towards the sun by Beth-ghadon, and Faga in Zebulon and by the vale of Jafthakh-al, and Abron and Rekhob, and Khamron, and Kanah, and Zidon the Great. There the boundary turned to Ramah, and Adair, and Mibtzar-tzor, where the line turns to Khosah, and its western terminus is by the line of Akzibah, and Amah, and Afek, and Rekhob;—
- 30 twelve towns with their villages.
- 31 This is the district of the tribe of the sons of Ashur, with their families,—these towns and these villages.
- 32 Then came the sixth lot for the sons of Naphthali:—for the sons of Naphthali with their families; and the boundaries from Khalaf, and Alon, to Tzanarim, and Adim to Nekob, and Zabual, to Lakum, and its terminus was the Jordan. Then the border turned westward to Aznoth-Thaber, and went from there to Khukka with Faga of Zebulon on the south, but Ashur had Faga on the Lake, and with Judah and the Jordan towards the sunrise. And the towns were Mibtzar, Tzadim, Tzor, with Khamath, Rakath, and Kineroth; and Adma, and Romah, and Khatzor, and Kadesh, and Ade-roi, and An-khatzer; and Iraim, and Migdad-al, Kharem, and Beth-anath, and Beth-shemsh;—nineteen towns with their villages.
- 40 The seventh lot came to the tribe of the sons of Dan, with their families, and the boundary of their district was, Tzarah, and Ashthaul, and Airshemsh, and Shabalm, and Ailon, and Zathlali, and Ailan, and Thimnathah, and Akron, and Athlakab, and Ghibethon, and Balath, and Yahd, and Beni-bekr, and Gathrimon, and Mi-Zerkon, and Rakan, to the bound of the cape of Yafo.¹
- 48 This was the district of the tribe of the sons of Dan, for their families,—these towns with their villages.¹

Cb. 19, v. 47—("But the sons of Dan extended beyond this boundary, for the sons of Dan

(B.C. 1428.)

Thus the division of the country ⁴⁹ was completed, with the boundaries, and the children of Israel were given their shares by Joshua the son of Nun, whilst with them.

A Village granted to Joshua.

They gave to him by command of ⁵⁰ the EVER-LIVING the city that is called Thimnath-Serakh on Mount Ephraim, and he built the town and resided in it.

These are the districts which Ali-⁵¹ azer the priest and Joshua the son of Nun assigned, with the chiefs of the tribes of the children of Israel, by lot, at Shiloh, before the EVER-LIVING in the open Hall of Assembly, when they made the division of the country.

(B.C. 1428.)

The EVER-LIVING afterwards spoke ²⁰ to Joshua, commanding;—

"Speak to the children of Israel to say, 'Fix for yourselves the Cities of Refuge, which I commanded you by the medium of Moses, so that the man-slayer who ³ has struck a life by accident unintentionally may fly there, so that you may have a refuge for yourselves from the avenger of blood, by flying to one ⁴ of those cities. He can then stand in the Open Court of the city, and state in the hearing of the magistrates of that town his case, when they shall admit him to the town to themselves, and appoint him a place and residence with them. But if the avenger ⁵ of blood pursues after him, then they must protect the man-slayer from his hand, if he struck his neighbour unintentionally, and did not hate him before it. He shall, however, stay in ⁶ that city until he can be placed before the Court to be judged, or until the death of the High Priest who may be in those days, when the man-slayer may return, and go to his own village.

ascended and besieged Leshem, and captured and conquered it at the point of the sword, and seized and dwelt in it, and called it Leshem-Dan, after the name of their ancestor Dan"— is an ancient editor's note, not part of the original text. Probably Ezra added it to explain the extended limits of Dan. See Judges, Ch. xvii., date about 1120 B.C. for the event.—F. F.

and house, — to the village from whence he fled." 7

- They consequently consecrated Kudsh, in Galilee, in the highlands of Naphthali, and Shekem in Mount Ephraim, and Krith-arba,¹ in the highlands of Judah; and beyond the Jordan, east of Jeriko, they gave Betzer in the Desert of the Plain, for the tribe of Reuben, and Ramoth Gilad, for the tribe of Gad, and Ghilan, in Bashan, for the tribe of Manasseh. These cities were to be open to all the children of Israel, and to the foreigner, to fly to, — whoever struck a life, so that they might not die by the hand of the avenger of blood, until they had been placed before a Court of justice.

(B.C. 1428.) Cities granted to the Levites.

- 21 The chief fathers of the Levites also approached Aliazer the Priest, and Joshua the son of Nun, and the chief fathers of the tribes of the children of Israel, and addressed them in Shiloh in the land of Canan, saying; —
- "The EVER-LIVING commanded by the medium of Moses to give residential towns to us, and pasture for our cattle." So the children of Israel gave to the Levites from their districts, by command of the EVER-LIVING, these cities and their pasture lands.
- 4 When the lot was drawn for the family of the Kahthi, it came for the sons of Aaron the priest of the Levites, from the tribe of Judah, and from the tribe of Simeon, and from the tribe of Benjamin, — sixteen towns by lot.
- 5 But for the other sons of Kahth, with their families, from the tribe of Ephraim, and from the tribe of Dan, and from the half tribe of Manasseh, — ten cities by lot.
- 6 But to the sons of Ghershon with their families, from the tribe of Issakar, and from the tribe of Ashur, and from the tribe of Naphthali, and from the half tribe of Manasseh, — thirteen cities.
- 7 To the sons of Merari, with their families, from the tribe of Reuben, and from the tribe of Gad, and from the tribe of Zebulon, — twelve cities.
- 8 So the children of Israel gave these cities by lot to the Levites, with their pasture lands, as the EVER-LIVING commanded, by means of Moses.

But the tribe of the sons of Judah, 9 and the tribe of the sons of Simeon, gave these towns, which are recited by name, and they were for the sons 10 of Aaron of the family of the Kahthi, of the sons of Levi, for the first lot came to them. Consequently they 11 gave to them Krith-arba, — he was the father of Anak,¹ in the highlands of Judah. But the pastures around it, and the farms of the city, and the villages around it, they gave to Kaleb 12 the son of Jefunneh, as his own estate.

But to the sons of Aaron the priest, 13 they gave the City of Refuge for the manslayer, (at Hebron),¹ with its pasturage, and Libnah, with its pasturage, and Ither, with its pasturage; 14 and Ashtemoa, with its pasturage, and Kholan, with its pasturage, and 15 Debir, with its pasturage; and Ain, 16 with its pasturage, and Juta, with its pasturage; and Beth-shems, with its pasturage; ten towns from those two tribes.

And from the tribe of Benjamin 17 Gibeon, with its pasturage, and Gheba, with its pasturage, and Anathoth, 18 with its pasturage, and Almon, with its pasturage; four towns. All the 19 towns of the sons of Aaron the priest were thirteen towns with their pasturage.

And to the family of the sons of 20 Kahath, with the other Levites, beside the sons of Kahth, towns were allotted to them from the tribe of Ephraim; and they gave them the 21 Cities of Refuge for the manslayer, Shekem, with its pasturage in Mount Ephraim, and Ghezir, with its pastures; and Kibtzin, with its pastures, 22 and Beth-horon, with its pastures; — four towns.

And from the tribe of Dan, Althaka, 23 with its pastures; and Ghibthon, with its pastures; and Ailon, with its 24 pastures; Beth-Rimon, with its pastures; — four towns:

And from the half tribe of Manasseh, 25 Anak, with its pastures; and Gath-rimon, with its pastures; — two towns. In all ten towns, with their pastures, 26 to the family of the sons of Kahath with others.

¹ ("That is Hebron"). In brackets, is an ancient editorial note. — F. F.

¹ V. 11. ("It is Hebron") is an ancient editorial note. — F. F.

- 27 And to the sons of Gherшон, of the family of the Levites, they gave from the half tribe of the Manasseh, as a City of Refuge for the manslayer, Golan in Bashan, with its pasturage, and Bashtherah, with its pasturage;—
- 28 two towns. And from the tribe of Issakar, Kishion, with its pastures; and Dabrath, with its pastures; Jar-moth, with its pastures; Ain-ganim, with its pastures;—four towns.

(B. C. 1428.)

- 30 And from the tribe of Ashur, Mishal, with its pastures; Abdon, with its pastures; Khilkath, with its pastures; and Rekhob, with its pastures;—four towns.
- 32 And from the tribe of Naphthali, as the City of Refuge for the manslayer, Kadish in Galilee, with its pastures; and Khamoth-dad, with its pasturage; and Karthan, with its pasturage;—three towns. All the towns of the family of Gherшон were thirteen towns with their pasturage.
- 34 And to the family of the sons of Merari, with other Levites, they gave from the tribe of Zebulon Jaknam, with its pasturage; Kartha, and its pasturage; Dimnah, with its pasturage; Nahlal, and its pasturage;—four towns.
- 36 And from the tribe of Gad, a City of Refuge for the manslayer, Ramoth in Gilad, with its pastures; and Makhnim, with its pastures; Heshbon, with its pastures; Jazer, with its pastures;—in all four towns. All the towns of the sons of the Merari with their families, and other families of the Levites, which were allotted them, were twelve towns.
- 39 All the towns of the Levites distributed amongst the possessions of the children of Israel were forty-eight, with their pastures, and those towns were, town by town, pasture by pasture, proportionate to all the towns.
- 41 Thus the EVER-LIVING gave to Israel all the country which He had promised to their ancestors to give them, and they possessed and resided in it.
- 42 And the EVER-LIVING made all quiet around them, exactly as He promised to their fathers, and no man of all their enemies stood before them. The EVER-LIVING gave all their enemies into their power. Not a word failed of all the good things that the EVER-LIVING promised to the House of Israel. They all came.

(B. C. 1428 to 1427.) Manasseh, Reuben, and Gad's Contingents sent Home from the Army.

Joshua afterwards summoned the 22 Reubenites, and the Gadites, and the half tribe of Manasseh, and said 2 to them;

"You have done all that Moses the servant of the EVER-LIVING ordered you, and you have listened to my voice in all that I commanded you. You have not forsaken your brothers 3 during this long period, until this day, and you have done the work your EVER-LIVING GOD ordered you. Therefore, since your EVER-LIVING 4 GOD has given quiet to your brothers, as He promised them, you can now return and go to your homes, in the country you possess, which Moses the servant of the EVER-LIVING gave you beyond the Jordan. Takespecial 5 care, however, to practise all the commands, and the law which Moses the servant of the EVER-LIVING ordered you,—and love your EVER-LIVING GOD, and walk in all His ways, and guard His instructions, and seek Him, and serve Him, with all your heart and with all your soul."

Then Joshua blessed and dismissed 6 them, and they departed.

But to the half of the tribe of 7 Manasseh Moses had given Bashan; and to the other half Joshua gave with their brothers on the westward side of the Jordan. Joshua also dismissed them to their houses, and blessed them, and addressed them 8 saying;

"You return to your homes with great wealth, and with very much cattle, with silver, and with gold, and with brass, and with iron, and with very much clothing,—your share of the prizes, along with your brothers, from your enemies."

(B. C. 1428.) The Contingents of Reuben and Gad march for Home and build a Memorial Altar.

So the sons of Reuben turned and 9 went with the sons of Gad, and the half tribe of Manasseh, from the children of Israel at Shiloh in the land of Canaan, marching to the land of Gilad, to the country they possessed, which they possessed by command of the EVER-LIVING through the medium of Moses. When the sons 10 of Reuben, and the sons of Gad, and the half tribe of Manasseh, however, came to the rapids of the Jordan, in the land of Canan, they built there an Altar near the Jordan,—a Great Memorial Altar. But the children of Israel heard the report that the sons of Reuben, and the sons of Gad, and the half tribe of Manasseh had built an altar on the confines of the land of Canan, at the rapids of the Jordan, near the Ford of the children of Israel. When the children of Israel heard it they convoked all the Parliament of the sons of Israel to Shiloh about going up against them to war.

(B.C. 1427.) The Parliament send to ask an Explanation of that Art.

13 But the children of Israel sent to the sons of Reuben, and to the sons of Gad, and to the half tribe of Manasseh, to the land of Gilad, Phinehas the son of Aliazer the priest, and ten princes with him, a single prince for each ancestral house of all the tribes of Israel, and a Headman of ancestral family of the regiments of Israel, who went to the sons of Reuben, and the sons of Gad, and the half tribe of Manasseh, in the land of Gilad, and said to them:—

16 "All the Parliament of the EVER-LIVING says thus;—'What perversity is this which you have erected against the GOD of Israel? turning to-day from following the EVER-LIVING, to build for yourselves an altar, revolting at once from the EVER-LIVING? Was the offence of Peor a small matter for us,—which has not been cleansed from us to this day? and it brought a stroke from the EVER-LIVING to the assembly. Yet you would turn to-day from following the EVER-LIVING! and you would revolt to-day from the EVER-LIVING, and to-morrow He will be angry with all the assembly of Israel!

19 "If, however, the country you own is unclean, pass over to the country possessed by the EVER-LIVING, where the dwelling of the EVER-LIVING is placed, and you shall possess amongst us. But revolt not from the EVER-LIVING. We will not, however, refuse you to build for yourselves an altar, but let it be a special altar to our EVER-LIVING GOD.

"Was not Akan, the descendant 20 of Zerakh, very offensive in the devoted thing, and anger came upon all the assembly of Israel? and did not that same man die for his fault?"

The sons of Reuben, and the sons of Gad, and the half tribe of Manasseh, however, replied to the heads of the regiments of Israel:—

"By the GOD of GODS! By the 22 EVER-LIVING GOD of GODS! The EVER-LIVING Himself knows! and Israel itself should know if it is for revolt, or if it is for offence to the EVER-LIVING—then let us not be spared to-day for building for our- 23 selves an altar, if we have turned from following the EVER-LIVING. But it is not sought for the object of offering offerings and gifts, and to make offerings and sacrifices of thanks to the EVER-LIVING Himself.—Was it not for the following 24 event we did it, saying:—'To-morrow if your children say to our sons, What is the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel to you? When the 25 EVER-LIVING gave boundaries to our children and your children,—the sons of Reuben, and the sons of Gad, at the Jordan? You have no part in the EVER-LIVING!' And thus your children might prevent our children from ever seeing the EVER-LIVING. 26 So we said to ourselves, Let us build this Altar, not for offerings and not for sacrifice, but for it to lie between 27 us and you, and to the generations after us, to serve as a witness of our rights in the service of the EVER-LIVING to present to Him our offerings, and sacrifices, and peace offerings, that your children may not say to our children to-morrow,— 'You have no part in the EVER-LIVING!' So that it may be replied, 28 when they say thus to us, or to our descendants hereafter, we can answer, 'Look at this building in the form of the altar of the EVER-LIVING which our fathers made,—not for offering, or for sacrifice, but as a bond between us and you.' We reject the 29 idea from us of revolting from the EVER-LIVING, or turning to-day from following the EVER-LIVING, or building an altar for offering and sacrifice, apart from the Altar of the EVER-LIVING GOD Who dwells before us."

30 When Phinehas the son of Aliazer the Priest, and all the Princes of the Parliament, and the heads of the regiments of Israel with them, heard the declarations of the sons of Reuben, and the sons of Gad, and the sons of 31 Manasseh, Phinehas, the son of Aliazer the Priest, said to the sons of Reuben, and the sons of Gad, and the sons of Manasseh ;

" We learn to-day that the EVER-LIVING is in the midst of us, since you have not offended the EVER-LIVING with an offence,—thus you have saved the children of Israel from the hand of the EVER-LIVING."

32 Then Phinehas, the son of Aliazer the Priest, returned, accompanied by the Princes, from the sons of Reuben, and the sons of Gad,—from the land of Gilad to the land of Canaan to the children of Israel, and reported the

33 business to them, and the affair was considered to be right in the opinion of the children of Israel and they thanked GOD, and decided not to go up to war against them, or waste the country where the sons of Reuben and the sons of Gad resided, because

34 the sons of Reuben and the sons of Gad declared " The Altar is a witness for itself between us that the EVER-LIVING is GOD."

(B.C. 1425.) Joshua convokes a Special Parliament.

23 It was some time after the EVER-LIVING had given to Israel rest from all its enemies around, and Joshua had become by that time old, that Joshua convoked the Representatives of Israel by its magistrates and chiefs, and judges, and registrars, and said to them ;

Joshua's Speech to the Parliament.

" I am old ;—I am advanced in

3 days, and you have seen all that your EVER-LIVING GOD has done to all these nations before you, for your EVER-LIVING GOD has apportioned

4 them to you. You have seen how I have subdued to you these different nations for your tribes to divide. All the nations that I conquered from the Jordan to the Great Sea of the Setting

5 Sun : your EVER-LIVING GOD Himself terrified them, and drove them before you, and expelled them from the country, as your EVER-LIVING GOD

6 promised you. Therefore set yourselves firmly to keep and to do all that is written in the books of the Laws of Moses, and never turn from them to the right hand or the left ; and never go with the remnant of these different nations amongst whom you reside, to remember the name of their gods ;—or to swear by them, or serve them, or worship them, but

7 adhere to your EVER-LIVING GOD, as you have done until to-day. For the

8 EVER-LIVING has driven before you great and strong nations, and none have stood before you to this day. Every man of you has chased a

9 thousand, for your EVER-LIVING GOD Himself fought for you as He promised. Therefore carefully guard your souls

10 to love your EVER-LIVING GOD ; for

11 if you turn and degrade yourselves like these other nations,—these men amongst you,—and worship with them, and intermix yourselves with them, know for a certainty that your EVER-

12 LIVING GOD will not continue driving these nations out before you, but they will become a trap and a snare, and a whip to torture you, and thorns in your eyes, to destroy you from off this beautiful land which your EVER-

13 LIVING GOD has given you.

" But now, for myself, I am soon

14 going the way of all the earth, so assure yourselves with all your heart, and all your soul, that not a single word will fail of all the beautiful promises that your EVER-LIVING GOD has promised to you ;—all will come ! —not a single word of them will fail ! But it will happen that as all the good

15 promises which your EVER-LIVING GOD promised will come to you, in the same way the EVER-LIVING will bring upon you the whole of His threats until He wastes you from off this beautiful land, which your EVER-LIVING GOD has given you, upon your aban-

16 doning the Covenant of your EVER-LIVING GOD, which He made with you, and you go and serve other gods, and bow down to them ;—then the anger of the EVER-LIVING will burn against you, and destroy you quickly from off the beautiful land He has given you !"

(B.C. 1425.) A National Assembly summoned by Joshua.

Joshua afterwards collected all the 24 tribes of Israel at Shekem, and summoned the nobles of Israel, and the chiefs, and the judges, and the registrars, and stationed them before the

2 EVER-LIVING. Then Joshua again addressed all the People;—

Joshua's Address to the National Assembly.

" Thus says the EVER-LIVING Who is the GOD of Israel;—Your ancestors dwelt beyond the river from of old, until Terah, the father of Abraham, and father of Nahor,—where they served other gods. But I took Abraham your ancestor from the other side of the River and caused him to travel over all the country of Canan; but I held back his race,—yet gave him Isaac. I also gave Isaac, Jacob and Esau, and gave to Esau Mount Sair to reign over, but caused Jacob and his sons to descend to the Mitzeraim.¹ I afterwards sent Moses and Aaron and struck the Egyptians, by what I did, to their very souls, and after that I brought you out. When I was bringing your fathers out from the Mitzeraim and they arrived at the sea, with the Mitzerites pursuing after them with chariot and horse to the Sea of Weeds,² then they cried to the EVER-LIVING, and He placed a darkness between them and the Mitzerites, and it advanced with them as far as the sea, and your sons saw what I did to the Mitzeraim. Afterwards you remained in the desert a long time, until I brought you to the country of the Amorites who were settled beyond the Jordan, whom you made war with, and whom I gave into your power, and you seized their country, and laid it waste before you.

9 " Then Balak, the son of Zippor, king of Moab, arose and made war with Israel, and sent and invited Balaam the son of Beor to curse you, but I was not willing to listen to Balaam, and he blessed you; and I delivered you from his hand.

11 " Then you crossed the Jordan and came to Jeriko, and the Prince of Jeriko with the Amorites, the Perizites, the Cananites, the Hitites, the Gergashites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites made war against you; but I gave them into your power, and sent the hornet in advance, and drove out the kings of the Amorites before you,—not with your sword, nor with your bow,—and gave you a country you had not reclaimed, and towns you had not built, and you live in them; vineyards and olive-groves which you had not planted, and you ate of them. So now look to the EVER-LIVING and serve HIM, with sincerity and truth! But the gods your ancestors served over the River and among the Mitzeraim,—turn away from them—and serve the EVER-LIVING.

" But if it is hateful in your sight to serve the EVER-LIVING,—choose for yourselves to-day whom you will serve?—whether the gods your ancestors served when beyond the River, or the gods of the Amorites amongst whom you live in these countries? I, and my family, however, will serve the EVER-LIVING!"

The People promise only to worship God.

But the People answered, " Let it be a curse to us to forsake the EVER-LIVING, or to serve other gods! for our EVER-LIVING GOD HE brought us up—we and our fathers—from the land of the Mitzeraim, from the House of Bondage; and He did the great wonders before our eyes, and guarded us in all the way we travelled, and amongst all the nations through whose midst we passed. And the EVER-LIVING has driven out all the Peoples, and the Amorites who occupied the country before,—therefore we will serve the EVER-LIVING, for He is our GOD!"

Joshua expresses a Fear of their Fidelity to God.

But Joshua replied to the People, 19 " You are not able to serve the EVER-LIVING, for HE is a HOLY GOD! He is a JEALOUS GOD! He will not endure your sins and your offences! For you will forsake the EVER-LIVING, and you will serve seducing gods, and change and degrade, and destroy yourselves by following after what seems delightful to you!"

The People, however, answered 21 Joshua, " No! for we will serve the EVER-LIVING!"

Then Joshua replied to the People, 22 " You are witnesses to yourselves that you have chosen for yourselves the EVER-LIVING,—to serve HIM? " And they said, " We are witnesses."

¹ Egypt.

² That is, in its modern name, the Gulf of Suez of the Red Sea.—F. F.

23 "Then, turn out those seducing gods which are in your breasts and bend your heart to the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel."

24 And the People responded to Joshua; "We will only serve our EVER-LIVING GOD, and listen to His voice!"

Joshua records the National Oath upon the Tablets of the Laws of God.

25 So Joshua made a Covenant on that day with the People, and enacted it as a Constitution and Decree at Shekem. Joshua also engraved the 26 words upon the Tablets of the Laws of GOD, and took a great stone and erected it there, along with those which are in the Sanctuary of the EVER-LIVING.

Then Joshua said to all the People, 27 "Look at this stone! which you have erected as a witness that you have heard all the words of the EVER-LIVING which I have spoken to you, and it shall be a witness to you against slipping away from your GOD!"

And then Joshua sent the People 28 each to his own house.

CONCLUSION OF THE HISTORY OF JOSHUA.

(B.C. 1425.) Death of Joshua.
Isaiah's Reflection upon him.

29 After these events had taken place, Joshua the Son of Nun, the servant of the EVER-LIVING, died, being one hundred and ten years of age, and they buried him within the bounds of his estate in Thimnath-serakh, which is in Mount Ephraim, on the north of the Hill of Gash. Israel served the EVER-LIVING all the time of Joshua, and all the time of the Elders who outlived Joshua, and who knew all the acts of the EVER-LIVING that He had done for Israel.

The bones of Joseph, which the 32 children of Israel had brought up from Mitzeraim, they buried in Shekem in the piece of land which Jacob bought of the sons of Hamor the father of Shekem for a hundred kestars, and which became the property of the sons of Joseph.

(B.C. 1420.) Aliazar the Priest dies.

Then Aliazar the son of Aaron 33 died and they buried him in Gubath, the estate of Phinehas which had been given to him in Mount Ephraim.

THE HISTORY OF ISRAEL AND JUDAH.

BY ISAIAH, THE SON OF AMOZ,

(See Second Chronicles, Ch. 32, v. 32.)

BOOK II. THE PERIOD OF THE JUDGES.

INTRODUCTORY NOTE UPON THE BOOK OF JUDGES.

From the opening of this Book it seems to me that a period of anarchy intervened after the death of Joshua, during which the whole, or at least a great part, of his conquests in South Palestine were lost, and fell back into the possession of the former inhabitants; for it is certain from the words of the Historian that they had to be reconquered, and, as we learn by the subsequent history of the Period of Samuel, this was only very partially accomplished until the days of David, nearly 400 years afterwards. Of that period of anarchy immediately after the death of Joshua the historian Isalah takes no notice, for it was out of his line of intention, as being merely political. Chronologists have been blind to these facts, and so have allowed no time for them, by which the dates of the following history have been confused, and lead to puzzles that seem inexplicable to commentators and readers. It would repay the labour for some competent scholar to clear up this confusion, I think.—F. F.

(B.C. 1425 to 1406.) A Period of Anarchy and Revolt of the Natives.

1 AFTER the death of Joshua the children of Israel enquired of the EVER-LIVING, "Who shall lead us against the Cananites, to make war with them?" The LORD replied, "Judah shall go up, and I will give the country into his power."

(B.C. 1406.)

3 Judah, however, said to Simeon his brother, "Go up with me to my district, and we will fight with the Cananites, and then I will go with you to your district." So Simeon
4 went with them. Judah accordingly went up, and the EVER-LIVING gave the Cananites and the Perizites into their power, and they defeated them in Bezek with a loss of ten thousand 5 men. Then they met the Prince of Bezek at Bezek and fought with him, and defeated the Cananites and 6 Perizites; and the Prince of Bezek fled, but they pursued after and captured him, and cut off the thumbs of his hands and feet. Then the 7 Prince of Bezek said, "Seven kings, with the thumbs of their hands and feet cut off, were waiters beside my table! As I did God has repaid to me!" (They afterwards brought him to Jerusalem where he died.)

(B.C. 1406.)

The children of Judah next besieged 8 Jerusalem and captured and conquered it by the edge of the sword, and delivered the city to fire. After 9 that the sons of Judah proceeded to make war with the Cananites who occupied the hills, the south, and the pastures. Then Judah marched 10 against the Cananites who held Hebron,¹ and defeated Sheshi, and Akhiman, and Thalmi. And marched 11 from there to the possessors of Debir,²

¹ V. 10. ("But the name of Hebron was formerly Krith-arba") is an old editorial note of explanation.—F. F.

² V. 11. ("The name of Debir was formerly Krith-sefer") is an old editorial note of explanation.—F. F.

- 12 where Kaleb said, "Whoever conquers Krith-sefer, and captures it, I will give him my daughter Aksa for a wife." So Athnial the son of Kenez, the younger brother of Kaleb, captured it from them; and he gave Aksa his daughter to him as a wife. Now as she was coming he suggested to her to ask an estate from her father,—so she dismounted from her ass, when Kaleb asked her, "What do you want?"
- 15 And she replied, "Give me a blessing;—with the southern land you have given me; give me springs of water." So Kaleb gave her the Upper Springs and the Lower Springs.

(B. C. 1405.)

- 16 The sons of Keni, the father-in-law of Moses, had come up from the city of The Palmtrees with the sons of Judah into the desert of Judah, which is to the south of Arad, and marched and lived with that people.
- 17 Then Judah went with Simeon his brother and conquered the Cananites inhabiting Tzifath, and destroyed it,—and called the name of the town Kharmah.¹ Judah also captured Gaza, and its district, and Ashkelon, and its district, and Akron and its district, for the EVER-LIVING was with Judah and he took possession of the highlands, but they could not drive out the population of the plains because they had iron chariots.
- 20 Hebron was given to Kaleb as Moses had promised, and he drove the three sons of Anak from it.

(B. C. 1424 to 1406.) A General Rebolt of the Nations conquered by Joshua.

- 21 But the Jebusites continued in Jerusalem, for the sons of Benjamin could not drive them out,—so the Jebusites continue to reside with the sons of Benjamin in Jerusalem to this day.
- 22 The House of Joseph also went up to Bethel, and the EVER-LIVING was with them, so the House of Joseph was successful against Bethel,—the name of the town was formerly Luz.
- 24 And the scouts saw a man who came out from the city, and said to him, "Show us, we pray, the entrance into the town and we will reward you."

¹ V. 19. "Kharmah" = The Ruins.—F. F.

So he showed them an entrance to 25 the city, and they took the city with the sword, but they sent the man away with all his family, who went 26 to the country of the Hittites, and built a town and called it by the name of Luz, and it bears that name to this day.

(B. C. 1425 to 1406.)

Manasseh also did not disperse the 27 people of Bethshan with its villages, and Thanak with its villages, or the inhabitants of Iblam with its villages, or the population of Megiddo with its villages, but permitted the Cananites to reside in that country. But when Israel prevailed it laid the 28 Cananites under tribute, and did not expel them.

Ephraim also did not expel the 29 Cananite population of Ghezer, or the Cananite population from around Ghezer. Zebulon, also, did not expel 30 the population from Kitan, the inhabitants from the riverside, or the Cananite population from amongst itself, but put them under tribute.

Ashur did not expel the population 31 from Aka, or the inhabitants of Zidon, or Akhbal, or Akzib, or Khabdah, or Afk, or Rekhob, but the Ashurites 32 resided amongst the Cananite population of the country, for they did not expel them.

Naphthali did not dispossess the 33 inhabitants of Beth-shemsh, or the population of Beth-anath, but resided amongst the Cananite population of the country; and the inhabitants of Beth-shemsh and Beth-anath were tributary to them.

The Amorites also resisted the sons 34 of Gad in the Highlands, although they were not able to descend to the plains; therefore they allowed the 35 Amorites to occupy the Eastern Hills at Ailon, and Shalbim, and Thikbad alongside the house of Joseph, and they paid tribute. And the boundary 36 of the Amorites was from the ascent of Akrabim, from Sela and upwards.

(About B. C. 1406.) A Preacher exhorts the Israelites to re-conquer
the Native Tribes.

But a Messenger of the EVER-² LIVING came from Ghilgal to Bokim, who said, "I brought you up from Mitzeraim,¹ and conducted you to the country which I promised to your ancestors, declaring, 'I will not break My covenant with you for ever; but you shall not make a treaty with the inhabitants of this country but strike down their altars.' However you have not listened to My voice. Why have you done so when I said, 'If you do not drive them out from you, they will be thorns,—and their gods will be snares to you?'"

¹ Egypt.—F. F.

4 When the Messenger of the EVER-LIVING addressed this speech to the Parliament of the children of Israel, the People lifted up their voices and wept, and called the name of that valley The Weepings,¹ and sacrificed there to the EVER-LIVING.

(B.C. 1425 to 1424.) Recapitulation of the Events of the Last Days of Joshua.

6 When Joshua dismissed the People, the children went each to his share, to take possession of the country, and the People served the EVER-LIVING all the days of Joshua and all the time of the old men who survived Joshua, who had seen all the great acts of the EVER-LIVING which He did for Israel.

(B.C. 1424.)

8 Joshua, the son of Nun, the servant of the EVER-LIVING, died at a hundred and ten years of age, and they buried him within the bounds of his estate, at Thimnath, in Mount Ephraim, on the north of the hill of Gash. But when all that generation were added to their fathers, there arose another generation after them, who knew not the EVER-LIVING, or the acts which He did for Israel.

(B.C. 1424 to 1406.) Religious Corruption of Israel.²

11 Then the Children of Israel did wrong in the sight of the EVER-LIVING and passed over to Baal, and forsook the EVER-LIVING GOD of their fathers, who brought them out of the land of the Mitzeraim,¹ and went after the gods of the nations who surrounded them, and worshipped them, and provoked the EVER-LIVING. Thus they forsook¹³ the EVER-LIVING and worshipped Ashtaroth.²

¹ V. 5. "The Weepings," in Hebrew Bokhim.—F. F.

² NOTE.—These dates are far from accurate, but I adopt them from the ordinary chronologers. I estimate that 100 to 200 years of anarchy is intimated, and that consequently the date of the Exodus and all the subsequent events should be put backwards for that time, but this question is one for chronologers, and does not affect the accuracy of the Biblical Narrative, but corroborates it.—F. F.

Mild Anarchy.

Then the anger of the EVER-LIVING¹⁴ burnt against Israel, and He gave them to the hand of robbers who robbed them, and delivered them to the power of their enemies all round, and they were not able to stand before their enemies. Wherever they went¹⁵ the hand of the EVER-LIVING was against them for evil, as the EVER-LIVING had said, and as the EVER-LIVING had threatened them, and He greatly afflicted them.

(About B.C. 1406.) Leaders arise and advise Reform, but are rejected.³

The EVER-LIVING afterwards¹⁶ raised up judges who protected them from the powers of the Robbers. Yet, however, they would not¹⁷ listen to their judges, for they went whoring after other gods, and worshipped them,—turning soon from the path which their fathers followed,—that of listening to the commands of the EVER-LIVING. They did it not. But when the EVER-LIVING¹⁸ caused some of the judges to arise, and the EVER-LIVING was with that Judge, He saved them from the hand of their enemies, for the EVER-LIVING pitied their groans under their adversaries and oppressors. But when that¹⁹ Judge died, they turned and corrupted themselves more than their fathers, by following seducing gods, and serving and worshipping them. They ceased not from their offences, and from making their way hard.

Then the anger of the EVER-LIVING²⁰ burnt against Israel, and He said; "Because this Nation has broken My Covenant which I communicated to their ancestors, and does not listen to My Word, I also will not continue²¹ to drive out before them any of the nations whom Joshua left at his death,

¹ Egypt.—F. F.

² V. 13. "Ashtaroth" means "Lust," the Venus of pagans.—F. F.

³ See note (2), col. 2.

22 so that I may try Israel by them, whether they will keep the path of the EVER-LIVING, and walk in it, as their fathers kept it, or not." So the EVER-LIVING gave them not those nations, and did not dispossess them of the mountains, and gave them not to the hand of Joshua.

(B.C. 1420.) Why the Rebolt of the Philistines was allowed.

- 3 And these are the nations whom the EVER-LIVING permitted to try Israel, all who were not acquainted with the wars of Canan: so that the generations of the Children of Israel might learn war, which they otherwise would not have known.
- 3 The five Lordships of the Philistines, and all the Cananites, and Zidonians, and the Hivites, inhabiting the hills of the Lebanon, from the Hill of Bal-Hermon, to the pass of Khamath.¹ They were also to try Israel to teach them to listen to the commands of the EVER-LIVING, which He dictated to their fathers by the hand of Moses.
- 5 So the Children of Israel resided amongst the Cananites, the Hitites, the Amorites, the Perizites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites, and took their daughters to themselves for wives, and gave their daughters to their sons, and served their gods.
- 7 The Children of Israel also did wrong in the sight of the EVER-LIVING, and forsook their EVER-LIVING GOD and served Balim and Astheroth.

(B.C. 1402.) The Aramites of Mesopotamia ravage all Western Asia and Palestine.

- 8 The anger of the EVER-LIVING consequently burnt against Israel, and He delivered them to the power of Koshan-Ramathim, King of Aram-between-the-Rivers,² and the Children of Israel were subject to Koshan-Ramathim for nine years.

(B.C. 1394.)

- 9 Then the sons of Israel cried to the EVER-LIVING, and the EVER-LIVING sent a saviour for Israel, in Athnial the descendant of Kenez, the youngest brother of Kaleb, who saved them, for the Spirit of the EVER-LIVING was upon him, and he judged Israel, and went out to war, and the EVER-LIVING gave Koshan-Ramathim to his hand. Thus the country had peace for forty years, until Athnial-ben-Kenez died.

(B.C. 1354.) King Aglon of Moab and his Chiefs defeat the Israelites.

The Children of Israel, however, continued to do wrong in the sight of the EVER-LIVING, so the EVER-LIVING emboldened Aglon, King of Moab, against Israel, because they did wrong in the eyes of the EVER-LIVING; and he added to himself the Children of Amon, and Amalek, and Zabin, and defeated Israel, and seized the town of Palm-trees.¹ The sons of Israel consequently served Aglon, King of Moab, eighteen years. Then the Children of Israel cried to the EVER-LIVING, and the EVER-LIVING raised a saviour for them, Ahud-ben-Ghera, a Benjaminite, a left-handed man, by whose means the sons of Israel sent the tribute to Aglon, King of Moab. But Ahud made himself a sword of a foot long with a double edge, and bound it under his cloak on his right thigh, when he approached with the tribute to Aglon, King of Moab,—(Aglon, however, was a very fat man)—and when he had finished presenting the tribute, he sent away the people who carried the tribute, but he returned back from the quarries that are in Ghilgal, and said, "I desire a word in private between myself and you, King," and he replied "All right!" and sent away all who stood about him.

(B.C. 1336.) Ahud slays King Aglon of Moab, and Israel rebolts.

Then Ahud came to him, and he sat upon the raised seat which was reserved for himself alone, and Ahud said, "There is a message from GOD with me for you." So he rose from his throne. Then Ahud stretched out his left hand, and drew the sword from his thigh, and drove it into his belly, and the excrement came out after the blade, but the fat closed up over the blade, for he did not draw the sword from his belly, but it went into the intestines. Then Ahud went out by the private porch and shut the

¹ Hamath.—F. F.

² Mesopotamia.—F. F.

¹ Palm-town—Thamartim, in Heb.—F. F.

24 door after him, and locked it. But when he was gone the servants came and looked and saw the door of the chamber locked, and said, "Perhaps he is lying down in the chamber of his summer house." So they waited until they were alarmed, and seeing no one open the door of the retreat, at length they took a key and opened the door, and saw their Prince fallen on the earth dead!

26 But Ahud escaped while they delayed, and passed the quarries, and ran away like a tempest, and then went on and blew a trumpet in Mount Ephraim, and the Children of Israel flocked to him from the hills, and he became their leader, and said to them, "Follow after me, for the EVER-LIVING will give your enemies, the Moabites, into your hand!" So they followed after him, and captured the lords of the Jordan leading to Moab and permitted no man to pass over. They also cut off from Moab at the same period about ten thousand men,—all stout men of valour, and not a man escaped. Moab was consequently from that time subjected to the hand of Israel, and the land was at rest eight years.

(About B.C. 1328.)

31 And after that came Shamgar the son of Anath, who slew six hundred of the Philistines with an ox-goad and delivered Israel.

(B.C. 1316.) Jabin, King of Canan, subjects Israel.

4 But the Children of Israel continued to do wrong in the sight of the EVER-LIVING, therefore the EVER-LIVING delivered them to the power of Jabin, King of Canan, who reigned in Khatzor, the commander of whose army was named Sisera, and he resided in Kharshith of the heathen. 3 But the Children of Israel cried to the EVER-LIVING, for he had nine hundred chariots of iron, and oppressed the Israelites cruelly for ten years.

(B.C. 1300.) Deborah, a Woman, gains Polver.

4 At that time a woman, Deborah, a distinguished teacher, was a judge in Israel, and Deborah sat under the palm-tree of Deborah, between Rama and Bethel, in Mount Ephraim, and the Israelites went to her for decisions.

(B.C. 1296.) Deborah asks Barak-ben-Abinoam to head a Revolt against the Tyranny of Jabin.

But she sent and summoned Barak 6 the son of Abinoam, from Kadish of Naphthali, and said to him, "Has not the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel ordered you, 'Go and encamp on Mount Thabor, and collect ten thousand men to you from the sons of Naphthali and the sons of Zebulon, and I will draw Sisera, the Com- 7 mander of the Army of Jabin, with his chariots and his great numbers to you, at the River Kishon, and I will deliver him into your hand?'"

But Barak replied to her, "If you 8 will go with me, I will go. And if you will not go with me, I will not go!"

And she answered, "I will go with 9 you. However, the road you go shall not lead to your honour, for the EVER-LIVING will give Sisera to the hand of a woman."

Then Deborah arose and went with Barak to Kadish, where Barak invited 10 Zebulon and Naphthali to Kadish, and ten thousand men came to his feet, and Deborah went up with him, and Heber the Kenite, who was 11 descended from Kien, one of the sons of Hobab, a father-in-law of Moses, who had also pitched his tent at Alon-Betzanim near Kadish; and it 12 was reported to Sisera that Barak-ben-Abinoam had occupied Mount Thabor.

(B.C. 1296.)

Sisera consequently summoned all 13 his charioteers with their nine hundred chariots of iron, and all his forces from Khar-sheth of the heathen, to the river Kishon. Then Deborah 14 said to Barak, "Arise! for this is the day when I will deliver Sisera to your hand! Does not the EVER-LIVING go before you?"

So Barak descended from Mount Thabor with the ten thousand men following him, and the EVER-LIVING 15 routed Sisera, with all his chariots, and all his troops, with the sword before Barak, so that Sisera descended from his chariot, and fled on foot! But Barak pursued the charioteers 16 and the infantry to Kheresheth of the heathen, and stormed all the camps of Sisera by the sword, not sparing one.

- 17 Sisera, however, fled on his feet to the Tent of Jael, the wife of Heber the Kenite, for there was peace between Jabin, King of Khatzor, and the House of Heber the Kenite, and Jael came out to meet Sisera, and said to him, "Turn in, Prince, turn in to me; fear nothing." So he entered with her into the tent, and she covered him with a cloak.
- 19 Then he said to her, "Let me have a little water to drink, for I am thirsty." And she opened him a bottle of milk, and gave him a drink
- 20 and covered him up again. Then he said to her, "Stand before the door of the hall, and if any man comes to inquire of you, and says is there anyone here? answer, there is no one!"
- 21 Jael, the wife of Heber, however, took a peg of the tent, and grasped a hammer in her hand and went to him secretly, and fixed it on his temples and drove it through to the earth, for he was fast asleep. So he expired and died.
- 22 Then she saw Barak pursuing Sisera; so Jael went out to meet him, and said to him, "Come, and I will show you the man whom you seek!" And he went with her, and saw Sisera lying dead, with the nail through his temples.

(B. C. 1296.)

- 23 Thus GOD defeated on that day Jabin, King of Canan, before the 24 Israelites, and the power of the Children of Israel increased, advanced, and strengthened over Jabin, King of Canan, until Jabin, King of Canan, was subdued.

5 Then Deborah and Barak-ben-Abinoam sang, saying:—

SONG OF DEBORAH AND BARAK.

- 2 DEBORAH. "For free freedom in Israel,
You heroes and people bless the LORD."
- 3 BARAK. "Let kings hear, let princes listen,
I, to the LORD, myself will sing;
I chant to the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel."

THE TROOPS. "LORD, in Your advance from Sair,—

In Your march thro' the field of Edom,—

The earth shook, the heavens poured down,

The storm clouds poured out water!

The mountains melted before the 5 LORD;

Sinai itself before the LIVING GOD of Israel!"

DEBORAH. "In the days of 6 Shamgar son of Anath,

In the days of Yal the caravans ceased,

And travellers went in the bye-paths,—

Judges ceased—in Israel ceased,—

Till I, Deborah, arose,— 7
Till I arose, a mother to Israel!"

BARAK. "They chose for them- 8 selves new gods!—

When there was war at the gates,
Was a shield or a spear to be seen,

In forty thousand of Israel?"

DEBORAH. "My heart can picture 9 Israel!—

Heroes among the People bless the LORD!"

THE TROOPS. "You riders upon 10 white asses,—

And you who dwell in the plain,—
And the travellers by roadways publish,

With the sound as of rushing 11 waters,

The kindness the LORD has done;
The kindness to Israel's hamlets.

When the LORD's force rushed down to the dales!"

BARAK. "Arise! arise you! 12 Deborah!

Awake, awake! and utter a song!—

DEBORAH. "Arise, Barak, and conquer,—

Conqueror, son of Abinoam!
Let the Nobles and People de- 13 scend;

The Lord sent me to summon heroes:

Come to me, Ephraim, rooted in 14 Amalek;

Follow me, Benjamin, from your caves;

Come to me, Makir, with your chieftains;

- With Zebulon wielding the writer's pen, 15 And Issakar's eloquent Princes;—
 And along with Issakar, Barak,
 Who directs the march with skill.
- "My heart aches for Reuben's absence;—
 16 Why stayed he among the sheep-folds,
 To hear the cries of his flocks?
 My heart aches for Reuben's absence!
- 17 "Ghilad remained beyond the Jordan;—
 But why stayed Dan in his ships?
 And Ashur rest on the shore of the sea,
 And continue to lie in his ports?
- 18 "Zebulon's men risked their lives to death, With Naphthali from the highlands."
- 19 BARAK. "Kings came out to the war,
 Like Canan's Kings at Thanak,
 Who fought by the Brook of Megiddo;—
 They took no silver as plunder;—
 The stars, they fought from the skies,—
 20 The stars from their high course fought against Sisera!—
 21 The river Kishon swept them away,
 That ancient river—the river Kishon!"
- DEBORAH. "Rush strongly along, my life!
 22 How the hoofs of the horses sound,
 With their mighty leapings and prancings!
- 23 "'Curse Meroz,' said the man of the LORD,
 'When cursing, curse its people,—
 For they came not with help to the LORD,
 To help the LORD and His heroes!'
- 24 "But bless the children of Jael,—
 The wife of Heber the Kenite, Bless all the sons of her tent.
- 25 "He asked her water,—she gave him milk!
 She offered him butter on a beautiful dish!

Then she stretched her hand to 26
 the nail,
 Her right hand to the workman's hammer,—
 And Sisera pierced through his head,
 And broke, and drove through his temples!
 At her feet he bowed,—fell 27
 down,—
 At her feet he bowed,—fell down,—
 When he bowed, he fell down dead!"

THE TROOPS. "Sisera's mother, 28
 at the evening hour, Bent and watched from her window;—
 'What prevents his chariot's return?
 What delays the tramp of his chargers?'
 Her wise women answered to 29 her,— Nay, continued her words to herself,—
 'Have they not found plenty of 30 plunder?
 A lovely girl for the generals,
 And a plunder of robes for Sisera?
 A plunder of robes embroidered,— Embroidered robes for the necks of the victors?'"

DEBORAH, BARAK, AND TROOPS. 31
 "LORD! thus destroy Your foes:—
 But let Your friends march on,
 Like the sun in his glory!"

After this the country rested for forty years.

(B.C. 1256.) Midian conquers the Israelites.—Oppression and Anarchy rampant.

Then the Israelites did wrong in 6
 the eyes of the EVER-LIVING, so the EVER-LIVING gave them to the hand of Midian twelve years. And the 2 power of Midian was so strong over Israel, that the Israelites made for themselves entrenchments in the mountains, and caves, and towers; and if the Israelites sowed, then 3
 Midian, and Amalek, and the Beni-Kedem came upon and assailed 4 them and wasted the whole breadth of the country to the pass of Gaza and left no means of subsistence for 5 Israel, or sheep, or ox, or ass. For they, and their cattle with them, advanced with their tents, coming in such immense numbers, both of themselves and their camels, that they could not be counted, and went 6 over the country destroying it. Thus Israel was thoroughly exhausted before Midian.

(B.C. 1249.) A Preacher exhorts to Reformation and to abandon Sin.

Then the Children of Israel cried 7 to the EVER-LIVING. And when the Israelites cried to the EVER-LIVING on 8 account of Midian, the EVER-LIVING sent a man, a preacher, to the sons of Israel and he said to them:—

"The EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel says thus,—I brought you from the Mitzeraim, and brought you from the 9 House of Bondage, and delivered you from the power of your opponents, and swept them before you, and gave 10 you this country. Then I said to you, I am your EVER-LIVING GOD.
 You shall not reverence the gods of the Amorites, in whose country you reside,—but you would not listen to My voice."

(B.C. 1249.) He calls upon Gideon to lead his Nation.

11 Afterwards the Messenger of the EVER-LIVING went and sat under the oak which is at Afrah, belonging to Yoash, and Gideon his son was threshing wheat in a wine cellar, to 12 hide it from the Midianites, and the Messenger of the EVER-LIVING looked in at him, and said to him, "The EVER-LIVING is with you, brave
 man!"

13 But Gideon answered him, "What, Sir! If the EVER-LIVING is with us, then why has all this come? And where are all His wonders that our fathers related to us, telling about the bringing us up from Mitzeraim?
 For now the EVER-LIVING has forsaken us, and put us under the foot of Midian!"

14 But the Noble Man¹ turned to him

¹ I translate the Hebrew word Jehovah, יהוה (Y'howah), as "Noble Man," as a high title, like our Lord, for a Peer, as it is evident this preacher was not the Creator, but a man as we are.—F. F.

and replied; "Go with your courage and rescue Israel from the hand of Midian! Have I not sent you?"

He, however, returned, "Me, sir? 15
 How can I rescue Israel? The regiments of Manasseh have failed!
 and I am the youngest of my father's family!"

But the Noble Man answered to 16 him; "Because I will be with you!
 And you shall defeat the Midianites like a single man."

Then he asked him, "If now, I 17 have found favour in your eyes, and you have done me the kindness of speaking with me, do not remove 18 from here until I come back to you, when I will bring my present, and present it to you."

So he replied, "I will sit down until you return."

Then Gideon went and killed a 19
 goat's kid, and baked an unfermented cake, and placed the meat on a tray, and put the broth in a basin, and brought to him under the oak, and presented it.

Then the divine Messenger said to 20 him; "Take the meat and the biscuit, and ascend to the peak of Luz, and pour out the broth." And he did so, when the Messenger of the EVER- 21 LIVING extended the end of the staff which he had in his hand, and touched the meat and the biscuit, and fire came from the rock and consumed the meat and the biscuit! Then the Messenger of the EVER-LIVING went from his sight; and Gideon perceived 22 that he was a Messenger from the EVER-LIVING; so Gideon exclaimed,
 "Ah! Great LORD! I have certainly seen a Messenger of the EVER-LIVING face to face!" And the NOBLE 23 replied to him, "Peace to you! Fear not! You will not die!"

Consequently Gideon built there 24 an altar to the EVER-LIVING, and it is called "The EVER-LIVING'S Peace," to this day. It is near Afrah of Aliazer.

In the night again the EVER-LIVING 25 said to him, "Take the bull of your father's herd, and a second seven year bull, and overthrow your father's altar to Bal, and break the Shrine that is beside it, and build an altar 26 to your EVER-LIVING GOD, on the top of this refuge on the mound, and take the two bulls, and offer as a burnt-offering with the wood of the shrine which you have broken up."

(B.C. 1249.) Gideon destroys the Altar of Bal.

- 27 So Gideon took ten men of his servants, and did as the EVER-LIVING told him. But because he feared his father's family, and the men of the village, he could not do it by day, so did it by night. When they arose in the morning and observed the altar of Bal thrown down and the shrine that was near it broken, and the two bulls burning upon the altar he had built, then each said to his neighbour, "Who has done these things?" So they examined and enquired, and were told, "Gideon, the son of Yoash, has done them!"
- 30 The people of the village consequently said to Yoash, "Bring out your son and let him die! for he has overthrown the altar of Bal and has broken the shrine that was by it."
- 31 But Yoash replied to all who stood about him, "Would you defend Bal? If he can help you, then he can defend himself! If he is a god he can kill for himself this morning.—Let him defend himself for the overthrowing of his altar!"
- 32 So they named him at once Jerubal, saying, "Let Bal destroy him,—for he overturned his altar."

(B.C. 1248.) Midian and Allies advance to fight Gideon and his Men.

- 33 In consequence the forces of Midian and Amalek, and the Beni-Kedem assembled together, and encamped in the plain of Jezraal. But the Spirit of the EVER-LIVING descended upon Gideon, and he blew the trumpet and summoned the Abiazerites after him, and sent messengers to all Manasseh, and also summoned them after him; and he also sent messengers to Ashur, and Zebulon, and to Naphthali, and they went up to meet him.

(B.C. 1248.) Gideon asks a Proof of God's Call and Help to Himself.

- 36 Then Gideon said to GOD, "If You will save Israel by my hand, as You promised, I will lay this fleece of wool on the level floor;—if the dew is on the fleece only, and dryness upon all the ground, then I shall understand that You will save Israel as You have promised." And he arose in the morning and wrung the fleece, when as much dew ran from the fleece as filled a bucket with water. Gideon, however, said to GOD, 39 "Let not Your anger burn against me, and I will speak once again; I will try another time with the fleece. Let it now be dry on the fleece only, while there is dew on the ground." So the EVER-LIVING made it thus 40 that night. There was dryness in the fleece only, and upon the ground there came dew!

(B.C. 1248.)

Then Jerubal (who was Gideon) 7 arose, and all the people who were with him, and encamped at the Well of Kharod overlooking from the north the camp of Morah upon the plain. But the EVER-LIVING said to Gideon, 2 "There are too many people with you for Me to give the Midianites into your power, for fear Israel should glorify against Me, and say, 'My hand has saved myself!' Therefore, 3 now, proclaim in the hearing of the people, and say 'Who is afraid and timid? Let him return and depart to Mount Gilad.' Consequently twenty-two thousand of the people departed, but there were left ten thousand.

But the EVER-LIVING again said to 4 Gideon, "The people are too many. Order them down to the brook, and there select for yourself; and whoever replies to you thus, 'I will go with you!' let him go with you. But all who say, 'I will not go with you!' let him not go with you." So he 5 took those men with him down to the brook, where the EVER-LIVING said to Gideon, "All who lap with the tongue from the brook, like a dog laps, place them by themselves. And all who bend on the knees to drink." And the number of the 6 lappers from the hand to their mouths was three hundred men, but all the rest of the people knelt on the knee to drink from the brook.

Then the EVER-LIVING said to 7 Gideon, "With the three hundred men who lapped, I will rescue you, and give Midian into your hand." So the people took their staves in 8 their hands and their clothing, and all the force of Israel went off to their homes, except those three hundred brave men. And the camp of Midian was opposite those in the plain.

(a.c. 1248.) Midian and her Allies defeated.

- 9 And night came. Then the LORD said to him:—"Arise! Descend to the camp, for I will give it to your hand! But if you fear the descent, go down with Furah your squire, to 10 the camp, when you will hear what they say, and after that embolden your hand."

The Midianite's Dream of the Barley Cake.

- He therefore descended to the camp, and Furah his squire went down with him to the officers' quarters who were over the camp, 12 where Midian and Analek and the Beni-Kedem were spread over the plain like locusts for number, and their camels were innumerable like dust scattered on the shore of the sea for multitude. But Gideon proceeded, and perceived a man relating a dream to his comrade, who said,
13 "I have dreamed a dream; when I saw a round barley cake thrown into the camp of Midian, and it went to the General's pavilion and struck it, and it fell; but it bounded forward, and another pavilion fell!"
14 Then his comrade answered and said, "That is nothing else than the sword of Gideon-ben-Yoash, the man of Israel! God will give Midian and all this camp into his power!"
15 But when Gideon heard this dream related, and its interpretation, he bowed down, and returned to the camp of Israel, and said, "Arise, for the LORD will give the camp of Midian to your hands!"
16 Then he divided the three hundred men into three divisions, and all of them took trumpets in their hands, with dark lanterns, and lamps inside
17 the dark lanterns; and he said to them, "Watch me; and what I do, you do the same. And when I come to the edge of the camp,—what I do then you also do it. When I blow my trumpet, then all of you blow your trumpets with me all around the camp, and shout, 'The Sword of the LORD and of Gideon.'"
19 Then Gideon and the hundred men with him went to the head-quarters' side of the camp, where the officers were stationed, and sounded the trumpet, and opened the dark lanterns they carried. The three 20 divisions also blew their trumpets, and waved their dark lanterns, and rushed on with the lanterns in their left hands and the trumpets in their right, blowing and shouting, "The Sword of the LORD and of Gideon," and halted outside around the camp, 21 and aroused all in the camp, who fled in terror. But the three hundred continued to blow the trumpets, and the 22 EVER-LIVING turned the sword of each against his comrade in all the camp, and the camp fled in confusion to the edge of the meadows of Nekholah, near Tabath.

Gideon collects the Northern Tribes to join him in the War, but the Chiefs of Ephraim quarrel with him, and refuse to join.

The Man of Israel afterwards summoned Naphthali and Ashur, and all Manasseh, and they followed after Midian. Gideon also sent messengers 24 to the whole of Mount Ephraim, to say; "Descend to meet Midian, and capture from them the fords at Bethbarah and of the Jordan." So they called out every man of Ephraim, and captured the fords at Bethbarah and at the Jordan, and captured the two 25 princes of Midian, Oreb and Zaeb, and killed Oreb at the rock of Oreb, and executed Zaeb at the wine-press of Zaeb, and continued the pursuit of Midian, but they brought the heads of Oreb and Zaeb to Gideon from beyond the Jordan.

The men of Ephraim, however, 8 asked him, "Why have you done this business for us, and not consulted us? for you have gone to war with Midian, and continued with it rashly."

But he answered, "What have I 2 done now more than you? Are not the gleanings of Ephraim better than the vintage of Abiezer? GOD has 3 given to your hand the Princes of Midian, Oreb and Zaeb; so what have I been able to do more than you? Then turn your spirit away from me when speaking about this matter."

Gideon passes over the Jordan without them.

Then Gideon went beyond the Jordan, 4 himself and the three hundred men with him, weary, yet pursuing,

5 and said to the people of Sukoth, "Give, I entreat you, a little bread to the men who are with me, for they are exhausted, and I am pursuing after Zebakh and Tzalmuna, the kings of Midian."

The Chiefs of Sukoth refuse also to supply Men or Food.

6 But the masters of Sukoth replied, "Are the hands of Zebakh and Tzalmuna in your power, that we should give you any bread?"

7 Gideon, however, retorted; "When the EVER-LIVING gives Zebakh and Tzalmuna into my power, then I will inform your governors with thorns from the desert and with briars."

The People of Phnual also refuse Supplies.

8 From there he went to Phnual, and asked them the same, but the men of Phnual answered like the 9 men of Sukoth, so Gideon also replied to the men of Phnual, "When I return with peace, I will throw down this towering Phnual."

(B.C. 1248.) Gideon attacks the Camp of Zebakh and Tzalmuna.

10 Now Zebakh and Tzalmuna were encamped at Karkar with about fifteen thousand men, all they had left them; but with the whole camp of the Beni-Kedem, a hundred and twenty thousand infantry, accomplished swordsmen. Gideon consequently advanced by the lower road to the General's pavilion from the east of Nobakh and Yagbah, and attacked the camp whilst the camp 12 was resting in security. Zebakh and Tzalmuna, however, fled, and he pursued them, and captured both the kings of Midian,—Zebakh and Tzalmuna,—and all the camp was thrown into confusion.

(B.C. 1247.) Gideon returns from Northern Arabia Victorious, and punishes Sukoth.

13 When Gideon-ben-Yoash returned from the war, coming up from the 14 desert, he captured a young man from the people of Sukoth and questioned him, and he described to him the chief men of Sukoth, and the seven aldermen and the seven council men. Then he advanced against the 15 people of Sukoth and said;—"Here are Zebakh and Tzalmuna, about whom you insulted me, saying, 'Is the hand of Zebakh and Tzalmuna in your power yet that we should give bread to your weary men?'" Then he 16 seized the aldermen of the town, and informed the people of Sukoth with the thorns and briars of the desert. Next he threw down the tower of 17 Phnual, and killed the chiefs of the village.

(B.C. 1248.) Zebakh and Tzalmuna brought to Trial for Murdering Gideon's Brothers.

Then he asked Zebakh and Tzalmuna, "What sort of men were they whom you murdered at Thabor?"

And they replied; "Like yourself! Each one in appearance like the distinguished son of a king!"

When he answered, "They were 19 my brothers! Sons of my mother! As GOD lives to me! if you had spared their lives I would not have killed you!"

Then he said to Jether his first 20 born, "Get up and kill them!" But the youth did not draw his sword, because he was afraid,—for he was only a lad. So Zebakh and Tzalmuna 21 said; "Get up yourself and assail us, like a man in his vigour." Gideon then arose and killed Zebakh and Tzalmuna, and took the crescents that were upon the necks of their camels.

(B.C. 1247.) Israel wishes Gideon to be a King.

The Men of Israel afterwards said 22 to Gideon, "Rule over us,—you and your son, and your descendants, for you have saved us from the hand of Midian."

He refuses Kingship, but asks a Share of the Prize captured.

But Gideon replied to them, "I will 23 not be Governor over you; nor shall my son govern you: The EVER-LIVING is your Governor." But 24 Gideon said, "I request each of you to give me a ring from your plunder." (For as they were Ishmaelites they wore gold rings.)

And they replied, "We will give 25 you that gift," so he spread his cloak, and each threw upon it a ring

26 from the plunder; and the gold rings which he asked were one thousand seven hundred shekels in weight, besides the crescents and ear-drops, and cloaks, and the woven shawls of the King of Midian, and the necklaces which were on the necks of the camels. Gideon afterwards made a suit of armour of them, and set it up in his village at Afrah, but all Israel whored after it there, and it became a snare to Gideon and all his house.

28 Midian was thus subdued before the Israelites, and it did not again raise its head, so that the country had rest for forty years in the time of Gideon.

(B.C. 1209.) Gideon dies.

29 Jerub-bal-ben-Yoash, however, returned to his home; and Gideon had seventy sons produced from his loins, for he had many wives. But his secondary wife, who was in Shekem, bore him also a son,—and his name was Abimelek. Then Gideon-ben-Yoash died with good grey hair, and they buried him in the tomb of Yoash his father, in Afrah of Abiezer.

(About B.C. 1203.) Anarchy and Religious Revolt.

33 But when Gideon-ben-Yoash was dead, the Israelites went again and whored after Bal, and chose Bal-Bereth as their god! For the Israelites remembered not their EVER-LIVING GOD, Who redeemed them from the power of all their enemies around. Nor did they act kindly to the family of Jerub-bal-Gideon, for all the good he had done for them.

(B.C. 1203.) Abimelek conspires to become a Chief.

9 Abimelek went to Shekem, and spoke to them, and to all the clan of the house of his mother's father, to say;

2 "I wish you to whisper to the ears of the Balites of Shekem, 'What good is it to you, this government of seventy men?—all the sons of Jerubal—compared to the government of a single man? and remember that I am your bones and flesh!'"

(B.C. 1203.) Abimelek murders his Seventy Brothers.

3 So his mother's relatives whispered all these things about him to the ears of all the Balites of Shekem, and turned their hearts after Abimelek,—for they said 'he is our countryman.' They therefore gave 4 him seventy shekels from the house of Bal-Bereth, with which Abimelek hired seventy vagabonds and reprobates, and they followed him. Then 5 he went to the house of his father in Afrah, and murdered his brothers, the sons of Jerub-bal, seventy men, upon a single stone, except Jotham-ben-Jerubal, the youngest, for he hid himself.

(B.C. 1201.) Abimelek made King of Shekem.

Then all the Balites of Shekem, and 6 the house of Miloa proceeded and went and made Abimelek king, to reign in Alon, the garrison of Shekem.

(B.C. 1201.) Jotham's Parable of the Trees electing a King.

When this was reported to Jotham, 7 he went and stood on Mount Gherizim, and raised his voice, and called to them and said;

"Listen to me, you Balites of Shekem—and let your gods listen!

The Trees seeking a King.

"The trees once went out to elect 8 a king over themselves, and they said to the Olive, 'Will you be king over us?'"

"But the Olive replied to them, 9 'Shall I resign my fatness with which gods and men are delighted, to trouble myself about trees?'"

Then the trees said to the Fig, 10 "Come and be king over us?'"

"When the Fig replied to them, 11 'Shall I abandon my pleasantness, and beautiful fruit, to go and trouble myself about the trees?'"

"Next the trees said to the Vine, 12 'Come and be king over us?'"

"But it answered them, 'Shall I 13 abandon my wine which delights gods and men, and go and trouble myself about the trees?'"

"Then all the trees said to the 14 Bramble, 'Come! You reign over us!'"

"And the Bramble answered the 15 trees; 'If you really consecrate me as YOUR KING,—come here! shelter under me! And if you will not,—fire shall go out from the Bramble, and consume the Cedar of Lebanon!'"

- 16 "So, now, if in truth and uprightness you have made Abimelek your king; and if you have done handsomely to Jerubal and to his family, and if you have done to him according to the work of the hand of my father, who fought for you, and poured out his soul for you, who have risen upon my father's family to-day, and murdered seventy persons on a single stone, and have elected Abimelek, the son of his slave, over the Balites of Shekem, because he is your relative; —then according to the truth and justice with which you have acted towards Jerubal and towards his family to-day, be content with Abimelek, and let him be content with you!
- 20 But if not, let fire come out from Abimelek and consume the Balites of Shekem, and the house of Miloa, and let fire come out from the Balites of Shekem, and from the house of Miloa, and consume Abimelek!"
- 21 Then Jotham fled, and hid himself in Barah, and stayed there from the presence of Abimelek his brother.

(B.C. 1200.) The Balites and Abimelek quarrel.

- 22 When Abimelek had been a chief in Israel for three years, the EVER-LIVING sent a bad feeling between Abimelek and the Balites of Shekem, consequently the Balites of Shekem plotted against Abimelek. The injury done to the seventy sons of Jerubal, and their blood, returned upon Abimelek their brother, who had murdered them, and upon the Balites of Shekem who encouraged his hand to the murder of his brothers.
- 25 So the Balites of Shekem laid an ambush upon the tops of the mountains, and they robbed all who passed near them in the road, and it was reported to Abimelek.

(B.C. 1200.) Gal-ben-Abd conspires against Abimelek.

- 26 Then Gal-ben-Abd came to Shekem with his brothers and passed into it, and the Balites of Shekem confided in him, and went out and reaped their vineyards, and pressed them, and afterwards made a feast, and went to the House of their god, and ate and drank, and cursed Abimelek.
- 28 Then Gal-ben-Abd exclaimed, "Who is Abimelek? and what was Shekem that we should be enslaved? Is he not the son of Jerubal, and Zebul his Lieutenant? They were slaves,—those furious, low-bred bastards;—but why should we be enslaved? But if this people were under my hand, I would turn Abimelek off!"

Then he shouted against Abimelek, "Collect your army and meet me outside!"

(B.C. 1200.) Zebul reports the Revolt to Abimelek.

When Zebul, the Commandant of the city, heard of the speech of Gal-ben-Abd, he was furious, and sent 31 messengers to Abimelek at Tharmah to say;—

"I find Gal-ben-Abd and his brothers have come to Shekem, and that your rivals in the town are against you. So now get up by night, you and all the force with you, and hide in the fields, and at dawn, when the sun rises, advance and attack the city, and then you, and the force you bring with you, can do to him whatever you find in your power."

Abimelek consequently arose that night and all his force with him, and they advanced secretly against Shekem in four divisions. But Gal-ben-Abd went out and stationed himself outside the gate of the town. Then Abimelek and the force with him arose from their ambush, and Gal saw the force, and asked Zebul, "Is that an army descending from the tops of the hills?"

When Zebul replied to him, "You see the shadow of the mountains instead of men!"

But Gal continued to speak and said, "Look! it is a force that descends from the highlands, and one division comes from the road of Alan-Maonim!"

Then Zebul replied to him, "Where now is the mouth which said, 'Who is Abimelek? that we should be enslaved? Is not that the man whom you despised? Now go and fight with him!'"

Abimelek defeats Gal and captures Shekem, but is killed in Victory.

Gal consequently went out with the Balites of Shekem and fought with Abimelek. But Abimelek repulsed him and he fled before him, and many fell wounded before the gate of the town.

- 41 Abimelek then retired to the highlands until Zebul advised Gal and his relatives against remaining in Shekem; so when morning came his army went out to the fields; and he reported it to Abimelek; so he took his force and divided it under three leaders, and lay in ambush in the fields and watched until the army had come clear of the town, when he arose and assailed it.
- 44 Then Abimelek and the Officers who were with him rushed and seized the open gate of the town;—and the two other Leaders charged upon all who were in the fields and repulsed them, whilst Abimelek assailed the town all that day and captured it and killed the people who were in it, and threw down the houses, and sowed it with salt.

(B.C. 1200.) Abimelek assaults the Fort of Shekem.

- 46 When all the Balites of Shekem Tower heard of it, they went to the tower of the House of their god, Brith, and it was reported to Abimelek that all the Balites had assembled at Shekem Tower. Abimelek consequently ascended Mount Zalmon with all his force, where he took an axe and cut boughs from the trees, and hoisted them upon his shoulder, and said to the people who were with him,
- "What you have seen me do, be quick and do the same." So all the army each cut a branch and marched after Abimelek, and piled them against the tower, and set the tower on fire with them, and thus killed all the people in the Tower of Shekem,—about a thousand men and women.

Abimelek besieges Thebez, but is slain.

- 50 Then Abimelek marched to Thebez, and besieged Thebez and captured it. But there was a strong tower in the middle of the town, and all the men and women fled there and shut themselves in, and went to the roof of the Tower.
- 52 Abimelek, however, advanced to the tower and assailed it, and approached close to the door of the tower to consume it with fire, but a woman threw an upper millstone upon the head of Abimelek and broke his skull. When he immediately called to the youth who carried his arms and said, "Draw your sword and kill me! for fear they should say 'a woman killed him!'" So his Squire drew, and killed him. And when the men of Israel saw Abimelek was dead each returned to his home.

Thus GOD turned upon Abimelek the wrong which he did to his father, in murdering his seventy brothers; GOD caused all the wickedness of the men of Shekem to return upon their heads, and brought the curse of Jotham the son of Jerubal upon them.

(B.C. 1183.) Thola-ben-Phuah becomes Leader.

After Abimelek, a man of Issakar, Thola-ben-Phuah, arose to save Israel. He resided in Shamir on Mount Ephraim, and judged Israel for 2 thirteen years, when he died and was buried in Shamir.

(B.C. 1170.) Jair becomes Chief.

Then Jair the Giladite arose after him, and judged Israel for twelve years, and he had thirty sons, who rode upon asses, and they possessed thirty villages, called the villages of Jair to this day. They are in the country of Gilad. When Jair died he was buried in Kamon.

(About B.C. 1161.) Wars of Anarchy, and National Corruption.

Then the Children of Israel repeated the doing of evil in the sight of the EVER-LIVING, and served the Balim and Ashtaroths, and the gods of Aram, and the gods of Zidon, and the gods of Moab, and the gods of the sons of Aram, and the gods of the Philistines, and forsook the EVER-LIVING, and did not serve Him; so the anger of the EVER-LIVING burnt against Israel, and He gave them up to the hand of the Philistines, and to the power of the people of Amon, who crushed and oppressed the Children of Israel, who were in Bashan beyond the Jordan, in the country of the Amorites, and in Gilad, for eighteen years.

(B.C. 1159.) The Amorites ravage all Israel for Eighteen Years.

The Amorites also passed over the Jordan to make war with Judah and Benjamin, and the House of Ephraim, and ravaged Israel greatly. Then the Children of Israel cried to the EVER-LIVING, saying, "We have sinned against You! for we have forsaken our GOD and served the Balim."

- 11 But the EVER-LIVING replied to the Children of Israel, "Have you not the Mitzerites,¹ and the Amorites, and the Beni-Amon, and the Philistines, and the Zidonians, as refuges from oppression for yourselves? that you call to Me to save you from their hand, when you have forsaken Me, and served other gods? Therefore
- 12 I will not continue to save you! Go, and call the gods whom you have chosen for yourselves:—Let them save you in the period of your distress."

(B.C. 1143.) The Distressed and Repentant Nation rebel and seek a Leader.

- 15 The Children of Israel, however, said to the EVER-LIVING, "We have sinned! Do to us all that is good in Your sight! Oh! save us now, today!" And they put away the foreign gods from amongst them, and served the EVER-LIVING, and He stayed His anger against Israel.
- 17 Then the Amonites assembled and encamped in Gilad, and the Children of Israel collected and encamped in Mizpah. But the army said to the Chiefs of Gilad, "We have not a man to lead us. Let the man who is able to fight with the Amonites be the head of all the inhabitants of Gilad!"

(B.C. 1143.) Japhthah chosen as Leader of Gilad.

- 11 Now Japhthah the Giladite was a heroic man:—but he was the son of a foreigner who bore Japhthah to Gilad. His Giladite wife also bore him sons, and that woman's sons grew up, and drove Japhthah out, and said, "You shall not inherit with the family of our father,—for you are the son of a foreigner!" Japhthah consequently fled from the presence of his brothers, and lived in the country of Tob, where Japhthah collected vagabond fellows who came to him.

An Embassy sent to Japhthah.

- 4 This was in the time when the Amonites were at war with the 5 Children of Israel. So the judges of Gilad went to bring Japhthah from the district of Tob. And they said to 6 Japhthah, "Come and be our Leader, and fight for us with the Amonites."

But Japhthah replied to the judges 7 of Gilad, "Did you not hate me, and drive me from the house of my father? Then why should you come to me now that you are in distress?"

The judges of Gilad, however, 8 answered Japhthah, "In spite of that, return now with us, and fight the Amonites, and you shall be the chief of all the inhabitants of Gilad."

Then Japhthah said to the judges of 9 Gilad, "If I return with you to fight the Amonites, and the EVER-LIVING gives them to my advance, am I to be your chief?"

And the judges of Gilad answered 10 Japhthah; "Let the EVER-LIVING decide between us, if it is not done as you say!"

Japhthah accepts the Chieftainship of Gilad.

Japhthah thereupon went with the 11 judges of Gilad, and the people appointed him over themselves as a chief and leader, and Japhthah took the oaths before them in Mizpah.

Japhthah sends a Message to the King of Amon.

Then Japhthah sent Messengers to 12 the king of the Amonites, to say; "What is there between me and you, that you have come to fight me in my country?"

When the king of Amon answered 13 the Messengers of Japhthah, "Because Israel when coming up from the Mitzeraim¹ seized my country from Arnon to the Jabok, and the Jordan. But you cau go back to them in peace."

Second Embassy sent by Japhthah.

But Japhthah sent Messengers again 14 to the king of the Beni-Amon and said 15 to him,

"Japhthah replied thus; 'Israel did not seize the country of Moab and the country of the Beni-Amon, for in 16 the coming up from the Mitzeraim,¹ Israel went in the desert by the Red Sea, and came to Kadesh, when Israel 17 sent Messengers to the king of Edom to say,—"I wish to pass over by your country;" but the king of Edom, and the king of Moab, replied that they were not willing; therefore Israel 18 halted at Kadesh, and marched into the desert, and went round the land of Moab, and encamped at the river Arnon, and did not invade the bounds of Moab—for the Arnon was the boundary of Moab. From there 19 Israel sent ambassadors to Sihon¹ the king of the Amorites,—king of Heshbon,—and said to him, "I, Israel, would pass through your country to 20 my place." But Sihon would not trust Israel to pass through his boundaries; so Sihon collected all his forces, and encamped at Jaztz, 21 and fought with Israel. The EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel, however, gave Sihon and all his army to the hand of Israel, and Israel conquered all the country of the Amorites residing in 22 that region, and acquired all the region of the Amorites from the Arnon to the Jabok, and from the 23 desert to the Jordan;—and since the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel has driven the Amorites before His People, 24 —yet you would possess! Cannot you possess what Kemosh your god has caused you to possess?—and whatever our EVER-LIVING GOD has caused us to possess, we shall possess for ourselves.

¹ Egyptians.—F. F.

¹ Egypt.—F. F.

25 "'And now, are you better than Balak-ben-Tziior, the great king of Moab? Greater than Israel? If you can fight with them, fight with them!

26 "'Israel, however, has dwelt in Heshbon and its villages, and in Aroar, and its villages, and all the towns along the Arnon three hundred years, so why have you not recovered
 27 them during that period? And I myself have not offended you, but you have done wrong to me in making war upon me. Let the EVER-LIVING as Judge decide to-day between the Children of Israel and the Beni-Amon."

The King of Amon refuses Peace.

28 But the king of the Amonites would not listen to the words that Japhthah sent to him.

Japhthah declares War.

29 Then the Spirit of the EVER-LIVING came upon Japhthah and he passed through Gilad and Manasseh, and advanced to Mizpah of Gilad: for Mizpah of Gilad was in subjection to the Beni-Amon. Therefore Japhthah³⁰ vowed a vow to the EVER-LIVING, and said:—

¹ Sihon = Sikkon, in Hebrew.—F. F.

Japhthah's Vow.

"If you will deliver the Beni-Amon to my hand, then whatever first comes 31 out of the doors of my house to meet me, upon my returning with peace from the Beni-Amon, shall be the LORD'S, and shall be offered as an offering!"

Japhthah conquers the Amonites.

Japhthah then advanced against the 32 Beni-Amon to fight with them, and the EVER-LIVING gave them into his power, and he conquered from them
 33 Aroar, and as far as the Pass of Minith,—twenty villages,—and onwards to the vine-fields,—a very great conquest. Thus the Amonites were subjected to the Children of Israel.

Japhthah's Despair at his only Daughter falling under his Vow.

Her Sublime Faith.

When, however, Japhthah returned
 34 to Mizpah to his home, his daughter came out to meet him with timbrels and dances, and except her alone there was no child to his house.
 35 So when she approached him he tore his robes, and said, "Alas! my daughter! You have overwhelmed me with sorrow, and you are my grief! for I have opened my mouth to the EVER-LIVING,—and I am not able to go back!"

But she answered him, "My father,
 36 if you have opened your mouth to the EVER-LIVING, do to me according to what has come out from your mouth, since the EVER-LIVING has made a triumph for you over your enemies, the Beni-Amon!"

Then she asked her father, "Grant
 37 this thing to me, give me two months that I may go and wander on the hills and lament for my maidenhood, I and my friends."

And he replied, "Go!" and sent 38 her away for two months. So she and her friends went, and lamented over her girlhood upon the mountains.

But at the end of the two months 39 she returned to her father, and he did to her as he had vowed, and she knew no man. Thus it became an institution in Israel, that from year to year the girls of Israel should go to celebrate the daughter of Japhthah, the Giladite, for four days yearly.

(B.C. 1143.) The Ephraimites assail Japhthah and begin a Civil War.

12 But the men of Ephraim assembled, and advanced northward, and demanded of Japhthah, "Why did you proceed to war with the Amonites, and not invite us to go with you? We will burn your house over you with fire!"

2 But Japhthah replied to them; "There was a great contention between myself and the people with me, and the Beni-Amon and I applied to you, but you did not save me from their power. When I saw that you would not save, I took my life in my hand, and advanced against the Amonites, and the EVER-LIVING gave them into my power. Then why do you ascend to-day against me to fight with me?"

(B.C. 1142.) Japhthah defeats Ephraim with great slaughter.

The Shibolet.

4 Consequently Japhthah assembled all the army of Gilad and fought the Ephraimites, and the men of Gilad defeated Ephraim.

Then the men of Gilad said to themselves; "Ephraim will escape between the Ephraimites and Manassites!" so they captured the fords of the Jordan from Ephraim, and when any one of the fugitives of Ephraim said, "I wish to pass over," the men of Gilad replied to him, "Are you an Ephraimite?" and if he answered, "No," they replied to him, "Say 'Shibolet,'" and he responded, "Shibolet," for he was not able to pronounce it. Then they seized and slew him at the fords the Jordan, so there fell at that time forty-two thousand of the Ephraimites.

7 Japhthah afterwards judged in Israel for six years. Then Japhthah the Giladite died and was buried in the City of Gilad.

(B.C. 1137.) Abzan becomes a Ruler.

8 After him Abzan, the Bethlehemite, judged in Israel, and he had thirty sons, and thirty daughters sent out, and thirty daughters came in to his sons from without, and he judged Israel seven years. Then Abzan died and they buried him in Bethlehem.

(B.C. 1130.) Ailan becomes a Ruler.

Then Ailan the Zebulonite judged in Israel after him, and he judged in Israel ten years. Then Ailan the Zebulonite died, and they buried him in the country of Zebulon.

(B.C. 1120.) Abdon ben-Hilel becomes a Ruler.

But after him Abdon-ben-Hilel the Phirathanite judged in Israel, and he had forty sons and thirty grandsons who rode on seventy asses, and he judged in Israel eight years.

(B.C. 1112.)

Then Abdon-ben-Hilel the Phirathanite died, and they buried him in Phirathan in the country of Ephraim, in the mount of the Amalekites.

(B.C. 1161 to 1120.) The Birth of Samson.—Anarchy, and the Conquest by the Philistines.

1 Then the Children of Israel repeated the doing of wrong in the sight of the EVER-LIVING, so the EVER-LIVING delivered them into the hand of the Philistines for forty

1 From the death of Gideon in 1226 B.C. to the rise of Saul absolute anarchy seems, from the Historian's narrative, to have existed in all the Hebrew Commonwealth, from the Euphrates on the East to the Mediterranean Sea on the West, only diversified by the ravages of the Arabian and Mesopotamian Robber Chieftains, and the revolt of the aboriginal tribes whom Moses and Joshua had subdued. The JUDGES whose names were selected by Isaiah to serve as landmarks for the chronology of his history were only Hebrew Insurgent Leaders, who ruled by personal influence in small districts of the country around their homes so long as vigour and life lasted. They must not be looked upon as in any sense National Presidents of the Commonwealth of Israel. The Historian is careful to make this clear in his narrative. It is only comparatively modern Translators and Commentators who have obscured the fact by their ignorance. I have tried to clear their obscurities away, and restore the history of Isaiah to the original clarity of the Prophet. At Ch. xlii. we step back to 1161, to introduce the history of Samson, whose career began a revival of the Hebrew national spirit.—F. FENTON.

- 2 years. But there was a remarkable man of Tzarah of the family of Dan, and his name was Manoh, but his wife was barren,—she was childless.
- 3 A Messenger of the EVER-LIVING, however, appeared to his wife, and said to her, "Look, now, you barren and childless woman! you shall conceive and bear a son! But guard yourself, and drink neither wine nor beer, and eat no grapes; for you shall conceive and bear a son, upon whose head no razor shall go; for the youth shall be a Nazarite to GOD from his birth, and he shall be strong and save Israel from the hand of the Philistines."
- 6 The woman therefore went and said to her husband, "A man from GOD has come to me, and his appearance was like a Messenger of GOD, very bright, but I did not ask him if he was so,—and he did not tell me his name, but he said to me, 'See! you shall conceive and bear a son; and you shall not drink wine or beer, nor eat any grapes, for the youth shall be a Nazarite to GOD from his birth to the day of his death!'"
- 8 So Manoh entreated the EVER-LIVING, and said, "Let the man whom You have sent appear, GOD, to me. Let him come again to us, that we may learn what the youth who is to be born must do." The EVER-LIVING, therefore, listened to the voice of Manoh, and the Messenger of GOD came again to the woman, when she was sitting in the field and Manoh her husband was not with her. But the woman hastened and ran and informed, and said to him, "The man who came the other day to me has appeared to me." So Manoh arose and followed his wife and came to the man, and asked him, "Are you the man who spoke to this woman?" And he replied, "I am."
- 12 Then Manoh said, "May your word come true! What does the EVER-LIVING decide that the youth shall do?"
- 13 And the Messenger of the EVER-LIVING answered to Manoh, "Your wife must abstain from all that I said; from all that comes from the vine. She shall not eat of the vine. She shall not drink wine, and she shall not drink beer. She shall also eat no grapes,—she must abstain from all that I have commanded."
- 15 Then Manoh replied to the

Messenger of the EVER-LIVING,— "Stay here, and I will present to you a goat's kid."

But the Messenger of the EVER-LIVING replied to Manoh, "If I stay, I will not eat of your bread; but if you make an offering to the EVER-LIVING, offer it." (For Manoh did not know he was a Messenger of the EVER-LIVING.)

Then Manoh asked the Messenger of the EVER-LIVING, "What is your name? that I may come to you and bless you?"

But the Messenger of the EVER-LIVING asked him, "Why do you ask my name,—when it is Wonderful?"

Then Manoh took a goat's kid, and a bread offering, and went up on to the rock to the EVER-LIVING and set the offering apart. And Manoh and his wife watched them. But when the flame went up from the altar to the skies, the Messenger of the EVER-LIVING also went up in the flame of the altar, and Manoh and his wife saw him and they fell upon their faces to the earth. The Messenger of the EVER-LIVING, however, did not again appear to Manoh or his wife after he had recognised that he was a Messenger of the EVER-LIVING.

Manoh consequently said to his wife, "We shall die,—for we have seen a god!"

But she replied to him, "If the EVER-LIVING intended to kill us He would not have received a burnt-offering from our hands, and we should not have seen all this, and He would not have listened to us as He has."

The woman afterwards bore a son, and called his name Samson,¹ and the lad grew great, and the EVER-LIVING blessed him, and the Mighty Spirit of the EVER-LIVING impelled him to the camp of Da3 between Tzarah and Ashthal.

(B.C. 1141.) Samson falls in Love with a Philistine Girl and marries her.

But Samson descended to Thimnath, and saw a woman in Thimnath, a Philistine girl; so he returned and told his father and mother, and said, "I have seen a woman in Thimnath, ¹ "The Brilliant," in Hebrew.—F. F.

a Philistine girl, so I wish you to obtain her as a wife for me."

- 3 But his father and mother replied, "Is there not a girl related to you? or a woman in all your nation? that you should go and take a wife from the foul Philistines."

Samson, however, exclaimed to his father and mother, "Get her for me! for she is perfect in my eyes!"

- 4 For his father and mother did not know that it was given to him from the EVER-LIVING to seek a wife from the Philistines, although at that period the Philistines governed in Israel.

- 5 Consequently Samson and his father and mother descended to Thimnath. (Once formerly, when he had gone to the vineyards of Thimnath, a young lion had roared at his approach, and the Spirit of the EVER-LIVING had fallen upon him, and he had torn it in two like tearing a kid,—but had not told his father or his mother what he had done.)—

- 6 So they went down and spoke to the woman, who was perfect in the eyes of Samson, and stayed some time for the marriage.—But he went aside one day to look at the carcase of the lion, and observed a swarm of bees in the skeleton, and honey, so he took some into his hand, and walked along, and ate as he walked with his father and mother. Then he gave them some, and they ate, but he did not tell them that he had taken the honey from the skeleton of a lion.

7 So they went down and spoke to the woman, who was perfect in the eyes

- 8 of Samson, and stayed some time for the marriage.—But he went aside one day to look at the carcase of the lion, and observed a swarm of bees

- 9 in the skeleton, and honey, so he took some into his hand, and walked along, and ate as he walked with his father and mother. Then he gave them some, and they ate, but he did not tell them that he had taken the honey from the skeleton of a lion.

Samson's Feast and Riddle.

- 10 Afterwards when his father came down to see his wife, Samson made a feast, as young men are accustomed. He had visitors also with him, and he chose thirty friends who were to stay with him, and Samson said to them, "Let us agree together to ask riddles. If you can guess mine in the seven days of the feast, and relate it, I will give you thirty shirts and thirty suits of clothes! But if you are not able to guess it for me, then you shall give me thirty shirts and thirty suits of clothing!"

When they replied to him, "Tell your riddle, and we will listen!"

- 14 So he said to them;—
"There came meat from the Eater; and from the Strong came sweetness."

And they were not able to guess the riddle by the third day. But, 15 when the seventh day came, they said to Samson's wife, "Open your husband, and explain the riddle for us, or we will burn you, and destroy your father's house with fire! unless you tell it to us!"

Samson's wife consequently wept 16 to him, and said, "You hate me now, and do not love me,—you have not explained that riddle to me and my relatives!"

But he answered her, "I have not explained it to my father and mother,—so why should I explain it to you?"

She consequently wept over him 17 the seven days that the feast lasted, and when the seventh day came he explained it to her,—for she wore him out,—and she explained it to her relatives. So the men of the village 18 said to him at the end of the seventh day at sunset:—

"What is sweeter than honey? And what stronger than a lion?"

But he replied to them, "If you had not ploughed with my heifer, you would not have found out my riddle." Then the spirit of enthusiasm came 19 upon him, and he went down to Ashkalon, and killed there thirty men, and took their clothing, and gave the suits to the guessers of his riddle,—but he was furious, and went off to the house of his father.

The wife of Samson, however, was 20 left with the companions who had accompanied him.

Samson comes to fetch his Wife.

Her Father refuses him.

Afterwards when the time of wheat 15 harvest came Samson visited his wife with a goat's kid, and said, "I wish to go to my wife's chamber." But her father would not allow him to enter. Her father also remarked, 2 "I said to myself, he hates her. So I have given her to your friend. Is not her younger sister handsomer than she? I will give her to you instead of her!"

(B.C. 1140.) Samson's Revenge.

He fires the Philistines' Cornfields.

Samson, however, replied to him, 3 "I will be revenged this time on the Philistines for doing me wrong!" and went and caught three hundred foxes, and took torches and

5 tied their tails together, and fixed a torch between the two tails, then fired the torches and sent them amongst the cornfields of the Philis-6 tines, and burnt the shocks and standing corn, and the olive-yards. When the Philistines enquired, "Who has done this?" they were told, "Samson, the son-in-law of the Thimnite, because he took his wife and gave her to his companion." The Philistines therefore went up and burnt her and 7 her father with fire. But Samson said to them, "Because you have done this, I will be revenged upon 8 you, and then I will cease!" So he smote them hip and thigh with a great slaughter. Then he went and occupied a cavern in the precipice of Aitan.

(B.C. 1140.) The Philistines in Revenge plunder Judea, and demand Samson, but he slaughters a thousand of them with the Jaw of an Ass.

9 The Philistines afterwards went up and encamped in Judah, and ad-10 vanced to Balkhi. When the men of Judah asked "Why have you advanced against us?" they replied
 "You must hand over to us Samson for us to do what we intend to him."
 11 Three thousand men therefore went from Judah to the cavern in the precipice of Aitan, and said to Samson, "Do you not know that the Philistines govern us? Then why have you done this to us?" When he replied, "As they did to me, I have done to them!"
 12 But they answered him, "We have come to bind you, and give you to the hands of the Philistines." Samson only said to them,
 "Swear to me that you will not assail me yourselves!"
 13 So they replied to him saying, "We will only bind you and deliver you to their hands; and we will not kill you." Then they bound him with two new ropes and hoisted him down 14 from the cliff. But when they came to Lekhi, and the Philistines shouted at his approach, an enthusiasm fell upon him and he smashed the manacles that were upon his arms like burnt flax, and snapped the cords 15 off his hands, and finding the fresh jaw-bone of an ass, he put out his hand and seized it, and killed a thousand men with it! Then Samson 16 exclaimed;—

"With the jaw-bone of an ass,
 I have made them asses!—
 With the jaw-bone of an ass,
 I've slain a thousand men!"

And as he ceased speaking he threw 17 the jaw-bone from his hand, and named the place "Jaw-hill."¹

Samson's Exhaustion after the Fight.

His Prayer.

Then he was terribly exhausted, 18 and cried to the EVER-LIVING, and said, "You have given this great victory to the hand of Your servant, and now I shall die for thirst, or fall by the hand of the uncircumcised."

Then GOD opened the well at 19 Balkhi, and water came from it, and he drank and his spirit returned to him, and he survived; therefore he called its name "Prayer-well," which is in Balkhi² to this day. He after- 20 wards judged in Israel during the Philistine period, twenty years.

(B.C. 1139.) Samson caught by a Harlot at Gaza, but escapes.

Samson once went to Gaza, and 16 saw a woman, a harlot, and went to her. The Gazites said, "Samson 2 has come." So they surrounded and laid an ambush for him all night at the gate of the city, and waited all the night, saying, "At dawn of day we will kill him!"

But Samson lay down till midnight. 3
 Then he arose at midnight and pulled up the doors of the city gate with the two posts, and the cross bar, and placed them on his shoulders and carried them to the top of the hill that is opposite Hebron.

(B.C. 1138.) Samson entangled by the Harlot, Delilah of Shorok.

And after this he loved a woman in 4
 the vale of Shorok, and her name was Delilah; so the lords of the Philis- 5
 tines went to her, and said, "Pump him, and find out in what his great strength consists, and in what way we can master and chain him to destroy him, and we will each give you one thousand one hundred shekels."

¹ Ramath-lekhi, in Hebrew.—F. F.

² V. 19. Balkhi, "At the Jaw."—F. F.

Delilah tries to betray Samson, but fails.

- 6 Delilah consequently said to Samson, "Tell me, now, in what your strength consists? And in what way they could bind and destroy you?"
- 7 And Samson answered her, "If they bind me with seven wet ropes that have never been dried, I shall become feeble like an ordinary man."
- 8 So the lords of the Philistines brought to her seven wet ropes that had never been dried, and she bound him with them, while an ambush hid in her chamber. Then she exclaimed to him, "The Philistines are upon you, Samson!" but he snapped the ropes as he would snap a thread of tow burnt in the fire. Consequently his power was not discovered.
- 10 Therefore Delilah said to Samson, "I see you are laughing at me, and telling me lies! Tell me now how could I bind you?"

(B.C. 1127.) Samson, however, decludes.

- 11 So he replied to her, "If I am bound with fresh willows that have not been used in any work, I shall become feeble and be like a common man!"
- 12 Delilah accordingly took fresh willows, and bound him with them, and then exclaimed to him, "The Philistines are upon you, Samson!" (and an ambush was laid in the chamber), but he snapped them off his arms like a thread.

(B.C. 1121.) Delilah continues to try and find the Secret of his Strength, to betray him, and succeeds,

- 13 Delilah afterwards said to Samson, "So far you have laughed at me, and told me lies! Tell me, how can I bind you?" And he answered her, "If the seven plaits of my hair are woven in a loom!"
- 14 So she fastened them to the loom, and exclaimed to him, "The Philistines are upon you, Samson!" when he awoke from his sleep, and pulled up the pins of the loom with the web.
- 15 Then she exclaimed, "What! Do you say you love me, when your heart is not mine? These three times you have laughed at me, and not told me in what your great strength consists!" So when she had worn him out by talking every day, and worried and exhausted his life to death, he told her the whole of his heart, and said "A razor has never gone upon my head, for I was devoted to God from birth. If I were shaved, then my strength would leave me and I should become feeble like another man."

Then Delilah saw that he had told her all his heart, and she sent and called the lords of the Philistines, saying, "Come up now, for he has told me all his heart!" The lords of the Philistines consequently went up to her, and they brought the money with them. And she laid him asleep on her lap, and called to a man who cut off the seven plaits of his head, and broke and degraded him,—and his strength went from him.

Then she exclaimed, "The Philistines are upon you, Samson!" and he awoke from his sleep, and said, "I will go out, for once, for a time, and refresh myself," but he did not know that the EVER-LIVING had left him! The Philistines then seized him, and put out his eyes, and look him down to Gaza, and bound him in chains, and he ground at the mill in the prison with slaves.

But he awaited the growing up of the hair of his head that had been shaved.

(B.C. 1120.) The Philistines make a Thanksgiving Feast to Dagon for Samson's being captured.

Meantime the lords of the Philistines prepared to sacrifice a great sacrifice to Dagon, their god, and to triumph, for they said, "Our god has given Samson our enemy into our power!" They therefore showed him to the people and praised their god, for they said, "Our god has given our enemy into our power, who wasted our country, and who caused us much trouble." And when their hearts were delighted they exclaimed, "Bring Samson and let him make sport for us!"

Samson's Prayer and Tragic Death.

So they brought Samson from the Slaves' Prison, and he made sport before them, and they placed him

26 between the pillars. Then Samson said to the warder who had him by the hand, "Come near to me, and place me by the pillars upon which the building is supported, that I may rest myself on them."

27 Now the building was full of men and women, and all the lords of the Philistines were there, and about three thousand men and women looking at the sport of Samson.

28 Then Samson prayed to the EVER-LIVING, and said,

"EVER-LIVING GOD, remember me now, and strengthen me this time also, my GOD, and I shall be at once revenged for my two eyes, upon the 29 Philistines." Then Samson grasped the two central pillars upon which the building was supported,—one with his right and the other with his left hand,—and Samson exclaimed, "Perish my life with the Philistines," and bent with might, and the building fell upon the lords, and upon all the people who were in it,—so the dead whom he killed with his death were more than he had killed in his life.

31 His relatives and all the house of his father descended, however, and carried him away, and buried him between Tzarah and Ashtaol in the tomb of Manoh his father. But he judged in Israel twenty years.

ILLUSTRATIONS OF ISRAEL'S ANARCHY.

(From 1406 to 1120 B.C.)

Mikah and the Danites, and his Teraph. An Historical Poem.

17 There was a man in Mount 2 Ephraim, named Mikah, who said to his mother, "Those eleven hundred of silver which were taken from you, and about which you cursed and swore in my hearing,—I have your money; I stole it." And his mother replied, "The EVER-LIVING bless you, my son!"

3 So he returned the eleven hundred of money to his mother, when she said to him, "I had consecrated that money to the EVER-LIVING on account of my son, to make an image, and a shrine; but now I will give it to you!"

4 He, however, returned it to his mother. But he took two hundred of the money, and gave it to a silversmith, who made an image and a shrine, and it was in the house of Mikah, and Mikah made it a House of gods, and made an ephod and a teraph, and also set aside one of his sons, and he was the priest to it.

REFRAIN.

There was no king in Israel in 6 those days;—
Each did what was right in his own eyes.

There was also a youth of Bethle- 7 hem-judah, in the clan of Judah, but he was a Levite, who resided there. And the man went from the village of 8 Bethlehem-judah to settle where he might find a home, and he came to Mount Ephraim, to the house of Mikah, in making his journey, when 9 Mikah asked him, "From where do you come?" And he answered "I am a Levite from Bethlehem-judah, and I am going to settle in Ashur."

But Mikah said to him, "Stay 10 with me, as a father and a priest, and I will pay you ten silvers a year, and a suit of robes, and your board."

So the Levite consented, and the 11 Levite was content to settle with the man Mikah, and the youth became to him as one of his sons. Mikah 12 also appointed the Levite, and the young man became his priest, and lived in the house of Mikah. Con- 13 sequently Mikah said, "Now I know that the EVER-LIVING will prosper me, because I have got a Levite for a priest."

REFRAIN.

There was no king in Israel in 18 those days;—
Each did what was right in his own eyes.

At that time the tribe of Dan was seeking itself a district for settlement, for it had not obtained until that period a district amongst the tribes of Israel. The Danites con- 2 sequently sent five men from their clan, all of them bold fellows, from Tzarah and Ashtaol, to examine the country and search it, and said to them, "Go, search the country." So they came to Mount Ephraim, to the house of Mikah, and lodged

3 there. While they were in the house of Mikah they recognised the voice of the young Levite, and were attracted by it, and said to him, "When did you come here? And what do you do here? and for how much?"

4 And he answered them, "Mikah does this and that for me, and hires me, and I am his priest."

5 When they replied to him, "Enquire, now, of GOD, and learn the result of the journey that we are going upon."

6 And the priest answered them, "Go in peace! The EVER-LIVING accompanies the way you are going!"

7 So the five men went and arrived at Lashah, and saw that the people inhabited it in security under the government of Zidon, quietly and securely, and there were no soldiers in the country. It was controlled and administered from Zidon, and they had no troubles for themselves.

8 When they returned to their relatives at Tzarah and Ashthaol, they

9 asked, "What about them?" When they replied, "Come on and let us assail them, for we have seen the country, and it is very beautiful. Go, you idlers, do not delay to march, and go to 10 seize the country;—for you will come to a quiet people, and a land of extensive forests, which GOD will give to your hands,—a place where there is no want of anything that is upon earth!"

11 Consequently from the clan of the Danites there marched from Tzarah and Ashthaol six hundred men, all of 12 them skilled warriors, and they advanced and encamped at Krith-Jarim in Judah,—therefore they called that place Dan's camp to this day. It is 13 behind Krith-Jarim. From there they crossed Mount Ephraim, and proceeded to the house of Mikah.

14 There the five men who had gone to spy the country of Lashah remarked to their companions, "Do you know that there is amongst these houses an ephod, and a teraphim, and an image, and a shrine,—so now you know what to do!"

15 They consequently turned aside, and came to the house of the young Levite, near the house of Mikah, and

16 wished him peace, while the six hundred men of the Danites armed with warlike weapons stood before the

17 door, and the five men who had been to spy out the country entered and took the image, and the ephod, and the teraphim, and the shrine. But the priest asked "What are you doing?" When they answered him, 18 "Be quiet! Put your hand on your mouth, and go with us, and be our father and priest. Is it better for you to be priest to the family of one man, or to be priest to a tribe and clan in Israel?"

So the heart of the priest was satisfied, and he took the ephod, and the teraphim, and the image, and went along with the army: who faced 20 about and marched, and placed the children and baggage, and precious things in front of them.

When they had proceeded to a distance from the house of Mikah, the people who were employed in Mikah's family, shouted and followed the Danites, and called to the Danites,

21 who turned on them and said to Mikah, "What is the matter with you, that you are shouting?"

And he answered, "You have stolen the god I made for myself, and the priest, and marched off!—so what have I left? And yet you ask me, 'What is the matter with you?'"

But the Danites replied to him;

22 "Don't let us hear your noise! For fear some rough fellows should rush out on you,—and take your life, and the lives of your family." Then the 23 Danites went along their way, and Mikah, seeing they were stronger than himself, faced about and returned to his own house.

Thus they stole what Mikah had

24 made, and the priest who had come to him, and went to Lashah, to a people peaceable and quiet, and assailed them, and burnt their city with fire, and there was no deliverance, for

25 they were far from Zidon, and had no intercourse with any person. They afterwards settled in the vale of Beth-rekhob, where they built a town, and

26 called it Dan-town, after the name of their ancestor Dan, who was born to Israel, but the name of the place was formerly Lashah. The Danites also

27 set up for themselves the image, and Jonathan-ben-Ghersham-ben-Masheh, he and his sons, were priests to the tribe of Dan until the time of

28 removing from the country, and they

29 worshipped the image that Mikah made all the period that the House of God was at Shiloh.

30

31

THE CRIME OF GIBEAH: AN HISTORICAL POEM.

(The date is uncertain when the crime was committed.—F. F.)

- 19 It was also in the period when there was no king in Israel, that a certain Levite resided at the back of Mount Ephraim, and he married a woman of Bethlehem-Judah, as a second wife, but this second wife deserted him and went from him to the house of her father at Bethlehem-Judah, and was there for a period of four months.
- 3 Then her husband arose and went after her to speak to her heart, to cause her to return and attend him. So he mounted his ass and went to the house of her father, and saw the girl's father, who was glad to meet him. And his father-in-law, the father of the girl, comforted him, and he stayed with him three days, and they ate and drank, and rested there.
- 5 When the fourth day came, they got up in the morning, and he arose to depart, but the father of the girl, his father-in-law, said, "Refresh your heart with a little bread, and go after that." So he stayed and both of them ate together and drank. Then the father of the girl said to the man, "Be content now, and stay and let your heart enjoy itself." But the man arose to go. However his father-in-law pressed him, so he sat down and stayed there. However he got up on the morning of the fifth day to go, when the father of the girl said, "Comfort your heart, and delay till the turn of the day." So they ate and drank. Then the man arose to go, he and his wife, and servant, but his father-in-law, the father of the girl, said, "See now the day is stretching towards dusk. Lodge now here pleasantly to-day. Rest, then, and enliven your heart, and get up to-morrow morning for your journey and go to your own home."
- 10 The man, however, was unwilling to stay, but arose and went, and arrived opposite to Jebus—that is Jerusalem,—where his saddled asses broke down with him and his wife, when they were near Jebus, and the day was nearly ended, so the attendant said to his master, "Let us go, now, and turn into this city of the Jebusi, and lodge there."
- 12 But his master said to him, "I will not turn to a town of foreigners where there are none of the Children of Israel. Let us pass over to Gibeah. Therefore," he added to the lad, "come, let us enter one of these places, for we will lodge in Gibeah, or in Rama."

So they passed on and marched and came to the south side of Gibeah of Benjamin, and they turned towards it to go and lodge in Gibeah, and went and sat in the square of the town, but no person invited them to his house to lodge.

At last an old man came from his work in the fields, at dusk—a man from Mount Ephraim, who was a resident in Gibeah—but his wife was a native of Benjamin. Raising his eyes he saw the man at a distance in the square of the town, and the old man said, "Where do you go? and whence do you come?"

And they replied to him, "We are crossing from Bethlehem-Judah to the back of Mount Ephraim, from where I am, but I came to Bethlehem-Judah, and I am returning to the House of the EVER-LIVING. But no man has invited me to his house, although we have straw and provender for our asses, and food and wine for myself and my waiting woman and lad. We want nothing at all except shelter."

Then the old man said; "Peace be with you! Bring your asses with you to me! Only do not lodge in the street." So he took them to his house, and foddered the asses, and washed their feet, and they ate and drank.

They were cheering their hearts when the men of the town, sons of Belial, surrounded the house, knocked at the doors, and said to the master of the house, the old man, "Bring out the man who has come to your house, that we may outrage him!"

But the master of the house went out to them, and said, "No, my friends! Do not inflict wrong upon me, I pray,—since this man has come to my house, do not commit this wickedness! I have two maiden daughters, and his servant-wife, I will bring them out to you, and you can outrage them,—and do to them what pleases you! But to this man do not such a loathsome thing."

25 But the men would not listen to him; so the man seized his servant-wife, and sent her out to them outside, and they outraged her, and maltreated her all the night, until daybreak, but went away from her at 26 the departure of darkness. Then at the arrival of dawn the woman came,—and fell before the doorway of the man's house, whereshe had been outraged until daylight.

27 Her master also arose at daybreak and opened the doors of the house, and came out to proceed on his journey and saw the woman, his servant-wife, fallen before the house with her hands upon the doorstep,
28 and he said to her, "Get up and come along!" But she spoke not. Then he brought the ass and lifted the woman up, and went to his place, 29 and entered his house, where he took a knife, and seized his servant-wife and divided her corpse into twelve pieces and sent to all the 30 countries of Israel, and all who saw it said, "There has not been, nor has there been seen anything like this from the time the Children of Israel came up from the Mitzeraim until this day! Apply yourselves to it,—consult, and speak!"

20 All the Children of Israel then went out and assembled the Parliament unanimously from Dan to Beersheba, and the country of Gilad, to the 2 EVER-LIVING at Mizpah, where the Chiefs of the people of all the tribes of Israel presented themselves as an assembly of the people before GOD, with four hundred thousand men, disciplined soldiers.

3 The Benjaminites, however, heard that the Children of Israel had gone up to Mizpah where the Children of Israel asked, "Who has committed
4 this crime?" And the Levite, the husband of the woman who had been murdered, answered, and said, "I and my servant-wife came to Gibeah
5 of Benjamin to lodge, when the blackguards of Gibeah rose upon me, and surrounded the house at night, purposing to murder me, and they 6 outraged my wife until she died. So I took my wife and cut her to pieces, and sent her to all the land possessed by Israel, because they had com-7 mitted such a crime in Israel. Now,

Sons of Israel, apply to the matter—and consult about it!"

Then all the Parliament arose as 8 one man and exclaimed, "Let no man go to his home, nor any man return to his house, for this is what 9 shall be done to Gibeah,—we will assail it by lot, and we will select ten 10 men in a hundred, from every tribe of Israel, and a hundred from a thousand, and a thousand from ten thousand, as a provisional draft of the army for action, and send them against Gibeah of Benjamin, because of the great crime they have committed in Israel, and all the people 11 of Israel shall approach the town as if united in one man."

However, the tribes of Israel sent 12 officers to all the tribe of Benjamin to enquire;—"What crime is this which has occurred amongst you? Therefore, now, give up those men, 13 sons of Belial, who are in Gibeah, and we will execute them, and burn out the crime from Israel."

The Benjaminites, however, would not listen to the voice of their countrymen the Children of Israel, but 14 assembled from their villages to Gibeah, to prepare for war with the Children of Israel, and the Benjaminites 15 at that period could collect from their towns twenty-six thousand disciplined men, besides the inhabitants of Gibeah,—and they amounted to seven hundred chosen men. These 16 seven hundred skilful men were more than a numerous force. All of them were both-handed at slinging stones to a hair's breadth, and never missed.

But Israel stood up, without 17 Benjamin, four hundred thousand men, all of them disciplined soldiers, men of war, and they arose and 18 advanced to Bethel, and enquired of GOD—where the Children of Israel asked, "Who of us shall go up to open the war with the Benjaminites?" When the LORD replied, "Judah shall open it."

The Children of Israel accordingly
19 arose at dawn and camped before Gibeah, and the leader of Israel 20 advanced to fight with Benjamin, and the Israelites proceeded from the camp towards Gibeah. But the 21 Benjaminites came out from Gibeah, and left Israel that day twenty-two thousand men on the ground. The 22 army of the men of Israel, however, were bold, and continued to prosecute the war from the spot they had 23 advanced to on the first day. The Children of Israel also went up and wept before the EVER-LIVING until the evening, and enquired of the EVER-LIVING asking, "Shall we continue to pursue the war with the Benjaminites, our countrymen?" And the EVER-LIVING replied, "Go up against them."

24 The Israelites consequently approached the Benjaminites on the second day, and Benjamin came out to meet them, from Gibeah, and they destroyed of the Children of Israel on the field eighteen thousand men, all 26 of whom were trained soldiers.

So all the Israelites therefore went up, and all the army came to Bethel, and they wept and sat there before 27 the EVER-LIVING. The Children of Israel also enquired of the EVER-LIVING, and placed the Ark of the 28 Covenant of GOD at their right hand, and Phinehas, a descendant of Aliazer-ben-Aaron, stood before it on the right hand of them, and said, "Continue still to go to war with the Benjaminites your countrymen, until defeated. The EVER-LIVING also says, 'Go up! for to-morrow I will give them into 29 your power.' But Israel must place ambushes around Gibeah."

30 So the Children of Israel advanced against the Benjaminites for the third time, and they approached to Gibeah
 31 step by step, and the Benjaminites came out to meet the force, which drew off from the town, and waited for the attack from the victorious army step by step to the highway which leads to the ascent of Bethel, and adjoins to the field of Gibeah,—losing about thirty men of Israel.

32 Then the Benjaminites said, "We are driving them before us as formerly." But the Children of Israel said, "We will retreat and draw them from the 33 town to the highway, then let all the army of Israel arise from their place, and advance from Bal-Thamar, and the ambush of Israel, placed at the 34 locality of the hill-moorland, must advance from the south to Gibeah with twelve thousand men, the bravest of all Israel, and fight boldly and they will not know that the stroke of their crime is upon them."

35 So the EVER-LIVING discomfited the Benjaminites before Israel, and the Israelites disabled on that day twenty-five thousand one hundred men of

Benjamin, all disciplined soldiers, for 36 the Benjaminites fancied that they retreated, and that the Israelites gave way to the Benjaminites; but those relied upon the ambush which they had placed on the hill, for the ambus- 37 cade kept quiet and lay down upon the hill until they rushed and attacked the whole town with the sword; and 38 it had been arranged with the men of Israel by the Commander of Israel, if the ambush succeeded, to send up a cloud of smoke from the town. Con- 39 sequently the Israelites retreated to the camp, and the Benjaminites, who were encouraged to the attack, wounded about thirty of the Israelites, "for," they said, "they certainly fly 40 before us, as in the former battles," so they continued their retreat until the ascent from the town of the pillar of smoke. Then Benjamin faced round, and saw it ascending to the sky from all the town. The Com- 41 mander of Israel also turned front, and the Benjaminites were terrified, for they saw the punishment of their crime was upon them, and turned 42 from the face of the Israelites to the way of the desert, and were defeated in the battle, and those who were in the town were destroyed in the midst of it. But the Benjaminites turned their 43 flight from the level way to the refuge of the hills on the west, and there fell 44 of Benjamin eighteen thousand men, all of them brave fellows. Thence 45 they turned and fled towards the desert, to the cliffs of Rimon, and five thousand men went up to the cliffs. But they were followed to Gidim, and two thousand of them slain. Thus all of Benjamin who 46 fell on that day were twenty-five thousand men, disciplined soldiers, all of them strong men. But there 47 turned and fled to the desert, to the cliff of Rimon, six hundred men, and they held the cliff of Rimon four months.

Then the Israelites turned upon 48 the Benjaminites and they struck with the sword thoroughly from man to beast, and every town they captured they set on fire.

Then all Israel swore in Mitzphah 21 saying, "No man among us shall give his daughter as a wife to Benjamin."

Afterwards all the people came to 2 Bethel, and sat there before the EVER-LIVING until the evening, and lifted up their voice and wept a great weeping,

3 and asked "Why, EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel, has this come to Israel, to destroy to-day one of the tribes of Israel?" But when next day came the people got up and built an altar, and offered a burnt offering and peace offerings.

5 Then the children of Israel asked, "Who has not come up to the Assembly of all the tribes of Israel before the EVER-LIVING, for a great oath has been sworn that whoever came not up to the EVER-LIVING at Mizpah shall be put to death."

6 The Children of Israel also grieved for Benjamin their brother, and said, "To-day a tribe has been blotted from Israel. What shall we do for them to provide them wives, since we have sworn not to give them a supply of wives?" So they asked, "Is there a single tribe of Israel which has not come up to the EVER-LIVING at Mizpah?" and found that no man had come to the camp from Jabesh-Gilad, to the Assembly. They therefore reviewed the army, and did not find there a Jabeshite from Jabesh-Gilad. The Parliament consequently sent there twelve thousand chosen men, and commanded them saying, "Go and assail the Jabeshites of Jabesh-Gilad with the sword, both men and boys. But act in this way;— you shall destroy every male and every female who has had connection with a man." But they found of the population of Jabesh four hundred girls, maidens, who had not known man by connection with a male, and they brought them to the camp at Shiloh, which is in the land of Canan.

13 Then all the Parliament sent and addressed the Benjaminites who were on the cliff of Rimon, and proclaimed peace with them. So the Benjaminites returned, and they gave them the women who came from Jabesh-Gilad, but they were not found sufficient.

15 The people therefore grieved for Benjamin, because the EVER-LIVING had made a breach in the tribes of Israel.

16 The Lords of the Parliament also said, "What shall we do to supply wives, for we have destroyed the women of Benjamin?" So they said

"Let Benjamin seize upon the unwilling rather than a tribe should be blotted from Israel, for we are not able to give them wives from our daughters, because the Children of Israel have sworn, imposing a curse on whoever gives a wife to Ben amin."

They then made a feast of several days to the EVER-LIVING in Shiloh, which is at the north of Bethel towards the sun-rise, on the highway leading up from Bethel to Shekem, and near to Libnah, and they also instructed the Benjaminites, saying;— "Go and hide yourselves in the vineyards and watch, and when you see the girls come out from Shiloh to dance in the dances, then come out from the vineyards, and each of you catch a wife for himself from the girls of Shiloh, and take them to the country of Benjamin. And if their fathers should come, or their brothers, to complain to us, we will command them to be lenient with you for taking each one his wife by force, because we cannot give to you as at ordinary times."

The Benjaminites accordingly did so, and carried off wives to the number of those deficient, who stole, and went off, and returned to their estates, where they rebuilt their villages and settled in them. The Israelites also marched from there at the same time to their tribes and clans, so everyone came from there to his home.

REFRAIN.

In those days there was no king in Israel;
Every man did what was right in his own eyes.¹

¹ These two beautiful epics, regarded as narrative poems, were probably the production of Isaiah himself, founded upon traditions of the events, or from historical records long since lost; and were intended to show his corrupted and party-riven countrymen the horrors and crimes produced by disregard to religion and political unity. I especially conclude so from the insistence upon the doctrine of a Monarchy being the best security for social laws and safeguard of individual life. The poet has made no attempt to fix any definite dates to them, and I consequently do not attempt it.—FERRAR FENTON.

THE HISTORY OF THE PEOPLE OF ISRAEL OF THE HOUSE OF ABRAHAM.

BY ISAIAH-BEN-AMAZ THE PROPHET.

(Second Chronicles, Ch. 32, v. 32.)

BOOK III.

THE PERIOD OF SAMUEL

THE FIRST BOOK OF SAMUEL.

(B.C. 1171.) Samuel's Parentage.

1 THERE was a certain man of Ramathaim-Zofim, in Mount Ephraim, whose name was Alkanah ben Jarkham, ben Aliahah, ben Tokho, ben Tzuf, the Afthrathite; 2 and he had two wives, the name of the first was Hanah, and the name of the second Peninah, and Peninah had 3 children, but Hanah had none. This man went up yearly from his village to worship, and to sacrifice to the LORD OF HOSTS in Shiloh, where two sons of Eli Khofni¹ and Finikhas² were priests to the EVER-LIVING.
4 When it was Alkanah's day for sacrifice, he gave to Peninah his wife, and to all her sons and daughters, 5 portions, but to Hanah he only gave a single portion, although he loved Hanah, for the EVER-LIVING 6 had closed her womb. So she was vexed, anguished, and laboured with rage, because the EVER-LIVING shut up her womb.

Alkanah's Wife Hanah prays for a Son.

7 He did this year after year when he went up to the House of the EVER-LIVING; so she was vexed and would 8 not eat. Alkanah therefore said to her, "Wife Hanah, why do you weep? Why do you not eat? Why is your heart bad? Am I not better to you than ten sons?"

Hanah however arose after eating 9 and drinking in Shiloh,—and Eli the Priest sat upon the chair at the door of the Temple of the EVER-LIVING,— for her soul was bitter, and she prayed 10 to the EVER-LIVING, and weeping she wept. She also vowed a vow, and 11 said, "LORD OF HOSTS, if You will look on the anguish of Your hand-maid, and remember me, and not forget Your handmaid, but grant to Your handmaid a male child, I will give him to the EVER-LIVING all the days of his life, and a razor shall not go over his head."

But while she continued to pray 12 before the EVER-LIVING Eli watched her mouth. Hanah however spoke 13 from her heart, only moving her lips, and no sound was heard, consequently Eli thought she was drunk. Eli there- 14 fore said to her, "Why have you made yourself drunk? Cast the wine from you!"

But Hanah answered him, "No, 15 my Lord! I am only a woman of depressed spirit. I have not drunk wine nor strong drink, but I am pouring out my soul before the EVER-LIVING. Do not consider your hand- 16 maid as a daughter of Belial because I speak so much, for I have uttered my many griefs and sorrows so far."

Then Eli replied and said, "Go in 17

¹ Hofni.—F. F.

² Phineas.—F. F.

peace! and may the GOD of Israel give you the request you ask from Him."

- 18 And she answered, "May your servant find favour in your sight." The woman then went away, and ate, and afterwards her face was not the same.

(B.C. 1170.) Samuel born.

- 19 In the morning they got up and worshipped before the EVER-LIVING, and then returned to their home at Ramath, where Alkanah knew Hanah his wife, and the EVER-LIVING remembered her, and at the end of the year Hanah conceived and bore a son, and called his name Samuel¹ because I have asked him from the EVER-LIVING.
- 21 When the man Alkanah and all his family went up to sacrifice to the EVER-LIVING at the yearly sacrifice, and for his vows, Hanah went not up with him, "for," she said to her husband, "not until I wean the boy, and take him up to the EVER-LIVING,—then he shall always stay there."
- 23 So Alkanah replied to his wife, "Do as seems good to you. Stay until you wean him, and may the EVER-LIVING confirm His promise to you!" Consequently the woman remained and nursed her son until she had weaned him. Then she went up with him, when he was weaned, taking three bulls, and an epha of flour, and a skin of wine, and arrived at the House of the EVER-LIVING in Shiloh with the lad, and killed the bull, and brought the lad to Eli, and said, "My Lord, let your soul live. I, Sir, am the woman who stood here at the door to pray to the EVER-LIVING. I prayed for this lad, and the EVER-LIVING granted to me the request I asked. So now as I asked him from the EVER-LIVING I myself dedicate him to the EVER-LIVING all the days of his life, and he shall worship the EVER-LIVING here."

(B.C. 1168.)

- 2 Then Hanah gave thanks and said,

SONG OF HANAH.

"My heart rejoices in the LORD,—
By the LORD my horn is exalted;
My face triumphs over my foes,

¹ V. 20. "Heard of God."—F. F.

For I rejoice in Your salvation.
None is sacred like You, LORD,— 2
For there is none beside You;
Nor fortress like our GOD.

Increase not your proud speech;— 3
Pride comes badly from your mouth,
For the LORD is a GOD of know- 4
ledge,
Though trifles are not weighed.

The bows of strength are broken, 5
And the feeble girt with might,
The pampered beg for food,
But the hungry now have rest.
The childless has borne seven,
And the many-sonned has want!

The LORD kills and He revives; 6
Brings to the grave and raises;
The LORD makes poor and rich, 7
Bows down, and again exalts!
He lifts the depressed from dust, 8
Exalts the poor from dunghills
To sit along with Princes,
To inherit the Throne of Power;
For the Earth's supports are the LORD'S,
And upon them He rests the world.

He guards the feet of His saints, 9
But the wicked destroys in gloom;—
For man is not strong by wealth,
But they fail who strive with Him.

When the LORD thunders from 10
heaven,
He rules to the bounds of the earth,
And gives His chosen Leader power,
And exalts His Anointed's horn."

(B.C. 1165.)

Alkanah afterwards returned to his home at Ramath, but the lad served the EVER-LIVING with Eli the Priest.

Eli's Wicked Sons.

The sons of Eli, however, were 12 profligates; they did not recognise the EVER-LIVING, although the Priests 13 governed the people.

Whenever a person offered a sacrifice, a lad came from the Priest when the flesh was boiling with a three-pronged fork in his hand, and 14 stuck it into the cauldron, or boiler, or kettle, or pot. All that came up on the fork the Priest took for himself. They did the same to every Israelite who came to Shiloh. Also, before 15 the time that they burnt the fat, the priest's lad came, and said to the man sacrificing, "Give the priest meat from the ribs, for he will not accept boiled meat from you;—it must be raw."

16 If the person replied to him, "Let the fat be burnt first, then take what you desire," he would answer him, "Give it at once, and if not I shall take it by force."

17 The young men were also very great sinners against the EVER-LIVING, for they corrupted the women who brought offerings to the EVER-LIVING.

(B.C. 1165.) Consecration of Samuel.

18 But Samuel served before the EVER-LIVING as an assistant, girded with an ephod. His mother also made him an embroidered robe, and brought it up to him every year when she went with her husband to sacrifice the yearly sacrifice. Then Eli blessed Alkanah and his wife, and said, "The EVER-LIVING granted you an heir from this woman in answer to her request from the EVER-LIVING." Then they returned to their village, and now the EVER-LIVING favoured Hanah, and she conceived and bore three sons and two daughters. But the lad Samuel grew up with the EVER-LIVING.

(B.C. 1141.) Eli feebly reprobes his Sons.

22 When Eli became very old, he heard of all the doings of his sons to all Israel, and how they corrupted the women who came to worship at the door of the Hall of Assembly; so he said to them, "What are these things that you do, which I have heard of? The vile practices towards all these people? Refrain, my sons, for it is not a good report that I hear of your practices against the EVER-LIVING. 25 If a man sins against a man, they intercede with GOD: but if a man sins against the EVER-LIVING, who can intercede for him?"

But they would not listen to the voice of their father, for the EVER-LIVING had decided to kill them.

Samuel becomes Good and Great.

26 But the young man Samuel advanced and became great and good, both with the EVER-LIVING and also with men.

(B.C. 1141.) A Man of God sent to reprove Eli.

A Man of God therefore was sent ²⁷ to Eli, and said to him, "Thus says the EVER-LIVING, 'I revealed Myself to the House of your fathers when you were among the Mizteraim, and I chose it from all the tribes of Israel to Myself as a Priesthood to offer incense upon My altar, and to wear an ephod before Me, and I gave to the House of your fathers all the gifts of the Children of Israel. Then why ²⁸ do you despise My sacrifices and offerings which I commanded for frailty, and respect your sons more than Me? by letting them fatten themselves with the best of all the offerings of My People Israel?' Therefore the EVER-LIVING GOD of ²⁹ Israel says, 'I promised that your House, and the House of your Fathers should walk before Me for ever,' but now the EVER-LIVING has said to me to-night, 'Whoever honours Me, I will honour; and whoever degrades Me, shall be degraded. Now ³⁰ the time has come when I will break your necks and the heirs of the House of your Fathers, from being noble in your House. And you may expect ³¹ suffering, instead of pleasantness from all that gives Israel pleasure; for there shall not be a noble in your house for all time. However I will ³² cut off every one of your descendants for ever at My Altar, to exhaust your eyes, and make your soul languish,—yet great men shall die from your house! And this shall be the proof— ³³ your two sons Khofni¹ and Finahas² shall both of them die in one day!"

"Then I will appoint for Myself a ³⁴ Faithful Priest who will do according to My own heart and soul, and I will build him a perfect House, and cause him to walk before My Messiah for all time. And then all the remnant ³⁵ of your House shall come and bow to him for a penny of money, and for a piece of bread, and say, "I beg you to admit me to a priest's office that I may eat a mouthful of food!"

(B.C. 1140.) Samuel Divinely called to warn Eli of his Sons' Sins.

Meanwhile the young man Samuel ³⁶ served the EVER-LIVING before Eli.

¹ Hophni.—F. F.

² Phineas, in O.V.—F. F.

- But a word from the EVER-LIVING came seldom in those days. There was no frequent vision at that time.
- 2 And when Eli was in bed in his residence, and his eyes were becoming heavy—he was not able to see,—and the Lamp of GOD was becoming dim,—and Samuel was in bed in the Temple of the EVER-LIVING, where
- 4 the Ark of GOD was, then the EVER-LIVING called to Samuel, and he replied, "I am here!" and ran to Eli, and said, "I am here, for you called me." But he answered, "I did not call you! Return to bed." So he went and laid down.
- 6 Then the EVER-LIVING called again, "Samuel!" and Samuel arose and went to Eli, and said, "I am here for you called me!" But he replied, "I did not call, my son! Return to bed."
- 7 Samuel, however, was beginning to recognise the EVER-LIVING, and the word of the EVER-LIVING was beginning to be revealed to him, so the EVER-LIVING again called "Samuel, Samuel!" for the third time, and he arose and went to Eli and said, "I am here, for you did call me." Then Eli perceived that the EVER-LIVING had called to the
- 9 young man. Therefore Eli said to Samuel, "Go; lie down, and if HE calls to you then, say 'Speak, JEHOVAH, for Your servant listens.'" So he lay down in his chamber.
- 10 Then the EVER-LIVING confirmed it and called as before, "Samuel! Samuel!" at which Samuel replied, "Speak, JEHOVAH, for Your servant listens."
- 11 Then the EVER-LIVING said to Samuel, "I will now do a thing in Israel at which both the ears of all
- 12 hearing it shall tingle! On that day I will heap upon Eli all that I have said concerning his House,—the strong and the weak,—for I will display Myself to him, as I Myself will punish his family for ever, on account of the outrages of his sons,
- 14 whom he did not restrain. And therefore I have sworn to the House of Eli, that the sin of the House of Eli shall not be expiated by sacrifice or gift for ever!"
- 15 But Samuel lay still until dawn, when he opened the doors of the House of the EVER-LIVING, for Samuel feared to report the vision
- 16 to Eli. But Eli called Samuel and said, "Samuel, my son!" and he replied "I am here!"

Then he asked, "What was the 17 thing that was told to you? Hide it not from me. Tell me every word which was told to yourself." Samuel consequently reported to him 18 the whole communication and hid nothing from him, to which he replied, "It was the EVER-LIVING!—Let Him do what is good in His sight."

(B.C. 1141.) Samuel recognised as a Teacher and Teacher in Israel.

Thus Samuel became great, and 19 the EVER-LIVING was with him, and none of his words fell to the ground; and all Israel recognised from Dan 20 to Bersheba that Samuel was a true teacher from the EVER-LIVING. The 21 EVER-LIVING also continued to appear in Shiloh, for THE LIFE revealed Himself to Samuel in Shiloh by the word of the EVER-LIVING, and 4 the word of Samuel penetrated all Israel.

(B.C. 1140.) Israel rises under him as Teacher to Fight the Philistines.

Afterwards Israel went to meet the Philistines in war, and encamped at Ebenezer, and the Philistines encamped in Afak. Then the Philis- 2 tines disposed themselves to meet Israel, and opened out to the battle, and Israel was routed before the Philistines, and they slew in the open field about four thousand men. So when the army returned to the 3 Camp, the Judges of Israel asked, "Why has the EVER-LIVING routed us before the Philistines to-day? Let us take the Ark of the EVER-LIVING with us from Shiloh and go to oppose them, and it will save us from the clutch of our enemies."

(B.C. 1140.) The Army Defeated, and sends for the Ark to the Camp.

The army therefore sent to Shiloh, 4 and brought the Ark of the Covenant of the LORD of HOSTS, Who rests between Kerubem, from there. But the two sons of Eli, Khofni and Finehas, went with the Ark of the Covenant of GOD; and when the Ark of the 5 Covenant of the EVER-LIVING came to the Camp, and the Children of 6 Israel saw it, they shouted aloud so that the earth shook; and the Philistines heard the sound of the shouting, and asked, "What is the noise of this great shouting in the camp of the Hebrews?"¹ and they were informed that the Ark of the EVER-LIVING had come to the camp.

The Philistines fear its Arrival, but Fight and Capture it.

7 Then the Philistines were afraid, for they said, "GOD has come to their camp," and exclaimed, "Woe 8 to us! Who can deliver us from the hand of this splendid GOD of theirs? The GOD who defeated the Mitzerites with such a total defeat in the desert?"
9 Let us harden ourselves, and be men, Philistines, for fear they should enslave you as you enslaved them. So be men and warriors!"

Israel again Defeated.—Eli's Tragical Death.

10 The Philistines consequently fought and routed the Israelites, and each man fled to his home, for the defeat was very great. There fell also thirty thousand regular troops
11 of Israel, and the Ark of GOD was captured, and the two sons of Eli—12 Khofni and Finehas—were killed. But a man of Benjamin fled from the battle and came to Shiloh on the same day, with his clothes torn and earth on 13 his head, and when he arrived Eli was sitting on his chair beside the road to Mitzpah, for his heart was troubled about the Ark of GOD, and the man came to report to the town, and he called to all the village.
14 When Eli heard the sound of wailing he asked, "What means this noise in the crowd?" So the man hastened and came and told it to Eli.
15 Now Eli was ninety-eight years old, and his eyes were fixed, so that he 16 was not able to see. So the man said, "I have come from the battlefield. I have fled from the battlefield to-day."

Then he asked, "What was the result, my son?"

17 When the reporter answered and said, "Israel has fled before the Philistines; and there is a great panic on the army; and your two sons are killed,—Khofni and Finehas;—and the Ark of GOD has been captured!" But when the Ark of 18 GOD was mentioned, he fell off the chair backwards towards the side of the gate, and broke his neck, for he was an old man and heavy. He had ruled in Israel forty years.

(B.C. 1140.) Tragical Death of Finehas's Wife.

The wife of Finehas was near 19 being delivered of a child when she heard the report of the capture of the Ark of GOD, and of the death of her father-in-law and husband, and she fell down and brought forth, for her grief overwhelmed her. But at the 20 moment of her death the attendants who stood by her said, "Never mind, for you have borne a son!" She answered not,—for her heart moved not. They consequently called the 21 lad "Ai-kabod," meaning that the glory has gone from Israel by the capture of the Ark of GOD, and the death of her father-in-law and her husband. Therefore they wailed; 22
"Gone is the glory of Israel.

For the Ark of GOD has been captured!"

(B.C. 1140.) The Philistines bring the Ark to the Temple of Dagon, whose Idol is cast Down.

When the Philistines had captured 5 the Ark of GOD, they brought it from Ebenezer to Ashdod, and then the 2 Philistines took it to the Temple of Dagon, and set it beside Dagon; but 3 when the Ashdodites arose on the morrow they saw Dagon had fallen on his face to the earth before the Ark, and the head of Dagon, and the 4 two palms of his hands cut off at the wrists, were on the threshold. Only a stump of Dagon was left to himself, consequently the priest of Dagon, 5 and all who enter the Temple of Dagon, step over the threshold of Dagon in Ashdod to this day.

Affliction follows the Captured Ark.

Then the hand of the EVER-6 LIVING was heavy upon the Ashdodites, and He desolated them, and afflicted them with tumours in their extremities. The people of Ashdod 7 consequently were terrified and said, ¹ V. 6. "Eberlm." עברים, if translated, means "Colonists"; a fit term to be used by the Philistines of the Israelites, who were really Colonists in Palestine.—F. F.

"The Ark of the GOD of Israel shall not remain with us, for His hand is hard upon us, and upon Dagon our god."

8 They therefore sent and assembled all the lords of the Philistines, and asked, "What shall we do with the Ark of the GOD of Israel?"

They replied "Gath shall hold the Ark of the GOD of Israel, and have the custody of the Ark of the GOD of Israel."

The Ark taken to Gath.

9 But after they received it, the hand of the EVER-LIVING brought very great confusion, and afflicted the inhabitants of that city from the least to the greatest, and they broke out in tumours.

The Ark taken to Akron.

10 Then they sent the Ark of GOD to Akron. But when the Ark of GOD arrived at Akron, the Akronites cried out, exclaiming, "Why do you send the Ark of the GOD of Israel to us, to 11 kill us and our people?" So they sent and assembled all the lords of the Philistines, and said, "Send away the Ark of the GOD of Israel, and return it to its place, and do not kill us and our people; for there has been deadly suffering in all the city;—the hand of that GOD has been very 12 heavy here. Even the people who are not killed are afflicted with tumours, and the shrieks of the city have ascended to the Heavens!"

The Philistines ask their Priests what to do?

6 The Ark of the EVER-LIVING was in the country of the Philistines 2 seven months. Then the Philistines summoned their priests and diviners to enquire:—"What must we do with the Ark of the EVER-LIVING? Inform us how we must send it back to its place?"

They advise to return the Ark to Israel with a Rich Present to God.

3 And they replied, "If you send back the Ark of the GOD of Israel you should not send it back empty, but you must return to Him an offering so that He may cure you, and inform you why He did not turn His hand from you."

Then they asked, "What is the 4 offering that we must return to Him?" and they answered, "Five tumours of gold, the same as the number of the lords of the Philistines; and five mice of gold, for the same plague was upon you and your lords. Make also representations of the 5 tumours, and of the mice that have ravaged the country, and pay honour to the GOD of Israel." Perhaps then He will lift His hand from upon you, and from your gods and from your country. For why should you 6 stupefy your hearts as the Mitzerites and Pharaoh stupefied their hearts so that they would not allow them to go up from them? Yet, when He had afflicted them, they sent them away and they wept. So now set to work 7 and prepare a new cart, and select two heifers, who are suckling calves, who have not had yokes upon them, and harness their heifers to the cart, but put their young back to the stable. Then take the Ark of the EVER- 8 LIVING and put it upon the cart, with the things of gold which you send to Him as an offering. Put them in a box beside it, and send it away, and let it go. But watch, if it 9 goes up the road to Beth-shemsh then HE has sent these great sufferings to us; but if not, then we shall know that His hand has not struck us. It will have been an accident."

(B.C. 1139.) How the Ark was Returned.

Those men consequently did so, 10 and took two nursing heifers, and harnessed them to the cart, but kept their young in the stable. They also 11 placed the Ark of the EVER-LIVING upon the cart, with the chest, and the mice of gold, and the representations of their tumours, and the heifers went 12 straight in a track for the road to Beth-shemsh by the highway from the first, going along they bellowed, but did not turn to the right or the left, and the lords of the Philistines followed after them to the borders of Beth-shemsh.

Now the harvesters of Beth-shemsh 13 were reaping wheat on the plain, and they looked up and saw the Ark, and were glad of the sight. Then the 14 cart came to the farm of Joshua the Beth-shemshite, and stood there, where there was a great stone, so they broke up the wood of the cart, and offered the heifers as a burnt offering to the EVER-LIVING.

- 15 The Levites, however, took down the Ark of the EVER-LIVING, and the chest which was with it, in which were the things of gold, and placed it upon the great stone, and the people of Beth-shemsh burnt offerings, and sacrificed sacrifices on that day to the
- 16 EVER-LIVING, whilst the five lords of the Philistines looked on, and then returned to Akron.
- 17 These were the tumours of gold which the Philistines returned as an offering to the EVER-LIVING:
For Ashdod one;
For Gazah one;
For Askalon one;
For Gath one;
For Akron one;

- 18 With mice of gold equal to the number of all the cities of the Philistim, for the Five Lordships, for fortresses, and open villages.

And the great stone upon which the Ark of the EVER-LIVING rested can be seen on the farm of Joshua the Beth-shemshite to this day.

(B.C. 1139.) The Ark at Beth-shemsh.

- 19 But the EVER-LIVING punished some of the inhabitants of Beth-shemsh, because they had looked into the Ark; He punished seventy persons, and fifty bullocks.¹ So the men murmured among the people, for the EVER-LIVING struck the
- 20 people with a great stroke. The inhabitants of Beth-shemsh consequently asked, "Who is able to stand before the Holy LORD GOD? and to what purpose has He come up to us?"
- 21 They therefore sent messengers to the people of Krith-Jarim to say, "The Philistines have sent us the Ark of the EVER-LIVING. Come down and take it to yourselves."

¹ This difficult passage has puzzled translators for over 2,000 years. But if we take the אֵלֶּךָ, ALEP, to mean "bullocks," as it does amongst its other significations, and as I do, the whole difficulty vanishes, for it arose from the love of the marvellous in commentators, or the Greek translators, who fancied that to insert impossible statements in the text added to its grandeur—a plan of amending the Scriptures not extinct yet.—F. F.

(B.C. 1138.) The People of Krith-Jarim take the Custody of the Ark.

The people of Krith-Jarim consequently came, and took the Ark of the EVER-LIVING and brought it to the house of Abinadab, on the hill, and he devoted his son Alazar to take care of the Ark of the EVER-LIVING. The Ark of the EVER-LIVING, however, remained in Krith-Jarim for a long period,—twenty years altogether—and the whole House of Israel mourned after the EVER-LIVING.

(B.C. 1120.) Samuel exhorts Religious Reform and to a Revolt against the Philistines.

Then Samuel spoke to all the House of Israel, saying, "If you turn to the EVER-LIVING with your whole heart, fling out the foreign gods from among you, and fix your heart to the EVER-LIVING, and serve Him alone, and He will redeem you from the hands of the Philistim."

The Children of Israel consequently expelled the Balim and the Asheroths, and served the EVER-LIVING alone.

Then Samuel said, "Collect the representatives of Israel to Mitzpah, and pray for yourselves to the EVER-LIVING." They therefore assembled at Mitzpah, and drew water, and poured it out before the EVER-LIVING, and fasted on the same day, and said, "We have sinned against the EVER-LIVING." After that Samuel judged the Israelites in Mitzpah.

The Philistines advance against Israel.

But the Philistim heard that the Israelites had assembled in Mitzpah, so the lords of the Philistim went up to the Children of Israel, and when the Israelites perceived it they were in the terror before the Philistim. The Children of Israel consequently said to Samuel, "Work for us with a cry to the EVER-LIVING our GOD, that He may save us from the hand of the Philistim!"

(B.C. 1120.) The Philistines fly in Panic in a Thunder Storm, and are routed.

Samuel, therefore, took a fat young lamb, and offered it as a whole burnt-offering to the EVER-LIVING. Samuel also cried to the EVER-LIVING on account of Israel, and the EVER-LIVING answered; for while Samuel was offering the burnt-offering, and while the Philistim advanced to battle with Israel, the EVER-LIVING thundered with a loud roar on that day over the Philistim, and defeated them, and routed them before Israel. Then the leaders of Israel advanced from Mitzpah in pursuit of the Philistim, and defeated them at Mithakhath, and at Beth-kar. Therefore Israel took a Stone Pillar, and fixed it between Mitzpah and Hashen, and named it "Aben-azer,"¹ saying, "So far the EVER-LIVING has relieved us."

Thus the Philistim were beaten, and did not repeat their advance to the borders of Israel, for the hand of the EVER-LIVING was against the Philistim during the period of Samuel, and he recovered to Israel the towns that the Philistim had taken from Israel, except Akron, and Gath. He also delivered the borders of Israel from the power of the Philistim, and made peace between Israel and the Amorites.

(B.C. 1119.) Samuel elected as President and High Priest.

Samuel consequently judged in Israel during the whole time of his life. And he travelled continually year by year in circuit through Bethel, and Gilgal, and Mitzpah, and administered justice in all those districts; then returned to Ramath, for his home was there, and there he administered justice to Israel, and there he built an altar to the EVER-LIVING.

(B.C. 1100.) Samuel makes his Sons Judges, but they are corrupt and wicked.

But when Samuel grew old, he appointed his sons as judges in Israel. And the name of his eldest son was Joab, and the name of the second Abiah: they were judges in Bar-sheba. His sons, however, did not follow his ways, but extorted taxes, and took bribes, and perverted justice.

¹ Stone-of-relief.—F. F.

(B.C. 1096.) The Parliament demands a General to lead them in War, and to Organize.

Consequently all the judges of 4 Israel assembled, and came to Ramath, and said to him:—"You 5 are old now, and your sons do not walk in your ways, therefore appoint a leader to organize us like all the nations."

(B.C. 1096.) God commands Samuel to appoint a General.

But the proposal was displeasing 6 in the eyes of Samuel, because they said, "Give us a leader to organize us." So Samuel prayed to the EVER-LIVING, and the EVER-LIVING 7 replied to Samuel; "Listen to the voice of the People, as to all they ask from you, for they have not rejected you, but have rejected Me their leader. It is like all the doings 8 they have done from the day I brought them up from Mitzeraim to this day! For they rejected Me and served other gods; so they do also to you. Listen therefore, now, to 9 their voice. You shall also confer solemnly with them, and explain to them the Constitution for the leader who is to govern over them."

(B.C. 1096.) Samuel foretells Oppression from a Military Leader.

Samuel consequently reported all 10 the commands of the EVER-LIVING to the people who demanded a leader from him, and said, "This 11 will be the constitution by which he will rule over you. He will take your sons for his chariots and horsemen, and to run before his carriage. 12 He will appoint colonels of regiments for himself and captains of companies; also as mechanics in his workshops; as reapers of his harvest; and to make weapons for his soldiers, and appliances for his chariots. He will also take your 13 daughters for confectioners, and cooks and bakers, and he will take 14 the best of your farms, and vineyards, and oliveyards, and give them to his ministers. And he will tith your 15 corn and wine, and give it to his officers and ministers. And your 16 men servants and maids, and your best cattle, and asses, he will take and use them for his messengers.

 17 He will take your sheep, and make 18 you his servants. And then you will shriek at the sight of your leader whom you have chosen for yourselves, but the EVER-LIVING will not answer you at that day!"

The People, however, persist in their Demand.

19 The People, however, refused to listen to the voice of Samuel, and replied, "No! He will only be a 20 leader over us! And we shall then be like the other nations; and our Leader can organize us; and can lead us out, and fight our battles." 21 So Samuel listened to all the utterances of the People and reported them in the ears of the EVER-LIVING.
 22 And the EVER-LIVING replied,
 "Listen to their voice, and select a leader for them." Samuel, however, said to the judges of Israel, "Go each to his own village."

(B.C. 1095.) History of Saul and his Father's Lost Asses.

9 Now there was a man of the tribe of Benjamin named Kish, ben Abial, ben Tzeror, ben Bikorath, ben Afrakh, ben Arih, a Benjaminite of 2 great power, who had a son named Saul, big and handsome, and there was not a man in the nation of Israel handsomer than he was;— taller than any man by the shoulders 3 and upwards. And Kish, Saul's father, had lost some asses, so Kish said to Saul his son, "Take with you one of the servants, and arise, go, 4 and seek those asses." He therefore went over Mount Ephraim, and searched in the country of Shilshah and did not find them. Then he examined the district of Shalim and they were not there; so he passed to the district of Jamen, and found them 5 not. Thence they went to the country of Tzuf, when Saul said to his attendant, "Where will this journey take us to? Let us return, or my father will leave grieving for the asses, and fret about us."
 6 But he replied to him, "There is a Man of GOD in this town, and a man to be respected;—all he says happens.
 Let us go to him now. Perhaps he may tell us the way we should follow."
 7 Saul, however, answered to his lad

"Well! if we should go, how could we make the man to instruct? for our stock of bread is exhausted! So we have no present to bring to the Man of GOD.—What have we?"

The youth continued in answer to 8 Saul, "Look! I have found in my pocket a quarter shekel of silver.
 We will give that to the Man of GOD, and he will inform us about our journey."

(Formerly in Israel a man said 9 when going to inquire of GOD, "Let us go to the Seer—for the Instructor¹ of to-day was formerly called a Seer.²)

Then Saul replied to the youth, 10
 "You have spoken well! Let us go!"

They went accordingly to the top 11 of the town, and met girls coming out to draw water, and asked them,
 "Is there a Seer in this place?"

And they answered them and 12 said,— "He is now before you on the hill, for he has to-day come to the town, for he sacrifices for the people on the height: so if you go into the 13 village you will meet him before he goes to the height to eat. The People will not eat before he comes, for he will bless the sacrifice. After that they will eat the Festival. So now go,—for this is the day to meet him."

They therefore went up the village 14 until they came to the centre of the town; and then Samuel came to meet them, at the ascent of the height, for the EVER-LIVING had 15 opened the understanding of Samuel that very day, before the coming of Saul, saying, "At this time to-morrow 16
 I shall send to you from the district of Benjamin the man whom you must consecrate as the Leader of My People Israel. He will deliver My People from the power of the Philistim, and he shall shepherd
 My People, for its cries have come to Me."

When Samuel saw Saul, the EVER- 17 LIVING said to him, "That is the man of whom I spoke to you. He will organize My People."

¹ "Instructor," in Hebrew נְבִיאִי NEBIA, is literally a "Reciter to the Lute,"—that is, an Instructor or Teacher, not a foreseer of events. The latter is an entirely modern meaning, only ascribed to the word Prophet or Prophecy in the eighteenth century. In the seventeenth it meant Preacher.—F. F.

² "Raah."—F. F.

Samuel and Saul converse.

- 18 Then Saul approached Samuel in the midst of the square, and said, "Can you inform me the way to the house of the Seer?"
- 19 And Samuel answered Saul and said, "I am the Seer! Go before me to the Height, and dine with me to-day, and I will send you off in the morning.—I will inform you about all that is upon your mind. And as for your lost asses which you have hunted for three days, rest your mind about them, for they have been found.—But now upon whom is the thought of all Israel? Is it not on you, and on all your father's house?"
- 21 Saul, however, answered and said, "Am I not a Benjaminite,—of the smallest tribe in Israel? and of a clan less distinguished than any of the clans of the tribe of Benjamin? So why do you speak to me of such an honour?"

(B.C. 1095.) Samuel places Saul at the Head of his Table and Guests.

- 22 Samuel then took Saul and his attendant and brought them to the dining room, and put them at the head of the guests, of whom there were about thirty. Then Samuel said to the attendant, "Serve up the dish which I entrusted to you. The one I told you to reserve by you."
- 24 So the attendant took the leg and lifted up and placed it before Saul. Then he said, "This is the portion that was to be placed before you,—eat, for it has been specially reserved for you. And I told the people I had invited."
- So Saul dined with Samuel that day.
- 25 And when they descended from the height of the village, he talked with Saul on the verandah. Then they returned to sleep, but when the darkness had gone Samuel invited Saul to go up to the top of the verandah, saying, "Rise up and I will take leave of you."

(B.C. 1095.) Samuel consecrates Saul as General in Israel.

- So Saul arose, and both went out,—he and Samuel, into the street.
- 27 When they had descended to the outskirts of the village, Samuel said to Saul, "Order the lad to go on before us." (So he went forward.)

"But you stand awhile, and listen to the command of GOD."

Then Samuel took a flask of oil ¹⁰ and poured it on his head, and kissed him, and said, "Is it not you whom the EVER-LIVING has consecrated over His Inheritance, to lead it? When you go to-day, from accom- ² panying me, two men will meet you at the tomb of Rachel, on the borders of Benjamin, at Tzeltzakh, and will say to you, 'The asses which you went to seek are found, and your father has now left off the matter of the asses, and troubles about you, and says, "What shall I do for my son?"' And when you have gone from there ³ a little way, and come to Alar Thabor, three men coming up to GOD at Bethel will meet you,—one carrying three kids, and another carrying three baskets of bread, and another carrying a skin of wine, who will wish you ⁴ health, and give you two cakes, which you must accept from them. After ⁵ that you must go to the Hill of GOD, where there is a garrison of the Philishtim, and when you come near the village, you will encounter a band of Reciters, descending from the height, and in front of them a piper, a drummer, and a flute and harper, and they will be reciting. Then the ⁶ Spirit of the EVER-LIVING will seize you, and you will recite with them, and dance in unison.¹ And when ⁷ these sights come to you, go and use what you have found for yourself,—for GOD is with you!

"Afterwards precede me to Gilgal, ⁸ and then I will come down to you, to offer a burnt offering, and sacrifice a sacrifice of thanksgiving. Wait for seven days until I come, and inform you what you are to do."

(B.C. 1095.) Saul becomes Frantic with Delight over his Appointment.

When he had turned his back ⁹ from walking with Samuel, GOD

¹ הַתְּנַבִּיּוֹת, HITHANABITHA, is untranslatable into nineteenth century English. The modern ideas of Divine Worship do not find room for any ecstatic, trance-like state incited by music and dancing. But the ancient Hebrews evidently used the marvellous powers of music to bring them into a state of controlled passion.—It means a delicious dancing and singing. Literally, "It will cause you to dance and sing wildly till exhausted."—F. F.

entirely changed his heart, when all these proofs came to him on that day.

- 10 For when he came to the Hill a band of Reciters met him, and the Divine spirit seized upon him, and 11 he recited with them. When all who had known him formerly saw them, and how he was reciting with the Reciters, all the people who were his neighbours, exclaimed,—“What has come to the son of Kish? Is Saul also among the Reciters?”
 12 But a man from them answered, and said, “And who is their father?” Consequently it became a proverb, “Is Saul also among the Prophets?”
 13 When he ceased reciting, he went 14 to the Height; when Saul’s uncle asked him and his attendant, “Where have you been?” And he replied, “To seek the asses. When I found them not I went to Samuel.”
 15 Then the uncle of Saul asked, “Tell me, what did Samuel say to you?”
 16 And Saul replied to his uncle, “He informed us that the asses were found.” But he did not tell him a word about the Leadership of which Samuel had spoken.

(B.C. 1095.) Samuel convokes the Parliament to confirm Saul’s Election.

- 17 Samuel afterwards convoked the People to the EVER-LIVING at 18 Mizpah, and said to the Children of Israel,
 “Thus says the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel, ‘I brought Israel up from Mitzeraim, and delivered them from the hand of the Mitzerites, and from the hand of all the kingdoms that assailed them. But you now reject the GOD Who recovered you from all your sufferings and distresses, and ask for a Leader to place over you,—so now present your tribes and regiments before the EVER-LIVING.’”
 20 Then Samuel advanced all the tribes of Israel, and the tribe of Benjamin was selected.
 21 Then he advanced the tribe of Benjamin by clans, and the clan of Matri was selected.

1 Reciters.

Saul Elected, but hides himself when called for.

Then Saul the son of Kish was selected;—so they sought him, but could not find him.

Consequently he enquired again of 22 the EVER-LIVING whether that man had come? And the EVER-LIVING answered, “He is here, but has hidden himself among the baggage.” So they 23 ran and took him from there, and placed him in the centre of the people, and he was taller than anyone from the shoulders and upwards.

Then Samuel said to the people, 24 “You see whom the EVER-LIVING has chosen for Himself!—that there is not his equal in all the nation!”

The People confirm the Election.

And all the people cheered and exclaimed, “Long live the Leader!”

Samuel defines in a Record the Powers of the General.

Samuel then related to the People 25 the Constitution of the Leadership which he had written in a book, and then confirmed it before the EVER-LIVING, and then he dismissed all the assembly to their homes. And 26 Saul also went to his home in Gibeah, and a force, whose hearts GOD had touched, went with him. But some sons of Belial said, “How 27 can this fellow save us?” and abused him, and brought him no presents. But he kept silent.

(B.C. 1094.) Nakhash, King of Amon, attacks Jabesh in Gilad.

When Nakhash the Amonite came 11 up and besieged Jabesh-Gilad, all the chiefs of Jabesh said to Nakhash the Amonite, “Make a treaty with us, and we will serve you.”

But Nakhash the Amonite replied, 2 “This is what I will do to you;—I will put out all your right eyes! and make it a reproach to all Israel.”

Then the magistrates of Jabesh 3 said to him, “Grant us seven days, that we may send Messengers to all the borders of Israel, then, if there is no deliverance for us, we will come out to you.”

Saul is appealed to, to help the Jabeshites. He does so.

The Messengers consequently went 4 to Gibeah to Saul, and reported the matter in the hearing of the people, when all the people lifted up their voice and wept. But just then Saul came in after his oxen from the farm, and Saul asked, "What is the matter with the people, that they are weeping?" So they repeated the words of the chiefs of Jabesh. Then the spirit of GOD seized Saul upon hearing it, and he was very furious, and took the pair of oxen and cut them up, and sent to all the districts of Israel by the hands of the Messengers, to say, "Whoever will not come after Saul, and join Samuel, this shall be done to his oxen." The terror of the EVER-LIVING consequently fell upon all the people, and they came like one man.

(B.C. 1094.) The People rise and join Saul in a Mass.

8 Then he organized them in Bazek, and there were three hundred thousand men of the Children of Israel, and the men of Judah thirty thousand, and they said to the Messengers who had come, "Say thus to the people of Jabesh-Gilad,—'To-morrow we will be with you, to rescue you, before the noon.'" The Messengers accordingly went and informed the chiefs of Jabesh, and they were glad. So the chiefs of Jabesh said, "To-morrow we will come out to you, and you can do to us what seems good in your eyes!"

Saul attacks at Night and defeats the Amonites.

11 In the morning, however, Saul divided his forces into three divisions, and advanced to the centre of the camp in the morning watch, and assailed the Amonites until noon of the day, and they were broken to pieces, and fled, and no two of them held together. Then the force asked of Samuel, "Who said Saul should not be Leader over us? Give those men to us that we may kill them."
13 Saul, however, replied, "Not a man shall be killed to-day, for to-day the EVER-LIVING has made a great deliverance for Israel."
14 And Samuel said to the force, "March I and let us go to Gilgal, and renew the Leadership there."

(B.C. 1094.) His Army elect Saul as Leader again at Gilgal.

All the force accordingly marched 15 to Gilgal, and they elected Saul Leader there before the EVER-LIVING in Gilgal, and sacrificed of thanksgiving before the EVER-LIVING, and Saul and all the men of Israel rejoiced very greatly.

Samuel confirms it for War, but retains the Presidency and Civil Government.

Samuel afterwards said to all 12 Israel, "You see I have listened to your voice in all you have asked me, and have appointed a Leader over you, so now your Leader can march 2 before you. But I will govern in Civil affairs. As for my sons—look! they are among you. And for myself I have walked before you from my youth until this day. Here I am! 3 Answer me before the EVER-LIVING and before His Anointed! Whose ox have I taken? or whose ass have I taken to be as a cover and blind to my eyes from any man?—If I have I will return it to you."

And they replied, "You have 4 neither defrauded us, nor oppressed us, and you have never extorted anything whatever from the hand of anyone."

Then he said to them, "The EVER- 5 LIVING is a witness, and His Anointed is a witness with you this day that I have not taken anything whatever for my own hand?"

And they answered, "He is witness."

Samuel addresses the Army reprovingly for their Act.

So Samuel responded to the People 6 "it was the EVER-LIVING Who appointed Moses and Aaron, and Who brought your fathers from the land of Mitzeraim.

"Therefore now station yourselves, 7 and I will relate to you before the EVER-LIVING all the beneficences of the EVER-LIVING which He has done for you, and for your fathers, from 8 the time when Jacob came to the Mitzeraim, until when your ancestors cried to the EVER-LIVING, and the EVER-LIVING sent Moses and Aaron, and brought your fathers from the Mitzeraim and fixed them in this place. Yet they forgot their EVER-LIVING GOD, so He sold them to the hand of Sisera, the General of the army of Khatzor, and to the hands of the Philistim and to the hand of the king of Moab, who fought with them.

"Then they cried to the EVER-LIVING and said, 'We have sinned, for we have forsaken the EVER-LIVING and served the Balim and Astheroth, but now deliver us from the power of our enemies, and we will serve You!'. So the EVER-LIVING sent Jerubal and the Danite, and Japhthah, and Samuel, and delivered you from the power of your enemies all around, and restored you to security. You have yourselves seen how Nakhsh, king of the Amonites, came upon you when you said to me, 'We have no leader over us,' though the EVER-LIVING

GOD was your Leader. So, now, see the Leader you have chosen, for whom you asked. The EVER-LIVING has now placed a Leader over you!

If you reverence the EVER-LIVING, and serve Him, and listen to His voice, and do not rebel against the utterance of the EVER-LIVING, then you and your Leader who directs you will be in union with your EVER-LIVING GOD. But if you do not listen to the voice of the EVER-LIVING, but rebel against the direction of the EVER-LIVING, then the hand of the EVER-LIVING will be against you as it was against your fathers.

"Stand therefore, now, and see the great event which the EVER-LIVING will effect in your sight. Is it not wheat harvest at present? I will call to the EVER-LIVING, and He will send out the thunder and rain that you may recognize and see how great a sin you committed in the sight of the EVER-LIVING when you asked for a Leader!"

Then Samuel called to the EVER-LIVING, and the EVER-LIVING sent thunder with rain at once, and all the people saw the greatness of the EVER-LIVING and of Samuel. Consequently all the assembly said to Samuel, "Pray for your servants to your EVER-LIVING GOD that we may not be killed, although we have added to all our offences the sin of demanding a Leader for ourselves."

But Samuel replied to the people,

"Fear not, although you have done this wrong! only do not turn away from the EVER-LIVING, but serve the EVER-LIVING with all your heart, and turn not after Phantasms which cannot benefit or protect, for they are Phantasms! The EVER-LIVING, however, will never forsake His People, because of His Great Name, for the EVER-LIVING undertook to make you His People! As for myself it would be a shame for me, a sin against the EVER-LIVING, if I ceased to pray for you, and direct you in the way of honour and straightforwardness! So remember the EVER-LIVING, and serve Him in truth with all your heart,—for you see it is this which will make you great! But if you sin, then both you and your Leader will decay!"

History of Saul as General.

Saul was a year in his Leadership. (B.C. 1093.)

When he had been Leader over 2 Israel the second year, Saul himself selected three regiments from Israel. And two regiments were retained with Saul in Mikmash, and in the Hill of Bethel, and one regiment went with Jonathan to Gibeah of Benjamin. The remainder he sent away to their homes.¹

Jonathan attacks a Philistine Garrison, and War begins.

The Battle of Beth-aben.

Jonathan then attacked a garrison of the Philistim, who were in Gibeah, and the Philistim heard of it. Saul consequently proclaimed by trumpet to all the country, saying, "Let the Hebrews hear." So all Israel heard the news that Saul had defeated a garrison of the Philistim, and the people collected after Saul in Gilgal.

The Philistines advance to the War.

The Philistim also prepared for 5 war with Israel, thirty thousand ¹ That is, in the second year of his reign Saul chose out a STANDING ARMY of 3,000 men, sending home the rest. 2,000 of these were under himself, and 1,000 under his son. Then comes the beginning of the "day of war" of v. 22, viz., by the bold attack of Jonathan, a most heroic act, described in Ch. 14.—F. F.

charioteers and six regiments of cavalry, and infantry like sand on the sea shore for number, and they advanced and encamped at Mikdash to the east of Beth-aven.

Saul's Insurgents desert him in Terror.

- 6 Then the Man of Israel saw that there was trouble for them, because the army was cowed, and the people hid themselves in holes, and caves, and on cliffs, and in watch-towers, and in bushes; and some flying away crossed over the Jordan to the country of Gad, and Gilad. Yet Saul continued in Gilgal, and all his army trembled behind him.

(B.C. 1093.) Samuel not arriving to help him, Saul offers the Sacrifice to put Heart in his Men. Samuel is furious at the Act.

- 8 So he waited seven days for the arrival of Samuel. But Samuel came not, and the people deserted from him. Saul consequently said;

“Bring me the burnt offering! and peace offerings!” and he offered the burnt offering. But when he had finished burning the offerings,—then Samuel arrived! And Saul went out to ask him for his blessing. Samuel, however, exclaimed, “What have you done?”

And Saul replied, “Because I saw that the army was deserting from me, and you did not come to the Periodical Meeting,¹ and that the Philistim had collected in Mikdash, I said, ‘Now the Philistim will come down upon me in Gilgal, and I have not approached the presence of the EVER-LIVING,’—so I forced myself and offered the burnt offering.”

Samuel denounces Saul.

- 13 But Samuel answered Saul, “You have acted like a fool. You have not obeyed the command of your EVER-LIVING GOD, which He commanded you! But if you had, the EVER-LIVING would have fixed the Leadership over Israel to you absolutely! But now your Leadership shall not be confirmed. The EVER-LIVING will seek Himself a man after His own heart, and the EVER-LIVING will appoint him as Leader over His people,—because you have not regarded what the EVER-LIVING commanded you!”

Then Samuel arose, and went up 15 from Gilgal to Gibeah of Benjamin.

Abandoned by Samuel, Saul's Men desert him.

Saul, however, mustered what force remained with him, but it was only about six hundred men! Consequently Saul and Jonathan his son, and the force with them, retreated to Gibeah of Benjamin, but the Philistim encamped at Mikdash.

(B.C. 1093.) The Philistines plunder the Country.

Thence Philistim plunderers went 17 out from the camp in three divisions. One division turned to the direction of Arah in the lowlands, and 18 another advanced towards Beth-Khoran, while the third advanced along the borders of the cliffs overlooking the plain of Tzeboim in the desert.

The Oppression Israel was in under the Philistines.

At that time a smith was not allowed 19 anywhere in Israel, for the Philistim said, “The Hebrews might make themselves swords or spears.” Every 20 one in Israel, therefore, went down to the Philistim to repair his coulter and ploughshare, or axe, or chisel. But they were allowed files for the 21 coulters and ploughshares, and for the three-pronged forks and billhooks, and to sharpen the prickers. Now, 22 however, it was a time of war,—yet no sword or spear was found in the hands of all the force who were with Saul, and Jonathan, except that Saul and Jonathan his son had procured them.

Thus the army of the Philistim 23 had advanced beyond the environs of Mikdash.

(B.C. 1087.) Jonathan's bold Attack on the Philistine Garrison at Naz.

But one day Jonathan, Saul's son, 14 said to the squire, his armour-bearer, “Let us go and pass over to the-

¹ It may be rendered with equal accuracy “The Meeting of Parliament.”—F. F.

- garrison of the Philistim that is on the other side of Laz. But he did not
- 2 inform his father, for Saul was posted on the back of the hills, in the caves, the hollows that are in the cliffs, and the force with him was only about
- 3 six hundred men, with Akhiah, ben-Akhitub, brother of Aikabod, ben-Phineas, ben-Eli, the priest of the EVER-LIVING in Shiloh, who carried the ephod. So the force knew not that Jonathan had gone out.
- 4 Now on the pass by which Jonathan sought to cross over to the garrison of the Philistim, there was a rock projecting into the pass on this side, and a rock projecting on the other side,—and the name of the first was Betzet, and the name of the other
- 5 Sanah.¹ The one projection was from the rock on the north, opposite Mikmash, and the other was from the south opposite the hill.² * * * *
- 6 So Jonathan said to the squire who carried his arms, "Let us go and cross over to the garrison of these blackguards. Perhaps the EVER-LIVING will help us, for there is no difference to the EVER-LIVING saving by many or few."
- 7 And his arms-bearer answered him, "Do all that is in your heart. I will go with you as your heart desires."
- 8 Then Jonathan replied,— "You see we wish to pass over to these men,
- 9 and to capture them. If therefore they say thus to us, 'Keep quiet until we come down to you,' then we will stand still below, and not go up to
- 10 them. But if they say 'Come up to us,' then we will go up, for the EVER-LIVING will give them into our hand; and that shall be the sign of it to us."
- 11 When the two approached the garrison of the Philistim, and the Philistim cried out, "See! The Hebrews are coming from the holes where they have hidden themselves!"
- 12 And the men of the garrison shouted out to Jonathan and his arms-bearer and said to them, "Come up to us! and we will teach you something!"
- So Jonathan said to his squire, "Come up after me, for the EVER-LIVING has given them into the hand of Israel!"

Jonathan therefore climbed up on 13 his hands and feet, with his squire after him, and they fell back before Jonathan and his squire, as if death followed after them. This was a 14 great defeat when Jonathan and his squire slew some twenty men in an enclosure of about half an acre of ground.

There was also a trembling in the 15 camp, and in the ground, and in all the troops of the army, and the plunderers themselves also trembled; and there was an earthquake,—for it was a divine terror. The watchmen 16 by Saul in Gibeah of Benjamin also perceived the rumbling with horror, and staggered and were as in a dream.

Then Saul said to the force with 17 him, "Muster now, and ascertain who has gone from us."

They consequently mustered and did not find Jonathan and his squire, therefore Saul said to Abiah, "Ap- 18 proach the Ark of GOD," (for there was an Ark of GOD in those days with Israel,³) and while Saul was speaking 19 to the Priest a roaring came from the camp of the Philistim, and it rolled, and rolled, and raged.

Then Saul said to the Priest, "Take 20 away your hand!" and Saul and all the force who were with him cheered and advanced, and when they arrived at the Camp, they saw the sword of each was against his companion, in excessive confusion; for the Hebrews 21 who served formerly with the Philistim had nutinied, and joined themselves with the Israelites who were with Saul and Jonathan.

The Philistines Fly in Panic.

When all the men of Israel, who had 22 hidden in Mount Ephraim, heard that the Philistim had fled, and were routed, they also advanced to the battle; for the EVER-LIVING rescued 23 Israel on that day. Thus the fighting passed on to Beth-aven. But the 24 men of Israel were exhausted by that time. Saul, therefore, bound the army, saying, "Accursed be the man who eats food before dark, and who does not accompany me against my ¹ Vv. 4-5 can only be understood by the aid of local geography.

² But if this is anywhere near right, then I do not see the object of such a description. It is a difficult passage. It seems to me that at the end of v. 5 there is a gap in the MSS., as the description has nothing to do with the following v. 6 as it now reads.—F. F.

³ 1 V. 18. "An Ark," not "the Ark," which at that time was at Ephraim in the Woods.—F. F.

- enemies!" So none of the army tasted food.
- 25 All the country was woodland;
- 26 honey lay openly on the ground; and the army came into the wood, and saw the honeycomb, but no one put his hand to his mouth, for the people
- 27 feared the curse. Jonathan, however, had not heard the curse of his father to the army, so he extended the end of the club that was in his hand and dipped it into the honeycomb, and put his hand to his mouth, and his eyes were enlightened.
- 28 But a man from among the forces remarked, "Your father bound the army, and said, 'Accursed be the man who eats food to-day!'—Although the army was exhausted."
- 29 But Jonathan answered, "My father troubles the army. Look, now, how my eyes are brightened by
- 30 tasting this bit of honey!—Indeed, why should not the army have eaten to-day of the spoil of its enemies which it found?—for then would not the defeat of the Philishtim have been increased?"
- 31 However they fought the Philishtim that day from Mikmash to Ailon, and the forces were greatly exhausted;
- 32 so the men rushed on the booty and seized sheep, and cows, and calves, and slaughtered them on the ground
- 33 and they ate with the blood. But it was reported to Saul, "Look, the people are offending the EVER-LIVING by eating with the blood," and he replied, "Prevent it! Roll
- 34 to me, at once, a big stone!" Then Saul added, "Serve out to the men, and command every man to bring his bullock to me, or his sheep, and kill them here, and eat, without offending the EVER-LIVING by eating with the blood." So everyone brought his bullock along with him that night and slaughtered it there.
- 35 Saul also built an altar to the EVER-LIVING; for he had promised to build an altar to the EVER-LIVING.
- 36 Then Saul said, "Let us follow after the Philishtim by night, and assail them at dawn of the morning, and not leave a man of them." And they replied, "Do whatever seems right to you!"
- 37 But the Priest said, "You must enquire about that of God." Saul therefore enquired of God, "Shall I follow after the Philishtim? Will You deliver them to the hand of Israel?" But He did not answer at that time, consequently Saul ex- 38 claimed, "Let every squadron of the army come here to be examined, and show who has offended to-day! For 39 by the life of the LORD who has saved Israel, if it should be Jonathan my son,—he shall be put to death."

But there was no response from the whole force.

Then he commanded all Israel, 40 "You shall pass as one, and I and Jonathan my son shall be as one to pass."

And the army answered Saul, "Do what is good in your sight."

Saul therefore said, "EVER- 41 LIVING GOD of Israel! Give a decision!"

Then Jonathan and Saul failed; but the army came out.

Consequently Saul said, "Cause it 42 to fall between me and my son Jonathan," and Jonathan failed.

Therefore Saul said to Jonathan, 43 "Tell me what you have done?" So Jonathan told him, and said, "I tasted from the end of the club I had in my hand a little honey,—and I must die!"

And Saul replied, "GOD do the 44 same to me, and more than this, if Jonathan is not put to death!"

But the army exclaimed to Saul, 45 "Shall Jonathan be put to death who has won this great victory for Israel to-night? As the LORD lives! not a hair shall fall from his head to the ground! For GOD worked to-day." And thus the army rescued Jonathan:—so he did not die!

Saul consequently went up from 46 following the Philishtim, and the Philishtim returned to their quarters.

(B.C. 1097.) Saul wins his Leadership by the Battle of Beth-aben, and continued Successes.

Saul in this way won the Leader- 47 ship over Israel, and fought around with all his enemies. With Moab, and the Beni-Amon, and with Edom, and with the kings of Zobah, and with the Philishtim, and whoever stood up against him he conquered. He also formed an army and defeated 48 Amalek and delivered Israel out of the power of its ravages.

And the sons of Saul were Jonathan, 49 and Ishur, and Malkishua; and the names of his two daughters were

Merab, the eldest, and Mikal, the 50 youngest, and the name of Saul's wife was Akhnam, the daughter of Akhimatz; and the names of the commanders of his armies Abiner 51 ben-Ner, uncle of Saul, and Kish the father of Saul, and Ner, Abi-Abner 52 ben-Abiel. And there was fierce war with the Philistim all the time of Saul, so if Saul saw any brave man, or any capable man, he took him to himself.

(B. C. 1079.) Samuel orders War upon the Amalekites.

15 For Samuel had said to Saul,
 "The EVER-LIVING sent me to you to anoint you as a leader over His people Israel; so now listen to the sound of the words of the EVER-2 LIVING. Thus says the LORD of Hosts; 'I remember what Amalek did to Israel when he placed himself in the path of their going up from 3 the Mitzeraim. Therefore go and assail the Amalekites, and destroy all belonging to them, and you shall not pity over it, but kill both man and woman; both child and nurse; both ox and sheep; both camel and ass!'" 4 So Saul and the forces obeyed, and mustered in Telaim two hundred thousand regulars, and ten thousand 5 of the men of Judah. And Saul advanced to the city of Amalek, and 6 fought at the brook. Then Saul said to the Kenites "Go from among the Amalekites, for fear I should account you as their allies, although you showed kindness to all the Children of Israel on their ascent from the Mitzeraim."

Saul captures Agag, King of Amalek.

The Kenites accordingly departed
 7 from the Amalekites. Then Saul conquered Amalek from Khavilah to the passage of the Wall, which is along the border of the Mitzeraim.
 8 He also captured Agag the king of Amalek alive, but he destroyed all the army by the edge of the sword.
 9 Saul and the forces however spared Agag, and the best of the sheep and cattle, and wethers and fat lambs, and all that was good, and were not willing to destroy them, but they destroyed all the worthless and poor 10 cattle. Consequently a message came from the EVER-LIVING to Samuel, to say, "It grieves Me that I appointed 11 Saul as Leader, for he has turned from following Me, and he does not stand by My command." But it hurt Samuel, and he cried to the EVER-LIVING all night.

Samuel meets Saul after his Victory, and a Quarrel ensues.

Samuel, however, got up in the 12 morning to meet Saul, for it had been reported to Samuel that Saul had come to Carmel, and fixed a garrison for himself; then turned aside and had gone to Gilgal. And 13 when Samuel came to Saul, Saul said to him, "Give thanks: I have stood by the command of the EVER-LIVING!"

But Samuel replied, "Then what 14 is this bleating of sheep in my ears?
 and the loving of cattle which I hear?"

And Saul answered, "They come 15 from the Amalekites, since the army spared the best of the sheep and cattle for the purpose of sacrificing to your EVER-LIVING GOD. But we destroyed the rest."

Samuel, however, exclaimed to 16
 Saul, "Stop!—and I will tell you what the EVER-LIVING said to me
 last night!"

And he replied, "Tell it."

So Samuel said,— "Were you not 17 little in your own eyes,—you head of the tribes of Israel,—when the EVER-LIVING anointed you to be Leader over Israel? And the EVER- 18 LIVING sent you on a journey and said, 'Go! and destroy those sinners the Amalekites, and fight with them to destruction.' Now, why have you 19 not listened to the voice of the EVER-LIVING? You have pounced upon the plunder, and done wrong in the sight of the EVER-LIVING!"

But Saul replied to Samuel, "I did 20 listen to the voice of the EVER-LIVING, and went on the journey the EVER-LIVING sent me; and I have brought Agag the king of Amalek; but I have destroyed the Amalekites. The army, 21 however, made prize of the best sheep and cattle, to be devoted as a sacrifice to your EVER-LIVING GOD, in Gilgal."

Samuel, however, said to Saul, "Is 22 it more pleasing to the EVER-LIVING to have offerings and sacrifices, than to listen to the voice of the LORD?
 Look! To listen is better than

- sacrifice,—and to obey, than the fat of rams! For the result of your idea is rebellion! and Delusion! and stubborn Idolatry! You have repudiated the command of the EVER-LIVING;—and He repudiates you from being Leader."
- 24 Then Saul exclaimed to Samuel, "I have sinned! because I have passed by the command of the EVER-LIVING,—and your command! But I feared the army, and I listened
- 25 to their voice. Yet now, I pray you to pardon my fault, and come along with me, and I will humble myself to the EVER-LIVING."
- 26 But Samuel answered Saul, "I will not go with you!—for you repudiated the command of the EVER-LIVING, so the EVER-LIVING has repudiated you from being Leader over Israel."
- 27 Then Samuel turned to go, but he seized him by the hood of his cloak,
- 28—and it tore! and Samuel exclaimed, "The EVER-LIVING has torn the Leadership of Israel from off you to-day, and has given it to your neighbour,—a better than you!—He Who presides over Israel does not lie, and does not alter, for He is not a man that He should alter!"
- 30 Still he replied, "I have sinned! Yet honour me in the presence of the officers of my army, and in the presence of Israel, and come along with me, and I will bow to your EVER-LIVING GOD."
- 31 Samuel consequently went with Saul, and Saul bowed to the EVER-LIVING.

(B.C. 1079.) Samuel slays Agag.

- 32 Samuel afterwards said, "Bring Agag the king of Amalek to me!"
- And Agag advanced tottering to him, and Agag said, "Surely the bitterness of Death has passed!"
- 33 But Samuel answered, "As your sword has made women childless, so your mother shall be childless among women!" Then Samuel hewed Agag to pieces before the EVER-LIVING in Gilgal.

Samuel and Saul separate.

- 34 Samuel afterwards went to Ramath, and Saul went up to his house at Gibeah of Saul; and Samuel ceased to visit Saul to the day of his death, for Samuel was grieved at Saul, and the EVER-LIVING was sorry for the rule of Saul over Israel.

(B.C. 1063.) Samuel consecrates

David as the Future Leader.

The EVER-LIVING consequently 16 said to Samuel, "How long will you grieve about Saul? although I have rejected him from the Leadership over Israel.—Fill your horn with oil, and go! I send you to Jessai of Bethlehem, for I have selected a Leader for Myself from among his sons."

But Samuel replied, "If I go and 2 Saul hears, he will murder me!"

The EVER-LIVING, however, answered, "Take an heifer from the herd with you, and say I have come to sacrifice to the EVER-LIVING, and invite Jessai to 3 sacrifice, when I will instruct you what to do. Then anoint for Me whoever I tell you."

Samuel accordingly did what the 4 EVER-LIVING told him, and went to Bethlehem, and the Magistrate of the town came to meet him, and asked "Do you come with peace?"

And he replied, "With peace.— 5 I have come to sacrifice to the EVER-LIVING. Purify yourselves, and come with me to the sacrifice. Let Jessai and his sons also purify themselves."

Thus he invited them to the sacrifice; and when they came he looked 6 on Aliab, and thought, "Ah! he must be consecrated before the EVER-LIVING!"

But the EVER-LIVING said, "Do 7 not bend to look at his great stature,—for I reject him, for what a man does not see. Because a man looks with his eyes, but the EVER-LIVING looks with His heart."

Then Jessai called Abinadab, and 8 passed him before the face of Samuel, when he said, "Him also the EVER-LIVING does not choose."

Then Jessai passed seven of his 9 sons before Samuel, when Samuel said to Jessai, "The EVER-LIVING 10 has not chosen any of these. But," 11 Samuel asked of Jessai, "are these all your lads?"

And he replied, "All except the youngest; and he is shepherding with the sheep."

Samuel, however, said to Jessai, "Send, and bring him; for I will not dine until he comes here."

So he sent and brought him, and 12 he was ruddy, with handsome eyes, and beautiful to look at.

Then the EVER-LIVING said, "Arise, anoint him! For this is he!"

- 13 Samuel therefore took the horn of oil, and consecrated him in preference to his brothers, and the Spirit of the EVER-LIVING came upon David from that day forward.

Samuel afterwards arose and returned to Ramath.

- (B.C. 1063.) Saul afflicted with Depression of Spirit. — David summoned to revive him with Music.

- 14 The Spirit of the EVER-LIVING then went away from Saul, and he was terrified by an Evil Spirit away from the LORD. The Ministers of Saul consequently said to him, "Now that the Spirit of GOD has gone; an Evil Spirit terrifies you. Let our lord then command your personal servants to seek a man skilful in playing on the harp, and when the Evil Spirit from GOD is upon you, he can play with his hand, and ease you."

- 15 Saul consequently replied to his ministers, "Look out then for me a man with proficiency in music, and bring him to me."

- 16 One of his ministers then replied, and said, "I have seen a son of Jessai of Bethlehem, a skilful musician, a fine daucer, a gentleman, and a good reciter, and a handsome man; and the EVER-LIVING is with him."

- 17 Saul, therefore, sent messengers to Jessai, and said, "Send your son David who goes with the flock to me."

- 18 So Jessai put on an ass bread, and a skin of wine, with a kid of the goats, and sent them by the hand of his son David to Saul. When David came to Saul and was presented to him, he admired him greatly, and he became one of his attendants, and Saul sent to Jessai to say, "Let David attend me, for he has found favour in my sight."

- 19 When, therefore, the Spirit from GOD came upon Saul, David took his harp and played with his hand, and relieved Saul, and soothed him, so that the Evil Spirit went from him.

- (B.C. 1062.) The Philistines declare War again with Goliath as Commander.

- 17 But the Philistim assembled in their camps for war. They advanced to Sukah, which is in Judah, and were encamped between Sukah and Azkah in Afesdamim. Saul and the Israelites² also collected and encamped on the plain of Halah, and they prepared for battle at the challenge of the Philistim. But the Philistim³ occupied the hill beyond, with the vale between them; and there came⁴ out from the camp of the Philistim a man, one of the twins, whose name was Goliath of Gath. His height was six cubits and a half. A brass helmet⁵ was on his head, and he was clothed in a coat of mail, and the weight of the coat was five thousand shekels of brass, with brass greaves on his legs, 6 and brazen javelins at his shoulders. The shaft of his spear was like a 7 weaver's beam, and the spike of his spear weighed six hundred shekels of iron.

- (B.C. 1062.) Goliath challenges to a Single Combat.

A shield-bearer marched in front of him. Thus he stood, and called 8 from a distance to the regiments of Israel, and said to them, "Why do you come out arrayed for battle? Am not I a Philistim, and you slaves of Saul? Choose a man for yourselves, and let him come to me! If he is 9 able to fight me, and beat me, then we will be your slaves! But if I overpower him, and beat him, then you shall be slaves for us!" The Philistine also said, "I defy all the 10 regiments of Israel to-day! Give me a man that we may fight together!"

And Saul and all Israel listened to 11 these words of the Philistine, and were depressed and terribly afraid.

- (B.C. 1062.) David is Introduced.— His Parentage.

A man of Ephthra, of Bethlehem- 12 Judah, whose name was Jessai, had eight sons, one of them David; and the man in the days of Saul was looked on as a Great Man by the people.¹ The three elder sons 13

¹ NOTE.—A friend, an accomplished Orientalist, wrote me as follows upon Ch. 17, v. 12, in reply to my enquiry as to an exactly accurate rendering of the status of Jessai's family:—

"I do not think the word 'noble' or 'Old Man' is right. I cannot find that the Hebrews ever had that which is sooner or later a curse to the Commonwealth, an elected aristocracy. The views implanted in them by Moses were of Jessai had gone and marched with Saul to the war,—Aliab, the eldest, and the second Abinadab, and the third Shamah. David was the youngest,—so the three elder marched after Saul,—for David had returned and left attending Saul to shepherd the flock of his father at Bethlehem.

David sent to the Camp by his Father.

16 The Philistine had thus approached and stationed himself morning and afternoon for forty days, when Jessai said to David his son, "Take now for your brothers an ephah of this oat-meal and these ten cakes, and run to the camp to your brothers. Present also these ten rolls of butter to the colonel of the regiment, and wish your brothers health, and take their returns."

17

18

19 Saul and all the army of Israel were then on the plain of Halah, at war with the Philistim.

20 David consequently arose at dawn and entrusted the flock to the keeper, and started, and went as Jessai had ordered, and came to the waggon station, when the forces were going out in battle array, and were cheering for the fight. Both Israel and the Philistim were arrayed for fight ready for the challenge, so David entrusted the baggage he had brought with him to the care of the baggage guard, and ran to the ranks, and went and wished his brothers health,

21

22

23 and while he was in talk with them he saw the Champion of the Philistim, named Goliath of Gath, approach

those of Constitutional Government. Everyone was a farmer and a soldier. Anyone could by patient labour, as Jessai, or by sudden bravery as David, rise to greatness. 'Non veteræ patriæ, sed clara virtus,' as Seneca makes Hercules Furius say. There was never, as in Poland, a sharp and defined line between the nobles and the commons. Nevertheless the 'family,' and 'family honour,' was carefully guarded. Therefore I propose 'elder' as somewhat better than 'noble;' though 'elder' does not, either, represent the meaning, which is, 'an Elder, who is Noble in himself, and by his own exertions, and by those of his family; and who is so considered by the undefined voice of his people.' (In German one might say Elder-Noble.)—H. B.

Perhaps the English word and position represented by the phrase "country gentleman," or "country squire," would be the nearest translation to that suggested by my friend H. B.—F. F from the side of the Philistim, and saw what he did,—and David listened. But all the Israelites were afraid of the man, and fled before him, in great terror. And a soldier of Israel was saying to the lookers-on, "Do you see this man who is coming up there!—who comes up to defy Israel? But should a man be able to defeat him, the king will enrich him with great wealth, and give him his daughter, and make his father's family tax-free in Israel."

(B.C. 1062.) David hears, and asks about Goliath's challenge.

So David asked of the men who stood around him, "Say, what will be done to the man who defeats that Philistine, and removes his insults from Israel? For who is this Philistine blackguard who defies the armies of the LIVING GOD?"

When the people replied to him to this effect, saying, "Thus it will be done to the man who defeats him."

But Aliab his elder brother listened to his talking with the men, and Aliab was furious with David and exclaimed, "For what have you come down here? And to whom have you entrusted those few sheep in the desert? I know your pride, and the bravado of your heart,—you have come for the sake of seeing the battle."

David, however, answered, — "What have I done now? Is there not a cause?" And he turned from beside him, and went a little backward, and asked to the same effect, and the people returned him word for word as at first.

Saul hears of David's enquiry, and sends for him.—David offers to Fight.

But the enquiries that David made were heard, and were reported to Saul, and he had him fetched. David said to Saul, "Let no man's heart drop because of him! Your servant will go and fight this Philistine!"

But Saul replied to David, "You are not fit to go against this Philistine, to fight with him, for you are a lad, and he has been a man of war from his youth."

David, however, answered Saul, "Your servant was a shepherd of the flock to his father, and a lion came, and a bear and carried off some of the flock, but I went out after them, and beat them, and delivered them from their mouth. Then they leaped upon me, but I seized them by the mane, and beat, and killed them!

36 Your servant beat both the lion and the bear,—and it will be with this filthy Philistine the same as with them! for he defies the regiments of the LIVING GOD! And," David added, "the EVER-LIVING Who delivered me from the paw of the lion, and the paw of the bear, can deliver me from the hand of this Philistine!"

Saul arms David, but he cannot walk in Armour.

38 Then Saul said to David, "Go! and the EVER-LIVING be with you." And Saul clothed David in his own armour and put a helmet of brass on his head;—clad him in a coat of mail, and girt David with a sword from his own arms.—Then he tried to walk, but he was not able. David therefore said to Saul, "I am not able to walk in these, for I have never been used to them."

David strips off the Armour, and takes his Sling.

Consequently David stripped them off him,—took his sling in his hand, and chose for himself five smooth stones from the brook, and put them into a shepherd's bag that he had. So with a sling and staff in his hand

41 he approached the Philistine. The Philistine also himself marched and advanced against David, with the man carrying a big shield in front of him.

42 But when the Philistine bent forward and saw David, he despised him, for he was a lad and ruddy, with a beautiful face. So the Philistine said to David, "Am I a dog? that you come to me with sticks?" Then the Philistine cursed David by his

44 god. The Philistine also exclaimed to David, "Come to me! and I will give your carcase to the fowls of the sky, and to the beasts of the field!"

45 But David replied to the Philistine, "You come against me with sword and spears, and in armour,—but I come against you with the Name of the LORD of HOSTS,—the GOD of the regiments of Israel, Whom you have defied! The LORD will shut you up to-day for my hand, and I will beat you, and cut off your head, and give the carcase of the Champion of the Philistim to-day to the birds of the sky, and the wild beasts of the earth, and all the world shall know that there is a GOD for Israel. And all the crowd shall recognize that the EVER-LIVING saves neither by sword or spears! For the LORD controls the war, and will give you into our hands!"

Goliath slain by David.

Then the Philistine braced himself up, and advanced to challenge David, but David was quick, and ran from the ranks to attack the Philistine. And thrusting his hand into his bag David took out a stone and slung it, and hit the Philistine on the forehead, and the stone entered his forehead, and he fell on his face to the ground. Thus David was victorious over the Philistine with a sling and a stone, and struck the Philistine and killed him! But there was no sword in David's hand, so David ran and stood by the Philistine, and seized his sword and drew it from its sheath, and killed him, and cut his head off with it. When the Philistim saw that their hero was dead, they fled.

Saul's Army thus encouraged advance to Battle.

Then the generals of Israel and Judah arose, and cheered, and pursued the Philistim to the end of the valley, and to the gates of Akron, and the wounded of the Philistim fell on the road of the double gates, both of Gath and Akron. Then Israelites returned from the pursuit after the Philistim, and plundered their camp. (David ultimately took the head of the Philistine, and brought it to the House of Peace, and placed his armour in the Hall.)

Saul watching David's challenge of Goliath, asks Abner who he was.

But Saul watching David going to challenge the Philistine, said to Abner, the commander of his army, "Whose son is that lad, Abner?"

And Abner answered, "By your soul's life, Leader, if I know."

- 56 Then the Leader said, "Enquire yourself whose son the youth is?"¹
- 57 So when David returned from defeating the Philistine, Abner took him before Saul, the head of the Philistine being in his hand, and Saul asked him, "Whose son are you, my lad?"
- David replied, "The son of your servant Jessai of Bethlehem."

(B.C. 1062.) Jonathan's Admiration of David.

- 18 And as he finished speaking with Saul, the soul of Jonathan was knit to the soul of David, and Jonathan 2 admired him like his own self. Saul also took to him at that time, and would not permit him to return to his father's house. Then Jonathan and David made a treaty to love each other as their own life. And Jonathan took off the cloak that he had on him, and put it upon David with his armour, and sword, and bow, and 5 belt. And David went wherever Saul sent him, and was successful, and pleasing to Saul above all the officers of the army, and he was delightful in the eyes of all the people, and also in the eyes of the ministers of Saul.

(B.C. 1060.) David's Triumph and Saul's Jealousy.

- 6 It happened, however, that once when David was returning from defeating the Philistines, that women came out from all the towns of Israel with song and dances to meet King Saul, with tambourines, tom-toms and 7 triangles, when the women answered to the music, and sung,
- "Saul has defeated his thousands,
And David his ten thousands."²
- 8 But Saul was very angry, and the refrain was hateful in his ears, so he ¹ Ch. 17, v. 56. It is worthy of notice, that the last words of Saul's command to Abner could be translated, "This one, he-that-is-to-everlasting" (thereby containing an omen). If, therefore, our reading of II. Chronicles, Ch. 32, v. 32, is right, that Isalah, the prophet, wrote Samuel and Kings, this is interesting, and quite in the enigmatic style of prediction.—H. B. and F. F.

² V. 7. Or, And the women answering the music sang,

"Defeated has Saul
His thou-ousands,
And David
His ten thou-ou-sands."—H. B.

exclaimed, "They have given the ten thousands to David and the thousands to me! What is there more for him except the Leadership?" Saul consequently became irritable with David from that time forward. Then some 10 time after the Evil Spirit from GOD seized upon Saul, as he was walking through his palace, and David was playing on his harp as he did daily, and Saul had javelins in his hand; so Saul threw javelins, exclaiming, "I will pin David to the wall!" But David escaped them twice. Then Saul 12 became frightened at the presence of David, for the EVER-LIVING had come to him, and gone away from Saul. Therefore Saul removed him from 13 near himself, and appointed him colonel of a regiment, and he went out and came in with the forces. David, 14 however, went on his way successfully, for the EVER-LIVING was with him.

And Saul saw that he was very 15 successful, and was afraid of him; for all Israel and Judah admired 16 David, for he went out and came back before them.

(B.C. 1060.) Saul plots to get David killed.

Saul consequently said to David, 17 "You know my elder daughter Merab; I will give her to you for a wife, and you shall become my most powerful son, and fight the battles of the EVER-LIVING."

But Saul intended, not that he should become powerful, but that he might be brought into the power of the Philistines.

David, however, replied to Saul, 18 "Who am I? And what is the clan of my father in Israel, that I should become son-in-law to the Chieftain?"

But when the time came for giving 19 Merab, Saul's daughter, to David, she was given in marriage to Adrial the Mikholathite.

(B.C. 1060.) Mikal falls in Love with David.—Saul plots his Death by it.

But Mikal, Saul's daughter, loved 20 David, and told it to Saul, and it seemed right in his opinion, so Saul 21 said, "I will promise her to him, and she shall be a trap for him, that he may be got into the hands of the Philistines." Saul therefore said to 22 David, a second time, "You shall be

- my son-in-law now." Saul also ordered his ministers to speak to David privately, and say, "The Leader is now your friend; and all his ministers like you,—so now become son-in-law to the Chieftain!"
- 23 Therefore the ministers of Saul whispered their ideas to David. But David replied, "Is it a little matter in your sight to be son-in-law to the Leader? when I am a common and
- 24 ordinary man?" So his ministers reported to Saul himself how David had replied about the matter.
- 25 Saul accordingly answered, "Say this to David, 'The Leader does not care for a dowry, but wishes for a hundred foreskins of the Philistim, as a revenge on the king's enemies!'" (But Saul was plotting to throw David into the hands of the Philistim.)
- 26 His ministers therefore reported this speech to David, and the idea to be son-in-law to the Chieftain was capital in David's view; but the
- 27 opportunity did not arrive. Therefore David prepared and marched, he and his men, and killed two hundred persons of the Philistim, and David brought their foreskins, thus satisfying the Leader, and thus justifying his being made his son-in-law. Saul then gave him Mikal his daughter as a wife.
- 28 Saul also saw, and acknowledged that the EVER-LIVING was with David, and that Mikal, his daughter, loved
- 29 him. Saul, however, still continued to be afraid of David; and Saul was an enemy to David all the time.
- 30 When the Philistim generals advanced, David's strategy was more skilful against them than that of any of the officers of Saul, so his name became famous.
- (B.C. 1059.) Saul orders the Murder of David.—Jonathan remonstrates.
- 19 Saul consequently ordered his son Jonathan, and all his officers to kill David; but Jonathan, Saul's son, had
- 2 a great admiration for David, so Jonathan informed David, telling him: "My father, Saul, is trying to get you killed, so look out now in the morning, and keep yourself in the
- 3 house, and do not come out. But I will go and station myself beside my father at the parade, where you should be, and I will talk about you to my father, and will watch the result, and report it to you."

Jonathan, accordingly, spoke well 4 about David to his father Saul, and said to him, "Do not let the king hurt David, his officer, for he has not injured you, but has done you very great services. For he put his life in

5 his hand and assailed the Philistim, the EVER-LIVING effecting a great victory for all Israel, and you saw it, and were glad,—so why now sin against innocent blood by killing David without a cause?"

Saul listened to the voice of 6 Jonathan, and Saul swore, "By the life of the LORD be shall not be killed!"

Jonathan afterwards went to David, 7 and reported to him the whole conversation. Jonathan also brought David to Saul, and he associated with him as formerly.

(B.C. 1059.) David routs the Philistines, but Saul in jealous Fury tries to Murder him by his own Hand.

When there was war again, David 8 went out and fought with the Philistim, and defeated them with a crushing defeat, so that they fled before him. Then the Evil Spirit 9 from the EVER-LIVING came upon Saul, and he sat in his room with his javelin in his hand, while David was playing, and Saul tried to pin David 10 with his javelin to the wall; but he rushed from Saul's presence and the javelin fastened itself in the wall. So David fled and hid himself that night.

David flies by a Window when Saul's Guards surround his House.

Saul, however, sent troops to 11 David's house to keep watch and kill him in the morning, but Mikal his wife informed David saying: "If you do not save your life to-night, you will be killed to-morrow." So Mikal let 12 David down out of a window, and he successfully escaped and hid himself. Then Mikal took the teraphim and

13 put them on the bed with a goat's beard laid for its beard, and covered it with clothing, so when Saul sent 14 his guards to seize David, she said, "He is ill!" Saul, however, sent

15 messengers to see David himself, saying, "Bring him on his bed to me that I may kill him!"

16 But when the messengers came they found the teraphim in the bed, with a goat's beard on its face! Then Saul demanded of Mikal, "Why have you deluded me thus, and let my enemy escape from me, and hide himself?"

And Mikal answered Saul, "He said to me, 'Let me escape or I will kill you.'"

(H.C. 1058.) David seeks safety at the Palace of Samuel, the High Priest, at Ramah, where Saul sends to seize him.

18 Thus David escaped and hid himself and went to Samuel at Ramah, and informed him of all Saul had done to him. There he stayed with Samuel and they resided in the Residency. But it was reported to Saul that David was at the Residency¹ at Ramah. Saul consequently sent messengers to arrest David; but when they saw the company of Reciters reciting, and Samuel standing up directing them, the divine spirit came upon Saul's messengers and they themselves recited. And they reported it to Saul, who sent other messengers, but they also recited. Saul however again sent messengers a third time, and they also recited. Then he went himself to Ramah, and when he came to the great cistern that is at Sikah, he asked, enquiring, "Where are Samuel and David?" and was told, "They are at his House near Ramah." But when he went to the House near Ramah, then the divine spirit came upon him also, and he went dancing and reciting until he came to the Residency at Ramah. He also tore off his clothes, and himself recited before Samuel, and fell down naked there all that day, and all that night. From this comes the saying,— "Is Saul also among the Reciters?"

20 Then David removed from the Residency at Ramah, and appeared before Jonathan, asking him, "What have I done? What is my fault? and how have I offended your father, that he seeks my life?"

2 And he replied to him, "Be calm!

you shall not be killed. Look; my father does nothing great, or little, that he does not communicate to my ears,—then why should my father hide this affair? It cannot be so."

But David swore even, and said, 3 "He knows,—your father knows,—that I have found favour in your eyes, so he says 'Let not Jonathan know this, for fear he should be grieved.' But, however, by the life of the EVER-LIVING, and by the life of your soul, what defence is there between me and death?"

Then Jonathan asked David, "What 4 do you demand about your life, and I will provide it for you?"

And David replied to Jonathan, 5 "You know to-morrow is New Moon, and I should sit with the king to dine, but I will withdraw and keep myself in the country until the third evening. If your father enquires for 6 me, you must say, 'David asked me permission to run to Bethlehem, his village, for it is the set time for all his clan to sacrifice there.' If he 7 then says, 'Good,' there is safety for your servant, but if it angers him, you will know that evil has been determined by him." Now act kindly 8 to your friend, for you made a bond of the EVER-LIVING between your friend and yourself. But, if I have offended, kill me yourself, for why should you betray me to your father?"

Then Jonathan answered, "Go 9 away. Calm yourself, and if I find that injury is intended to be brought upon you from my father I will come to you."

But David replied to Jonathan, 10 "Whatever he said to me, or may assert to you, your father is determined."

When Jonathan replied to David, 11 "Come, and we will go into the fields." So they both went to the fields, where Jonathan said to David, 12 "By the EVER-LIVING, the GOD of Israel, I will search out my father by this time, at three days after to-morrow, and find if he is good towards David; and if he is not, I will send to you and whisper it to you. The 13 LORD do so to Jonathan, and more than that, if what is pleasant to my father is bad for you. I will inform you of it,—and send you away, and you shall depart in safety. May the EVER-LIVING be with you, as He has been with my father. Therefore you 14

¹ Ch. 19, v. 19. Then he and Samuel went and lived at Nevith. "Nevith" was the "Bishop's Palace," as we could call it, situated in the town of Ramah. The subsequent narrative makes this probable, almost certain.—H. B. and F. F.

- must not whilst I live ever fail to show me the mercy of the EVER-15 LIVING, and not kill me. Let not your mercy cease from my family for ever,—not even when the EVER-LIVING cuts off every single enemy of David from the face of the earth.
 16 For Jonathan makes a treaty with the house of David, and the EVER-LIVING will enquire for it from the hand of David's enemies."
 17 Then Jonathan proceeded to swear David by his friendship for him; for he loved him as the friend of his life.
 18 Jonathan also said to him, "Tomorrow is New Moon, so guard yourself, for your house will be watched; but upon the third day come down cautiously, and go to the place where you hid yourself on the day of sacrifice, and seat yourself at the side of the rock of Azel, and I will shoot three arrows at random with a pretence of exercising myself at the 21 butts. Then I will send my lad to go seek the arrows. But if I say to the youth, 'Look! the arrows are near you!' then get yourself up, and come, for you will be safe; and there 22 is nothing, as the LORD lives. But if I say to the boy, 'Look out, for the arrows are beyond you and further on!' you must fly, for the EVER-23 LIVING sends you away. The bond we have bound ourselves by, you and I, remember, for the EVER-LIVING is the intermediary between myself and you, for ever!"

Saul tries to Murder his son Jonathan for defending David.

- 24 David consequently hid himself in the fields.
 When the New-Moon came the king sat down to table to dine. And the king sat on his usual seat by the wall, when Jonathan came up. But Abner had seated himself at the side of Saul, who missed the presence of 26 David. Saul, however, said nothing himself about it that day, for he reflected something has happened to him, perhaps he is not clean—he has not been ready.¹
 27 When the second day after the New-Moon came, and he still missed the presence of David, Saul asked Jonathan, his son, "Why has not the son of Jessai come to-day, as formerly, to dine?"

¹ Or prepared.

And Jonathan replied to Saul, 28 "David asked me if he might go to Bethlehem, and said, 'Permit me, I 29 pray, for our clan sacrifices in that village, and my brother has sent for me, and so, if I have found favour in your sight, allow me, I pray, for I wish to see my brothers.' That is why he has not come to the king's table."

But Saul was furious with Jonathan, 30 and exclaimed to him, "You young son of Rebellion. Do I not know that you have chosen the son of Jessai to your own dishonour, and to the dishonour of your mother's shame? For 31 as long as the son of Jessai exists above ground, your Leadership will not be secured? And now you have sent, and taken him from me! Nevertheless he is a Son of Death!"

Jonathan, however, answered Saul 32 his father, and said to him, "Why should he die?—What has he done?"

Then Saul threw his javelin at him 33 to stab him, so Jonathan knew that his father had decided upon the death of David, so Jonathan arose 34 from the table with fury, and ate no food the second day of the New-Moon, for he was grieved about David, because his father had thus determined.

Jonathan reports his Danger to David.

But when dawn came Jonathan 35 went out to the field to meet David, and a little lad with him, and he said 36 to his lad, "Run, find the arrows I shoot." The boy ran, so he shot an 37 arrow to pass over him. When the lad came to the place to which the arrow had been shot by Jonathan, Jonathan called after the lad and said, "Holloo! is not my arrow 38 there beyond you?" Jonathan also called after the lad, "Make haste! Be quick! Don't dawdle!" So the lad picked up the arrows of Jonathan, and came to his master. The lad, 39 however, knew nothing about the affair. Jonathan and David, however, understood the thing. Then 40 Jonathan gave his weapons to his boy, and said to him, "Go! return to the town." The lad went, and David 41 got up from his hiding-place, and bending his face to the earth, bowed three times, and both kissed as friends, and both wept as friends, until David was overcome. Then 42

Jonathan said to David, "Go in the peace that we both have sworn to by the name of the EVER-LIVING, saying, 'The EVER-LIVING shall be between me and you, and between my descendants and your descendants 21 for ever.'" Then he arose and departed. And Jonathan returned to the town.

David flies to Ahimelek, the Priest, for Protection, but is refused.

2 David then went to Akhimelek the Priest at Nob, but Akhimelek hesitated to receive David, and asked him, "Why are you alone? and no one with you?"

3 So David answered Akhimelek the Priest, "The king ordered me on a business, and said to me: 'Let no one know what the business is on which I send you, nor what I have ordered you.' So I appointed another 4 place for my men. And now what have you got here? Give me those five cakes,—or I shall take them myself."

5 But the Priest replied to David and said, "It is not common bread that is under my care, but consecrated bread. If the young men have kept themselves, however, from women?"

6 And David answered the Priest, and said, "Women have not approached us for three days since I set out. The accoutrements of the men are clean; and the way open, and indeed my accoutrements were cleaned that day."

7 Then the Priest gave him the consecrated bread, for he had no other bread there, except the Bread of the Presentation taken away from the piles before the EVER-LIVING to be replaced by hot bread on the day that he took it.

Doeg the Edomite sees David at Nob, and reports it to Saul.

8 There was, however, at the same time an officer of Saul's resting before the EVER-LIVING, named Doeg the Edomite, the chief of Saul's shepherds.

9 And David asked Akhimelek, "Is there not here in your custody a spear or sword? For I could not bring my sword or my arms with me, for the order of the king was very urgent!"

The Priest replied, "The sword of 10 Goliath the Philistine, whom you defeated on the plain of Halah, is here, wrapped in a cloth behind his armour. If you will take that,—take it,—for there is not another except it here."

And David replied, "There is none like it! Give it to me!"

(B.C. 1058.) David flies to Gath, and feigns Madness.

Then David arose and fled at once 11 from the neighbourhood of Saul, and went to Akish, king of Gath. But 12 the officers of Akish said to him, "Is not this David the Leader of the country? Was it not about him they sang in the dances, saying, 'Saul has defeated his thousands, but David his ten thousands?'" And 13 David put these words into his heart, and was very terrified in the presence of Akish, king of Gath. So he altered 14 his way of talking in their sight, and acted the fool towards them, and scribbled on the panels of the doors, and dribbled his spittle on his beard.

Akish consequently said to his 15 officers, "You see the man is mad! Why have you brought him to me? Have I need of fools that you have brought this one to me to play the fool for me?—Let him get out of my house!"

(B.C. 1058.) Driven from Gath by Akish, goes to the Caves of Adulam as a Robber Chief.

Then David went from that place, 22 and took refuge in the Caves of Adulam, and his relatives heard of it, and they and all his father's family went down to him there. And 2 every man in distress, and every man in debt, and every man of discontented mind collected to him, and he became a captain over them, until there were about four hundred men with him in the caves.

But David went from there to 3 Mitzpah of Moab, and said to the king of Moab, "I beg you to allow my father and mother to be with you, until I learn what GOD will do with me." So the king of Moab 4 granted it, and they stayed with him all the time that David was in the stronghold.

(B.C. 1057.) God advises to go to the Desert of Judah.

- 5 Then Gad, the reciter, said to David, "Do not remain in this stronghold, but go to the land of Judah," so David went, and came to the wood of Khareth. Saul, however, heard this; for David and the men who were with him were known, and Saul was resting on a hill under a tamarisk tree, in Ramah, with his spear in his hand, and all his officers were standing about him; so Saul said to the officers who were around him, "Listen now, all you sons of Thieves!—I gave to the son of Jessai farms and vineyards, as I did to all of you.—I made you my colonels of regiments, and my captains of companies. So why have you,—all of you,—conspired against me, and not opened my ears to the agreement of my son with the son of Jessai? and you have not shown it to me, or informed me that my son had set my slave above myself, secretly, as he is to-day?"
- 9 Then Doeg the Edomite replied,—he stood amongst the ministers of Saul,—and said, "I saw the son of Jessai go to Nobah, to Akhimelek the son of Akhitub, who enquired for him of the EVER-LIVING, and gave him provisions, and handed him also the sword of Goliath the Philistine!"
- 11 The king consequently sent and summoned Akhimelek-ben-Akhitub, the Priest, and the whole of the priests of his father's family who were in Nobah, and they all came to the king, when Saul said, "Listen, now, ben-Akhitub." And he replied, "I am here, my Prince."
- 13 Then Saul asked him, "Why did you—you and the son of Jessai—hide from me that you supplied him with bread, and a sword, and enquired for him of GOD, to rise against me in secret, as he now does?"
- 14 But Akhimelek answered the king and said, "Who of all your officers should be more honourably trusted than David, a royal son-in-law?—and the chief of your subjects, and the most honoured of your family? Upon the day when I danced to enquire of

1 V. 7. "You sons of Jamln." יָמִינִי, Yamln. "Sons of the Right Hand," that is, "bold fellows living by force."—F. F.

GOD for him I did dance;—let not the king bring trouble upon his servant, with all my father's family, for your servant knew nothing of all this affair, little or great."

Doeg's Murderous Willing.

The Leader, however, replied, 16 "You shall die, Akhimelek; you and all your father's family!" And the 17 Leader commanded the guards around him to turn upon them, and slay the priests of the EVER-LIVING for helping David, and because knowing of his flight they had not informed him. But the officers of the king would not go;—would not extend their hands to strike the Priests of the EVER-LIVING.

Then the Leader said to Doeg, 18 "Get up, and fall upon the Priests!" So Doeg the Edomite turned and fell upon the Priests himself, and killed on that day eighty-five men; men who bore the ephods only. He also 19 assailed Nob, the towns of the Priests, with the edge of the sword, both men and women, child and infant; and ox, and ass and sheep he massacred. But 20 one son of Akhimelek-ben-Akhitub escaped, whose name was Abiathar, and fled to David, and Abiathar 21 informed David how Saul had murdered the Priests of the EVER-LIVING.

And David said to Abiathar, "I 22 knew on that day, when Doeg the Edomite was there, that he would inform Saul. I am responsible for all the lives of your father's family! Stay with me. Fear not. For he 23 who seeks my life, seeks yours as well, so you have a place of safety with me."

(B.C. 1057.) David assails the Philistines, and defeats them.

They reported once to David, say, 23 ing, "The Philistines are besieging Keilah, and destroying the corn-fields," so David enquired of the 2 EVER-LIVING, asking, "Shall I assail and defeat those Philistim?"

And the EVER-LIVING answered David, "Go! and defeat the Philistim and relieve Keilah."

But David's men said to him, 3 "Look you! We are in terror here in Judah,—so why should we go to Keilah to fight the regulars of the Philistim?"

4 Therefore David repeated the enquiry to the EVER-LIVING, when the EVER-LIVING answered, "Arise! march to Keilah, for I will give the 5 Philistim into your power." David and his men then marched to Keilah, and fought with the Philistim, and captured their baggage train, and defeated them with great slaughter. Thus David saved the inhabitants of Keilah.

(B.C. 1057.) David tries to settle in Keilah, but fearing an Attack by Saul his Band disperse to hide in the Desert.

6 And when Abiathar-ben-Akhitub followed David to Keilah, he took 7 the ephod with him. It was, however, reported to Saul that David had come to Keilah, so Saul remarked "GOD has betrayed him into my power, for he is prevented by doors and bars from leaving the 8 town." Saul therefore ordered all his forces for war to descend to Keilah to assail David and his men. 9 But David had intelligence that Saul was planning evil against him, so he said to Abiathar the Priest, "Bring the ephod here." 10 Then David prayed: "EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel listen, listen to your servant, for Saul seeks to advance upon Keilah, to destroy the town because of me. 11 Will the Headmen of Keilah deliver me into his power? Will Saul descend as Your servant has heard? LIVING GOD of Israel, inform Your servant, I pray." The EVER-LIVING answered, "He will descend." 12 Then David asked, "Will the Headmen of Keilah deliver me and my men into the power of Saul?" And the EVER-LIVING replied, "They will deliver!" 13 Consequently David and his men—about six hundred persons—arose and went out from Keilah, and dispersed as they could; and it was reported to Saul that David had escaped from Keilah, so he stopped 14 his advance. Then David stayed in the dens of the desert, and occupied a hill in the desert of Zif, and Saul hunted him all his days, but GOD 15 gave him not into his power. David also knew when Saul came out to seek him; but David kept in concealment in the desert of Zif.

(B.C. 1056.) Jonathan visits David in the Desert, and makes a Treaty with him.

Jonathan, however, the son of Saul, 16 arose and went to David secretly, and cheered him up in GOD, and 17 said to him, "Fear not! for the hand of my father Saul will not catch you, and you will be the Leader of Israel, and I will be your Lieutenant;—my father Saul also knows this."

Then both of them made a treaty 18 before the EVER-LIVING. But David continued in hiding, and Jonathan returned to his home.

(B.C. 1055.) The Zifites betray David to Saul.

The Zifites, however, went up to 19 Saul to Gibeah, to say, "Do you not know that David is hiding with us in a fort concealed among the hills of Khakilah on the south of the desert? So now with all the energy of your 20 soul, Commander, come down, and we will deliver him to the Commander's hand."

When Saul answered "May you 21 be blessed by the EVER-LIVING for your kindness to me! Go, I pray, 22 ascertain further, and learn, and watch the places that he haunts,—who sees him there,—for they tell me he is very crafty. Examine and 23 learn also about all the hiding-places where he haunts, and report them to me accurately. Then I will come to you, and if he is skulking about in the country I will chase him with all the regiments of Judah."

They accordingly arose and went 24 from the audience with Saul to Zif. But David and his men were then in the desert of Maon, in the waste to the south of the desert, where Saul 25 and his men marched in pursuit. But David received intelligence of it and came down from the hill-fort and rested in the desert of Maon. Saul, however, heard of this and pursued after David to the desert of Maon. But Saul marched on one 26 side of the hill, and David and his men on the other side of the hill, with David hurrying in his march from the approach of Saul. For Saul and his men wished to surround David and his men and 27 capture them. Then a messenger rushed to Saul saying, "Make haste and march, for the Philistim have 28 burst into the country." Saul therefore ceased the pursuit after David and went to encounter the Philistim, in consequence of which that place is called the peak of Turn-24 again. From there David went and settled in the fort of Aingheli.¹

(B.C. 1056.) David could have slain Saul, but spares him.

- 2 Again when Saul returned from after the Philistim, he was informed that David was in the desert of 3 Aingheli. So Saul took three thousand men, the choice of all Israel, and marched to seek David and his men in the high peaks of Jalim.
 4 When he came to the sheepfolds by the road, where there is a cave, Saul went in to rest his feet. But David and his men were in the backward
 5 reaches of the caves. Then David's men said to him, "Now is the time that the EVER-LIVING said to you, 'I will put your enemy into your power, and you can do to him whatever is good in your eyes!'" So David arose and took away the embroidered quilt with which Saul was 6 covered. But afterwards David's heart reproved him for taking away the quilt which was on Saul, and he said to his men, "Trouble will come 7 to me from the EVER-LIVING if I do such a thing to my Prince,—to the LORD's anointed, as to lay my hand upon him. For he has been consecrated to the EVER-LIVING." David consequently restrained his men from action, and would not allow them to attack Saul.

So Saul left the cave and proceeded on his way.

- 9 Then David got up and went out of the cave, and called after Saul, and said, "My Lord, Commander!" When Saul looked behind him, David bent his face earthward and bowed 10 to him. David then said to Saul:—

¹ In the Hebrew divisions, v. 29 of Ch. 28 in the A. V. or Vulgate notations, is v. 1 of Ch. 29, which I follow, as all through my work.—F. F.

"Why do you listen to the tales of the man who says, 'David seeks to do you injury'? Look! This very 11 day your eyes can see that the EVER-LIVING gave you into my power in the cave, and they wished to murder you. But I pitied you, and said:
 'I will not lift my hand against my Prince, for he has been consecrated to the EVER-LIVING.' And now, 12 father, see, look, here is the embroidered quilt that covered you in my hand! I took the quilt away from you, but did not murder you! Know and be convinced therefore that there is no wrong in my hand, or rebellion, or sin against you; yet you 13 hunt for my life to take it. Let the EVER-LIVING decide between me and you, when the EVER-LIVING will acquit me, rather than you; for my hand has not been against you. As 14 the verse of the Kadmonite says,—
 'From the wicked, wickedness springs,
 But my hand shall not be against you.'

After what does the Commander of 15 Israel come out? After what do you chase? After a dead dog! After a single flea! But let the EVER-LIVING 16 be judge and decide between me and you, and examine my cause, and acquit me from you."

And when David had finished 17 uttering this address to Saul, Saul asked, "Is that your voice, my son David?" Then Saul lifted up his voice and wept, and said to David 18 "You are more righteous than I; for you have repaid me with benefit, but I have repaid you with violence! And, further, you have shown it 19 to-day by having acted kindly to me, for when the EVER-LIVING had delivered me to your power, you did not kill me! For when did a 20 man find his enemy and helped him kindly on his way? The EVER-LIVING, however, will repay you generously in return for what you have done to me. And indeed I 21 know that you will lead, and that the Leadership of Israel will be fixed in your hand; therefore swear 22 to me by the EVER-LIVING not to destroy my descendants after me, nor to blot out my name from my father's house."

So David swore to Saul. And 23 Saul went to his home, and David and his men went up to the fort.

(B.C. 1055.) Death of Samuel.

25 At this time Samuel died, and the Parliament of Israel collected, and mourned for him, and buried him at his home in Ramah.

Thereupon David arose and went down to the desert of Paran.

(B.C. 1055.) David and his Men remove to Karmel, and meet Nabal.

- 2 There was a man in Maon whose property lay in Karmel; and the man was very great, for he possessed three thousand sheep and a thousand goats. He was at this time shearing his sheep in Karmel. This man's name was Nabal, and his wife was called Abigail; she was a very clever woman, and beautiful in appearance, but her husband was brutish and excessively bad;—like one of his dogs. David heard in the desert that Nabal was shearing his sheep, so David sent some of his lads, and David said to the lads, "March to Karmel and go to Nabal, and wish him well in my name. You must also say this, 'Good health to you! How are you? and how are your family? and how is all that you have? I have heard that you are shearing. Although your shepherds are near us, I have not hurt them, nor has anything been missing from them all the time they have been in Karmel. Ask your lads, and they will tell you so. So let these youths find favour in your sight, for they come at a good time. Therefore give what comes to your hand to your servants, and to your son David.'"

Nabal's Stupidity, and his Wife's Skill and Beauty.

- 9 David's lads accordingly went, and reported to Nabal all this speech in the name of David; and sat down. 10 But Nabal answered David's servants, "Who is David? And what is the son of Jessai? Now-a-days plenty of slaves run away from their masters! 11 And why should I take my bread, and my drink, and my roast meat, that I have roasted for my shearers, and give to fellows who come from I don't know where?"

David's Fury at Nabal's Boorishness.

David's lads consequently went 12 their way, and returned to, and came and reported to him all these things. Consequently David said to his men, 13 "Gird on your swords!" And they all girt their swords. David also girt on his sword, and there went up after David about four hundred men, while two hundred guarded the baggage.

One of the lads from among Nabal's 14 servants, however, informed Abigail his wife, saying, "David has sent messengers from the desert to congratulate our master, and he has abused them. Now these men have 15 been very good to us, and have not hurt us, nor stolen anything all the time we wandered about near them in the open field. They were a 16 guard to us by night and by day, all the time we were near them, shepherding the sheep. And now I 17 know, and see what troubles me,—for there will be plenty of evil for our master and for all his household, because he is such a brute,—one cannot speak to him."

At this Abigail hastened, and took 18 two hundred loaves, and two skins of wine, and five cooked sheep, and five quarters of corn and a hundred packets of raisins, and two hundred cakes of figs, and loaded them upon asses, and said to the lad, 19 "Go on before me, I will follow after you." But she did not inform her husband Nabal. Now she rode on 20 her ass, and went down to the foot of the hills and saw David and his men advancing on her. So she approached them. And David said, "I never 21 broke the bargain;—I protected all that belonged to this fellow in the desert, and nothing was missing belonging to him, but he has returned me bad for good. May GOD 22 do this to the enemies of David, and add to this,¹ if I leave anything belonging to him at morning light, even an urchin behind the wall!"

Then Abigail was afraid of David; 23 therefore she hastened and dismounted from her ass, and fell down on her face, because of the anger of David, and bowed to him to the earth. Then she knelt at 24

¹ V. 22. "And add to this." The Hebrew evidently used some gesture when uttering this oath.—F. F.

- his feet and said, "Let the fault be to me, my Lord! and let your handmaid speak in your hearing,—and listen to the words of your handmaid. Let not my Lord lay to his heart about that blackguard, Nabal, for he is like his name,—a fool,—and folly is with him. But I, your handmaid, saw not the lads of my Lord, whom you sent. So now, my Lord, by the life of the EVER-LIVING, by the life of your soul—oh! that the EVER-LIVING would restrain you from going to bloodshed, and save you from your own hand. But may your enemies be like Nabal, and whoever seeks to injure my Lord!
- 27 And this present here, which your servant has brought to my Lord,—give it to the lads who march after the footsteps of my Lord. Overlook therefore the fault of your handmaid, for the EVER-LIVING will make for my Lord a safe home, for you fight the battles of the EVER-LIVING, my Prince, and harm will not meet you all your time. When a man rises to pursue you to seek your life, then the life of my Lord will be treasured in the treasury of your EVER-LIVING GOD, while the life of your enemies will be slung from the hand of the slinger. It will be so,—for the EVER-LIVING will effect for my Prince all the good He has promised to you, and will appoint you to be a Leader to Israel. So let not this be an agitation and disturbance to the heart of my Prince, to cause him to shed needless blood. Let my Prince save himself from himself, and the EVER-LIVING will reward my Prince,—when you will remember your handmaid."
- 32 Then David replied to Abigail, "Thank the LORD of Israel Who has sent you to-day to meet me! And bless your skill! And bless you who have prevented me to-day from bloodshed, and saving my hand from myself! For certainly by the life of the EVER-LIVING, the GOD of Israel,—Who restrained me from injuring you,—if you had not been quick and come to meet me, there would not have been left to Nabal an urchin behind his wall this morning."
- 35 David then accepted what she had brought to him, and said to her, "Go in peace to your home. You see I have listened to your voice, and gladdened your face."

(B.C. 1055.) Nabal's Death after a Drunken Bout.

Abigail therefore went to Nabal; but he was drinking in his house as at a royal feast, and the heart of Nabal was pleased with himself, and he was very drunk, so she told him nothing, great or small, until morning light. But in the morning when the wine had gone out of Nabal, his wife informed him of these events, when his heart died in his breast, and he became like a stone; and ten days after, the EVER-LIVING struck Nabal, and he died.

David marries Nabal's Widow Abigail.

When David heard that Nabal was dead, he exclaimed,—“Thank the EVER-LIVING Who has avenged my insult on the head of Nabal, and restrained his servant from wrong, for the EVER-LIVING has returned the insults of Nabal upon his own head.” David also sent, and spoke to Abigail to take her as a wife, so David’s officers went to Abigail at Karmel, and said to her, “David has sent us to you to take you to himself as a wife.”

Then she arose and bowed her face earthward and said,—“I am your servant to attend to wash the feet of the servants of my Lord.” Then Abigail prepared in haste and mounted her ass, and five of her maids went with her on foot, and marched after the messengers of David. Thus she became his wife. David also took Akhinoam of Jezraal, and they were both his wives.

Saul, however, gave Mikal his daughter, the wife of David, to Hittibben-Laish, who was from Galim.

(B.C. 1054.) Saul again chases David.

The Zifites then went to Saul at Gibeah and said, “Do you know that David is in hiding in the hills of Khikalah opposite Jeshimon?” Saul consequently arose and went down to the desert of Zif with three thousand men, the choicest of Israel, to hunt after David in the desert of Zif, and Saul encamped in the hills of Khikalah opposite Jeshimon, by the road side. But David occupied the desert, and saw when Saul came after him towards

- 4 the desert. David also sent spies and learnt that Saul came resolutely.
- 5 David therefore arose, and came to the place where Saul was encamped, and David saw the place where Saul and Abner-ben-Ner, the commander of Saul's army, slept. But Saul slept within a barricade of waggons, with his forces around them. So David addressed Akhimelek the Hitite, and Abishai-ben-Zeruiah, brother of Joab, and said, "Who will go down with me to Saul in the camp?"
- 7 And Abishai replied, "I will go down with you!" Therefore David and Abishai went to the army at night and saw Saul laid asleep within the barricade of waggons, with his spear stuck in the ground at his head, and Abner and the forces sleeping around them.

Abishai advises to murder Saul in his sleep.—Abid refuses.

- 8 Then Abishai said, "God hasty-day delivered your enemy into your hand, so now I will pin him at a stroke with a spear to the earth and not waken him."
- 9 But David answered his officer:—"You shall not destroy him. For who can raise his hand against the consecrated to the EVER-LIVING, and be blameless?" Then David added, "By the life of the EVER-LIVING!—If the LORD struck him;—or his day came and he died; or he went down to battle, and was killed! But it would bring trouble on me from the EVER-LIVING, if I raised my hand against the LORD's consecrated!—However, take the spear that is by his head, and the jug of water, and let us be gone."
- 12 So David took the spear and the jug of water from beside the head of Saul, and went away with them; and none saw, and none knew, and none awoke, for they all slept. A deep sleep had fallen on them from the EVER-LIVING.
- 13 David then passed over the ford, and stood on the top of a hill at a distance with a great space between them, from where David called to the forces, and to Abner-ben-Ner, asking, "Are you there, Abner?"
- 14 When Abner rejoined and said, "Who are you, calling to the Commander?"
- 15 So David replied to Abner, "Are you not a man? And who is like you in Israel? So why have you not guarded your master, the Commander? For a person has been to destroy the Commander—your Lord! By the life of the EVER-LIVING, it is not a good thing that you have done, for you are liable to death for not guarding your master, who is consecrated to the EVER-LIVING! So now, look for your Commander's spear and water jug, which were by his head!"

But Saul recognized the voice of David, and asked, "Is that your voice, son David?"

And David replied, "It is my voice, my Lord, Commander." And then he continued, "Why does my Lord hunt so after his servant? For what have I done? And what wrong is there in my hand? Let my Lord the King listen therefore to what your servant says. If the EVER-LIVING has excited you, let me be a sweet perfumed offering;—but if any of mankind,—curse them before the EVER-LIVING for driving me out from the inheritance of the EVER-LIVING to herd with vagabonds, saying, 'Go! serve other Gods!' But now let not my blood fall to the earth away from the presence of the EVER-LIVING. For what has the Commander of Israel come out to hunt? A single flea? as they hunt a partridge on the mountains?"

Then Saul answered, "I have done wrong! Come back, my son David; for I will never injure you! since my life has been respected in your sight to-day. I have acted like a fool, and ten thousand times mad."

David replied and said, "Here is the Commander's spear;—let one of the lads come over and take it, for the EVER-LIVING rewards a man for his honesty and fidelity. Now as the EVER-LIVING gave you to-day to my power, and I refrained from lifting my hand against the consecrated to the EVER-LIVING, therefore as your life was respected to-day in my eyes,—thus let my life be respected in the eyes of the EVER-LIVING, for He will deliver me from every trouble."

Then Saul said to David, "Son David! you are noble! What you wish, you will accomplish by the self-command you have exercised!"

David then went his way, and Saul returned to his residence.

(B.C. 1054.) David again goes to Philistia, and becomes a Favourite with King Akish.

27 David, however, said in his heart, "I shall fall some day into the hand of Saul. Would it not be well for me to take refuge in the country of the Philistim? when Saul will give up hunting after me again in any of the districts of Israel, and I shall protect myself from his hand."

2 David consequently passed over, he and the six hundred men with him, to Akish-ben-Mauk, king of

3 Gath, where David and his men settled in Gath with Akish, each with his family, and David with his two wives, Akhinoam the Jezraalites, and Abigail, the widow of Nabal, the 4 Karmelites. And it was reported to Saul that David had fled to Gath, so Saul did not again hunt for him.

5 David afterwards said to Akish, "If, now, I have found favour in your sight, give me a residence in one of your country villages, and I will stay there,—for why should your servant live in the Royal City with you?"

(B.C. 1053.) David made Governor of Ziklag by Akish.

6 Akish consequently assigned to him at once Ziklag; (therefore Ziklag belongs to the kings of Judah to

7 this day;) and the length of time that David stayed in the country of the Philistim was a year and four

8 months. But David and his men went and plundered the Ghishurites, and the Gherzites, and the Amalekites, who were in the country which 9 lies towards the Wall of the land of Mitzer. So David conquered the country, leaving neither men nor women alive, but taking the sheep, and cattle, and asses and camels, and clothing. Then returned and came to Akish.

10 And Akish asked, "Where have you been plundering this time?"

David answered, "Towards the south of Judah, and towards the south of the Irakhmalites, and to the 11 south of the Kenites." For David did not let a man or a woman go with him to Gath, remarking "for fear they should tell of us, and say, 'David has done this!'" He, however, plundered in this way all the time he stayed in the country of the Philistim. And Akish believed ¹² David, reflecting, "He will make himself stink with his nation the Israelites, and then he will be my subject for ever."

It was at this time the Philistim ²⁸ assembled their forces for war with Israel, and Akish said, "I know that you will go with me to the campaign with your men?"

And David answered, "You know ² well enough what your servant will do!"

And Akish replied to David, "Certainly! Therefore I will appoint you as Captain of my guard all the time!"

(B.C. 1053.) Saul expels the Soothsayers.

When Samuel died, and all Israel ³ had mourned for him, they buried him near Ramah, in his own village, and Saul drove away the Spirit-raisers, and the Soothsayers from the country.

(B.C. 1053.) The Philistines prepare to assail Israel, and Saul is terrified at their fine Army, and seeks a Spirit-rapper to raise a Spirit to advise him.—Goes to the Witch of Endor.

But the Philistim collected, and ⁴ advanced, and encamped at Shunam.—Saul also assembled the forces of Israel, and encamped at Gilboa.

When Saul saw the camp of the ⁵ Philistim, he feared and his heart trembled extremely. Saul consequently enquired of the EVER-LIVING, but the EVER-LIVING did not answer him, neither by dreams, nor by visions, nor by prophets. ¹ Consequently Saul said to his officers, "Seek me a woman who possesses a divining spirit, and I will go and enquire of her."

And his officers replied to him, "There is a woman at En-dor ² who possesses a spirit."

¹ Reciters or Instructors.—F. F.

² V. 7. This word in Hebrew has a double meaning. In one, it means "The House Well," in another "No result," that is "No good."—H. B. and F. F.

- 8 Then Saul stripped, and clothed himself in different clothes, and went, he and two officers with him, and came to the woman at night, and said to her, "Will you call to a spirit for me now, and bring to me whoever I tell you?"
- 9 But the woman replied to him: "What! when you know what Saul has done?—who has driven the Spirit-raisers and the Scientists from the country! So why do you seek for my life, to get me killed?"
- 10 Then Saul swore to her by the EVER-LIVING, saying, "By the EVER-LIVING LIFE nothing hurtful shall happen to you for the affair."
- 11 So the woman asked him, "Whom shall I bring up to you?"
And he replied, "Bring up Samuel to me!"
- 12 And when the woman saw Samuel, she shrieked with a loud voice, and said to Saul, "Why have you deceived me? You are Saul!"
- 13 But the King answered her, "Fear not for me!—Who?—What have you seen?"

The Spirit of Samuel appears.

- And the woman said to Saul, "I saw Divine Messengers ascending out of the earth!"
- 14 He then asked her, "What is he like?"
She replied, "An old man is now coming up! And he is covered with a cloak!"
And Saul recognized that it was Samuel! and fell face forward to the ground, and was terrified.
- 15 Then Samuel said to Saul, "For what have you disturbed me to bring me up?"
And Saul replied, "I am in great distress! for the Philistim are at war with me, and GOD has turned from me, and answers me no more, neither by means of Instructors, nor by dreams:—so I called to you to tell me what to do!"
- 16 Samuel then asked: "And for what do you enquire of me, when GOD has turned away, and is far from you? The EVER-LIVING will do to you, as He said through me! For the EVER-LIVING has taken the Commandership from your hand, and will give it to your neighbour,—to
- 18 David. Because you did not listen to the voice of the EVER-LIVING, and did not execute His deep wrath upon the Amalekites, therefore the EVER-LIVING has brought this trouble to you to-day! The EVER-LIVING also will give Israel, with you, into the hands of the Philistim. And tomorrow you shall be with me! The EVER-LIVING will also give the camp of Israel into the hand of the Philistim."

Saul then immediately fell down to the earth, for he could not stand, and was greatly terrified at the words of Samuel; beside there was no strength in him, for he had not eaten food all that day, and all that night. But the woman came to Saul in great terror and agitation and said to him,

The Witch pities Saul in his Despair.

"You see your servant has listened to your voice, and I have placed my life in my hand, and have listened to the request you made me,—therefore listen now yourself to the voice of your servant, and I will put before you a mouthful of food, so eat it, and it will strengthen you that you can go on your way."

But he refused, and said, "I will not eat."

His attendants, however, urged him, and the woman also. He therefore listened to their voices, and arose from the ground, and rested upon a couch, and the woman, having a fat calf in the stable, hastened and killed it, and took flour and kneaded, and baked biscuits, and approached Saul and his attendants, and they ate, and arose and went away in the night.

(B.C. 1054.) David volunteers to fight for the Philistines, but the Generals refuse him.

The Philistim had now assembled all their forces at Afak, and Israel had encamped at the Well which is in Jezrael. And the forces of the Philistim advanced by battalions and regiments, but David and his men were with Akish in the rear. The Generals of the Philistim, however, asked, "Who are these Hebrews?"

And Akish answered the Generals of the Philistim, "Is not this David, the officer of Saul, King of Israel, who has been with me for this year or two, and I have not found in him any fault from the day he deserted until now."

- 4 The Generals of the Philistim, however, collected about him, and the Generals of the Philistim said to him, "Send the man away, and let him go to his residence, where let him be retained, for he shall not advance with us to the campaign, lest he betray us in the campaign. For how could he reconcile himself to his Prince? Would it not be by the heads of our men? Is not this David about whom they chorsed with dances saying,—

'Saul has slain his thousands

And David his ten thousands'?"

- 6 Akish consequently summoned David, and said to him, "By the EVER-LIVING LIFE, in my opinion you have been right and good in your intercourse with me in the camp! Nor have I found anything wrong about you from the day you came up to me until this time; but the opinion of the nobles is not good about you.

7 Therefore return, and go away quietly, and create no offence in the sight of the Philistim lords."

8 David, however, asked Akish, "Why? What have I done? What have you found in your servant, from the day I came to you until this day, that I may not go and fight the enemies of my Lord the King?"

- 9 But Akish answered and said to David, "I acknowledge you are as good in my opinion as a messenger of GOD. The generals of the Philistim, however, say 'He shall not advance with us to the campaign.'

10 So now rest till the morning with the servants of your Prince who came with you, but arise at dawn of light with them and depart."

- 11 Consequently David and his men rested until they marched at dawn to return to the country of the Philistim. Then the Philistim advanced to Jezrael.

(B.C. 1054.) David returns to Ziklag, and finds it had been captured by the Amalekites.—He pursues them.

- 80 But when David and his men arrived at Ziklag on the third day, they found that the Amalekites had devastated the south, up to Ziklag, and attacked Ziklag, and burnt it with fire, and captured the women who were in it, from the least to the greatest. They did not kill a single person, but carried them off and departed. So when David and his men came to the town they saw it burnt by fire, and their wives, children and daughters carried off. Then David and the people who were with him lifted up their voices and wept, until there was no more strength in them to weep. The two wives of David also were captured, Akhinoam the Jezraalites, and Abigail the widow of Nabal, the Karmelite, and it troubled David greatly, for the people threatened to stone him, for the soul of all the forces was bitter because of their sons and daughters, but David relied upon his EVER-LIVING GOD.

David consequently said to Abiathar the Priest, son of Akhimalek, "Bring me the ephod." And Abiathar brought the ephod to David, and David enquired of the EVER-LIVING asking, "Shall I pursue this troop? And can I overtake them?" When He replied to him, "Follow; for you shall overtake, and deliver." Therefore David and the six hundred men with him marched, and came to the canal at the Wall, where part halted. But David and four hundred men continued the pursuit, whilst two hundred men, who were exhausted, halted at the passage of the canal of the Wall. And they found a man, an Egyptian, in the field, and took him to David. They gave him food, and he ate, and they quenched him with water. They also gave him a slice of fig cake, and two bunches of raisins, and he ate, and his energy returned to him, for he had not eaten food nor drank water for three days and three nights.

David then asked him, "Who are you? or from where?"

And he answered, "I am a young Egyptian, the slave of an Amalekite, and my master abandoned me three days ago, because I broke down. We had devastated the pastures of the Khithites as high up as Judah, and the pastures of Kaleb, and we burnt Ziklag with fire."

David next asked him, "Will you guide me to this gang?"

And he replied, "Swear to me by God that you will not kill me, and not give me up to the hand of my master, and I will lead you to that gang."

- 16 So he led them. And they were scattered all over the ground eating and drinking, and feasting upon the great booty they had taken from the country of the Philishtim, and from the land of Judah. David therefore assailed them with spirit from the evening to the next day, and none of them escaped except four hundred young men who mounted on camels and fled. Then David rescued all the Amalekites had taken, and David also rescued his two wives, and they lost no one, small or great, of their sons or daughters. And the plunder, and all that they had taken with them David got back. But David took all the sheep and cattle they drove out from that camp to himself, and said "This is David's booty."
- 21 But when David approached the two hundred men, who had been exhausted by the march after David, and who stayed by the canal of the Wall, they came out to meet David and the force with him, and David came to them and wished them health.

(B.C. 1054.) David fixes the Tab of War Prizes.

- 22 But all the vile and blackguardly fellows among those who marched with David objected and said: "Because they did not go with us, none of the booty that we have captured shall be given to them, except to each one his wife and children. Let them take them and be off!"
- 23 David, however, said, "You shall not do so, brothers, since the EVER-LIVING has given it to us, and has guarded us, and delivered the gang who fell upon us into our power. And who will listen to this talk of yours? As for the share of the man who goes into battle, and the share of him who stays with the baggage, both shall be equal."
- 25 So from that day forwards it was fixed as an institution and decree for Israel until this time.
- 26 When David arrived at Ziklag he sent part of the booty to the princes of Judah his neighbours, saying, "Here is a present to you from the plunder of the enemies of the EVER-LIVING." To those also in Bethel 27 and those in Ramah-Negeb, and those in Jathir, and those in Ashema, and 28 those in Rakal, and those in the 29 villages of the Irakhmali, and to those in the villages of the Kenites, and 30 those in Kharmah, and those in Korashon, and to those in Athak, and to 31 those in Khebron, and to all the places where David had been with his men.

(B.C. 1054.) The Battle of Gilboa. — Defeat and Death of Saul and his Sons.

But the Philishtim fought with 31 Israel, and the men of Israel fled before the Philishtim, and fell routed on the mountains of Gilboa. Thus 2 the Philishtim defeated Saul and his sons; and the Philishtim killed Jonathan, and Abinadab, and Melkishua, the sons of Saul. Then the battle 3 rested upon Saul, but the archers advanced upon him with their bows, and he was grievously wounded by the archers. Saul consequently said 4 to his squire, "Draw your sword and stab me with it, for fear these foul fellows should come and stab me, and outrage over me!"

But his squire refused, for he was in great terror, so Saul took the sword and fell upon it.

And when his squire saw that Saul 5 was dead, then he also fell upon his sword, and died with him.

Thus Saul died with his three sons, 6 and his squire, and all his guards in one day.

But when the Israelites who were 7 beyond the valley, and beyond the Jordan, saw that the army of Israel was routed, and that Saul and his sons were dead, they abandoned the villages and fled, and the Philishtim came and occupied them.

When it was morning the Philishtim 8 came to strip the slain, and found Saul and his three sons fallen on the mountains of Gilboa, so they cut off 9 his head, and stripped off his armour, and sent around the country of the Philishtim to proclaim the good news in the temples of their idols, and to the people. Then they placed his 10 arms in the Temples of Ashtaroth, and hung up his body upon the walls of Bethshan. But the inhabitants of 11 Jabesh Gilad heard about it, and what the Philistim had done to Saul. | brought them to Jabesh, and burnt

12 Consequently all the brave men arose, | them there. They afterward took 13 and marched all night, and took the | the bones and buried them under the body of Saul, and the bodies of his | tamarind tree in Jabesh, and mourned sons from the walls of Bethshan, and | seven days.

END OF FIRST BOOK OF SAMUEL.—BOOK III, OF THE HISTORY OF ISRAEL.

THE HISTORY OF ISRAEL AND JUDAH.

BY ISAIAH-BEN-AMAZ THE PROPHET.

(See Second Chronicles, Ch. 32, v. 32.)

BOOK IV.

THE PERIOD OF SAMUEL.

THE SECOND BOOK OF SAMUEL.

(B.C. 1054.) The Defeat at Gilboa reported to David.

1 IT was after the death of Saul, when David was resting from the defeat of the Amalekites for two days, after 2 David had returned to Ziklag, that on the third day a man came from the camp of the army of Saul, with his clothes torn, and earth on his head, and when he reached David he inclined to the earth and bowed.

3 Then David asked him, "Where do you come from?"

And he replied, "I have escaped from the Camp of Israel."

4 "What has been the event?" David asked him further. "Inform me, I pray."

When he replied, "Both the regular soldiers, and also ten thousand of the militia have fallen, and Saul has been killed, and Jonathan his son is dead!"

5 Then David asked the young man, "Can you tell me if you know how Saul was killed, and Jonathan his son?"

6 And the youth related to him, "I happened to be upon the hill of Gilboa, and saw Saul leaning on his spear, and the chariots and horsemen were charging down upon him. And he looked behind him, and saw and called to me, when I replied, 'I am here!' Then he said to me, 'Who are you?' And I answered him, 'I am an Amalekite.' When he said,

'Stand by and kill me, for I am seized with terror and all my spirit has left me.' So I stood by him and killed him. Then I examined who he might be after he had fallen, and took the coronet which was on his head, and the bracelets from his arms, and have brought them here to my lord!"

Then David seized his robes and tore them, and all his men who were with him did the same; and they mourned and wept and lamented until the evening over Saul, and over Jonathan his son, and over the army of the EVER-LIVING, and over the House of Israel who had fallen by the sword.

David afterwards asked the young man, "Will you inform from where you come?"

"And he answered, "I am the son of a foreigner, an Amalekite."

Then David said to him, "Were you not afraid to stretch out your hand to destroy the consecrated to the LORD?" And David called to one of his lads, and said, "Go up to and assail and kill him!" And David said to him, "Your blood is on your own head, for your mouth gave evidence against you!—saying, 'I killed the LORD's anointed!'"

David also chanted this elegy over Saul and his son Jonathan, and ordered the tribe of Judah to be taught archery, as it is recorded in the History of the Heroes.

ELEGY UPON SAUL AND JONATHAN.

- 19 "Have not the glorious heroes fallen,
Israel, upon your hills?
20 Tell it not in the city Gath!
Publish it not in the streets of Askalon!
Lest it gladden Philistia's daughters,—
Lest the girls of the vile rejoice!
21 Let no dew fall on the hills of Gilboa,
Or rain on the high land fields!
For there the hero's shield was cast,
Saul's shield unprotected by oil!
22 From the blood of the wounded,—
From the strength of the brave,—
The bow of Jonathan turned not away;
Nor Saul flashed his sword in vain!
23 Saul and Jonathan loved and were friends in life,
And in death they were not divided.
They had the voices of eagles,
They were as lions strong!
24 Daughters of Israel, weep for Saul;
Who clothed you with many jewels;
Put not on your gold and gems!
25 For the heroes are fallen in war,
With Jonathan, matchless in might!
26 I grieve for you, my brother Jonathan!
Pleasant to me was your wonderful
love,—
It surpassed the love for women.
27 How have the mighty fallen!
And the arms of the warrior failed!"

(B.C. 1055.) David asks of God whether he should seize a Fort in Judah?

- 2 And after that David inquired from the EVER-LIVING, saying, "Shall I go up to one of the Forts of Judah?"
When the EVER-LIVING answered him, "Go up."
Then David asked, "To which shall I go up?"
And the EVER-LIVING replied to him, "To Hebron."
3 So David went up, with his two wives Akhinoam, the Jezraalites, and Abigail, the widow of Nabal the Karmelite, and the men who were 3 with him accompanied David each with his family, and settled in the City of Hebron. Then the men of 4 Judah came and consecrated David as King over the House of Judah, and informed him that the men of Yabesh Gilad had buried Saul.

David therefore sent messengers 5 to the men of Yabesh Gilad, and said to them, "May you be blessed by the EVER-LIVING for showing this kindness to your Prince, to Saul, and burying him. May the EVER- 6 LIVING therefore show you kindness and truth, and I also make you this present, on account of what you have done. Strengthen your hand, and 7 also be brave men, although your lord, Saul, is dead. But as for me, the House of Judah have consecrated me king over themselves."

But Abner-ben-Ner, the commander of Saul's army, took Ishbosheth, the son of Saul, and brought him to the camp, and he reigned over 9 Gilad, and Asher, and Jezraal, and Ephraim, and Benjamin, and over all Israel.

(B.C. 1054.) History of Ishbosheth.

Ishbosheth the son of Saul was 10 forty years old at his coronation over Israel, and was king two years. But Judah followed David, and the period 11 of time that David was king in Hebron was seven years and six months.

(B.C. 1053.) The Treachery of Joab, and outbreak of War between Judah and Israel.

Abner-ben-Ner and the servants of 12 Ishbosheth, son of Saul, went out from Makhanim to Gibaon, and 13 Joab, David's officer, went out and advanced to the pool of Gibaon simultaneously, and he occupied one side of the pool, and they the other side. Then Abner said to Joab, 14 "Let the lads get up and make sport before us."

When Joab answered, "Let them get up."

So they arose, and passed over to 15 the number of twelve for Benjamin, and Ishbosheth the son of Saul, and twelve from the servants of David, and they seized each on the hand of 16

- his antagonist, and stabbed into the side of his antagonist, and they fell down together. So they named that place Traitors' rock. It is near Gibaon.
- 17 Consequently there arose an extremely fierce battle on that day, and Abner and the Generals of Israel retired before the troops of David. And there were three sons of Zeruiah there, Joab, and Abishai, and Ashahel, and Ashahel was swift of foot, like a wild stag; so Ashahel ran after Abner, and did not turn from his path to the right or the left from following Abner. But Abner turned on himself, and asked, "Is that you, Ashahel?" And he replied, "It is."
- 21 Then Abner said to him, "Turn to your right, or to your left, and seize one of the fellows for yourself, and take his armour."
- But Ashahel would not turn from following him.
- 22 So Abner again said to Ashahel, "Turn from following me! Why must I strike you to the earth? For then I could not lift up my face to your brother Joab!"
- 23 But he refused to turn away, so Abner struck him with the butt of his spear on the belly, and the spear went through to his back, and he fell there and died terribly. And when the forces arrived at the spot where Ashahel had fallen and died, they halted. But Abishai and Joab pursued Abner till sunset; and at sunset they had reached Gibatt-amah, which is opposite Gikha, on the way to the Desert of Gibeou. And there the Benjaminites collected to Abner, and formed into line, and stood on the top of the hill, whence Abner called to Joab and said, "Must the sword devour for ever? Do you not know that it will be a bitterness to you hereafter, that you have not ordered the forces to turn back from pursuing your own countrymen?"
- 27 When Joab answered, "By the life of GOD! If you had not spoken, the forces should not have ceased from pursuing their countrymen until the morning."
- 28 Then Joab signalled by the trumpet, and all the force halted, and pursued Israel no farther, and did not continue the battle. So Abner and his men marched towards the Arbah all that night, and crossed the Jordan, and went to Bithron, whence they arrived at Makhanim.

Joab also returned from the pursuit 30 of Abner, and collected the whole of his forces, and found there were lost from David's servants nineteen men, and Ashahel. But David's troops 31 wounded of Benjamin, and Abner's men, three hundred and sixty, and killed sixty. They also took up 32 Ashahel, and buried him in the grave of his father in Bethlehem. Then Joab and his men marched all night, and day broke to them in Hebron.

The war extended, however, be- 3 tween the house of Saul and the house of David; and David advanced and strengthened, but the house of Saul became weaker.

David, also, had sons born to him 2 in Hebron, of whom the eldest was Amon from Akhinoam, the Jezraal- itess, and the second Kilab, from 3 Abigail the widow of Nabal, the Karmelite, and the third Abshalom, 4 the son of Makah, the daughter of Thalim king of Ghishur, and the fourth Adoniah, the son of Hageth, and the fifth Shifatias, son of Abital, and the sixth Ithram, by Agla of the 5 wives of David. These were born to David in Hebron.

But the war continued between the 6 House of Saul and the House of David, and Abner was the strength of the House of Saul.

Quarrel between Abner and Ishbosheth about Rizfah, a widow of Saul.

Saul, however, had a slave wife, 7 and her name was Rizfah, the daughter of Avah.

And he asked Abner, "Why have you gone to that slave-wife of my father?"

But Abner was very angry at the 8 words of Ishbosheth, and exclaimed, "Am I a dog's head,—who have shown kindness to the House of Saul, your father, and his relatives, and friends, instead of to Judah, and have not delivered you to the hand of David, that you accuse me of sin to-day with that woman? May the 9 EVER-LIVING do so to Abner, and more than that,—if, according to what the EVER-LIVING has promised to David, I will not do for him, and 10 transfer the Army from the House of Saul, and establish the throne of David over Israel and Judah, from Dan to Beersheba." And he was not 11 able in return to reply a word to Abner, for he was afraid of him.

- 36 So all the army admired and approved all the king did. It was good 37 in the opinion of the forces. And all the army, and all Israel, recognised at the time that the king had not caused the death of Abner-ben-Ner.
 38 The king also said to his Ministers, "Do you not know that a Prince and a Great Man has fallen to-day in 39 Israel? And I, the king, am weak and feeble, and these men, the sons of Zeruiah, overpower me? May the EVER-LIVING make repayment of the wrong they have done to their neighbour."

Terror in Israel on hearing of Abner's Murder.

- 4 When the son of Saul heard that Abner had been killed in Hebron, his, and all Israel's, hands dropped down. But there were two men, Generals of Division the son of Saul,—the one named Banah and the other Rekab, sons of Rimon the Barothite,—of the tribe of Benjamin (for Baroth had been assigned to 3 Benjamin, but the Barothites removed to Githim and are settled there until to-day.¹
 4 But Jonathan the son of Saul had a son, a cripple, who was five years old when news came from Jazraal about Saul and Jonathan, and his nurse took him up and ran away, but in the hurry of flight she fell, and he was lamed, so he was named Mefibosheth.²
 5 These sons of Rimon the Barothite, Rekab and Banah, went secretly one day to the palace of Ishbosheth, when he was lying on his couch at noon, and arrived at the interior of the palace through the corn stores. Then both Rekab and Banah his brother
 6 crawled slyly, and came to the chamber where he lay upon his couch in his sleeping room, where they stabbed and killed him, and cut off his head. They then took

¹ Vv. 3, 4. The lines in parentheses are, I think, the note of some old transcriber, not part of the historian, Isaiah's, text, for they break the narrative. They are probably intended to explain the fact of a son of Jonathan escaping from the hands of the murderers in this Revolution, and being pensioned several years after by David, which is recorded subsequently, in Ch. 9, v. 1, of this book.—F. F.
² "The Cripple."

his head and went off and travelled all night, and brought the head of 8 Ishbosheth, the son of Saul, to David at Hebron, and said to the king, "Here is the head of Ishbosheth-ben-Saul, your enemy, who sought your life, which the EVER-LIVING has given to our Prince, the King. You are revenged to-day on Saul and his race!"

But David replied to Banah and 9 his brother, sons of Rimon the Barothite, and said to them, "By the life of the EVER-LIVING, Who rescued my life from all its distress, when a man reported to me, 'Saul 10 has been killed,' as though it would be pleasant in my opinion,—I seized that man, who brought me that news, and ordered his execution in Ziklag.— You villains have murdered a good 11 man in his own house upon his bed! So now I will require his blood from your hands, and I will rid the earth of you!"

David then commanded his at- 12 tendants, and they slew them, and cut off their hands and feet, and hung them up by the pool in Hebron. But they buried the head of Ishbosheth in the tomb of Abner at Hebron.

(B.C. 1048.) David elected King.

All the tribes of Israel then came 5 to David at Hebron and addressed him, saying, "Formerly, when Saul 2 was king over us, you led out and brought back Israel. And the LORD said to you, 'You shall shepherd My People of Israel,'—so, therefore, become now the Leader of Israel."

All the Judges of Israel also came 3 to the king at Hebron, and King David made a treaty with them before the EVER-LIVING and all Israel rejoiced with King David.

David was thirty years old at his 4 election as king, and was king forty years. He was king over Judah in 5 Hebron seven years and six months, and king in Jerusalem thirty-three years over all Israel and Judah.

(B.C. 1043.) History of David, as King or Commander of United Israel.

When the king and his Generals 6 marched against Jerusalem, the Jebusites occupied the district, and they taunted David, saying, "Do not come here! for the lame and the blind and the crippled can say, 'David shall not enter here!'"

- 7 David, however, captured the suburb of Zion,—(which is now the City of 8 David), and David at the time the Aqueduct was captured said, "Destroy all the Jebusites, and the lame and the blind, hated of David's soul, because they said, 'The blind and the lame can prevent you entering our place!'"

- 9 David afterwards settled in the Fortress, and walled around it from 10 Miloa to his palace. Thus David advanced and became great, and the EVER-LIVING GOD fought for him.

- 11 Hiram,¹ king of Tzur,² also sent to David cedar wood and workmen in wood, and stone cutters, and they 12 built David a palace; for David knew that the EVER-LIVING had fixed his kingship over Israel, and that He had raised him to the kingship over His People Israel.

- 13 David also married slave-wives, and wives from Jerusalem, after he came from Hebron, and they also bore David sons and daughters.

- 14 These are the names of those borne to him in Jerusalem,—Shamma, and Shobab, and Nathan, and Sholomon 15 (Solomon) and Ibkhaz, and Alishua, 16 and Nefeg, and Jafa, and Alishama, and Alaida, and Alifalet.

(B.C. 1047.) The Philistines assail David.

- 17 When the Philistim heard that David had been consecrated king over Israel, the Philistim forces advanced to assail David, but David heard of it, and proceeded to the 18 frontier, where the Philistim had posted themselves on the plain of Refaim. Then David enquired from the EVER-LIVING, "If I attack the Philistim, will You give them into my power?"

- And the EVER-LIVING replied, "Attack,—for I will give the Philistim into your power."

- 20 So David went to Bal-Frashim and fought there, and said, "LORD, sweep my enemies before me as water sweeps!" Therefore the name of that place is called Sweepton.¹ The Philistim also abandoned their idols, and David and his men carried them away.

The Philistim, however, again²² advanced and encamped on the plain of Refaim; when David enquired of the EVER-LIVING, and He answered,²³ "Do not advance. Turn their rear, and come upon them opposite the Valley of Weeping. And when you²⁴ hear the sound of marching at the heads of the Valley of Weeping, then rush forward, for the EVER-LIVING will advance before you to defeat the army of the Philistim!"

David consequently did as the²⁵ EVER-LIVING commanded, and defeated the Philistim at Geba on the road to Gazer.

(B.C. 1042.) David brings the Ark of the Covenant to Jerusalem, and imprisons his Wife Mikal.

David afterwards assembled all the gentry of Israel, thirty thousand.

Then David arose, and marched² with all his army from Bali of Judah to bring up from there the Ark of GOD, where the name of the EVER-LIVING POWER, who rests above the Kerubim, is called upon. And they placed the Ark of GOD upon³ a waggon, and carried it from the house of Abinadab which was on the Hill. And Uza and Akhio, sons of Abinadab, the priests, were with the new waggon, and brought it from⁴ the house of Abinadab on the Hill, bearing the Ark of the EVER-LIVING GOD. But Akhio walked before the Ark, with David and all the House of⁵ Israel rejoicing before the EVER-LIVING, with boughs of trees, and harps and lutes, and trumpets, and timbrels and cymbals. When they⁶ came to the paved square, and Uzah was driving the Ark of GOD, he seized hold of it, for the bullocks stumbled. But the EVER-LIVING was angry⁷ with Uzah, and GOD struck him there from the seat, and he died on the spot beside the Ark of GOD.

Then David was terrified because⁸ the EVER-LIVING had suddenly crushed Uzah. (And that place is called "Uzah's crush" to this day.⁹)

¹ Hiram.

² Tyre, as Grecianized, and which barbarizing of the name has been continued through Latin versions to our English ones.—F. F.

¹ Bal-frashim.

² V. 8. "Uzah's crush" is an ancient editor's note.—F. F.

- 9 And David was afraid of the EVER-LIVING at the time, and said, "The Ark of the EVER-LIVING shall not come to me!" So David would not take with him the Ark of the EVER-LIVING to the City of David, but placed it in the house of Abd-Edom the gardener, and the Ark of the EVER-LIVING remained in the house of Abd-Edom the gardener three months. Then the EVER-LIVING blessed Abd-Edom and all his family.
- 12 And it was reported to King David that "The EVER-LIVING had blessed the house of Abd-Edom, and all that belonged to him for receiving the Ark of GOD." So David went and brought up the Ark of GOD from the house of Abd-Edom, with rejoicing, to the City of David.
- 13 But when the bearers of the Ark of the EVER-LIVING had advanced six steps, they sacrificed a bullock and fat calf, and David danced with all his might before the EVER-LIVING; and David was clothed with an ephod. Thus David and all the House of Israel brought up the Ark of the EVER-LIVING with cheering and sound of trumpets, but when the Ark of the EVER-LIVING came to the City of David, Mikal the daughter of Saul leaned and looked out of a window and saw King David skipping and dancing before the EVER-LIVING, and she despised him in her heart.
- 17 Thus they brought the Ark of the EVER-LIVING, and set it in its place within the Pavilion which David had erected for it. Then David offered burnt-offerings and thank-offerings before the EVER-LIVING. When David had completed the burnt-offerings and thank-offerings, he blessed the people in the name of the EVER-LIVING POWER. He also distributed to all the people, to all collected from Israel,—both men and women,—a loaf of bread, and a horn of wine, and a cake; then all the people returned each to his house.
- 20 When Mikal the daughter of Saul came to meet David, she said; "How dignified the king of Israel was to-day, when he exhibited himself to the eyes of his servant girls as common fellows exhibit themselves!"
- 21 But David replied to Mikal, "It was before the EVER-LIVING, who chose me instead of your father! and instead of all your house, and commanded me to be guardian over all the people of the EVER-LIVING,—over Israel,—so I sported before the EVER-LIVING. And I will degrade 22 myself more than that, and will humble myself in my own eyes, but by the servant-girls whom you mention I shall be honoured! But 23 for Mikal the daughter of Saul,—there shall be no child for her to the day of her death!"

(B.C. 1041.) David Proposes to Build a Temple.

But when the king dwelt in his 7 palace, and the EVER-LIVING had given him peace all round from his enemies, then the king said to Nathan 2 the prophet, "See, I now rest in a palace of cedar, but the Ark of GOD remains under curtains."

When Nathan answered the king, 3 "All that is in your heart, do it, for the EVER-LIVING is with you."

But in that night the message of 4 the EVER-LIVING came to Nathan, saying, "Go and speak to My servant 5 David to say, 'Thus says the EVER-LIVING, Will you build Me a house to dwell in, when I have not rested in a 6 house from the days I brought Israel up out of the Mitzeraim to this day, but have marched with a pavilion and tabernacle, in which I have 7 travelled with the forces of the Children of Israel? Have I spoken to the one tribe of Israel whom I commanded to shepherd My People Israel, to ask, Why have you not built Me a palace of cedar?'"

"Consequently now say this to My 8 servant David, 'Thus says the EVER-LIVING POWER, I took you from following after the sheep to become a Leader over My People Israel, and 9 I have been with you wherever you went, and have defeated your enemies before you, and made your name great, like the name of those famous on the earth; I have also provided a position for My People Israel and 10 planted them, and they shall rest in it, and never fear, nor shall the sons of Evil again afflict as formerly. But 11 from the day when I dictated a Constitution to My People Israel, and gave you rest from all your enemies, did the EVER-LIVING enquire, What house will you make for the LORD? Your days, however, shall be completed, and you shall sleep with your

- fathers, but I will raise an heir after you who shall come from your loins, and I will fix him in your kingship.
- 13 He shall build a house to My name, and I will establish the throne of his kingship for ever! I shall be his Father, and he will be My son. He will be a guide to the wandering; and I will cause him to correct men with a staff, and the sons of Adam with a touch, and I will never turn my friendship from him, as I turned it from Saul, when I caused it to turn from him to you; for your House, and your kingship shall endure for ever. Your throne shall be established for ever."
- 17 All these words, and all this vision, Nathan related to David.
- 18 King David consequently went and sat before the EVER-LIVING and said, "Who am I, LORD, my Prince? and who was my father, that You have brought me so far? But even this is little in Your sight, SUPREME LORD, for You have promised also to extend the house of Your servant, and to show this to a man, SUPREME LORD. So why again should David speak to You further, since You know Your servant, SUPREME LORD? For according to Your promise, and Your heart, You have given all this greatness to glorify Your servant. Therefore I magnify You, EVER-LIVING GOD, for there is none like You, and there is no GOD except You, from all that we hear with our ears. And who are like Your People Israel? A singular nation in the earth, to whom a God comes to instruct it, as a People, and to fix a fame upon it, and to effect for it the mighty works and wonders in Your land, in the presence of Your People, whom You redeemed from the heathen of Mitzeraim and their gods. And established the People of Israel for Yourself, as a People for ever. And You are become their EVER-LIVING GOD.
- 25 "And also, EVER-LIVING GOD, the promise You have promised to Your servant, and to his house, to fix it for ever,—do what You have promised,—and he will magnify Your name for ever, proclaiming the EVER-LIVING GOD of Hosts, the GOD over Israel. So let the house of Your servant David, EVER-LIVING, be established before You. For You, EVER-LIVING POWER, the GOD of Israel, have opened the ear to Your servant, when he said, 'I will build You a house;' therefore let Your servant find the heart to pray this prayer to You; for You, EVER-LIVING LORD, are the GOD, and Your promises will become true, and also this good promise to Your servant. Therefore You have begun to bless the family of Your servant, that it may exist for ever before You;—for You, EVER-LIVING LORD, have promised, and with Your blessing have blessed the family of Your servant for ever."

(B.C. 1040.) David Conquers Philistia.

It was after this that David attacked the Philistim and subdued them, when David took their metropolis from the Philistim.

(B.C. 1040.) David Conquers Moab.

He also attacked Moab and appointed a land-tax upon their farms, and imposed two taxations: one instead of inflicting death; and a tax for tribute whilst they lived. Thus the Moabites became David's subjects, and paid tribute.

(B.C. 1040.) David Defeats the King of Zobah.

David next defeated Hadadazer ben-Rekhab, king of Zobah¹ on his march to recover his power upon the river Euphrates, when David captured one thousand seven hundred of their chariots, and twenty thousand footmen. But David destroyed all the chariot horses and only preserved a hundred chariots.

(B.C. 1040.) David Conquers Mesopotamia, the Arami, and Edom.

The Arami of Damask, however, came to assist Hadadazer, king of the Delta² but David defeated twenty-two thousand men of them in Aram. David afterward placed garrisons in 6 Aram of Damask, and Aram became subject to David, and bore tribute, for the EVER-LIVING worked for David wherever he went. Consequently David took the shields of gold, which the officers of Hadadazer carried, and brought them to Jerusalem. King David also took from Betakh, and Berothai, cities of Hadadazer, a very great quantity of brass.

¹ The Marshes of the Delta of the Euphrates and Tigris.—F. F.

² Tzobah. I.e., the Marshes of the Delta of the Euphrates.—F. F.

9 When Thai, the king of Khamath, heard that David had defeated all the forces of Hadadazer, Thai sent his son Joram to King David to ask for peace from him, and to congratulate him upon the way he had fought Hadadazer, and defeated him,—for Thai had been a general of Hadadazer—and he brought with him articles of silver, and gold, and brass.

11 These also King David brought to the EVER-LIVING, with the silver and gold which he took from all the nations whom he subdued;—from Aram, and from Moab, and from the Beni-Amon, and from the Philistim, and from Amalek, and from the booty of Hadadazer-ben-Rekhab, king of the Delta of Zobah. David also acquired fame on his turning the flank upon defeating the eighteen thousand of Aram at the river's mouth by the sea.¹

14 He placed garrisons in the whole of Edom, and all Edom was subdued to David. Thus the EVER-LIVING protected David wherever he went, for David reigned over all Israel, and David administered justice and right to all his People.

16 J'oab-ben-Zeruiah was over his army, and Jehoshafat-ben-Akhlud was Chancellor, and Zadok-ben-Ahkitub and Ahimalek-ben-Abiathar priests, and Sariah secretary, and Beniah-ben-J'hoida commanded the Guards and light infantry, and the sons of David became priests.

(B.C. 1040.) David enquires for any Refugees of Saul's Family.

- 9 Then David enquired, "Who is there yet of the family of Saul remaining? and I will show him kindness, on account of Jonathan."
- 2 And Saul had in his family a servant whose name was Ziba, so they invited him to David, when the king asked him, "Are you Ziba?" And he replied, "Your servant."

¹ That is, at the mouth of the Euphrates, where it enters the Gulf of Persia. This short passage shows David's Empire to have extended much farther east than usually supposed.—P. F.

Then the king asked him, "Is there yet remaining anyone of the family of Saul, and I will show him kindness for GOD's sake?"

And Ziba replied to the king, "There is still a son of Jonathan, lame in his feet."

When the king asked him, "Where is he?"

Ziba said, "He is in the house of Makri-ben-Amial, the tax-collector."

King David therefore sent and took 5 him from the house of Makri-ben-Amial, the tax-collector, and he 6 brought Mefibosheth-ben-Jonathan, the son of Saul, to David, and he inclined his face, and bowed to him. Then David said "Mefibosheth!" and he replied, "You see your servant."

And David said to him, "Fear 7 nothing, for I will show you kindness on account of your father Jonathan, and I will assign to you all the estate of Saul your ancestor, and you shall eat bread always at my table."

But he bowed to him, and replied, 8 "Why should you regard such a dead dog's head as I am?"

Then the king called to Ziba, the 9 attendant of Saul, and said to him, "All that belonged to Saul and to all his family I have given to the son of your Prince. So you and your sons 10 can attend to the property for him, and cultivate the estate for him, and provide the son of your Prince with a maintenance. But Mefibosheth, the son of your prince, shall always be supplied with food at my table; and for Ziba there shall be fifteen attendants and ten servants."

And Ziba replied to the king, "Your 11 servant will do all exactly as my Lord, the king, has ordered to his servant, and I will maintain Mefibosheth at my table like one of the sons of the king."

Mefibosheth also had a young son, 12 whose name was Mika, who always lived in the house of Ziba, the steward of Mefibosheth. Mefibosheth, however, resided in Jerusalem, for he was always at the table of the king, and he was lame in both his feet.

(B.C. 1037.) David sends an Embassy to the Beni-Amon.

It was after these events that the 10 king of the Beni-Amon died, and Khanon his son reigned in his stead.

- 2 So David said, "I will show friendship to Khanon-ben-Nakhsh, as I did to his father." Therefore officers of David went to the country of the
- 3 Beni-Amon. But the chiefs of the Beni-Amon said to Khanon their Prince, "Does David pay honour to your father in your sight, by sending comforters to you? Is it not for the purpose of examining the city and to survey it, and to explore it, that David has sent his officers to you?"
- 4 Khanon consequently took David's officers and shaved off half their beards, and cut off their clothing to the buttocks, and dismissed them.
- 5 But strangers reported to David, so he sent to meet them, for his officers had been grossly insulted,—and the king said, "Stay in Jeriko until your beards are grown,—then return."
- 6 The Beni-Amon, however, were terrified, after they had insulted David. Consequently the Beni-Amon sent and hired of the Arami of Beth-rehob, and of the Arami of Zobah, twenty thousand infantry, and the King of Makah with a thousand men, and of the people of Tob, twelve thousand men.
- 7 David, however, heard of it, and sent J'oab with a strong division of
- 8 Guards. But the Beni-Amon came out and arranged for battle opposite the Gate, and Aram-Zobah, and Rekhob, and the men of Tob, and Makah, were
- 9 separate in the open country; J'oab consequently saw that there was upon him a battle in front and rear, so he chose all the Guards of Israel, and
- 10 arranged to meet the Arami, and the remainder of the force he gave to Abishai his brother, and arranged
- 11 them to meet the Beni-Amon, and said, "If the Arami are too strong for me, you must save me; and if the Beni-Amon are too strong for you,
- 12 then I will march to help you. Courage! and be bold for the honour of our People, and the honour of the City of our God! And may the EVER-LIVING do what is good in His sight!"
- 13 Then J'oab and the force with him advanced to the fight with Arami, and they fled before him.
- 14 When the Beni-Amon saw that the Arami fled, then they fled before Abishai, and went into the city. J'oab, however, refrained from pursuing the Beni-Amon, and returned to Jerusalem.

(B.C. 1037.) The Aramites seek Allies, but are Defeated.

But when the Arami saw that they 15 were defeated by Israel, they assembled together, and sent to Hadadazer, and 16 he sent to the Arami beyond the river,¹ and procured their forces, and Shobak, General of the army of Hadadazer, to lead them. But it was 17 reported to David, who collected the forces of Israel and passed over the Jordan and went to Kilam, where Aram drew out to meet David, and they fought with him. But Aram 18 fled before Israel, and David destroyed of the Aramites seven hundred chariots and four thousand horsemen, and defeated and killed Shobak the General of the army there. When 19 all the kings who were subject to Hadadazer saw that they were defeated before Israel, they made peace with Israel, and were subject, and Aram feared to help the Beni-Amon further.²

(B.C. 1035.) The Beni-Amon Conquered.

But when the turn of the year 11 came, the season when Generals go out to war, David sent J'oab and his officers with him, and the forces of Israel, and reduced the Beni-Amon to great distress. David, however, remained in Jerusalem.

(B.C. 1035.) David seduces Bath-sheba, the Wife of Uriah.

One night David arose from his bed, 2 and walked on the verandah of his house, and saw a woman bathing herself on a roof, and a very beautiful woman she was. So David 3 sent and enquired about the woman, and was told "She is Bath-sheba, the daughter of Aliam, the wife of Uriah the Hittite."

Then David sent messengers and 4 took her, and went to her, and lay with her, and prostituting, he defiled her, and then sent her home. But 5 the woman conceived, so she sent and informed David, and said, "I am with child!"

¹ V. 16. That is to Mesopotamia—beyond the River Euphrates, as the words "the River," if not indicated by a special name, always mean in Hebrew history.—F. F.

² V. 19. This would seem to show that the Hebrew Empire extended under David and Solomon almost, if not quite, to the Indus, the Western boundary of India.—F. F.

(B.C. 1035.) The Murder of Uriah.

6 David therefore sent to J'oab, to say, "Send Uriah the Hitite to me." J'oab accordingly sent Uriah 7 to David, and Uriah came to him, when David asked "Is J'oab well? and the army well? and the war 8 going successfully?" Then David said to Uriah, "Go down to your house, and wash your feet."

Uriah accordingly left the palace of the king, but went after the business of the king. Afterwards Uriah lay down in the court of the king's palace with all the officers of his Prince, and did not go to his own 10 house. But David was informed, "Uriah has not gone to his house."

David consequently asked Uriah, "How is it when you have come from a journey, that you have not gone to your house?"

11 When Uriah answered David, "The Ark, and Israel, and Judah remain in tents, with my commander J'oab; and the officers of my Prince lie on the surface of the field, so should I go to my house to eat and drink and sleep with my wife? By your life! and by the life of your soul, I would not do such a thing as that!"

12 Then David said to Uriah, "Stay here to-day, and to-morrow I will send you off."

Uriah, therefore, remained in Jerusalem that day and the next, and David invited him, and he ate in his presence, and he gave him drink, and made him drunk;—yet he went at night and lay down in his bed, with other officers of his Prince, and did not go down to his home! 14 Consequently when morning came David wrote a letter to J'oab, and sent it by the hand of Uriah, and wrote in the letter commanding, "Station Uriah to-morrow in the front of the battle, at the most dangerous place; then you withdraw from his rear, and let him be assailed and killed."

16 J'oab was then besieging the city, so he posted Uriah at the spot where he knew there were brave men; and those men sallied out of the city and attacked J'oab, who fell back with the troops of the officers of David, and 18 Uriah the Hitite was killed. Then J'oab sent and informed David of all the events of the battle, and instructed the messenger, saying, "Tell the whole of the events of the battle to the king. But if it happen that it 20 raises anger in the king, and he says to you, 'Why did you approach the city to fight? Did you not know they would see you from the wall? Who hit Abimalek-ben-Jerubal? Was 21 it not a woman who flung upon him a piece of a millstone from off the wall, and killed him?' Then you must say, 'Also your officer, Uriah the Hitite has been killed.'"

So the messenger went, and came, 22 and reported to David all that J'oab sent him for. The messenger also 23 said to David, "The men overpowered us, and came out to us in the open field when we advanced opposite the gate, and the sentinels picked out 24 your officers from off the wall, and killed some of the officers of the king,—and your General Uriah the Hitite also was killed."

Then David said to the messenger. 25 "Say this to J'oab, 'Let not this event be grievous in your eyes, for the sword devours here and there. Be energetic in your assault upon the city, and breach it, and master it.'"

When the wife of Uriah heard he 26 was dead she mourned over her lord, and refused to eat. David, however, 27 sent and added her to his family, and she became his wife, and bore him a son. But the thing that David had done was wrong in the sight of the EVER-LIVING.

(B.C. 1034.) Nathan's Parable.
The little Ewe-Lamb.

The EVER-LIVING consequently 12 sent Nathan the Preacher to David, and he came to him, and said:—

"There were two men in a certain city, one rich and the other poor. The rich man had very great flocks 2 and herds, but the poor had nothing 3 except a little single she-lamb, which he had bought, and he comforted it and it grew up with him and his children, and ate of his crumbs and drank of his cup, and lay on his lap, and was like a daughter to him.

"But a traveller came to the rich 4 man, who grudged to take from his own flocks and herds to prepare and offer to his visitor, but seized the 5 she-lamb of the poor man, and prepared it for the man who had come to him."

Then David was very furious at the man, and exclaimed to Nathan, "By the life of the EVER-LIVING! the man who has done that shall die! 6 And for the she-lamb, he shall pay four as a fine, whoever has done this thing,—and he shall have no pity!"

7 But Nathan replied to David, "YOU ARE THE MAN!"
"Thus says the EVER-LIVING God of Israel: 'I consecrated you king over Israel, and I delivered you from the hand of Saul, and I gave you the palace of your Prince, and the wives of your Prince to your bosom, and I gave you the Houses of Israel and Judah,—and I added portions to you from here and from there.

9 So why have you despised the commandment of the EVER-LIVING by committing this sin in His sight? You have cut off Uriah the Hittite by the sword, and have taken his wife to yourself as a wife, and have murdered him by the sword of the Beni-Amon: 10 so now the sword shall not depart from your house for ever,—as a punishment—for you despised Me, and have taken the wife of Uriah, the Hittite, to be a wife for yourself!"

11 "Thus says the EVER-LIVING, 'I will raise against you outrage from your own family, and I will cause your wives to be taken in your sight, and given to your neighbour, and he shall ravish your wives in the sight of this sun; for YOU have done it secretly; but I will effect this event in the presence of all Israel, and in the face of the sun!'"

13 Then David exclaimed to Nathan, "I have sinned against the EVER-LIVING."

When Nathan replied, "The EVER-LIVING, also, will pardon your offence,—you shall not die. However, since you have given occasion for the enemies of the EVER-LIVING to libel, by this thing, the son that will be born to you will certainly die!"

14 Nathan then went to his home. The EVER-LIVING subsequently struck the child which the wife of Uriah had borne to David, and it was 16 mortal. David, however, entreated GOD on account of the child, and mourned, and slept on the ground, 17 until the officers of his palace came to him, and took him up from the earth. But he would not be comforted, and would not eat bread with 18 them. At the end of seven days, however, the child died, but David's officers feared to tell him that the child was dead; "for," they said, "when the child was alive, and we spoke, he would not listen to our voice, therefore if we should say, 'The child is dead,' he will do worse!"

David, however, perceived that his 19 ministers were whispering, and David understood that the child was dead; so David asked his ministers, "Has the child died?" and they replied, "He has died."

Then David arose from the ground, 20 and washed, and dressed, and changed his clothing, and went to the House of the EVER-LIVING, and worshipped; then he went to his palace, and asked for, and they offered him, food, and he ate. But his 21 ministers asked him, "What a thing this is that you did on account of the child! You mourned and wept for him when alive,—but now the child has died, you get up and eat bread!"

When David replied, "Whilst the 22 child was alive, I mourned and wept, for I reflected, "Who knows but the EVER-LIVING will pity me, and let the child live? But now he 23 has died,—why should I grieve? Am I ever able to bring him back to me? I shall go to him, but he will not return to me!" David also com- 24 forted Bathsheba his wife, and went to her and slept with her, and she bore a son and called his name Solomon,¹ and the EVER-LIVING 25 loved him; and sent by the means of Nathan the Reciter, and called his name J'adidiah,—"Pardoned by the EVER-LIVING."

Joab captures the Capital of the Beni-Amon, and sends for David to take the Fortress.

Joab, however, was warring with 26 the Beni-Amon at Rabah, and he captured the Royal City. So Joab 27 sent messengers to David to say, "I am fighting at Rabah, and have captured the City of Waters, so now 28 collect the remainder of the forces, and come to the citadel to capture it, or I shall capture the citadel and they will fix my name upon it."

David consequently collected the 29

¹ The name in Hebrew means PEACE, or REST.—F. F.

forces and went to Rabah, and attacked and captured it, and took the crown from off the head of its king. Its value was a talent of gold : and the beautiful stone on the top was David's. And they brought out from the town a very great quantity of booty. He also brought out the people and settled them in Megrah, and at the iron-works, and to manufacture iron, and distributed them through his dominions, and did the same to all the cities of the Beniamon. After which David returned with all the forces to Jerusalem.¹

(B. C. 1032.) Crimes and Dissensions in the Family of David.

13 These events followed. Absalom, the son of David, had a beautiful cousin whose name was Thamar, and Amnon the son of David loved her ; and Amnon grieved until he made himself ill because of Thamar his cousin, for she was a maiden. But it was difficult in the opinion of Amnon to acquire her in any way.

3 Amnon, however, had a friend, named J'onadab, the son of Shemiah, the brother of David. This J'onadab was a very crafty man, so he asked him, "Why, now, are you like this? A king's son downhearted morning after morning! Why not tell me?"

So Amnon said to him, "It is about Thamar, the cousin of Absalom, whom I love!"

5 J'onadab, however, replied, "Lie on your bed, and sham sickness; when your father will come to see you. Then say to him, 'Will you send Thamar, my cousin, and let her make cakes before my eyes, so that I may see it, and I will eat from her hand.'"

6 Amnon consequently lay down, as if sick, and the king came to see him, when Amnon said to him: "I wish you to send Thamar my cousin, and let her prepare food and do the cooking before my sight, so that I may see it, and I will eat after her hand!"

David therefore sent to Thamar at 7 her house to say, "Come to the house of Amnon, your cousin, and make him cakes."

Thamar, therefore, went to the 8 house of Amnon, her cousin, and he was lying down. Then she took the 9 dough and kneaded it, and made pancakes and baked the cakes, and took the fry-pan and the dough to him, but he refused to eat.

Suddenly Amnon exclaimed, "Let every one go out from me!"

They all went out from him.

Then Amnon said to Thamar, 10 "Bring me the cakes to the chamber, and I will eat them from your hand."

So Thamar took the pancakes which she had made, and brought them to Amnon, her cousin, in the chamber, and she offered him the 11 food, but he seized her and said, "Come to me! lie with me! my cousin!"

But she replied, "No, my 12 cousin, I will not, for such a thing should not be done in Israel! Do not commit such a crime as that! And would you expose me to scorn? 13 And expose yourself as one of the blackguards in Israel? But you,—speak, I pray, to the king, for he would not refuse me to you!"

But he would not listen to her, and 14 being stronger than her, he overpowered and violated her. Then 15 Amnon hated her with a very great hatred;—for the hatred with which he hated her was greater than the lust with which he had lusted for her, and Amnon said to her, "Get up! Be off!"

But she replied to him, "Do not 16 add to this great wrong, that you have done to me, by driving me out!"

He would not, however, listen to 17 her, but called to an attendant who waited upon him, and said, "Drive this woman out at once from me into the street, and lock the door after her!"

Now she wore a long-sleeved robe, 18 such as the daughters of the king wore, with a maiden's cloak, yet his valet sent her out into the street, and locked the door after her.

¹ Ch. 12, v. 31. The hideous cruelties represented by the Septuagint, Vulgate, and our old translators, to have been practised upon his captives by David, have perverted this passage into one totally contrary in meaning to the Hebrew text, which is as I render it. The Latin translators, full of the national brutality of their countrymen, the Romans, seemed to imagine that the more atrociously cruel they represented a man to be, the more glorious and admirable he would appear. This was the ideal of the heathen Romans, but not of the Sacred Scriptures, and it is a shame to modern scholars to have been enslaved to it so long.—F. F.

- 19 Then Thamar threw dust on her head, and tore the long-sleeved robe she wore, and spread her hands over her face, and went weeping.
- 20 But Absalom her cousin asked her, "Has Amnon your cousin been with you? However, at present keep silent, my cousin, for he is your relative; do not lay this matter to your heart." Consequently Thamar was quiet and secluded herself in the house of Absalom her cousin.
- 21 When King David heard the whole of these things, he was very angry.

(B.C. 1030.) Murder of Amnon by Absalom.

- 22 Absalom, however, said nothing for bad or good to Amnon about the wrong he had done to his cousin
- 23 Thamar. But when two years had passed, and they were shearing for Absalom at Bal-Khazor, which is in Ephraim, Absalom invited all the sons of the king. Absalom also went to the king and said, "There is a Shearing Feast with your servant,—will the king and his ministers come to your servant?"
- 24 But the king answered Absalom, "No, my boy, all of us cannot go now. We will not burden you." Then he pressed him, but he would not go, but thanked him.
- 25 So Absalom said, "If not,—let Amnon my brother go with us?" And the king asked him, "Why should he go with you?"
- 26 But Absalom pressed him, till he sent Amnon and all the king's sons with him.
- 27 Then Absalom instructed his attendants, saying, "Watch till you see Amnon's heart merry with wine, and when I say to you 'Stab Amnon, and kill him;' be bold and strong-hearted."
- 28 The attendants of Absalom consequently did to Amnon as Absalom commanded.
- 29 Then all the sons of the king got up, and mounted each on his mule,
- 30 and fled. But while they were on the road a report reached David, saying, "Absalom has stabbed all the king's sons, and not one of them is left."
- 31 Then the king arose and tore his clothes, and laid on the ground, and all his ministers stood tearing their
- 32 clothing. But J'onadab, the son of Shemiah, the brother of David, interposed, and said, "Do not let my Prince think that all the young Princes have been killed,—for Amnon only has been killed. For that has been determined by Absalom from the day he ravished his cousin Thamar. So, now, let not the king lay this matter on his heart, thinking all the sons of the king are killed, for except Amnon, none have been killed:—and Absalom has fled!"

Then the man on the lookout raised his eyes, and looked, and saw a great crowd of people coming along from the further road at the side of the hill. J'onadab consequently said to the king, "See! the Princes are coming as your servant said,—these are they!" And by the time he had ceased speaking the king's sons arrived, and lifted up their voices and wept, and the king and all his ministers also wept,—a very great weeping. And he mourned over his son all the year.

Absalom, however, had fled, and went to Thalmi-ben-Amikhor, King of Geshur.

(B.C. 1029.)

Thus Absalom fled and went to Geshur, and was there three years.¹ King David, however, longed for Absalom, after he was consoled for the death of Amnon.

(B.C. 1027.) J'oab brings back Absalom.

And J'oab-ben-Zeruiah knew that the heart of the king was upon Absalom, so J'oab sent to Thiquah² and brought a clever woman from there, and said to her, "I want you to disarrange yourself, and clothe yourself in widow's weeds, and not to tidy yourself with oil, but seem like a woman distressed for a long time over death. Then go to the king to speak to him this speech."

Then J'oab put the words into her mouth.

The woman of Thiquah accordingly appealed to the king, and fell on her face to the earth, and lay there, and exclaimed, "Save me, King!"

¹ Vv. 37—38. The Hebrew text differs greatly from the Authorised Version and the Revised, as I read it.—F. F.

- 5 Consequently the king asked her, "What is your affair?"
- And she answered, "I am a desolate widow woman whose husband died. But your servant had two sons, who fought in the field when there was no separator between them, and the one struck the other, and killed him; so all the clan arose against your servant and said, 'Give up the murderer of his brother! and we will kill him, for the life of his brother whom he has murdered!' Thus the property will be desolated; and my heir will be destroyed, and the only coal left to me to continue my husband's name, will be extinguished on the ground."
- 8 But the king said to the woman, "Go to your home, and I will give orders about you."
- 9 Then the Thiquan woman answered the king, "Let the fault fall upon me, your Majesty, and on the house of my fathers, and let the King and his throne be innocent."
- 10 So the king replied, "Whoever threatens you, bring him to me, and he shall never again injure you."
- 11 "However," she said, "King, remember your EVER-LIVING GOD, mighty redeemer of bloodshed! and let them not destroy my son."
- When he replied, "By the life of the EVER-LIVING not a hair of your son shall fall to the ground!"
- 12 But the woman repeated, "Let your handmaid now speak a word to his Majesty the King."
- And he said, "Speak to me."
- 13 When the woman continued, "But why have you thought like this about the People of GOD? Why has the king spoken thus, when he is in fault, by not having brought back his own fugitive? For the dead who has died, is like water poured upon the earth, which cannot be recovered, until GOD raises the soul; and a thought, when thought is and thrown out, goes from us.¹ So now why I have come to speak with your Majesty this speech was because I am afraid of the People, so your servant said, 'I will speak to the king, my chief: the king will do the thing he
- 16 says for his handmaid.' And the king has listened, and will deliver his subject from the hand of the man who would destroy her, and her only son, from the estate of GOD. Your 17 handmaid also said, 'The promise of his Majesty the King will be a gift, for his Majesty is like a Messenger of GOD, listening to good and bad; so may your EVER-LIVING GOD be with you!'

Then he interrupted her, and said 18 to the woman, "Do not hide from me, I pray, what I ask of you."

And the woman replied, "Speak then, your Majesty."

When the King asked, "Is not the 19 hand of J'oab in all this?"

And the woman answered, "By the life of your soul, your Majesty, there is not to the right or left of all that has been spoken to your Majesty anything but what your servant J'oab has instructed me! He put into the mouth of your handmaid all these speeches, with the purpose of using 20 my mouth for an object. Your servant J'oab made these addresses. And my Prince is wise, with the wisdom of a messenger of GOD, who knows all upon earth!"

The king consequently said to 21 J'oab, "Since then you have contrived this conversation with me, go and bring back the young man Absalom."

So J'oab bent his face to the earth, 22 and bowed, and thanked the king.

Then J'oab said, "I know to-day that I have found favour in your eyes, your Majesty, because the king has made such a promise to his servant."

J'oab accordingly arose and went 23 to Ghesur, and brought Absalom to Jerusalem. But the king commanded, 24 "Let him reside in his own house, for he shall not see my face."

Absalom therefore resided in his own house, and did not see the face of the king.

(B.C. 1025.) Absalom and his Doings after being Pardoned for Murdering Amnon.

Absalom was, however, the hand- 25 somest man in all Israel; very splendid. From the sole of his foot to the crown of his head there was not a defect in him. When they cut 26 his hair,—and it was cut every year—

¹ V. 14. This beautiful metaphor shows that the Old Hebrews believed in a Resurrection of Man, although some modern critics assert the contrary.—F. F.

- he cut it because it was heavy upon him,—when they cut the hair of his head it was valued at two hundred shekels by the royal standard.
- 27 Absalom had three sons and one daughter born to him, and her name was Tamar. She was a woman of great beauty.
- 28 Absalom lived in Jerusalem two years without seeing the face of the king. Then Absalom sent to J'obab, to introduce him to the king, but he would not go to him. So he sent a second time, but he would not come.
- 30 Consequently he said to his servants, "You see J'obab's cornfields are alongside mine, and he has sown barley,—go and set it on fire!" And Absalom's servants set it on fire!
- 31 Then J'obab moved and came to Absalom's house, and asked him; "Why have you ordered your servants to fire my standing crops?"
- 32 And Absalom answered J'obab, "Because I sent to you, saying 'Come here, and I will send you to the king to ask 'Why have I been brought from Gheshur? It would be as well for me to be there yet.'" So now I wish to see the face of the king, and if there is a fault in me, let me be put to death."
- 33 J'obab consequently went to the king and informed him, and he invited Absalom who went to the king and bowed to him, with his face earthward to the face of the king, and the king was reconciled to Absalom.

(B.C. 1024.) Absalom conspires against his Father.

- 15 It was after this that Absalom procured himself chariots and horses, and fifty men to run before him; and early in the mornings Absalom placed himself at the side of the street of the High Court and when any man who had a law suit came to the king for a decision, Absalom would invite him to himself, and ask, "From what village do you come?"
- When he would answer, "Your servant is from one of the Tribes of Israel."
- 3 Then Absalom would say to him, "Look! Your case is good and right; but there is no one appointed by the king to hear it for you." Next he would exclaim, "If I were appointed as a judge in the country, and any man came to me who had a wrong, I would decide and rectify it for you!" And when a person approached to bow to him, he would stretch out his hand, and seize his, and salute him, and by this means Absalom made himself popular to all Israel who came for justice to the king. Thus Absalom stole the hearts of the people of Israel.

When four years had passed, Absalom said to the king, "I wish to go now and pay in Hebron the vows which I vowed to the EVER-LIVING. For your servant vowed a vow while I resided in Gheshur, in the land of Edom, saying, "If the EVER-LIVING will restore me to Jerusalem I will serve the EVER-LIVING."

So the king replied, "Go in peace!" He therefore arose and went.

Absalom then sent secret agents to all the Tribes of Israel to say, "When you hear the sound of the trumpet, then exclaim, 'Absalom reigns in Hebron!'"

There went also two hundred persons from Jerusalem with Absalom, invited guests, and honest men, who knew nothing about all the affair. But Absalom had sent for Akhitophel, the Gilonite, the Counselor of David, from the town of Ghilon, for him to sacrifice the sacrifices;—so there was a powerful conspiracy, and the people came and crowded to Absalom.

Information, however, came to David, reporting "The heart of the people of Israel is gone after Absalom." Consequently David said to all his ministers who were with him at Jerusalem, "Let us arise and fly, for there will be no safety for us before Absalom. Expedite the journey, for fear he should hasten and rush, and drive on to us with ferocity, and assail the city with the sword."

And the King's ministers answered the king, "Whatever his Majesty the King chooses, his ministers will do it."

The king and all his family therefore went out on their feet, but the king left ten of his slave-wives to take care of the palace. Thus the king with all his forces went out on their feet, and halted at Beth-Meikhak, and all his ministers walked at his side, with the guards and couriers. And the six hundred gardeners who came on foot from the garden, marched along before the 19 face of the king. But the king said to Athai, the gardener, "Why do you especially go with us? Return and settle with that king, for you are a foreigner, so why not return to your 20 own home? Formerly you came, and to-day you are a wanderer with us on the march, for I am marching to wherever I can go.—Return and settle with your relatives,—and kindness and truth go with you."

21 But Athai answered the king, and said, "By the life of the EVER-LIVING, and by the life of your Majesty the king, I will be at the place, wherever your Majesty the king is; whether for death or life, there will your servant be."

22 Then David said to Athai, "March, and pass over." So Athai the gardener and all his men, and all the children 23 with them passed over. And all the land wept with a loud voice, when the force passed with the king over the brook Kidron. Thus all the train passed in the direction of the desert.

24 There were also Zadok, and all the Levites with him carrying the Ark of the Covenant of GOD. But they set down the Ark, and helped Abiathar, until all the forces had passed out from the city.

25 The king, however, said to Zadok,
 "Take back the Ark of GOD to the city. If I find favour in the sight of the EVER-LIVING, and He brings me back, I shall see it, and His Dwelling.

26 But if He decides not to restore me to you, let Him do to me what is good 27 in His sight." The king also said to Zadok the priest, "Cheer up, and return quietly to the city with Akhimatz your son, and Jonathan-ben-Abiathar's two sons with you.

28 You see, I shall be waiting at Aboth in the pastures, until the coming of news from you to inform me."

29 Zadok and Abiathar therefore returned the Ark of GOD to Jerusalem, and went back there. But David as-30 cended the Mount of Zethim,¹ going up and weeping with his head covered.
 He marched with his head covered, and all the troops with him also veiled their heads,—and went ascend-31 ing and weeping. Then it was reported to David that Akhitophel was in the conspiracy with Absalom, when David exclaimed, "LORD frustrate the counsels of Akhitophel!" But 32 when David came to the peak, where they worship GOD, Hushai, the Arki, came to meet him, tearing his robes and with earth on his head.

 David, however, said to him, "If you 33 go along with me, you will be a burden to me. But if you return to 34 the city and say to Absalom; 'I was a minister of the king your father, and will be the same to you,' then you can be of service to me, and can break the contrivances of Akhitophel for me. Will not Zadok and Abiathar 35 the priests be assisting you? So that all the talk you hear in the king's palace you can communicate to Zadok and Abiathar the priests.
 They have also two lads, Akhimatz 36 with Zadok, and Jhonathan with Abiathar, and they will transmit by their hand to me everything that you may hear."

Hushai consequently went to watch 37 for David in the city after Absalom came to Jerusalem.

When David passed a little beyond 16
 the hill-tops, there came Ziba, the steward of Mefibosheth, to meet him with a troop of asses loaded, and upon them two hundred loaves of bread, a hundred cakes of raisins, a hundred bundles of vegetables, and a skin of wine. But the king asked Ziba, 2
 "Whence have you come?"

When Ziba answered, "The asses are for the family of the king to ride, and the bread and raisins for your attendants to eat, and the wine to drink if exhausted in the desert."

Then the king asked, "Where is 3 your prince's son?"

And Ziba replied to the king, "He has gone back to Jerusalem, for he said, 'The House of Israel will now restore to me the kingship of my father.'"

The king consequently said to Ziba, 4
 "Attend! All belonging to Mefibosheth I give to you!" And Ziba replied, "I bow to you, for I have found favour in the eyes of the king!"

From there David proceeded to 5 Bakhurim, and a man of the clan of the family of Saul came out from it, whose name was Shemai-ben-Gerah, who advanced cursing, and throwing stones at David and all of David's 6 officers, and at the people, and the guards on the right and left of him.
 Shemai also shouted aloud thus:— 7

¹ Olives.—P. F.

8 "Get off! Get off! you man of blood! you blackguard! The EVER-LIVING has turned upon you all the blood of the family of Saul, whom you reign instead of! And the EVER-LIVING has given the kingship to the hand of Absalom your son! Look at your miseries, for you are a man of blood!"

9 Abishai-ben-Zeruah, consequently asked the king, "Why should this dead dog bark at your Majesty the king? Let me run over and cut off his head."

10 But the king replied, "What does it matter to me and you, son of Zeruah, what he cries, or what the EVER-LIVING tells him, to call David? And what he says—have I not done it?"

11 Then David said to Abishai and all his servants, "You see, the son who came out of my body seeks my life;—so since the son of my right hand assails me,—as for that fellow, let him abuse, for the EVER-LIVING tells him! The LORD sees me in my depression, and the EVER-LIVING will return me blessings instead of the cursing of to-day!"

13 So David and his men went on their way:—and Shemai marched on the side of the hill near him, walking and throwing stones and dirt at him.

14 In this way the king and all his people went wearily and depressed in mind.

(B.C. 1023.) Absalom's infamous Conduct in Jerusalem.

15 But Absalom and all the forces of the men of Israel advanced to Jerusalem; and Akhitophel along with them. Then Hushai, the Arki, the friend of David came to Absalom, and Hushai exclaimed to Absalom, "Long live the King! Long live the King!"

17 But Absalom asked Hushai, "Is this your love for your friend? Why have you not gone with your friend?"

18 When Hushai replied to Absalom, "No! For whoever the EVER-LIVING and the People choose—and all the men of Israel are with—I shall stop with him! And for the rest, Whom shall I be serving? Shall I not serve before his son, as I served before your father? for I shall be before you?"

20 Absalom then said to Akhitophel,

"Come on with you,—advise me what I should do?"

And Akhitophel replied to Absalom, 21
"Go to the slave-wives of your father, who are here to take care of the palace, and all Israel will hear that you have outraged your father, and it will strengthen the hands of all who are with you."

Absalom consequently erected a 22 bed upon a verandah, and Absalom violated his father's wives in the sight of all Israel.

For in those times the advice of 23
Akhitophel when he advised was like enquiring from the word of God. Such were all the contrivances of Akhitophel, both for David, and for Absalom.

(B.C. 1023.) Akhitophel advises to Capture and Murder David.

Then Akhitophel said to Absalom, 17
"Select at once twelve thousand men, and I will start and pursue David to-night, and come on him 2 whilst he is weary and weak handed, when I shall terrify him; and all the force with him will fly,—and I will kill the king alone. Then I shall 3 turn all the people to you, as all the men whom you have sought have turned. The other people will be quiet."

All this advice was right in the 4 opinion of Absalom and the opinion of all the Nobles of Israel.

(B.C. 1023.) Hushai counter-plots Akhitophel.

Absalom, however, said, "Let us 5 now call Hushai, the Arki, for I would also hear what is his idea."

So they brought Hushai to Absalom, 6 when Absalom said to him, "This is the advice of Akhitophel. Shall I act upon his advice?—If not what is your advice?"

And Hushai answered Absalom, 7
"The advice that Akhitophel has advised is not good, for this reason."

—Then Hushai continued,—"You 8 know your father and the men who are with him,—that they are soldiers, and sore in mind like a bear robbed of her whelps in the field, and your father is a man of war, so will not lodge with the forces. You see this; 9
—He will hide in some cave or some tower. And it may be we might miss him by accident, and it will be heard of, and said, 'There has been a defeat of the people who are following Absalom!'—He is himself also a bold man, whose heart is like the heart of a lion. Then the power of Israel will melt, for it knows that your father is a hero, and how brave a man he is. Consequently I advise you to collect to yourself the army of Israel, from Dan to Beersheba, like the sand that is by the sea for number, and let them march before you in a mass, and come upon him secretly at the place where he may be found, and assail him, like rain falling on the ground, so that he cannot escape, or any one of the men who are with him. But if he is in a tower,—collect, and carry all the army of Israel to that tower with ropes, and drag it into the river by which it is built, and destroy it!"

14 And Absalom, and all the Princes of Israel said, "The advice of Hushai the Arki is better than the advice of Akhitophel."

But the EVER-LIVING had suggested it, to destroy the good advice of Akhitophel, because the EVER-LIVING intended to bring punishment upon Absalom.

15 Hushai next informed Zadok and Abiathar the priests, "Akhitophel has advised Absalom and the Nobles of Israel in this way; but I have advised him in that. So now be quick and inform David saying, 'Do not stay to-night at the ford of the desert, but pass over it, for fear the king should be destroyed, and all his forces with him.'"

16 Now Jonathan and Akhimatz were posted at Ain-rogel, and a girl was sent to inform them, and they went to inform King David, so that none might be able to see them leaving the city. A young man, however, saw them, and reported to Absalom. The two, however, ran quickly and came to the house of a man in Bahurim, who had a well in his courtyard, and they went down it. Then the man took and closed the lid over the top of the well, and spread thrashing corn over it so that it was not seen. So when the officers of Absalom came to the man's house and asked, "Where are Jonathan and Akhimatz?" the man replied to them, "They have passed the brook of water." They therefore sought for them, but not finding, they returned to Jerusalem.

But after they had gone, then those 21 came up from the well and proceeded and informed David, and said to David, "Start, and pass quickly over the water, for Akhitophel has advised thus against you."

Consequently David and all the 22 people with him arose and were crossing the Jordan until daybreak, until there were none left to pass the Jordan.

But when Akhitophel saw that his 23 advice was not being acted upon, he saddled his ass, and started, and went to his own home, at his village, and arranged his affairs;—then hung himself and died, and they buried him in the tomb of his father.

Meantime David went to Makha- 24 naim; so Absalom crossed the Jordan, and all the army of Israel with him. But Absalom had appointed Amasa 25 to command the army instead of Joab. Amasa was the son of a man 26 named Ithra, a Jesraalite, who married Abigail, the daughter of Nakhsh, sister of Zeruiah, the mother of J'oab. Thus Israel and Absalom encamped in the land of Gilad.

When David arrived at Makha- 27 naim, Shobi, the son of Nakhsh, from Rabath, of the Beni-Amon, and Makir-ben-Amial of Lodbar, and Barzilai, the Ghiladite of Rogelim, came 28 with beds, and blankets, and furniture, cups, and wheat and barley, and flour, and oats, and beans, and lentils, and fuel; with honey and butter, and sheep, and cow's cheese for food; and advanced to meet David and the forces with him, for they said, "The people are hungry and exhausted." So they met in the pastures, where 18 David and the force with him had halted, and he appointed colonels of regiments and captains of companies over them. Afterward David arranged 2 the forces, one third under J'oab, and one third under Abishai, and one third under Athai the gardener.

(B.C. 1023.) Defeat and Death of Absalom.

And the king then said to the forces, "I also will march with you."

But the army said, "You shall not 3 go; for if we are defeated, they will not set their heart upon us; and if they kill half of us, they will not set their heart upon us; for you are worth ten thousand of us, so it is better you should help by directing us from the city."

- 4 The king consequently replied, "Whatever is good in your opinion I will do." Therefore the king stood at the side of the gate, and all the force went out by companies and regiments. But the king commanded J'obab, and Abishai, and Athai, saying,—"Spare the lad Absalom for me!" And all the army heard the kings orders about Absalom, to all the officers.
- 6 Thus the force went into the field to meet Israel, and the battle occurred in the forest of Ephraim, where the army of Israel was routed before the generals of David; and in the great rout of that day twenty thousand perished, for the battle was spread over all the district, and more of the people were destroyed in the forest than what the sword destroyed at the moment. Absalom also fled before the officers of David. Absalom was mounted upon a mule, and the mule ran under the boughs of a great oak-tree, and his head was caught in the oak, so that he hung between the sky and the earth. But the mule that was under him passed on. One of the men of David, however, saw him, and informed J'obab, and said, "I have seen Absalom hanging in an oak tree."
- 11 When J'obab said to the man, "Show him to me! and where you have seen him.—But why did you not strike him to the earth? for then I would have given you ten silvers, and a girdle."
- 12 But the man replied to J'obab, "Even if you jingled a thousand silvers on my hand, I would not assail the son of the king! for in our hearing the king commanded to you and Abishai, and Athai, saying, 'Spare for me the lad Absalom!'—If I had done, I should have been false to my life, for no event is hidden from the king, and you would have set yourself against me!"
- 14 J'obab, however, replied, "I can't dawdle in this way with you!" and took the three darts in his hand, and thrust them into the heart of Absalom whilst he yet lived in the middle of the oak. Then two of J'obab's guards surrounded him and stabbed Absalom, and killed him.

J'obab afterwards sounded the trumpet, and the forces returned from pursuing Israel, for J'obab restrained the men. But they took 17 Absalom and flung him down in the forest into a great pit, and piled over him a very great heap of stones.

Thus all Israel fled each to his home.

Absalom, however, in his life time 18 had erected the column which is in the King's plain, for he said, "I have no son to continue the memory of my name." So he named the column by his own name, and it is called "The finger of Absalom" to this day.

Then Akhimatz-ben-Zadok said, 19 "I will run and announce to the King, that the EVER-LIVING has done him justice against the hand of his enemies."

But J'obab replied to him, "No man 20 shall announce this event to-day! You shall, however, announce it to-morrow,—but to-day you shall not announce it,—because the son of the King has been killed."

J'obab, however, afterwards said to 21 Kusi, "Go! Inform the King what you have seen." And Kusi turned from J'obab and ran.

Yet Akhimatz-ben-Zadok continued 22 to importune, and said to J'obab, "May I not now also myself run after Kusi?"

And J'obab replied, "What good for you to run, my boy? There is no runner in the country better than him!"

"But yet I wish to run!" 23

Then he said to him "Run!" So he ran. And Akhimatz ran by the road of the pastures and passed beyond Kusi.

David was at this time sitting 24 between the two gates, and a watchman was posted on the roof of the gateway, on the ramparts, who raised his eyes and saw a man running alone. The sentinel accordingly 25 called and informed the King; and the King asked, "If alone is it towards the wall that he comes and approaches?"

Then the sentinel saw another man 26 running, so he cried from the gate, and said, "I see a man, running after!" When the King replied, "He also is a messenger of good news."

Then the sentinel said, "I recog- 27 nize the running of the first runner, as the running of Akhimatz-ben-Zadok!"

And the King answered, "He is a good man; and he will bring good news!"

28 Then Akhimatz called out and said to the King, "Peace!" and bowed to the King with his face to the earth, and said, "Thank your EVER-LIVING GOD, who has delivered the men who rose against you to the hand of your Majesty the King!"

29 When the King asked, "Is the lad Absalom safe?" And Akhimatz replied, "I saw a great crowd about the King's general J'oab, and your officers, but I knew not why!"

30 The king therefore said, "Turn and station yourself there!" So he 31 turned and stood. Then Kusi came. And Kusi said "There is good news for your Majesty the King. For the EVER-LIVING has granted you justice to-day from the hands of your enemies;—all who rose against you!"

32 But the King asked of Kusi, "Is the lad Absalom safe?"

When Kusi answered, "May all the enemies of your Majesty the King be like that young man! and all who rise against you for evil!"

19 Then the king trembled, and went up the stairs of the gate, and wept, and exclaimed, "You have gone, my son, Absalom! My son, my son, Absalom! I wish I myself had died instead of you! Absalom! my son! my son!"

2 But it was reported to J'oab, "The king is weeping and lamenting over Absalom! consequently to-day's victory will become a sorrow to all
3 the army; for the army will hear it said now that the king laments it,
4 because of his son, and the forces will have to skulk into the city to-day, like an army skulks in when it is
5 ashamed by flying from battle; for the king hides his face, and the king shrieks with a loud voice, 'My son, Absalom! Absalom! My son! My son!'"

6 J'oab consequently went to the king, into the house, and asked, "Do you wish to insult to their faces to-day all your Officers who have preserved your life, and the lives of your sons and daughters; and the lives of your wives, and the lives of your slave-
7 wives? You love your enemies, and hate your friends! For you make it clear to-day that your Officers and soldiers are nothing to you! For I now perceive, if Absalom were alive, and all of us had been killed to-day, it would have been right in your eyes!—But, however, get up, and go out, and speak to the hearts of your soldiers,—for, by the EVER-LIVING I swear to you, that, if you delay it, there will not be a single man with you to-night! And that will be worse for you than all the suffering that has come upon you from your youth until now!"

The king consequently arose and 9 sat at the gate; and it was reported to the army, "The king is now sitting at the gate." So the whole force passed in before the king. But Israel fled each to his own home.

The Ten Tribes consult us to again electing David King.

All the people, however, were dis- 10 cussing in all the tribes of Israel saying, "The king delivered us from the hands of all our enemies, and he protected us from the power of the Philistim; and now he has been chased from the country on account of Absalom. But Absalom whom we 11 consecrated over us has been killed in battle, so why are you silent now about restoring the king?"

(B.C. 1023.) David asks Judah to re-elect him.

King David, however, sent to 12 Zadok and Abiathar, the priests, to say, "Speak to the judges of Judah, asking, 'Why do you hang back from restoring the king to his house, when all Israel demand the return of the king to his home?' You are my 13 relatives,—my bones, and my flesh,—then why are you hanging back from restoring the king?" And he 14 said to Amasa, "Are you not my bones and my flesh? God do this to me, and more than it, if you shall not be perpetual commander of the army before me in place of J'oab."

Then the heart of the people of 15 Judah turned as one man, and they sent to the king, "Let yourself return with all your servants."

The king consequently returned 16 and came to the Jordan, and Judah came to Ghilgal marching to meet the king, to bring the king over Jordan. Shemai-ben-Ghera, the 17

- Benjaminite of Bakhurim, also made haste, and went down with Judah to meet King David, and a thousand men with him from Benjamin; also Ziba the steward of the house of Saul, and his fifteen sons and twenty attendants, and they crossed the Jordan in the presence of the king.
- They crossed in a ferry-boat to carry over the family of the king and behaved well in his sight. Then Shemai-ben-Ghera fell down before the king, on his crossing the Jordan, and said to the king, "Do not let Your Majesty impute it as a crime to me, and do not remember how your servant offended at the time when Your Majesty came out from Jerusalem;—let not the king lay it to heart. For your servant knows that he sinned: consequently I have now come the first of all the House of Judah¹ to descend to meet the king."
- But Abishai the son of Zeruiah interrupted and asked, "Shall not Shemai be put to death for that? for he cursed the Consecrated of the EVER-LIVING."
- David, however, answered "What is there between you and I, sons of Zeruiah, that you should to-day be inciting me to kill people in Israel? for do I not recognize now that I am king over Israel?" Then the king said to Shemai, "You shall not die," and the king promised him.
- Mefibosheth-ben-Saul also came down to meet the king, and to pay his respects. He had not changed his clothes from the day the king went away, until the day when he returned in peace. And when he came from Jerusalem to meet the king, the king asked him, "Why did you not go away with me, Mefibosheth?"
- When he answered "Your Majesty the king, my steward deceived me, for your servant ordered him to saddle my ass, and I would mount it, and follow the king,—for your servant is a cripple,—but instead of it, he libelled your servant to Your Majesty the King. However, Your Majesty is like a Messenger of God,—therefore do what is good in your opinion. For all my father's family 29 would have been dead men, but for Your Majesty. You also appointed your servant to eat at your table. And what right was there ever for me to appeal to the king?"

Then the king replied, "Why 30 should you say more? I will order that you and Ziba must divide the property."

But Mefibosheth answered the 31 king, "Let him take the whole,—since Your Majesty has come back in peace to your home."

Barzilai the Ghitadite also came 32 down from Rogelim and advanced to the Jordan with the king to help him over the Jordan. Barzilai, however, 33 was very old, eighty years of age, and he had provided for the king at his own residence at Makhanim, for he was a very great man. Consequently the king said to Barzilai, "You served me, and provided for me, so I will provide for you with myself in Jerusalem."

But Barzilai answered the king, 35 "How long would be the years of my life if I were to go up with the king to Jerusalem? I am eighty years 36 old to-day. Can I distinguish between pleasant and unpleasant in the taste of what I eat, and what I drink? Can I even hear the tones of men and women singers? Then why should your servant continue to burden the king? How little it costs 37 passing the king over the Jordan?—so why should the king pay me wages for it? Let your servant 38 return, and I will stay in my own village near the tomb of my father and mother.—But however your servant Kimham can go with your Majesty, and do to him whatever is good in your eyes."

So the king replied, "Kimham 39 shall go with me, and I will benefit him, as I see right, and all that you choose I will do for you."

Then all the forces passed over the 40 Jordan, when the king had passed. The king afterwards saluted Barzilai, and thanked him, and he returned to his home.

(B.C. 1023.) Quarrel between the Ten Tribes and Judah over David's return.

The king then advanced to Ghitgal, 41 and Kimham his minister with him;

¹ V. 27. "House of Joseph" of the Old Versions should evidently be read "House of Judah," to which Shemai really belonged. Therefore I restore the true reading.—F. F.

- and all the forces of Judah advanced with the king, and also a part of the forces of Israel; and then all the men of Israel came to the king and asked him "Why have our relatives the men of Judah stolen you, and brought the king and his family over the Jordan, and all the Princes of David with him?"
- 42 When all the men of Judah retorted upon the men of Israel, "Who drove the king to us? And why are you furious over this business? Have we eaten anything with the king except what we brought ourselves?"
- 43 And the men of Israel rejoined to the men of Judah, "We have ten parts in the kingdom, and also more in David than you! Then why have you slighted, and not sent a message first to us about restoring our king?"

(B.C. 1022.) Second Revolt of the Ten Tribes.

- But the words of the men of Judah were more bitter than the words of the men of Israel, so Sheba-ben-Bikri, a man of Benjamin, cried out, and sounded a trumpet and exclaimed, "We have no part in David, and no share in the son of Jessai,— Israel, everyone to your tents." So all the Officers of Israel went from following David to follow after Sheba-ben-Bikri; but the Officers of Judah continued with the king and went to Jerusalem.
- 3 When David came to his palace in Jerusalem, the king took the ten slave-wives whom he had appointed to take care of the palace, and placed them in a house apart, and provided for them, but he went not to them, and they were in confinement to the day of their death. They lived as widows.
- 4 The king then said to Amasa, "Summon to me the officers of Judah in three days' time; and you appear with them."
- 5 Amasa accordingly went and convoked Judah, but was delayed beyond the time appointed. Then David addressed Amasa,¹ "You know that Sheba-ben-Bikri may injure us more than Absalom, therefore take the soldiers of your Prince and follow after him, for fear he should find some fortified towns and escape from our control."

(The men of J'oab, however, had 7 followed him.)—

So the Guards, and the Light Infantry, and all the Heavy, also proceeded from Jerusalem to pursue Sheba-ben-Bikri, as far as the Great 8 Stone that is near Gibaon, and Amasa marched before them,—where he met J'oab with his belt over his armour, and a sword on the belt braced up to his waist,—and he bowed.

Then J'oab asked, "Are you well, 9 brother Amasa?" and J'oab took the beard of Amasa in his right hand, as if to kiss him, but Amasa did not 10 notice the sword that J'oab had in his hand, so he struck him with it in the belly, and his bowels fell out on the earth, for he could not resist him, but died. (J'oab and Abishai his brother, were pursuing Sheba-ben-Bikri.) And a man of the Staff 11 of J'oab stood near him and exclaimed, "Whoever sides with J'oab, and whoever with David, let him follow J'oab." But Amasa was 12 wallowing in blood in the middle of the highway; so when the man saw that the forces halted, he rolled Amasa from the highway into the fields, and threw a cloak over him, because he saw that all who came to him halted. When he was 13 removed out of the road the men followed J'oab to pursue Sheba-ben-Bikri, who had passed through all 14 the tribes of Israel to Ablah and Beth-Makah, and all the Berim, who had collected and followed him.

They, however, pursued and 15 besieged him in Ablah of Beth-Makah, and built an embankment against the Citadel, and filled up the moat. But while the army with J'oab were battering to breach the wall, a clever woman called out from 16 the city "Listen! listen! I wish to

The history of that mutiny probably followed the name "Abishai," and has been accidentally omitted by a very ancient transcriber, whose blunder has been continued to our day, until I corrected it, by restoring at least "Amasa's" name, although I am not able to reproduce the narrative of Joab and Abishai's mutiny.—F. F.

¹ V. 6. The name should evidently be "Amasa," who was Commander, and not "Abishai." See vv. 7 and 9. It is clear that David was faced by a mutiny in his army led by Joab and Abishai his brother,—the result of the King's grief at the killing of Absalom.

17 speak to J'oab! Come here! and I will speak to him!"

17 He accordingly approached, and she asked, "Are you J'oab?"

And he answered, "I am."

When she replied, "Listen to what I say."

And he answered, "I will listen."

18 When she continued, "Formerly they used to say when discussing a matter, 'Make an enquiry at Abel—

19 and that ended it. I am one of the peaceful crowd in Israel. You are seeking to murder a city and mother in Israel. Why would you desolate the LORD'S estate?"

20 But J'oab answered and said to her, "It would be a terror at night to me if I should destroy or desolate it!

21 Do not say so! But a man from Mount Ephraim, named Sheba-ben-Bikri, has raised his hand against King David. Only give him to me, and I will leave the town."

The woman therefore answered J'oab, "Then I will fling you his head over the wall!"

22 The woman therefore went to some of the soldiers on the wall, and they cut off the head of Sheba-ben-Bikri, and flung it to J'oab, who blew a trumpet and they retired from the city, each to his tent, and J'oab returned to Jerusalem to the king.

(B.C. 1022.) J'oab again made Commander-in-Chief.

23 Then J'oab was appointed over the whole army of Israel, and Beniah-ben-Jhodiada over the Guards and 24 Light Infantry; and Adoram-ben-Akhilud was Chancellor, and Shebah, Secretary; and Zadok and Abiathar, Priests; and Aira, the Jarite was Priest to David.

(B.C. 1021.) Three Years' Famine, and the Tragedy of Rizfah's Sons.

21 There was once a famine in the time of David for three years, year after year, so David sought the presence of the EVER-LIVING, and the EVER-LIVING said, "It is for Saul and his murderous house, because he killed the Gibeonites."
2 The king consequently sent for the Gibeonites, and asked them (for the Gibeonites were not of the Children of Israel, but a remnant of the Amorites, to whom the Children of Israel had sworn, but Saul wished to exterminate them in his zeal for the Children of Israel and the EVER-LIVING). David asked the Gibeonites "What can I do for you? And by what can I make amends? so that you will bless the inheritance of the EVER-LIVING?"

And the Gibeonites replied to him 4 "We will not take silver or gold from Saul or his family, and no man shall be killed in Israel for us."

Then he said "Whatever you ask I will do for you."

And they answered the king, "The 5 man who destroyed us, and who wasted us, so that we are prohibited from residing in any part of Israel, let there be given to us seven men 6 from his children, and we will hang them for the EVER-LIVING in Gibath of Saul, the Elect of the EVER-LIVING."

And the king said, "I will give them!"

But the king refrained from Mefi- 7 bosheth, the son of J'honathan, the son of Saul, because of the oath of the EVER-LIVING that was between David and J'honathan, the son of Saul. But the king took the two 8 sons of Rizfah, the daughter of Aiah, whom she had borne to Saul, Armoni and Mefibosheth, and the five sons of Mikal, the daughter of Saul, whom she bore to Adrial-ben-Barzili, the Makholathite, and delivered them 9 into the hands of the Gibeonites, and they hung them on a Hill before the EVER-LIVING, and the seven fell at once, and were killed at the time of harvest before they begin to cut the barley.

Rizfah, the daughter of Aiah, how- 10 ever, took sack cloth and covered the rock with it, from the beginning of harvest until the rain fell on them from the sky, and would not allow a bird of the air to alight upon them by day, or a wild beast of the field by night. And it was reported to David 11 what Rizfah, the daughter of Aiah, the slave-wife of Saul was doing, so 12 David sent and took the bones of Saul, and the bones of J'honathan, his son, from the Masters of J'abesh Gilad, which they had taken from the walls of Beth-shan, where the Philistim had hung them at the time that the Philistim defeated Saul at Gilboa, and brought from there the bones of Saul, and the bones of J'honathan his son, and included the bones of those who were hung, and buried the bones of Saul and J'honathan his son in the district of Benjamin, at the side of the tomb of Kish his father. All that the king ordered was done. Then he entreated GOD for the country after that.

(B.C. 1018.) Rebott of the Philistines.

15 But there was war again between the Philistim and Israel, and David went down with his forces and fought the Philistim and David became 16 exhausted. Then Banob, who was of the race of the Rephah, and had a spear weighing three hundred shekels of brass, and was clothed in new armour, stood up and declared he 17 would kill David. But Abishai-ben-Zeruah helped him and struck the Philistine, and killed him. David's Generals consequently swore to him, saying, "You shall not go again with us into battle, so that the light of Israel may not be extinguished."
18 But after this there was again a battle at Gob with the Philistim, when Sibkai killed Suf, who was of the race of the Rephah.
19 And there was again a battle at Gob with the Philistim, and Abkhan-ben-Jari, the weaver of Bethlehem, defeated Galitha, the Githite, the shaft of whose spear was like a weaver's beam.
20 There was also another battle with the Philistim at Gath, where there was a man of Midian with six fingers on his hands, and six toes on his feet,—twenty-four in number—and he was also of the race of the Rephah, and he challenged Israel. But Jhonathan-ben-Shemai, the brother 21 of David, defeated him. These four were born of the Rephaim, in Gath, and fell by the hand 22 of David and by the hands of his Officers.

¹ V. 19. This Galltha, the Githite, must not be confused with the "Goliath" whom David slew years before, as the A.V. seems to confuse it.—F. F.

(B.C. 1018.) David's Song of Thanks.

David recited the words of this 22 song to the EVER-LIVING, when the EVER-LIVING had delivered him from the hand of all his enemies and from the hand of Saul, and said:—

SONG OF THANKS.

"The LORD was a Rock, and Fortress, 2
and Refuge to me,
GOD is my Fort,—I will trust in Him! 3
My shield and buckler, my tower and hold,
My Saviour Who saved from oppression!
In despair I will cry to the LORD, 4
And I shall be saved from my foemen.
When Death's waves enclosed, 5
And wild torrents sucked in,
The Grave's ropes entangling, 6
And fearing Death's traps,
In my trouble I cried to the LORD,— 7
And cried out aloud to my GOD;
And my voice from His Temple He heard,
And my shouts reached His ears.
Then the earth trembled and quaked, 8
The supports of the heavens were shaken,
And quivered because of His wrath.
A cloud was sent forth by His 9 breath,
And devouring fire from his mouth,
Before him fierce coals were inflamed.
And He bent down the skies and 10 descended,
And darkness was under His feet!
And He rode on the whirlwind and 11 flew,
And was seen on the wings of the wind;
And put on His covering of darkness, 12
Collecting black watery cloud.
And bright streams of fire burnt 13
before Him,
And thundered the LORD from the 14
skies;
The Highest thus uttered His 15
thunders,
And shot lightnings, arrows and darts;
And torrents of water were seen, 16
And the base of the world was laid bare,
Before the Supreme in His anger,
By the whiff of the breath of His mouth!

- 17 He sent from on high, and He took me,
Pulled me out from the powerful seas!
- 18 From my enemies strong He redeemed me,
From haters more strong than myself.
In the day of distresses He helped me;—
- 19 The LORD was Himself my support, 20 And brought me again into freedom.
- 21 He drilled me, because He approved;
For my virtues the LORD gave reward,
My honour renewed to my hand,—
- 22 For I kept to the path of the LORD,
And I went not astray from my GOD;
- 23 For all His decrees I kept with me,
And turned not away from His laws.
- 24 And to Him I always was faithful,— 25 So the LORD gave my goodness
reward,
Because I was pure in His sight.
- 26 To the merciful, You will show mercy,
And with the upright You are straight;
- 27 You are pure to those who are pure,
But with the rebellious, You strive!
- 28 And You save the oppressed of the
people,
And look down with scorn on the proud,
And You, LORD, alone are my light;—
- 29 LORD, therefore enlighten my gloom,
30 For by that I an army can chase,
And with GOD can leap over a wall.
- 31 The pathway of GOD is a straight one;
The words of the Lord are refined;
He is to all trusting a shield.—
- 32 For who is a GOD, but the LORD?
And who is a rock but our GOD?
- 33 The GOD who is mighty in strength, Whose pathway is perfectly straight,
- 34 Who makes my feet like to a stag's,
Who supports me in mounting the
hills,
- 35 Who instructed my bands in the fighting,
And to break a steel bow with my arms.
- 36 And You are my shield of salvation,
And, imparting Your power to myself,
- 37 You stretch out my stridings below
me,

So my ankles will never slip down,
I can chase all my foes and 38
destroy them,
And never turn back till they're done!

I assail them and strike till they rise not,
For under my feet they fall down. 39

You gird me with strength for the 40
war,
And my legs under me are kept
straight,
But You throw my enemies back- 41
wards,
So that I can destroy those who hate.

They shout—but they have no 42
Defender,—
To the LORD, but He answers them not;

While I grind them like dust of the 43
earth,
I stamp them like mire in the streets

You saved from the strife of my
people,
And kept at the head of the Tribes. 44

A people I never knew serve me, 45
And sons of the strangers bow
down,
To hear me with listening ears;
And the children of foreigners run, 46
Their robes closely girt by their belts!

Let the LORD live! bless my Rock! 47
I for ever exult in my GOD,
And rejoice in GOD'S Fortress that saved me,—

The GOD Who has given me my 48 right,—
Who subjected the nations beneath
me,— Freed from foes, and has raised me 49
on high,
And redeemed from the men who opposed.—

For this I will praise You, O LORD, 50
And chant of Your name to the heathen,
Your salvation exalt in my heart, 51
And the kindness You show your Messiah,—
And David's enduring heir!

And these are the last words of 23
David,
Says David the son of Jessai,
And the speech of the man raised
on high,
And whom Jacob's God had approved,

- And sweetly to Israel who sings,—
 2 For to me the LORD's spirit has spoken,
 And this has declared by my tongue,
 3 And Israel's GOD has informed me,
 And Israel's hope has revealed,
 As a guide to the righteous of men,
 As a guide to the reverence of GOD ;
 4 Like the light of the morning at sunrise,
 As a bright shining dawn without clouds,
 With showers for the meadows of earth.
- 5 Tho' my house is not perfect with GOD,
 Yel He made a long treaty with me,
 Extending and sure in all things,
 For it perfectly saves and delights.—
 And will He not cause it to flourish?
 6 But the Vile He will fling out like thorns,
 Which cannot be taken by hand,
 7 But the man who approaches to them,
 Must take staves of iron or wood,
 And put them to burn in the fire ! "

THE MUSTER ROLL OF DAVID'S OFFICERS.

(B.C. 1018.)

- 8 The following are the names of the heroes whom David appointed officers: J'asheb-Bashebeth the Thakhmoni, Chief of the Staff, with Adino, the Atznite, over the eight hundred. He was lame of one foot. And after him, Alazar-ben-Dodi-ben-Akhokhi, one of the three generals who were with David when they defied the Philishtim who had drawn out for battle, and the men of Israel had fled. He arose and fought the Philishtim until his hand was cramped, and his hand stuck to his sword. But the EVER-LIVING produced a great victory on that day for him, and the forces that stuck behind like his skin.
- 11 And after him Shamah-ben-Aga of Harari. Once when the Philishtim had gone out to raid, and were posted in a part of a field full of lentils, and the force fled before the Philishtim, he stood in the open, and re-formed it, and attacked the Philishtim when the EVER-LIVING granted a great victory.
- 13 These three had descended with their troop of thirty, and came in harvest time to David at the Cave of Adulam. And the troops of the Philishtim were encamped in the plain of Rephaim. For David at that time was in the cave, and the Philishtim then occupied Bethlehem. David, however, desired and said, " Who will get me a drink of water from the well of Bethlehem, that is near the gate ? " When the three heroes passed through the camp of the Philishtim, and drew water from the well that is near the gate of Bethlehem, and brought it to David,—but he would not drink it, but poured it out to the EVER-LIVING, and said, " The EVER-LIVING would punish me if I did that.—It is the blood of the men who risked their lives, so I will not drink it."

These were the actions of these three heroes.

Abishai, also, the brother of J'oab-ben-Zeruiah, was a great hero, for he raised his spear against three hundred, and defeated them. He was not considered equal to the three. However he had honour with the three, and became their commander, but he did not equal the three.

Beniah also was a brave man of many deeds, of Kabtzal. He defeated the two champions of Moab. He descended and overpowered a lion in a pit on a snowy day. He also defeated the Mitzerite officer whom he met. The Egyptian had a spear in his hand, but he ran at him with a club, and pulled the spear from the hands of the Egyptian, and killed him with his own spear. Beniah-ben-Jhoiadah performed these deeds, therefore he was stationed with the Three Heroes. He was honoured with the Thirty, but became not one of the three. David, however, made him his councillor.

Asahel, the brother of J'oab was in the Thirty.

Alkanaan-ben-Dodo, the Bethlehemite.

Khlitz, the Flatite,

Aira-ben-Aksh, the Theqavite ;

Abiazer of Anathoth ;

Mibuni the Khushite ;

Tzalgon the Akhokhite,

Makri the Netofathite ;

Kleb-ben-Banah, the Netofathite ;

Athi-ben-Ribai of Gibath, sons of Benjamin ;

- 30 Beniah the Frathonite ; Hadi from the rock of Gash ;
- 31 Abi-alhan, the Arbathite, Azmoth the Barkhumite ;
- 32 Alikabah, the Shalbonite ;
Jonathan the son of J'ashom ;
- 33 Shamah, the Harahite ; Ahyam-ben-Sharaal of Hahur ;
- 34 Alifalet-ben-Akhasbi, son of the Makathili ;
Aliam-ben-Akthithofel, the Ghilomite ;
- 35 Khatzri, the Karmelite, Fari, the Arabian,
- 36 Igal-ben-Nathan, with Tzoboh, sons of the Gadite ;
- 37 Tzeleg, the Amonite ; Nakhori, the Barothite, squire to Joab-ben-Zeruiah ;
- 38 Aira, the Itherite ; Gareb, the Itherite ;
- 39 Uriah the Hittite ; in all thirty-seven.

(B.C. 1017.) David orders a Conscription, and the Result.

- 24 The EVER-LIVING, however, was again angry with Israel, when David turned, and commanded to go and make a Conscription of Israel and 2 Judah, for the king ordered J'oab commander of his forces "to whip them up" ¹ in all the tribes of Israel from Dan to Bersheba, and brigade in the forces, that I may know the number of my forces."
- 3 But J'oab answered the king, "May your EVER-LIVING GOD increase the forces by enlistment ² a hundred fold, that the eyes of your Majesty may see ;—but, your Majesty, why are you inclined to this thing ?"
- 4 The order of the king, however, prevailed over J'oab, and the Officers of the army, so J'oab and the Officers of the army went from the presence of the king to conscript Israel for the 5 forces. They also passed over the Jordan and encamped at Aroar, on the south of the city which is in the 6 mid-valley of Gad and Jazer. Thence he went to Gilgal, and the lowlands of Khadshi, and came to Dan, and 7 around to Zidon. From there they went to the fortress of Tzur, and all the villages of the Hivites, and the Cananites. Then they went to 8 the south of Judah to Bersheba, and "whipped up" the whole country, and came to a finish on the tenth day of the ninth month at Jerusalem, when 9 J'oab delivered the number enrolled in the forces to the king, and in Israel it was eight hundred thousand men, strong to draw the sword ; and of the men of Judah, five hundred thousand men.

Then the heart of David reproved 10 him after he had conscripted the people. And David said to the EVER-LIVING, "I have sinned grievously by what I have done ! But now, LORD, pass over the fault of Your servant, for I have been foolish."

When David arose in the morning, 11
—then the word of the EVER-LIVING came to Gad the Reciter,—David's Preacher ¹—to say,

"Go, and speak to David, ' Thus 12 says the EVER-LIVING :—I will lay three loads for you. Choose one of them, and I will make it for you !"

Gad consequently went to David 13 and informed him, and asked, " Shall seven years of famine come for you upon the country ? or will you fly for three months before your enemies while they pursue you ? or shall there be three days' destruction on your country ? Now instruct me, and show what reply I shall return to my sender ?"

When the king replied to Gad, " It 14 is very hard for me ! Let me, however, fall into the hand of the EVER-LIVING, for His mercies are many,— for I would not fall into the hand of mad."

The EVER-LIVING therefore sent a 15 destruction to Israel from daybreak until after noon, and there died of the people, from Dan to Bersheba, seventy-seven thousand men. But 16 when the Messenger stretched his hand to Jerusalem to desolate it, He had pity for the flock, and said to the Messenger, " Enough of the people are desolated now, withdraw your hand."
And the Messenger of the EVER-LIVING was near the thrasher ³-floor of Araunah the Jebusite.

But David appealed to the EVER- 17
LIVING, when he saw the Messenger who assailed the people, exclaiming,
" I myself have sinned, and I myself

¹ Literal translation of the word שׁוֹרְטָנָה, Shōt-nā, of the Hebrew.—F. F.

² V. 3. " By enlistment " Hebrew is literally " From up and down." קָהַם וְקָהַם = Kabem v Kabem.—F. F.

³ Or Chaplain.—F. F.

have offended ; but these sheep what have they done? Let Your hand, I pray, be on me and upon my father's house."

18 Then Gnd came at that moment and said to him, "Go up,—raise an altar to the EVER-LIVING at the grainery of Araunah the Jebusite."

19 Consequently David went up as the 20 EVER-LIVING ordered him, and Araunah looking forward saw the king and his Officers approaching to him, so Araunah went and bowed to the 21 king, with face earthward. Then Araunah asked, "Why does His Majesty come to his servant?"

And David replied, "To buy from you this grainery to build an altar to the EVER-LIVING, to remove the plague from off the people."

22 Araunah said to David, "Take it!

And let the king offer up what is good in his eyes. See, there are the oxen for a sacrifice, and the thrashing machine and yokes of the oxen for wood. Araunah as a king gives the 23 whole to the king." And Araunah added to the king, "May your EVER-LIVING GOD accept you!"

David, however, replied to Araunah, "No!—but I will buy them of you by payment, for I will not offer to my EVER-LIVING GOD an offering costing me nothing."

So David bought the grainery and the oxen, for fifty shekels of silver, and David built there an altar to the 25 EVER-LIVING, and offered a burnt-offering, and thank-offering, when the EVER-LIVING was entreated for the land, and removed the plague from the country.

END OF THE SECOND BOOK OF THE PERIOD OF SAMUEL.—BOOK IV. OF
THE HISTORY OF ISRAEL.

THE HISTORY OF ISRAEL AND JUDAH.

BY ISAIAH-BEN-AMUZ, THE PROPHET.

(See Second Chronicles, Ch. 32, v. 32.)

BOOK V.

THE MONARCHICAL PERIOD.

THE FIRST BOOK OF KINGS.

(B.C. 1015.) David grows old and helpless.

- 1 BUT King David grew old and advanced in years, and they covered him with clothing, but he felt
2 no warmth, so his officers said to him, "Let us seek for your Majesty a young maiden, and let her attend the king, and be a nurse and lie at your breast, and warm your Majesty."
3 They therefore sought for the fairest girl in all the bounds of Israel, and found Abishag the Shunamite, and 4 brought her to the king. The girl was very beautiful, and she was nurse to the king and attended to him, but the king never married her.

(B.C. 1015.) Adoniah attempts to be made King.

- 5 Then Adoniah, the son of Khagith, raised himself, saying, "I will be king," so he prepared a carriage and horses, and fifty men to run before him, for his father never restrained him at any time by asking, "What are you doing?" He was very handsome, and was born next after Absalom. He also made an agreement with J'oaab-ben-Zeruiah, and Abiathar the priest, and they helped 8 Adoniah forward. But Zadok the priest, and Beniah-ben-Jhoiadah, and Nathan the Reciter, and Shemai, and Rai, and the Heroes who were with David, were not with Adoniah.

Adoniah, however, sacrificed sheep 9 and oxen, and fat calves, at Aben-Zakhleth, which is near Ainrojel, and he invited all his brothers, the king's sons, and all the nobles of Judah in the king's service. He did not, 10 however, invite Nathan the Reciter, and Beniah, and the Heroes, or Solomon his brother. Nathan there- 11 fore spoke to Bathsheba the mother of Solomon, saying, "Have you heard that Adoniah, the son of Khagith, reigns, and our master David does not know it? So now go, reflect 12 with yourself and protect your own life, and the life of your son Solomon. Go, and proceed to King David, and 13 say to him 'Did not your Majesty promise to your handmaid that Solomon your son shall reign after me, and sit upon my throne? Then why is Adoniah reigning?' Then 14 whilst you are speaking thus with the king, I will come after you, and confirm your statement."

Bathsheba consequently went to 15 the king in his chamber. The king, however, was very old, and Abishag the Shunamite was attending on the king, when Bathsheba approached 16 and bowed to the king, and the king asked, "What is the matter?"

And she replied to him, "Did not 17 my Prince swear to your handmaid by your EVER-LIVING GOD, that 18 'Solomon your son shall reign after me and sit upon my throne?' But now, see, Adoniah reigns, and your Majesty does not know it. And he is

19 sacrificing oxen, and fat calves, and sheep, in plenty, and has invited all the sons of the king, and Abiathar the Priest, and J'oab the commander of the army,—but he has not invited

20 your servant Solomon. And now, your Majesty, the eyes of all Israel are upon you, to inform them who shall sit upon the throne of your

21 Majesty after you; because when your Majesty lies down with your fathers, I, and Solomon your son will be offensive."

22 And then, whilst she was talking to the king, Nathan the reciter came, and they reported to the king, saying, "Nathan the Reciter is here," and he came before the king; and bowed to the king with his face earthwards.

24 Then Nathan asked, "Has your Majesty commanded, 'Adoniah shall reign after me?' and he shall sit on my throne?" For he has gone down

25 to-day and is sacrificing oxen, and fat calves, and sheep in plenty, and has invited all the king's sons, and the commanders of the army, and Abiathar, the Priest, and they are eating and drinking before him, and they cry, 'Adoniah is king!' But for me, your servant, and for Zadok the Priest, and for Benaiah-ben-Joiadah, and for your servant Solomon, there is no invitation.—But perhaps this

27 affair is from your Majesty, only you have not informed your servants who shall sit on your Majesty's throne after you?"

28 Then the king answered, "Let them call Bathsheba to me." So she came to the king's presence, and stood before the king, when the king swore and said, "By the life of the EVER-LIVING WHO delivered me from 30 all my troubles, exactly as I promised you, by the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel, saying 'that Solomon your son should reign after me, and shall sit on my throne in my place, I will do it to-day!'"

31 Bathsheba consequently bent with her face earthward, and bowed to the king, and said, "May my Prince, King David live for ever!"

32 Next King David said, "Fetch to me Zadok the Priest, and Nathan the Reciter, and Benaiah-ben-Joiadah." And they came to the royal presence; when the king said to them, 33 "Take with you the officers of your Prince, and let them mount Solomon on my own horse, and go down with him to Ghikhon, and there let Zadok 34 the Priest, and Nathan the Reciter, consecrate him king over Israel, and sound a trumpet and say, 'Long live King Solomon.' Then proceed with 35 him and bring him and set him on my throne, and he shall be my Deputy-vice-King, and I will instruct him in his administration over Israel and Judah."

Benaiah-ben-Jhoiadah then answered the king and said, "Certainly, for the EVER-LIVING GOD of your Majesty says it. As the EVER- 37 LIVING has been with your Majesty, so may he be with Solomon, and extend his throne more than your Majesty David's."

Zadok the Priest, and Nathan the 38 Reciter, and Benaiah-ben-Jhoiadah, with the guards and couriers accordingly went down, and mounted Solomon on the horse of King David, and marched with him to Ghikhon, where Zadok the Priest took a horn 39 of oil from the Hall and consecrated Solomon, and sounded a trumpet, and all the forces cried, "Long live King Solomon." The whole of the forces 40 also followed after him, playing their bands, and cheering loudly, and shaking the earth with their voices; and Adoniah and all his guests who were with him heard it, as they were all at dinner. J'oab also heard the sound of the trumpet, and asked, "What is that roaring sound?" Whilst he 42 was still speaking Jhonathan-ben-Abiathar the Priest came, and Adoniah said to him, "Come, for you are a powerful man, and one of good luck."

But Jhonathan replied to Adoniah 43 and said, "I am unlucky to our Prince!—King David has made Solomon king! And the king has 44 sent with him Zadok the Priest, and Nathan the Reciter, and Benaiah-ben-Jhoiadah, and the Guards and Couriers, and they have mounted him on the king's horse; and Zadok the Priest, 45 and Nathan the Reciter have consecrated him King at Ghikhon, and have gone up from there cheering, and that sudden roar which you have heard is the sound of them!—They 46 have also seated Solomon on the throne of the kingdom! And the 47 ministers of King David have also come to thank our King David, saying, 'May it please your GOD to make the name of Solomon more than your name, and may He extend his throne more than He extended yours.' And they have bowed to the king who was on his couch. When the king answered thus, 'Thank the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel, who has granted to set him to-day on my throne, and my eyes to see it.'

Then all the guests of Adoniah were terrified and arose, and everyone went to his carriage. Adoniah also was afraid of the appearance of Solomon, and arose and went, and took hold of the horns of the altar. But it was reported to Solomon, "See! Adoniah is afraid of King Solomon, so he has seized the horns of the altar, exclaiming, 'Let King Solomon swear to me to-day that he will not kill his servant with the sword.'"

But Solomon answered, "If the EVER-LIVING acquits him, not a hair of his shall fall to the earth; but if he is found to be criminal, he shall die!"

Then King Solomon arrested, and had him brought down from the altar. So he came and bowed to Solomon the king, and Solomon said to him, "Go to your house."

(B.C. 1015.) Death of Bath, and Instructions to Solomon.

The time of David's death, however, approached, and he sent for Solomon his son, and said,—"I am going the way of all the earth, therefore be brave yourself, and be a man, and guard the Trust of your EVER-LIVING GOD, and walk in His ways by guarding His Institutions, and Commandments, and Legislation, and Constitution, as they are recorded in the laws of Moses. For you should reflect upon all you do, and all you find there, so that the EVER-LIVING may establish the promise which He made to me saying, 'If your children keep My path, and walk before Me in truth, with all their hearts, and all their souls, there shall not be wanting a man from you upon the throne of Israel.'

"You however know what J'oab-ben-Zeruiah did to me, when I appointed two commanders to the armies of Israel,—Abner-ben-Ner, and Amasa-ben-Jether, whom he murdered, and shed the blood of war in peace, and fixed the blood of war in his girdle that was round his waist, and on his shoes upon his feet;—therefore do to him as your skill 6 dictates, and let not his grey hairs go down to the grave in peace.

"To the sons of Barzilai the 7 Giladite act kindly, and let them be guests at your table, for they entertained me when I fled from Absalom your brother.

"And there is with you Shemai-ben- 8 Ghera, the Benjaminite of Bakhurim, who cursed me with foul curses at the time when I went to Bakhurim. But as he came down to meet me at the Jordan, I promised him by the EVER-LIVING that I would not kill him by the sword.—You however do 9 not pardon him, for you are a wise man, and will know how to act with him;—so bring his grey hairs with blood to the grave."

Death and Burial of Bath.

David afterwards lay down with his 10 fathers, and they buried him in the city of David. And the period that David reigned over Israel was forty 11 years. He reigned in Hebron seven years, and reigned in Jerusalem thirty-three years. Thus Solomon 12 mounted the throne of his father, and greatly strengthened his kingdom.

Adoniah's foolish Interview with Bathsheba.

Then Adoniah the son of Khagith 13 came to Bathsheba the mother of Solomon, and she asked, "Does peace come with you?" And he 14 answered, "Peace," and continued, "May I speak to you?"

When she answered, "Speak."

And he said, "You know that the 15 kingship was mine, and all Israel placed me before them as king, but you diverted the kingship, and brought it to my brother so that it was his from the EVER-LIVING. But, 16 however, I will ask one request from you.—Do not turn your face from me."

So she replied, "Speak."

When he said, "Speak for me now 17 to Solomon the king, for he will not refuse you, and ask him to give me Abishag the Shunamite for a wife?"

And Bathsheba replied, "Well, I 18 will speak for you to the king."

So Bathsheba went to King 19

- Solomon to speak to him about Adoniah, and the king arose to meet her, and bowed to her, and then sat on his throne, and they placed a cushion for the mother of the king, and she sat at his right hand, and said "I would ask one little request from you;—do not refuse it." Then she continued, "Will you give Abishag the Shunamite to Adoniah for a wife?"
- 22 But King Solomon replied and said to his mother, "But why do you ask Abishag the Shunamite for Adoniah? Ask the kingship for him,—for he is my elder brother,—and for Abiathar the Priest, and for J'oab the son of Zeruah."
- 23 Then King Solomon swore by the EVER-LIVING, saying, "May GOD do so to me, and more than that, if Adoniah has not spoken this speech for his life! So now by the life of the EVER-LIVING Who formed me, and placed me upon the throne of David my father, and Who made a house for me, Adoniah shall die to-day!"
- 24
- 25 Then King Solomon sent by the hand of Beniah-ben-Jhoiadah, who struck him,—and he died.

Abiathar Deposed and Banished.

- 26 And he ordered Abiathar the Priest, "Go to Anathoth your estate,—for you are a dead man, but I will not kill you to-day, because you served the altar of the High LORD before David my father, and because you suffered in all my father suffered."
- 27 Solomon also expelled Abiathar from being priest to the EVER-LIVING, thus fulfilling the word of the EVER-LIVING which He spoke about the house of Eli, at Shiloh.

J'oab flies to the Altar for Protection.

- 28 When the report of this came to J'oab,—for J'oab had inclined after Adoniah, although he had not inclined after Absalom,—he fled to the Hall of the EVER-LIVING, and seized the horns of the altar. But it was reported to King Solomon that J'oab had fled to the Hall of the EVER-LIVING, and that he was at the side of the altar; so the king sent Beniah-ben-Jhoiadah; saying, "Go! Execute him!"
- 29

Beniah accordingly went to the Hall of the EVER-LIVING, and said to him, "The king orders you to come."

But he replied, "No, for I shall be killed!"

Beniah consequently returned the king word, saying "J'oab says thus,—and by it I am prevented."

But the king replied to him, "Do as I have ordered! and execute him, and bury him, and take away the innocent blood J'oab shed from off me, and from off my father's house. For the EVER-LIVING will return his blood on his head who murdered the two good men who were better than himself, and murdered them with the sword,—(but my father David knew it not).—Abner the son of Ner, the Commander of the army of Israel, and Amasa-ben-Jether, commander of the army of Judah,—and the blood of both of them is on the head of J'oab, and the head of his race for ever. But to David and his race, and house, and throne, may there be peace for ever from the EVER-LIVING."

Beniah-ben-Jhoiadah consequently went and struck and killed, and buried him at his home in the pastures; and the king appointed Beniah-ben-Jhoiadah to be over the army instead of him. The king also appointed Zadok as priest in place of Abiathar.

The fate of Shemai, who cursed David.

Then the king sent and summoned Shemai, and said to him, "Build yourself a house in Jerusalem, and reside there, and do not go out from there whatever happens. For it shall be, that on the day you go out, and pass the brook of Kedron,—be certain that you shall die.—Your blood will be on your own head."

And Shemai replied to the king, "What you have said is good, your Majesty. Your servant will do it." And Shemai resided in Jerusalem some years.

(B.C. 1011.)

But at the end of three years two of his slaves ran away from Shemai to Akish, the son of Makah, who had been king of Gath, and it was reported to Shemai, saying, "Your slaves are at Gath." Shemai therefore

- arose and saddled his ass and went to Akish at Gath, to seek his slaves, and brought his slaves from Gath.
- 41 But it was reported to Solomon that Shemai had gone from Jerusalem, to Gath, and returned.
- 42 The king consequently sent to summon Shemai and asked him, "Did I not swear to you by the EVER-LIVING, and declare, and say that in the day you went away and journeyed for any cause whatever, you should die?—and you replied 'The thing you have threatened me is good.'"
- 43 Then why have you not attended to the oath by the EVER-LIVING, and the order as I ordered you?" And the king continued to Shemai, "You know all the wrong which your heart desired should be done to David my father,—but the EVER-LIVING has turned that on your own head; and may King Solomon be blest, and the Throne of David be established before the EVER-LIVING for ever!"
- 46 Then the king ordered Beniah-ben-Jhoiadah, and he went and assailed him, and he died. Thus the kingship was secured to the hand of Solomon.

Solomon marries Pharaoh's Daughter.

- 3 Solomon afterwards contracted a treaty of marriage with Pharaoh king of the Mitzeraim, and married Pharaoh's daughter, and brought her to the City of David, until he completed the building of his palace, and the House of the EVER-LIVING, and the walls around Jerusalem; for the people had altars on the hills, because a House had not been built to the name of the EVER-LIVING until these times.
- 3 And Solomon loved the EVER-LIVING, walking in all the Institutions of his father David, except that he sacrificed and burnt incense on the hills. So the king went to Gibaon, where there was a Great Peak, to sacrifice a thousand burnt-offerings. Solomon offered them on that Peak.

(B.C. 1014.) Solomon's Wish.

- 5 At Gibaon the EVER LIVING appeared to Solomon in a dream at night, when GOD said, "Ask what I shall give you!"
- 6 And Solomon replied, "You showed kindness to my father David, Your servant, because he walked before

You in sincerity and rectitude, and righthearthedness, and You kept this great kindness for him, by granting to him that his son should sit upon his throne,—he does to-day. Now 7 also, my EVER-LIVING GOD, You have made Your servant reign in place of David my father, but I am very young—I may not know how to conduct myself,—and Your servant 8 is in the midst of Your people whom You have chosen,—a numerous people who cannot be numbered or counted for extent. Then give Yourservant a 9 heart to listen justly to Your People, and to distinguish between right or wrong. For who is able to administer justice to this splendid People of Yours?"

And it was acceptable in the sight 10 of the EVER-LIVING that Solomon asked such a thing. GOD therefore 11 said to him,

"Because you have asked this thing and not asked for yourself length of days, and have not asked wealth for yourself, and have not asked the lives of your enemies,—but have asked intelligence for yourself to listen to justice,—I will do for you as 12 you request,—I will give you a wise heart, and understanding, such as there has not been before you, and such as will not arise after you. And also, 13 I will give you what you have not asked, that is wealth and splendour such as no man of the kings of all your time possesses. And if you walk in 14 My paths, to guard My Institutions, and commands, as your father David walked, I will lengthen your days."

Then Solomon awoke,—and it was 15 a dream; so he went to Jerusalem and stood before the Ark of the Covenant of the EVER-LIVING, and offered sacrifices and thank-offerings and drink-offerings with all his ministers.

The Judgment of Solomon.

Once there came two women, har- 16 lots, to the king, and appealed to him. And the first woman said; 17

"Your Majesty, myself and this woman lived in a single house, and I bore a child there in the house; but 18 three days after I had borne it, this woman also bore a child, and we were alone; there was no outsider with us in the house; none except us two in the house. But the son of 19 this woman died at night,—as she

- 20 overlaid it. Then she arose in the middle of the night, and took my son from my side, while your servant slept, and laid it to her breast, and laid her dead son at my breast. When I arose in the morning to suckle my child, then I saw a corpse, and having examined it in the morning, I saw that it was not my child, which I had borne."
- 22 Then the other woman said, "No! for my child is the living, but yours is the dead!"
- But the first replied, "Nay! for your child is the dead, and my child is the living, and you shall answer for it before the king!"
- 23 The king consequently said, "One asserts 'My child is the living, and yours is the dead,' and the other asserts, 'No! for your child is the dead, and my child is the living!'"
- 24 The king therefore continued, "Fetch me a sword!" And they brought a sword to the king. When the king said, "Split the living child into two, and give half to the one, and half to the other!"
- 26 The woman, however, whose the living child was, replied to the king,—for her affection quivered over her child,—and exclaimed, "My lord! give the living child to her, instead of the dead! Do not kill it! And thus you will preserve it for me, and for her! It shall not be split!"
- 27 Upon which the king replied, "Give her the living child, and kill it not,—she is its mother."
- 28 And all Israel heard of this judgment that the king had delivered, and they paid him respect, for they saw that divine wisdom was in his breast to do justice.

(B.C. 1014.) Solomon appoints his Ministers.

- 4 Thus Solomon became king over all Israel.
- 2 And these were his Princes:
Azariah-ben-Zadok, the Priest;
3 Alikheraf, and Akhiah, sons of Shisha, were Chancellors; Jhoshafat-ben-Akhiud, was the Recorder;
- 4 And Heniah-ben-Jhoiadah, was over the army;
And Zadok and Abiathar were Priests.
- 5 And Azariah-ben-Nathan was Superintendent of the Governors;

And Zebud-ben-Nathan Superintendent of the Royal Farms;

And Akhishur was Superintendent of the Palace;

And Adoniram-ben-Abda, Superintendent of the Taxes.

(B.C. 1014.) Provincial Governors Appointed.

Solomon also had twelve Governors over all Israel, who also sustained the king and his family, each a month in a year,—they were to equalise the expenses, and these 8 were their names.

Ben Khor, in Mount Ephraim; 9
Ben Dakar, in Makaz, and Shalbim, and Beth-shemsh, and the oak wood of Beth-khanan; 10

Ben Khesed in Arboth, with Sokah, and all the district of Khafir; 11
Ben-Abinadab over all Nafath-dor. (Tafath the daughter of Solomon was his wife.)

To Ana-ben-Akhilud were Thanak, 12 and Megiddo, and all Bethshan to Abel-Makholah, as far as the ford of Jekemam.

Ben-Gabar was at Ramoth-Gilad. 13 He had the villages of Ben-Manasseh, that are in Gilad, with the district of Argob, that lies in Bashan. Sixty great walled cities, with walls and brass gates.

Akhinadab-ben-Ada was at Makhanim; 14

Akhimatz in Naphthali. (He also 15 married as his wife Basmath, the daughter of Solomon.)

Bana-ben-Khoshlai, in Asher, and 16 Baloth;

Jhoshafat-ben-Parauh, in Issakar; 17
Shimai-ben-Ala, in Benjamin; 18

Gabar-ben-Ari, in the land of 19
Gilad, the district of Sihon, King of the Amori, and Og, King of Bashan, which district was a single government.

And Judah and Israel increased 20 like the sand which is by the sea, with plenty to eat and drink, and enjoy.

(B.C. 1014.) Extent of Solomon's Empire.

Solomon was also Emperor of all 5 the Kingdoms from the River,¹ to the country of the Philistim and to the border of the Mitzeraim,¹ and they lay under tribute and service to Solomon all the time of his life.

¹ By "The River" is always meant the Euphrates, which flows from the Caucasus mountains in the north to the Persian Gulf in the south of Central Asia.—F. P.

2 And the provision for Solomon for a single day was thirty kors of fine

3 flour and sixty kors of meal, ten fat bullocks, and twenty grazed bullocks, and a hundred sheep, beside goats,

4 and venison, and fat poultry. For he also ruled over all beyond the River, from Thitsah to Azah,—in all the kingdoms beyond the River,²—and he kept peace for all his subjects

5 around. And Judah and Israel lived in security, every one under his vine and under his fig tree, from Dan to Bersheba, all the period of Solomon.

6 Solomon also had stalls for forty thousand horses for his chariots, and 7 twelve thousand cavalry, and the Governors provided these for King Solomon. Besides which they provided King Solomon's table each in his month. Nothing was omitted.

8 They brought barley and straw for the horses and hunters to the places where they were, every one as instructed.

Solomon as a Scientist.

9 And GOD gave to Solomon very great wisdom and understanding, and wide intelligence, like the sand on the sea shore. For Solomon's scientific knowledge was more extensive than the science of all the Beni-Kedem,³ and than all the science of the 11 Mitzeraim.⁴ He knew more than all men of the orbits of the planets, of the origination of light, and fixed sustaining systems, and the results of the revolving spheres,⁵ and his

¹ Egypt.—F. F.

² "The Kingdoms beyond the River," that is, the districts now called Persia and Beluchistan to the River Indus.—F. F.

³ Sons of the East: Chaldeans.—F. F.

⁴ Egyptians.—F. F.

⁵ I believe the above to be the real purport of this passage which the Mediaeval translators not understanding, as it contains the technical terminology of cosmical sciences of which they had lost all knowledge, transformed it into proper names. I am also satisfied the same blunder has been made in similar cases in many other passages of Scripture. I have, therefore, rejected the old versions entirely, and give the real purport of the Hebrew text, as arrived at by philological analysis. Solomon, in fact, understood what we now call the Copernican and Newtonian principles of Astronomy, and Cosmogony.—F. F. F. F. F.

fame was spread among all the nations around. He also wrote three 12 thousand proverbs, and his songs were one thousand and five. And 13 he wrote about botany as well, from the Cedar upon Lebanon, to the mosses that grow upon walls; and studied the zoology of beasts, and birds, and reptiles, and fish. So 14 that persons came from all the nations to listen to the sciences of Solomon, from all the kingdoms of the earth who heard of his scientific knowledge.

(B.C. 1014.) The King of Tyre supplies to Solomon Timber for the Temple.

Khiram¹ King of Tzur² also sent 15 his ministers to Solomon, when he heard that he had been consecrated king as his father's viceroy, for Khiram and David were friends all their time. Solomon accordingly 16 sent to Khiram to say:—"You know 17 David was not able to build a House to the name of the EVER-LIVING GOD, because the EVER-LIVING said to David my father, 'Your son, 19 whom I will place as your viceroy on your throne, shall build a house to My name.' So now therefore 20 order them to cut for me Cedars from Lebanon, and my workmen shall be with your workmen, and I will pay your workmen. I will pay you whatever you agree, for you know there are not among us men who understand the cutting of timber as the Zidonians do."

And when Khiram heard the de- 21 mands of Solomon he was greatly pleased, and said, "Thank the EVER-LIVING to-day who has given David a wise son over this great people." So 22 Khiram sent to Solomon to say, "I have heard what you have communicated to me. I will do all that you wish in Cedar and Fir timber. My 23 workmen shall bring it from Lebanon to the sea, and I will direct in rafts on the sea to whatever place you instruct me, and deliver it there, and you accept it, and make payment to me by providing food for my people."

Consequently Khiram supplied 24 Solomon with Cedar and Pine timber

¹ Hiram.—F. F.

² Tzur, Tyre.—F. F.

25 as much as he desired, and Solomon paid to Khiram twenty thousand kors of wheat, to provide for his city, and twenty kors of olive oil. Solomon gave this to Khiram year by year.

(B.C. 1018.) Solomon orders a Conscription of Workmen.

26 Thus the EVER-LIVING gave Solomon wisdom, as He promised him, and there was peace between Khiram and Solomon, and they both made a treaty together.

27 King Solomon then levied a conscription from all Israel; and the conscription was thirty thousand men, whom he sent to Lebanon, by ten thousand a month, by monthly shifts. They were a month in Lebanon; two months at home. And Adoniram was over this conscription.

29 He had also twenty thousand carriers of loads; and eighty thousand stone-cutters in the hills, besides Solomon's thirty thousand masons, who were at the works in the plains, and three hundred superintendents of the people labouring at the buildings. For the king ordered, and they made large stones; heavy stones for the foundations of the 30 Temple; polished stones. Thus the people of Solomon, and the people of Khiram carved, and planned, and shaped the timber and the stones to build the Temple.

(B.C. 1012.) Date of Beginning the Temple.

6 And it was in the four hundred and eightieth year from the coming up of the children of Israel from the land of the Mitzeraim, in his fourth year, in the month of Ziu, the same month of the year as that in which Solomon began to reign over Israel,—he began to build the Temple for the EVER-LIVING.

Description of the Temple.

2 The Temple that King Solomon built for the EVER-LIVING was sixty cubits long,¹ and twenty wide,² and thirty cubits high,³ with a colonnade in front of the body of the Temple of twenty cubits wide⁴ following the form of the building, and rising ten cubits up the face of the structure. And he made bowed windows for the 4 building above its circuit.

He built also around the wall 5 encircling the whole of the Temple, lodges joined to the wall in regular order, and also made a verandah around.

The lower lodges were five cubits⁶ wide, on a platform six cubits wide,⁶ with a third seven cubits wide⁶; for a verandah was formed along the enclosure around the Court, but so as not to disfigure the walls of the Temple.

The Temple was itself built of 7 stone finished at the quarry; the stones cut, carved, and polished. No iron tool was heard in the construction whilst it was being built.

Folding gates with a platform were 8 at the right side of the building, with stairs going up to that platform, and from this platform to a third.

Thus the structure was built, and 9 they completed it by wainscoting the building with planks of cedar.

Lastly he built a story over all the 10 building five cubits in height,⁷ and covered in the structure with beams and planks of cedar.

Then the word of the EVER-LIVING 11 afterwards came to Solomon saying, "About the House which you have 12 built for Me, if you walk according to my Decrees, and regard all my Commandments, to guide yourself by them, then I will confirm the promise I gave you, which I promised to David your father; and I will rest in 13 the midst of the Children of Israel, and will not abandon My People of Israel."

Thus Solomon built the Temple 14 and finished it. He also built walls 15 around the Temple, with a sheltering verandah of cedar; while the ceiling of the House, as well as its walls, he panelled with that wood; but he laid the floor of the building, and the verandahs, with fir-wood.

¹ = 10 ft. 5 in. and 12 ft. 6 in. respectively Eng.

² = 10 ft. 5 in. Eng.

³ = 14 ft. 7 in.

These platforms seem to have been what we now call "Landings," or broad steps leading up to the verandah, and the old translators, not being accustomed to such, sadly confused their versions.—F. F.

¹ Sacred cubit 25 in Eng. = 125 ft.

² = 41 ft. 8 in. Eng.

³ = 61 ft. 8 in. Eng.

⁴ = 41 ft. 8 in. Eng.

- 16 He also built twenty cubits broad at the back of the House as a verandah, of cedar, from the floor to the height of the walls. He built it for himself, as a Lecture Hall to discuss Philosophy with Philosophers.
- 17 And this building was forty cubits
- 18 from the Temple. The inside of the building was of cedar, covered with running foliage and open flowers. The whole was of cedar; no stone was used.
- 19 And in the interior of the Temple he constructed a Recess in which to place the Ark of the Covenant of the
- 20 EVER-LIVING. And the surface of the Recess was twenty cubits long, and twenty cubits wide, and twenty cubits broad, and was surmounted by a railing of cedar plated with gold.¹
- 21 Solomon also protected the House and its top with a golden railing, and formed golden chains before the Recess, and covered them with gold.
- 22 He also covered the whole of the Temple with gold to the top. All the House and all the Altar, that was opposite the Recess, were plated with gold.
- 23 And he made for the Recess two Kerubs of olive-wood, ten cubits high, with wings of five cubits for the one Kerub, and wings of five cubits for
- 24 the other Kerub,—ten cubits from the dip of one's wings to the dip of the other's wings. And the second
- 25 Kerub was ten cubits from the first. The shape of both was the same.
- 26 The height of each Kerub was ten cubits,—both Kerubs were the same.
- 27 He placed the Kerubs inside the building, and the Kerubs' wings were extended. The wings of the one extended from the wall, and the wings of the other Kerub extended from the other wall:—so one's wings touched the other's wings at the middle of the hall, wing touching wing. The
- 28 Kerubs were also covered with gold; and all round the walls of the hall were carved sculptures, with statues of Kerubs and palm-trees, and open flowers, for windows and doors.
- 30 The floor of the hall was also plated with gold, with the windows and doors.

¹ Vv. 16—23. My translation of this very difficult passage is totally different in purport to that usually given, but I believe it to be correct one, as it is self-consistent, and does not contradict other portions of the record, as the current versions do.—F. F

The door of the Recess was made ⁹¹ of two leaves of olive-wood with four strong posts; the two leaves were of ³² olive-wood, with Kerubs, and palm-trees, and roses carved upon them; with gilding spread over the Kerubs, and palm-trees, and roses.

The door-posts of the Temple were ³³ made of olive-wood squared, with two leaves of pine-wood. The leaves ³⁴ of the first were double, on two rollers, and the second door was double on two rollers, with carvings ³⁵ of Kerubs, and palm-trees, and roses, and plates of gold, with skilful portraits.

He also built an Outer Court oppo- ³⁶ site the south triangle, with colonnades of cut stone, and colonnades of carved cedar.

He began the structure in his ³⁷ fourth year, in the month Ziu, and finished the House in his eleventh year, in the month Bul (that is the eighth month), with all its appliances and arrangements. Thus it was seven years in building.

(B.C. 1005.) Solomon builds numerous Palaces.

But Solomon was thirteen years ⁷ building his own Palace, and completing all his palaces, and building ² the Palace of the Forest of Lebanon. It was a hundred cubits long, and fifty cubits wide, and with towers of thirty cubits at the corners; with ³ colonnades of cedar, and cedar beams upon the pillars, with a cedar ceiling over the verandahs, which were supported upon forty-five pillars, fifteen in a row, with three rows of ⁴ copings, and window above window for three stories; and all the doors ⁵ and door-posts had squared copings; and in the front, window above window for three stories.

He also made a colonnade of fifty ⁶ cubits long, and thirty cubits wide, with a hall before it, with columns and an awning before them. Beside ⁷ the Throne-room, where he appointed a hall to deliver judgments, which was ceiled with cedar, plank to plank.

Beside this palace, where he ⁸ resided, a court was behind the Palatial-hall where experiments were made. A house was also built for the daughter of Pharaoh, whom Solomon had married, similar to the Hall of Experiments.

9 All these buildings were beautifully adorned, carved with sculptures, with passages on passages, with towers, and with walks. They were magnificent within and without, from foundation to the coping stones. Even the foundations were great cut stones, ten cubit blocks, and eight cubit blocks. The pillars were also beautifully sculptured stones, and cedar. 10
11 And round the Great Court were three rows of sculptures and a row of carved cedar, like the Court of the House of the EVER-LIVING, enclosing both the Hall and the Palace.

(B.C. 1005.) Works of Hiram, the Engineer.

13 For King Solomon had sent and 14 fetched Hiram from Tzur,—he was the son of a widow woman of the tribe of Naphthali, but his father was a native of Tzur,—who was a fabricator in metals, and skilful in engineering, and in building, and the knowledge of all construction. He came to King Solomon, and designed all his works. He also 15 made the two pillars of brass, each of eighteen cubits high, with a cord of twelve cubits surrounding the two columns, and the two crowns of cast bronze made to place on the tops of 16 the columns, the height of the one crown being five cubits, and the height of the other crown five cubits, made like network. He made great 17 woven chains for the crowns that were upon the heads of the columns. Seven for the first crown,—and seven 18 for the other crown. Thus he made the columns with two stories of network, enclosing pomegranates, for the one, to cover the tiara which was on the top; and made the same for 19 the tiara of the second. And the tiaras which were on the tops of the columns were made of lilies, of a 20 height of four cubits; and the tiara on each column also rose from reticulated capitals. There were also two hundred pomegranates in rows over the crowns of the two. Then he set the columns in the Court of the Temple, and placed one column 21 on the right side, and named it Firmness,¹ next he raised the other column on the left hand and named it Speed.¹ Last over the top of the 22 columns he placed the lilies, and completed his work on the columns.

Description of the Brazen Sea.

He also cast an artificial sea, ten 23 cubits from brim to brim, circular in form, and five cubits high, with a beading of thirty cubits circling round it, with mushrooms under the 24 brim circling round it, ten to the cubit around the lake,—ten mushrooms set in two rows; cast in the same casting.

It was supported upon twelve bul- 25 locks. Three facing to the North; and three facing to the West; and three facing to the South; and three facing to the East; and the tank was above them, and all their tails were inwards. The thickness of it was a 26 span,² and its tip like the form of a lily flower. It held two thousand baths.

Hiram makes Pedestals for the Ten Taberns.

He also made ten pedestals of four 27 cubits long, each pedestal; and four cubits wide and three cubits high; and made these pediments with dove- 28 tails on them, and dovetailed them at the joinings. And on the dovetails 29 that were between the joinings staples and bolts as fasteners, and over the joinings he placed projections, and below the staples and the bolts he 30 made garlands hanging down. There were four wheels of bronze to each pediment, and axles of bronze, and four centered axle-boxes to fit the 31 axles into. He cast each with a wreath and an opening from the inner side of the naves which projected for a cubit, and he made the circum- 32 ference of the mouth a cubit and a half, and also coverings over the mouth with square indents,—not round ones. And the four wheels 33 were beneath the indents, with clutches on the wheels with cogs, and the lever for each wheel was a cubit and a half long. And he made 34 the wheels in the form of a chariot wheel, with spokes, and bosses, and poles, and naves,—the whole cast,—with four jambs on the four shoulders of the bearings, one from each base

¹ Yakin.—F. F.

¹ Baz.—F. F.

² 4 inches.—F. F.

35 of a shoulder. And at the top of the bearing, a round ring half a cubit high; and above the bearing levers, and cog-wheels with counter-cogs,

36 the levers projecting from lock holes, and above as a finish, Kerubs, and lions, and palms, and surrounding 37 wreaths. Thus he made the bases of the same form and shape, and the wheels of one form.

38 He also made ten lavers of brass, of forty baths capacity each laver. Each laver was four cubits; each laver was upon a single base of the ten

39 bases. The bases were placed five on the right side of the house, and five on its left. But the tank-sea was placed at the right side of the house towards the east, fronting south.

40 Hiram also made the sprinklers, and the shovels, and the basons. Hiram thus completed all the furniture which King Solomon provided for the House of the EVER-LIVING.

41 The two columns and the wreathed crowns on the tops of the columns, and the two networks to cover the two wreaths of the crowns which were on the tops of the columns,

42 with the four hundred pomegranates for the two networks,—two rows of pomegranates for each net, to cover the two wreaths of the crowns which were on the tops of the columns.

43 And the ten bases, and the ten

44 lavers upon the bases. And the one tank, and the twelve bullocks under

45 the tank. And the boilers, and the forks, and the basons. The whole of the instruments of the Hall, that Hiram made for King Solomon for the House of the EVER-LIVING were

46 of polished brass, and cast in the neighbourhood of the Jordan for the king, in the clay land between Sukoth and Tzarthan. Solomon also made 47 a very large amount of furniture, not calculating the value of the weight of the brass.

48 Solomon besides made all the instruments of the House of the EVER-LIVING, the altar of gold, and the table of gold upon which was

49 the Showbread. And the five lamps on the right and the five on the left hand opposite the Recess were pure gold, with their plates and reflectors,

50 and snuffers of pure gold. And the fans, and psalteries, and pans; and the spoons, and tongs of refined gold. And the hinges of the doors of the House, over the entrance of the Holy of Holies, with the doors of the House of the temple, of gold.

Thus was completed all the furni- 51
ture that King Solomon made for the House of the EVER-LIVING, and Solomon brought the consecrated silver and gold of his father David, and the furniture he gave, to the House of the EVER-LIVING.

(B.C. 1004.) Consecration of the Temple.

Solomon then assembled the 8
Judges of Israel, and all the Heads of the Tribes, with the Chiefs of the families of the children of Israel, to meet King Solomon in Jerusalem, to carry up the Ark of the Covenant of the EVER-LIVING from the City of David—that is Mount Zion. When 2
King Solomon addressed all the Chiefs of Israel, in the month of Aithanim, at the festival of the seventh month.

All the Judges of Israel conse- 3 quently came, and the priests took up the Ark, and carried the Ark of the EVER-LIVING to the Hall of 4
Assembly, with all the sacred furniture that was for the Hall, going up with the Priests and Levites, and 5
King Solomon, and all the assembled Parliament of Israel with them, before the Ark, sacrificing sheep and oxen without number, for they did not count how many.

Then the Priests brought the Ark 6 of the Covenant of the EVER-LIVING to its place in the Recess of the House, to the Holy of Holies, under the canopy of the Kerubim, for the 7 Kerubs spread their wings over the surface of the Ark, and the Kerubs covered the Ark above. But they 8 drew the staves out, so that they could see the heads of the staves in the Sanctuary from the Commandary Recess, but could not see them from the Court. And they are there until to-day.¹

There was nothing in the Ark 9 except the two tables of stone that Moses placed there in Horeb, when ¹ V. 8. This comment shows the composition of this history to have preceded the Babylonian captivity, and corroborates my conviction of Isaiah being its author, for which see Second Chronicles, Ch. 32, v. 32, which confirms my conclusion made from internal evidence.—F. F.

the EVER-LIVING contracted with the Children of Israel, when he brought them up from the land of the Egyptians.

- 10 When the Priest came out from the Sanctuary, a cloud filled the House of the EVER-LIVING, so that the Priests were not able to stand to serve because of the cloud;—for the splendour of the EVER-LIVING filled the House of the EVER-LIVING.

(B.C. 1004.) Solomon's Dedicatory Psalm.

- 12 Then Solomon exclaimed,
"The LORD said He would dwell in darkness;—
- 13 Building, I have built you a House, Founded a rest for you for ever!"
- 14 Then the King turned his face and blessed all the Assembly of Israel, whilst all the Assembly of Israel
- 15 stood up, and he said,
" Bless the LIVING GOD of Israel,
Who spoke directly with my father David,
And by His hand accomplishes His word,—
- 16 'From when I brought My People Israel out of Egypt
I chose in Israel's Tribes no City,
To build a House to fix my Name,
Till for My People Israel I chose David.'
- 17 So it was in my father, David's heart,
To build the Name of Israel's LIVING GOD a House,
- 18 But the LORD enquired of my father, David,
' Longs your heart to build My Name a Home?—
It was not good that came into your mind!—
- 19 Begone! you shall not build that house!
But your son, who from your loins springs,
Shall build My Name that Home.'
- 20 And the LORD His word has done,
For I after my father rise,
And sit on Israel's throne,
As the LORD from Himself declared,
And have built this House to the NAME

Of Israel's still-living GOD,
And place there a home for the ark
Ark
Where THE LIFE'S Treaty is kept,
That He, Himself, made with our Fathers, Whom He brought from the land of Mitzeraim."

(B.C. 1004.)

Solomon then stood before the altar of the EVER-LIVING opposite all the Assembly of Israel, and spread his hands to the heavens, and said, Solomon's Dedicatory Prayer.

" LIVING GOD of Israel! there is no GOD like You in heaven above, or upon earth beneath,—keeping covenant and promise to Your servants, who walk before You with all their heart. Who kept Your promise to David, my father, as You promised to him,—for to-day You fulfil Your promise, by Your mouth, and by Your hand.

" So now, EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel, keep to Your servant, my father David, what You promised to him, saying, ' There shall not be wanting to you a man before Me to sit upon the throne of Israel, if only your sons regard My path to walk before Me, as you have walked before Me.' And now, GOD of Israel, establish, I pray, the promise You promised to Your servant David my father.

" But will GOD really dwell upon the earth, while the heaven, and the heaven of heavens are not able to contain Him?—then how can this House which I have built?

" Therefore turn to the prayer of Your servant, LIVING GOD, to listen to his cry, and the prayer which Your servant prays before You to-day, and listen with favour to Your servant, and Your People Israel when they pray at this place, and also listen from the place of Your rest in the Heavens, listen and pardon.

" When a man has sinned by doing wrong, and there is offered up for him prayer, and he comes to invoke before Your altar in this House, then hear from the Heavens, and examine and judge Your servant, and punish and lay on the head of the wicked his wicked course; and give to the righteous according to his goodness.

- 33 "When Your People Israel are routed before their enemies when it has offended You, if it returns to You, and implores Your NAME, and prays, and entreats You in this House, then hear from the Heavens and pardon the sin of Your People Israel, and restore to them the land which You gave to their fathers.
- 34 "If the skies are restrained, and there is no rain, because they have sinned against You, if they pray at this place, and implore Your Name, and turn from their sins, answer them; and hear from the Heavens, and pardon the sin of Your People Israel—for You can turn them from the path of sin which they are walking in,—and give rain to Your country which You have allowed Your People to possess.
- 35 "When there may be famine in the country; when there may be blight, mildew, flights of locusts; when it may be there is an enemy ravaging in the bounds of its country; any contagion; any disease; or failure; any plague that there may be, on any land, on any of Your People Israel, by which any man can be struck to the heart,—when he spreads his hand towards this House, then listen from the Heavens,—from Your firm seat,—and pardon, and examine, and grant to each according to his need, as You know his heart,—for You know,—Yourself alone, the heart of every son of Adam, because You see the life that they live on the face of the earth, that You gave to their fathers.
- 36 "And also the foreigners who are not of Your People Israel, who come from far countries because of Your NAME,—for they will hear of Your great NAME, and Your strong hand, and Your directing arm, and come to worship at this House,—therefore listen from the Heavens,—from Your firm rest,—and effect all that the foreigners ask of You; so that all the peoples of the earth may know Your NAME, and recognize Your might, like Your People Israel; and may know that Your NAME can be called upon in this House which I have built You.
- 37 "When Your People go out to war with their enemies, in the way that You send them, and pray to the EVER-LIVING toward the City that You have chosen, and the House which I have built to Your NAME;

then hear from the Heavens their 45 prayer and supplication, and grant them their right.

"When they sin against You,—for 46 there is no man who does not sin,—and You are angry with them, and deliver them to the face of their enemies, and drive them to the country of their enemies, afar off or near; when they turn their hearts in 47 the land of their enemies, where they dwell, and repent, and supplicate You in the land of their dwelling, saying, 'We have sinned, and been passionate, and done wrong;' and they turn to 48 You with all their heart, and all their soul, in the country of their enemies, where they dwell, and pray to You towards the land that You gave to their fathers,—the city which You have chosen,—and this House which I have built to Your NAME:—then 49 listen from the Heavens,—Your fixed rest—their prayer and supplication, and grant them justice, and pardon 50 Your People who have sinned against You for all their wickedness by which they have deprived themselves before You, and grant them the mercy to be converted and obtain mercy.

"For Your people, and Your inheritance that You brought out from the Mitzeraim,¹ from among the iron furnaces; when Your eyes were open 52 fountains of mercy to Your servants, and of mercies to Your People Israel, listening to them whenever they cried to You; for You selected them to be 53 an inheritance for Yourself from all the peoples of the earth, as You said by the means of Moses, Your servant, when You brought our fathers out from among the Mitzeraim, EVER-LIVING POWER!"

When Solomon had finished his 54 prayer to the EVER-LIVING,—this perfect prayer and supplication,—he rose from before the altar of the EVER-LIVING, from kneeling on his knees, and spread his hands to the Heavens, and stood up and blessed 55 the whole Assembly of Israel with a loud voice, saying,

(B. C. 1004.) Solomon's Psalm of Blessing.

"Bless the EVER-LIVING, 56 Who has given consolation to His People Israel, According to all He promised;—

¹ Egypt.—F. F.

For not one word has failed,
Of all His good word which He spoke

By the means of his servant Moses !

- 57 Our LIVING GOD has been with us,
As He was with our fathers;
He has not forsaken or cast off;—
- 58 So let our hearts be glad of Him,
And walk in all His paths,
And keep to His Commands,
His Institutions, and Decrees,
That He ordered to our fathers.
- 59 Let these words I pray to the LORD
Be near our LIVING GOD by day and night,
To make His servant righteous,
And administer justly the affairs,
Of His People Israel daily,—
- 60 That all the Nations of the earth
may know,
That the LORD alone is enduring,
- 61 And let our hearts be at peace with
the LORD,
To walk by His Institutions,
And to keep His Commands from now."

(B.C. 1004). The Vedicatory Sacrifice.

- 62 Then the king, and all the people with him, sacrificed sacrifices to the
- 63 EVER-LIVING. But Solomon sacrificed as the thank-offering, which was sacrificed to the EVER-LIVING, twenty-two thousand oxen, and a hundred and twenty thousand sheep, by which the king and all the Assembly of Israel dedicated the
- 64 House to the EVER-LIVING. On the same day the king consecrated the open court which is before the House of the EVER-LIVING, for he offered there the burnt-offering and the bread-offering, and the fats of the thank-offering, for the brass altar which is before the EVER-LIVING was too small for the consumption of the burnt-offerings and the bread-offerings, and the fat of the thank-offerings.
- 65 At the same period Solomon also made a festival and all Israel with him,—at a great Assembly from the Pass of Khamath, to the River of Egypt, before our EVER-LIVING GOD, for seven days, and seven days;—
- 66 fourteen days. Upon the eighth day the king blessed and dismissed the people, and they went to their homes rejoicing, and glad-hearted, over all the benefits which the EVER-LIVING had given to David His servant, and to Israel His People.

(About B.C. 902.) Second Rebellion to Solomon.

And when Solomon had finished 9 building the House of the EVER-LIVING, and the King's Palace, and all the columns Solomon delighted to make, then the EVER-LIVING appeared to Solomon as He appeared to him in Gibaon, and the EVER- 3 LIVING said to him "I have heard your prayer and the supplication that you supplicated before Me when you consecrated this House, which you have built, to place My NAME in for ever, and for My eyes and heart to be there at all times; so now if you 4 walk before Me, as David your father walked, with straight heart, and endeavouring to do right, according to all that I have commanded you, preserving My Institutions and Decrees, then I will confirm the 5 throne of your kingship over Israel for ever, as I promised your father David, saying, 'There shall not be wanting a man for you upon the throne of Israel.' But if you, or your 6 children, turn from following Me, and do not keep My Commandments and My Institutions, which I placed before them, but go and serve other gods, and worship them;—I will cut 7 Israel from off the face of the ground which I gave to them, and the house which you have consecrated for My NAME. And I will them send from My presence, and Israel shall become a proverb and a scorn to all nations.
And this House, that is high above 8 all beside it, shall be thrown down and broken. And when men ask, 9
'Why has the EVER-LIVING done so to this country, and this House?'
they will reply, 'Because they forsook their EVER-LIVING GOD Who brought their fathers out from the land of the Mitzeraim, and have addicted themselves to other gods, and worshipped them, and have served them; therefore the EVER-LIVING brought upon them all this suffering!'"

(B.C. 992). Solomon and Hiram of Tyre settle up Accounts.

After about twenty years during 10 which Solomon had built the two houses—the House of the EVER-LIVING, and the house of the king,— 11 Khiram, the king of Tzur, having supplied Solomon with cedar wood, and pine wood, and gold, and all that he wished, King Solomon sold to Khiram twelve towns in Galilee, 12 and Khiram came from Tzur to see the towns that Solomon had sold to him; but they did not please him, 13 so he exclaimed, "What towns these are that my brother has sold to me!" So they are called the "Land of Kabul"¹ to this day.

(B.C. 992.)

14 But Khiram paid to the king a hundred and twenty talents of gold,
 15 for that was the amount of the tax which he contributed to King Solomon towards building the House of the EVER-LIVING, and his own Palace, and the Fortress and Wall of Jerusalem, and the Court and Barracks, and Gazar.
 16 For Pharaoh King of the Mitzeraim had come up and captured Gazar, and burnt it with fire, and slaughtered the Cananites who occupied the town, and gave it as a present to 17 his daughter, Solomon's wife. But Solomon rebuilt Gazar and Beth-18 Khoran the lower, and Balath, and Thadmor in the Midland Desert, and all the cities for the collection of taxes that Solomon had, and the Chariot Barracks, and the Cavalry Barracks, and the Columns of Solomon,—which Columns he built in Jerusalem, and in Lebanon, and in every country where he governed.
 20 Solomon placed a tax, which continues to this day,² upon all the people who remained of the Amorites, and the Hitites, and the Perizites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites, the descendants of whom remained in the country, whom the children of Israel were not able to destroy. But upon the children of Israel Solomon did not lay it, for

¹ "Kabul," knots or twists.—F. F.

² V. 20. The remark that the tax laid by Solomon upon the Aborigines in the country existed at the date this history was written, proves it to have been composed BEFORE the date of the Assyrian and Babylonian Captivities, for these events abolished all his legislation. This is another proof of Isaiah's authorship of the whole of these histories inclusive from Joshua to the death of Hezekiah in II. Kings.—F. F.

they were soldiers, and his ministers, ²² and his Generals, and Colonels, and Commanders of the Chariots, and his Cavalry.

These were the Commanders of the ²³ Engineers, who were over the works of Solomon:

Fifty-five Superintendents of the people who did the works; which were,—

The Palace for Pharaoh's daughter, ²⁴ at the top of the City of David; which Palace he built for her, when he had built the fortress.

Solomon also offered three times ²⁵ a year burnt-offerings and thank-offerings upon the Altar that he built to the EVER-LIVING, and perfumes with them before the EVER-LIVING, after he had finished the House.

(About B.C. 1006.) Trade with Aufer began.

King Solomon also built ships at ²⁶ Atzion-Gabar, which is at Ailoth on the Red Sea, in the country of Edom; and Khiram sent his officers, ²⁷ men skilful in navigation, to sea with the officers of Solomon, who ²⁸ went to Aufer and collected from there four hundred and twenty talents of gold and brought it to King Solomon.

(B.C. 992—3.) Visit of the Queen of Sheba.

When the Queen of Sheba¹ heard ¹⁰ the report of Solomon's lordly fame, she came to try him with difficult problems, and arrived at Jerusalem ² with a very great troop bringing perfumes, and a large amount of gold, and precious stones, and went to Solomon and conversed with him ³ about all that was in her heart. There was nothing she proposed to the King that he did not explain to her. When the Queen of Sheba per- ⁴ ceived all the sciences of Solomon, and the House which he had built, and his dining-room, and the resi- ⁵ dences of his ministers, and the attendants serving him, and their uniforms, and the cup-bearers, and the offerings which he offered in the House of the EVER-LIVING, there

¹ The South. Undoubtedly Abyssinia and the East Coast of Africa down to the Cape of Good Hope.—F. F.

6 was no more spirit left in her, but she exclaimed to the king;—

"It was a truth that I heard in my country, about your affairs, and about your wisdom! But I did not trust the statements until I came, and my eyes saw it. And indeed I was not told of the half of the extent of your sciences,—for what I have heard is better than was reported to me. Your nobles are happy! Your ministers are happy, who always stand before you to listen to your wisdom! Your EVER-LIVING GOD should be blessed Who has granted to you to sit upon the throne of Israel! The LORD of Israel should be loved for ever, Who appointed you as king to do justice and right!"

10 She then gave the king one hundred and twenty talents of gold, and very many spices, and precious stones. There never again came so great a quantity of spices as the Queen of Sheba gave to King Solomon.

11 But however the ships of Khiram which brought gold from Aufer brought also from Aufer a very large quantity of almug wood¹ and precious stones, and the king made from the almug wood brackets for the house of the EVER-LIVING, and lutes for the palace of the king, and harps and guitars for the singers. Such almug trees were never again brought, nor have been seen to this day.

13 King Solomon also presented to the Queen of Sheba all she desired, or she asked for, beside what she was given direct from the hand of King Solomon. Then she turned and went to her own country, and passed over to it.

(B.C. 985.) Solomon's Wealth.

14 The weight of gold that came to Solomon in each year was six hundred and sixty-six talents of gold,² beside that produced by taxes on traders, and the import duties, and tribute from all the kingdoms of the west, and the Dependencies of the country. Solomon consequently made two hundred shields of beaten gold. (Six hundred of gold went to each shield.) And three hundred targets of beaten gold; (each contained three pounds weight of gold;) and the king put them in the Palace of the forest of Lebanon.

The king also made a great ivory throne, and plated it with refined gold. There were six steps to the throne, and a carriage head to the throne from behind it, with arms on both sides of the seat, and two lions standing beside them, with twelve stationed on the six steps, one upon each side. There was nothing made like them in all the kingdoms.

All the drinking cups of King Solomon were of gold, and all the furniture of his palace in Lebanon was of pure gold. None was of silver or brass in the days of Solomon, for the king's ships of Tarshish, from the king's ships of Tarshish, returned every three years. These ships of Tarshish brought gold, and silver, ivory, monkeys and peacocks.

Thus Solomon was greater than all the kings of the earth in wealth and wisdom, and all the earth sought the presence of Solomon to hear the learning that GOD had given to his intellect; and all of them brought tribute of articles of silver, and gold, and fabrics, and arms, and spices, and horses, and mules, imposed year by year. Solomon also accumulated chariots and horses, and possessed one thousand four hundred chariots, and twelve thousand cavalry, which he placed in cavalry barracks, and with the king in Jerusalem.

So the king made silver in Jerusalem like stones, and planted many cedars and sycamores in the lowlands.

The horses that Solomon had were brought from Egypt, and the collecting merchants were paid for them by the king according to contract. They brought up and fetched an Egyptian chariot for six hundred shekels of silver,¹ and a horse for one hundred and fifty,¹ and the same from all the ¹ Almug wood is sandal wood, called by the Arabians Kalmak—a product of India and Africa, and used in the East in our own day for the same purposes as Solomon put it to.—F. F.

² £13,646,350 sterling by weight and at £4 per oz., but in purchasing value then at least forty-fold what gold is now, that is, equal to £445,852,000 sterling.—F. F.

¹ Taking equivalent weights of silver at 5s. per oz. English, equal to £67 10s. for a chariot, and for each horse, £16 17s. Then, taking the value of a modern carriage horse at £90 sterling, the silver shekel of 2s. 4d. would be cf five times the purchasing power of our day

Chiefs of the Hitites, and from the Chiefs of Aram, who brought them to hand.

(B.C. 1000 to 970.) Solomon's Faults and Sins.

- 11 King Solomon, however, loved many foreign women, beside the daughter of Pharaoh;—Moabites, Amonites, Aramites, Zidonians,
- 2 Hitites,—of those nations whom the EVER-LIVING said to the children of Israel, "You shall not marry with them, and they shall not marry with you, for they will turn your hearts after their gods." Solomon descended
- 3 to love them, and had seven hundred princess wives, and three hundred plebeian wives, and when Solomon
- 4 became old his wifes turned his heart after strange gods, and his heart was not at peace with his EVER-LIVING GOD like the heart of his father
- 5 David.¹ Solomon consequently went after Ashteroth, the goddess of the Zidonians; and after the abominable
- 6 Milkom, of the Amonites. Thus Solomon did wrong in the sight of the (probably it was much more), which would make a chariot and pair of horses cost Solomon:—

Chariot	...	=	£337	10	0
Two Horses		=	176	16	0
			£514	6	0

—F. F.

1 It must not be supposed that all the women here enumerated were "wives" of Solomon in our English sense. The actual Hebrew is "women," that is, they were the attendants and female officials of the Royal Household, such as we call Maids of Honour, Ladies of the Bedchamber, Housemaids, &c., &c. The Princesses would be Resident Representatives, or Hostages, of the numerous Tribes and subsidiary Kings and Chiefs who were under the control and suzerainty of the Hebrew Empire, residing at the Court as agents or pledges for the good behaviour of their relatives. The absurd ideas of the Monastic Commentators, repeated by our modern ones, that all these women about the Palaces of Solomon were physically his "wives"—a meaning the Hebrew word does not bear—has led to the wildest follies and libels upon this great Monarch, Statesman, and Philosopher. It is time those follies were swept away. Luther pointed out nearly four hundred years ago the same facts as I now do, but human folly and a wicked desire to vilify a Biblical Statesman and Teacher has incited our Commentators, and especially our pretended Critics, to repeat the libels of their monkish predecessors, in spite of the great Reformer's common-sense refutation of them.—F. F.

EVER-LIVING and did not walk after the EVER-LIVING like David his father.

Solomon also built towers to the 7 abominable Kemosh of Moab, on the hill opposite to Jerusalem, and to abominable Molek, of the Amonites, and did the same for all his foreign 8 wives, with censers and altars for their gods. Therefore the EVER- 9 LIVING was displeased with Solomon, for his heart declined from the EVER- LIVING GOD of Israel Who had appeared to him often, and had 10 instructed him upon this matter, never to follow after other gods;—but he regarded not what the EVER- LIVING had commanded him.

The EVER-LIVING consequently 11 demanded of Solomon, "Say, what has been done to you, that you have not regarded My Covenant, and My Institutions, as I commanded you? I will tear away the kingship from you, and give it to your servant! How- 12 ever, I will not do this in your days, because of David your father. I will tear it from the hand of your son! Yet I will not tear the whole king- 13 ship. I will give one tribe to your son, for the sake of David My servant, and for the sake of Jerusalem which I have chosen."

(About B.C. 984.) Banditti appear in Edom.

The EVER-LIVING, however, raised 14 up an enemy to Solomon, Hadad the Edomite, who was of the Royal race of Edom, and when David invaded 15 Edom at Aloth, J'oab, the commander of the army, buried the slain, and executed all the males of the king of Edom, for J'oab occupied six months 16 there with the force of Israel until they destroyed all the male life of (the king¹ of) Edom. But Hadad escaped. 17 with some Edomite nobles, officers of his father, and went to the Mitzeraim. But Hadad was a little child. 18 And they went up from Midian, and came to Paran, and collected men to themselves from Paran, and went to Mitzer, to Pharaoh, king of the Mitzeraim, who gave him a house and maintenance, and said to him, "The land is open 19 to you." Hadad also found great 19

1 ("The King of Edom") is to be understood, the name of the country representing in Hebrew and Old English the Monarch See Shakespeare.—F. F.

favour in the sight of Pharaoh, and he gave him as a wife the sister of his own wife, the sister of Thakhfenis of Gabirah; and the sister of Thakhfenis bore him Genubah, his son, whom Thakhfenis reared in the palace of Pharaoh, so that Genubah was in the circle of Pharaoh's palace, amongst the children of Pharaoh.

21 When Hadad heard in Egypt that David was asleep with his fathers and that Joab the Commander of his army was dead, Hadad said to Pharaoh, "Release me, and I will go to my own country."

22 But Pharaoh asked, "For what reason? You came to me;—then why should you seek to go to your country?"

He, however, replied, "No! Yet releasing, let me go."

(B.C. 980.) Handitti appear in Aram.

23 GOD also raised him an enemy in Rezan-ben-Alida who had fled from Hadadazer, king of Tzobah,¹ his prince, and collected men to himself, and became General of a troop of mercenaries with David. They afterwards went to Damascus and settled there, and he ruled in Damascus.

25 But he was an enemy to Israel in the time of Solomon beside the mischief of Hadad,—and he was an annoyance to Israel, and reigned in Aram.

(About B.C. 980.) History of Jerabam, son of Nebat.

26 Jerabam - ben - Nebat, also, an Afrathite, of Tzarad, whose mother's name was Tzeruah, wife of Almanah an officer of Solomon, rose to favour with the king. And the reason why he rose to favour with King Solomon, was, when he was building the fortresses around the extent of the City of David, his father, the man Jerabam was energetic, and so Solomon noticed the youth, for he did the work well, and he appointed him over all the builders of the house of Joseph.

29 But on one occasion when Jerabam was going out of Jerusalem, Akhiah the Reciter, the Shilonite, met him in the road, when he was clothed in a new robe, and both were alone in the open country, where Akhiah seized the new robe which was upon him, and tore it into twelve pieces, and exclaimed to Jerabam,

"You take ten pieces! for thus says the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel, 'I will tear the kingship from the hand of Solomon, and I will give to you ten of the tribes! But the one tribe of Judah to him, because of My servant David, and because of Jerusalem the city I have chosen from all the tribes of Israel,—because he has forsaken Me, and worshipped Ashtaroth, the goddess of Zidon, and Kemosh the god of Moab, and Milkom the god of Beni-Amon, and has not walked in My paths to do right in My sight, according to My Institutions and Decrees, like his father David. I will not, however, take all the kingship from his hand, he shall remain supreme all the time of his life, because of David My servant, whom I chose, who regarded My commands and My institutions. Yet I shall take the kingship from the hand of his son, and give you the ten tribes. But to his son I shall give one tribe, so that there may be a light to David My servant at all times before Me in Jerusalem, the city which I have chosen to Myself to fix My Name there. Thus I will take you, and you shall reign in all that your soul desires, and you shall be king over Israel. And then if you listen to all I command you, and walk in My way, and do right in My sight, by preserving My Institutions and Commandments, as David My servant did, I will be with you and build you a permanent House, as I have built for David, and I will give Israel to you. And I depress the race of David because of this—but not for all time!'"

Solomon consequently sought to kill Jerabam, so Jerabam arose and fled to Mitzer to Shishak, king of the Miteraim, and continued in Mitzer until the death of Solomon.

(B.C. 975.) Death of Solomon.

As to the rest of the affairs of Solomon, and all that he did, and his wisdom, are they not written in the history of the events of Solomon?

But the time that Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over Israel was forty years. Then Solomon slept with his fathers, and was buried in the city of his father David, and Rekhabam his son reigned in his place.

¹ The Delta of the Euphrates.—F. F.

Accession of Rehoboam, and his Folly.

12 But Rehobam went to Shekem, for the Parliament of Israel came to elect him king.

(B.C. 975.) Jerabam called from Egypt.

2 But Jerabam-ben-Nebat heard of it while still in Mitzer, where he had fled from before King Solomon,—for 3 Jerabam had settled in Mitzer,—so they sent an invitation to Jerabam from all the Parliament of Israel.

They then addressed Rehobam, saying,

4 "Your father was heavy upon us, but you can now lighten the load of your father from your subjects, and lift off from us the load that he laid upon us, and we will be your subjects."

5 But he replied to them, "Go away for three days. Then return to me." So the people went.

6 King Rehobam then consulted the advisers who had stood in the presence of his father Solomon during his life, asking, "What answer do you advise me to return to these people?"

7 And they replied to him, saying, "If you will be a subject of these people to-day, and answer and speak fair words to them, then they will be your subjects at all times."

8 However he rejected the advice of the old men, which they had advised, and consulted the lads who had grown up with him, who stood before him, and asked them; "What answer do you advise that I shall return to these people who have addressed me, saying, 'Lift from off us what your father laid on?'"

10 And the lads who had grown up with him advised him saying, "Reply thus to those people, who addressed you saying, 'Your father loaded us, but you take it off.' Say this to them, 'My little finger is thicker 11 than my father's loins! So I will put a heavy yoke on you,—for I will add to the yoke of my father.—He flogged you with whips!—but I will flog you with scorpions!'"

(B.C. 975.) The Parliament of Israel Rebel and elect Jerabam King.

12 But Jerabam himself came, and all the Parliament with Jerabam on the third day, as the king had appointed, when he said, "Return to me on the third day," and the king answered 13 the people harshly, and refused the counsels of the old men which they advised, but addressed them as the 14 lads advised him, and said, "My father put a load on you! but I will add another to it! My father flogged you with whips, but I will flog you with scorpions."

Thus the king did not listen to the 15 people, for the EVER-LIVING caused the people to revolt for the purpose of establishing the word that the EVER-LIVING spoke by the means of Akhiah, the Shilonite, to Jerabam-ben-Nebat.

Then all Israel saw that the king 16 would not listen to them, consequently the people returned the king word to say, "What is our share in David? For we have no inheritance from the Son of Jessai! To your tents, Israel! Now look to your own house, David!"

And-Israel went to its tents.

Some Israelites, however, continued to reside in Judah and Rehobam reigned over them.

King Rehobam, however, sent 18 Adoram who was over the conscription, but the Parliament of Israel rose against him and stoned him to death, so King Rehobam made haste to mount his carriage and to fly to Jerusalem.

Thus Israel revolted from the 19 House of David until this day, for when all Israel heard that Jerabam had returned, they sent and invited him to the Parliament, and they elected him king over all Israel;—there were none left afterwards to the House of David except the tribe of Judah alone.

When Rehobam arrived at Jerusalem, he convoked the forces of the House of Judah, and the tribe of Benjamin, a hundred and eighty thousand soldiers, trained for war,¹ to fight with the House of Israel, to regain the kingship to Rehobam the son of Solomon.

1 V. 21. The army that was thus raised out of two Tribes shows how the population had increased under the security of David and Solomon's reigns, and the commercial prosperity following the creation of a great Empire. Solomon had noted it and wrote "When wealth increases the consumers increase." We see it in Britain and America.—F. F.

- 22 But the word of GOD came to Shemaiah, a Man of GOD, to say, 23 "Speak to Rekhavam-ben-Solomon, king of Judah, and to all the House of Judah and Benjamin, and the rest of the People, saying,— 24 "'Thus says the LORD! You shall not go up, and shall not war against your brothers, the children of Israel. Let each return to his home, for this event has come from Me!'" And they listened to the word of the EVER-LIVING, and turned back from the march, as the EVER-LIVING commanded.
 25 Rekhavam consequently built Shikem in Mount Ephraim, and resided there, and advanced from there and built Phanaul.

(B.C. 974—3.) Jerabam revives Idolatry.

- 26 Then Jerabam reflected "Now the kingship will return to the House of David, if these people go up to offer sacrifices in the House of the EVER-LIVING at Jerusalem; for the heart of these people will turn to their Prince,—to Rekhavam king of Judah." So the king consulted, and made two golden calves, and said to them, "It is too much for you to go up to Jerusalem. These are your gods, Israel! who brought you up out of the land of the Mitzeraim." He therefore placed the one in Bethel, and the other he placed in Dan. But this thing was a sin, and the people went before the one to Dan. He also made the House of Pillars, and made priests from the mass of the people who were not of the descendants of Levi. Jerabam, besides, made a festival in the eighth month, on the fifteenth day of the month, like the feast that was to the EVER-LIVING, and went up to sacrifice to the calves which he had made, and fixed in Bethel, with the priests of the columns he had made, and offered upon the altar that he had constructed in Bethel, on the fifteenth day of the eighth month, as his heart had decided to make a festival for the children of Israel, and he offered incense on the altar.

(B.C. 973.) The Consequent Curse upon Him.

- 18 When suddenly a Man of GOD came from Judah with a message from the EVER-LIVING to Bethel whilst Jerabam stood at the altar with the incense, and the Messenger of the EVER-LIVING approached to the altar, and said;—

"Altar! Altar! Thus says the 2 EVER-LIVING! Behold a Son shall be born to the House of David, his name Josiah, and he will offer upon you the Priests of the Columns who burn incense upon you; and the bones of men upon you!" 3 He also gave a proof of it at the same time, saying, "This is the proof that the EVER-LIVING has commanded. Look! The altar splits, and scatters the fire that is upon it!"

But when the king heard the Mes- 4 sage of the Man of GOD which he proclaimed against the altar at Bethel,—Jerabam extended his hand from the altar, exclaiming, "Seize him!" and his hand remained as he extended it from him, that he was not able to return it to himself. The altar also split and poured out 5 the coals from the altar, according to the proof which the Man of GOD had given with the message of the EVER-LIVING.

The king consequently begged, 6 and said to the Man of GOD, "Entreat, now, the presence of your GOD, and pray on my behalf that He would restore my hand to me."

So the Man of GOD entreated the presence of the EVER-LIVING, and He restored the king's hand to him, and it became as formerly.

Then the king said to the Man of 7 GOD, "Come with me to the Palace, and refresh yourself, and I will give you a present."

But the Man of GOD replied to the 8 king, "If you would give me the half of your Palace, I would not go with you, and I would not eat food, and I would not drink water in this place; for the message of the EVER- 9 LIVING commanded me thus, saying, 'Return not by the road you go.'"

He accordingly returned by an- 10 other road, and did not return by the road he came upon to Bethel.

But there was an old Preacher 11 residing at Bethel, whose sons came and related to him the whole of these facts, which the Man of GOD had effected on that day in Bethel;—the messages which he had delivered to the king—they reported them to their father, when their father asked them, "Can you tell what road he went?"

12 His sons happened to have seen the way the Man of GOD who came from Judah went. He consequently 13 said to his sons, "Saddle my ass." And they saddled the ass, and he

14 mounted it, and went after the Man of GOD, and found him sitting under an oak, and said to him, "Are you the Man of GOD who came from Judah?" And he answered "I am."

15 Then he said to him, "Come with me to my house and eat bread."

16 But he replied, "I am not able to turn back with you, or to go with you to eat bread; nor can I drink

17 water with you, in this place, for the Message of the EVER-LIVING commanded me, 'You shall not eat food, nor drink water, nor even turn back to go by the road on which you came to it.'"

18 But he replied, "I also am a Preacher like yourself, and a Divine Messenger spoke to me by command of the EVER-LIVING, to say, 'Take him back with you to your house, and let him eat food and drink water.'" But he lied to him.

19 He consequently returned with him and ate bread in his house,

20 and drank water,—and they both sat at the table, when the word of the EVER-LIVING came to the Preacher,

21 with whom he had returned, and he exclaimed to the Man of GOD who came from Judah, "Thus says the EVER-LIVING, 'Alas! for your disobeying the direction of the EVER-LIVING! and not regarding the command which your EVER-LIVING

22 GOD commanded you! For you have eaten food, and drunk water in the place where He commanded you not to eat bread or drink water! —Your body shall never go to the tomb of your fathers.'"

23 After he had eaten food, and after he had drunk, however, he saddled him the ass to go to where he had

24 returned back;—and he went,—but a lion met him in the road, and killed him! and his body was stretched on the road, and the ass stood by one side, and the lion stood

25 at the other side of the body, and men happened to come and see the body stretched on the road, and the lion standing at the side of the body, and they came and reported it in the Village in which the old Preacher dwelt. And the Preacher, who had 26 turned him from the path, heard it, and exclaimed "It is the Man of GOD who disobeyed the direction of the EVER-LIVING, so the LORD has given him to the lion, who has broken and killed him, according to the word which the EVER-LIVING spoke to him."

Then he addressed his sons, saying, 27 "Saddle me the ass," and they saddled it, and he went and found 28 the body stretched on the road, with the ass and the lion standing at the side of the body. The lion had not eaten the body, nor injured the ass!

So the Preacher lifted up the body 29 of the Man of GOD, and laid it on the ass, and brought it back, and came to the village of the old Preacher, to mourn and to bury it. So he laid the 30 corpse in his own tomb, and mourned over it as if it were his brother. And after he had buried it, he said 31 to his sons, "When I die you must bury me in the tomb where the Man of GOD is buried; at the side of his bones place my bones; for it was 32 the EVER-LIVING commanded what he proclaimed as a Message of the EVER-LIVING against the altar that is in Bethel, and against all the Temples of Shomeron which are in the town of Shomeron."

Jerabam refuses to Repent.

After this message Jerabam did not, 33 however, return from his evil way, but went and made priests from the mass of the people for the Columns his hand delighted to make, and they became priests of the Columns. This matter was the sin of the House 34 of Jerabam, which destroyed and wasted it from the face of the earth.

(B.C. 956.) Jerabam's Son Dies.

Some time after Abiah, the son of 14 Jerabam was sick, and Jerabam said 2 to his wife, "Rise up now and disguise yourself, so that they may not know that you are the wife of Jerabam, and go to Shiloh where Akhiah the Reciter is,—he who announced to me to reign over this people,—and take 3 with you ten loaves of bread, and plum cakes, and a jar of honey, and go to him. He will inform you what will happen to the lad."

Jerabam's wife accordingly did so, 4 and rose and went to Shiloh and came to the house of Akhiah. Now Akhiah could not see, for his eyes were closed by age.

- 5 But the EVER-LIVING said to Akhiah, "The wife of Jerabam has come to inquire about her son from you,—for he is sick,—answer her so and so,—for when she arrives she will be like a stranger." So when Akhiah heard the sound of her steps coming to the door he said,
 "Come in, wife of Jerabam! Why make yourself thus like a stranger? However, I will explain your difficulty.
- 7 Go, and say to Jerabam, 'Thus asks the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel!—Answer Him.—When I raised you from among the People, and appointed you a leader over My People Israel, and tore the kingship from the house of David, and gave it to you,—when you were nothing except an officer of David, who kept My Commands, who walked after Me with all his heart, doing what was right in My sight,—whilst you have done wrong in everything which has come before you; and you have gone and made for yourself other gods, and metal images to insult Me,—but have I cast Me behind your back. Therefore I will bring evil on the House of Jerabam, and I will cut off from Jerabam the pisser against the private wall, and he shall be forsaken in Israel,—and I will burn the House of Jerabam as dung is burnt to destroy it. The dogs shall eat the dead of Jerabam in the city, and the birds of the sky shall eat them in the fields,—for the EVER-LIVING has said it.'
- 12 But you! Arise! Go to your home,—while your feet go to the city the lad shall die. But all Israel shall moura for him, and bury him. He alone of Jerabam shall come to the tomb, because there was found in him something good by the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel among those of the house of Jerabam. And the EVER-LIVING will raise up for himself a king over Israel who will destroy the House of Jerabam from this day. But what? Even now!
- 15 Yes! the EVER-LIVING strikes Israel as a reed is shaken by the waters, and will pull Israel up from this beautiful country which He gave to their fathers, and scatter them beyond the River, because they have made Shrines¹ to insult the EVER-LIVING.

¹ V. 15. These "Shrines" were in reality brothels for prostitutes, erected in heathen

And He will make fugitives of Israel 16 for the sin of Jerabam that he sinned, and which he induced all Israel to sin!"

Then the wife of Jerabam arose 17 and departed, and came to Thirtzath, but when she came to the threshold of the house, the youth died. And 18 they buried him, and all Israel mourned for him, as the EVER-LIVING commanded when He spoke by the means of Akhiah the Reciter, His servant.

The rest of the doings of Jerabam, 19 how he warred, and how he reigned, they are written in the records of the events of the times of the kings of Israel. But the period that Jerabam 20 reigned was twenty-two years, when he slept with his fathers, and Nadab his son succeeded him.

(B.C. 975.) History of Rehobam.

Rekhabam, the son of Solomon, 21 however, reigned in Judah. Rekhabam was forty-one years of age when elected king, and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city that the EVER-LIVING has chosen from all the tribes of Israel to place His Name in, and his mother's name was Namah an Amonitess.

But Judah did wrong in the sight of 22 the EVER-LIVING, and offended him more than all their ancestors with the sins that they sinned; for they also 23 built for themselves Columns, and Pillars, and Shrines, on every high hill, and under every leafy tree. And 24 there were Sodomites in the country; and they practised all the abominations of the heathen whom the EVER-LIVING had driven out before the children of Israel. Consequently in 25 the fifteenth year of the reign of Rekhabam, Shishak, King of the Mitzeraim, advanced against Jerusalem, and took the treasures of the 26 House of the EVER-LIVING, and the treasures of the King's palace, all that was seizable, with all the golden shields that Solomon had made.

But King Rekhabam made shields of 27 brass in their place, and put them into the hands of the generals of the infantry who kept guard at the door of the Palace. When the king came 28 temples to the Goddess of Lust, as they are in India to this day. Hence the constant denunciation of them in the Sacred Scriptures as the greatest of sins and depravities.—F. F.

to the House of the EVER-LIVING the infantry bore them, and afterwards bore them to the arsenal of the infantry.

- 29 As to the other affairs of Rekh-bam, and all he did, they are recorded in the record of events in the days of 30 the kings of Judah, for there was war between Rekhaham and Jerabam all their time.
- 31 At last Rekhaham slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the City of David. His mother's name was Namahan Amonitess, and King Abiam his son reigned after him.

(B.C. 958.) The Reign of Abiam in Judah.

- 15 Thus in the eighteenth year of King Jerabam-ben-Nebat, Abiam
2 began to reign in Judah. He reigned three years in Jerusalem, and his mother's name was Makah, the 3 daughter of Abishalom, and he went into all the sins that his father did before him, and his heart was not at peace with his EVER-LIVING GOD like 4 his ancestor David. However, because of David the EVER-LIVING his GOD gave him a light in Jerusalem by raising his sons after him and fixing 5 them in Jerusalem; since David did right in the sight of the EVER-LIVING, and did not turn from anything he was commanded all the time of his life, except in the affair of Uriah the Hitite.
- 6 There was also war between Abiam¹ and Jerabam all the time of his life.
- 7 But the rest of the affairs of Abiam, and all that he did, are written in the record of the events of the days of the kings of Judah, for there was war between Abiam and Jerabam.
- 8 At last Abiam slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the City of David, and Asa his brother² reigned in his stead.

(B.C. 955.) Asa Reigns over Judah.

- 9 In the twenty-second year of Jerabam King of Israel, Asa began to 10 reign over Judah, and he reigned forty-one years in Jerusalem, and his

¹ V. 6. This should clearly be "Abiam." The "Rekhaham" of the Hebrew text is an error of transcription.—F. F.

² V. 8. The "son" of the Hebrew text should be "brother," but for a transcriber's error.—F. F.

mother's name was Makah, the daughter of Abishalom. Asa, however, did right in the sight of the EVER-LIVING, like David his ancestor, and expelled the Sodomites from the 12 country, and threw down the idols that his father and his mother 13 Makah had made, whom he removed from her station, because she had made horrible idols for a shrine; but Asa pulled down the goddesses and burnt them by the brook Kidron.
He did not, however, overturn the 14 Columns; yet the heart of Asa was at peace with the EVER-LIVING all his days. He also brought the orna-15 ments of his father, and adorned the House of the EVER-LIVING with their silver and gold and furniture.

There was war, however, between 16 Asa and Basha King of Israel all their time, and Basha king of Israel, 17 advanced into Judah and built Ramah so as not to allow an inlet or outlet to Asa king of Judah.

(B.C. 951.)

Consequently Asa took all the 18 silver and gold that remained in the treasuries of the House of the EVER-LIVING, and in the treasuries of the King's palace, and put them into the hands of his ministers whom King Asa sent to Ben-Hadad, Ben-Tabimon, Ben-Kazioh, King of Aram, who resided in Damascus, to say,
"Let there be a treaty between you 19 and I, as between my father and yours; for I have sent to you a present of silver and gold to go and break your alliance with Basha king of Israel, and to bring you to mine."

Ben-Hadad therefore listened to 20 King Asa, and sent the generals of his forces against the cities of Israel, and captured Aion, and Dan, and Beth-Makah of the meadows, and all Kineroth, with all the country of Nafthali. And when Basha heard of it he abandoned Ramah and occupied 21 Thirtzah. Then King Asa pro-22 claimed it to all Judah,—none were exempt—and they carried away the stones and the timber from Ramah with which Basha was building, and King Asa built with them, Neba of Benjamin, and Mitzpah.

(B.C. 914.)

As to the rest of the doings of Asa 23 —his courage, and all that he accomplished, and the towns that he built

—they are recorded in the history of the period of the kings of Judah. When he grew old he suffered from gout. Then Asa slept with his fathers, and was buried in the City of David, and instead of him J'hoshafat his son reigned.

(B.C. 954.) Nadab Reigns over Israel.

25 Nadab, the son of Jerabam, began to reign over Israel in the seventh year of Asa king of Judah, and he 26 reigned over Israel two years. He did wrong in the eyes of the EVER-LIVING, walking in the ways of his father, and sinned, as he caused 27 Israel to sin. Then Basha-ben-Akhiah of the House of Issakar conspired against him; and Basha murdered him at Gibethon, belonging to Philistia, while Nadab and the army of Israel were besieging Gibethon. So he killed him in the third year of Asa king of Judah; and 28 reigned after him; and when he was elected he murdered all the House of Jerabam. He left none breathing to Jerabam, until he had destroyed him, as the EVER-LIVING said, when He spoke by the means of His servant 30 Akhiah the Shilonite, because of the sin that he caused Israel to sin, by the provocation with which they provoked the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel.

31 As for the other affairs of Nadab, and all that he did, they are recorded in the history of events in the times of 32 the kings of Israel. There was, however, war between Asa and Basha king of Israel all their time.

(About B.C. 953.) Basha-ben-Akhiah Reigns over Israel.

33 In the third year of Asa king of Judah, Basha-ben-Akhiah began to reign over all Israel in Thirtzah for 34 fourteen years. But he did wrong in the sight of the EVER-LIVING, walking in the ways of Jerabam, and in the sins he caused Israel to sin.

(B.C. 930.)

16 Consequently the word of the EVER-LIVING came to Jehua-ben-Khanain, against Basha, to say: 2 "Why, since I raised you from the dust, and made you a leader over My People Israel, do you walk in the way of Jerabam, and make My people Israel sin, to offend Me by their sin? I am angry with Basha and with his 3 House, and I will make your house like the House of Jerabam-ben-Nebat. Whoever of Basha dies in 4 this city, the dogs shall eat; and the birds of the skies shall eat whoever dies of his in the fields!"

But the other affairs of Basha, and 5 what he did, and his buildings, those are written in the history of events of the times of the kings of Israel. Basha, however, slept with his fathers, 6 and was buried in Thirtzah, and Alah his son reigned after him. But there 7 also came by means of Jehua-ben-Khanain the message from the EVER-LIVING against Basha and his House, and against all the wrong that he did in the sight of the EVER-LIVING, by insulting him with his manufactured idols;—it denounced him for being like the House of Jerabam,—and because he assailed it.

(B.C. 930.) Alah-ben-Basha Reigns over Israel.

In the sixteenth year of Asa king of 8 Judah, Alah-ben-Basha began to reign over Israel in Thirtzah for two years.

(B.C. 928.) Zimri Conspires to Murder Alah.

Then his officer Zimri, Commander 9 of the Chariot Barracks, conspired against him, while he was at Thirtzah, at a drinking bout, at the house of Artza, who was superintendent of his palace in Thirtzah. There 10 Zimri came and assailed, and killed him, in the seventeenth year of Asa, king of Judah, and reigned in his stead. When he was elected king, 11 and had settled himself on his throne, he killed the whole family of Basha. He did not leave of him a male child, or a relative of his, or a friend. Thus Zimri destroyed the whole 12 family of Basha, according to the message of the EVER-LIVING that he spoke to Basha, by means of Jehua the Reciter, because of all the sins of 13 Basha, and the sins of Alah his son, that they sinned, and that they made Israel to sin, to provoke the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel to afflict them.

As to the remainder of the affairs 14 of Alah, and all that he did, they are written in the history of the events of the times of the kings of Israel.

(B.C. 928.)

- 15 In the eighteenth year of Asa, king of Judah, Zimri began to reign for seven days in Thirtzah. The army was encamped at the time at Gibethon of Philistia. The army in the camp heard the report, "Zimri has conspired, and assailed the king, and has made himself king of all Israel,"—the Commander of the army of Israel at the Camp was Gomri; so Gomri, and the forces of Israel with him, went up from Gibethon and besieged Thirtzah.
- 16 But when Zimri saw that the city was stormed, he went to Armon, the palace of the king, and burnt himself with the king's palace, and died,
- 17 because of the sins that he sinned in doing wrong in the sight of the EVER-LIVING, by walking in the way of Jerabam, and the sins he committed which made Israel sin.
- 18 For the rest of the acts of Zimri and the conspiracy that he conspired, they are recorded in the history of the events of the times of the kings of Israel.

(B.C. 928 to 925.) Civil War in Israel.

- 21 Then the forces of Israel divided. Half of the forces went after Thibni-ben-Ginath to make him king, and
- 22 half after Gomri. But the force that followed Gomri was stronger than the force that followed Thibni-ben-Ginath, so Thibni was killed, and Gomri made himself king.

(B.C. 925.) Gomri Reigns in Israel.

- 23 In the twenty-first year of Asa, king of Judah, Gomri began to reign over Israel for twelve years. He
- 24 reigned six years in Thirtzah, and then he bought Mount Shomeron from Shomer, for two talents of silver, and built on the hill, and called the name of the city which he had built, after the name of Shomer, the owner of the hill,—Shomeron.¹
- 25 Gomri, however, did wrong in the sight of the EVER-LIVING,—and wrong greater than all who were
- 26 before him, and walked completely in the path of Jerabam, the son of Nebat, and in his sins, that he caused Israel to sin, to provoke the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel to destroy them.

For the rest of the affairs of Gomri — what he did, and the great things that he accomplished — they are written in the history of events of the days of the kings of Israel. Then Gomri slept with his fathers, and was buried in Shomeron, and Akhab his son reigned in his stead.

(B.C. 918.) Akhab Reigns in Israel.—History of Jezebel.

And Akhab-ben-Gomri began to reign over Israel in the thirty-eighth year of Asa king of Judah, and Akhab-ben-Gomri reigned over Israel in Shomeron twenty-two years. But Akhab-ben-Gomri did wrong in the sight of the EVER-LIVING, more than all before him. For it was little to him to walk in the sins of Jerabam-ben-Nabat, for he took as a wife Aisabel the daughter of Athbal, king of the Zidonians, and went and served Bal, and worshipped him. He also raised an Altar to Bal, in the Temple of Bal which he built in Shomeron.

Akhab besides made shrines, and added to the insults to the EVER-LIVING, the GOD of Israel, beyond all the kings of Israel that were before him. In his day Jal built Beth-Jal,—that is Jerikho:—by Abiram his eldest son he laid the foundations, and by Shezib, his youngest, he set up its gates, as the EVER-LIVING announced, when he spoke by the means of Joshua-ben-Nun.

(About B.C. 910.) Life of Elijah the Thishbite.—The Tragedy of Israel.

But Elijah the Thishbite, from Thishbi in Gilad, said to Akhab, "By the life of the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel, before whom I stand, there shall not be for these years dew or rain, except my mouth demands it!"

Then the Message of the EVER-LIVING came to him to say:—"Go from here, and proceed to the East, and hide yourself near the brook Kerith, which runs into the Jordan, and the brook will give you drink, 4 and I will instruct the Arabs¹ to supply you with food there."

¹ Turned by the Greek translators into "Samarita," and so called in the Old Versions, made from a Latin translation of the Greek one.—F.F.

- 5 So he went and did as the EVER-LIVING said, and settled near the brook Kerith, which runs into the 6 Jordan, and the Arabs brought him bread and meat in the morning, and bread and meat in the evening, but 7 he drank from the brook. After a time, however, the brook dried up, for there were no showers in the land.
8 Then the message of the EVER-LIVING came to him, saying, "Arise! Go to Zarfathah, which belongs to Zidon, and stay there; because I have instructed a widow-woman there to provide for you."

(B.C. 907.) Elijah and the Widow of Zarfathah.

- 10 He therefore arose and went to Zarfathah and arrived at the neighbourhood of the city, and there saw a widow-woman gathering sticks, and he spoke to her and said, "Bring me, I pray, a little water in a cup, and let me drink."
11 And she went to fetch it, when he called after her, to say, "Bring me, I beg, a mouthful of bread in your hand."
12 When she replied, "By the life of your EVER-LIVING GOD, there is nothing in the house with me, except a handful of meal in a barrel, and a little oil in a cruise, and I was gathering a few sticks, and was going to bake it for myself and my son; and to eat it,—and die!"
13 But Elijah answered her, "Fear not! Go and make as you have said.—Yet also make me from it a little cake first, and bring it to me; then go and make for your son afterwards, for thus says the EVER-LIVING, the GOD of Israel, 'The barrel of meal shall not be spent, and the cruise of oil not fail, until the time the EVER-LIVING gives rain upon the surface of the ground.'"
15 She accordingly went and did as Elijah told her; and she and her family ate again, and again, from 16 that period. The barrel of meal was not spent, and the cruise of oil did not fail, according to the word of the EVER-LIVING that He spoke by means of Elijah.

The Widow's Son becomes ill.

It was after these events that the 17 son of the woman, mistress of the house, became ill, and his illness was very severe, so that there was no breath left in him. Then she said to 18 Elijah, "Man of GOD, why have you come to me to bring my failings to remembrance, and to kill my son?"

But Elijah replied, "Give me your 19 son." And she brought him in her arms, and he carried him up to the chamber where he lodged, and laid him upon his own bed, and called 20 to the EVER-LIVING, and said, "EVER-LIVING GOD, will You also bring suffering upon the widow with whom I stay, and kill her son?"

Then he bent over the lad three 21 times, and called upon the EVER-LIVING, and said, "EVER-LIVING GOD, restore, I beg, the soul of this lad to his breast!" And the EVER- 22 LIVING listened to the voice of Elijah, and restored the soul of the lad to his breast, and he was alive. Then 23 Elijah took the lad and descended from the chamber to the house, and gave him to his mother. Elijah then said, "See! Your son is alive!" When the woman replied to Elijah, 24 "Now, by this I know that you are a Man of GOD, and that the EVER-LIVING speaks by your mouth."

(B.C. 906.) Elijah ordered to meet Ahab.

When many days had passed, the 18 message of the EVER-LIVING came to Elijah in the third year to say, "Go, see Akhab; when I will give rain on the face of the ground." He went therefore to see Akhab. 2

He Meets Obadiah on the Way.

The famine was by now terrible in Shomeron; and Akhab had summoned 3 Abadiah who was over his palace, (although Abadiah revered the EVER-LIVING greatly, and when 4 Aisabel cut off the Preachers of the EVER-LIVING, Abadiah took a hundred Preachers and hid them by fifty in a cave and supplied them with bread and water), and Akhab 5 said to Abadiah, "Go through the country to all the springs of water ¹The word עַרְבִים, Arabim, was erroneously translated "ravens" by the Greek versioners, and the blunder, as usual, has been repeated since. It means Arabs, as I have translated in my text.—F. F.

and to all the brooks. Perhaps we may find verdure that may keep the horses and mules alive, and so not be deprived of cattle." They consequently divided the country between them for exploration. Akhab went one way by himself, and Abadiah went another way by himself; and while Abadiah was on his road Eliah approached him, when he dismounted and fell on his face, and exclaimed, "Are you here, my lord, Eliah?"

8 And he replied, "I am! Go, and tell your Prince, 'Eliah is here!'"

9 But he answered, "How have I offended you,—that you should put your servant into the hand of Akhab to kill me? By the life of your EVER-LIVING GOD! there is not a tribe or district where my Prince has not sent to seek you. When they said, 'He is not residing in this district, or this tribe,' then he asked an oath from the district or tribe that you could not be found there: and now you say to me, 'Go! Tell your Prince Eliah is here!' But it may be, whilst I am going from you to my Prince that the Spirit of the EVER-LIVING will carry you to—I know not where! And I having gone to inform Akhab, and he not finding you, will kill me;—yet your servant has revered the EVER-LIVING from my youth. Has it not been related to my Master what I did when Aisabel murdered the Preachers of the EVER-LIVING; how I hid a hundred of the EVER-LIVING'S Preachers by fifties in caves, and provided them with bread and water? Yet now you say to me 'Go! Tell your Prince Eliah is here!'—when he will kill me."

15 Eliah, however, answered him, "By the life of the EVER-LIVING POWER, before whose face I stand, I will see him now!"

16 Then Abadiah went to find Akhab and inform him, and Akhab came to find Eliah, and when Akhab met Eliah, Akhab said to him, "Is this the troubler of Israel?"

18 But he replied, "I do not trouble Israel! but yourself and your father's house, by forsaking the commands of the EVER-LIVING, and walking after Balim.—Now, however, collect to me all Israel at Mount Karmel, with four hundred and fifty Preachers of Bal, and the four hundred of the Preachers of the Shrines who dine at the table of Aisabel."

(B.C. 906.) The Priests of Bal at Mount Karmel.

Akhab in consequence sent to all 20 Israel and collected the Preachers upon Mount Karmel, where Eliah 21 came to the people and asked, "For how long will you swing between two parties? If the EVER-LIVING is GOD,—follow Him. But if Bal,—follow him." But the people did not answer a word.

Eliah consequently said to the 22 People; "Separate the Preachers of the EVER-LIVING from the four hundred and fifty Preachers of Bal, and 23 give us two bullocks, and let them choose one bullock for themselves, and cut it up, and place it upon wood, but put no fire to it; and I will offer the other bullock and lay it upon wood, but put no fire to it. Then I 24 will call upon the name of the EVER-LIVING;—and HE is the GOD Who answers by fire:—HE is the GOD."

And all the people replied, "It is a 25 good idea."

Eliah then said to the Preachers of Bal, "Choose one of the bullocks for yourselves, and prepare it first, for you are many, and call upon the name of your god, but put no fire to it."

So they took the bullock given to 26 them, and prepared it, and called on the name of Bal from daybreak until noon, saying, "Bal, answer us!" But no voice came, or answered. Then they leaped upon the altar which they had made.

When noon came, Eliah ridiculed 27 them, and said, "Call with a louder voice,—for he is a god! Perhaps he is talking? or perhaps he is hunting? or perhaps alone on a journey? or it may be he is asleep?—and he must be awakened!"

They therefore called with a louder 28 voice, and gashed themselves with knives and hooks, as they are accustomed to do, until their blood poured from them. But when noon had 29 passed, and they approached to the offering of the present,—there was neither a sound, nor an answer, nor any attention.

(B.C. 906.) Eliah calls the People to him.

Then Eliah said to all the people, 30 "Come near me." And all the people came to him, and he raised an altar to the EVER-LIVING. Next Eliah 31 took twelve stones, for the number of the Tribes of the sons of Jacob, to whom came the message of the EVER-LIVING, saying, "Your name shall be Israel," and built with those stones an altar to the name of the EVER-LIVING, and made a trench round the altar, of the capacity of two saths¹ of grain, and spread the wood, and divided the bullock, and laid it upon the wood. Then he said, "Fill four casks with water, and pour them over the offering and the wood." Then he said, "Repeat them!" and they repeated them. But he added "Triple it." So they tripled it; and the water ran round the altar, and also filled the trench with water, and the trench overflowed to the Altar.

Elijah's Prayer.

36 Then Elijah the Preacher approached, and said: "EVER-LIVING GOD of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, to-day let it be known that You are GOD in Israel; that I am Your servant, and that I have done by Your command all these things.—Answer, EVER-LIVING! Answer! When these people will know that You are the EVER-LIVING GOD, and that You would turn their hearts after You."

37 And the fire from the EVER-LIVING fell upon and devoured the Offering and the wood, and the stones, and the dust, and licked up the water that was in the trench! When all the people saw it, they fell on their faces and exclaimed "The EVER-LIVING, He is the GOD! The EVER-LIVING, He is the GOD!"

40 But Elijah answered them, "Seize the Preachers of Bal, every one: let not one of them escape!"

So they seized them;—and Elijah led them down to the brook Kishon, and slew them there!

41 Elijah then said to Akhab, "Go on,—eat and drink, for there is a murmuring sound of rain."

42 Akhab consequently went up and ate and drank, while Elijah went to the top of Karmel and bowed himself earthward, and put his face between his knees, and said to his attendant, "Go up now, and look out towards the sea."

So he went up and looked out, and

¹ Probably capable of holding two hog-heads.

reported, "There is nothing whatever!"

The Little Cloud.

But he replied, "Return seven times!" And at the seventh he reported, "I see a little cloud like a man's hand coming up from the sea."

Then he said, "Go, and tell Akhab, 'Turn and descend,—or the rain will prevent you.'" And between this and that the skies became dark with clouds and wind, and there was a great rain, and Akhab mounted and went to Jezral,—but the hand of the EVER-LIVING was upon Elijah, and he girt up his loins and ran before Akhab to the entrance of Jezral.

Ahab Consults with Jezebel.

But Akhab informed Aisebal of all that Elijah had done, and how he had slain all her Preachers by the sword; therefore Aisebal sent a messenger to Elijah to say, "May the gods do so to me, and add to it,—if your life shall not be like the life of one of them by to-morrow at this time!"

Elijah flies to Bersheba, then to Horeb, the Hill of God.

Then he was afraid, and rose, and went for his life, and arrived at Bersheba, belonging to Judah, and left his attendant there; he, however, went a day's journey into the desert, and sat under a broom-tree, and asked for his life to die, and said, "It is enough now, EVER-LIVING; take my life, for I am not better than my fathers." Then he lay down and slept under the broom-tree, and saw there a messenger touching him, and saying to him, "Arise and eat!" When he looked, he saw at his head baked cakes and a cuse of water, and he ate and drank, and rested, and slept.

The Messenger of the EVER-LIVING, however, returned a second time and touched him and said, "Arise, and eat! for the journey is too much for you."

So he arose and ate and drank, and travelled upon that food forty days and forty nights as far as Horeb, the mountain of the EVER-LIVING, and went into a cave there, and lodged in it, when the message of the EVER-LIVING came to him and asked, "What do you here, Elijah?" And he replied, "I have been very zealous for the EVER-LIVING GOD of MIGHT; for the Children of Israel have forsaken Your Covenant,—thrown down Your Altars,—and have slain Your preachers with the sword,—and I alone am left,—and they seek my life to take it!"

- 11 But it was answered, "Go out, and station yourself upon the Hill in the presence of the EVER-LIVING, and see the EVER-LIVING pass."

Then a great and mighty wind tore the hills, and shivered the crags before the EVER-LIVING.

The EVER-LIVING was not in the Wind!

And after the Wind,—an Earthquake.

The EVER-LIVING was not in the Earthquake.

- 12 And after the Earthquake a Fire. The EVER-LIVING was not in the Fire.

And after the Fire a STILL SMALL VOICE.

- 13 And when Eliah heard that he covered his face with his mantle, and went and stationed himself at the opening of the cave, and the VOICE addressed him and asked "What do you here, Eliah?"

- 14 When he answered, "I have been very zealous for the EVER-LIVING, the GOD of MIGHT; for the Children of Israel have forsaken Your Covenant,—thrown down Your Altars;—and have slain Your preachers with the sword; and I alone am left,—and they seek my life to take it!"

- 15 The EVER-LIVING, however, replied to him, "Turn your journey to the Desert of Damascus, and go and consecrate Hazal king over Aram;

- 16 and Jehu king over Israel; and Alisha-ben-Shafat of Abal-makholah, consecrate as preacher after you;

- 17 and then whoever escapes from the sword of Hazal, Jehu will kill, and whoever escapes from the sword of

- 18 Jehu, Alisha will kill.—However, there are left to Me in Israel seven thousand, all of whose knees have not bent to Bal, and all of whose lips have not kissed him."

(B.C. 906.) Consecration of Alisha.

- 19 He consequently went from there and found Alisha-ben-Shafat, who was ploughing with twelve sets of oxen in his presence, but he was with the twelfth set, and Eliah went over to him and threw his own mantle upon him. So he left the 20 oxen and ran after Eliah, and said "I will bid good-bye to my father and mother,—then I will follow you."

But he replied to him, "Go back—what have I done to you?"

So he turned from following, and 21 took the set of oxen and sacrificed them, and boiled the flesh with the implements of the oxen, and gave it to the people, and they feasted. Then he arose and went after Eliah and attended him.

(B.C. 901.) Ben-hadad invades Israel, and insults Ahab.

At this time Ben-hadad, king of 20 Aram, collected all his forces, and thirty-two Chiefs with him, with horse and chariots, and went up and besieged Shomeron, and attacked it, and sent Messengers to Akhab, king 2 of Israel, to the city, to say to him, 3 "Ben-hadad says this,—'Your silver and your gold are mine, and the best of your wives and children are mine.'"

But the king of Israel answered 4 him, and said, "As your Majesty says, I and all that I have are yours."

Then he sent back the Messengers, 5 and they said;—

"Ben-hadad says this,—'Why I ordered to send to you was, to say your silver and gold, and wives and children must be given to me. And 6 if not by to-morrow at this time,—I will send my officers to you and they will take possession of your palace, and the houses of your ministers, and they shall lay their hands on all that is delightful in your eyes, and take it.'"

The king of Israel consequently 7 summoned the nobles of the country, and said, "You know and perceive what injury he seeks, for he has sent to me for my wives, my children, and my silver and gold, and I did not refuse him them."

All the nobles, and all the people 8 said to him, however, "Do not listen to him, and do not consent."

So he replied to the Messenger 9 of Ben-hadad, "Say to his Majesty, 'All that I promised to your officers before, I will do, but I am not able to effect this last command.'"

The messengers consequently went, and reported the business.

Then Ben-hadad again sent to him. 10 and said, "May the gods do this to me, and add to this, if the dust of Shomeron shall be enough for the soles of the army that is at my feet."

11 But the king of Israel replied and said, "They say, 'Let not the man putting on armour boast like him stripping it off!'"

12 And when he heard that word he was drinking with his Generals in the tents, so he exclaimed to his officers, "Assail the city!"

A Preacher advises to resist Ben-hadad.

13 A Preacher, however, approached to Akhab, king of Israel, and said, "Thus says the EVER-LIVING, 'Look upon all this great crowd. I will give it into your power to-day,—that you may know that I am the EVER-LIVING.'" "

14 But Akhab asked "How?"

When he answered, "Thus says the EVER-LIVING, 'By the Guards of the Provincial Governors!'"

Then he asked "Who must command in the battle?"

And he replied, "Yourself."

15 He consequently arranged the Guards of the Provincial Governors, who were two hundred and thirty-two, and behind them he arranged the whole of the forces of all the Children of Israel, seven thousand.

16 And they went out at noon.

Ben-hadad meantime had drunk himself drunk in the tents with the thirty-two Chiefs who helped him.

17 But the soldiers of the Provincial Governors advanced to the front, so Ben-hadad sent to inquire, and they informed him, saying, "Some men are coming out of Shomeron." When he answered, "If they come peaceably,—seize them at once; and if they come for a fight, seize them at once!"

19 But they were the Guards of the Provincial Governors who came from the City with the force which followed them, and they assailed each his man, and Aram fled, and Israel pursued, but Ben-hadad escaped on a horse with his cavalry.

21 Then the king of Israel advanced and assailed the horse and chariots, and defeated Aram with a crushing defeat.

22 Then a Preacher approached the king of Israel and said to him:—
"Go and strengthen yourself, for you should know and foresee what you have to do, because the king of Aram will come back upon you at the spring of next year."

(B.C. 900.) Ben-hadad's Ministers advise him to Reform his Army and Fight again.

The officers of the king of Aram, 23 however, said to him, "Their GOD is a GOD of the hills, therefore they were stronger than us. But if we fight them in the plain He will not be able to help them. But this event 24 has made the Chiefs return each to his own home; therefore appoint Generals in their place, and collect 25 for yourself an army like the army that was beaten, and with similar cavalry, and similar chariots, and fight them in the plain where they will not be strong."

He listened to their advice, and did so. And when the year had turned, 26 Ben-hadad organized Aram, and advanced to Afak to fight with Israel. Consequently the Children of Israel 27 organized themselves, and provisioned themselves, and marched to meet them. But the Israelites compared to them were like two flocks of sheep and goats, while Aram covered the country. But a man of God came 28 and spoke to the king of Israel and said, "Thus says the EVER-LIVING, 'Was not this what Aram said?'" "The EVER-LIVING is a GOD of the hills, and not a GOD of the plains?" "Therefore I will give all this great army to your hand, and you shall know that I am the EVER-LIVING."

Aram again defeated, and Ben-hadad Captured.

But those encamped, and these 29 encamped for seven days. On the seventh they joined in battle, and Israel slew of Aram, on that single day, a hundred thousand of infantry, and the remainder fled to Afak, 30 to the citadel, but the wall fell upon a crowd of twenty-seven men. The rest, with Ben-hadad, fled and reached the inner fortress of the city.

His ministers then said to him, 31 "See now, listen to us, for the kings of the House of Israel are merciful kings. Let us put sacks upon our loins, and ropes upon our heads, and go to the king of Israel. Perhaps he will spare your life."

32 They accordingly bound sacks upon their waists, and ropes on their heads, and came to the king of Israel, and said, "Your servant, Ben-hadad, asks, Will you let me live?"
When he answered, "He shall live;—he is my brother."

But the men watched, and made haste, and confirmed it from themselves, and said, "Your brother, Ben-hadad!"

33 Then he said, "Go, fetch and bring him." So they went and brought Ben-hadad to him, and he made him mount into his own chariot, when he said:—

"The cities that my father took from your father I will restore; and also return to Shomeron the suburbs at Damascus, as your father held them; I will cede them to you."

So he made a compact with him that he should hand them to him.

(B.C. 900.) A Preacher denounces Ahab for his Weakness and Folly.

35 A man, however, belonging to the profession of the Preachers said to his companion, "I wish you would assault me!" but he hesitated to wound him, so he said to him, "Say why have you not listened to the voice of the EVER-LIVING? In consequence, when you leave me, a lioness will assail you!" And when he went from his side, he met a lioness and she assailed him.

37 Then he met another man and said, "I wish you would assault me!" So that man assaulted, and wounded

38 him. Then the Preacher went and stationed himself awaiting the king on the road; but he had rolled in

39 the dust up to his eyes, and when the king passed he shrieked out to the king, and said, "Your servant was in the heart of the battle, and an officer brought to me a man and said, 'Guard this man,—if he escapes, your life shall be for his life,—or you shall pay a talent of silver.' But whilst your 40 servant was walking here and there, he vanished!"

The king of Israel, however, answered, "Consequently you are convicted by your own statement."

41 Then he at once swept the dust from his face; when the king of Israel recognized him as belonging

42 to the Preachers! for he exclaimed, "Thus says the EVER-LIVING! 'Why have you freed this cursed fellow from your power? Therefore your life shall be for his life;—and your people for his people!" So the king 43 of Israel went to his palace sad and gloomy, and came to Shomeron.

(B.C. 899.) Naboth's Vineyard, and Jezebel's Wickedness.

The following was after these events. 21 Naboth the Jezraalite possessed a vineyard at Jezraal at the side of the park of Akhab, king of Shomeron, and Akhab spoke to Naboth and said, 2 "Sell me your vineyard, and let it be mine for a flower garden; for it is near the side of my house; and I will give you in exchange a better vineyard than it; or if preferable in your opinion I will pay you money for the purchase."

Naboth, however, replied to Akhab, 3 "It would be a grief to me if I sold you my ancestral property."

Akhab consequently went to his 4 home sad and gloomy over the reply Naboth the Jezraalite had spoken to him, when he said, "I will not sell you my ancestral property," therefore he lay on his couch, and turned his face, and would not eat food. Aisabel, 5 his wife, consequently came to him and asked, "What is the matter, that your spirit is depressed? and you will not take food?"

And he told her about Naboth of 6 Jezraal, what he replied when "I asked him, 'Sell me your vineyard for money, or if it pleases you, I will give you a vineyard instead of it,'—but he answered 'I will not sell you my vineyard.'"

Aisabel, his wife, however, ex- 7 claimed, "Show now that you rule over Israel! Get up and eat bread, and rest your heart;—I will give you the vineyard of Naboth of Jezraal!"

(B.C. 899.) The Conspiracy of Jezebel against Naboth.

She consequently wrote letters in 8 the name of Akhab, and sealed the letters with his seal, to the judges and freemen of the village where Naboth resided, and wrote in the 9 letters to say: "Proclaim a feast, and put Naboth at the head of the people. Then set up two scoundrels 10 against him, and instruct them to say, 'You have libelled GOD and the king!—and let them drag him out, and stone, and kill him."

- 11 The judges and freemen who lived in his village consequently prepared the men in the way Aisabel had sent to them in the letter she had written.
- 12 They proclaimed a feast, and put Naboth at the head of the people, and brought the two villains, and set them against him, and the scoundrels accused Naboth before the people, saying, "Naboth libelled GOD and the king." They consequently dragged him outside the village, and stoned, and murdered him. Then they sent to Aisabel to say "that Naboth has been stoned, and is dead!" And when Aisabel heard that Naboth was stoned, and killed, then Aisabel said to Akhab, "Get up! Seize the vineyard of Naboth of Jezraal, which he refused to sell to you for money, for Naboth is no longer alive, but dead!"

Elijah denounces Ahab whilst seizing Naboth's Vineyard.

- 16 So when Akhab heard that Naboth was dead, Akhab arose to go up to the vineyard of Naboth the Jezraalite to seize it, but the command of the EVER-LIVING came to Elijah the Tishbite to say, "Arise, go and meet Akhab the king of Israel who is in Shomeron. Meet him at the vineyard of Naboth, which he has gone to seize, and address him saying, 'Thus says the EVER-LIVING! In the place where the dogs licked the blood of Naboth,—the dogs shall lick your blood,—even yours!'"
- 20 But Akhab replied to Elijah, "Have you found me, my enemy?"
- And he answered, "I have met you, —because you have sold yourself to do evil in the sight of the EVER-LIVING. Hence I bring evil to you, and I send a fire after you, and will cause to cut off from Akhab every boy, and girl, and nursing in Israel! And I will make your family like the family of Jerabam the son of Nebat, and like the family of Basha-ben-Akhira, for the insult with which they insulted and sinned in Israel.
- 23 And the EVER-LIVING also says to Aisabel, 'The dogs shall eat Aisabel in the district of Jezraal.'
- 24 "Whoever of Akhab is killed in the city, the dog shall eat!—and whoever killed in the fields,—the fowls of the
- 25 skies shall devour,—because there has been none like Akhab who has sold himself to do evil in the sight of the EVER-LIVING with Aisabel his wife; and has foully defiled himself by going after idols, in the way the Amorites did, whom the EVER-LIVING drove from before the children of Israel!"

When, however, Akhab heard these messages, he tore his robes, and put a sack upon his body, and fasted, and slept in sackcloth and went sighing.

Consequently the message of the EVER-LIVING came to Elijah the Tishbite, to say, "Do you see how Akhab humbles himself before me? Therefore, because he humbles himself before me, I will not bring the evil in his days.—In the days of his son I will bring the evil on his family."

(B.C. 899.)

Now for a space of three years there was no war between Aram and Israel.

(B.C. 897.) Ahab declares War with Aram, and asks Jhoshafat of Judah to help him to take Ramoth Gilad.

But in the third year Jhoshafat king of Judah came to see the king of Israel, when the king of Israel said to his ministers, "You know that Ramoth Gilad is ours, yet we delay in taking it from the hand of the king of Aram." He also said to Jhoshafat, "Will you go with me to attack Ramoth Gilad?"

And Jhoshafat replied to the king of Israel, "You are the same as myself,—my people and your people are the same,—my cavalry are your cavalry. But," said Jhoshafat to the king of Israel, "I wish you to inquire at the same time for the command of the EVER-LIVING."

The king of Israel consequently invited four hundred men of the Preachers, and asked them, "Shall we go up to Ramoth Gilad to attack it? or let it alone?" And they answered, "Go up! and Adoni will give it into the power of the king."

Jhoshafat, however, asked "Is there not here also a Preacher of the EVER-LIVING who could be asked about it?"

(B.C. 897.) The Prophecy of Mikhiah.

When the king of Israel replied to Jhoshafat, "There is only one man to

- ask JEHOVAH about it,—but I hate him, —for he never preaches good about me, but bad;—Mikaiha-ben-Imlah." Jhoshafat, however, answered, "Do not say so, king."
- 9 Therefore the king of Israel called to one of his officers and said, "Fetch Mikaiha-ben-Imlah."
- 10 But the king of Israel and Jhoshafat, king of Judah, sat each on his throne clothed in their royal robes in the market place near the gate of Shomeron, and all the Preachers preached before them, and Zedekiah, the son of Kenanah, had made iron horns, and exclaimed, "Thus says the EVER-LIVING! 'With these you shall push Aram to destruction!'" And all the Preachers preached the same, saying, "Go up to Ramoth Gilad and prosper, for the LORD will give it to the power of the king!"
- 13 The messenger also who had gone to invite Mikaiha, addressed him saying, "Look, now, the messages of the Preachers are unanimously good to the king. Come, now, talk in accordance with them, and speak good."
- 14 But Mikaiha replied, "By the life of the EVER-LIVING that which the EVER-LIVING commands me I shall speak!"
- 15 So they came to the king and the king asked him, "Mikaiha, shall we go to Ramoth Gilad to attack it? or shall we let it alone?" When he replied to him, "Go up,—and prosper! for the EVER-LIVING will give it into the power of the king!"
- 16 But the king exclaimed, "How many times must I swear you that you will not speak to me, except truly, in the name of the EVER-LIVING?"
- 17 Then he answered:—
"I saw all Israel scattered upon the hills like sheep who have no shepherd, and the EVER-LIVING asked, 'Have these no leader who can lead them back to their homes in safety?'"
- 18 Then the king of Israel exclaimed to Jhoshafat, "Did I not tell you that he never preached good to me, but bad?"—
- 19 He consequently continued, "Therefore hear the message of the EVER-LIVING. I saw the EVER-LIVING sitting on His Throne, and all the army of the heavens stationed near him, on the right hand and on the left; when the EVER-LIVING asked, 20 'Who will entice Akhab to go up and fall at Ramoth Gilad?' And one suggested this way, and another suggested that. Then a spirit came and 21 stood before the EVER-LIVING and said, 'I will entice him.' But the EVER-LIVING asked him, 'How?'

"And he replied, 'I will go, and 22 become a Spirit of Deception in the mouths of all his Preachers.'

"When He answered, 'You shall entice him, and also succeed.—Go and do so!'

"Therefore you see the EVER- 23 LIVING has put a Deceiving Spirit in the mouths of all these Preachers of yours;—but the EVER-LIVING has decided evil against you."

Then Zedekiah-ben-Kananah advanced and struck Mikaiha on his cheek, and demanded, "How did the Spirit from the EVER-LIVING pass over from me to speak to you?"

When Mikaiha answered,—"You 25 will see on the day when you go to an inner chamber to hide yourself."

The king of Israel, however, 26 exclaimed, "Seize Mikaiha, and conduct him to the castle of the Governor of the city, and Joash the king's son, and say, 'The king orders thus: Put this fellow into solitary confinement, and feed him with bread of affliction, and water of affliction,—until I return in safety.'"

But Mikaiha answered, "If you 28 return in safety, the EVER-LIVING has not spoken by me!" Then he added, "Listen all you people."

(B. C. 897.) Ahah and Jhoshafat assail Ramoth Gilad.

The king of Israel, and Jhoshafat 29 king of Judah, consequently advanced against Ramoth Gilad; when the king 30 of Israel said to Jhoshafat king of Judah, "I will disguise myself and go into the battle,—but you—dress yourself in your robes." So the king of Israel disguised himself and went to battle.

The king of Aram, however, had 31 ordered his thirty-two Officers of the charioteers, saying, "You need not fight with little or great,—but only with the king of Israel."

(B. C. 897.) Ahah killed by a random arrow.

Consequently when the command- 32 ers of the chariots saw Jhoshafat, they thought, "This is the king of Israel," and they wheeled against him to fight. But Jhoshafat cried out;—so when the commanders of the chariots discovered that he was not the king of Israel they turned away from him. A man, however, drew a bow at random, and struck the king of Israel between the joints of his armour, when he said to his charioteer, "Turn your hand, and carry me from the fight, for I am wounded." So he left the battle at once, yet the king was supported in the chariot facing Aram, but died in the afternoon, and his blood from his wound poured into the bottom of the chariot. When sunset came, the word was passed to the camp to order "each to his village, and each to his country," and they brought the dead king to Shomeron, where they buried the king.

When the chariot was washed at the pool in Shomeron, the dogs licked his blood, where the harlots washed themselves,—according to the word of the EVER-LIVING which He had spoken.

But the rest of the affairs of Akhab, and all he did, and the White Marble Palace he built, and all the towns he erected,—they are written of in the history of the events of the times of the kings of Israel. When he slept with his fathers, Akhaziah his son reigned in his place.

(B. C. 914.) Jhoshafat begins to reign over Judah singly.¹

Jhoshafat-ben-Asa began to reign over Judah in the fourth year of Akhab king of Israel. Jhoshafat was thirty-five years old at his coronation, and he reigned twenty-five years in Jerusalem, and his mother's name was Azubah, daughter of Shibak. He walked in the path of Asa his father. He did not turn from doing right in the sight of the EVER-LIVING: except that he did not throw down the Columns. The people still sacrificed and offered incense at the Columns. Jhoshafat also was at peace with the king of Israel.

¹ Jhoshafat had previously ruled only as Vice-roy, or Regent, for his sick father, Asa.—F. F.

For the rest of the affairs of Jhoshafat, and the great things he achieved, and how he fought,—they are recorded in the history of events in the days of the kings of Judah. However, the remainder of the Sodomites, who escaped in the days of his father Asa, he expelled from the country.

There was no king in Edom; he appointed a king.

Jhoshafat built ships for Tharshish to go to Aufer for gold, but they did not go, for the ships were wrecked at Atzion-gabar. Then Akhaziah son of Akhab proposed to Jhoshafat, "Let my servants and your servants go with the ships," but Jhoshafat was not willing.

When Jhoshafat slept with his fathers, he was buried with his ancestors in the City of David, and J'oram his son reigned after him.

(B. C. 897.) Ahaziah begins to reign over Israel.

Akhaziah-ben-Akhab began to reign over Israel in Shomeron in the seventeenth year of Jhoshafat king of Judah, and he reigned over Israel two years. But he did wrong in the eyes of the EVER-LIVING, and walked in the way of his father, and the way of his mother, and in the way of Jerabam-ben-Nebat, who made Israel sin. For he served Bal, and worshipped him, and provoked the EVER-LIVING, the God of Israel, in all that his ancestors did.

THE HISTORY OF ISRAEL AND JUDAH.

BY ISAIAH-BEN-AMAZ THE PROPHET.

(See II. Chronicles, Ch. 32, v. 32.)

BOOK VI.

THE MONARCHICAL PERIOD.

THE SECOND BOOK OF KINGS.

B.C. 896.) Ahaziah reigns over Israel, and Elijah foretells his death. — Moab revolts from Israel.

1 AFTER the death of Ahab, Moab
2 revolted from Israel; and Akhaziah lay sick at that time, in his chamber at Shomeron, and was anxious,—so he sent messengers to go and inquire from Bal-zebub, the god of Akron, "If I can revive from this 3 illness?" But a Messenger of the EVER-LIVING commanded Elijah, the Tishbite, "Arise! Go up to meet the Ambassadors of the King of Shomeron, and say to them;—

"Is it because there is not a GOD in Israel that you go to inquire of 4 Bal-zebub, the god of Akron?—Consequently thus says the EVER-LIVING,
'From the bed that you are upon you shall not arise, for you shall die.'" Then Elijah departed.

5 When the messengers returned to him, he asked them, "Why have you 6 returned?" They answered him:—
"A man came up to meet us and said, 'Go! Return to the king who sent you, and say to him, Thus asks the EVER-LIVING: Was it because there is no GOD in Israel that you sent to inquire of Bal-zebub, the god of Akron?—Therefore from the bed you lie upon you shall not arise;—
for you shall die!'"

7 Then he asked them, "What kind of a man was he who came up to meet you? And said these things to

you?"

And they replied to him, "A man 8 covered with hair, and belted with a leather belt round his waist."

When he exclaimed, "It is Elijah
the Tishbite."

Akhaziah orders Elijah to come to him.—He refuses.

He therefore sent to him a Captain 9 of his Guards, who went up to him where he lived on the top of a hill, and said, "MAN of GOD, the king commands you to come down."

But Elijah answered and said to the 10
Captain of the Guards, "If I am a MAN of GOD, let fire come down from the skies, and devour you and your company." And fire came down from the skies and consumed him and his company.

Then again he sent to him another 11
Captain of the Guards with his company, who spoke, and said to him,
"MAN of GOD, the king asks you to descend from that hill."

But Elijah replied and said to them, 12
"If I am a MAN of GOD, let fire descend from the skies and consume you and your company." When fire came down upon them from the skies and consumed him and his company!

But again he sent a third Captain 13 of the Guards with his company, and the third went up and arrived, but he knelt on his knees before Elijah, and showed him respect, and said, "MAN of GOD! let my life and the lives of these servants of yours be precious in your sight! For fire came down from the skies and consumed the two Captains and their companies,—but now let my life be precious in your eyes!"

Elijah commanded from the Ever-living to Visit the King.

15 Then the Messenger of the EVER-LIVING commanded Elijah, "Go down with him:—fear not for his presence."

So he arose, and descended with him to the king, and said to him, "Thus asks the EVER-LIVING, 'Why have you sent messengers to inquire of Bal-zebul, the god of Akron? Is it because there is no GOD in Israel to ask for His decision? Therefore from the bed upon which you are laid you shall not descend,—for you shall die!' And he did die according to the word of Elijah, and Jhoram his brother began to reign in his place in the second year of Jhoram-ben-Jhoshafat king of Judah, for he had not a son.

18 As for the other things that Akhaziah did, they are written in the history of events of the period of the kings of Israel.

(B.C. 896.) The Death of Elijah.

2 When the EVER-LIVING was about to take up Elijah in a tempest to the Heavens, Elijah and Alisha were travelling in Gilgal, and Elijah said to Alisha, "Go back, now, from here, for the EVER-LIVING will send me to Bethel."

But Alisha replied, "By the life of the EVER-LIVING, and by your life, I will not leave you!" So they descended to Bethel.

3 When at Bethel, some Preachers came to Alisha, and asked him, "Do you know that the EVER-LIVING will take your master from your head?"

And he replied, "I know it! Be silent."

4 Elijah again said to Alisha, "Turn back, I pray, here,—for the EVER-LIVING has sent me to Jeriko."

But he replied, "By the life of the EVER-LIVING, and by the life of your soul, I will not leave you!" So they went on to Jeriko, where the Preachers who were in Jeriko approached to Alisha, and asked him, "Do you know that to-day the EVER-LIVING will take your master from your head?"

And he answered, "I also know it. Be silent!"

Then Elijah said to him, "Return, I beg, here, for the EVER-LIVING has sent me to the Jordan."

But he replied, "By the life of the EVER-LIVING and the life of your soul, I will not leave you!"

So both of them went on; and fifty men from the Preachers went and stationed themselves at a distance to the south, but they two stood by the Jordan, and Elijah took his mantle, and folded it, and struck the waters, when they divided on this side and that, and both passed over on dry land. When they had passed over Elijah said to Alisha, "Ask what I shall do for you before GOD takes me from you?"

And Alisha answered, "Let twice your spirit come upon me."

When he replied, "You have asked a hard thing. If you see me taken from you, then it will come to you;—but if not, it will not come."

(B.C. 896.) Elisha receives Elijah's Mantle.

While they were walking and conversing, a chariot of fire appeared with horses of fire and stopped between them, and Elijah ascended in a tempest to the Heavens, but Alisha looked on and shouted, "My father! My father! The chariot of Israel and its horses!" But he never saw him again. He seized his robe, however, and it tore into two, and the mantle that Elijah wore fell upon him. Then he returned and stood on the bank of the Jordan, and took the mantle of Elijah, which had fallen from off him, and struck the waters, and said, "Come, EVER-LIVING, the GOD of Elijah, as if to himself." Then he struck the waters, and they divided, on this side and that, and Alisha crossed over. And the pupils of the Preachers who were in Jeriko, to the south, saw it, and remarked, "The spirit of Elijah has fallen upon Alisha," so they went to meet him, and bowed to him to the earth, and said, "You see now your servants are fifty strong men. Let us go and seek Elijah, for fear the spirit of the EVER-LIVING should carry him away, and drive him to some of the hills, or to some of the vales."

But he replied, "Do not go." They, however, pressed him until he was ashamed, when he answered "Go."

The Young Preachers seek for Elisha.

So the fifty men went, and searched for three days, but could not find him. They consequently returned to him, for he was staying in Jeriko, and he said to them, "Did I not tell you not to go?"

(B.C. 896.) Anecdotes of Elisha.

19 The men of the town once said to Alisha, "The position of the town is good, as your lordship perceives, but the water is bad, and the ground barren."

20 He consequently replied, "Fetch me a new bowl, and put salt in it, and bring it me." Then he went to the water-springs and threw the salt into them, and said, "Thus says the EVER-LIVING! I have cured these waters, death and barrenness shall no more come from them." And the waters have been healthy to this day, according to the message Alisha delivered.

23 Once he went up from there to Bethel, and as he was on the road some young lads met him near the town, and ridiculed him, exclaiming, "Go up bald head! Go up bald head!" when he turned and cursed them in the Name of the EVER-LIVING, and two bears from the forest met them and tore forty-two of the lads.—From there he went to Mount Karmel, and afterwards he settled in Shomeron.

(B.C. 896.) Jhoram-ben-Akhab reigns over Israel.

3 Jhoram-ben-Akhab began to reign over Israel, in Shomeron, in the eleventh year of Jhoshafat king of Judah, and he reigned twelve years, and did wrong in the eyes of the EVER-LIVING; but not like his father and mother, for he overturned the Columns of Bal that his father had made. From the sins, however, of Jerabam-ben-Nebat, which he caused Israel to sin, he did not turn away.

Moab Rebels, but is again subdued.

4 Mesha, the king of Moab, was his shepherd, and paid to the king of Israel a hundred thousand lambs, and a hundred thousand rams' fleeces.
5 But when Akhab died the king of Moab revolted from the king of Israel. Then King Jhoram at once set out 6 from Shomeron, and organized the forces of Israel, and marched. He 7 also sent to Jhoshafat king of Judah to say, "Moab has revolted from me—will you go with me to Moab to fight?" And he answered, "I will go, for mine are yours, and your people are like mine, and my cavalry like your cavalry." He also asked, 8 "By what road shall we advance?" When he replied, "By way of the Pastures of Edom."

(B.C. 895.) The March.

The king of Israel and the king of 9 Judah and the king of Edom consequently marched by that route for seven days, until there was no water for the soldiers, or the cattle belonging to them, so that the king of Israel 10 exclaimed, "Alas! why has the EVER-LIVING collected these three kings to give them to the hand of Moab!"

(B.C. 896.) Jhoshafat asks for a Prophet.

But Jhoshafat enquired, "Is there 11 not a Preacher of the EVER-LIVING here, that we may enquire of the EVER-LIVING through him?"

Then one of the officers addressed the king of Israel and said, "Alisha-ben-Shafat is here, who poured water on the hands of Elisha."

And Jhoshafat added, "The word 12 of the EVER-LIVING is with him." Therefore the king of Israel, and Jhoshafat, and the king of Edom, went to him, when Alisha asked the 13 king of Israel, "Why do you come to me? Go to the Preachers of your father, and the Preachers of your mother!"

But the king of Israel replied, "No! For the EVER-LIVING has collected these three kings to give them to the hand of Moab."

When Alisha answered, "By the 14 life of the EVER-LIVING POWER, before Whose face I stand,—but for the presence of Jhoshafat king of Judah, I would perish rather than attend to you, or see you! But, however, 15 bring me a harp." And a harp was brought with a harper. Then the hand of the EVER-LIVING came upon him, and he said, "Thus says the 16 EVER-LIVING! 'Make trenches in this valley.' For thus says the EVER- 17 LIVING, 'No wind shall be perceived, and no rain shall be seen, yet the valley shall be full of water, and you shall be quenched, with your animals and cattle; but that is a trifle in the sight of the EVER-LIVING, therefore He will give Moab into your power, and you shall storm all the fortified cities, and all the best towns. And you shall fell all the beautiful woods, and stop up all the springs of water, and cover all their beautiful gardens with stones."

20 When morning came, at the time of offering the gift, a flood had come from the direction of Edom, and covered the country with water.

21 As related, all Moab had heard that the kings had come up to fight with them, and had convoked an armed force, and had advanced and were stationed near. They also awoke in the morning when the sun shone upon the waters, and the Moabites at a distance saw the waters red, like blood. So they exclaimed, "That is blood! The kings have been fighting with the sword, and every man has struck his mate! So now, Moab, for the plunder!" And they advanced to the camp of Israel.

But Israel arose and assailed Moab, and they fled before them, and they attacked and defeated Moab, and destroyed the towns; and over all the beautiful gardens they spread stones and destroyed them, and filled up the wells of water, and felled all the pleasant trees to extirpate them. They broke down the walled buildings, and tore up their foundations to the bottom. Consequently the king of Moab saw they were stronger than him in war, so he took with himself seven hundred trained soldiers to break through the king of Edom, but was not able. Then he took his son, the eldest, who would have reigned after him, and offered him as a burnt-offering on the top of the wall, for he was furious against Israel.¹ They afterwards retired from him and returned to their country.

(B.C. 895.) The Preacher's Widow and her Sons seized for her Debts.

4 Once a woman, a wife of one of the Preachers, appealed to Alisha, saying,

¹ V. 27. Something seems to have been omitted from the MS. by an old transcriber, I think an account of the capture of the capital of Moab and death of Moab's king.—F. F.

"Your servant, my husband, has died,—and you know that your servant revered the EVER-LIVING,—but a creditor has come to take my two sons for his slaves."

And Alisha asked her, "What can I do for you? Inform me what furniture you have in the house."

When she said, "There is nothing in the house of your handmaid, except a jar of oil,"

He then answered, "Go and borrow vessels from all the inhabitants of the street,—barrels of a not small capacity. Then come and shut the door behind you, and behind your sons, and pour into all these vessels, and fill them full."

She accordingly went from him, and shut the door behind herself and her sons who went with her, and they poured. And when they had filled the vessels, she said to one son, "Bring me another cask." But he replied to her, "There is not another cask." Then the oil ceased! She therefore went to the MAN of GOD, and informed him, who said, "Go, sell the oil, and pay your debts, and support yourself with the remainder."

(B.C. 910.) The Lady of Shunam entertains Elisha.

At one period Alisha was travelling to Shunam, where there was a great lady, who invited him to eat bread, and whenever he was passing by there to turn in to take food. The woman also said to her husband, "See, now you know that he is a holy MAN of GOD who passes by us continually. Let me furnish the little upper chamber, and put a bed there for him, with a table and a chair, so that when he comes to us he may visit here." And he came there that same day, and turned to go up to her to rest himself.

He consequently said to Ghikhazi, his attendant, "Call this Shunamess." And he called her, and she stood before him. Then he said to him, "Say to her, 'I see how you have cared for us with all this trouble. What can be done for you? Can I speak for you to the king? or to the commander of the army?'"

But she answered, "I reside amongst my own people."

Then he asked, "But what can be done for her?"

And Ghikhazi replied, "She grieves because she has no son, and her husband is old."

- 15 Then he said, "Call her." And he called her, and she stood in the doorway, when he said, "At the return of this season you shall fold a son in your arms!"

(B.C. 894.) The Baby's Son has a Sunstroke.

- But she exclaimed, "No Sir! MAN of GOD, do not lie to your handmaid."
- 17 The woman, however, conceived, and bore a son, when that season came round, as Alisha had said to her. And the lad grew up, and one day went out to his father in the harvest field, and said to his father, "My head! My head!" So he ordered his attendant to carry him to his mother. He consequently carried him and brought him to his mother, who placed him on her knees until noon, when he died. Then she arose and laid him on the bed of the MAN of GOD, and closed the door, and went out and approached her husband, and said, "I wish you to send with me one of the servants, and one of the riding asses, for I wish to go quickly to the MAN of GOD, and to return."
- 23 But he asked, "What is the matter with you that you would go to him? To-day is not a festival, nor a Sabbath?" And she answered, "Right."
- 24 Then they saddled the asses, and she said to the servant, "Drive! do not hold back for me to ride,—for have I not told you to be quick?"
- 25 Thus she went, and came to the MAN of GOD on Mount Karmel, and when the MAN of GOD saw her at a distance he said to Ghikhazi his attendant, "Look! the Shunamess is there!"
- 26 Run, now, to meet her, and ask her 'Is all well with you? Is all well with your husband? Is all well with your lad?'
- 27 But she came to the MAN of GOD on the hill and seized his feet. Ghikhazi, however, came to remove her, when the MAN of GOD said, "Remove her not; for her soul is in grief; but the EVER-LIVING has hidden it from me, and has not informed me of it."
- 28 Then she exclaimed, "Did I ask a son from my lord? Why did you tell me he should be sent to me?"

Then he said to Ghikhazi, "Gird up ²⁹ your loins, and take my staff in your hand. If you meet a man do not address him, and if a man addresses you, do not answer him, and lay my staff upon the face of the child."

But the mother of the child said, ³⁰ "By the life of the EVER-LIVING, and by the life of your soul, I will not part from you." He therefore arose and followed her. But Ghikhazi ³¹ pushed on before them, and laid the staff upon the face of the child,—but there was neither voice nor utterance. He consequently returned back to meet and inform them, saying, "The child has not awakened!"

Then Alisha came to the house, ³² and saw the child lying as dead upon the bed, so he went in and shut the ³³ door behind both of them, and prayed to the EVER-LIVING. Then he went ³⁴ up and lay upon the child and placed his own face to his face, and his own eyes to his eyes, and his own hands to his hands, and bowed over him, and warmed the body of the lad. Then he went away and walked in ³⁵ the house here and there once, and once again, and again ascended, and bent over him, when the lad sneezed seven times, and opened his eyes. At which he called Ghikhazi, and ³⁶ said, "Fetch his mother here." When he invited her, and she came, and he said, "Take up your son."

But she came and fell at his feet, ³⁷ and bowed to the earth,—and then took her son, and departed.

(B.C. 898.) Elisha and the Pupils of the Preachers.

Alisha afterwards went to Gilgal, ³⁸ and a famine was in the country, so the pupils of the Preachers came to him, when he said to his attendant, "Set the great pot and boil pottage for the students of the preachers."

And one of them then went to the ³⁹ field to collect vegetables, and found wild vines and gathered some of them, and wild gourds,¹ filling his bag, and returned and flung the collection into the pot, for he knew not what they were. Then they poured out for the ⁴⁰ men to eat. But when they would have eaten the bunches, they cried out and said, "MAN of GOD! there is death in the pot!" and they would not eat.

¹ "Wild gourds." In the African and Arabian deserts poisonous and edible gourds grow together. I have been told by relatives who have traversed them, and on the same stems, the poison probably coming from microbic inoculation by some insect.—F. F.

- 41 He therefore commanded, and they took flour and threw into the pot. Then he said, "Pour out for the people," and they ate, and nothing bad came from the pot.

(B.C. 898.) Elisha and the Famished People.

- 42 Once a man came from Bal Shalshah, and brought to the MAN of GOD, and presented to him from his first fruits, twenty cakes of barley, and a sack of garden produce, but he said, "Give them to the people, and let them eat."

- 43 When he asked, "What will this be divided to a hundred people?"

He only answered, "Give to the people, and let them eat!—For thus says the EVER-LIVING, 'They will eat and there will be leavings!'"

- 44 So he put it before them, and they ate, and left part of it, as the EVER-LIVING had said.

(B.C. 893.) Naman the Aramite Heper.

- 5 Naman was then commander of the Army of the king of Aram—a great man in the presence of his Prince—and he bore renown, for the EVER-LIVING had given success to Aram by him, and the man was a

2 great hero—but a leper! When the troops of the Aramites had invaded the land of Israel they brought back a little girl, who attended on the wife of Naman; and she said, "I wish my master were near the Preacher who is in Shomeron, for there he could be relieved of his leprosy."

- 4 She consequently went and reported to her husband, saying, "The girl you brought from the land of Israel says this and that."

- 5 Then the king of Aram said, "Go! go! and I will send a letter to the king of Israel."

So he went and took ten talents of silver with him, and six thousand pieces of gold, and ten robes of honour, and brought the letter to the king of Israel to say:—

- 6 "When this letter reaches you, you will see I send my officer Naman to you, that you may relieve him of his leprosy."

But when the king of Israel read 7 the letter he tore his robes, and exclaimed, "Am I God, able to kill, and revive? that this man should send to me to relieve that man from his leprosy? Who will study it now, and ascertain how he would pick a quarrel with me?"

But when Alisha the MAN of GOD 8 heard that the king of Israel had torn his robes, he sent to the king to ask, "Why have you torn your robes?—Come, however, to me and I will teach you that there is a Preacher in Israel." Naman accordingly came 9 with his horses and chariots, and stood before the house of Alisha. But 10 Alisha only sent a messenger to him to say, "Go, and wash seven times in Jordan, and your flesh shall be restored to you, and be clean."

Naman, however, became furious, 11 and went away, and exclaimed, "Look!—I said to myself, 'He will come out, and stand up, and call upon the Name of his EVER-LIVING GOD, and wave his hand over the place, and remove the leprosy.' Are 12 not beautiful Abana and Parfar, rivers of Damascus, better than all the brooks of Israel? Could I not wash in them, and cleanse myself?" So he turned and went away in a rage.

But his Officers approached him, 13 and said, "Sir, if the Preacher had commanded you to do a great thing, would you not have done it? Then why not when he says to you, 'Wash and become clean'?"

He consequently went down to the 14 Jordan, and bathed in it seven times, as the MAN of GOD commanded, and his flesh was restored like the flesh of a little child, and he was cleansed! Then he returned to the MAN of GOD, 15 he and all his staff, and entered and stood before him, and said, "Look! Now I have learnt that there is no GOD in all the earth, except HIM in Israel! Therefore I pray accept a present from your servant."

But he answered, "By the life of 16 the EVER-LIVING, before Whom I stand, I will not accept it."

Then he pressed him to take it, but he refused.

Naman then said, "If not, then let 17 there be given to your servant a gift of two mule loads of earth. For your servant will never after now make offering and sacrifice to another GOD 18 except the EVER-LIVING. Will the EVER-LIVING, however, forgive your servant for this thing? When my Prince goes to the Temple of Rimon to bow there, and leans upon my arm to bow in the Temple of Rimon,—if I bow in the Temple of Rimon, I pray the EVER-LIVING to forgive your servant for that thing."

19 And he replied to him, "Go in peace!"
 So he departed with his loads of earth.

(B.C. 893.) The Killing of Ghikhazi.

20 Ghikhazi, the attendant of Alisha, the MAN OF GOD, said to himself, "I see my Master refrained from taking from the cargo of this Naman the Aramite what he offered! By the life of the EVER-LIVING, if I don't run after him, and get something for myself from him!"

21 Ghikhazi consequently ran after Naman, and Naman saw him running, and alighted from his chariot to go and meet him, and asked, "Is all well?"

22 When he replied, "All is well.
 My Master has sent me to say that 'There have just come to me two young men from Mount Ephraim, students of the Preachers,—give me therefore a talent of silver, and two Robes of Honour.'"

23 And Naman replied, "Will you not take two talents of silver?" And he pressed him, and put two talents of silver into two bags, and two Robes of Honour, and gave them to two of his own attendants, who carried them before him. When they came to the hill, he took them from their hands and put them in the house, and dismissed the men and they departed.

24 He then went and stood before his Master, and Alisha asked, "Where do you come from, Ghikhazi?"

When he answered, "Your servant has not been anywhere!"

25 But he replied, "Went not my heart with you when the man descended from his chariot and came to meet you?—Is this a time for you to take money? And take Robes? And Olive-yards, and Vineyards? And sheep and oxen? And men and 26 women servants?—Therefore the leprosy of Naman the Aramite shall stick to you, and your race for ever!"

And he went from his presence a leper white as snow!

(B.C. 893.) His Pupils build Elisha a house.

The student Preachers afterwards 6 said to Alisha, "You see that the place where we reside with you is too small for us. Let us go therefore to 2 the Jordan, and each one of us take a beam from there and construct for us a residence to settle in." And he replied, "Go."

But someone asked, "Will you not 3 consent to go with us?"

And he answered, "I will go." So 4 he went with them, and they arrived at the Jordan, and selected the trees.

But while one was felling the timber 5 the axe fell into the stream, so that he cried out and exclaimed, "Alas!
 Master! it was borrowed!"

But the MAN OF GOD asked, "Where 6 did it fall?" So they showed him the place, when he seized a stick and thrust it there and floated the iron, and said, "It floats for you." When 7 he stretched out his hand and took it.

(B.C. 892.) Elisha advises the King of Israel in his Wars with Aram.

At a time when the king of Aram 8 was at war with Israel, his officers advised him, saying:—"Fix your camp at such a place."

But the MAN OF GOD sent to the 9 king of Israel to say, "Guard the passes at that place, or the king of Aram will encamp there."

The king of Israel therefore sent to 10
 the passes which the MAN OF GOD had intimated to him, and took precaution and guarded them, not once or twice. Consequently the heart of 11 the king of Aram was depressed about the matter, so he summoned his officers, and asked them, "Can you inform me who is advising the king of Israel?"

When one of his ministers an- 12
 swered, "Does not your Majesty know that Alisha, the Preacher, who is in Israel, instructs the king of Israel about the things that you talk of in your bed-chamber?"

Then he said, "Go and ascertain 13 where he is, and I will send and capture him."

And they informed him saying,
 "He is in Dothan."

He consequently sent Cavalry and 14

Charioteers, and a powerful force, who advanced by night and surrounded the village. But the MAN of GOD arose early to go up to worship, and went out, and saw a force surrounding the village with Cavalry and Charioteers, when his attendant exclaimed to him, "Oh! Master, what shall we do?"

But he replied, "Fear not! for there are more with us than are with them."

Then Alisha prayed and asked, "EVER-LIVING! open his eyes, and let him see!" And the EVER-LIVING opened the eyes of the youth, and he saw, and perceived that the mountain was covered with Cavalry and Chariots of fire surrounding Alisha, and descending with him. Then Alisha prayed to the EVER-LIVING and said, "Afflict these heathen with a blinding dazzle!" And He afflicted them with a blinding dazzle, as Alisha asked.

Then Alisha said to them, "That is not the road," and, "This is not the road, to the village. March after me and I will lead you to the man whom you seek." But he led them to Shomeron. And when they came to Shomeron, Alisha said to the EVER-LIVING, "Open their eyes that they may see," when the EVER-LIVING opened their eyes, and they saw they were in the market-place of Shomeron. The king of Israel, however, asked Alisha, "Shall I cut them off? Shall I assail them, father?"

But he replied, "You shall not assail them! Assail those you capture by your sword and your bow. Set food and water before these, and let them eat and drink, then go to their Master!"

He consequently spread a great feast of food, and they ate and drank. Then he dismissed them, and they went to their Prince; and the troops of Aram did not again invade the land of Israel.

(B. C. 892.) Ben-hadad besieges Shomeron by Starbation.

It was after this that Ben-hadad, king of Aram, collected all his forces and came up to besiege Shomeron. A great famine consequently came in Shomeron while the siege was against it, until an ass's head was sold for eighty pieces of silver, and a quarter kab of peas¹ for five silvers. And 26 once when the king was going to the wall, a woman appealed to him, saying, "Help! your Majesty!"

When he replied, "The EVER-LIVING help you!—for I cannot help you, either from the pantry or cellar!"

The king, however, asked her 28 "What is the matter with you?"

When she replied, "This woman said to me, 'Give me your child and we will eat it to-day,— then we will eat my son to-morrow!' And she 29 boiled my son, and we ate him. But when I said the day after, 'Give me your son, that we may eat him,' she hid her son!"

(B. C. 892.) The King threatens to kill Elisha.

When the king heard the words of 30 the woman, he tore his robes, as he went on to the wall, and the people saw sackcloth was upon his body, underneath them, and he exclaimed, 31 "May GOD do so to me, and add to it, if the head of Alisha-ben-Shafat shall stand upon him to-day." So he sent a man from his attendants.²

Now Alisha sat in his own house, 32 and some gentlemen sat with him; and previous to the arrival of the Messenger to him, he said to the gentlemen, "Take care! for this son of murder has sent to take off my head. Look! there the Messenger comes! Shut the door, send and keep him outside the doors. For is not the sound of his Master's feet after him?"

And whilst he was speaking to 33 them, the King³ arrived and said, "This trouble is from the EVER-

¹ "Dove's dung," the old interpretation, seems nonsense. "Peas," I take it, with many etymologists, are meant, as the article was a food.—F. F.

² A transposition by the error of a copyist misplaced this clause from Chap. 5, v. 31, to a secondary place in v. 32. I restore it to clear the sense.—F. F.

³ I read "King arrived," in place of "Messenger arrived"; as המלך, Ha-Melek "King," makes sense, and המלאך, Ha malak, "Messenger," does not. The current Hebrew reading is evidently an error of transcription of a single letter, but has been followed in its error by all previous translators, although it makes nonsense.—F. F.

LIVING. Why should I longer trust on the EVER-LIVING?"

7 But Alisha answered:—"Hear the promise of the EVER-LIVING! By to-morrow at this time a sah of flour shall be a shekel, and a sah of barley shall be a shekel, at the gate of Shomeron."

2 An Officer on whose arm the king leaned sneered at the MAN of GOD and said, "If the EVER-LIVING opened windows in the skies, could such a thing happen?"

But he replied, "You shall see it with your own eyes;—but you shall not eat of it!"

The Outcast Lepers find the Aramite Messengers Slain in Panic.

3 It happened there were four men, lepers, outside the gate, and one man said to his companion, "Wherever we turn we shall go to death! If we say we will go to the City, the famine is there, and we shall die. But if we turn to yonder, they will kill us. However, let us proceed to the Camp of Aram,—if they let us live we shall live,—but if they kill us, we can but die!"

5 They consequently rose up, encouraging themselves to go to the Camp of Aram, and arrived at the outskirts of the Camp of Aram, and found no one there! for the Almighty had caused to be heard in the Camp of Aram a noise of chariots, and a sound of cavalry, and the sound as of a great army, so that each said to his comrade, "Don't you see the king of Israel has hired against us the king of the Hitites, and the kings of the 7 Mitzeraim to come upon us?" They consequently arose and fled from themselves and abandoned their baggage, their horses, and their asses in the camp as they were, and had 8 run for their lives! And these lepers having come to the skirts of the camp entered one of the tents, and ate and drank, and carried off silver, and gold, and clothing, and furniture, and hid them. Then they returned and came to another tent and carried off from 9 there, and went and hid it. At last one said to his companion, "We ought not to do so now!—for this is a day of good news! Yet we are silent! And if we wait until dawn of day, they will discover our fault, and then they will come, and catch, and report us to the palace of the king."

They therefore went and called at the gate, and informed them, saying, "We went to the Camp of Aram and saw neither a man nor a sound of men there, but only of horses in stall, and the tents as they were!"

The watchwere consequently called, 11 and they reported it to the king from their communication. So the king 12 arose in the night and said to his officers "Inform me, now, what do you think Aram is contriving against us? They know that we are famishing. So have they gone from the Camp to entice us into the open field, thinking 'They will come out of the city, when we will seize them alive, and enter the town.'"

Then one of his officers answered 13 and said, "Let them take the five remaining horses that are left to us, for they are like the whole lot of Israel that are left to her—they are like all the crowd of Israel that she possesses,—and send out and ascertain."

They consequently took the chariot 14 horses, and the king sent after the army of Aram ordering to go and examine. So they went to the Jordan, 15 and found all the road full of accoutrements and arms which the soldiers of Aram had thrown away. The messengers therefore returned and informed the king.

Then the people went out and 16 plundered the Camp of Aram, and a sah of flour was sold for a shekel, and a sah of barley for a shekel, as the EVER-LIVING had said. And the king 17 appointed the general upon whose arm he rested over the gate; but the crowd trod him under foot at the gate, and he was killed, as the MAN of GOD foretold, when he spoke to the king when visiting him. For it occurred as 18 the MAN of GOD said to the king foretelling, "A sah of barley for a shekel, and a sah of flour for a shekel, shall be bought at this time to-morrow at the gate of Shomeron." When a 19 general sneered at the MAN of GOD and said, "If the EVER-LIVING made windows in the sky, could such an event as this come?" And he answered, "You yourself shall see it with your eyes, but you shall not eat of it."

But yet it came to him,—for the 20 crowd trod him under foot at the gate,—and he was killed.

(B.C. 891.) Elisha advises the Shunamite Lady of an approaching Famine.

- 0 Alisha also warned the lady whose son he had revived for her, "Arise and go, yourself and family, and stay where you can stay, for the EVER-LIVING will call a famine, and also bring it upon the country for seven years."¹
- 2 The woman therefore arose, and did as the MAN of GOD commanded, and went with her family, and stayed in the country of the Philistim for seven years.

(B.C. 885.)

- 3 But when the seven years were ended, the woman returned from the country of the Philistim, and came to appeal to the king for her house and land, while the king was speaking with Ghikhazi, the attendant of the MAN of GOD, and asking, "Tell me, I pray you, all the great things Alisha has done." And he was relating to the king how he had restored the dead to life, when the woman, whose son had been restored to life, appealed to the king about her house and land. Ghikhazi therefore said, "Your Majesty! This is the woman!—and this is her son, whom Alisha restored to life!"
- 6 The king then questioned the woman, and she told him, when the king committed her to an Officer with an order to return to her all that was hers, with all the produce of the estate from the day she left the country until then.

(B.C. 881.) Elisha goes to Damascus and foretells the Cruel Crimes of Hazhaal.

- 7 Alisha afterwards went to Damascus, when Ben-hadad the king of Aram was sick, and it was reported to him, that "The MAN of GOD has come here." The king consequently said to Hazhaal, "Take a present with you, and go and meet the MAN of GOD, and enquire of the EVER-LIVING through him if I shall recover from this sickness."
- 9 Hazhaal therefore went to meet him, and took a present with him of all the best in Damascus loaded upon forty camels, and went and presented himself before him, and said, "Your servant Ben-hadad, king of Aram, has sent me to you to ask, 'Shall I recover from this illness?'"

When Alisha answered him, "Go! 10 Say, 'You will not live!—for the EVER-LIVING has shown me he shall die.'"

He, however, fixed himself before 11 him, and stood stiff with insolence.

Then the MAN of GOD wept.

When Hazhaal asked, "Why do 12 you weep, Sir?"

And he answered, "Because I know what cruelty you will do to the children of Israel! You will set fire to their towns; and murder their youths with the sword; and tear their infants to pieces; and rip up their women with child!"

Hazhaal, however, exclaimed,— 13 "What is your servant? Is he a dog?—that he should do such horrible things?"

When Alisha replied, "The EVER-LIVING has shown me YOURSELF, when king over Aram."

(B.C. 885.) Hazhaal Murders Ben-hadad.

He then left Alisha, and went to 14 his Prince, who asked him, "What did Alisha say to you?" And he replied, "He told me you should recover." But some days after he 15 took a towel and dipped it in water and spread it over his face, and he died, and Hazhaal reigned instead of him.

(B.C. 892.) Reign of Jhoram-ben-Jhoshafat.

In the fifth year of Joram-ben- 16 Akhab king of Israel, Jhoram-ben-Jhoshafat began to reign over Judah in conjunction with Jhoshafat, as kings of Judah. He was thirty-two 17 years old at his coronation, and reigned eight years in Jerusalem, and went in the way of the kings of 18 Israel, as the family of Akhab did;—for a daughter of Akhab was his wife. Thus he did evil in the sight of the EVER-LIVING. But the EVER- 19 LIVING did not desire to wreck Judah because of David his servant, as He had promised to give him a light from his descendants for all time.

¹ This famine must not be confused with that of three years in the time of Akhab, as many commentators and readers imagine; but was an entirely different event.—F. F.

(B.C. 892.) Edom rebels from Judah.

- 20 In his days Edom revolted from under the control of Judah, and crowned a king over themselves.
- 21 Joram consequently advanced to Tzair and all his charioteers with him, but Edom advanced by night and defeated his outposts and the commanders of the chariots; so the army fled to their homes. Edom consequently revolted from under the control of Judah to this day, and Libnah also at the same time.
- 23 The rest of the affairs of Joram, and all that he did, are written in the history of events in the days of the kings of Judah. When Joram slept with his fathers he was buried with his fathers in the City of David, and Akhaziah, his son, reigned after him.

(B.C. 885.) Reign of Akhaziah over Judah.

- 25 In the twelfth year of Joram-ben-Akhab, king of Israel, Akhaziah-ben-Jhoram began to reign in Judah.
- 26 Akhaziah was twenty-two years old at his coronation, and he reigned one year in Jerusalem, and his mother's name was Athaliah, a daughter of Gomri, king of Israel, and he walked in the path of the house of Akhab, and did wrong in the sight of the EVER-LIVING, like the house of Akhab; for he was connected by marriage to the family of Akhab.

(B.C. 884.) Joram at War with Hazhaal.

- 28 When Joram-ben-Akhab went to war with Hazhaal, king of Aram, at Ramoth-Gilad, the Aramites defeated Joram. King Joram returned to be cured to Jezrahah of the wounds which the Aramites had given him at Ramoth, where he fought with Hazhaal, king of Aram. So Akhaziah-ben-Joram, king of Judah, came to visit Joram-ben-Akhab in Jezrahah while he was ill.

(B.C. 884.) Elisha orders Jehu to Rebel.

- 9 Then Alisha called one of the students of the Preachers and said to him, "Gird up your waist, and take this flask of oil in your hand, and go to Ramoth Gilad. When you arrive there, seek out Jehu-ben-Jhoshafat-ben-Nimshi, and go and separate him from his companions, and take him with you to a private room. Then take the flask of oil and pour it upon his head, and say, 'Thus says the EVER-LIVING, I have consecrated you king over Israel.' Then open the door and fly, and do not delay!"

So the youth, the young Preacher, went to Ramoth Gilad. When he found the Generals of the forces sitting together, and said, "I have a message for you, General."

And Jehu asked, "To which of all of us?"

When he replied, "For you, General." He therefore arose and went to his house, where he poured the oil upon his head, and said to him, "Thus says the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel, 'I have consecrated you king over the People of the EVER-LIVING,—over Israel! And you shall cut off the House of Akhab your Master, and execute justice for Me, for the blood of My servants, the Preachers, and the blood of all the servants of the EVER-LIVING from the hand of Aisabel; and destroy every palace of Akhab, and cut off from Akhab every male and female, or infant in Israel. For I will make the House of Akhab like the House of Jerabam-ben-Nebat, and like the House of Basha-ben-Akhiash,—and the dogs shall devour Aisabel in the streets of Jezrahah,—for she shall never be buried!"

Then he opened the door and fled.

When Jehu returned to his Master's officers, they asked him, "Is all right? Why did that mad fellow come to you?"

And he answered, "You know the man and his talk."

But they replied, "It is a lie! Come on,—tell us!"

He consequently responded,—"He said this and that to me:—'Thus says the EVER-LIVING, I have consecrated you as king of Israel!'"

Then they rushed, and everyone took his robe and folded it under him on the platform of the door-steps, and sounded the trumpet, and shouted "Jehu is king!"

Thus Jehu-ben-Jhoshafat-ben-Nimshi conspired against Joram, when guarding Ramoth Gilad for Joram from Hazahal, king of Aram, 15 while king Joram had retired to be cured in Jezrahah of the wounds which the Aramites had given him in the fight with Hazahal, king of Aram.

Then Jehu said, "If that is your intention, let none escape from the town to go to report in Jezrahah."

(B.C. 884.) Jehu Marches on Jezrahah.

16 Jehu then mounted and marched towards Jezrahah; for Joram was staying there, and Akhaziah, king of Judah, had come to visit Joram.

17 A watchman, however, was posted on the tower in Jezrahah, and he saw the squadrons of Jehu as they advanced, so he cried, "I see squadrons!"

Joram ordered, "Take a horseman, and send to meet them, and enquire if all is peace."

18 A horseman therefore went to meet him, and said, "The king asks this, 'Is all peace?'"

When Jehu replied, "What have you to do with peace? Turn behind me!"

The watchman again reported, saying, "The messenger arrived at them—but does not return!"

19 Then he sent a second horseman, who came to him, and said, "The king asks this, 'Is all peace?'"

When Jehu answered, "What have you to do with peace? Turn behind me!"

20 Again the watchman reported, saying, "He arrived at them—but does not return! And the driving is like the driving of Jehu the son of Nimshi; for he drives like a madman!"

21 Then Joram exclaimed, "Harness!" And they harnessed his chariot; and Joram, king of Israel, went out with Akhaziah, king of Judah, each in his chariot, and advanced to meet Jehu, and they met him at the farm of

22 Naboth the Jezreelite. And when Joram saw Jehu, he asked, "Is all peace, Jehu?"

But he answered, "How can there be peace while the whoredoms of your mother Aisabel, and her personages are so many?"

23 Then Joram turned his hand and fled, and exclaimed to Akhaziah, "It is a rebellion, Akhaziah."

24 Jehu, however, seized his bow and hit Joram between his arms, and the arrow passed through his heart, and he dropped down in the chariot.

Then he said to Bidkar, the 25 General of his guards, "Lift him up, and fling him out on the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite,—for remember when I and you were riding together after Akhab his father, the EVER-LIVING laid this burden upon him: 'As I saw the blood of 26 Naboth, and the blood of his sons, last night (says the LORD), I will repay it to you upon this very farm,' the EVER-LIVING declared. So now take, and fling him on to the spot, according to the word of the EVER-LIVING."

And Akhaziah, king of Judah, 27 saw it.

Then he fled towards the garden-house; but Jehu followed after him, and shouted, "Him also!"

They wounded him in his chariot at the ascent of the summer-house at Iblam; but he fled to Megido, and died there, and his officers carried 28 him in the chariot to Jerusalem, and buried him in the graves of his fathers, in the City of David.

(It was in the eleventh year of 29 Joram-ben-Akhab that Akhaziah had begun to reign over Judah.)

(B.C. 884.) Death of Jezabel.

But Aisabel heard of the coming of 30 Jehu towards Jezreel, so she painted her face, and adorned her head, and looked out of a window; and when 31 he came to the court she asked:—"Had Zimri peace who slew his Master?"

But he raised his face to the win- 32 dow and called out, "Who is on my side? Who?" When two or three eunuchs looked out to him; then he 33 shouted, "Throw her down!" So they threw her down, and her blood splashed the wall, and the horses who trampled upon her!

Then he entered, and ate and 34 drank, and afterwards said, "Pick up that damned woman, and bury her, for she is a king's daughter."

They therefore went to bury her, 35 but found nothing of her, except her skull, and feet, and the palms of her hands.

So they returned and reported it to 36 him, when he remarked, "It was the sentence of the EVER-LIVING, which He delivered by the means of His servant Elishah the Thishbite, saying, 'Upon the vineyard of Jezreel dogs shall eat the carcase of Aisabel!'

37 And the carcase of Aisabel shall become dung upon the surface of the ground of the farm of Jezreel, so that they cannot say, 'This was Aisabel!'"

(B.C. 884.) Murder of Ahab's Sons at Shomeron.

10 There were seventy sons of Akhab in Shomeron, therefore Jehu wrote letters and sent to Shomeron as if from the nobles of Jezreel, and the councillors and nobles of Akhab, to say:—

2 "When this letter comes to you, you possess the sons of your Prince, and chariots and horses, and a fortified city, and an arsenal, therefore choose the best and handsomest among the sons of your Prince, and set him on his father's throne, and fight for the House of your Prince."

4 But they were very much afraid and said, "Two kings could not stand against him, so we cannot resist him."

5 Therefore the governor of the palace, and the Governor of the city, and the Councillors, and the Guardians sent to Jehu to say, "We are your servants and we will do all you order us. You must make the best man in your own opinion king over us."

6 He consequently wrote a second letter to them to say, "If you are on my side, and will listen to my word, take the heads of those men, the sons of your Prince, and come to me at this time to-morrow at Jezreel."

The sons of the king were with the nobles of the city who had educated them.

7 When this letter came to them, they took the sons of the king and slaughtered the seventy persons, and put their heads in baskets, and sent

8 them to him at Jezreel, and a messenger came and reported to him, "They have brought the heads of the sons of the king." When he replied, "Put them in two heaps opposite the gate until morning."

9 When it was morning he went out, and stood and addressed the people, and said:—

"You are all honourable men! You know I conspired against my master and killed him? But who assailed all these? So you can learn now that not a word of the EVER-LIVING will fall to the earth of all that the EVER-LIVING spoke against the House of Akhab; but the EVER-LIVING will do what He threatened by means of His servant Eliah."

Then Jehu executed the whole of the nobles of the House of Akhab, in Jezreel, and all his great men, and all his friends, and his priests, until not a remnant was left.

(B.C. 884.) Jehu advances against Shomeron, and Murders Akhaziah's Brothers on the Way.

He afterwards arose and advanced and marched to Shomeron. When he reached the Shepherds' shearing house, on the way, Jehu met the brothers of Akhaziah king of Judah, and asked, "Who are you?" And they answered, "We are the brothers of Akhaziah, and we are descending to visit the king's son, and the sons of the nobles."

But he commanded, "Seize them alive!" So they seized them alive, and slaughtered at the pit of the Shearing-house forty-two persons, and spared not a single one of them.

As he marched from there, he met Jhonadab-ben-Rekab coming to meet him, and he addressed him, and asked, "Is your heart right with me, as my heart is with your heart?"

When Jhonadab replied, "It is."

"If it is, give me your hand."

So he gave his hand and mounted to him on the chariot, when he said, "Go with me and see my zeal for the EVER-LIVING!" And he rode with him in the chariot.

When he reached Shomeron he assailed all the Princes of Akhab in Shomeron, until he had destroyed them, according to the sentence of the EVER-LIVING that He pronounced by Eliah.

Jehu Receives and Slaughters the Priests of Baal.

Jehu afterwards assembled the people and said to them:—

"Ahab served Baal a little—Jehu will serve him much! Therefore, now, all you Preachers of Baal, all you servants of him, and all his priests, come to me, every man in his station, to make with me a big sacrifice to Baal! Everyone who is not in his station will offer an insult to Jehu."

But Jehu did it cunningly to destroy those servants of Baal. "Therefore," Jehu said, "proclaim an Assembly to Baal!" They accordingly

21 proclaimed one, and Jehu sent through all Israel, and all the servants of Bal came—there was not a single one who did not come—and went to

22 the Temple of Bal and filled the Temple of Bal all over. He then said to the Superintendent of the Wardrobe, "Bring out uniforms for all the ministers of Bal."

And he brought the uniforms out.

23 Then Jehu and Jhonadab-ben-Rekab came to the Temple of Bal, and he said to the ministers of Bal, "Search and examine, for fear there should be among you any ministers of Jehovah; for I will expel all, except the ministers of Bal."

24 Then they entered and made sacrifices, and burnt-offerings; but Jehu had chosen for himself outside eighty men and said:—

"The man who allows one of these fellows, whom I have prepared for your hands, to escape, his life shall be for his!"

25 So when they had finished making the burnt-offering, Jehu commanded the infantry and their officers, "Advance! Charge! Let not a man come out!" Then the infantry and their officers charged with the sword, and went to the sanctuary of the 26 Temple of Bal, and they brought out the columns of the Temple of Bal, and fired them, and threw down the Temple of Bal, and turned it into a 27 dunghill to this day. Thus Jehu swept Bal from Israel.

(B.C. 884.) Jehu continues the Sins of Jerabam-ben-Nebat.

29 However, Jehu did not turn from the sins of Jerabam-ben-Nebat, who caused Israel to sin—from the worship of the calves of gold that were

30 at Bethel and at Dan; consequently the EVER-LIVING said to Jehu:—

"Because you have done well and right in My sight, according to all that it was in My heart that you should do to the House of Akhab, four of your descendants shall sit upon the throne of Israel."

31 Jehu, however, did not continue to walk in the laws of the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel with all his heart. He did not turn from the sins of Jerabam, 32 who made Israel sin. In his days the EVER-LIVING lessened the boundaries of Israel, and Hazaal conquered from them upon all the borders of Israel,

33 from the Jordan eastward towards the sun, all the country of Gilad, the Gadites, and Reubenites, and Manassites, from Arar upon the river Arnon, with Gilad and Bashan.

The rest of the affairs of Jehu, and 34 all that he did, and all his achievements, they are recorded in the history of the events of the times of the Kings of Israel.

When Jehu slept with his fathers 35 they buried him in Shomeron, and Jhoakhaz his son reigned in his place. The period that Jehu was King over 36 Israel was twenty-eight years in Shomeron.

(B.C. 884.) Queen Athaliah of Israel Murders the Royal Family—except one Boy.

When Athaliah the mother of 11 Akhazia saw that her son was dead, she arose and destroyed the whole of the Royal Family. Jhosheba, the daughter of King Joram, however, sister of Akhazia, took Joash the son of Akhazia and stole him from among the children of the king who were being murdered, and nursed him in a secret chamber, and concealed him from the sight of Athaliah, so he was not killed. He was after- 3 wards hidden with her in the House of the EVER-LIVING for six years, while Athaliah reigned over the country.

Jhoiada the High Priest dethrones and kills Athaliah.

But in the seventh year Jhoiada 4 sent and invited the Captains of the Guards, and Infantry, and brought them to him in the House of the EVER-LIVING, and showed them the son of the king, and instructed them 5 saying, "This is what you must do three days hence. Come on the Sab- 6 bath and fix the Guards to guard the king's palace, and relieve the Guards at the gate, and dismiss the Officers at the first gate, and yourselves remain to guard the Temple from being entered. And let half of your troops 7 come every Sabbath, and stand as a guard to keep the Temple of the EVER-LIVING for the king, and form 8 yourselves around the king each with his arms in his hands, and if any refuses, let him be killed. You must also attend the king wherever he goes."

The Captains of the Companies 9 accordingly did all that Jhoiada the

- Priest commanded, and taking each his men, came on the Sabbath. When they arrived on the Sabbath, they came to Jhoiada the priest, and the priest gave to the Captains of the Companies the spears, and shields, which since the time of King David had been in the Temple of the EVER-LIVING, and the Infantry were posted each with his arms in his hands at the right side of the Temple—and at the left side of the Temple—towards the altar—and towards the Royal Palace, all round. Then he brought out the son of the king, and put to him the Declaration, and the Constitution, and crowned him, and consecrated him, when they clapped hands and shouted, "Long live the King!"
- But Athaliah heard the shout of the troops and crowd, and went to the crowd in the Temple of the EVER-LIVING, and looked, and saw the king standing by on a platform like a judge, and the Captains and the Courtiers of the king, and many people of the country besides, who applauded with the Courtiers. Then Athaliah tore her robes and shouted "Treason! treason!" But Jhoiada the priest commanded the Captains of the Guards and Officers of the army, saying to them: "Take her out of the Temple to the colonnade, and bring her to death by the sword. But," said the Priest, "kill her not in the House of the EVER-LIVING."
- They consequently laid hands on her and brought her to the gangway of the cavalry barracks of the king, and killed her there.

(B.C. 878.) Jhoash Crowned King of Judah.

- Jhoiada next read the Covenant between the EVER-LIVING and the king, and the people, which was to be maintained by the people towards the EVER-LIVING, and between the King and the people.
- The Representatives of the country went afterwards to the Temple of Bal and threw down his altar, and smashed his image with delight, and killed Mattan the priest of Bal before his altar, and appointed a priest from the orders of the Temple of the EVER-LIVING.
- He then collected the Captains of the Guards, and the body-guard, and the Courtiers, and Representatives of the country, and brought the king down from the Temple of the EVER-LIVING, and conducted him by way of the Infantry Gate to the Royal Palace, and set him upon the Royal throne. All the Representatives of the country rejoiced, and the City was content, when they had killed Athaliah by the sword at the Royal Palace.

Jhoash was seven years old when he 12 was crowned. In the seventh year of 2 Jehu, Jhoash began to reign, and reigned forty years in Jerusalem, and his mother's name was Tzibah of Bersheba. Jhoash did right in the 3 sight of the EVER-LIVING, as Jhoida the Priest taught him, except that he 4 did not overturn the Columns—the people still sacrificed and offered incense at the Columns.

(B.C. 876.) Jhoash Orders a Repairing of the Temple.

Jhoash also ordered the Priests, 5 "All the statutory money that is collected for the House of the EVER-LIVING; the money from the personal tax, money assessed for lives, or which is offered by any one freely, who comes to the Temple of the EVER-LIVING,—let the Priests take of 6 it themselves, each for his salary, but let them repair the dilapidations of the Temple, wherever they find it dilapidated."

(B.C. 856.) The Priests Neglect their Duty to repair it.

However, in the thirteenth year of 7 King Jhoash it was found the Priests had not repaired the dilapidations of the Temple. Consequently King 8 Jhoash summoned Jhoida the High Priest, with the Priests, and asked them, "Why have you not repaired the dilapidations of the Temple? Cease further to appropriate the money as wages for yourselves, but pay for the dilapidations of the Temple." Therefore he prohibited 9 the Priests from collecting money from the people, because they did not repair the dilapidations of the Temple.

(B.C. 856.) The Temple repaired under a Royal Commission.

Consequently Jhoida the Priest 10 prepared a box and cut a hole in its 11 lid, and placed it at the side of the Altar, at the right-hand entrance to 12 the House of the EVER-LIVING, and the Priests on guard at the threshold put into it all the money brought to 13 the Temple of the EVER-LIVING, for the builders, the stone masons, and workers in wood, and carved stones, to repair the dilapidations of the House of the EVER-LIVING, and for all that was brought to the Temple to repair it. But there were not made 14 for the Temple of the EVER-LIVING silver dishes for the sacrifices, tongs, forks—any instruments of gold or instruments of silver—from the money that was brought to the House of the 15 EVER-LIVING, but it was paid to those doing the work, and they repaired the House of the EVER-LIVING with it.

 16 The men also to whom was entrusted the money to pay for doing the work were not dishonest, for they did it 17 faithfully. The money from offerings, and the money from fines for offences, was not brought into the Temple of the EVER-LIVING; it belonged to the Priests.

(B.C. 850.) Hazahal captures Gath and threatens Jerusalem.

18 At this time Hazahal King of Aram advanced against Gath to attack it, and captured it. Then Hazahal set his face to advance against Jerusalem, 19 but Jhoash King of Judah took all the consecrations that Jhoshafat and Jhoram, and Akhaziah his ancestors, Kings of Judah, had consecrated, and his own consecrations, and the gold found in the treasury of the Temple of the EVER-LIVING, and the Royal Palace, and sent it to Hazahal, King of Aram, so he retreated from Jerusalem.

The Murder of Jhoash.

20 The rest of the affairs of Jhoash, and all he did, are written in the history of the events during the 21 period of the kings of Judah. His ministers, however, arose and conspired and assailed Jhoash at Beth-mila in the vale of Sila, where Jozakar-ben-Shamath and Jhozaber-ben-Shamer, his ministers, assaulted him, and he was killed, and they buried him with his fathers, in the City of David, and Amatziah his son reigned in his stead,

(B.C. 856.) Jhoakhaz-ben-Jehu reigns over Israel.

In the twenty-third year of Joash 13 son of Akhaziah, king of Judah, Jhoakhaz-ben-Jehu began to reign over Israel in Shomeron, for seventeen years. But he did wrong in the 2 sight of the EVER-LIVING, and followed after the sin of Jerabam-ben-Nebat, who made Israel sin. He did not turn from it. Consequently the 3 EVER-LIVING was angry with Israel, and He delivered it to the power of Hazahal, king of Aram, and to the power of Ben-hadad son of Hazahal, all their time.

(B.C. 856 to 849.) Israel drives out the Aramite Invaders.

Jhoakhaz afterwards turned to the 4 EVER-LIVING, and He rescued him; for the EVER-LIVING pitied the distress of Israel. For the kings of Aram distressed them. Therefore the EVER- 5 LIVING gave to Israel a relief, and they escaped from beneath the hand of Aram, and the children of Israel returned to their homes as formerly. However, they did not abandon the 6 sins of the House of Jerabam with which Israel had gone to sin. The Shrine was also left in Shomeron.

No army was, however, left to 7 Jhoakhaz except fifty cavalry, and ten chariots, and ten thousand infantry, for the king of Aram had destroyed them, and made them like dust to the tempest.

The remainder of the affairs of 8 Jhoakhaz, and all he did, and his courage, are recorded in the history of the events of the kings of Israel.

(B.C. 839.)

When Jhoakhaz slept with his 9 fathers they buried him in Shomeron, and Jhoash his son reigned after him.

Jhoash Reigns in Israel.

In the twenty-seventh year of Jhoash 10 king of Judah, Jhoash son of Jhoakhaz began to reign over Israel in Shomeron, for sixteen years. But he did 11 wrong in the sight of the EVER-LIVING. He turned not from the sin of Jerabam-ben-Nebat, which he caused Israel to sin. He followed it.

(B.C. 825.)

As to the other affairs of Jhoash, 12 and all that he did, and his courage

—how he fought with Amatziah king of Judah—they are recorded in the history of events during the period of the kings of Israel. Then Jhoash slept with his fathers, and Jarabam sat on his throne, and he buried Jhoash in Shomeron with the kings of Israel.

(B.C. 839.) Elisha's Illness and Death, and Promise to Jhoash.

14 When Alisha was ill with the illness that was his death, Jhoash king of Israel visited him, and wept before him, and exclaimed, "My father! My father! The chariot of Israel and its horses!"

15 Then Alisha said to him, "Take a bow and arrows."

So he took a bow and arrows.

He next said to the king of Israel,

16 "Draw the bow with your hands."

And he drew the bow with his hands, and Alisha put his hands on 17 the hands of the king and said, "Open the window towards the east."

So he opened it.

Then Alisha said, "Shoot."

And he shot.

When he exclaimed, "An arrow of deliverance from the EVER-LIVING, and an arrow of deliverance against Aram! For you shall defeat Aram 18 with a crash to destruction." Then he added, "Take your arrows."

And he took.

Then he said to the king of Israel, "Shoot at the ground!"

So he shot three times, then stopped.

19 And the MAN of GOD was angry, and exclaimed to him, "You should have shot five or six times, then you would have defeated Aram to destruction; but now you have only defeated Aram three times."

(B.C. 838).

20 Thus Alisha died, and they buried him when the raiders from Moab were coming into the country, at the fall of the year. They were burying another man also, but when they saw the raiders they threw the man into the grave of Alisha, and ran away. When, however, the man touched the corpse of Alisha, he arose on his feet.

(B.C. 839.) The Ruin of Israel arrested by Jhoash.

22 Hazahal, king of Aram, then oppressed Israel all the days of Jhoash, 23 but afterwards the EVER-LIVING pitied them and showed mercy, and turned towards them, because of His Covenant with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and did not desire to desolate them, nor to throw them from His presence at that time. Therefore 24 Hazahal king of Aram died, and Benhadad his son reigned after him. Then Jhoash turned upon Benhadad, 25 and took the cities from the hand of Benhadad, the son of Hazabal, which he had taken from the possession of his father Jhoashaz—Jhoash defeated him in battle three times, and recovered the towns to Israel.

(About B.C. 836.)

(B.C. 839.) Reign of Amatziah over Judah.

In the second year of Jhoash king 14 of Israel, Amatziah-ben-Jhoash began to reign in Judah. He was twenty- 2 five years old at his coronation, and was king in Jerusalem for twenty-nine years, and his mother's name was Jhoadin, of Jerusalem; and he 3 did right in the sight of the EVER-LIVING. Not, however, like his ancestor David, but exactly as his father Jhoash did. Yet he did not take away 4 the Columns—the people still offered sacrifice and incense at the Columns.

(B.C. 838.) Amatziah executes his Father's Murderers.

When he had fixed himself firmly 5 in possession of the kingship, he executed those ministers of his father who had killed the king his father. But he did not kill the sons of the 6 murderers, because it is written in the law of Moses that the EVER-LIVING commanded, saying, "You shall not kill the parents on account of their children; and you shall not kill the children on account of their parents; a man shall only be killed for his own crime."

He defeated ten thousand of Edom 7 and the Amalekites, and seized Sela by war, and called its name Jakthal to this day.

(B.C. 827.) Amatziah Challenges Jhoash to War.

Then Amatziah sent Ambassadors 8 to Jhoash-ben-Jhoash—the descendant of Jehu, king of Israel, to say, "Come, let us see faces!"

(B.C. 826.) Jhoash replies by an Insulting Fable.

- 9 But Jhoash king of Israel sent to Amatziah king of Judah once to say, "A bramble in Lebanon once sent to the cedar of Lebanon to say, 'Give your daughter to my son as a wife!' Then a wild beast that was in Lebanon passed and trod down the bramble!
- 10 You have defeated Edom, and so your heart rises in pride! But go home! Why should you excite trouble, and fall yourself, and all Judah with you?"

(B.C. 826.) Jhoash of Israel Captures Jerusalem.

- 11 Amatziah would not listen, however, but advanced against Jhoash king of Israel, and they saw each other's faces, he and Amatziah king of Judah, at
- 12 Bethshemsh, which is in Judah, where Judah was routed before Israel and
- 13 everyone fled to his house. And Amatziah - ben - Jhoash - ben - Ahaziah, king of Judah, was also captured by Jhoash king of Israel at Bethshemsh, who then advanced to Jerusalem and broke down the wall of Jerusalem from the Gate of Ephraim to the corner gate,—four hundred cubits.
- 14 He also took all the gold and silver, and the furniture that he found in the Temple of the EVER-LIVING, or that was found in the Royal Palace, and his children for hostages. Then he returned to Shomeron.
- 15 For the other affairs of Jhoash, what he did, and his achievements, and how he fought with Amatziah, king of Judah, they are related in the history of events during the times of the
- 16 Kings of Judah. When Jhoash slept with his fathers, he was buried in Shomeron with the Kings of Israel, and Jerabam his son reigned after him.

(B.C. 810.) Amatziah of Judah Murdered.

- 17 Amatziah - ben - Joash, however, reigned over Judah after the death of Jhoash-ben-Ahaziah king of Israel for fifteen years. But the other affairs of Amatziah are written in the history of events in the period of the Kings of Judah. When they conspired against him in Jerusalem he fled to Lakish. But they sent after him to Lakish and murdered him there.
- 20 They, however, carried him with the horseman to Jerusalem and buried him with his fathers in the City of David.

(B.C. 810.) Azeriah Reigns over Judah.

The people of Judah took Azariah, 21 who was ten years old, and crowned him in place of his father Amatziah. He built Ailath and restored it to 23 Judah. The king afterwards slept with his fathers.

(B.C. 825.) Jerabam-ben-Joash Reigns over Israel.

In the fifteenth year of Amatziah- 23 ben-Jhoash, king of Judah, Jerabam-ben-Jhoash, king of Israel, began to reign in Shomeron for forty-one years. But he did wrong in the sight of the 24 EVER-LIVING. He turned not from any of the sins of Jerabam-ben-Nebat, who caused the sin of Israel. He re- 25 stored the boundaries of Israel from Khamath to the Sea of the Desert, according to the promise of the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel, which He promised by means of Jonah-ben-Amathai, the Preacher, who came from Gath-Khefer. For the EVER- 26 LIVING pitied the immeasurable miseries of Israel both without and within, when there was no ease for Israel. The EVER-LIVING had not 27 yet decided to blot the name of Israel from beneath the heavens, therefore He rescued it by the hand of Jerabam-ben-Joash.

For the other affairs of Jerabam, 28 and all that he did, how he warred, and how he recaptured Damascus and Khamath of Judah to Israel, they are recorded in the history of events of the days of the kings of Israel. Then 29 Jerabam slept with his fathers—with the kings of Israel—and Zakariah his son reigned after him.

(B.C. 810.) Azeriah Reigns in Judah.

In the seventeenth year of Jerabam 16 king of Israel, Azeriah-ben-Amatziah, king of Judah, began to reign. He 2 was sixteen years old at his coronation, and reigned fifty-two years in Jerusalem, and his mother's name was Jekaliah of Jerusalem; and he did 3 right in the eyes of the EVER-LIVING, as Amatziah his father did. Yet he 4 did not throw down the Columns,—the people still sacrificed and offered

- 5 incense at the Columns. The EVER-LIVING, however, afflicted the king, and he became a leper towards the time of his death, and resided in a separate house, and Jotham the son of the king was Chief-Justice for the public.
- 6 For the other affairs of Azeriah, they are related in the history of events during the days of the kings of Judah.
- 7 When Azeriah slept with his fathers, they buried him with his ancestors in the City of David, and Jotham his son succeeded him as king.

(About B.C. 773.) Zakeriah-ben-Jerabam Reigns over Israel.

- 8 In the thirty-eighth year of Azeriah king of Judah, Zakeriah-ben-Jerabam began to reign over Israel, in Shomeron, for six months. But he did wrong in the sight of the EVER-LIVING, as his fathers did;—he turned not from the sins of Jerabam-ben-Nebath, who caused the sin of Israel. Shalum-ben-Jabsh, however, conspired against him, and assailed him in public, and killed him, and reigned in his place.
- 11 But the rest of the affairs of Zakeriah are recorded in the history of events during the period of the kings of Israel.
- 12 He completed the promise of the EVER-LIVING, which He promised to Jehu, saying, "Four of your descendants shall sit upon the throne of Israel,"—and it was so.

(B.C. 772.) Shalum-ben-Jabsh Reigns in Israel a Month, and is Murdered.

- 13 Shalum-ben-Jabsh began to reign in the thirty-ninth year of Azeriah king of Judah, and he reigned a month in Shomeron, when Menakhah-ben-Gadi, of Thirtzah, came to Shomeron, and attacked Shalum-ben-Jabsh, in Shomeron, and killed him, and reigned instead of him.
- 15 As to the other affairs of Shalum, and his conspiracy that he conspired—they are recorded in the history of events in the days of the kings of Israel.

(B.C. 771.) The Brutality of Menakhah, the Revolutionist.

- 16 Menakhah afterwards assailed Thifzah, and all who were in it, and its suburbs, and Thirtzah, because they did not surrender, and murdered all the women with child by ripping them up.

In the thirty-ninth year of Azeriah 17 king of Judah, Menakhah-ben-Gadi began to reign over Israel in Shomeron. But he did evil in the sight of 18 the EVER-LIVING. He turned not from the sins of Jerabam-ben-Nebath, who caused the sin of Israel, all his time.

(B.C. 771.) Pul, King of Ashur, Invades Israel.

Pul, king of Ashur, advanced against 19 the country, but Menakhah gave to Pul a thousand talents of silver to be his ally, to secure the kingship in his hands. Menakhah collected the 20 money from Israel, and from the Officers of the army to give to the king of Ashur—fifty silver shekels from each person—so the king of Ashur retreated and did not remain in the country.

As to the other affairs of Menakhah, 21 and all that he did, they are related in the history of events of the days of the kings of Israel. When Menakhah 22 slept with his fathers, Pakahiah his son reigned after him.

(B.C. 761.) Reign of Pekahiah-ben-Menakhah.

In the fiftieth year of Azariah, king 23 of Judah, Pekahiah-ben-Menakhah began to reign in Shomeron. But he 24 did wrong in the eyes of the EVER-LIVING. He did not turn from the sins of Jerabam-ben-Nebath, who caused the sin of Israel; and Pekah- 25 ben-Remaliah his general conspired against him, and assailed him at Shomeron, in the Royal Palace, with Argob, and Aariah, and fifty other men, from the people of Gilead, and reigned in his place.

The other affairs of Pekahiah, and 26 all that he did, are recorded in the history of events during the period of the kings of Israel.

(B.C. 759.) Pekah-ben-Remaliah seizes the Throne of Israel.

In the fifty-second year of Azeriah 27 king of Judah, Pekah-ben-Remaliah began to reign over Israel for twenty years. But he did evil in the sight of 28 the EVER-LIVING. He did not turn from the sins of Jerabam-ben-Nebath, who caused the sin of Israel.

(B.C. 740.) Tiglath-Pilazer, of Ashur, seizes all North-West Israel.

29 In the time of Pekakh, king of Israel, Thiglath-Pilazer, king of Ashur, came and seized Aion and the meadows of Beth-Makah, and Janokh, and Kadish, and Khatzur, and Gilad, and Galilee, with all the country of Naphthali, and removed them to Ashur.

Hosha-ben-Alah Murders Pekakh and Reigns.

30 Then Hosha-ben-Alah conspired against Pekakh-ben-Remaliah, and assailed and murdered him, and reigned in his place, in the twentieth year of Jotham-ben-Aziah.¹

(B.C. 739.)

31 As to the other affairs of Pekakh, and all that he did, they are related in the history of the events of the times of the kings of Israel.

(B.C. 758.) Reign of Jotham-ben-Azariah over Judah.

32 In the second year of Pekakh-ben-Remaliah, king of Israel, Jotham-ben-Aziah, king of Judah, began to reign. He was fifteen years old at his coronation, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem, and his mother's name was Eosha the daughter of Zadok. And he did right in the eyes of the EVER-LIVING, in everything as his father Azariah had done, 33 However, he did not overturn the Columns; the people still sacrificed and offered incense at the Columns. He built the High Gate at the House of the EVER-LIVING. But the rest of the affairs of Jotham, and all that he did, are written of in the history of events during the period of the kings of Judah.

(B.C. 742.) Retzin, King of Aram, assails Judah.

37 At this period the EVER-LIVING began to send to Judah, Retzin, king of Aram, and Pekakh-ben-Remaliah.

When Jotham slept with his fathers,³⁶ he was buried with his fathers in the City of David, and Ahaz his son succeeded him.

(B.C. 742.) Ahaz-ben-Jotham Reigns in Judah.

In the seventeenth year of Pekakh-16 ben-Remaliah, Ahaz-ben-Jotham, king of Judah, began to reign. He 2 was twelve years old at his coronation, and reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem, but did not do right in the sight of the EVER-LIVING GOD like David his ancestor. He followed the 3 path of the kings of Israel, and even passed his children through the fire, like the foul heathen whom the EVER-LIVING drove before the face of the children of Israel. He also sacrificed 4 and offered incense at the Columns, and upon the hills, and under every leafy tree. Consequently Retzin, king 5 of Aram, came, and Pekah-ben-Remaliah, king of Israel, against Jerusalem to war, and besieged Ahaz—but were not able to succeed.

(B.C. 740.) Alliance between Ahaz and the King of Ashur.

But at that time Retzin re-captured 6 Ailath to Aram, and drove the Jews out of Ailath, and brought Aramites to Ailath and settled them there to this day. Ahaz consequently sent Ambassadors to Thiglath-Pilazer, king of Ashur, to say, "I am your slave and son! Come and save me from the hand of the king of Aram, and from the hand of the king of Israel, who have risen up against me." He also took 8 the silver and gold found in the Temple of the EVER-LIVING, and in the treasuries of the Royal Palace, and sent to the king of Ashur as a present. The king of Ashur 9 consequently listened to him. So the king of Ashur advanced against Damascus and captured it, and transported to Kirah, and killed Retzin.

(B.C. 739.) Ahaz makes a Gentilen Altar.

King Ahaz went to meet Thiglath-10 Pilazer, king of Ashur, at Damask, where he saw the altar that was in Damask. The king consequently sent to Uriah the priest a drawing of that altar, and the building of it, with ¹ Several years of civil war followed the murder of Pekakh, of which no details are given, as proved by Ch. 17, v. 1, which indicates some nine or ten years of anarchy between the murder and succession of Hosha.—F. F.

- 11 all its formation; and Uriah the priest built an altar exactly like what the king sent to him from Damask. Uriah the Priest made it against the return of king Abaz from Damask.
- 12 When the king returned from Damask, and saw the altar, the king approached to the altar, and offered sacrifice upon it, and put incense on the burnt-offering, with its bread, and poured the drink-offering; and sprinkled the blood of the thank-offerings, which he made upon the altar; for he had removed the brazen altar that was before the EVER-LIVING from the front of the house, between his altar and the Temple of the EVER-LIVING, and placed it at the north side of his altar.
- 15 For the king had ordered Uriah the priest saying, "Burn incense upon this Grand Altar with the Morning Sacrifice, with the food-offering in the evening, and burnt-offering of the king, and its food-offering, and the burnt-offering for all the people of the country, and their food-offerings, and their drink-offerings, and all the blood-offerings, and all the blood of sacrifice sprinkled upon it,—but the brazen Altar shall be for me in the morning."

(B.C. 738.) King Ahaz and Uriah the Priest desecrate the Temple.

- 16 Uriah the priest consequently did exactly as he was ordered by King Ahaz, who also broke down the guard of the bases, and removed from them the baths, and took down the sea from the oxen of brass which were under it, and placed it upon blocks of stone.
- 18 And the intervening screen which was built between the Temple and the royal entrance to the Court that surrounded the House of the EVER-LIVING, he removed for the sake of the king of Ashur.

(B.C. 726.)

- 19 The other things that Ahaz did are related in the history of events in the period of the kings of Judah. When Ahaz slept with his fathers he was buried with his ancestors in the City of David, and Hezekiah his son succeeded him.

(B.C. 730.) Reign of Hoshea-ben-Alah over Israel.

- 17 In the twelfth year of Ahaz, king of Judah, Hoshea-ben-Alah began to reign in Shomeron over Israel for nine years.¹ But he did wrong in the eyes of the EVER-LIVING, yet not like the kings of Israel who were before him.

(B.C. 730.) Shalmanazer Conquers Israel.

Shalmanazer, king of Ashur, advanced against him, and Hoshea became his subject, and paid him tribute. However, the king of Ashur discovered Hoshea was conspiring when he sent Ambassadors to Sua, king of Egypt, and did not send up the yearly tribute to the king of Ashur. The king of Ashur consequently deposed and confined him in a fortress. The king of Ashur also invaded the whole country, and ravaged it for three years. In the seventh year of Hoshea, the king of Ashur captured Shomeron and transported Israel to Ashur, and settled them in Khalakh,² and adjoining the river Gozan, and the cities of the Medes.

Reflections upon the Causes of the Fall of Israel.³

It was because the children of 7 Israel, with the kings they made, sinned against their EVER-LIVING GOD—Who had brought them up from the land of the Mitzeraim, from under the hand of Pharoh, king of the Mitzeraim—and revered foreign gods, and walked in the customs of 8 the heathen whom the EVER-LIVING

¹ Nine or ten years of anarchy had preceded.—F. F.

² "Khalakh," now the province of Azerbaijan, in Persia, a name which means "The Land of Fire," as does the Hebrew name Khalakh, upon the river still called Gozan, in Persia, which falls into the south-west of the Caspian Sea. It now forms part of the Russian district of baku.—F. F.

³ The reflective, or philosophic, passage of Ch. 17, from v. 7 to v. 40, explains the object of Isaiah's masterly epitome of the history of Israel, to show that any governing class who cut themselves from the ancestral religion of the mass of the nation and its traditions, inevitably ends in destroying its social organization and national life, and that any constitution not founded upon a sacred idea and principle of religious duty only runs a short and disastrous career to destruction; the religion of a people being the soul of the State, without which it goes to death and corruption, exactly as an individual does if deprived of vital air. This is a principle or law of universal statesmanship taught by all history, and never violated with impunity.—F. F.

drove out before the children of 9 Israel. The children of Israel also sinned in other things, not being accordant with their EVER-LIVING GOD, and built Columns for themselves in all their cities, with Observatory-towers in the fortified cities.
 10 And they set up Pillars for themselves, and Shrines upon every hill-11 top, and under every leafy tree. They also burnt incense at all the Columns like the heathen, to provoke the 12 EVER-LIVING; and served idols, although the EVER-LIVING said to them,—“You shall not make any 13 such things.” Yet the EVER-LIVING had warned Israel and Judah by means of His Preachers, and every Prophet, saying, “Turn from your evil paths, and keep My Commandments and Institutions, according to the perfect laws that I ordained for your ancestors, and that I sent to you by the hands of My servants the 14 Preachers.” They did not, however, listen, but stiffened their necks like the necks of their fathers, who were not faithful to their EVER-LIVING 15 GOD. And abandoned His Institutions and His Covenant, which He made with their forefathers, and the Evidences that He showed them, and went after Imaginations and worshipped Fancies, and followed the heathen around them, of whom the EVER-LIVING commanded, “You 16 shall not do like them.” Thus they abandoned the whole of the Commands of their EVER-LIVING GOD, and made two metal Calves, and Shrines, and bowed down to all the 17 host of the skies, and served Baal;
 and passed their sons and daughters through the fire, and practised Divination, and worshipped snakes, and sold themselves to do evil in the sight of the EVER-LIVING and provoked 18 Him. Consequently the EVER-LIVING was very angry with Israel, and turned them from His presence, reserving none except the tribe of Judah alone.
 19 Judah, also, did not regard the Commands of their EVER-LIVING
 GOD, but followed the same customs 20 as Israel. Therefore the EVER-LIVING rejected all the race of Israel, and reduced them, and gave them to the power of the plunderers, until He 21 sent them from His presence. For He tore Israel from off the House of David, and they crowned Jerabam-ben-Nebat, and Jerabam led Israel from following the EVER-LIVING, and caused them to sin the GREAT SIN.

 So the children of Israel went into 22
 all the sin that Jerabam practised.
 They never turned from it, until the 23 EVER-LIVING turned Israel from His presence, as He threatened by the means of all His servants the Preachers,—and rolled Israel from its land to Ashur (to this day¹).

(B.C. 678.) Samaria Colonized by Pagans.

Then the king of Ashur brought 24 people from Babel, and from Kush, and from Awa, and from Khamath, and from Sefarvaim, and settled them in the cities of Shomeron, and they colonized its towns. But it resulted 25 that the new comers who were settled there did not reverence the EVER-LIVING, so the EVER-LIVING sent lions upon them who killed them.
 Consequently they reported to the 26 king of Ashur, saying, “The nations you have deported and settled in the towns of Shomeron do not know the decrees of the GOD of the country, so He has sent lions to them, who kill them, because they have no knowledge of the decrees of the GOD of the country.”

Consequently the king of Ashur 27 said, “Send there some of the priests whom I have transported from there, and let them go and reside there, and teach them the decrees of the GOD of the country.”

Therefore some of the priests who 28 had been transported from Shomeron returned to Bethel, and taught them how to worship the EVER-LIVING.

But they, nation by nation, also 29 made their own gods, and fixed them in the Houses of Columns which the Shomerites had constructed, nation by nation, in their towns where they resided. Thus the people of Babel 30 made Booths for Girls; the people of Kush made Nergal; the people of Khamath made Ashima, and the 31
 Avites made Nibkaz and Tharthak; and the Sefarvites burnt their sons in fire to Adramalek and Agmalek, gods of the Sefarvites. Yet they 32

¹ The last clause, “To this day,” is the inserted note of some old editor, probably Ezra or Nehemiah, after the return from Babylon, and not a part of Isaiah's work.—
 F. F.

worshipped the EVER-LIVING, but made for themselves priests from the mass of the priests of the Columns, and also made for themselves temples of Columns. They worshipped the EVER-LIVING, and the gods they were serving according to the customs of the nation from whence they were transported.¹

(B.C. 726.) The Prosperous Reign of Hezekiah over Judah.

18 It was in the third year of Hoshea-ben-Alah, king of Israel, that Hezekiah-ben-Ahaz began to reign in Judah.
2 He was fifteen years old at his coronation, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem, and his mother's name was Abi, the daughter
3 of Zakeriah. He did right in the sight of the EVER-LIVING, exactly as 4 his ancestor David did. He threw down the Columns, and smashed the Pillars, and cut down the Shrines, and broke up the Brazen Serpent which Moses had made—for until this period the children of Israel offered incense to it—but he called it

¹ The passages from v. 34 to the end of v. 40 are clearly a subsequent editorial comment of a transcriber, not part of the work of Isaiah, made perhaps by Nehemiah, and only reflect the thoughts of Isaiah which he had copied out. I, therefore, place them at the foot of the page.—F. F.

34 To this day they use their former customs. They both worship the EVER-LIVING, and practise according to their own Institutions, and according to their usages, and according to the law and commands which the EVER-LIVING commanded to the sons of Jacob, who bears the name of Israel, with whom the EVER-LIVING made a Covenant, and commanded them saying, "You shall not worship other gods, nor bow down to them, nor serve them, nor sacrifice to them, but only to the EVER-LIVING Who brought you up from the land of the Mitzeraim with great power, and a directing arm; worship Him, and bow to Him, and sacrifice to Him! And the Institutions, and the Decrees, and the Laws, and the Commands, which He wrote for you guard and practise for all times; and worship no other gods. Worship the EVER-LIVING God alone, and He will deliver you from the hand of your enemies."

40 They, however, would not listen, except they also practised their former customs. Thus these heathen worshipped the EVER-LIVING, yet were serving their idols. Their sons and their grandsons do as their fathers practised to this day.

"Old brass!" He adhered to the 5 EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel.¹

He never turned from following Him, and regarded the Commands that the EVER-LIVING commanded to Moses; so the EVER-LIVING was with him wherever he went. He acted wisely and revolted from the king of Ashur, and served him not. He conquered the Philish- 8 tim in Gaza and its district, from the fortress of Migdol to the city of Mitzab.

But in the fourth year of King 9 Hezekiah, which was the seventh of Hoshea-ben-Alah, king of Israel, Shalmanazer, king of Ashur, advanced to Shomeron, and besieged it, and 10 captured it at the end of three years; in the seventh year of Hezekiah, which was the tenth year of Hoshea, king of Israel, he captured Shomeron.² Then 11 the king of Ashur transported Israel to Ashur, and planted them in Khalakh, and in the district of the river Gozan, and the cities of the Medes;³ because they would not 12 listen to the voice of their EVER-LIVING GOD, but transgressed the Covenant, the whole of which had been commanded to Moses, the servant of the EVER-LIVING. But they would not listen, nor obey.

(B.C. 713.) Senakherib Invades Judah.

In the fourteenth year of King 13 Hezekiah, Senakherib king of Ashur advanced against all the fortified cities of Judah, and seized them. Consequently Hezekiah, king of Judah, 14 sent to the king of Ashur at Lakhish to say, "I have done wrong! Return from me, and what you impose upon me, I will pay." So the king of Ashur laid upon Hezekiah, king of Judah, three hundred talents of silver and thirty talents of gold. And Hezekiah 15 paid him all the silver found in the

¹ The following clause in v. 5, ch. 18, is an editorial comment. Therefore I put it at the page foot:—

And after him there was none like him among all the kings of Judah, or who were before him, who stuck to the EVER-LIVING.—F. F.

² The enumeration of the years as they stand in the Hebrew and A. V. texts are evidently a transcriber's error. These should read "7th and 10th," not "6th and 7th" as the A. V. has them.—F. F.

³ Now Azerbaijan and Baku, on the southwest of the Caspian Sea.—F. F.

House of the EVER-LIVING, and in the treasuries of the Royal Palace.
 16 At the same time Hezekiah stripped it from the doors of the Temple of the EVER-LIVING, and the door-posts which Hezekiah, king of Judah, had plated, and gave it to the king of Ashur.

(11 C. 710.) Senahherib breaks his Treaty and Attacks Jerusalem.

17 Yet the king of Ashur sent Tharthan, and Rab-saris, and Rabshakah, from Lakhish to king Hezekiah, with a powerful army to Jerusalem, and they advanced and arrived at Jerusalem, and on arrival stationed themselves at the ascent of the High Reservoir, which is by the highway of the Potters' field.

(11 C. 710.)

18 From there they called for the king, and he sent out to them Aliakim-ben-Hilkiah, who was Superintendent of the Palace, and Shebna, the Secretary, and Joakh-ben-Asaf, the Recorder, and Rabshakah said to them:

Rabshakah's Insulting Speech.

"Say to Hezekiah: The Great King, the king of Ashur, asks this: 'What is the Protector upon whom you rely?' You say—but they are empty words—I have genius and strength for the war!"

"On whom did you rely when you 21 revolted from me? Look, now!—you trusted yourself upon that broken reed—upon Mitzraim!—upon which if a man leans it runs into his hand and pierces it! Such is Pharoh, king of the Mitzraim, to all who trust upon 22 him! But if you reply to me, 'We trust on our EVER-LIVING GOD': is not that He whose Columns and whose Altars Hezekiah has thrown down,—and ordered Judah and Jerusalem to bow towards the Altar of Jerusalem? 23 But, however, come over, I say, to my Master, the king of Ashur, and I will give you two thousand horses;—if you are able to put riders upon them for yourself! So how can you 24 turn back the face of one of the last of my Master's captains, and trust yourself to Mitzraim for chariots and 25 horsemen? However, have I advanced against this place without an order from the EVER-LIVING to destroy it? The EVER-LIVING said to me, 'Invade that country and devastate it!'"

(Here Aliakim-ben-Hilkiah, and 26 Shebna, and Joakh said to Rabshakah, "Speak to your servants, we beg, in Aramith, for we understand it, and do not speak to us in Hebrew, in the hearing of the soldiers on the wall.")

But Rabshakah replied to them:— 27 "Did my Master send me to speak to your Master, or to YOU, the things that I am saying? Was it not to the men on the wall,—who eat their own dung and drink their own piss with you?"

(Then Rabshakah stood up and 28 shouted with a loud voice in Hebrew, and spoke, and said:—)

"Listen to the words of the Great King—the King of Ashur! Thus 29 says the King: 'Let not Hezekiah mislead you, for he is not able to deliver you from my hand! And let 30 not Hezekiah himself trust on the EVER-LIVING, saying, 'The EVER-LIVING will deliver, and not give this city to the hand of the king of Ashur!'" Listen not to Hezekiah! 31 —for the king of Ashur says this: 'Make a treaty with me, and come out to me, and let everyone eat of his own grapes, and everyone his own figs, and everyone drink water from his own well, until I come and take 32 you to a land like your own land,—a land of corn and wine,—a land of bread and vineyards—a land of olives, oil, and honey,—where you can live, and not die,—and listen not to Hezekiah, who deceives you by saying, "The LORD will deliver us!"'

"Have the gods of the nations 33 delivered any one of their countries from the hand of the king of Ashur? Where are the gods of Khamath 34 and Arfad? Where are the gods of Sefarvaim, Ina, and Avah? Who delivered Shomeron from my hand?"

(The people, however, were silent, 36 and did not answer him a word, for the king's command was to give him no reply.)

Then Aliakim-ben-Hilkiah, Super- 37 intendent of the Palace, and Shebna the Secretary, and Joakh-ben-Asaf, the Recorder, returned to Hezekiah with their clothes torn, and reported to him the speech of Rabshakah; and when Hezekiah heard it, he tore 18 his robes, and put on sackcloth, and went to the house of the EVER-LIVING.

(B.C. 710.) Isaiah-ben-Amoz Consulted.

- 2 He also sent Aliakim, Superintendent of the Palace, and Shebna the Secretary, and the Chief Priests with them to Isaiah the Preacher, and son of Amoz, and they said to him:—
"The King says this: 'It is a time of distress, and reproach, and derision, to-day,—for the children have come to the birth, and there is not strength to bear them! Has not your EVER-LIVING GOD heard all the utterances of Rabshakah, whom the king of Ashur, his master, has sent to insult the GOD of LIFE, and abuse Him, with the speeches your EVER-LIVING GOD has heard? So raise a prayer for the remnant remaining.'"
- 5 Thus the ministers of King Hezekiah related to Isaiah, and Isaiah replied to them:—

Isaiah's Reply to Rabshakah.

- 6 "You can say to your king, 'The EVER-LIVING says this: "Fear not for the words you have heard spoken, with which the officers of the king of Ashur have reviled Me. I will send a wind upon him, and he shall hear its report, and return to his own country, and fall by the sword in his own land.'"
- 7

Rabshakah Retreats from Jerusalem.

- 8 Rabshakah consequently retreated, and met his king besieging Libnah, for he heard he had marched from Jerusalem.
- 9 Lakish, because he had heard a report about Thirakhah, king of Kush, saying that "He was coming to make war on him;" therefore he retreated. However, he sent messengers to Hezekiah to threaten: "Say this to Hezekiah, king of Judah, 'Do not exalt your GOD on Whom you trust, saying, 'He will not give Jerusalem to the hands of the king of Ashur.'"
- 11 Reflect how you have heard what the kings of Ashur have done to all the countries they devoted to conquest
- 12 —so shall you escape? Did the gods of the Nations deliver those who worshipped them from my forefathers? Gozan? and Kharan? or the children of Aden, who were in Thalsar?
- 13 Where is the king of Khamath? and the king of Arfad? and the king of the Cities of the Sefarvaim? Ina, or Avah?'"

Hezekiah, however, took the letter 14 from the hands of the Ambassadors and read it. Then he went up to the House of the EVER-LIVING, where Hezekiah spread it before the SUPREME.

(B.C. 710.) Hezekiah's Prayer.

Hezekiah also prayed before the 15 EVER-LIVING, and said:—

"EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel! You, seated among the Kerubim, are GOD alone of all the kingdoms of the earth. You made the Heavens, and the Earth. ETERNAL-LIFE! incline 16 your ears and listen; open your eyes, EVER-LIVING, and see; and hear the 17 words of Senakerib, which he has sent to insult the GOD of LIFE! Truly, LORD, the kings of Ashur have destroyed nations, and their countries; and flung their gods into 18 the fire. For they were not gods, but only the product of human hands,—of wood and stone. But You, our 19 EVER-LIVING GOD, can certainly save us from his hand, when all the kingdoms of the world will know that You are the LIVING GOD;—and You alone."

Isaiah - ben - Amoz also sent to 20 Hezekiah to say:—

(B.C. 710.)

"Thus says the LIVING GOD of Israel, 'When you prayed to Me about Senakerib, king of Ashur, I heard you.' This is the reply that the EVER-LIVING gives to him:—

God's Reply to His Rebel.

"At you the Virgin Daughter of 21 Zion laughs, Jerusalem's Daughter shakes her head!
Against whom is your libellous 22 insult?
Against whom do you raise your voice,
And lift up your insolent eyes?—
Against the Holy of Israel.
By your Ambassador's hand 23
You have insulted My Prince!

"You said, 'I will ride in my chariot over the hill tops;
Over Lebanon stride, and fell his tall cedars,
And beautiful pines,
And lodge at the side of the forest of Karmel!

- 24 I have dug and have drunk of the sparkling waters,
And have dried with my sole all the moats of the Forts!
- 25 "Have you not heard from afar, of My actions aforesaid?
How I planned to make great cities desolate heaps,
Made them weak to your hand, and their people like field grass,
And green weeds on a roof scorched before they are grown?
- 26 And green weeds on a roof scorched before they are grown?
27 All your campings, and march, and advancing I knew,—
And your rage against Me;—yes, your fury at Me,—
And your roaring has come to My ears!
- 28 So My hook I will put in your nose, and My bit in your jaws,
And by the way that you came, lead you back!
- 29 "For your proof, eat the self-sown this year,—and next year the same!—
And the third, sow, and reap, dress the vines, and eat fruits;—
- 30 For Judah's House shall grow up from its fragments;
31 Branches spring from the root, and bear fruit up aloft;—
From Jerusalem fragments shall go, and escape from Mount Zion,—
The power of the LORD will do this.
- 32 "Ashur's king shall not come to this town, says the LORD,
Nor shoot there an arrow, nor lift up a shield,
Nor heap up a rampart against it!
- 33 By the way he advanced, by that way he shall go,
And not come to this city, the LORD has declared,—
- 34 I shield it, and save it, because of Myself,
And David the Servant to ME."

(B.C. 710.) Plague destroys Sennacherib's Army.

- 35 And it occurred that in the same night a Messenger from the EVER-LIVING came and struck in the camp of Ashur a hundred and seventy-five thousand! When they awoke in the morning they found all these dead 36 corpses. Then Sennacherib king of Ashur, struck tents, marched, and 37 returned to Nineveh, where, when praying in the House of Nisrok his god, Adramelek and Shartzar, his sons, assailed him with the sword, and escaped to the district of Ararat, and Aserhadon his son reigned after him.

(B.C. 713.) Hezekiah's Illness.

About this time Hezekiah had a 20 serious sickness, so Isaiah came to him and said, "Thus says the EVER-LIVING, 'Arrange for your family, for you will die and not live!'"

He in consequence turned his face 2 to the wall, and prayed to the EVER-LIVING, saying:—

"I entreat You, EVER-LIVING, to 3 remember how I walked before You in truth, and with a thankful heart, and the good I have done in Your sight!"

Then Hezekiah wept with much weeping.

(B.C. 713.) Longer Life granted to Hezekiah.

And it happened that Isaiah had 4 not gone halfway to the town, when the message of the EVER-LIVING came to him to say:

"Return and say to Hezekiah, the 5 shepherd of My people: 'Thus says the EVER-LIVING GOD of David, your ancestor: "I have heard your prayer; I have seen your tears;—I will cure you. Three days hence you shall go up to the House of the EVER-LIVING! I will also add to your days fifteen 6 years, and I will deliver you from the hand of the King of Ashur, with this city, and I will protect this city, because of Myself, and because of David My servant.'"

Isaiah then said, "Take a plaster of 7 figs, and apply it to the inflammation, and he will live!"

But Hezekiah asked Isaiah, "What 8 evidence is there that the EVER-LIVING will cure me, and that I shall three days hence go up to the House of the EVER-LIVING?"

(B.C. 713.) The Shadow goes back Ten Degrees.

When Isaiah replied, "This is the 9 evidence from the EVER-LIVING to you, that the EVER-LIVING will fulfil the promise He has promised: the shadow that has gone upwards ten degrees, shall it turn back the ten degrees it has risen."

Hezekiah, however answered him, 10

"It is easy for the shadow to advance ten degrees on the sun-dial, but not for the shadow to go back ten degrees!"

- 11 But Isaiah the Preacher called to the EVER-LIVING, and the shadow turned back from the advance, which it had gone upon the sun-dial of Ahaz, receding ten degrees.

B.C. 712.) Barodak of Babel sends an Embassy to Hezekiah.

- 12 At this time Barodak-Baladan, son of Baladan, king of Babel, sent letters and presents to Hezekiah, for he had heard that Hezekiah had been ill.
- 13 And Hezekiah listened to them, and showed them all the stores of his treasures; the silver and gold, and perfumes, and the fine oil; and all the arsenal of his armour; and everything contained in his treasures. There was nothing that Hezekiah did not show them, in his Palace, and in his dominions. Consequently Isaiah the Preacher came to the king Hezekiah and asked him, "What did those men say? and from whom have they come to you?"

And Hezekiah answered him, "From a distant country;—they came from Babel."

Then he asked, "What did you show them in your Palace?"

When Hezekiah replied, "They 16 have seen all that is in my Palace. There is nothing in my treasures which they have not seen!"

But Isaiah answered Hezekiah:—
"Listen to a message from the EVER-LIVING. Look! the days are coming 17 when all that is in your palace, and which your forefathers have stored up to this day, will be carried to Babel,—not a thing will be left, says the EVER-LIVING! And your sons 18 who proceed from you, whom you have produced, will be seized and made eunuchs in the Temple of the kings of Babel!"

Hezekiah only replied to Isaiah, "The message from the EVER-LIVING that you have delivered is good! for 19 it says that peace and safety shall be in my days!"

Regarding the rest of the affairs of 20 Hezekiah, and all his achievements, and how he made the reservoirs and the aqueducts, and brought the waters to the city, they are recorded in the history of events of the times of the kings of Judah. But Hezekiah slept 21 with his fathers, and Manasheh his son reigned after him.

END OF ISAAH'S HISTORY OF THE HEBREWS.

SUPPLEMENTARY CHAPTERS TO ISAAH'S HISTORY OF THE HEBREWS.¹

(B.C. 698.) Reign of Manasheh, and his Apostasy and Wickedness.

- 21 Manasheh was twelve years old at his coronation, and reigned fifty-five years in Jerusalem, and his mother's 2 name was Hiftzibah. But he did wrong in the eyes of the EVER-LIVING, like the abominable heathen whom the EVER-LIVING drove out before 3 the children of Israel. He also restored and built the Columns that

Hezekiah his father had destroyed, and raised altars to Bal, and made Shrines, like Ahab king of Israel did, 4 and bowed to all the host of the skies, and served them, and built them altars in the House of the EVER-LIVING, although the EVER-LIVING had said, "In Jerusalem I will place My Name." He also built altars to 5 all the Host of the Skies in the two courts of the House of the EVER-LIVING, and passed his son through 6

¹ Note upon Ch. 21. With Ch. 20 the work of Isaiah (see 2 Chron., Ch. 32, v. 32, in the Hebrew) would seem to end, and the remaining chapters to be the product of a later hand of a date after the Babylonian Captivity. Probably they were by Nehemiah, written as a supplement to Isaiah's history. The style and tone is different, and the wide views of the lessons and philosophy of history contained in the work from Joshua to the 21st of Kings are wanting, and the difference in the dramatic power of the narrative in the four concluding chapters is also noticeable. I would, therefore, head them "Supplementary Chapters to Isaiah's History of Israel." I would also suggest that Isaiah wrote the History of the Hebrews as a prefatory introduction to his warnings to his Nation, and the promises foretold, if it repented; for had he not done so by showing its crimes, those warnings and promises

the fire, to the clouds, and to the serpent, and practised necromancy, and used soothsayers, continually increasing to do evil in the sight of the

7 EVER-LIVING to insult Him. He even fixed the Image of Fortune that he had made in the House, which the EVER-LIVING said to David and to Solomon his son: "In this House, and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen from all the tribes of Israel, I will fix

8 My Name for ever! And I will not again cause the feet of Israel to wander from the land that I gave to their forefathers,—if only they continue to practise all that I commanded them, and all the laws that Moses, My Servant, ordered for them."

9 But they would not listen. Manasheh thus apostatized to practise sin with the heathen whom the EVER-LIVING swept from before the children of Israel.

(B.C. 690.) The Preachers sent to Reprobe Him.

10 The EVER-LIVING consequently sent a message by the hands of His servants the Preachers, to say:

11 "Since Manasheh, king of Judah, has practised these hideous sins,—worse than all that the Amorites who preceded him, and Judah has also

12 sinned with his idols,—therefore thus says the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel, 'I will bring such evil upon Jerusalem and Judah that both the ears of all

13 who hear it shall tingle. And I will extend over Jerusalem the rule of Shomeron, and the plummet of the House of Ahab, and overturn Jerusalem as a bowl is overturned and flung

14 on its face! I will also abandon the remnant of My Inheritance, and give them to the hand of their enemies, and they shall become a contempt and scorn to all their enemies, because they have done wrong in My sight, and have been an irritation to Me, from the day I brought their fathers from among the Mitzeraim to this day. And Manasheh has also shed

16 very much innocent blood, until he has filled Jerusalem from face to face, to destroy it with the sins he has caused Judah to sin by doing evil in the sight of the EVER-LIVING."

As to the other affairs of Manasheh, 17 and all that he did and the sins that he sinned, they are related in the history of events during the period of the kings of Judah. At last Manasheh 18 slept with his fathers, and was buried in the garden of his palace, in the Park of Aza, and Amon, his son, succeeded him.

(B.C. 643.) Reign of Amon-ben-Manasheh—His Sins.

Amon was twenty-two years of age 19 at his coronation, and he reigned two years in Jerusalem, and his mother's name was Meshulamath, daughter of Kharotz of Jatbah. He, however, did 20 wrong in the sight of the EVER-LIVING, as Manasheh his father had done, and followed all the ways his father 21 went, and served the idols that his father served, and bowed to them. He also forsook the EVER-LIVING 22 GOD of his ancestors, and did not walk in the paths of the EVER-LIVING. So the Officers of Amon conspired 23 against him and killed the king in his palace. The country people, 24 however, assailed all the conspirators, against king Amon, and elected his son Joshiash king in his place. The 25 rest of the things that Amon did are recorded in the history of events in the times of the kings of Judah. And 26 they buried him in his own tomb in the Park of Aza, and his son Joshiash reigned after him.

would have been incomprehensible to the mass of his readers in his own day, and far more so to us. Consequently it is a mistake to read the books from Joshua to the end of the 20th Chapter of the 2nd Kings, as merely a political History of Israel and Judah, by several different writers, as all former students have done, for they are clearly composed for a single purpose, and meant to be the Philosophy of the History of the Hebrew Race, and to point out the sources of their national prosperity, and the causes of their decay, paralysis, and ruin at the time of the Teacher and Prophet—for he was both—and not only to them, but to the whole human race, by a special Divine inspiration.

In his history he tries to make this object clear, by constantly referring his readers to the National Records or former historians he cites, for any information they might desire about merely political events.

This point of view, I think, is well worth the attention of students and critics, as well as theologians. In the old Hebrew arrangement of the Books of the Bible the Books containing the sections dealing with the different periods of the national evolution, decline, and fall of the Hebrew people, from the death of Moses—that is, the Books from Joshua to 2nd Kings—stand immediately before Isalah, which seems to support my view, and the statement of Chron., Ch. 32, v. 32, already cited, confirms it.—F. F.

(B.C. 641.) Good Josiah Reigns over Israel.

22 Josiah was eight years old at his coronation, and reigned thirty-one years in Jerusalem, and the name of his mother was Jedidah, daughter of 2 Adiah of Betzekath, and he did right in the sight of the EVER-LIVING, and walked in all the paths of his ancestor David, and did not turn to the right or left.

(B.C. 624.) He Repairs the Temple.

3 It occurred in the eighteenth year of King Josiah, that the king sent Shafan-ben-Atzaliah the Secretary to the House of the EVER-LIVING to say:

4 "Go to Hilkiab the High Priest, and let him keep the money coming into the House of the EVER-LIVING, separate from what they collect from 5 the people, and deposit it in the custody of Asaf, the Accountant of the 6 property of the House of the EVER-LIVING, to repair the dilapidations of 7 the House: to pay carpenters, and masons, and builders, and purchase timber, and dressed stone to repair the Temple." However, he did not reckon with them for the money placed in their hands, for they acted faithfully.

(B.C. 624.) The Original Plates of the Law made by Moses found.

8 Then Hilkiab the High Priest said to Shafan the Secretary, "I have found THE BOOK—Book of the Law,¹ in the House of the EVER-LIVING." So Hilkiab gave the Book to Shafan when he 9 met him, and Shafan carried the Book to the king, when the king sat at business, and said, "Your Officers have collected the money found in

1 The reading in the Hebrew, as I take it, is far stronger than in the common translations, whether of the Septuagint and Vulgate, or the English Authorised and Revised Versions, who only give "the Book," or "a Book of the Law." The Hebrew text has הַסֵּפֶר סֵפֶר הַתּוֹרָה, which I would read as "THE BOOK—Book of the Law," that is, in the English idiom, "THE ORIGINAL Book of the Law," the autograph copy engraved by Moses and placed in the Ark, under his order, by Aliazar the High Priest, while the Army of Joshua was encamped in Moab, previous to passing from the eastern side of the Jordan to invade Canaan on its west. See Deuteronomy, Ch. 31, v. 24.—
F. F.

the Temple and placed it in the custody of Asaf the Accountant of the property of the House of the EVER-LIVING." Then Shafan showed the 10 book to the king, and said, "Hilkiab the Priest gave me this Book," and Shafan read it before the king.

But when the king heard the con- 11 tents of the Book of Law, he tore his robes, and the king commanded 12 Hilkiab the Priest, and Akhikam-ben-Shafan, and Akbur-ben-Mikiah, and Shafan the Secretary, and Ashiah, the Attendant of the king, saying:—

"Go, enquire of the EVER-LIVING 13 about me, and about the people, and about all Judah, in regard to the contents of this Book that has been found; for a great anger from the EVER-LIVING must be kindled against us, because our ancestors have not listened to the commands of this Book, or practised all that was written for us!"

(B.C. 624.) Josiah consults Huldah the Reciter.

Hilkiab, the Priest, and Akhikam, 14 and Akbur, and Shafan and Ashiah, went therefore to Huldah the Reciter, the wife of Shalem-ben-Thignah-ben-Kharkhas, Keeper of the Robes, who resided in Jerusalem in the Second Rank of the Levites, and spoke to her, and she replied to them:— 15

"The EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel says thus:—'Say to the man who sent you to me: Thus says the EVER- 16 LIVING, I will bring misery upon this place, and upon its inhabitants, in accordance with the contents of the Book read to the king of Judah, because they have abandoned Me, 17 and offered incense to other gods to insult Me by all their practices, and to kindle My wrath with this place,—and it shall not be quenched.'

"But to the king of Judah who sent 18 you to enquire of the EVER-LIVING, say this to him: Thus says the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel, about the words that you have heard,—you 19 opened a heart to consider them as from the EVER-LIVING, so that you may hear what I have spoken about this place, and against its inhabitants, for it shall become desolate, and despaired. So you tore your robes and wept before Me,—and I have heard you also, says the EVER- 20 LIVING, therefore I will add you to your fathers, and you shall be added to your tomb in peace, and your eyes shall not see all the misery which I will bring upon this place."

And they reported this answer to the king.

(B. C. 623.) The Parliament Convened to hear the Law read.

23 The king consequently sent and assembled to himself all the nobles of Judah and Jerusalem, when the king and all the representatives of Judah and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and the priests and preachers, and all the people from the lowest to the highest, went up to the House of the EVER-LIVING, and he read in their hearing all the contents of the Book of Laws that had been found in the House of the EVER-LIVING.

(B. C. 623.) The King and Parliament promise to obey the Law.

3 Then the king mounted upon the platform and made a Declaration before the EVER-LIVING, to walk after the EVER-LIVING, and to keep His Commandments, and his Evidences, and Constitution, with all the heart and with all the soul; to establish the commands of the Covenant written in that Book,—and the Representatives of the people confirmed the Declaration.

(B. C. 623.) Joshiah Extirpates the Idols and their Priests.

4 The king also commanded Hilkiah the High Priest, and the Priests of the Second Rank, and the Guards of the Threshold, to bring out from the Temple of the EVER-LIVING all the appliance they had made for Bal, and for Asherah,¹ and for all the Host of the Skies, and to burn them outside Jerusalem, in the fields of Kedron, and carry their rubbish from the House of GOD. He also stopped the Priest of the Stars, whom the kings of Judah had appointed, who burned incense at the Columns to Bal, and to the Sun, and to the Moon, and the Planets, and to all the Army of the Skies; and sent the shrines out of the House of the EVER-LIVING to the outside of Jerusalem, to the brook Kedron, and burnt them at the brook Kedron, and crushed their ashes, and flung the ashes on the graves of the followers of these people. He also pulled down the 7 houses of Prostitution which were in the House of the EVER-LIVING, where the women wove curtains for the Shrines. Then he brought all the 8 Priests from the towns of Judah, and defiled the Columns where the Priests offered incense, from Gaba to Bersheba, and overturned the Columns of the Demons which had been erected at the Gate by Joshua, the Governor of the city, on the left hand of each gate of the town. Nor did 9 he permit those priests to sacrifice to the EVER-LIVING at the Columns in Jerusalem, unless they ate biscuits among their brethren. He also defiled the furnace in the valley of the sons of Khinon, where they passed their sons and daughters through the fire to Molok, and destroyed the 11 horses that the kings of Judah had dedicated to the Sun at the entry of the Temple of the EVER-LIVING near the chamber of Nathan-Melk the eunuch, who was superintendent of the horses and the chariots of the Sun, which he burnt with fire, and the 12 Altars also that were upon the embankment of the aqueduct of Ahaz, which the kings of Judah had made. And the king threw down the Altars that Manasheh made in the two courts of the House of the EVER-LIVING, and powdered them, and threw their dust into the brook Kedron. The Columns also, which 13 were opposite Jerusalem, on the right of the Hill of Consecration, which Solomon, king of Israel, built to Asheroth and to Kemosh, the abominations of Moab, and to Milkom the horror of the Amonites, the king destroyed. And he broke the Pillars, 14 and cut down the groves, and filled their place with men's bones. The 15 Altar also that was in Bethel, which Jerabam-ben-Nebat had built when he caused the sin of Israel, both that Altar, and the Columns, he threw down, and burnt the Columns to fine dust, and burnt the Shrines. But 16 Joshiah happened to turn and see the tombs which were on the hill, so he sent to take the bones from the tombs, and burnt them upon the Altar, and defiled it, according to the message of the EVER-LIVING

¹ "Asherah"—Fortune, the pagan goddess.—F. F.

- which the MAN of GOD proclaimed, when he foretold these events.
- 17 He asked, "What is that Monument I see?"
- And the people of the town replied to him, "The tomb of the MAN of GOD who came from Judah, and foretold these things, that you are doing upon the Altar of Bethel."
- 18 When he answered, "Let his bones rest! No one shall touch his bones!" So they preserved his bones,—the bones of the Preacher who came to Shomeron.
- 19 Josiah, however, destroyed all the Temples of Columns that were in the villages of Shomeron, which the kings of Israel had constructed, as insults to the EVER-LIVING; and did to them as to all the fabrics they had erected
- 20 in Bethel, and sacrificed all the Priests of the Columns who were there upon their Altars, and burnt the bones of men upon them, then returned to Jerusalem.
- (B.C. 622.) Josiah Orders a Great Passover.
- 21 The king next commanded the people, saying:—
- "Make a Passover to your EVER-LIVING GOD, such as is written in this Book of Laws."
- 22 And they never made such a Passover in the times of the Judges, who judged Israel, and all the time of the kings of Israel, and the kings of
- 23 Judah, as this which was made in the nineteenth year of King Josiah, as they made at this Passover to the
- 24 EVER-LIVING in Jerusalem; because the Spirit-raisers, and Soothsayers, and Therafs, and Shakers, existed in the country of Judah and in Jerusalem until the days of Josiah, but he conducted it by the instructions of the Laws written in the Book that had been found by Hilkiah the Priest in the House of the EVER-LIVING.
- 25 Such a king as he was had not been before him, who turned with all his heart and all his strength to the EVER-LIVING, in accordance with the whole Law of Moses, and after him there did not arise another such.
- 26 However, the EVER-LIVING did not turn from the great anger which consumed Him against Judah, on account of all the insults with which
- 27 Manasseh had insulted him. The EVER-LIVING consequently said, "I will also turn away Judah from before My face, as I have turned Israel, and will waste this city of Jerusalem that I chose, and this House where I said My name shall be."

As to the other affairs of Josiah, 28 and all that he did, they are recorded in the history of events in the times of the kings of Judah.

(B.C. 610.) Joshiah Killed in Battle at Megido.

In his days, however, Pharaoh Nek- 29 ho, king of the Mitzeraim, advanced against the king of Ashur, to the river Euphrates, and King Josiah went to meet him, but he killed him at Migido as soon as he saw him, and his ministers carried him dead 30 from Megido, and brought him to Jerusalem, and buried him in his own tomb. Then the people of the country took Jhohaz the son of Josiah, and consecrated him, and crowned him in the place of his father:

(B.C. 610.) Jhohaz made King.

Jhohaz was twenty-six years old at 31 his consecration, and reigned three months in Jerusalem, and his mother's name was Hamutal, daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah. But he did wrong 32 in the sight of the EVER-LIVING, in all that his ancestors had done. Pharaoh Nekho, however, swept him 33 away at Riblah, in the district of Khamath, from being king in Jerusalem, and laid a fine upon the country of a hundred talents of silver and a talent of gold. Pharaoh Nekho also 34 made Aliakim, son of Josiah, king in place of his father Josiah, but changed his name to Jhokim, and took Jhohaz and carried him to Mitzer, and he died there.

(B.C. 610.) Jokim made Governor of Israel by Pharaoh Nekho.

Jhokim paid the silver and gold to 35 Pharaoh. He taxed the land to pay the money to Pharaoh; everyone of the people of the country had to provide the silver and the gold according to his valuation to pay to Pharaoh Nekho.

Jhokim was twenty-five years old 36 at his coronation, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem, and his mother's name was Zabidah, the 37 daughter of Pheriah of Ramah. But he did evil in the sight of the EVER-LIVING, in all that his ancestors had done.

(B.C. 607.) Nebukhadnezzar Conquers Judah.

24 In his time Nebukhadnezzar, king of Babel, advanced, and Jhoikim was subject to him for three years. Then he turned and rebelled from him.

(B.C. 603.)

2 But the EVER-LIVING sent against him the troops of the Kasidim, and the troops of Aram, and the troops of Moab, and the troops of the Amonites, whom he sent against Judah to destroy it, because it was the EVER-LIVING'S intention against Judah to turn it from His presence, for the sin of Manasheh in all that he did, and also for the innocent blood that he shed, filling Jerusalem with innocent blood, which the EVER-LIVING was not willing to forgive.

5 As regards the other affairs of Jhoikim, and all that he did, they are written in the history of events during the times of the kings of Judah. But Jhoikim slept with his fathers, and Jhoikin his son reigned 7 after him. And the king of Egypt did not again come out from his country, for the king of Babel seized from the River of Egypt to the River Frath,¹ all of which had previously belonged to the king of Mitzer.

(B.C. 599.) Jhoiakim made Nominal King of Judah by a Revolt.

8 Jhoiakim was nineteen years old at his coronation, and he reigned three months in Jerusalem; and his mother's name was Nakhshetha, the daughter of Alnathan of Jerusalem.

He, however, did wrong in the sight of the EVER-LIVING, in everything as his ancestors had done.

(B.C. 599.) Nebukhadnezzar advances against him and Captures Jerusalem.

10 At this period the Officers of Nebukhadnezzar, king of Babel, advanced to Jerusalem, and came to besiege the city. Nebukhadnezzar, king of Babel, also came to the city while 12 his Officers were besieging it, when Jhoiakim capitulated to the king of Babel, himself, his mother, his ministers and generals, and eunuchs. Thus the king of Babel captured him in the eighth year of his reign. He also took away all the treasure from the House of the EVER-LIVING, and the treasures from the palace of the king, and collected the gold and furniture of gold that Solomon, king of Israel, had made for the Temple of the EVER-LIVING, by the command of the EVER-LIVING, and transported 14 all Jerusalem, and all its nobles, and the whole of the officers of the army, ten thousand, as captives, with all the carpenters and mechanics. He left none except the lower class of the country. He also transported Jhoiakim 15 to Babel, with the king's mother and wives, and his eunuchs, together with 16 the Princes of the country, whom he carried captive from Jerusalem to Babel. Beside which the king of 17 Babel made Mattaniah, his uncle, king in his place, but changed his name to Zedekiah.

(B.C. 590.) Zedekiah made Governor of Judah by Nebukhadnezzar.

Zedekiah was twenty-one years of 18 age at his coronation, and reigned eleven years at Jerusalem, and his mother's name was Hamutal, daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah. But he 19 did evil in the sight of the EVER-LIVING in everything that Jhoiakim had done, because the anger of the 20 EVER-LIVING was against Jerusalem and Judah to throw them from His Presence, — therefore Zedekiah revolted from the king of Babel.

(B.C. 588.) Zedekiah Revolts, but Nebukhadnezzar crushes him.

In consequence, in the ninth year, 28 on the tenth of the tenth month, Nebukhadnezzar, king of Babel, came with all his forces to Jerusalem, and encamped against it, and they built a surrounding wall against it, and 2 the siege of the city went on to the eleventh year of King Zedekiah. At 3 the ninth month the famine became terrible in the city, and there was no bread for the people of the country, so he burst from the city with a force 4 of soldiers by night, by way of the wall which is towards the Royal Garden, although the Kasidim were around the city, and marched towards

¹ Euphrates.

5 the desert. But the forces of the Kasidim pursued after the king, and overtook him at the fords of Jerikho, with all his army, who scattered from him. They consequently seized the king, and carried him to the king of Babel at Riblath, and reported to him for a decision, when he killed the children of Zedekiah before his eyes—then pulled out the eyes of Zedekiah himself, and bound him in chains and had him carried to Babel.

(B.C. 588.) Nebukhadnezzar Burns the Temple and all Jerusalem.

8 Afterwards, in the seventh of the fifth month, of the nineteenth year of King Nebukhadnezzar, king of Babel, Nebuzaradan came with many slaughterers, servants of the king of Babel, to Jerusalem, and burnt the house of the EVER-LIVING, and the Royal Palace, and all the houses of Jerusalem, and every mansion was burnt with fire. Then all the army of the Kasidim, with the slaughterers, broke down the walls around Jerusalem.

11 Nebuzaradan, chief of the slaughterers, afterwards transported the remnant of the people of the city, with the deserters who had deserted to the king of Babel, and the rest of the great crowd. However, Nebuzaradan, chief of the slaughterers, left the lower classes as farmers and diggers.

13 The Kasidim also broke up the Pillars of brass that were at the House of the EVER-LIVING, and the Bases, and the Brazen Sea which was in the EVER-LIVING'S House, and carried the brass to Babel, with the pots, and the brushes, and sprinklers, and the tongs, and took all the appliances of brass, which were made use of. The snuffers and scissors that were of gold, for gold, and what were of silver, for silver, the chief of the slaughterers took. And the two Pillars, the Single Sea, and the Pillars that Solomon made for the House of the EVER-LIVING were not weighed, for they were fabrics of brass. They were eighteen cubits high, and stood each with its crown of brass,—and the height of the crown was three cubits, with a network, and pomegranates around the crown. The whole of brass, and the second pillar was like it, with its crown.

18 The Chief Slaughterer also took Sariah, the Chief Priest, and Zefaniah, the Second Priest, and the Commander of the Guard of the Threshold; and from the city he took a eunuch who was stationed over the War Office, and five princes, attendants of the king, whom he found in the city, and the Adjutant General of the Army of the nation, with sixteen from the Parliament of the country, whom he found in the town; Nebuzaradan, Chief of the Slaughterers, took these and conducted them to the king of Babel at Riblath, where the king of Babel assailed and put them to death in Riblath, in the district of Khamath. Thus he transported Judah from its land. But for the remainder of the people in the land of Judah, Nebukhadnezzar, king of Babel, appointed over them Gedaliah-ben-Akhiakam-ben-Shafan.

(B.C. 588.) Gedaliah Appointed Governor.

But when the Generals of the forces, they and the Princes, heard that the king of Babel had appointed Gedaliah, they came to Gedaliah at Mitzpah, with Ishmael-ben-Nathan, and Jhonathan-ben-Karakah, and Sariah-ben-Thankumeth the Nataphite, and Jazniah-ben-Hamakathi,—these and their men, when Gedaliah swore to them and their men, and said, "Fear nothing from the officers of the Kasidim who are stationed in the country, who serve the king of Babel," and bowed to them.

(B.C. 588.) Gedaliah Murdered, and the People Go to Egypt.

However, in the seventh month, Ishmael-ben-Nathaniah-ben-Alishamah, of the Royal family, came, and ten men with him, and assailed Gedaliah, and killed him, and the Judeans and Kasidim who were with him at Mitzpah. Then all the people arose, from the least to the greatest, with the officers of the forces, and went to the Mitzeraim, for they were afraid of the Kasidim.

(B.C. 562.) Jhoiakim freed from Prison.

In the thirty-seventh year from the transportation of Jhoiakim, king of Judah, in the twelfth month, on the twenty-seventh day of the month, Avil-Merodakh, king of Babel, in the year of his coronation, raised the head of Jhoiakim, king of Judah, from 28 prison, and spoke kindly to him, and gave him a seat above the seats of the other kings who were at Babel. He also removed his prison dress 29 from him, and he ate his food continually in his presence all the time that he lived. And from thence 30 forward the king regularly supplied a daily allowance during his life.

END OF THE SUPPLEMENT TO II. KINGS AND THE MONARCHICAL PERIOD OF ISRAEL AND JUDAH.

PRESS NOTICES.

Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph (U.S.A.).

"In this age of free translation of the Holy Scriptures this little volume is interesting as being the first of an attempt to put the Bible into modern English. The result will be variously received, no doubt. To those who venerate the ancient forms of speech it will be a shock to read the old Bible stories in the modern idiom."

Birmingham Daily Post.

"The Five Books of Moses here presented have been translated direct from the Hebrew without any other version being referred to, and the result is a rendering of the Pentateuch which may be usefully read by the student of the Holy Scriptures, and should prove of great service to divines and others to whom it is essential that they should have before them, as far as possible, the exact words of the original writers of the records contained in the Bible."

Scotsman.

"Mr. Fenton's version will probably not enjoy any official acceptance, but its originality makes it both interesting and valuable."

Sunday States (U.S.A.)

"The present book is excellently printed and bound and supplies a story of absorbing interest, aside from its broad evangelical value."

Glasgow Evening Times.

"In Numbers xxi. 17-20 there is a beautiful Song of the Well. Our English versions render the first couplet with fair accuracy, but the rest of the song appears in this guise:—

'And from the wilderness they went to Mattanah; and from Mattanah to Nahaliel; and from Nahaliel to Bamoth; and from Bamoth in the valley, that is in the country of Moab, to the top of Pisgah, which looketh towards Jerishmon."

"A marvellous pilgrimage indeed, in an imaginary land! Mr. FENTON deserves our blessing for having restored the song out of that age-long unintelligible jargon. His version, a beautiful one, is:—

'Spring up, Well, to refresh us:—
Dug by rejoicing princes;
By the People's Chiefs and Ruler—
A refreshing gift in the desert!
And a gift from the rivers of God,
From the rivers of God in the hills,
From the heights it passed to the valley;
To Moab's plain from the Peak of Pisgah,
And clothed the face of the waste!

"If there were need, we might quote innumerable further examples of felicitous translation. But the specimens given ought to be sufficient to convince the intelligent reader that in this admirable translation there is abundance of new food for thought. It is to be hoped that the new renderings will attract the notice they deserve from professional commentators, and help to jolt them out of the follow-my-leader rut to which they have hitherto adapted themselves."

Baptist.

"Two incidental features of this version of the Pentateuch we commend. It is divided into paragraphs and sections, and to each section there is a subject heading. When we look into the text we recognise many suggestive alterations that may be useful for comparative purposes to students."

Cleveland Daily World.

"This interesting publication will without doubt be readily welcomed by students of Scripture. Mr. FENTON's other translations are well known to students in religious history. This is probably his best work."

Christian Commonwealth.

"Mr. FERRAR FENTON was, we believe, the first to give us a version of the New Testament in every-day modern English. In his Preface to this instalment of the Old Testament he congratulates himself on the success of his New Testament."

Cork Constitution.

"He has, in any case, accomplished a by no means inconsiderable task in a manner so painstaking and so carefully accurate as to disarm criticism. His previous translations—the New Testament, the Book of Job, and the Epistles of St. Paul—have, we are glad to see, met with some measure of popularity, and this present volume is eminently worthy of consideration at the hands of scholars. Mr. FENTON translates direct from the Hebrew, and his method, by its clearness and simplicity, is, in many cases, explanatory."

Expository Times.

"Mr. FERRAR FENTON'S work is gradually removing all prejudice, and will stay."

Primitive Methodist.

"We give the title of this volume in extenso because it will help our readers to understand the aim of the translator, and the purpose his new rendering of the Holy Scriptures is intended to serve. We cannot hope in a brief notice to show the value of the work he has done. In reading some of the chapters we have felt that it brings before English readers the real meaning of the text as no other translation has ever done, and only a few of the very best commentaries have succeeded in doing."

THE
COMPLETE BIBLE IN MODERN ENGLISH.
SECTION III.

(ALL RIGHTS RESERVED.)

THE
BIBLE IN MODERN ENGLISH.

SECTION THE THIRD.

THE BOOKS OF THE PROPHETS.

DIRECT FROM THE ORIGINAL HEBREW INTO ENGLISH, AND IN VERSE, IN THE HEBREW METRES OF THE PROPHETS, OR IN PROSE, AS ORIGINALLY WRITTEN.

TRANSLATED BY

FERRAR FENTON, M.R.A.S., M.C.A.A.,

AUTHOR OF "THE NEW TESTAMENT IN MODERN ENGLISH," "ST. PAUL'S EPISTLES IN MODERN ENGLISH," "THE FIVE BOOKS OF MOSES IN MODERN ENGLISH,"
"THE BOOK OF JOB IN ENGLISH, AND IN THE ORIGINAL METRE."

NINTH EDITION.

LONDON:
S. W. PARTRIDGE & CO., LTD.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS, AMERICAN BRANCH,
29-35, WEST 32ND STREET, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

3 Dedicate

TO MY FRIEND,

J. G. RAMSBOTTOM, Esq.,

THIS THIRD SECTION OF MY TRANSLATION OF THE BIBLE INTO MODERN ENGLISH, AS A SMALL TOKEN OF MY SINCERE APPRECIATION OF THE HEARTY ENCOURAGEMENT HE HAS GIVEN ME IN THE EFFORT TO MAKE THE HOLY SCRIPTURES AGAIN INTELLIGIBLE TO THE ENGLISH-SPEAKING PEOPLES SETTLED BY THE DIVINE MANDATE OVER THE EARTH.

ORDER OF THE BOOKS IN SECTION III.

THE BOOKS OF THE PROPHETS.

	PAGE		PAGE
ISAIAH	1	MIKAH	211
JEREMIAH	76	NAHUM	219
EZEKIEL	133	HABAKUK	222
HOSEA	182	ZEPHANIAH	226
JOEL	193	HAGAI	230
AMOS	198	ZAKARIAH	232
OBADIAH	206	MALAKI	244
JONAH	208

INTRODUCTORY NOTE TO THE STUDY OF THE SACRED PROPHETS.

PROBABLY the first thought of my readers after opening this volume will be: "Why has this man translated the Books of the Prophets into metrical verse? Is there not an almost universal opinion amongst Hebrew scholars from the days of Jerome to those of Scaliger, and from him to Professor and Bishop Lowth, our greatest Hebraist, and thence to both the English and American Revisers, that the Hebrew Language never possessed any system of versification or prosody by syllabic metre, but at best only a rhetorical arrangement of ideas which has been called 'Parallelism'?" Even the compilers of the Talmud, and the Mediæval Editors of the Canonical Books of the Bible, who are usually referred to as 'The Masorets,' were themselves, although Jews by birth, of the same opinion."

These suggested exclamations of my supposed readers and critics are quite correct as far as their Authorities go, but my own study of the Sacred Writers long ago convinced me that they had a perfect and most highly cultured system of syllabic prosody; and that consequently all previous or existing Students who assert the contrary were and are in error.

Bishop Lowth, however, whilst agreeing with those who deny a prosodial system to the Hebrew Writers, with bold intelligence came near my discovery, by his suggestion of parallelism of ideas in the Prophetic writings, but he adds, in his Preliminary Dissertation to his version of Isaiah, that if we attempt to seek true verse in Hebrew, "the pursuit is vain; the object lies beyond our reach; it is not within the compass of human reason or invention." Rénan is equally emphatic on the matter, and the Revisers, both English and American, agree. How, then, it may be demanded, have I dared to reject the consensus of all the Students of all Nations united in a like opinion for two thousand years?

To go fully into detail of the steps by which I attained my discovery of the varied and beautiful forms of ancient Hebrew versification would take a volume. But I had reached my platform many years before I read either Rénan or Lowth or others upon the subject. The apparent paths leading me to it were:—I was born of a family who had been connected with India since the days of Queen Elizabeth, one of whose Great Admirals, Edward Fenton, a hero of the Armada battles, was the first British Seaman who navigated an English Fleet round the Cape of Good Hope, to found the East India Company. I was born and educated in an atmosphere of Orientalism. My father, no mean Hebraist and Oriental student, was also a Vicar of the British Church. He educated and filled me with a desire to rival, and if possible surpass, his father's friend Sir William Jones, the discoverer of the Science of Languages, in the ardent study of the poetry of many Nations, Modern, Classic, and Oriental. For the Oriental poets I had a hot enthusiasm, and, as the most glorious of them all, for those of the Hebrews. In reading them and the Persian poets, my ear soon became struck with a similarity of cadence in many parts of their works, as well as a close similarity in imagery and thought. A curious incident was my turning-point to practical utilization of my sensation. A lady seeing me reading a Hebrew Bible, asked me to let her hear the sound of that language. I at once began to read aloud, and after listening for some time she exclaimed in wonder, "Why! that is poetry! It is verse! It is verse!"

"Yes! so it is," I replied, almost startled myself, to find that a woman who only knew English should at once on hearing Hebrew poetry have been impressed so deeply with a fact I had for half my life only been suspecting. I consequently afterwards set myself to a diligent search into the question, and gradually became satisfied that the metres used by the Arabian and Persian poets were inherited from the Hebrews, and I decided to use them as my instruments of research.

The first outcome was my translation of the Book of Job into English, but also retaining the metre of the Hebrew poet in our language. That metre is the usual one used by the Hebrew teachers in narratives or didactic psalms, as it is by the Persian poets.

From that, which gave me a mastery of one form of Hebrew narrative, or didactic verse, I went on to test my theory upon Isaiah and the Psalms, and after several versions and revises extending through about ten years, I am able to offer to my Race the present version of the Sacred Prophets, made absolutely direct from the Hebrew and as faithfully as my ear can catch the metre in the original rhythm, line for line, word for word, and stanza for stanza. In my effort I have been like a sailor in an unknown sea, feeling my way by soundings, and so may not always have found the best channel for my voyage; but with GOD'S help I have done my best to present the Revelation of His Laws before my people in all lands, in the form He inspired His Preachers of old to do in what was then the Mother-tongue of their Race. In doing this I do not hesitate to say I believe I have worked under the influence of a Divine Inspiration. Not the Inspiration dreamed and drivelled about by Monks, Schoolmen, and Fools, but by that Inspiration the Creator puts into the instruments through whom He intends to work out His objects, preparing them from conception with faculties and surroundings to fit and lead them forward to effect His purposes.

It appears to me that the reason why Bishop Lowth, who came nearest to my discovery of the Hebrew Prosody, when he so clearly grasped their method of arrangement of thoughts by Parallelism, failed to arrive at the same conclusion as I have, was because he appears to have known nothing of any Asiatic Literature outside that of the Hebrews; indeed it was impossible that he could do so before Sir William Jones and his brilliant band of disciples, the East India Company's splendid Officials, had opened its wide pages to Modern Europe. And another cause of his failure and that of all other critics was that they sought only to find in Hebrew the inflexible mechanism of Latin verse, itself nothing but the echo of the tramp of the heavily-armed infantry of the soldiers of the Roman Legions. It never occurred to them that the essential movement of Hebrew verse was the echo of music and the rhythmic motion of dancers, who accompanied the recitations of the Nebiaim, or popular Preachers, and also the recitations of the Services of the Tabernacle, and in a more cultured degree of the Temple after its organization by those two Poets and Statesmen, David and Solomon, as indicated by the word Nebia, which we translate "Prophet," while it really means a Reciter, or Singer to the Harp, Pipe, or Tambour, the word used in the Bible Hebrew to denote a Prophet being khazah, a gazer, or one who foresees. Consequently by following a wrong path all my predecessors failed to find the object of their search.

"But why," I have been asked by friends to whom I have shown my results, "should you seek to present the Holy Scriptures in a form so different to what for two thousand years men have been accustomed to see and read them, especially in English, when our peoples have come to look on the old prose form as absolutely sacred?"

My answer is that I believe the Almighty would not have inspired His chosen Teachers and Prophets to use verse in delivering His laws and instructions to mankind without an adequate reason, and therefore we have no right to fancy we can better His method by degrading it in turning them into clumsy prose, as the European translators both ancient and modern have done. As Bishop Lowth, who evidently thought as I do on this matter, says in his Dissertation on Isaiah:—

"It is indeed impossible to give a just idea of the Prophet's manner of writing, otherwise than by a close literal version. And yet, though so many literal versions of this Prophet" (he is speaking of Isaiah) "have been given, as well of old as in later times, a just representation of his manner, and of the form of his composition, has never been attempted, or even thought of, by any translator, in any language, whether ancient or modern."

This statement of the most accomplished Hebrew Scholar Europe ever produced is perfectly accurate. He made a noble attempt to remedy the defect, and would have no doubt succeeded but for the obstacles I have given above. In his fine translation, which has gone through innumerable editions during the last hundred and fifty years, he carried the work so far as his discovery of parallelism of thought in the Prophets could carry him; and I, by the possession of a wider range of tools, now try to perfect the work he began. But in Isaiah the use of dithyrambic metres presented terrible difficulties to me, and although I made several versions both in prose and verse, I fear I may not have overcome the whole of them.

I will conclude this Note by a few words to explain what I have found to be the basis of the Hebrew Prosody as compared with the Latin and Greek. In these two last, especially in the Latin, the syllables dominate the line of verse absolutely; but in Hebrew the Thought rules the metre, so that if a full section of the thought cannot be expressed in the usual number of syllables the line is lengthened by the addition of feet of the same rhythmic beat and ending with the usual close when the thought is completed. But if the section of thought that is being uttered can be expressed in fewer syllables, the line is never "padded" to extend it, but a fewer number of the rhythmic beats are used, ending with the usual close. The Passion also has great influence upon the metres, so that when it changes in the poet's mental state, the verse answers to it like the note of a flute to the fingers of its player. Lowth had in some measure noticed this, and it puzzled him, for he remarked in his Dissertation on Isaiah that there is hardly an instance of any Biblical poem where the same length of lines can be traced syllabically throughout, and upon that founds his argument against any system of metrical verse having existed amongst the Hebrews, except in the form of Parallelism. But if he had known some of our own older poets and those of the nineteenth century, he would have found in their passionate lyrics perfectly musical syllabic verse and widely varied length of lines, and probably would have enlarged his views of versification.

This, however, does not bear directly upon the path by which I arrived at my discovery of the methods of the poetical Prophets in constructing their lyrics. As I noted previously, I often fancied I heard the tone of the Persi-Arabic lyrists in portions of the Psalms and elsewhere, but failed to establish any laws of rhythm in the Hebrew so long as I read that language by aid of the Massoretic "Vowel-points." I therefore abandoned them, and practised reading by the use of the fully-written vowels and by forming them into diphthongs when two or three of them were written together, and carefully listening to detect the step of any Arabian metre in the Hebrew text. I was soon rewarded by here and there finding a consonance in portions of Isaiah, but my first full success was reached in the Book of Job, where I caught the regular metre in which the Persian poet Hafiz delighted, consisting of a line of seven syllables, followed by another of eight—or the same in reverse order,—but at times running into an eight and nine, or occasionally falling to a six and seven, the accents resting on the fourth and eighth syllables for the first line, and upon the fourth and sixth and seventh, to make the close, in the second line. Another metre is a line of six syllables, a third one of twelve, and others are formed on the movement which in Greek produced the hexameter, for the Greeks got their alphabet and doubtless their versification from the Hebrews, and another of a regular line of nine syllables, the accent resting on each third in succession and without a definite close, so that the line can run on to twelve or fifteen syllables if the sense demands it.

Delighted with it, I wrote to a Continental friend. He replied, thinking I must be mistaken; so to prove my discovery a fact, I made a rough translation of the whole Book of Job in its poetical parts into the same metre, but in English—and asked him to test it. He did so, was converted to my views, and coming to England for the purpose, assisted me with his rich and accomplished intellect and scholarship to amend and polish the work. I need not go into detail as to how I arrived at the varied measures of the Psalms and the Prophets, and the division of each Ode in them to its proper beginning, end, and stanzas. For ten years I laboured at it upon the same lines, and after repeated versions, all direct from the Hebrew text, I arrived at the present form and results, which I now present to the kindly consideration of the Anglo-British Race in Europe, America, Australia, Africa, India, and wherever its members exist amongst other Peoples.

At the urgent request of many friends to my object in making the Word of God again intelligible to our Race, I have given this Preface a somewhat Autobiographical flavour, as the best way to make myself understood, and "to let your readers see something of your personality," as one of my best friends put his plea, "for I am sure they will like it," he added. So I consented.

In this translation my sole object has been to ascertain by my own study and the aid of the best critics, printed formerly, or who are now living in the body, the exact meaning of the text, and to transfer that meaning to the English language in equivalent words and in the sense we now use them, untrammelled by either tradition or authorities, and without any bias from preconceived theories, or the mystifications of Modern Sceptical Critics of the "Higher" or "Lower" Schools, or the Fads and Myths, or the fashionable attitudinizing self-styled "Agnostics" of our day, or of any Theological Systems whatever. To make the Bible, and the Bible alone, intelligible has been my single endeavour, without fear or favour to any Systemizers. Three very competent scholars have given me loyal assistance to this end in different parts of the work, one being a clergyman of clear, bold, and original intellect, and also a sincere Christian, and the two others are, one an accomplished Scotchman, and the other a Continental scholar; and I sincerely thank them. They acted under the impulse of love for the GOD and FAITH of their Fathers, and will have their reward. Nay, they have it already in seeing how gladly the public of our Race have received the volumes of the Sacred Records as fast as they have come from the Press.

My main object, as stated above, has been a reproduction of the Books of the Prophets in the form and exact sense of their writings, therefore I have not attempted to lessen the incisive force of their language when denouncing Sin and Vice, Wickedness and Crime, whether committed by Individuals or Nations. GOD inspired them with a manly spirit of indignation, and they unhesitatingly depicted Sin in its own essentially repulsive, naked, brutality and degradation. They wrote for men, whom they called to a change of mind and practices—so who am I, that I should veil and tone down the hideous picture of men transformed to brutes, until it looks like a pretty plaything for lascivious school-girls, and depraved effeminate dandies, whose unbridled vices seek to justify themselves by lisping mock modesty and sham delicacy, to hide their own depravities from themselves?

The ALMIGHTY having inspired His Chosen Messengers to speak plainly, I have not dared to alter His will, and I believe every honest reader of my translation will approve me.

In conclusion, I sincerely thank the Public for the reception they have given to my former portions of the Bible, and hope, under God's blessing, the same may be accorded to this, the Third of the Hebro-Chaldee part. The next and Fourth Volume will contain the Psalms, Solomon's Works, Daniel and the Later Historians, standing in the order as used by the Editors of the Temple who first collected the Sacred Writers, which I have followed all through my version.

FERRAR FENTON.

LONDON, ENGLAND.

THE PROPHET ISAIAH.

Date 660 to 608 B.C.

BOOK I.

THE Vision which Isaiah-ben-Amoz foresaw over Judah and Jerusalem, in the days of Uzziah, I'otham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, the Kings of Judah.

ODE I.

An Appeal to his Nation.

- The LORD Himself speaks!—Heavens hear, and Earth listen! 2
"I reared and trained sons, but from Me they revolt.—
The Ox his owner knows,—the Ass his master's crib,
But Israel knows nothing,—My People see not! 3
- Woe! you wicked Nation;—Tribe loaded with sin,—
You Race of revolvers,—the children of vice,—
Who abandoned the LORD Whom they hate,
Who from Israel's HOLY turned back,—
On what spot can they strike you again, 4
For each head is wounded and every heart sick,
And from the foot sole to the crown is no health, 5
But only wounds, bruises and festering sores, Never cleansed or wrapped up, and not softened with oil! 6
- "Your land is a Desert,—Your cities are burnt,
Your farms in your sight strangers eat, and the plunderers waste:
Zion's maid sits forlorn like a tent in a field,
A Hut in a Garden,—or City besieged." 7
- Unless the LORD'S Mercy had left us a few,
We should perish like Sodom, be wrecked like Gomorah.
So hear the LORD'S sentence, you Judges of Sodom,— Attend to GOD'S laws, you Gomorahan race! 8
- "What to ME," asks the LORD, "Is the wealth of your offerings,—
I am sick of burnt Rams and the fat of fed beasts,— Blood of Bulls and of Lambs, and of Goats pleases not.—
When you come to My Presence who asks them from you,
When trampling My courts? 9
- "Bring no more vain offerings; your incense I hate it,—
Your Month-feasts, and Sabbaths, and solemn assemblies, Abandon as useless, for I accept not.
My soul hates your Monthly and Festival Meetings;
A load they are on Me,—I stagger to carry;—
When you there spread your hands, I turn My face from you, Though you multiply praying I never will listen,
For blood fills your hands. 10
- "Therefore wash yourselves clean, turn your sins from before you;
Cease your practice of evil when close to My sight.
Learn to be righteous, and try to do justice,—
Be just to the orphan, the helpless defend. 11
- "Come now," says the LORD, "for the reason I give you;
If your sins were like red, they will whiten like snow.
If purple as worms will become like to wool;—
If calmly you listen, the good Land shall feed you;—
But refuse, and rebel, and the sword will eat you!" 12

I

ODE 2.

A Lament over Zion.

- 21 How could the Chaste City come out as a Harlot?
 Once Righteousness dwelt there,—but Murderers now!
 22 Your silver is drossy, your wine mixed with water.
 23 Your Princes are rebels, Confederates with robbers,
 Love bribes and seek gifts, not the rights of the helpless,
 And the plea of the widow they bring not before them.
 24 "Go," says the Life's Prince, the kind Shepherd of Israel,
 "I will clear off the tyrants, and punish My haters, 25 Will turn My hand on you, refine out your dross,
 And reserving your best will restore as aforetime
 26 Your Statesmen to govern,
 Then they will call you the City of Justice,
 The Home of the truth;—
 27 Zion, freed by Justice, by Right from her Slavery, 28 While the Wicked are Crushed, and the LORD'S foes defeated.
 29 And you blush for the Groves you desired,
 And feel shamed for the Gardens you chose;
 30 When your oak leaves are withered, and gardens unwatered, 31 And your wealthy like tow, and their works like a spark,
 And all burnt up together, with no one to quench them."

ODE 3.

- 2 The Event that Isaiah-ben-Amoz foresaw over Judah and Jerusalem.

Future Glories.

- 2 The days come when the Hill of the LORD'S House shall stand at the head of the Hills,
 And rise o'er the Mountains, and to it all the Nations shall gather.
 3 Great peoples collecting shall say, "Come, let us go up to the House of the LORD!
 Where Jacob's GOD dwells, and learn of His ways, and let us all walk in His footpaths!"
 For from Zion will go out the Law, and from Jerusalem Jehovah's Orders 4 As judge between Nations, commanding great peoples, their swords into plough shares to beat,
 And their Spears into scythes,—nor nation raise sword upon nation, and never learn war.

ODE 4.

An Entreaty to Judah.

- 5 ISAAH.
 6 House of Jacob come on!—let us walk in the light of the LORD.
 "Why do you, LORD, reject Jacob's House as your people?"
 THE LORD.
 "For they seize on the East, and the Clouds like Philistines,
 And shake hands with the Children of Strangers;
 7 And fill up their Country with silver and gold,
 And their treasures are endless.
 And they fill up their country with horses
 And their chariots are endless.
 8 And they fill up their country with Idols,—
 The mere work of the hands of a founder,—
 The thing they have made with their fingers;
 9 Men bow,—men fall down to what cannot help them."
 10 ISAAH.
 "Seek a Fortress, or hide in the dust,
 From the terrible LORD, and the light of His might.—
 11 The proud men's eyes shall fall, and the lofty shall bow."
 The LORD only be great in that day!

In the LORD's day of power over all proud and high, And o'er everyone lofty or low, And over all Lebanon's proud rising Cedars, And over the Oak-woods of Bashan ; And o'er all the high hills, And all mountains aspiring. And o'er all castled Buildings, And all Moated Forts ; And all ships of Tarshish, And all costly displays, To depress human pride, And throw down haughty men.	12 13 14 15 16 17
In that day the LORD will be high, and the Idols swept down, And flung to the caves of the rocks and the holes of the dust, To escape the LORD's terrible splendour and might, When He rises to vanquish the earth.	18 19
Men will then throw their Idols of Silver, And Idols of gold which had filled them with fear, To the burrows of Moles and the Bats, And fly to the clefts of the rocks, and the crags of the peaks, To escape the LORD's terrible splendour and might, When He rises to vanquish the earth."	20 21

ODE 5.

A Warning to Jerusalem.

Trust not in Man with his passionate breath ;— To what good can he plan for himself ? For the Prince EVER-LIVING OF HOSTS Jerusalem's staff will remove, and from Judah support ;— All bread for support, and all water for drink.	22 3
The General, and man for the war ; Judge and Prophet, Consulter and Chief ; The Captain, who holds the command, And Adviser, and skilled Engineer, And Contriver of plans, And let boys be their leaders and children to rule, And the People distracted by man against man, And each by his neighbour oppressed ; The young by the old, and the low by the high.	2 3 4 5
Then each take his family friend, And cry " Robe and be Chieftain for us ;— And this Ruin take under your hand !" But at once he will rise and exclaim, " A Ruler I never can be, With no bread in my house and no Robe,— I cannot stand Chief of a tribe !" For Jerusalem totters, and Judah will fall, For their speech and their acts scorn the LORD . With their insults despising His Might. Their expression of face will convict, For as Sodom they boast of their sin,— They hide it not !—Woe to their soul, When their crime shall return on themselves]	6 7 8 9
" What good to be righteous ? " they cry ; So the fruit of their acts they shall eat— Alas for the crime of the bad !—	10 11

- When to him comes the work of his hands!
 12 By Children My Race is oppressed;
 And over them Women bear rule;
 My People, your Leaders betray,
 Those who should guide you divert from the road!—
 13 But Jehovah will rise to defend,—
 And establish the popular right;
 14 The LORD for His People will come,
 To do justice on Princes and Chiefs,—
 For you have devoured their farm,
 And your homes hold the spoil of the poor.—
 15 How dare you My people crush down,
 And grind on the face of the weak?
 Asks the LORD EVER-LIVING in might.

ODE 6.

A Warning to the Women of Zion.

- 16 The LORD demands reply.—“Why Zion’s girls are proud,
 And walk with haughty necks, and roving wanton eyes,
 And mincing in their step, and pattering with their feet?”
 17 So my Prince will strip the skull of Zion’s daughters bare And the LORD expose their shame.
 18 My Prince then take away the turban’s wreathing rolls,
 Along with pretty lace, and wide encircling skirts,
 19 And drops and curls and veils,
 20 And bracelets and their boots;
 21 And puffs and bags of scent,
 Charms and seals and forehead drops;
 22 The costly shawls and cloaks and girdles and their clasps
 23 And hats and lovely knots.
 24 And instead of scents be stink, and in place of girdles ropes:
 Bareness replacing plaits, instead of wrappers, sacks,
 And a brand in beauty’s place!
 25 Your men fall by the sword, and your mighty in the war,
 26 And her gates lament and mourn; she sits lonely on the ground!
 4 Seven women then will seize a single man and cry;—
 “We will eat of our bread, and will clothe in our dress,—
 Only give your name to us, to take off our reproach!”

ODE 7.

Good News and Prosperity promised to Israel.

- 2 Yet again the LORD’S Plant shall be graceful and grand,
 And the fruits of his land be delightfully fair
 To Israel returning.
 3 Then the fragments of Zion, Jerusalem’s wreckage
 To Him shall live sacred enrolled in Jerusalem.
 4 When the Prince washes filth from the daughters of Zion,
 And the blood from the clasp of Jerusalem’s hands,
 By the spirit of justice and spirit of fire!
 5 And the LORD spread on the Walls and the Fanes of Mount Zion
 A cloud in the day, and bright fire at night,
 And splendour o’ershadow the whole,
 6 As a sheltering tent in the day from the heat,
 And a refuge and covering from storm and from rain.

ODE 8.

PROPHET. The Vineyard of his Friend.

- " I will now sing to my Friend, a lovely song of his vineyard. 5
 My Friend had a beautiful farm on a spur of the Son of Fatness.
 He dug it and cleared, and he planted with vines of Sorek, 2
 And a tower he built in the midst, and cut out a Wine-vat beneath it.
 Expecting to reap good grapes—but it produced him only bad ones.
 So now Jerusalem's dwellers, and you the men of Judea, 3
 Judge between me and my farm;
 What could I do to my vineyard more than what I did to it? 4
 When I expected sweet grapes, why has it borne me these sourlings?
 Now then advise me yourselves, what I should do to my vineyard?" 5 MEN OF JERUSALEM.
 "Cut up and burn its hedge,—break its fences and let it be trampled."
 PROPHET.
 "Yes! I will lay it waste—not dig or trim,—let briars and thorns grow! 6
 I will command to the clouds not to rain showers upon it."—
 But the farm of the LORD OF HOSTS is the household of Israel, 7
 And the men of Judea the plant that He loved and He hoped for;—
 He looked to see Justice done, but found crime; and for kindness oppression! 7

ODE 9.

Woe Denounced to the Abuticious.

- Alas! they add house to house,—wide farm to farm,— 8
 That alone they may dwell in the heart of the land!
 But the LORD OF HOSTS whispers to me,— 9
 Many great and fair Halls shall be waste,
 And no one dwell there!
 So ten acres of farm yield a Bath 10
 And five homers of seed an Ephah!
 At dawn they rise to seek drink, 11
 Chase wine until eve to inflame them.
 There are harp and lute, the drum and the fife, 12
 And wine in the feasts with them,
 But no thought of the work of the LORD,
 They see not what His hands have made!
 By want of knowledge my Race is stripped, 13
 And their nobles destroyed by greed;
 And their Masses rage with thirst.
 The Grave therefore has roused her soul, 14
 And her mouth she has opened wide,—
 And high and low rush into it cheering!
 But the men shall stoop and women fall 15
 With their haughty eyes flung low,
 When the LORD of Might shall rise to judge, 16
 The Holy GOD decree the right;
 Then lambs shall feed as they desire, 17
 And kids shall graze in the fertile fields.

ODE 10.

A Warning to Scoffers.

- Woe! you haulers of Passion by Vanity's Cables;— 18
 And Sin with thick ropes like a cart!—
 Who say, "Let him hasten, and do his work quickly;" 19
 For then we can see it advance!
 Let Israel's Holy One bring out His purpose;
 And then we can know it!"

- 20 Woe! you call evil, Good, and turn Good into evil,—
And Darkness the Light, and turn Light into Darkness;
The Bitter to Sweet, and the Sweet into Bitter!
- 21 Alas! in your eyes you are wise—to your own faces prudent,— 22 Woe, you heroes with drunkards, brave men to mix drink!
23 Who for bribes wrong to right, and turn right into wrong,
24 So, as fire's tongue eats chaff, and the flame consumes hay,
There shoot shall be scorched, and their bloom fly as dust,
For the Laws of the LORD OF HOSTS they have despised,
And derided the words of the Holy of Israel!
- 25 And so for his people the LORD's anger burnt,
So he stretched out his hand over them and has struck;—
The Hills shook, and their mass was flung into the Squares,
And their bulk was like wreck in the heart of the streets!—

Yet His anger turns not for this, but His hand is extended still!

- 26 And the Nations from far He will also rouse up,
And whistle to them from the bounds of the earth,—
And look! how they hasten—now quick they come on!
27 None weary or stumble, they sleep not or slumber,
Their belts not unclasped, and their boots not unlaced.
28 Their arrows are sharpened, their bows are all bent,
Their horse hoofs are flint, and their car wheels a whirlwind.
29 Like a lion they growl, and they bellow like tigers;
They seize prey, and go,—and no one can prevent,
30 Though at them they roar like the roar of the sea!
- Then men will look down to the earth—and behold dark despair,
And by its deep gloom the light will seem black.

ODE II.

Introductory Note by Isaiah.

- 6 In the year of King Uzziah's death, | And I exclaimed, "Alas for me! for 5
I saw the Almighty seated upon a | I shall die! since I am a man of high and lofty throne, and His atten- | sinful lips, and I live amongst a race
dants filled the Temple. | of sinful lips!—Yet I have seen the
2 Scraphim stood around Him each | Royal LORD OF HOSTS with my with six wings. With two they | eyes!"
covered their faces; with two they | But one from amongst the Sera- 6
3 clothed their feet; and they flew | phim flew and took by his hand with two; and one called to the | with the tongs a coal from off the 7
other exclaiming | Altar, and touched me on the mouth
"Holy, holy, LORD OF HOSTS, | and said,
The Earth is full of Your splen- | "Now this has touched your lips
dour!" | it has removed your frailty, and
4 And the Guards at the doorways | covered your sins."
trembled at the sound of the Anthem, | Then I heard the voice of the LORD 8 and a thick cloud filled the house.— | ask, "Whom shall I send? and who will go for us?"
- 9 And I replied, "I am here; I will go!"
He said,—"Go! and say to this People,
'Hearing, you hear, but never perceive;
Seeing, you see, but never will learn!—
10 For this People's heart has grown fat,— Deaf-eared, they have blinded their eyes, lest they see with their eyes,
And hear with their ears,
Understand with their heart,
And turn and be healed!'"

11 Then I asked, "At what time, Almighty?"

And He answered, "Not until their towns are ruins without inhabitants, and their houses have no men, and their farms are desolate wastes, and the LORD has driven away their race from the heart of the land by a great emigration. Yet a tithe shall remain in her and be fed, like a Plane or Oak when they shed their leaves, yet stand up with good sap to sustain them."

ODE 12.

A Message to Ahaz.

7 At the period when Ahaz-ben-Jotham-ben-Aziah was King of Judah, Retzin King of Aram, and Pekah-ben-Remeliah the king of Israel, advanced to Jerusalem to assail it, but were not able to conquer. But when it was reported to the House of David that Aram had joined with Ephraim its heart and the heart of its people shook like the trees of a wood are shaken before the wind.

3 But the LORD said to Isaiah, "Go at once with your son Turn-again, to meet Ahaz at the side of the embankment of the High Reservoir on the Hill of the Bleachers' Field and say to him;—

4 "Rest, and be quiet, and fear not these two smoking tails of sticks,—those firebrands Retzin of Aram and the greedy son of Remeliah who conspire against you,—Aram the friend of Ephraim and the son of Remeliah,—who say;—Let us advance into Judah and conquer her, and divide her between us and make the son of Tebal a King in her centre!"

7 "However," the Almighty LORD says, "it shall never succeed or be done.—What is the head of Aram? Damask!—and the Head of Damask? Retzin; but by a period of six full years, Damask shall be struck down, with the Head of Ephraim, Shomeron,—and the Head of Shomeron,—Ben-Remeliah!—If you do not believe this,—Why do you not believe?"

10 The Messenger of the LORD continued however to say; "Ask a proof

1 Ch. 7, v. 8. I believe the name Ephraim, אֶפְרַיִם, is the pen-slip of an ancient transcriber, for Damask, דַּמָּשֶׁק, as the sense of the passage demands Damask, and not Ephraim, whose doom follows.

from your EVER-LIVING GOD for yourself,—from the valley below, or from the hills above?"

But Ahaz replied, "I will not ask one,—for I will not try the EVER-LIVING."

He, however, answered;—"Listen, now, House of David, is it a trifle that you flout men, that you must also flout God?"

"However the Almighty Himself will give you a proof.—Look! that Virgin shall conceive and bear a Son, and you shall call his name God-with-us."

"He will eat butter and honey when he learns how to distinguish between bad and good. Yet before he the lad knows to distinguish between bad and good, the Country that you oppose will be deprived of both her Kings!"

"For the EVER-LIVING will bring over you and over your People, and over your father's house, such times as have not come from the day when Ephraim revolted from Judah,—the King of Ashur!—And then the LORD will whistle for the Flies who are on the banks of the rivers of the Mitzeraim, and for the Wasps who are in the land of Ashur, and they will come and all of them settle in the banks of the rivers and the clefts in the crags, and in all the bushes and on all the trees by the brooks.—At the same time the Almighty will shave off by a hired razor,—by the King of Ashur,—the head and hair of the feet and also the beard!"

"At that period it will happen that a man who feeds a cow and a couple of sheep, can eat butter and milk from their abundant produce,—for all who are left in the breast of the land will eat butter and honey, for then on every farm where there had been a thousand vines, let for a thousand shillings, there will be only briars

1 Ch. 7, v. 13. "He, however," refers to Isaiah the Messenger, not to Jehovah.

2 Imanuel.

3 This event actually occurred when Tiglath-Piliser captured Damascus and Samaria, after Ahaz had entered into an alliance with him in 741—740 B.C. (2 Kings, Ch. 16, v. 7). Upon these facts I read this 7 Ch. of Isaiah, v. 8, as being "six full years," not 65 as former translators have done, for the word חַמֵּשׁ, Khamsb, five, in the Hebrew means "a full or round number," and does not always stand as a mere numeral of arithmetic. See Professor Samuel Lee's Hebrew Lexicon.

and thorns!—They shall also hunt 24 there with bows and arrows, for all 25 the land will be briars and thorns;
 and upon all the hills that were carefully cultivated, nothing shall shoot up except thorns and briars, and fodder for bullocks and trampling goats!"

ODE AND ADDRESS 13.

The Doom of Damascus and Samaria.

- 8 The EVER-LIVING said to me,—
 "Take a great tablet and engrave upon it with a human engraver, 2 about 'rushing to spoil, hastening to plunder.'" So I took as truthful witness to myself Auriiah the Priest, and Zakariah-ben-Jeberekhiah.
 3 Then I married the Poetess and she conceived and bore a son; and the EVER-LIVING said to me, "Call his name Quick-rush-to-spoil-and- 4 Plunder, for before the lad learns to say 'My father and mother,' the loot of Damask, and the plunder of Shomeron shall be carried to the presence of the King of Ashur!"

And the LORD continued, com- 5
 manding me to say further;

"Since those people despise the 6 water of a quiet flowing stream and 7 delight in Retzin and Ben-Remeliah, the ALMIGHTY will, be sure, bring upon them the flood of a great rushing river—the King of Ashur and all his Warriors,—and it will march over all their brooks and all their banks. 1—
 Then the flood will pass onwards to 8 Judea, and reach to the neck; but your land shall be the full stretch of his wings."

Song of Triumph, "For God is with us!"

- 9 Collect together you Nations,
 But you shall be broken!
 Listen Lands at a distance;—
 Arm yourselves,—but you shall be broken!—
 Arm yourselves,—but you shall be broken!—
 10 Decide a united scheme,—discuss a plan—
 It shall not succeed for God is with us!
 11 For thus has said my LIVING GOD,—
 Who holds me with His hand,
 Who kept from walking in the path
 12 This people take, and said:—
 "Confirm no treaty with all whom
 The People wish to treat;
 13 Nor fear their dread and terror,—
 The LORD OF HOSTS revere and fear,— 14 He was your trust and hope,
 He was the one revered,—
 Now stumbling block and rock to fall
 On both of Israel's homes,
 And to Jerusalem's men a snare,
 15 In them shall many stumbling fall,
 Be broke and snared and caught.

ADDRESS 14.

The Prophet warns his Nation of a Punishment for its Sins.

- 16 Bind up the evidence,—impress 17 the Law upon my Students, and I will wait for the EVER-LIVING Who has hidden His face from the House of Jacob;—but I will wait for Him;—
 18 for I, and the children the EVER-LIVING has given to me, are signs and warnings to Israel from the LORD 19 OF HOSTS dwelling on Mount Zion.
 And when they say to you,—"Come to the Raisers of Spirits, and to those taught by the Whisperers and the Entranced"—should not a People rather go to its GOD?—to the Living?
 —not to the Dead?—to the Law and its Evidence?—If they do not speak in 20 accordance with it,—there is no day- 21 break for them; but a passing over

1 Ch. 8, v. 7. This last clause of v. 7 can also be translated "and it will advance over all their strongholds and all their fortifications," the Prophet using a puzzling equivoque as he often does.

to distress and hunger;—and when they hunger and suffer and curse their King and their God, they will 22 examine the Sky and search the earth;—but only see trouble and darkness;—oppressive blackness and driving gloom! Yet not such blackness as that which oppressed her when at a former time He denounced the land of Zebulon, and the land of Naphthali; and afterwards more heavily the district by the sea,—Galilee of the Tribes beyond the Jordan.

ODE 15.

God Promises His People Light and Liberty.

The Nation walking in darkness see a resplendent Light!
 Those shut in a land of shadows,—light has appeared to them! 9

You have increased the Nation!—
 Have You not increased its joy?
 They thank You, as with thanks at harvest,
 As they dance when dividing spoil! 2

For the yoke it bore, and the shoulder beam,
 And the driver's rod, You broke at the Judgment Day;
 When every Warrior's striding boot 3
 And his garments rolled in gore, 4
 Were burnt in devouring fire.

For a Son has been born, a Gift to us,— 5
 On His shoulder the Princedom rests,—
 The Wonderful Counsellor, call His name, Great Leader, Time's Father, the Prince of Peace!

Now endless Order and Peace shall spread. 6
 O'er David's Kingdom and throne;
 To build and secure by Justice and Right,
 From now to eternal Time!
 This, the Power of the LORD OF HOSTS will do!

ODE 16.

A Pathetic Warning to Israel.

To Jacob a word the LORD sent, but it lighted on Israel,
 And informed all his tribe of Ephraim and Shomeron's people, Proud and big-hearted who say,— 7 8

"The brickwork has fallen;—we will rebuild it with marble;
 The Sycamores they have cut down,—but we will replace them with cedars!" 9
 But the LORD, Retzin's foes will excite, and join against him his opponents, 10
 Aram in front, and Philistia behind,—wide-mouthed shall devour Israel. 11
 For all this His anger turns not, but His hand is extended still.

Yet, the Nation, though struck, will not turn, nor seek for the Ruler of Armies; 12
 So the LORD will from Israel cut off head and tail, root and twig in a day.— 13
 The Judge and the Noble are Head,—and the Tail is the false-visionsed Prophet. 14
 Those who mislead them are blessed by this race,—and their blessing destroys 15
 them.

So my Prince delights not in its youths nor pities its widows and orphans, 16
 For they are all wicked and worthless, and every mouth speaks in deception.
 For all this His anger turns not, but His hand is extended still.

For like fire in briars and thorns shall Wickedness flare up, 17
 Consume and kindle the trash, and fiercely the smoke shall roll;
 When the LORD OF HOSTS' anger burns up the Land, and the people are fuel. 18
 None pities his brother, but tears his right hand and is hungry; 19

- And unsatisfied eats of his left,—each devouring the flesh of his arm.
 20 Menasseh of Ephraim, Ephraim of Menasseh, and both of them joined upon Judah !
 For all this His anger turns not,—but His hand is extended still.
- 10 Woe! you enactors of wicked decrees,—and pronouncers of cruel decisions,
 2 To turn off the weak from their right, and strip My poor people of justice,—
 To make widows their prey and orphans their spoil !
- 3 What will you do in the day of assize, which will come from afar with a crash ?
 To whom will you fly to seek help ? And with whom will you hide up your wealth ?
- 4 Abandoned by Me you will crouch in your chains, or fall down with the wounded !—
 For all this His anger turns not,—but His hand is extended still.

ODE 17.

God's Warning to the Proud Assyrians.

- 5 Woe to Ashur the rod of My anger !
 He is only the stick in the hand of My rage !
 6 To a Nation depraved I will send him,—
 And over My people revolted, appoint,
 To plunder the plunder, and spoiling to spoil
 And lay them for treading like dirt in the streets.
- 7 But he does not know it, his heart does not think so ;
 His wish is to waste and destroy many Nations,
 8 For he says " Are not each of my Captains like Kings ?
 9 And is not Kalno become like Karkemish ?
 And is not Hamath become like to Arpad ?
 And Shomeron like to Damascus ?
- 10 " How," he says, " did my hands find the Kingdoms and Gods ?
 Are Jerusalem's and Shomeron's finer ?
 11 Why, as to Shomeron I did and her Godlings, Should I not to Jerusalem do and her buildings ? "
- 12 But when on Jerusalem and on Mount Zion
 My Prince has completed the whole of His work,
 He will pour on the proud-hearted Monarch of Ashur
 The fruit of His splendour and pride of His eyes,— 13 Who says, " I have worked by my courage and wisdom,
 When prudent I swept off the boundaries of Nations,
 And crushed like a hero, the dwellers in them.
 14 And my hand found a nest with the Wealth of the Peoples,
 And I gathered the unguarded eggs of all lands ;
 I swept up for myself and no wing dared to strike,— Nor any mouth open or chatter at me ! "
- 15 How can the Axe boast as if using its Wielder ?—
 And the Saw as much more than the Sawyer who drives ?—
 The Club, as not Wood, raise its hand on its user ?—
- 16 For this the Almighty Commander of Armies,
 Will send a Consumption upon all his fatness,
 And under his glory light slow creeping fire.
 17 Israel's LIGHT be the fire, and HIS HOLY the flame
 And in a day burn up his thorns and his briars, 18 And his glorious Forest and sweet-smelling Carmel ;—
 Shall depress the whole mass, like a Leader who faints, 19 And the number of trees that remain to his forest,
 Shall be what an infant can easily count !
 20 And then Israel's remnant, and Jacob's delivered

Shall no more be relying upon their oppressor, But in truth trust JEHOVAH the Holy of Israel,— And the fragment of Israel return to his Powerful GOD.	21
Though Israel, your People are like to the sea-sands, The rest will return when washed pure and clean, The rest will come to Him, like perfect washed gold. For the GREAT LORD of Hosts will perfect and refine, The Works He will do in the breast of the earth.	22 23
Therefore thus says the LORD EVER-LIVING OF HOSTS, Fear not Ashur, My People in Zion who dwell ; Though his rod and staff strike, as they served you in Mitzer;— For My anger and wrath will end in his destruction, When the LORD OF HOSTS swings up about him his lash Which He used upon Midian beside Oreb's rock, And His rod which He raised at the Sea against Mitzer, And on that day his load shall be rolled off your shoulder, And his yoke from your neck, and the yoke chafe be healed.	24 25 26 27
MESSENGER. 1 ¹ He has come up to Arath,—passed over to Migron, And he has at Mikmash reviewed all his armies ; Has crossed by the Passes, and rests at Low Giba.— Now Ramah trembles,—Saul's Gibeth has fled !	28 29
" Let your voice shriek Beth-Galim, that Laish may hear it ; Alas ! poor Anathoth, Madmena is shaken ; The Hill-men fly from him,—he now stauds on Nob, Shakes his fist at Beth-Zion, Jerusalem's Hills ! "	30 31 32
THE PROPHET. Now the great LORD OF HOSTS cuts his branch with a rush And his high top, cut off, on the mountains is strewn ; And with iron he goes round his forests, and Lebanon's glory will fall.	33
Then a Branch will shoot out from the Stock of Jessai And a Shoot from his roots will spring up, And upon Him the Spirit of Life will remain, And the Spirit of Wisdom, and Spirit of Foresight, With the Spirit of Counsel and Power,— The Spirit of Knowledge and Fear of the LORD ;— And being inspired by the Fear of the LORD, He will never decide by the glance of the eyes, Nor punish by rumour that comes to His ears, But He, by the Right will decide for the weak, And with Justice will strike for the poor of the Earth, By the rod of His mouth He will conquer the world, And its Wickedness slay by the breath of His lips. For Righteousness will be the belt of His waist, And the Truth shall engirdle His robe !	11 2 3 4 5
Then the Wolf shall reside with the Lamb, And the Leopard lie down with the kid, And the Calf, and the Tiger and Lion agree, And a little child lead them about. And the Cow and the Bear will be friends, And together their children shall lie, And the Lion eat hay like the Ox ! Then the Infant can play at the hole of the Asp, And even lay hand on the den of the Adder,— They shall not hurt or harm on all My Holy Hill,	6 7 8 9

¹ NOTE.—Ch. 10, v. 28. At this verse a scout is supposed to arrive while the Prophet is preaching, and gives his terrified report of the Assyrian advance.

For the Earth will be filled with the knowledge of God,
Like the waters flow over the sea!

- 10 Then the Tree of Jessai be the Banner of Tribes,
To whom Nations will rush and rely on His might;
11 And My Prince will add twice to His power,
To collect the remains of His race who are left,
From Ashur and Mitzer, and Pathros,
And from Kush and from Ailam and Shinar,
And from Khamath, and out from the Isles of the Sea.
12 And then He will raise up a Flag to the Heathen,
And all Israel's wanderers, and Judah's Dispersion,
From the four Wings of the Earth will collect,
13 And turn off Ephraim's envy, and Judah's oppression,— Nor Ephraim envy Judah, nor Judah vex Ephraim, 14 But westward will fly at the side of Philistia,
And together will plunder the Sons of the East,
And throw out their hands upon Edom and Moab
And bring to subjection the children of Amou, 15 And the LORD dry the tongue of the Mitzerite sea—
Shake His hand o'er the River in violent wind,
Make its seven streams fail, and be travelled in shoes,
16 And become a highway for the rest of His People,
Who are still scattered in Ashur,—
As to Israel it was in the day he came up out of Mitzer,

ODE 18.

Israel's Song of Victory.

- 12 (In that day you must sing,—)
" I will praise You, Jehovah,—
For Your anger with me into mercy has turned!
2 GOD Who saved me—I trust You, and no more will dread!
For You, LORD, are my vigour and song, EVER-LIVING!
And You are a Saviour to me!"
3 So draw water with joy from the Wells of Salvation!
(At that time you must say—)
4 " Praise the Lord,—call on His Name,
Proclaim to the Peoples His wonders;
Make Him remembered and lift up His Name;
5 Sing to the LORD for the splendid result,
Proclaim it to all on the earth!
Cheer loud and shout, O! you people of Zion,
For ISRAEL'S HOLY is great in your midst!"

ODE 19.

- 13 The Doom of Babylon that Isaiah-ben-Amoz foretold
2 Hoist the Standard to view on the Hill,—
Call to them—and with the hand beckou,
And the Princes will enter the gates!
3 I have commanded My saints, I have called to My Heroes,
My fierce and My proud, and My haughty,
The High Hills re-echo a great people's movement,—
4 The sound of the Leaders of Nations collecting:—
The LORD OF HOSTS mustering His Army for Battle!

They come from a land at a distance, From the boundary of Heaven, And the LORD with His weapon of anger, To punish your land.	5
How! for the day of the LORD is arriving!— Like a robber for plunder it comes! Therefore all hands hang down, And each man's heart will melt, Will be terrified, tortured, and writhe In anguish like women in childbirth!	6 7 8
Each his friend will affright, Face flaming to face, "Look! the LORD'S day has come!— Fierce, o'erwhelming, and furlous with anger, To turn the Earth into a waste, And the wicked destroy upon her."	9
Then the stars of the skies and the planets Will no longer shine with their light. In darkness the Sun will come forth, And the Moon will not give out her beam, When I visit her sin on the world, And on the Wicked their crime. Make the pride of the haughty to cease, And the might of the terrible fall. And make mortals more precious than gold, And mankind than the purest from Ophir: For the Heavens will tremble, earth shake from her place At the LORD OF HOSTS' anger and day of fierce wrath; They shall be like a stag, or a Shepherdless flock, Each to his Nation will fly, And everyone march to his land, And all met will be stabbed, All caught by the sword; Their children fung down in their sight, Their homes plundered and ravished their wives. For I will raise on them the Medes, Whom silver will never restrain, And who have no desire for gold. Their Archers will break the young men; Nor pity the fruit of the womb, Nor their eyes have regard to a child,— And Babel, the Swell ¹ of the Kingdoms, The crown of the pride of Kaldees, Like Gomorah and Sodom whom GOD overwhelmed, Not inhabited ever Or dwelt in for ages, Nor camp there the Arabs, Nor Shepherds there pasture,— But Wild Beasts shall cower,— With yells fill their houses,— And Daughters of Woe shall reside. ²	10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21

¹ Ch. 13, v. 19. It is strange that this modern slang term is the only accurate translation of Isalah's Hebrew צְבַל, Tzbl, to swell, to swell up, say the Lexicons.

² Ch. 13, v. 21. Daughters of Woe is the poetic name for the Ostrich in Hebrew, owing to the sobbing wail uttered by that bird at night.

- 22 And the gorilla shall dance!—
And her widowhood Hyenas mourn,—
And snakes in her Temples delight!—
And soon it will come,
For her period shall not be for long.
- 14 For the LORD will have pity on Jacob,
And Israel once more will select,
And comfort them on their own land.
And the stranger shall gather to them,
And cling to the household of Jacob,
2 And our tribes take them and bear to their homes,
When Israel's House rules the Land of the LORD,
And the Masters he served be his servants and maids,
And he shall subdue his oppressors.
- 3 Then when the LORD frees you from grief and from fear,
And from the hard slavery you slaved,
- 4 You can raise up these verses against Babel's King,—
"How failed the Tyrant?
The gold-seeker perished?—
5 The LORD broke the rod of the Wicked,
6 The stick of the driver, whose fury struck peoples,—
Who with strokes never ceasing Chased Nations in anger,—
He is now helpless driven!
- 7 "All the earth laughs in peace
And breaks out into song!
- 8 Yes, the pine trees laugh at you, and Lebanon's cedars;
Since you fell, no fellers have come up against us."—
9 The Grave below mourns you,—and comes out to meet you,—
The Rephaim strip for you,
And rise all the Heroes of Earth from their Beds,—
All the Kings of the Heathen grieve for you and say,— 10 "Have you become feeble like us?
Un-kingdomed as we?
- 11 "Your pomp sinks to the grave with the sound of your viols;
Your couch is the maggot, your covering the worm!—
12 How fell you from Heaven, bright Son of the Morning?
Down, down to the earth, you destroyer of Nations?
13 Though you said in your heart 'I will rise up to Heaven!
Exalt my throne over the stars of its God
And reside on the Hill of the Seasons;
Be adored like the North!
- 14 I will rise o'er the heights of the clouds,—
I will make myself like the MOST HIGH!
- 15 "But now you are hurled to the Grave!
You are kicked to the Pit!
- 16 Those who see you upon you will gaze,
Reflecting that this was the man
Shook the earth and made Kingdoms afraid, 17 Made the World like a desert, its cities destroyed,
And sent not his prisoners home!
- 18 "All the Kings of the Nations—the whole,
Rest in honour,—each one in his house,
19 But you are flung out of your grave
Like a careless guard slain in the dark,
By the stab of a sword, is flung to the stones in a pit,
As a corpse trodden down.—

You shall not join them in the tomb,— For your own land you ravaged, your people you slew;— The seed of the Wicked shall never be famed."	20
Prepare death for his sons, for the sin of their father;— Let them never more rise to seize hold of the earth; And fill all the world with their crimes.—	21
"And I will rise on them," the LORD OF HOSTS says, "And will cut off from Babel her name, And her marriage and offspring and race," Says the LORD!	22
"And make her the Bittern's estate, With pools for the reeds, And sweep with the broom of destruction," The LORD OF HOSTS says.	23
The LORD OF HOSTS promised and swore, "It shall become as I said, And as I determine shall stand.— In My land to smash Ashur, Tread him down on My Hills, Take from them his yoke, And remove his load off from their backs. This purpose is fixed for all over the earth, And Mine is the hand which controls every Race," So the LORD OF HOSTS fixes, and who can annul? His Hand is controlling,—who can turn it back?	24 25 26 27

ODE 20.

The Doom of Philistia.

This Burden came in the year that Ahaz died. (B.C. 726.)	28
Rejoice not Philistheth so fully That the rod of your conqueror has broke, An Asp springs from the egg of the Serpent, And its fruit is an adder with wings! But the poor, weak, and wretched shall feed, And in safety repose, When I kill by famine your root, And your fragments are slain.	29 30
Cheer, and shout Gate and Town,— All Philistia dissolves,— A smoke comes from the North Not alone but in masses.— And what should be said to the National Leader? That the LORD has built Zion, And in Her the poor People trust.	31 32

ODE 21.

The Burden of Moab.

Because in a night, Ar of Moab is ruined, Be silent!	18
Because in a night, Kir of Moab is ruined, Be silent!
Go up to Bayith and Dibon the Higher, To weep over Nebo, and over Mideba. Howl, Moab, bare-headed, with all your beard shaven! In his streets they gird sacks on the walls,	19

- In the squares all fall howling in tears,
 And Heshbon and Alalah, shriek out to Jatz,
 Their voices re-echo!
 Moab's joints ache and his soul is distracted!
- My heart cries for Moab,—
 At her flight, like a three-year-old heifer to Zoer,
 For she mounts up to Lilith in tears;—
 And raises on Horanim's roadway a shriek of despair,
 For the waters of Nimrim are failing;
 Grass withers, plants perish, and nothing is green!
 Therefore the wealth they had made and collected,
 The Arabs bear off to their Vale.
- For the shriek has gone round all the borders of Moab
 At Aglim they wail, and will wail at Bar-Alam,
 When the Rivers of Dimon are filled full of blood;
 But I will set worse upon Dimon,
 A lion to chase out of Moab, and shatter the land.
- (FRIENDSHIP OF JUDAH SOUGHT BY MOAB CHIEFS.)
- "Let your ruler from Seba send lambs
 From the pasture, to Her on Mount Sion;
 When like a lost bird driven out of its nest,
 At Arnon's fords stand Moab's daughters."
- (MOAB'S PRAYER.)
- "Take counsel, be kind;
 Lay your shadow like night at the windows;—
 Hide the refugees' flight, betray not.
 With you let Moab's fugitives rest,
 And from the spoilers to them be a shield,
 Till oppression may cease, and the ruin may end,
 And the ferment depart from the land.
 For by Mercy the Throne is prepared,
 And in David's Hall sits on it Truth,
 A Judge seeking Justice, and helping the Right."
- (REPLY OF JUDAH.)
- "We have heard of proud Moab's great pride;
 His boastings, his pride and his rage;—
 Left alone, therefore, let Moab wail,
 In Moab let everyone weep.
 Sigh and mourn for the happy Kirharsheth."
- (LAMENT OVER MOAB.)
- Sibmah's Vine fails in the fields of Heshbon,
 Foreign Lords have her trellis destroyed:
 Which stretched out to Jazer and spread to the desert!
 And whose off-shoots spread over the streams.
- I weep Sibmah's Vine with my weeping at Jazer, Elalah and Heshbon will soak with my tears,
 For rain has rushed over their harvest and fruitage,
 And smiling and laughter have fled from her orchards,
 No cheers from her Vineyards, nor shouting of wine,
 No treaders now tread in the Press,
 The singing has ceased!
- So my heart, like a harp, mourns for Moab,
 And my breast for Kirharsheth.
- And Moab looks in distress to the Height,
 And goes to his Temple to pray, and he fails!

- 13 That is the message which the EVER-LIVING formerly sent to Moab ;
14 but now the message of the EVER-LIVING is, to say " Within three years, like the engagement of a hired servant, the power of Moab will expire in spite of his great army ; and his fragments will be despicable and unhonoured."

ODE 22.

The Doom of Damascus.

- Damask as a City will perish 17
And become but a ruinous heap!
Arar's towns be abandoned to flocks,
Who repose and are never disturbed. 2
And the Fortress will cease to be Ephraim's,—
And Empire pass from Damask ; 3
And Aram be shattered like glorious Israel ;—
The LORD of the Armies decrees.
- And then Jacob's glory shall fail ! 4
In that day his fat body shall waste ;
As when reapers gather the corn, 5
And crop off the heads by their arm,
They will pick up the heads in the Vale of Rephaim !
- But, like on a shook Olive, shall gleanings be left, 6
Two or three on high boughs,—
Four or five berries on twigs of the tree,
Says Israel's LIFE-GIVING GOD !
- Then Man will seek help from his MAKER, 7
And his eyes ISRAEL'S HOLY respect,
And not help at the Altars of Idols 8
Which his hands and his fingers have made,
And respect not the Saints or the Fiends.
- At that time your strong Cities will be 9
Like the strongholds the Amorites made,
When they fled before Israel's sons,—
Will be turned into desolate wastes !
- You forgot your victorious GOD, 10
Nor remembered the Rock of your strength ;
So you plant goodly plants,
And you sow select seed, 11
To-day make your hedge,
Your seed sprouts in the morn,—
But the crop fails in harvest,
And hopeless men mourn.

ODE 23.

The Fate of the Cushite Confederacy foretold.

- Woe! you Confederate Nations, who roar like great seas ! 12
Roar and rush on the Peoples as rush rolling waters,— Yes! you rush on the Nations like great waters sweep :— 13
But repulsed they fly far,—
- Chased like chaff by the wind on the mountains,
And like the dry leaves from the face of the whirlwind !
At eve, see their terrors, by morn they have vanished ! 14
Such, the fate of our plunderers and lot of our spoilers.

- 18 Woe! to the country wing-shadowed, beyond Kush's rivers, 2 Who on the face of the seas sends its letters by Agents,
 "Go, Messengers, speak to a bold conquering Nation,—
 A terrible Race in its Past and its Future,
 A disciplined dominant People, despising the streams of the earth.
- 3 "Say to all the World's races who dwell on its Earth,
 'When the standard is raised on the Hill, be in fear,
 And attend when the bugle is blown!'"
- 4 For thus the LORD said to myself,
 "I will rest, and reflect in My home,
 Like a bright dew at the rising of light;
 Like thick cloud in the harvest-time glare;—
- 5 Then, before Autumn ripens the fruit,
 And the sour grapes are turned to mature,
 I will cut off the twigs with a hook
 And the branches remove with a knife;
- 6 Leave the heap to the kites of the Hills,
 And the beasts of the earth as a bed;
 And the Wild-birds shall summer on them,
 And in Winter the Beasts make their lair."
- 7 Then a gift will be brought to the LORD OF THE HOSTS,
 From a bold conquering People,
 A terrible Race from its past and its present,
 A disciplined dominant People, despising the rivers of earth,
 To the House of the Name of JEHOVAH OF HOSTS,
 On Mount Zion!

ODE 24.

The Garden of Mitzer.

- 10 See the LORD rides to Mitzer borne on a swift cloud!
 Mitzer's godlings before Him will quail,— Mitzer's heart in its bosom dissolve!
- 2 "The Mitz'raim I will rouse on the Mitz'raim;
 And each shall his own brother fight,
 Each his neighbour, with Town against Town,
 Each Kingdom against her own State.
- 3 Then Mitzer's soul poured from its breast
 And bereft of its reason will rush to its godlings,
 And Charmers, and Spirits, and Knowers.
- 4 But I will give Mitzer hard Lords,
 And a fierce King shall rule over her,
 Says the GREAT LORD OF HOSTS,
- 5 "And the waters shall dry from the brooks,
 And the river be parched up and fail;
 6 The streams and their murmur shall cease,
 The banks of canals be destroyed,
 And withered the rushes and reeds.
- 7 The meadows by brooks, and the mouths of the streams,
 And all sown by the runnels shall wither and faint.
- 8 And the fishers shall mourn;
 And all angling the rivers be sad;
 And the casters of nets on the waters shall faint.
- 9 The flax carders and weavers despair;
 10 All the Factories be ruined,
 And the operatives troubled in mind!"

- Alas! Zoan's Princes are fools, Pharaoh's wise Counsellors, counsel like brutes! 11
Why say you to Pharaoh—you sons of the Wise,
"I descend from the Kings of the East?"
Where now are your wise? let them tell you and teach 12
What the LORD OF HOSTS plans against Mitzer!
- Zoan's nobles are fools,—and Noph's Princes deceivers,
And the Heads of the Tribes mislead Mitzer. 13
In their breast the LORD mingles a spirit perverse,
And Mitzer in all her acts staggers, 14
As staggers a vomiting drunkard,
And nothing that Mitzer may do 15
Is done well to the point to prevent or avert her distress.
- At that period Mitzer shall be 16
Like a woman, and tremble and fear,
At the LORD OF HOSTS' threatening hand,
That He shakes over her.
Judah's land shall bring terror to Mitzer,— 17
All who name it will fear for himself,—
Because of the plans that the LORD OF THE HOSTS,
Has prepared against her!
- Then five towns in the Mitzerite's land 18
The language of Canaan will speak,
And swear by the LORD OF THE HOSTS,
One be named "The Town of Salvation!"
- Then an Altar will be to the LORD 19
In the midst of the land of MITZ'RAIM,
And a Column set up to the LORD on its bounds,
As a mark and a guide to the LORD OF THE HOSTS 20
When they cry in the land of Mitz'raim to the LORD
Who will send them a Saviour from tyrants,
When to Mitzer the LORD will be taught, 21
And the Miteraim acknowledge the LORD.
- And then Mitzer will serve Him with offering and gift,
And vow vows to the LORD and perform. 22
Thus the LORD will strike Mitzer a stroke,
But heal her and turn to the LORD;
And to Him they will cry and He heal them.
- Then a way shall be made from the Mitz'raim to Ashur. 23
To join Mitzer to Ashur, and Ashur to Mitzer;
And Mitzer and Ashur will worship together,
And Israel with Mitzer and Ashur a triad, 24
She shall bless in the land that the LORD OF HOSTS blesses,
And say, "Bless Mitzer His People, and Ashur His work, 25
And Israel His own."

ADDRESS 25.

Isaiah Commanded to go Naked.

- 20 In the year that Tartan advanced against Ashdod, to which Sargon the king had sent him, and assaulted 2 Ashdod and captured it, at the same time the command of the EVER-LIVING came to Isaiah-ben-Amoz to say,—“Go | take the sack from your waist, and pull your shoes off your feet, and having done so, walk naked and barefoot.”
Afterwards the LORD said, “As My 3 servant Isaiah will go naked and barefoot for three years as a sign and index against Miteraim, and Kush, 4 in the same way the King of Ashur will drive the captives of Mitzeraim, and routed of Kush, young and old, naked and barefoot, and I will uncover the buttocks of Mitzer's shame.

5 "Then the inhabitants of this coast will be terrified and depressed about Kush their Hope, and about Mitzer their boast, and say, 'See what our Hope is, to which we flew, to help to shield us from the King of Ashur!—

Now how can we escape?'"

ODE 26.

The Doom of the Sea-Desert.

21 ISAIAH.

"As sweeping Whirlwinds from the south,
Bring terror to the Desert land,
2 A fearful scene unfolds to me;
The robber robbed, the spoiler spoiled!"

3 "Come to me Elam—press on Medes,—
I am convulsed with torture!
My waist is filled with anguish,
Pains seize me, pains of childbirth,
I am torn up, I cannot hear,
I cannot see for torment!
4 My heart flutters,—terrors shake,
The eve I loved is turned to horror!"

5 BELSHAZZAR.

"Prepare the board, spread out the feast, Eat, drink."

THE PROPHET.

6 "Rise, Generals, take your shield.
Thus says ALMIGHTY GOD to me,—
'Go set the Watch, report his news.'"

7 He saw a two-horsed chariot,
A chariot ass, and camel car;
He looked and looked a piercing look,— 8 Then cried, "I look out from my post.
My Lord, I stand throughout the day
And all the night I guard my tower;—
9 And now I see a chariot come,—
A man and team, who shouts,
And cries, 'Has fallen, fallen Babel!
Her Idol Gods are slung to earth!'"

10 THE PROPHET.

"That is my harvest in my barn!
What the LORD OF HOSTS has shown me,
Israel's GOD, I tell to you."

ODE 27.

The Message to Buzahj.

11 He called to me from Seir,—

12 "Watchman, what to-night?

Watchman, what to-night?

Answer Watchman!

"Morning comes, and follows night
If you seek it,—seek it.—Go,—and come again!"

ODE 28.

The Message to Arabia.

13 At eve rest in the wood, caravans of Dodanim;

14 To the thirsty bring water, bring bread to the dying.

You who inhabit the corners of Thema,
When they fly from the sword, 15
When they fall by drawn swords,
And before the bent bow,
And the terrible face of the War.

For thus says th' ALMIGHTY to me, 16
"By a year, like a labourer's year,
All the power of Keder shall fail,
And be broken his disciplined archers; 17
And the bold sons of Keder defeated,
As the LORD GOD of Israel decrees."

ODE 29.

The Burden seen in the Valley.

What ails you now, that all of you mount to the house-tops? 22
Your City is filled with a tumultuous roaring, 2
The joyous Town slain, is not slain by the sword,
And not killed by a war!

As though one,—all your Nobles have fled from the archers 3
Who will chain all found in you,—
And will chain also the fliers afar.

So I say, "Look not on me while bitterly weeping, 4 Nor try to console me for my Nation's ruin."
'Tis a day of confusion, despair, and depression, 5
From the GREAT LORD OF HOSTS to the Valley of Vision;
With sapping of walls and a cry to the Mountain.

And Eilam brings quivers to Aram's hired Chariots, 6
And Kir brings out the shield;
And your sweet vales are filled with the chariots and horsemen, 7
Who stand in array at your gates!

Then the Guardian of Judah shall tremble, 8
And trust on the arms in the House of the Forest, Examine the breaks in the Fortress of David, 9
And gather the stream to the pool down below;
And you then will number Jerusalem's houses, 10
And pull down the houses to strengthen the bulwarks,
And between the two Walls make a course for the water 11
To fill the Old Pool.

But not put your trust in your Maker and Former,
Whom you never revered of old.
But when He calls for weeping, the GREAT LORD of Armies, 12
And mourning and stripping and girding with sackcloth,
Will be seen joy and pleasure, and killing of bullocks, 13
Sheep slaughtered, flesh eating, and drinking of wine!
"We will eat and will drink,—we may die in the morning!"

But the LORD OF THE HOSTS, to my hearing has whispered,— 14
"By your death, alone, can such vice be closed up,"
Said the GREAT LORD OF HOSTS.

ODE 30.

The Doom of Shebna the Treasurer foretold.

15 The GREAT LORD OF HOSTS com- | 'What is there for you here? and 16
manded me thus;—"Go at once to | what have you there, that you erect the prosperous Shebna, who is super- | a Monument for yourself here?
intendent of the Palace, and ask;— | Erecting a high Monument for your

- Tomb? Constructing the semblance of a residence for yourself on a high peak?'
- 17 "But, look! The LORD will throw 18 you a throw, great man, and roll you a roll, and reel you to a reel like a ball and toss into a far off land—you shall die there—deprived of your magnificent Chariots—you disgrace to your Prince's Palace!
- 19 "For I will cause you to be ejected from your Office,—and he will destroy your station!
- 20 "But at the same time I will summon My servant Eliakam-ben-Khil-21 kiah, and clothe him with your Robe, and confirm him by your belt, and will put your staff of Office into his hand, and he shall be a father to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and to the House of Judah. And I will place 22 the key of the House of David on his shoulder, and he shall open and none shut, and shut and none open. And 23
I will fix him firmly in a safe position, where he will be on a glorious seat for the House of his Ancestors, and 24 they will hang upon him all the honour of his Forefathers, their descendants, and relatives; all the small cups with all the pitchers up to the flagons.
Then," says the LORD OF HOSTS, "if 25 that Nail driven into its place firmly should give way and fail, the load that is upon it will be destroyed,"—
so the LORD declares,

ODE 31.

The Burden of Tyre.

- 23 You ships of Tarshish, wail,
For Home and Port lie waste,
You Learn from Kithim's land!
- 2 Men of the Coasts be dumb!
And Zidon rich by seaborne trade,
The River's harvests grew,
3 Spring sown by many streams,
For you, the Nation's merchant,
For grain from many streams,
The early fruit of brooks,—
She was the Nation's Mart.
- 4 Faint, Zidon;—for the Sea,
The Mighty Sea declares,—
"I writhed not, nor bore child,
And lads have not brought up,
Or educated girls—
5 Yet as the Mitzeraim listen,
They grieve to hear of Tzur,
- 6 Tarshish is overwhelmed;
Men of the Islands howl:
7 "Is this your pleasant home
From very ancient days?
Must you now quit your home,
To go and dwell far off?
8 Who purposed this on Tzur,
The Lady of the Crown?
Her Merchants were all Princes,
Her Traders Lords of Earth!"
- 9 THE PROPHET.
"The LORD OF HOSTS designed,
To dash all haughty pride, Depress all great on earth!
- 10 "Flow on your land like a brook
11 That has lost its embankment,
You poor daughter of Tarshish!"

For HE points His hand to the sea, and her empire shakes ;	12
The LORD orders to break down her mercantile towers,
Says " Triumph no more, drunken daughter of Tarshish !	13
Rise ! pass over to Kithim,—and there find no rest." ¹
Howl, you ships of Tarshish ! your harbour is desert ;	14
And Tzur is forgotten for seventy years,	15
Like the days of a king,—but the seventy years ended, Tzur shall be, as it says in the " Song of the Harlot " ;
" Take a harp,—walk the Town,—now, you harlot forgotten,	16
Sing sweet roundels to call your remembrance to mind."
At the seventy years end, that the LORD laid on Tzur,	17
She will love the whore's wages and seek prostitution
With all the Earth's Kingdoms on face of the land !
But her Trade and the Wealth will belong to the LORD,—	18
Nor treasured or stored, and be for the LORD's People,— Wealth for food to content, and for beautiful robes !

ODE 32.

The Desolation of Judæa foretold.

See ! the Land the LORD dispeoples,	24
Pours it out, with face reversed,
And its population chases !
Alike with Priest and with the Layman,	2
With the Master and his Slave,
With the Waitress and her Mistress,
With the Buyer and the Seller,
With the Lender and the Borrower, Mortgagor and Mortgagee !
The Land shall be quite emptied,	3
And contemptuously despised,—
For the LORD decrees this sentence !
The Land falls down exhausted,	4
Its fainting people swoon :—
The country's nobles faint !
The Land her people loathes,	5
Who break the laws, and change decrees,
Despise the Eternal Treaty.—
So a curse eats up the Land,—	6
And the dwellers in it waste ;
Its people burn the land,—
And but few of men remain.
Grapes mourn,—the vine stock faints,—	7
The merry hearted groan.—
The sound of drums is still,	8
The shout of pleasure fails,
The sounding harp is silent,—
They drink not wine with song,—	9
Wine saddens those who drink.
The broken Town is still,	10
Each empty house is shut !
The streets cry out for wine,	11

¹ Ch. 23, v. 13.* See the land of the Kasdim,— Till Ashur built her for wild-tribes, Raised her towers and set up her halls."

I think this portion of a stanza, which is unconnected with what precedes and follows, are three lines misplaced by an old transcriber from another psalm, so I put them as a footnote.—F F.

12 All pleasure is athirst.
 Mirth ceases from the land !
 The Town is left a waste,— Destruction broke its gate !
 13 Amid the land it stands,
 A stripped Olive in the tribes,
 Which they glean at harvest's end !

ODE 33.

The Glad Restoration of Israel foretold.
 14 Now they raise a sound of cheering,
 From sea they praise the GLORIOUS LORD.
 15 The LORD with splendour they are honouring
 In the Islands of the Sea,— Jehovah's Name, the GOD of Israel,
 16 From the Wings of Earth they sound,
 Swelling psalms to Him the Truthful.

Then I cried, Alas my leanness!—
 Woe to me ! for plunderers plunder,
 And the robbers plundering rob !
 17 Confusion, and the trap and snare,
 Are on the people of our land !
 18 And they who fly from Terror's voice,
 Fall in the trap !
 And those who creep from out the trap,
 The lassoes catch !
 For windows from on high are opened,
 And the earth's foundations shake !
 19 And the land with crashing crashes,
 And the land with breaches breaks !
 Tottering land meets ground that totters,
 20 Staggering earth like drunkard staggers,
 And flapping, quivers like a tent ;
 And her crimes are heavy on her,
 She will fall, nor rise again !

21 At that time the LORD will visit,
 From His Seat the Proud on high,
 And on earth, the Kings upon earth ;
 22 And collect the crowd of captives,
 To the cells and shut up safe,
 But after many days will punish.

23 Then the Moon shall veil her features,
 And the Sun shall be obscured,
 When the LORD OF HOSTS is King
 In Jerusalem on Mount Zion, Attended by His Chiefs in glory !

ODE 34.

A Psalm of Thanksgiving to God for Redeeming Israel.
 25 My GOD, EVER-LIVING, I highly exalt You, Praise Your Name for designing Your wonderful plans,
 With steadfastness settled through far-reaching ages,
 26 To throw down a City and ruin its fortress,
 The Palace of strangers cast out of the City,
 For never again to be built.

So the great People praise, the fierce Nations will fear You,	3
For You strengthened the weak,	4
To the poor were a refuge,
A refuge from Tyrants, a shelter from ruin,
When fierce blasts struck their Wall,
And by heat in the desert threw down roaring despots,	5
The Tyrants oppressed by the heat without cloud.
Then the GREAT LORD will make for all tribes on this Hill,	6
A feast rich with marrow and well-prepared dainties,
And grape juice well thickened by age;
And remove on this Hill the Veil veiling the Tribesmen,	7
And the Covering that covers it from all the Heathen ;
And the LORD EVER-LIVING destroy death for ever,	8
And wipe tears from each face ;
And turn from the earth the reproach of His People :—
So the LIVING LIFE says !
In that day they shall sing " We will trust in our GOD,	9
In that LIFE we will trust, for He only can save,—
In His Victory exult and be glad ! "
For the LORD's power rests on this Hill,	10
And beneath it will tread Moab down as wet straw is trod into dung ;
And strike out his hands from his breast,	11
As stretches the swimmer to swim,
And pull down his pride by the clutch of his hands,
And lay low the high walls of his Fort,
His pride throwing down to the dust of the earth !

ODE 35.

Judah's Song of Victory.

In that day shall this Song be sung in Judah's land ;	28
" In our strong Town salvation sits as Walls and force.
Unclose the Gates and let march in the Nation guarding Truth ;	2
Prepare it rest, prepare it peace ;—for peace it trusts in you.	3
" Trust in the LORD for evermore, Whose LIVING-LIFE for ever guards.	4
He threw the lofty from on high, the haughty City down.	5
He threw her down upon the earth, He struck her to the dust.
And now the foot shall tread her down, the poor men's feet depress.	6
" Straight is the path for righteous men, You smooth the good man's road :	7
Such, LORD, the path of Your decrees ;—we trust upon Your Name.	8
My soul reflects upon Your acts,—my soul is rapt at night,	9
My spirit seeks You at the dawn, to find Your teachings clear,
To teach the peoples of the World, to purify the Earth."

ODE 36.

Sorrow for the Wicked.

" The Wicked pitied learn not good,—	10
They stray upon the open ground,—
Nor see the EVER-LIVING'S sign.
They see not, LORD, Your lifted hand ;	11
But spiteful men shall see and fall,
When fire consumes Your foes."

ODE 37.

A Prayer for Peace.

" Oh ! EVER-LIVING, grant us peace ;	12
For You accomplished all our works,
Our EVER-LIVING GOD	13

14 Lords not from You ruled us,
But Your NAME only lasts.—
Mortals, they could not live,
Tyrants, who could not rise,
When You came to defeat,
And their memory drive away !

15 " LORD, You increased the Nation,—
The Nation spreads Your fame,
And to earth's borders bears."

ODE 38.

A Prayer.

16 THE PROPHET.
" LORD, in distress we sought for You,— Pouring entreaties for Your help ;—
17 As when the pregnant comes near birth
She rolls and shrieks in pain,
So were we LORD with You.—
18 As though with child we rolled—
But brought forth only wind.—
Our hands no victory won ;—
The World's men did not fall ! "

19 THE LORD.
" Your dead shall live, your corpses rise ;
Awake and cheer who sleep in dust,
The morning's dew shall drop on you,
But earth o'erwhelm th' oppressors."

20 THE PROPHET.
" So go, my People, to your homes,
And close your doors behind ;—
Hide till the storm has passed away ;
21 For, see, the LORD comes from on High
To bring the man's crime on himself,
And turn upon his Land his blood
And no more hide his slain."

ODE 39.

The Punishment of Egypt.

27 In the day the LORD comes with His great and sharp sword
And conquers the rolling and wriggling snake,—
The twisting snake slays, with the snakes of the sea ;
2 Then sing to the flowering Vineyard a song ;—

3 THE LORD.
" I, the LORD, always guard her,
When I visit I water,
I watch her by day and by night."

4 VINEYARD.
" I have no wall round me !—
Who will make me a hedge ?
In war I shall be ruined,—
Would any then guard me ?
3 Or strengthen, protect me ?
Make me peace, or rest ! "

ODE 40.

The Promise to Jacob.

The shoots from Jacob's root will grow, And Israel bloom and bear, and fill the Earth with fruit.	6
Has he struck him, as struck his strikers, Or slain him as his slayers slew him ?	7
You sent him chastisement in measure, You pleaded, sighing, to his mind, When bringing on the fierce East-wind !	8
By this will Jacob's sin be cured ; Its evil fruit be set aside ;— His stone Altars burnt and turned to lime, Nor Groves and Idols raised again.	9

ODE 41.

The Punishment of Zion.

So! the Great City is empty ; a homestead forsaken,— And bare like a pasture where cattle can browse, And lie there consuming its shoots.	10
To her dry broken boughs women came seeking fuel, For her people would never reflect ! So their Maker spares not, nor their Former has pity.	11
But when the time of the LORD'S thrashing comes, He will reap from the River, ¹ to Mitzer's Blue Stream, And glean up Israel's sows one by one from among them ; And when on that day the Great Trumpet is sounded,	12
The wanderers shall come from the country of Ashur, And those who had fled to the Mitzeraim's country,— Will in Jerusalem bow on the LORD'S Holy Hill.	13

ODE 42.

Denouncing Woe to Ephraim.

Woe to the proud Crown of drunken Ephraim ! And the beautiful bloom of its withering flowers, On the Head of the rich Valley sleeping in Wine ! See that bold and strong Master, like fierce cutting hailstorm, Like whirling seas, flings by his hand to the ground :— With his feet he will trample that crown of the pride Of Drunken Ephraim !	28
And the fading flower crown, on the rich Valley's Head, Like the early ripe figs that a gazer beholds, Shall fall ere they come to his hand.	2
Then the LORD OF HOSTS will be a glorious turban, And beautiful crown to His People remaining ; A Spirit of Justice, to those who trust Justice, And Ruler to those who drive War from the gate ; Though they staggered through wine, and through liquor they reeled.	3
Priest and Prophet have staggered, by Drunkenness swallowed ! Yes! reeled in their wine ;—yes! in drunkenness staggered, With their eyesight distorted from right, Therefore their tables are filled with their vomit, That no place is clean.	4
	5
	6 7 8

¹ "The River" always means the Euphrates

9 THE REPROBATES.

10 "To whom is he preaching? To whom giving lessons?
To children just weaned from the milk of the breast?
11 For it is order on order, with line upon line,
A crumb here, a crumb there?"

11 PROPHET.

"Yes! for with laughing lips, and with slow moving tongue,
To this people He speaks!
12 Who said to them 'This is the Palace of Rest, Give rest to the weary, for here is refreshment,'
But they would not come to hear!

13 "So the Word of Life to them is, 'Order, on Order,
And Line upon Line,—a crumb here, a crumb there,'—
So they go and fall backward, are lamed, trapped and taken.
14 Therefore, hear scornful jesters, the Word of the LORD,
You who rule in Jerusalem over this Race,
15 Who say, 'We recorded a Treaty with Death,
With the Pit made provision for out-bursting flood,
If it sweeps out, it comes not to us, but dries up,—
We are safe, and in cunning can hide!'

16 "Therefore thus says the Master of Life,—'Look on Me;—
I will fix a stone up in Zion,
A chosen stone perfectly set,
Immovably fixed in the Truth,—
17 Fixed truly by line, and exactly by plummet;—
But hail shall throw down all the refuge of lies,
And floods wash your den, and abolish your treaty with Death,
18 And your League with the Pit will not stand in the rush,
When it passes and you are trod down!
19 It will seize, as it passes, on you,
As the Dusk and Dusk passes to Morn or to Night,
And will come on with terror to sight and to hearing.'

20 "For the floor is too short for the bed,
And the wrapper too narrow to fold,
21 When, as at Mount Fratzim, the LORD will arise,
As at Gibeon's Valley to work His intent,
To effect His fierce work, and His purpose complete,
And to work for His servants, the servants He owns.
22 So give up your sneering, lest harder your sentence,
For clear and decided I hear the ALMIGHTY,
The LORD OF HOSTS, sentence the earth.

23 "Give ear to my voice,—hear my words with attention,— 24 The plowman plows daily and harrows his land for the grain;
25 When level its surface, sows he not the Pepper,
And scatters the Cummin, and drills in the Wheat,
And sows also the Barley and Oats in their place?—

26 "For GOD has instructed and taught him reflection.
27 Then not with an Engine the pepper he thrashes,
Or over the cummin he turns the ox wheel,
But beats Pepper with staves, and the Cummin with flails, 28 Grinds for meal, for the thrasher beats not to perfection,
And the bullock turned rollers and hoofs crush it not.
29 This also comes from the LORD of all powers,
In purpose the Wondrous, the Great in effect!"

ODE 43.

Woe to Jerusalem:

Woe to Ariel, Ariel, David's sweet Home!	20
Add year upon year, as the feasting go round;—
But to Ariel, I will cause grief, and bring sorrow,—	2
For on Ariel sorrow shall come.
I will assail you like David,	3
Be cruel against you,—
And pile up a mound to invade.
From the earth you shall speak,	4
From the dust whisper words,
Like an Earth-ghost your voice,
From the dust mutter speeches,
But a distant weak hum,—	5
As flit Terrors by moaning,
Or suddenly come!
But the LORD of Might comes with a roar and a crash,	6
And the sound of a great rushing whirlwind and storm,
And a flame of devouring fire.
And like a night dream, be the hum of the heathen,	7
Who war upon Ariel, her soldiers and towers,
And cause her distress
As when one dreams of hunger, and seems to have eaten,	8
But on waking his mind finds it vain;—
Or when dreaming of thirst, he appears to have drunk,
But on waking is faint, and his mind has desire,—
So shall it be to the crowd of all nations
Who war on Mount Zion.
They shall wait, and be puzzled, and baffled and blinded;	9
Not with wine, shall be drunk, and shall reel without liquor;
For the LORD will pour on them a Spirit of stupor,	10
Close their Prophets' eyes, and will blindfold their Gazers. ¹
Their visions shall be like words sealed in a book,	11
Passed to one who reads not, asking, "Read this book, pray,"
And he answers, "I cannot, because it is closed."
Or gives to another who knows not a letter,	12
And says, "Read this, I pray,"—
But he also answers, "I know not a letter!"

ODE 44.

Denunciation of Hypocrisy.

Now the Almighty demands,	13
"Why do this people approach
With their mouth and their lips,
To pay honour to Me,
While their heart is far off?
Their reverence is worthless to Me;—
It teaches the doctrines of men!
"So on this Race I lay wonders,	14
Add wonders to wonders,
Destroying its scientists' science,
And baffling its scholars' researches."

¹ I translate vv. 10, 11, Ch. 29, in the third person plural, not in the second, as the sense clearly demands, I think.

- 15 Are they more skilled than the LORD to hide object,
And act when unseen?
When they say "Who can see us? and whoever can know it?"
- 16 Fools! Is the Formed thought its Framer?
Can the Work tell the Workman, "You never made me?"
Or the Made tell its Maker, "You do not know how?"
- 17 How long before Lebanon's wasted like Carmel?
And Carmel become like a City besieged?
- 18 Then the deaf in that day shall hear words that are read,
And the lost and blind eyes shall awake to their sight,
19 And the wretched again in the LORD shall delight;
And in Israel's HOLY the poor will be glad;
20 For fear ends,—insult fails,—and all rascals are broken,
21 That deceive men by words and by tricks in the Courts,
And that plot and conspire to pervert from the right.
- 22 Therefore thus says the LIVING, the HOUSE-GOD of Jacob,
Who was Abraham's Redeemer,
"You shall not fail, Jacob,
They shall not o'erwhelm you.
- 23 When his sons see My hand work for him,
They will honour MY NAME,
And worship the HOLY of Jacob,
And fear Israel's GOD;
24 Then the mad will learn reason,—
The insane will have sense."

ODE 45.

Woe Denounced to Apostates.

- 30 "Woe, you sons of Revolt," says the LORD,
"Who make plans;—not from Me I
And cast Idols,—but not by My will,
And heap sin upon sin!
- 2 "Who travel to go down to Mitzer,
But ask not My thought;
Who seek strength from strong Pharaoh,
And crouch in the shadow of Mitzer.
- 3 "Pharaoh's strength shall but bring you defeat,
And the Mitzeraim's shadow to shame.
4 When their Chiefs came to Zoan,
And his Messengers met you at Hanēs,
5 All scorned at a people so worthless to them,
Who could not help or strengthen, but weaken and shame.

ODE 46.

Why Trust on Egypt?

- 6 Load the beasts for the South, for a land hard and rough,
Whence came leopard, and lion, the asp and winged snake;
Yes load on the shoulders of asses your baggage;
For a race of no use, on humped camels your treasures;—
- 7 Mitzer helps with weak smoke, so I call her,
The Home of Proud Sloth!
- 8 Go! carve on a tablet, and paint on a slab.
For the time of the future, to last for all ages,
9 That this Race are, "Sons of Revolt, lying children, Disinclined to obey the LORD'S Laws."

- Who tell seers, " See not," Warners, " Come, warn not aright ;
 Speak flatteringly to us, and warn us by flattering,
 And turn the road for us, and widen our path ;
 Take away from our faces the HOLY of Israel." 10
- So thus says ISRAEL'S HOLY,— " Since you scorn this statement,
 And trust falsehood and cunning, and rest upon them,
 This your fault shall become like a crack 12
 In a high rampart bursting to fall,
 Which suddenly opening will fall into shatters,
 And splinters, like bad pottery broken. 13
 When broken unpitied, not picked up ;
 No fragment remains for hot ashes,
 Or to dip in a pan for a drink." 14
- Yet thus said the LORD OF LIFE, ISRAEL'S HOLY, 15
 " In return and submission, your safety will be,
 And in quiet and trust be your strength."
 But you were not willing, and answered, " Not so !—
 We will gallop on horses, and ride upon coursers,"— 16
 You, therefore, shall fly,—your pursuers shall chase !
 And five thousand when threatened by One shall fly off ! 17
 Till you are alone like a pole on a Hill top, a flag on a Mountain !—
 But still the LORD waits to befriend you,—delays out of pity,— 18
 For the LIVING GOD judges,—He guides all who trust Him,
- If the Race within Zion will weep in Jerusalem,— 19
 Will He not show merciful pity to you ?—
 When hearing the voice of your cry He will answer !
 Th' Almighty has given you bread of affliction,
 And water of grieving :—And no more His canopy guards !— 20
 But again you shall see it extended above,
 And your ears hear a word from behind you directing :—
 ' This is the road that is right,—that is the wrong one.' 21
 Then when you are sick of your silver clothed Idols,
 And their vestments embossed with your gold, 22
 You will fling them out loathing, exclaiming " Be gone !"
- Then HE will give rain on your land sown with grain, 23
 And the ground produce bread, and grow herbage and oil,
 And your cattle shall graze in that time on fat plains,
 And the bullocks and colts tilling land, shall eat corn 24
 That is winnowed by blower and fan.
- And on every knoll, and on each rising hill, 25
 In the day of fierce fight, when the fortresses fall,
 Will spring fountains and babbling streams ;
 With the light of the Moon, like the light of Noon Sun, 26
 And the Sunlight be sevened, like seven days' light,
 In the days when the LORD heals the bruise of His Race,
 And cures its festering wound,

ODE 47.

God's Power.

- Look ! The power of the LORD comes from far !— 27
 Hot wrath and rage loading His lips,
 And His tongue like devouring fire,
 And His breath like a rising-flood reaching the neck, 28
 To scatter the heathen with withering storm,
 And a bridle to put in the jaw of the Pagan !

- 29 Then sing as you do on a festival night,—
And be glad in your hearts as you dance to the pipe,
To ascend the LORD'S Mountain to Israel's Rock,—
- 30 Where the terrible voice of the LORD will resound,
And His arm will be seen to strike down in fierce rage,
Bright flame, with devouring fire, floods, hailstones and storm.
- 31 The LORD'S voice shall strike Ashur, as though with a staff ;
And wherever that punishing rod is applied,
Which the LORD lays upon him with strokes,
It will fight with the clashing of warrior bands.—
- 32 For the old spreading Slough for its King was prepared,
With a broad, wide pile of fire, and plenty of wood,—
And as a river of sulphur, the LORD'S breath inflames !

ODE 48.

The Folly of Trusting to Egypt.

- 31 Woe ! you descenders to Mitzer for help !
Who rely upon horses, on chariots who trust,
Because they are many :
And upon horsemen—because very strong,
But trust not on ISRAEL'S HOLY,
And seek not the LORD ;—
- 2 Yet HE also is wise and a friend,—
And He breaks not His word ;
And can rise on the Wicked who do you the wrong ;
- 3 But your Mitzer is MAN, not a GOD ;
And his horses are flesh, and not mind ;—
When the LORD lifts His hand, Helped and helpers fall broken,—
Together the whole are destroyed !
- 4 For thus said the LORD to myself,—
" As the lion and tiger roar over their prey, Though against them the troop of the Shepherds may shout,
They fear not their voice and cease not for their noise,—
So the LORD will descend on Mount Zion,
To fight for her Hill !—
- 5 For the LORD OF HOSTS over Jerusalem guards,
As birds do their young,— Guards, and shelters, and leaps to release !
- 6 " Turn, Israel, back to the ONE you offended !—
7 And fling out at that time,
Each his Idols of Silver, and Idols of Gold,
Which your own hands have made ;—
- 8 And then Ashur shall fall by the sword,—not of man,
And the sword shall devour,—but not of mankind ;
And himself fly the sword, and his heroes shall faint
9 And with terror abandon his Camp,
And with flight cow his Chiefs,"—
Says the LORD Who has brightness in Zion, Jerusalem's splendour.

ODE 49.

The Righteous King.

- 32 See ! a King shall rule justly, and princes do right,
2 And a Man be a shelter from wind, and a refuge from storm.
Like pools in a dry, like a shadowing Rock in a wearisome land

And then shall unseeing eyes see ; and the deaf ears shall hear,	3
The rash-hearted learn sense, and the tongue-tied speak plain,	4
Then the brute shall no more be called noble,	5
And the rascal no longer named honest,
For the brute is a brute in his language and heart,	6
Does low and vile acts, and disputes with the LORD,
Leads the faint souls astray,—turns the thirsty from water ;
Plans to tangle the poor, use the schemes of the bad,	7
By false speeches, and lying, defrauding of Justice.
But the Noble plans nobly, and on his virtue will rise,	8

ODE 50.

The Sin of Female Luxury.

You luxurious women,—rise up, hear my voice,—	9
Hear my speech, idle girls !
Long years you shall suffer, my girls ;	10
For the vintage has failed,—
The fruit gathering has passed.—
You luxurious, tremble,—you idle girls, shake,—	11
Strip bare, put on sackcloth,
And mourn on the fields,	12
On the beautiful plain,— O'er the broken-down Vine !
On the lands of My People the sharp thorn shall spring,	13
On all pleasant houses, all homes of delight ;
With the Palace forsaken, the Town-house a ruin ;	14
The Cottage and Villa both stripped for an age ;
Long the joy of wild Asses and nibbling flocks.
Until from on high comes the Spirit to rouse us,	15
When the Waste will be fertile, and look like a woodland,
And Justice inhabit the Desert, and Righteousness Carmel.	16
And the product of Righteousness will become Peace,	17
And Good work for ever, in hope, and secure and safe ;
And My People reside in sweet homes,	18
With security, comfort and pleasure,
And the City descend to the slopes,	19
With a town on the flat of the plain ;
And the sowers by all streams shall be happy,	20
Who work with the Ox and the Ass !

ODE 51.

The Doom of Oppressors.

Woe, Plunderer unplundered, and Robber not robbed !	33
When you cease plundering,—yourself will be plundered,
When your robbing is ended,—
Your plunder be gathered, as gathers the locust ;	4
Like the gobblers collect for themselves.
LORD, to us show mercy,—our hope is in You ;	2
Be our strength in the dawn,—yes, save us when distressed,
Nations fled from the sound of Your voice ;	3
From Your grandeur the Heathen dispersed.
The HIGH LORD Who dwells up above,	5
Will fill Zion with Justice and Right.
Make Truth her honour ;	6
Salvation, Wisdom, and Knowledge, her strength,
And her Treasure,—the fear of the LORD.

¹ Ch. 33, v. 4. This verse is misplaced in the Hebrew

ODE 52.

Lament on Sennacherib's Breach of his Treaty.

- 7 Behold the brave shriek in the streets,
The Agents of Peace are in tears,
8 The pastures, the highways, the paths, no one passes!—
He has broken his Treaty,
Scorns the Cities we offered,
Shows to no man respect;
9 The Mourning Land blushes,
And Lebanon faints;
Sharon looks like the Arbah,
And Bashan and Lebanon shake!
- 10 "Now I will rise," says the LORD,
"Will arouse and stand up;
11 Now bring your chaff and bear straw;—
And My fiery breath will consume them, 12 And your men burn to lime with cut thorns for a fire!
- 13 "Listen, you distant, to what I am doing,
And acknowledge, you present, My Might.
14 Then in Zion the wicked will fear;
The vile will be captured by dread."

THE WICKED.

- "Who of us can bear fire devouring?
Who of us bear enduring pain?"
- 15 ISAIAH.
"He who follows the right,—
They who utter the Truth,
Who refuses to rob, with the rogues,
Keeps his hands from the touching a bribe Stops his ears to suggestions of murder,
And his eyes shut to looking on crime,
16 He shall dwell on the Heights,
On High Forts of the Rocks;
And with food and with water be daily supplied.
17 Thence the King in His beauty your eyes shall regard;
You shall look on your land spread below,
18 Nor your heart ask in fear,
'Where is the gatherer of taxes?'
Or, 'Is he the House-tax collector?'
19 Nor see the hard race,—
Hear their stammering lips,
Who scorn in a language unknown.
- 20 "Your eyes shall see Zion, our Festival City,
On Jerusalem look as the sweet Home of Rest,
Her Tent never moved, and her stakes not pulled up,
And its ropes never taken away;
21 When the Glorious Name of the LORD,
Is our source of broad rivers
Not wanting in oar-driven ships,
And proud vessels sail past.
22 When the LORD is our Judge,
And the LORD is our Ruler,
And the LORD is our LEADER,
And also our SAVIOUR.

" Leave the ropes,—haul them not,— 23
 Neither spread out the banner,—
 Fly now to the plunder,—divide the big booty,—
 You plunderers leap on the prey !
 Let not the bedridden say, ' I am wounded.' 24
 The man held by that,—let him rise in his strength,"

ODE 53.

God's Disgust at the Heathen.

Approach Nations to hear, and the Peoples to listen ; 34
 Hear Earth and all in it, the World and its products.
 For the LORD is in anger against all the Heathen, 2
 Is enraged at their Armies,—devotes them to slaughter.
 Their wounded and corpses flung out yield a stink, 3
 And the hills shall be soaked with their blood !

All their Heavenly Army dissolves, 4
 And their Heaven rolls up like a sheet,
 All their Army shall wither as withers the leaf,
 As withers the fig and the vine,
 For My sword in the heavens is whirled,— 5
 On Edom behold it rush down,
 On the Nation I sentence to die !

The LORD'S sword is filled full of blood,— 6
 Is fattened with milk, with the blood of the vine,
 With the fat of the kidneys of goats and of rams ;—
 For in Bozrah the LORD makes a feast,—
 A great sacrifice in Edom's laud.
 And the buffaloes also will fall, 7
 The bullocks along with the bulls,
 And their land will be drunk with their blood,
 And its dust will be sated with fat.

For the LORD'S day of Justice has come, 8
 The year to redress Zion's case.
 So its streams turn to pitch, and to sulphur its dust, 9
 And its land will become burning pitch !
 It shall never be quenched night or day, 10
 But its smoke rise up age after age ;—
 Deserted for ever and ever,—and no one pass through !

In her buzzard, and hedgehog, shall dwell, 11
 And the owl, and the raven reside,
 When Ruin's lasso is over her flung,
 And Anarchy's stones are on her,

None the fame of her Kingdom will tell, 12
 All her nobles will come to be nought,
 And thorns in her palaces grow, 13
 In her fortresses nettles and briars,
 And her Court be the shelter of Snakes,
 And the Daughters of Woe !

There hyenas and jackals shall snort, 14
 And the wild goat shall call to his mate ;
 There the screech-owl will shriek, and prepare her a nest ;
 There the Night Raven nest, and lay eggs, 15
 And hatch them and guard in her shed,—
 There the she vulture meet with her mate,

- 16 Consult the LORD'S record and read,
Not one of them shall want her mate,—
For HIS mouth gives command, and His Spirit collects.
- 17 Himself casts their lot; has apportioned their fate,
To possess her for ever,
Dwell in her for ages.

ODE 54.

A Song Foretelling of Zion's Redemption.

- 35 Let the Moorland and Desert rejoice,— Arbah laugh and with lilies spring up,—
2 Be fruitful in produce and laugh,
Ah, yes! laugh and shout,
For now Lebanon's Glory is hers,
Carmel's splendour, and Sharon's combined;—
They see our LORD'S splendour,—the glory of GOD!
- 3 Cheer up the weak-handed, the trembling knees help;
4 Say "Courage, weak hearts, you need no longer fear,
See! Your GOD comes your wrong to redress,— GOD Himself comes as Saviour to you!"
5 Now the eyes of the blind shall be opened,
The ears of the deaf be unclosed
6 And the crippled shall leap like a stag,
And the tongue of the silenced shall shout!
- 7 Water spring on the Moorland, and rivers in Arbah,
The Mirage be lakes, and the dry sand have springs—
Snake's dens, water meadows, with rushes and reeds.
- 8 And a highway and road shall be there,—
They shall name it "The road of the Right."
And the Vile shall not use it, but HE, HIMSELF, lead,—
And the Wicked not traverse that way.
- 9 No lion be there, nor shall fierce beasts ascend,
Nor revenger met walking therein;
10 But the LORD'S ransomed returning,— Returning to Zion with cheers,—
With delight everlasting, and joy on their heads;—
Grief and anguish will fly as with joy they return!

A NARRATIVE ODE 55.

The History of Senakerib's Invasion and Overthrow.

- 36 It was in the fourteenth year of Hezekiah that Senakerib, King of Ashur, assailed all fortified Cities of Judah and captured them. Then the King of Ashur sent Rabshakah with a powerful army from Lakish to Jerusalem against King Hezekiah, and he stationed himself on the Reservoir Hill, at the ascent of the Fullers' Field, where Eliakim-ben-Hilkiah the Prime Minister, and Shebna the Secretary, and Joakim-ben-Asaf the Chancellor, met him.
- 4 Then Rabshakah said to them:—
"I wish you to report to Hezekiah what the Great King, the King of Ashur asks:—
"What is the support upon which you rely? You tell me,—but they are only words of the lips,—I have genius and power for war.—Now on whom do you trust? that you have rushed on me?
"You are trusting upon the support of that shattered reed Mitzer?—When a man leans on it, it goes into his hand and pierces it.—Pharaoh King of Mitzer is that, to whoever trust upon him!
' But if you say to me, We trust 7 upon Our EVER-LIVING GOD!—Is not that He Whose Columns and Altars Ilezekiah has thrown down?—and said to Judah and Jerusalem, 'You must worship at this Altar?'

8 "But, however, come over to my Master the King of Ashur, and I will give you two thousand horses, if you are able to put riders on them for yourself.—So you cannot turn back the face of one of the least of my Master's Servants;—then how can you trust upon Mitzer for chariots and horsemen?

9 "And, now, have I come up against this country to seize it without the LORD?—The LORD said to me, Go up and seize that land!"

10 Then Eliakini, and Shebna, and Joakh said to Rabshakah, "We beg you to speak to your servants in Aramic, for we understand it, and do not speak in Jewish in the hearing of all the men on the Wall."

11 But Rabshakah replied; "Has my Master sent me to your Master, or to you, to say these things?—Was it not to the men standing upon the Walls, who eat their own dung and drink their own piss with you?"

12 Rabshakah then stood up and shouted with a loud voice in Jewish and exclaimed:—

13 "Listen to the message of the Great King, the King of Ashur!

14 "Let not Ilezekiah deceive you;—for he is not able to defend you. And do not you trust with Hezekiah on the LORD, when he says; 'The LORD will deliver us!'"—The LORD will not give this City into the hand of the King of Ashur.—Listen not to Ilezekiah!—for thus says the King of Ashur, 'Make a Peace with me, and meet me, and let every man eat his own grapes, and every man his own figs, and every one drink from his own well, until I come and remove you to a land like your own land;—

15 a land of corn and beer; a land of bread and vineyards;—for Hezekiah deceives you in saying,—'The LORD will deliver us!'

16 "Which of the gods of the Nations has delivered its land from the hand of the King of Ashur?—Where are the gods of Khamath?—of Arfad?—of the Sefarvaim?—And who delivered Shomeron out of my hand?—

17 Who of all the gods of those Countries has delivered his land from my hand?

—that the LORD should deliver Jerusalem from my hand?" . . .

But they were silent, for the King's 21 orders were "answer not a word to his speech."

But Eliakim-ben-Hilkiah, who was 22 Prime Minister, and Shebna the Secretary, and Joakh-ben-Asaf the Chancellor, returned to Hezekiah, with their clothes torn, and reported to him the speech of Rabshakah. But when Hezekiah heard it he tore 37 his own robes, and put on a sack, and went to the House of the EVER-LIVING. But he sent Eliakim the 2 Premier, and Shebna the Secretary, and the Chiefs of the Priesthood, with sacks upon their waists to Isaiab-ben-Amoz, the Prophet, and they 3 said to him;—"Hezekiah says this,—To-day is a day of distress, and insult, and contempt;—for the children have come to birth and there is not strength to bear them.—

"Your EVER-LIVING GOD has already heard the words of Rabshakah whom his master the King of Ashur has sent to revile the GOD OF LIFE, and to insult Him with the words which your EVER-LIVING GOD has heard,—therefore lift up a prayer for the remnants left."

The Ministers of Hezekiah went 5 thus to Isaiab, and Isaiab replied to them:—

"Say this to your Prince; The 6 EVER-LIVING answers thus;—Fear not the speeches which you have heard in which that Lad of the King of Ashur blasphemed against Me. I will send a Terror to him, when he 7 hears a rumour, and he will return to his own country, and he shall fall by the sword in his own land."

Rabshakah then withdrew and met 8 the King of Ashur besieging Libnah, for he heard that he had retreated from Lakish. Then he heard about 9 Thirakah, King of Kush, saying "He is advancing to fight with you;" he attended to it;—but sent messengers 10 to Hezekiah to threaten;—say this to Hezekiah King of Judah;

"Trust not your GOD, upon Whom you rely when you say, 'HE will not give Jerusalem to the hand of the King of Ashur!' For you have heard what the Kings of Ashur have done to all Countries to ruin them,—and can you escape?

"Have the gods of those Nations 12 protected those whom my Ancestors 13 desolated? Gozan, and Kharan, and Retzaf, and the Children of Eden who were in Thalasar?—Where is the King of Khamath?—and the King of Arfad?—and the King of the Cities of the Sefarvaim?—Hena and Avah?"

Hezekiah's Prayer.

14 When Hezekiah received the letters from the hands of the Messengers, he read them, and then went up to the House of the EVER-LIVING, where Hezekiah spread them before the presence of the EVER-LIVING; and Hezekiah prayed to the EVER-LIVING, and said:—
15 "EVER-LIVING ALMIGHTY GOD of Israel, Who dwell with the Kerubim;—You are the ONLY GOD of all the Kingdoms of the Earth, for YOU made the Heavens and the Earth.—Bend, EVER-LIVING, Your ear and hear; open, EVER-LIVING, Your eye and see and hear all the words that Senakerib has sent to insult the GOD OF LIFE.

"Truly, EVER-LIVING, the Kings 18 of Ashur have ruined all the Countries 19 and their lands, and have thrown their gods into the fire,—for they were not GODS,—but only the work of men's hands, from wood and stone,—and were destructible.

"But now our EVER-LIVING GOD 20 can save us from his hand, when all the Kingdoms of the Earth will know that YOU alone are EVER-LIVING."

Isaiah-ben-Amoz the Preacher, 21 afterwards sent to Hezekiah to say:—

"Thus says the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel,—

"Since you prayed to Me about the King of Ashur,—This is the reply which the EVER-LIVING sends to him."

ODE 56.

God's Reply to Rabshiniah and Sennakerib.

22 "'At you the scornful Virgin daughter of Zion laughs;—
Jerusalem's Daughter following shakes her head.

23 Against Whom is your libellous insult?
Against Whom do you raise up your voice,
And lift up your insolent eyes?
Against the HOLY OF ISRAEL!

24 "'By the hand of your Slava you insulted MY Prince;—
"With my crowd of chariots," you said, "I ride over the hill tops, Over Lebanon striding, I fell his tall Cedars,
And beautiful Pines;

25 And lodge on the high cliff of his forest of Carmel!
I have dug and drank water,
And dried with my soles all the moats of the Forts!"

26 "'Have you not heard from afar of My actions aforesaid?
How I planned you to bring to them all desolation?
To turn fortified Cities to ruinous heaps?

27 Made them crops to your hand, and depressed?
Like field plants, and green grass on town roofs,
Scorched up before grown?

28 "'And your campaigns, and march, and advancing I knew;—
29 And your rage against Me,—Yes! your rage against Me,—

And your fury has come to My ears!—
So MY hook I will put in your nose, and My bit in your jaws,
And lead back by the way that you came!

30 For your proof,—eat self-sowings this year;
And the next year the same;
Sow and reap in the third,
And plant vines and eat fruits.

31 "'Judah's house from its fragments in safety shall rise,
Branches spring from the root and bear fruit up aloft;

32 From Jerusalem fragments shall go,
And a flight from Mount Zion;—
As the LORD OF HOSTS' power decrees.

- “ Ashur's King shall not come to this town,' says the LORD,
 ' Nor shoot there an arrow, nor lift up a shield,
 Nor against it a rampart heap up.
 By the way he advanced by that way he shall go.
 And not come to this City, the LORD has declared.—
 I guard over this City and save for Myself,
 And for David My servant.”

The Destruction of the Army of Ashur.

- 36 A Messenger also was sent from the LORD, and he struck one hundred and eighty-five thousand in the camp of Ashur; and when they awoke in the morning they saw all those dead 37 bodies. Then Senakerib, King of Ashur, struck his tents and marched and retreated to Nineveh, and returned to Nineveh. There while he was worshipping in the temple of his god Nisrok, Adramelek and Sharatzer his sons slew him with a sword. They afterwards fled to the Highlands, and Asar-haddon his son succeeded him.

ODE 57.

Hezekiah's Illness.

- 38 At that time Hezekiah was seriously ill, and Isaiah-ben-Amoz the Preacher came to him and told him;—"The LORD says thus:—"Arrange your family affairs, for you will die, and not live."
 1 But Hezekiah turned his face to the wall, and prayed to the EVER-LIVING, and said, "I entreat You, the EVER-LIVING, to remember how I have conducted myself before You with a true and sincere heart, and the good I have done in Your sight." Then Hezekiah wept a great weeping.

Then an order came from the EVER-LIVING to Isaiah commanding, "Go and say to Hezekiah,

"Thus says the EVER-LIVING GOD of David your ancestor;—I have heard your prayer,—I have seen your tears,—so I will add fifteen years to your days. I will also rescue you and this City from the hand of the King of Ashur, and will shield this town, and this shall be a proof to you from the EVER-LIVING, that the EVER-LIVING will effect the event of which He has promised;— I will return the Advancing Shadow on the Dial which has passed down on the Sun-dial of Ahaz from the Sun, Ten degrees backwards;—so that ten degrees of the Dial shall return on the sun-dial which they had gone down."

ODE 58.

Hezekiah's Psalm of Thanksgiving.

Written by HEZEKIAH, King of Judah, about his Illness, after he was restored from it. 9

I said to myself,—“ In the midst of my days,
 I must enter the Grave, lose the half of my years;
 Nor see DIVINE LIFE in the land of the living,
 Nor see men again with the dwellers at ease. 10 11

“ My tent strike and fold, like the tent of a shepherd;
 My life be cut off, like a web in the day,
 Nor continue to weave me till night.” 12

I groaned at the dawning as if at a lion,
 As though he had crushed all my bones,
 From the day until night as you broke me. 13

Like the circling swallow I twittered,
 I mourned like a dove;
 My eyes failed for the LIFE from on High;
 I was loaded and dark to myself. 14

- 15 What say and relate of my case?—
That it made me go sadly along,
In the grief of my soul all my years,
Till the Almighty raised me to life!
- 16 Now my spirit will live through them all,
For You have revived me to strength,
- 17 My suffering You turned into ease,
When oblivion You turned back to life,
When You threw to my back all my sin.
- 18 For the grave cannot praise or death give to You thanks, Nor the wrecked in the Pit know Your truth.—
- 19 Life, life, it will thank You like I do to-day!
Your truth to his children the father will tell.
- 20 The LORD saved me, and so let us sing to the lute
All the days of our life, in the House of the LORD.¹

ODE 59.

Baladan's Embassy.

- 39 At that period Merodach Baladan-ben-Baladon, the King of Babel, sent letters and a present to Hezekiah, for he heard that he had been ill and was recovered.
- 2 Hezekiah was pleased with them, and showed them his stores of spices, silver, and gold, and perfumes, and essences, and all his arsenal of weapons, and what he had collected in his treasuries; there was nothing which Hezekiah did not show them in his Palace, or in all his Dominions.
- 3 Then Isaiah the Preacher went to King Hezekiah and asked him:—"What did those men say to you? And from whence did they come?"
- 1 NOTE.—Ch. 38. The verses 21 and 22 are clearly an old Hebrew editor's note. I therefore put them at the page foot.
- 21 Under the direction of Isalah they had taken a cake of figs and pressed it upon the ulcer, and he had revived. Then Hezekiah said, "What a wonder that I can go up to the House of the EVER-LIVING!"
- When Hezekiah answered,—"They came to me from a distant country,—from Babel."
Then he asked, "What have they 4 seen in your Palace?"
And Hezekiah replied;—"They have seen all that is in my Palace;—there is not anything in my treasuries which I have not shown them."
Isaiah then said to Hezekiah, 5 "Hear a message from the LORD OF HOSTS!—Look! The times will 6 come, when all that is in your Palace or which your forefathers stored up to this day, will be taken and carried to Babel; nothing will be left, says the LORD; and some of your descend- 7 dants, who will spring from you, whom you will produce, they will seize and make them eunuchs in the king of Babel's palace!"
When Hezekiah replied to Isaiah 8 and said, "The message of the LORD which you have delivered is right;—for," he added, "He grants peace and safety in my days."

END OF THE FIRST BOOK OF ISAIAH.

BOOK II.

PROPHECIES FORETELLING THE RESTORATION OF ISRAEL AND THE COMING OF THE MESSIAH.

ODE 1.

To Comfort Jerusalem.

"Comfort! O! comfort My People," your GOD has commanded, 40
 "Speak to Jerusalem's heart, and to her proclaim,— 2
 That her warfare is finished, her sin has been pardoned,
 And twice more than her loss she will have from the LORD."

ODE 2.

The Voice in the Desert.

A Voice cries in the Desert, "Prepare the LORD's path;— 3
 And straighten for passage the road for our GOD!
 Raise the valleys, and cut down each mountain and hill; 4
 Make the crooked path straight, and the rough places smooth!
 The LORD's Glory unveiled,
 Let all see it at once,
 As the LORD's mouth has said,"

ODE 3

On Man's Weakness.

A Voice ordered to cry.—I asked,— 6
 "What shall I cry?"
 "That all flesh is grass;
 And its beauty like flowers of a field.
 Grass fades, flowers fail,— 7
 But our GOD's promise for ever remains." 8

ODE 4.

Israel's Deliberance.

To the Hill-top go up with a message to Zion;
 With News for Jerusalem lift up your voice!— 9
 And raise without fear to the Cities of Judah,—
 "Look! Your GOD, LORD OF LIFE is in power advancing. 10
 His arm is directing, His confidence with Him;
 And His work lies in front!"
 He feeds like a shepherd His flock;
 He takes up the lambs in His arms, 11
 And carries the weak to a stream.

ODE 5.

On God's Creative Power.

Whose palm has measured the Sea? 12
 And scattered the suns by a rule?
 And measured earth's dust in a skeep?
 In a balance who weighed out the Hills,
 And the Mountains who poised in a Scale?

- 13 Who planned the design for the LORD ?
Who taught Him ?—He will be repaid,
Who advised and instructed ?
Who taught Him to Judge ?
- 14 And who taught to Him knowledge ?—
Who trained in the sciences path ?
- 15 Why ! Nations are drops from a pail,—
He regards them like dust on a scale ;
Like atoms the Islands lifts up !—
- 16 Nor can Lebanon serve for a fire,
Nor its cattle be fit for a gift !
- 17 All Races are naught before Him ;
To Him are thought empty and light,
To whom will you then liken God ?
- 18 And by what Image represent Him ?
The Artist devises the form,
And the Founder o'erlays it with gold ;
- 19 And the Silversmith furnishes chains,
The poor take up timber not rotten,
And seeks for a carver with skill ;
- 20 To fix up an unmoving shape.
- 21 But can you not reason or hear ?
Have you not been told from the first ?
Have you never known from the products of earth,
- 22 How above the earth's circuit HE sits,
With her dwellers spread on her like flies ?
Who scattered like pebbles the suns,
And spread them a Tent for their home ?
- 23 He who brings nobles to nothing,
Makes the Earth's Rulers weak, Unstable and fruitless, not rooted in earth,
- 24 And they wither if only HE blows,
And the whirlwind, bears off as if chaff !
- 25 Then what is My form and My shape ?
Asks the Holy.
- 26 Lift your eyes up and look !
Who for these has arranged ?
Who leads out their armies by number ?
Who calls every one by his name ?
Asks their number, their power and strength ?
Not the greatest one lingers behind !
- 27 Why does Israel complain ?—
Why do you murmur Jacob ?
And why declare Israel,
" My path the LORD hides,
My course is neglected of GOD ? "
- 28 Have you then never known,
Or heard GOD ETERNAL,
The LIFE, who made Earth's bounds,
Never faints or is weary
In His foreseeing plans ?
- 29 To the weak he gives strength,
To the feeble gives power,
While the youths faint and fail,
And the strong shake and fall.
- 30

Who trust the LORD will flourish,
Fly on strong eagles' wings
They march and they faint not." 31

ODE 6.

The Call of Cyrus.

"Be still before Me Isles,
And Tribes renew your strength,
Approach, and state your case.
Unite to seek the right. 41

Who roused the Hero from the East?
Who called him to his feet?
Who for him conquered Nations,
And threw their Leaders down
Like dust before his sword,
Like chaff before his bow?
He chased, and safely passed the path,
He made not for his feet! 2

Who made, and formed, and told,
All these things from the past?
I, the LORD who am the First,
And Myself who am the Last. 4

The Islands will see and fear;
Earth's bounds be filled with a dread, 5
Each to cheer his mate will come, 6
And say to him, "Be bold!"

The Sawyer tell the Smith, 7
"Smooth well with your strokes."
Then, "Solder well," will say,
"And firmly fix with nails!"

But you, My servant Israel, and Jacob whom I chose, 8
From my Friend Abraham's race,
I help you from earth's bounds, 9
I chose and called to you, and named you as my friend.

I chose, and not forsook. 10
Fear not;—you are my Race;
Dread not;—I am your GOD;

I strengthen you and aid, and help with kind right hand,
All fail and are disgraced contending against you; 11
All fail and meet defeat, if on you they make war;
The men assailing you become as nought and fade;
These who have ravaged you, if sought, you will not find; 12
Whoever fight with you will come to nought and pass.

For I, the LORD your GOD, can strengthen your right hand, 13
I tell you not to fear, for I myself will aid;
For I, your living GOD, will add strength to your hand.
Fear not, worm Jacob, death, for Israel I can help,—" 14

Says the LORD, who restores you, the HOLY of Israel.
I will make you my tearing-mill fitted with teeth, 15
To thrash and beat mountains, reduce hills to chaff,
And your wind-blast will drive them, the whirlwind will scatter; 16
While you joy in Jehovah, in ISRAEL'S HOLY are glad!

ODE 7.

God will help the Oppressed.

The poor and the wretched are seeking for water;—
For their tongue parched with thirst there is none! 17

I, THE LIVING, will give, Israel's GOD not refuse, 18
On the hills open rivers, and springs in the vales;
Put wells in the desert, with pools in the dry land,
And rippling streams.

- 19 To the desert give Cedar, Acacia, and Myrtle, Plant Olive, Pine, Plane, and the Box in the Arbah, 20 That at once they may see, know, reflect, and perceive,
That the LORD'S hand has done it, and fear ISRAEL'S HOLY.

ODE 8.

Idols called on to answer God.

- 21 "Bring forward your plea," says the LORD.
"Bring your reasons," demands Jacob's King.
22 "Approach! Foretell things that will happen, beforehand, Inform what they are,—we will lay to our heart,—
And will hear you teach future events.
23 Tell events of the future and show you are gods;
Be kind, fierce, or gracious, and then we shall fear,
24 But you are nothing,—and your actions naught:—
Despised be the truster in you!"

ODE 9.

Prediction of Cyrus of Persia.

- 25 I roused him from the North; he comes;
He will call from the East on my name;
And tread Princes like mud, as a potter treads clay!
26 Who told it before, and made known?
Who before time correctly declared?
You informed not, nor told.—No! none heard you declare.
27 I first gave to Zion good news,
To Jerusalem sent the report;
28 When I searched none were there, and from you none advised;
When I asked, they replied not a word,
29 They are all of them vain, and their Makers are fools.
Their statues are mere empty winds!
42 But My servant to whom I am guide,
In My Chosen My soul has delight,
My Spirit I place upon him,
To the Nations he Justice proclaims!
2 He shouts not, and will not assail;
His voice is not heard in the street;
3 He will not break the reed that is bruised,
Nor put out the flickering lamp,
But will publish the Truth and the Right.
4 Not waver, and never will fail,
Until He fix right on the Earth,
For the Islesmen afar await Him.

ODE 10.

The Messiah Foretold.

- 5 Thus says the LIVING GOD, Who formed and spread the skies,
Who formed for Earth her fruits; gave men upon her, sense,
And those who walk her, breath.
6 And I, the LIFE, for Mercy send,
I make you strong and guide your hand;—
I send you to My Race a pledge,
A light to lead the Heathen souls,
7 To give the blind eyes sight again,
From bonds to set the prisoner free,—
From dungeons those who dwelt in gloom.

ODE II.

The Eternal Power of God.

I am EVER-LIVING;—for that is My Name, 8
 And My power to others I never will give;
 Or My Glory to Idols.
 Past events have arrived; now the future I tell, 9
 Before its arrival to you I announce!

ODE 12.

A Song of Praise to God.

Sing to the LORD a new song! 10
 Praise Him from the bounds of the Earth!
 The Sea, and all that it contains,
 The Isles and the dwellers in them.

You, Moorlands, rise up with your towns; 11
 With the grazers inhabiting tents,
 Cheer, you men of the crags,
 From the Hill-tops hurrah in delight.
 His glory assign to the LORD, 12
 And His honour report to the Isles.

The LORD like a hero comes on, 13
 Like a warrior He rouses in ire,
 He shouts, yes, He roars, overpowers His foes.—

"Why need I for ever be silent? 14
 I strain as if bearing a child,—
 Together I snort, pant, and gasp!—
 I will scorch up the Mountains and Hills, 15
 And will dry all their grass,
 And turn brooks to sea-sands,
 And will dry up the pools.
 But lead the blind by a road they knew not, 16
 Direct them through pathways unknown.
 Place light before them in the dark,
 Turn crooked to straight for their road.
 I will do this for them, not forsake."

ODE 13.

The Folly of Idolatry.

They fly hack defeated,— 17
 The trusters in Idols are shamed,—
 Those who named their own Castings their Gods!
 Hear, you deaf! and you blind think, and see! 18

ODE 14.

The Messiah.

Who so sharp as My Servant, 19
 And skilled as the Agent I send?
 Who was keen as instructed,
 Yes! sharp as he worked for the LORD!

You saw clearly,—but cared not, 20
 Open-eared,—but you heard not.
 The LORD loved for His goodness, 21
 Exalted His honour and might;
 Yet this people are plundered, and robbed,— 22

- All their heroes are netted,—and go to the dungeons,
 Are plundered with none to release,
 Are a booty, and none cries "Give up!"
- 23 Who among you will hearken to this?
 Will attend, and will hear, and turn back?
- 24 Who gave Jacob to robbers?
 To the plunderers, Israel?
 Did not the LORD give them both?
- They offended, and wished not His paths,
 They went and obeyed not His Laws;
 25 So on them He poured fury and rage,
 And His warrior's great might,
 And lit fire around, but they cared not;
 They burnt,—but they laid not to heart.
- 43 But now, says THE LIFE Who created you, Jacob,
 And, Israel, Who formed you, "Fear not!
 You are mine; I restore you, and call by My name.
 2 I am with you when crossing the Sea,
 And the Rivers shall not overwhelm;
 You shall walk in the fire unscorched
 And the flame not be burning to you;
 3 For I am your still LIVING GOD,
 Your Saviour whom Israel loved.
 I will make Mitzer your ransom,
 For you exchange Geba and Kush,
 4 Since dear in My sight, I have honoured and loved,
 And I give men and nations instead of your life.
- 5 Fear not, because I am with you;—
 I will bring up your race from the East,
 And I from the West will collect.
- 6 I will say to the North, Give to ME,
 And order the South not to hide.
 My sons I will bring from afar,
 And My daughters from ends of the earth
- 7 All called by My Name, by My power created;— Whom I formed, yes, and made."
- 8 Come out! you blind People with eyes,
 And you deaf, in possession of ears;—
 9 Collect all the Heathen together,
 And Nations adjacent to you:—
 Who told you of this? and declared in advance?
 Honest witnesses let them produce:—
 I will listen, if they speak the truth.
- 10 "You witness for ME," says the LORD;
 "With My servants, whom I have picked out,
 For they knew and they trusted to Me,
 And perceived that I only exist;
 That no GOD before Me was formed,
 And that after Me none will have LIFE!
- 11 I only, I only, have the LIFE!
 12 I only inform, and can save, and foretell!
 —Not some stranger with you,—
 And you prove," says the LIFE, "that I only am GOD.
 13 I existed before Time itself,
 So none can snatch out of My hand;
 What I effect,—who can subvert?"

ODE 15.

The Doom of Babylon.

Thus says the LIFE, your Redeemer, and Israel's Hope, 14
 "For your sake, I to Babel will send.
 And throw down all its bars,
 And the Kasdim rejoicing in ships. 15
 I am your STILL LIVING hope,
 And your King,—the Creator of Israel."

ODE 16.

A Remonstrance with Israel.

Thus says the LORD, Who made roads in the sea, 16
 And a pathway in waters of might;
 Who led in the chariots, the army and warriors, 17
 Where they fell down together, and rose not again;
 They were quenched like a lamp that is drowned. 18
 "Do not you remember the past?
 Nor reflect on preceding events?"

Look! I act afresh, not begin;— 19
 Will you not then learn?
 I will make in the moorland a road,—
 In the desert make brooks.
 When the beasts of the field, snakes, and Daughters of Woe, 20
 Will thank Me, Who gave in the Wilderness streams,
 In the desert the Brooks for My loved Race to drink;
 This People I formed for Myself;— 21
 They also should give to Me thanks.

But, Jacob, you call not on Me; 22
 Nor, Israel, work for My sake,
 You bring Me no Lamb as a gift, 23
 Nor by sacrifice pay Me respect.
 But have I not served you with food?
 Did I not give incense to you?
 With your silver, you bought Me no cane, 24
 Nor perfume with the sacrificed fat,
 But forsook Me, for love of your sins,
 And you loathed Me, because of your vice.

But as I, MYSELF, only EXIST, 25
 I will blot out your crimes for Myself,
 And no more remember your sins.
 Let us try to be equally just,— 26
 Bring your record to show you are right.
 Your Leader at first caused the sin, 27
 And your satirists jested at Me;
 So your Grand Princes I will destroy, 28
 To destruction will Jacob resign,
 And Israel give up to Reproach."

ODE 16.

Blessings Promised to Israel.

"Now listen, Jacob, My Friend, 44
 And Israel in whom I delight,"
 Thus says your Maker, the LIFE, 2
 And your Helper, Who formed from the womb;
 "Have no fear, Jacob, My friend, 3

- And the Righteous, in whom I delight :—
 For the thirsty, I waters pour out,
 And make on dry ground flowing rills,
 I breathe out My wind on your seed,
 And My blessing is over your crops ;
 4 The herbage springs up in your sight,
 Like willows beside flowing streams.
 5 This, will say :—' I belong to the LORD ;'
 That, ' by Jacob's name I will be called ;'
 The next to the LIFE give his hand,
 And be labelled with Israel's name."

ODE 17.

A Declaration of God's Foreknowledge.

- 6 Thus Israel's King, the LORD proclaims,
 And his Redeemer, LORD OF HOSTS ;
 " I am the First and the last,
 Except myself there is no GOD.
 7 And who but I proclaimed and told
 And fixed events from former times,
 Foretelling future things ?
 8 Shake not, fear not, for is not this
 What I informed and told ?
 You are My proof no GOD exists but Me,— I know no other Rock ! "
- 9 All Idol-makers rave ;
 Their statues cannot help,
 And show it to themselves !
 10 They neither see nor know ;
 Their Artist they degrade ;
 Those helpless metal gods !
 11 See ! all their friends they shame ;
 Their artists blush themselves ;
 They shame their fixers up ;
 All meet disgrace together !
- 12 A Smith the iron cuts,
 And works it in the coals
 And with his hammer forms.
 He works with his strong arms ;
 He hungers and is weak ;
 Is faint, and thirsts for drink ;
 13 The Joiner chooses wood ;
 He draws a line in red ;
 He cuts it with his tool ;
 With compass marks it out,
 A graceful human form,
 A man to guard his house !
- 14 He Cedars fells for use ;
 He takes the pine and oak,
 Selects the forest trees.
 15 The fir plant grows by rain,
 And is for man to burn,
 He takes it and he warms ;
 He cooks and bakes his bread :—
 For worship makes a god !
 Adores the form he made !
 16 Burns part of it in fire,
 With part he cooks his meat,
 And cuts a slice and eats !

He warms, and says " Ah-ah ! I'm warm,—I feel the fire ! " The refuse forms his God ! That Image he adores ! Bows down and prays his God, And says, " Deliver me ! For you to me are God ! "	17
They know not, nor reflect ;	18
They stop their eyes from sight ;
They keep their hearts from sense
They lay it not to heart ;	19
Know not nor think to say ;
" I burnt a part with fire, Baked on its coals my bread ; I roasted flesh and ate ; And made the rest a God ! A fool, I worship Wood ! "
The fool devours dirt,	20
Deception veils his sense, His mind cannot escape, or say, " My right hand holds a lie ! "
Jacob remember these, And Israel, as My friend ; I formed you for My friendship, Forget not, Israel, ME.	21
I drove your faults like clouds, Like fog dispersed your sins, Return to Me redeemed.	22
Shout, Heavens, " The LORD has worked ! " Be shaken earth below ; Hills burst, and roar, you Woods, With every tree in them. The LORD sets Jacob free, And Israel HE adorns !	23
Thus says the LORD " I freed you ; And formed you from the womb ; For I, the LIFE, made all, Alone, I stretched the skies, Myself spread out the land.	24
Alone producing Wonders, I prophets move in dance, Philosophers defeat, And show their knowledge vain. But confirm My Servant's word Will complete My Agents' news That Jerusalem shall last, And Judah's towns be built, And her ruins rise again. Who tells the Deep, ' be dry ; And let your Rivers waste ; Who calls His Shepherd, Cyrus, Who will effect My plans ; Who Jerusalem will rebuild, And found a Temple there ! "	25
	26
	27 28

ODE 18.

The Promise to Cyrus.

- 45 Thus says the LORD to His Messiah,
To Cyrus, whose right hand He wields,
To throw down Nations at his sight,
And make the kingdoms bare;
To open doors before his face,
Nor shall the gates be shut.
- 2 "I will precede, and level hills,
And I will smash the doors of bronze,
And break the iron-bolted bars!
- 3 And give to you the darkened hoards,
And treasures from the cells,
That you may know that I, the LORD,
Who called your name, am Israel's GOD,
- 4 For Jacob's sake, My friend,
And Israel's whom I chose
I call you by your name,
To an Office you know not!
- 5 I am the LIFE and none beside,
Except MYSELF there is no GOD:
Though you knew not, I fixed your belt!
- 6 To teach them from the rising-sun,
And from where evening fades away,
That I am LIFE, and none beside!—
- 7 Who formed the Light? Created Gloom?
Who Good has made? Created Bad?
Myself, the LORD, made all!
- 8 Skies! from above drop dew,
You clouds rain Goodness down,
Earth open and yield Justice,
And Right grow up at once,
As I the LORD create!

ODE 19.

The Folly of Resisting God.

- 9 Ah! He fights with his former!
The pot with the worker of clay!
Does the paste ask the artist,
Why, what have you made?
And the product, deny you have skill?
- 10 Shame who asks of his father,
"What have you begot?"
Who demands from his mother
"What have you brought forth?"
- 11 Thus asks the LORD, Israel's HOLY,
Who formed the events,
"Do you carp at My sons?
Flout the work of My hands?"
- 12 I made Earth and the Men upon her;
And My hand has stretched out the skies,
And I all their armies command.
- 13 I raised him to rule, and made all his paths smooth,
He will build Me a City, My captives set free,—
Not for pay, or for wage," says the ALMIGHTY LORD!

ODE 20.

The Triumph of Israel.

Thus says the LORD :—
 " Mitzraim's workers, Kush traders, and Seba's tall men, 14
 Will come over, be yours, and will gather to you.
 In troops they will come, and to you they will bow,
 Declaring to you—' Yes, with you is a GOD,—
 And no Gods exist, except HIM.' "

A True GOD from the Unseen are You,— 15
 The GOD Who has Israel saved !

ODE 21.

The Degradation of Paganism.

All are disgraced and together are shamed,— 16
 To shame Idol-makers all march,—
 But Israel is saved by the LORD in a Victory for ever ; 17
 Nor for ever and ever be shamed or disgraced !

ODE 22.

The Eternity of God.

Thus says the LORD Who created the Suns, 18
 The GOD Who formed EARTH, and provided its laws, Formed it not for a waste, but for men to reside,—
 " I am EVER-LIVING, and none but MYSELF.
 I spoke not in secret, in dark spots of earth, 19
 I told not Jacob's race, That you seek Me in vain ;—
 I, the LORD, speak the truth, and instruct in the right.

You who know nothing, but bear wooden Idols about, 20
 And pray to a god with no power to help !
 Proclaim, meet together in council ;— 21
 Who told this in advance ? Who advised from of old ?
 Did not I, the LORD ? and no other God ?
 The only true GOD, and except ME no other can save.
 Turn to Me and be saved, all you boundaries of earth, 22
 For I only am GOD.

I swear by Myself, and the unchanging truth left My mouth. 23
 To Me all knees shall bend, and all tongues shall confess,
 To the LORD belongs Righteousness, Power and Honour, 24
 Come on and bow down, all you haters of HIM,—
 In the LORD become righteous, and glory in Israel's Race ! " 25

ODE 23.

A Satire upon Paganism.

Bel totters, Nebo stoops ; they're a torture to the beasts, 46
 They crush the beasts who bear,—who faint beneath the load !
 They shake and crouch at once, and they cannot bear the weight, 2
 And their breath is drawn in gasps.

But hear Me, Jacob's House, and Israel's broken home, 3
 Who bore you from the lap, and carried from the womb,
 To old age I am there, and will help you in grey hairs ; 4
 I made you, and will help, will carry and set free.

- 5 To what resemble Me? and draw, and shape in form?
 6 Pour gold from out the bag, weigh silver from the store?
 Hire smiths to make a god? adore, and worship it?
 7 And take him on your back, and carry, and set down?—
 He stands! He cannot hear! Call him? He answers not,
 Nor can he help distress.
- 8 Remember this,—be Men; you rebels, lay to heart;
 9 Learn from the old events, that I alone am GOD.
 There is no other GOD, most certainly like Me,
 10 Telling Futures in advance, and of old, what will be done;
 Who make My Purpose stand and all My Will effect, 11 Call an Eagle from the East, from afar the Man I choose;
 Yes, I said, and I will bring My decision to results.
- 12 Hear Me, you haughty hearts, you far removed from right 13 I bring My justice near—salvation is not far,
 My victory will not halt, I will make Zion safe,
 And to Israel beauty give.

ODE 24.

The Ruin of Babel Foretold.

- 47 Come down, and sit in the dust, you, virgin daughter of Babel;
 And sit on the ground unthroned, you, the girl of the Kasdim,
 For no more will they call you the refined and protected.
- 2 Lend a hand to the mill and grind flour,— Shave your tresses and strip off your robe,
 3 Bare your legs, and wade over the streams;
 Strip yourself bare, exposing your shame,—
 I avenge, and I will regard none.
- 4 CHORUS OF ISRAELITES.
 "The Almighty LORD redeems us,— Let Israel bless HIS NAME."
- 5 Sit silent, and walk in the dark, you, the girl of the Kasdim;
 For no more they will call you the Princess of Kingdoms.
 6 I was vexed with My People,—and I punished my country,—
 I gave them into your hand, but you have not shown them mercy.
 7 You laid heavy yokes on the old—and said "I am Princess for ever."
 So you laid not those things to your heart, nor remembered the future.
- 8 But, hear this now, you Lady, who sit at your ease,
 Who say to your heart, "I exist, and none else with me;
 I shall not be a widow, or know of bereavement,"
 9 But both shall arrive at a stroke,—and in a single day,— Bereavement and ruin come on you, a widow,
 In spite of your craft, and great strength of Allies;
 10 For you trusted in sin, saying, "No one will see me."
 Your Science and Learning, themselves will overthrow you,— Though you said in your heart, "I shall last, if none else!"
- 11 So loss will come on you, whose dawning you know not,
 And calamity fall which you cannot avoid,
 And unknown desolation rush suddenly on you.
 12 Now trust to your mates, and your many enchanters,
 With whom you have worked from the days of your youth!
 You fool! can they help you? You fool! can they strengthen?
 13 Your advisers exhaust! Let them stand up and save you!
 Your sky-mappers, star-gazers, who teach by the Moon!
 To what have they all brought you?

Only look ! They are chaff which the fire burns up ! 14
 From the hand of destruction they snatch not their lives !
 No coal to warm them, or a lantern to sit by, is left.
 Such to you are the friends you have worked with from youth ; 15
 Each will turn to his business,—and none of them help you !

ODE 25.

An Appeal to Israel.

You House of Jacob, hear 48
 The called by Israel's Name ;
 Who from Judah's fountain flow,
 Who revere Jehovah's Might,
 And trust on Israel's GOD :—
 But not in Truth and the Right !
 Who are called the Sacred Town, 2
 And rest on Israel's GOD,—
 HIS NAME, Th' ALMIGHTY LIFE.

I foretold this from the first, 3
 I announced before it came,—
 The event I made appear,
 Because I knew you stiff, 4
 And foresaw your iron neck,
 And your forehead was of brass.
 I told before they came, 5
 Lest you say " My Idol made,
 My Casting ordered them ! "
 You heard all this before ? 6
 But you will not confess.

Now shall I tell you News ?
 And make the unknown known ?
 New made,—not known till now, 7
 Lest you should say, " I knew,"
 Yes ! You heard not, you knew not, 8
 Your ears could not have heard,
 For I knew that you were false,
 Called you Rebel from your birth,
 For My Name I held My anger ; 9
 For My Honour held it back
 From exterminating quite ;
 I refined,—but not for silver, 10
 I in suffering's furnace tried,
 For My sake—My sake I do it,— 11
 For is there not a hope ?
 And I give not My heart away.

ODE 26.

An Appeal to Israel for Faith.

List to Me Jacob, and Israel My Called, 12
 I exist, am the First, I am also the Last !
 My hand built the earth, 13
 And My right stretched the skies.
 If I call,—they collect and stand up !
 Come all you together, and hear, 14
 Who informed you concerning these things ?

He whom the LORD befriends will on Babel do his work 15
 And on the Kasdim Race as I, Myself, have told,
 Yes, have called and brought him out,
 And will bring his path success.

- 16 Approach to Me—Hear this—
I told the Secret from of old,
Before the Event I named.
- And now the MIGHTY LORD sends
To me, and him His Spirit.

ODE 27.

A Remonstrance to Israel.

- 17 Your Friend the LORD says thus,—Israel's HOLY,—I am LIFE,
Your GOD who leads to wealth, directs the path to march.
- 18 Had you kept My Commands your peace would be like brooks, 19 Your fortune rippling streams, your race would be like sand,
And your offspring like its brood, and your name would never fail,
Nor waste before My face.

ODE 28.

Fly from Babel.

- 20 "Come out from Babel, fly from the Kasdim!"
With a loud voice proclaim it and let it be heard;—
Send it forth to the bounds of the earth;—
Say "The LORD has redeemed His friend Jacob!"
- 21 They thirst not in the deserts they traverse;
For them HE makes water to flow from the rock,
Splits the rocks and the waters rush out!
- 22 To the Wicked, the LORD gives no rest.

ODE 29.

The Prophet's Despair Consol'd.

- 49 Listen, Islands, to me and let Nations attend!
The LORD called me from far, summoned me from the lap,
From the womb of my mother to publish HIS power;
2 Put my mouth a sharp sword in its sheath for His hand;
3 A sharp arrow, concealed in His quiver, has hid,
To call "Israel, My friend, and by whom I am honoured!"
- 4 Then I cried, "I have wearied in vain, and exhausted my vigour for naught.
Yet the LORD was my object,—my work was for God."
- 5 But now says the LORD, "From the belly I formed you,
To serve and turn Jacob and Israel to Me."
'Tis enough! I am honoured in sight of the LORD.
- 6 My GOD is my strength; and He asks, "Is this nothing?
I made you My Agent to raise Jacob's standard,
To lead Israel back, be a light to the heathen,
And a Saviour to be to the bounds of the Earth?"

ODE 30.

The Messiah.

- 7 Thus says the LORD, Who freed Israel, His Chosen,—
To the Gentle-souled, hated by nations,
To His servant despised by the kingdoms;—
"Princes shall see him and rise and do reverence,
Because of the LORD Who is true; and Israel's HOLY, Who chose him.

ODE 31.

The Messiah's Office.

Thus says the LORD:—

"In the time of delight I have spoken; 8
 In the Day of Salvation have helped you;
 And will guard and will give to the Covenant People,
 To lift up the land,—to apportion the wasted estates;
 To say to the Prisoners, 'Come out!' to the Dungeoned, 'Be free!' 9
 By the paths there is food, and on all plains is pasture.
 You shall not hunger or thirst, nor be struck by the heat of the Sun,
 For their Pitier will lead, and to water-springs guide.
 Will level all hills, and make banks for their paths. 11

Look! These came from afar! These from the North-west! 12
 And those from the land of the Sinim.

Let the skies cheer, and Earth smile! 13
 Burst, you mountains, in cheers,
 For the LORD at last pities His people,—
 HE pities His poor!

But Zion murmurs— 14
 'The LORD has abandoned, th' Almighty forgotten!'
 Forgets Woman her suckling—not pity her baby?— 15
 Yes! they may forget,—but not I forget you!
 In My hands I have handled, your walls stand before Me,— 16
 Your destroyers shall build you, your wasters sue to you. 17
 Cast your eyes round and see,—all collecting approach,
 As I live," says the LORD, "All shall clothe you with honours,— 18
 You shall wear them, like jewels, your plunderers and wasters, 19
 Who tore up your land, which your people will fill,
 And drive out your devourers.

Then the sons you had lost, shall exclaim in your hearing, 20
 'This place is too narrow, make room for my dwelling.'
 And you say to your heart, 'Who begot me all these?— 21
 I was widowed and lonely, an outcast and captive, and prisoner,—
 So who brought up these?
 I was shattered to pieces,—
 So then these, whose were they?'"

ODE 32.

The Nations Return Israel.

Thus says the LORD, the ALMIGHTY: 22
 "Look! to the Heathen I lift up My hand;—
 And My Banner rear up to the Peoples;—
 And your boys and your girls they shall bring to your lap,
 And shall carry them raised on their shoulders!
 And Kings be your Guardians, and Queens be your nurses, 23
 And earthward their faces shall bow, and lick dust from your feet,
 And acknowledge that I am the LORD, Who disgrace not My faithful."

ODE 33.

The Folly of Resisting God.

Who can take spoil from the strong?
 Can the captive of Power escape? 24
 Yes, Thus says the LORD;— 25
 "The slaves may be seized from the Strong,
 And the spoil may be torn from the Fierce,

- For I fight against those who fight you,
 And so I will rescue your sons.
 26 And your Tyrants shall eat their own flesh,
 And drink their own blood, like new wine,
 And all men know your Saviour, THE LIFE,
 And Redeemer, THE MIGHTY OF JACOB."

ODE 34.

Was Israel Divorced from God ?

- 50 The LORD demands reply ;—
 " Is this the Note to cast her off I to your Mother sent ?
 Or who the Creditor of mine to whom I sold yourselves ?
 I sold you for your sins, dismissed your Mother for her faults.
 2 Why, when I come, meet I no one ?
 I call and none replies,
 What Reaper cut My hand away ?
 Took My redeeming power ?
 3 At My rebuke the Sea dries up,—to deserts turn the streams,
 The water gone, their fishes stink, and die because of thirst.
 And I can clothe the skies in black,—spread sackcloth as their cloak."

ODE 35.

The Sufferings of Christ—A Word of Comfort to the Weary.

- 4 Th' ALMIGHTY LIFE has given to me an educated tongue ;
 To help the weary with a word He roused me at the dawn,
 At break of day He waked my ears to listen like a child.
 5 The MIGHTY LORD unclosed my ears,—I turned not back perverse,
 6 I gave my back to flogging, let my cheek be stripped of hair,
 My face I never covered up from insults and from spit.
 7 But the MIGHTY LORD sustained, so I was not disgraced ;
 I set my face like flint, for I knew I was not shamed.
 8 My Judge is near at hand ; let my accuser rise ;
 Who would assail my cause, let him come to my face ;
 9 See! the GREAT LORD assists, so who can injure me ?
 He strips them like a cloak devoured by the moth!

ODE 36.

Trust on God.

- 10 Who of you fear the LORD ?
 List to His Servant's voice,
 You who in darkness walk,
 And lampless, trust to HIM ;
 Trust on THE LIVING POWER,
 And lean upon our GOD.
 11 All you who light a fire,
 With fuel heaped around,
 Walk in your fire's light,
 And by the coals you burn.—
 My hand will bring you this
 With sorrow to lie down!

ODE 37.

To the Good and Righteous.

Hear me, you hunters for right, you who seek for the LORD,—	51
See the Rock whence you were cut, the pit whence you were hewn;
Look to Abraham your father, and Sarah who bore you;—	2
I called him when but one; when I blessed him he grew.
For the LORD will comfort Zion, restore all her wastes,	3
Joy and pleasure meet in her, with music and song;
Make her Moorland like an Eden, the LORD's bower, her Arbah,

ODE 38.

Divine Law and Justice Promised.

My Race, attend to Me,	4
And My Nation hear My speech;
For from Me will come the Law,
Justice light the troubled Tribes.
My Equity advance,	5
And My Salvation meet,
My arm the Tribes will guide,
The Isles will hope for Me,
And on My power confide.
Raise your eyes to heaven,	6
And gaze on earth below,
For the skies will fade like smoke,
Earth will wear out like a cloak,
And her people die like gnats,
But My Salvation last,
And My kindness will not fail!
Hear you who know the right,	7
Men with My Law at heart,
Fear not the jeers of men,
Nor fall before their curse;
Moths eat them like a cloak,	8
And the grub consumes like wool,
But My Righteousness exists,
My Salvation for all time.

ODE 39.

An Appeal for God's Deliberance.

Arm of the LORD, awake, awake and clothe Yourself in strength.	9
Awake like former times, as in the days of old.
Did You not slay the Tyrant, did You not pierce the brute?
Did You not waste the Sea,—the mighty splashing tide?	10
And make the deep a road for the ransomed to pass o'er?
So shall the LORD's freed men returning come to Zion,	11
With cheers and long delight, and joy upon their heads,—
And will attain delight, and grief and anguish fly.

ODE 40.

God's Plea to Israel.

I, I, am He giving you comfort;	12
Why, then, do you fear Man the Mortal,
Adam's son, who will wither like grass,
And forget your Creator the LORD,	13
Who has spread out the skies, and made Earth,
And fear daily Oppression's fierce face,
As the Tyrant prepared to destroy?

- Yet, where is the furious Tyrant?
- 14 The Deliverer is quick marching on,
So the captive will not die in Jail,
And shall not be deprived of his bread;
- 15 For Myself, Who am your LIVING GOD,
Calm the waves of the Sea and their roar,—
My Name is the LORD of the POWERS;
- 16 My words I have put in your mouth,—
I will guard in the shade of My hand,
To spread skies and establish the Land,—
And say, " You are My people " to Zion.

ODE 41

To Zion, Drunk in Sin.

- 17 Arouse me, arouse me, Jerusalem pick up,
Who drank from the LORD's hand the Cup of His Wrath.
The dregs of the drugged cup, she drank and sucked out!
- 18 Is there none now to help of the sons that she bore?
Will none take her hand, of the children she bred?
- 19 These three things have met you—and who will lament you!
Break, ruin, and sword, and who will give you comfort?
- 20 Your sons fall in stupor at the top of each street;
Like deer to the nets, GOD'S DIVINE WRATH impels!
- 21 So hear this, now, poor wretch, drunk, but yet not with wine;
22 Thus your LIVING PRINCE says,—your GOD who guards His Race;—
" I will now remove from you, the Cup causing trembling,
The great cup of My wrath,—you shall drink it no more.
But will give to the hand of your wasters, who said:—
23 ' Now! lay down your body that we may pass over!
Lay your back like the ground, like the streets to the crowd! "

ODE 42.

A Song of Triumph for the Redeemed.

- 52 Awake, Zion, awake, and be clothed in your strength!
Sacred City, Jerusalem, put on your robes!
For no more shall come to you the vile and the wicked,
- 1 Shake from you the dust, rise, Jerusalem, sit up,
Loose those ropes from your neck, poor girl, captured from Zion!
- 3 For thus says the LORD, " You were not sold for gain,
And with silver shall not be redeemed."
- 4 For thus has the PRINCE EVER-LIVING declared,—
" My Race went afore-time to Mitzer to rest,
Where they, and now Ashur, extremely depressed;—
5 So, now, what should I do? "
- Asks the LORD,
- " For My People they seize for no debt,— Their Masters who make them to howl,"
Says the LORD.
- " And My Name all day treat with contempt?
- 6 Yet My Race shall acknowledge My Power,
On the day when I come, and exclaim, ' Here I am! "

ODE 43.

The Messenger of Peace.

- 7 How fair on the hills the Ambassador's feet,
The Announcer of Peace!
- 8 A good message! announcing to Zion good news,
That her God is her King!

Lift, Watchmen, your voice, shout together and cheer,
 When clearly you see that the LORD comes to Zion;
 Burst out into cheers with Jerusalem's ruins,
 For the LORD comforts His People,—delivers Jerusalem ! 9

The LORD strips His strong arm, in the sight of all Nations,
 All borders of Earth will then see our GOD is victorious ! 10

ODE 44.

The Order to Penetrate Corrupt Babylon.

Depart, depart, go out from there and touch not now the vile ! 11
 Come out from her, depart, and bring the Vessels of the LORD.

You will not go in haste, or marching as in flight,
 But the LORD before you march, Israel's GOD will guard your rear. 12

ODE 45.

The Suffering Messiah.

See My Servant is wise; He will rise, and go up very high,— 13
 Many will wonder at you,—when they see you selected from men, 14
 And marked out from the children of Adam.
 As He will cleanse many nations, before Him their kings will be silent; 15
 For what they read not, they will see,—what they had not heard understand.
 But who will believe our report? over whom is the Lord's Arm revealed? 53
 For He grew before them a weak shoot, like a plant from dry ground, 2
 Unadorned, without honour, He was not respected—nor sought, or desired.
 Despised and neglected by men, a man in His sorrows acquainted with grief; 3
 He was despised, like one hiding His presence from us, and we thought not of Him.

However, He carried our griefs, and He bore our sorrows,— 4
 But we thought He was struck with God's stroke and afflicted;
 Yet He was convicted because of our crimes, and punished because of our 5 vices;
 And by His stripes we were healed !

All we like to sheep, went the path each before us; 6
 And the LORD punished Him for the faults of us all.
 He answered not insult, like a lamb led to death He unclosed not His mouth, 7
 He was dumb, like a sheep to her shearers, nor opened His mouth.
 He was seized against Justice and Right; 8
 And what will be thought of His age that cut Him from the land of the living;—
 Destroyed by the crime of my Race?
 Who with Criminals fixed Him a grave,—but after His death with the Great; 9
 For no Crime had He done, and no wrong by His mouth.

Yet the LORD pleased to depress Him with pain; 10
 When He laid down His soul with the vile,
 But yet He will see His race spreading with Time,
 And the LORD'S Will attained by His hand.— 11
 The work of His life He shall see with content.

By His instructions My Servant will make many righteous, 12
 For He, Himself carried their sins.
 So I gave Him the Many, and Nobles assigned as His spoil, 13
 Instead of that wealth, He poured out His life to the death
 And was branded with crime.
 Yet the Sin of the Many He bore, and He prayed for the wicked.

ODE 46.

Israel's Consolation.

- 54 "Begin singing, you barren and childless!
Sing and laugh who have never borne child!
For more are the sons of the withered,
Than the sons of the suck-giving wife!"
Says the LORD.
- 2 "Enlarge your Tent's room, and your dwelling extend,
Shrink not! Your ropes lengthen; and fix your stakes firm!
3 Your race on the right and the left will spread out,
Seize Nations, and dwell in their cities o'erthrown.
- 4 Fear not, you shall not be disgraced or insulted;
Blush not for the shame of your girlhood forgotten,
And the scorn of your loneliness think of no more;
5 For your Maker's your husband, His name LORD OF HOSTS,— ISRAEL'S HOLY defends you,—called GOD of the Earth!
- 6 As a wife troubled in mind, when deserted;
The LORD calls for you;—
And as new wedded wives who displease, says your GOD,— 7 For a moment sent off, but called back with great pity.
8 In quick anger My face I had hid for a moment,
But now with a lasting affection I cherish,"
Says the LORD your defender.
- 9 "I promised like this in the Waters to Noah,—
That no more Noah's Waters should pass o'er the earth,
So I promise to you against anger and wrath,
10 Though the Mountains may move and the Hills may be shaken,
My love for you moves not, nor alters My treaty of peace!"
Says your lover the LORD.

ODE 47.

Comforting Israel.

- 11 "You afflicted by storms and unpitied,
Your stones shall be marble, foundations be sapphires
12 And rubies your windows, and gates of rock crystal.
All your ramparts of beautiful stones!
13 And the LORD teach your sons and well prosper your children;
- 14 Be steadfast in Right, and keep far from Oppression,
To it, and Corruption, you never must look,—
You must not bring them near you.
15 See! gathering, they gather against you!
Who gather against you, by you they will fall,
- 16 I made the Smith to blow fire with his bellows,
By his skill to work out every vessel for use;
And I also created the Waster to spoil.—
17 But all tools formed against you shall never succeed;
You shall conquer all tongues that rise up in contention,
The LORD's servants have this right from Me," says the LORD,

ODE 48.

A Call to the Poor.

- 55 "Hoy! All you thirsty come on to the waters;
And you, without money, come buy corn and eat!
Come! buy corn without cash, wine and milk without cost!

Why should you pay money, and not have the bread? And why should you labour and never be fed? Attend to and hear Me, and eat of the best, And nourish your lives on the richest of food!	2
Attend with your ears and come forward to Me; If you listen your souls will revive in yourselves! And I will record a firm contract with you, The strong and the true promise of David!	3
I give him a witness to Nations; A Prince and Lawgiver to Peoples; You shall call to a Nation you know not—	4
To you Pagans who knew not will run Because of your GOD EVER-LIVING, And Israel's HOLY Who honours!"	5

ODE 49.

An Exhortation to Seek the Lord.

To find the LORD, seek Him—call on Him while near! Let the Wicked leave mischief, the Lustful his thoughts; And return to the LORD, and then He will find pity, And come to our GOD, Whose forgiveness is great.	6 7
"For MY thoughts are not like to your thoughts, And your ways are not Mine," says the LORD!	8
"For as high as the heavens rise over the earth, So My ways rise up higher than yours, And My thoughts are thus higher than yours, For as rain and snow fall from the skies, And return not but moisten the earth, Make it bear, and produce and grow grain, And food for the farmer to eat, Thus My word that proceeds from My mouth, Returns not in vain, but will do what I wish, And effect what I sent it to do.	9 10 11
So with Joy you shall march, and by safety be led; Hills and Mountains before you burst out into song; And all Trees of the field clap their hands! Instead of the Briar will spring up the Cypress, In place of the Bramble the Myrtle shall grow! And be fame for the LORD,—a fixed Beacon for ever!"	12 13

ODE 50

A Message from God.

Thus the EVER-LIVING says:—	56
"Keep to Justice, practise Right, For My victory is approaching, And My Righteousness is near;— Blessed the mortal doing so, The Son of Adam firm in it, Who keeps Sabbath without breach And his hand from doing wrong. Let not the convert say:— The LORD cuts from His Race Nor let the Eunuch cry, I am a withered tree!"	57 58 59

- 4 For thus the EVER-LIVING says:—
 " If they My Sabbath keep,
 5 I give them in My home
 And walls a place and name,
 More fair than girls or sons.
 A lasting name I give,
 Which will not be destroyed."
- 6 And men of Foreign birth
 Who join the LORD and serve,
 And love His LIVING NAME,
 Shall be to Him for sons ;
 Who keep His Rest unbroken,
 And hold His Treaty firm ;—
- 7 " They shall reach My Sacred Hill,
 Joy in My House of Prayer,
 And there upon My Altar
 Their gifts and offering place,
 For My House, a House of Prayer, Shall be called for every tribe."
- 8 For thus the GREAT LORD says,—
 " When lost Israel I collect,
 I will collect with him,
 Beyond him, My select !"

ODE 51.

The Wild Riot of Sinners.

- 9 Come all you beasts of the Field,
 You beasts of the Wood to a feast !
- 10 All of the Watchers are blind,—
 All are stupid dull dogs,
 Are unable to bark,
 Think of sleep and love slumber !
- 11 Yet are greedy souled dogs,
 Who can never be filled ;
 And the shepherds care not to look out ;
 They all go their own way,
 Each to plunder his share !—
- 12 " Come on, let us have wine,
 Let us seek for strong drink,
 For to-morrow will be like to-day,
 When we can get more !"

ODE 52.

The Death of the Good.

- 57 The Righteous has perished ;—
 But none lay it to heart,—
 And the kind man lies buried ;
 8 Yes, the Good is removed,
 But no one will reflect !—
 From the face of the Bad,
 They go, and have comfort in peace,
 They go to their rest on their beds.
- 9 But, you Sons of Deception approach,
 You seed of adulterer and whore,
 4 Against whom do you jeer ?
 On whom open your mouth ?
 At whom stretch out your tongue ?
 Are you not the children of Sin,
 And the Seed of Disgrace ?

Foul with lust under every green tree ? With child-murder in valleys ? And hid in the shrubs of the rocks ? From the Nymphs of the river you choose,— They, they are your lot !—	5 6
Yes, to them you pour wine,— And you offer your gifts !— How can I approve you for that ? On the hill high and lofty, You spread out your bed, Behind doors, and hinges— You reminders set up. For from Me you have turned, But have spread out your bed, And joined them to yourself ! And loved watching their couch !	 7 8 9
Abroad seeking the King, You increased your perfumes ; Your agents went far, And they sunk down to hell ! Worn out with long journeys, You cried " There is no hope."— But, as you still possessed life, You did not quite despair.	 10 11
What fear made you false, And My powers forget ? And placed not to your heart, Because I long was still ? So you feared not My might ? So I tell you the truth, That your Idols help not ; When you ask their protection The Wind blows them away, And a breath will take off !— Who trusts Me owns the Land And has MY Holy Hill !	 12 13 14

ODE 53.

Holy God Helps the Repentant.

I order to build up and level the road, Pick the stones from the path of My feet, For thus says the Mighty, the LIVING on high,— His Name High and Holy, and Holy His Home ;— " The meek humble souled I will cause to revive, Will renew the meek spirit and broken in heart, For not always I blame, and not always reprove. Vexed, I punished his sin, but in mercy I struck, And was wroth when he turned to the road of his heart.— I saw his vile ways,—but will heal and will lead, And give comfort to him for his griefs, Making Gentle-lipped Peace,—peace to distant and near," Says the LORD Who will heal him.	14 15 16 17 18 19
" But the Wicked shall toss like the Sea,— Which never can rest,— Which casts up from her waters the mire and dirt, There is no Peace," says my GOD, " for the Wicked	20 21

ODE 54.

Proclamation against Sin.

- 58 " Shout, roar unrestrained like a trumpet !—
Lift your voice, and declare to My People their crimes,
To the Household of Jacob their sins !
- 2 Yet daily they seek, and love learning My path,
Like a race doing right, not forgetting GOD'S law :—
They seek My just laws,—and with joy approach GOD.—
Say, ' We fast, but You see not,— We starve,—but You know not ! '
- 4 Why ?—Because on your Fast day you meet for your pleasure,
And drive on your workmen ! You fast for contention ;
Your fasting to strike with hard fists, is not fasting.—
What a day !—when you make your loud voices be heard !
- 5 Is the Fast I approve such as this,—
Men to torture their bodies a day ?
To hang down like a bulrush their head ?
To make sackcloth and ashes their bed ?
' Call it fast-day ' and ' pleasing the Lord ? '
- 6 Is not this the Fast I approve ?—
To free those who are wrongfully bound ?
And to loosen your slaves from their yoke ?
And to seek out and free the oppressed ?
And that you should remove every wrong ?
- 7 And to give to the famishing food ?
The poor wanderers to bring to your house ?
And those whom you see naked to clothe ?
And to hide not yourself from your kind ?—
- 8 Then your light would break forth like the morn,
And your wings up on high would spread out,
And before you your bounty would march,
With the LORD'S power guarding your rear.
- 9 You should call, and the LORD would reply,
You should shout, and He answer, ' I'm here ! '
If oppression you cast from your breast,
And scorn's finger, and slandering lie,
- 10 When you share with the hungry your bread,
And you comfort the body in pain,
Your light will shoot out from the dark,
And your sunset to splendour be turned.
- 11 And THE LIFE would for ever direct,
And in Deserts your body refresh,
And the stiffness remove from your joints,
And make you like a field by a brook,
And near rippling unfailing streams.
- 12 Then your offspring shall build up the Ruins.
And raise old foundations anew,
And call you ' The Repairer of walls,'
' The Restorer of safety to roads ! '
- 13 If on Sabbath you hold back your foot,
And make My Holy Day your delight,
And declare that My Rest is a pleasure,
To worship the LORD with respect,
And by forming your path do it honour,

Not seeking your pleasure or trade,
 Thus delighting yourself with the LORD, 14
 You shall ride on the Heights of the Earth,
 And feed on the portion of Jacob, your father,"—
 So, the LORD's mouth has declared!

ODE 55.

Why Israel is not Helped by God.

The LORD's hand is not cut off from saving,— 59
 And His ears are not deaf to a sound,
 If your vices had not made division 2
 Between you, and between your own GOD,
 And your sins hindered listening to you.
 For your hands are polluted with blood, 3
 And your fingers are filthy with sin;
 You speak lies from your lips,
 And your tongue mutters crime.

None pleads for the right; 4
 None decides for the truth;
 They trust upon tricks and false speech,
 Conceive mischief and bring forth deceit.
 They hatch vipers' eggs, 5
 And they spin spiders' webs;
 Who eats their eggs dies,
 And who hatches,—produces a snake. 6
 Their webs make no cloak,
 Nor their fabrics make clothing,
 Their products make nothing,
 But wrong in their hands.

Their feet run to evil,— 7
 And haste to shed innocent blood;
 Their genius,—contrivance of crime,—
 In their haunts are destruction and ruin;
 They know no path of Peace;— 8
 No Justice is found in their trades;
 They distort their own roads;
 All who travel them never know peace.

Therefore Justice is distant from us; 9
 And Right does not accost,—
 When we hope for the light, it is dark;
 When for brightness,—we walk in the gloom
 We grope like the blind for a wall; 10
 We stumble in light as at dusk,
 In prosperity fear as at Death!

We all groan like the bears;— 11
 And we mourn like the doves;—
 Hope for Justice,—but find not—
 For safety,—but it is far off!
 For our crimes grow before you,— 12
 Our sins speak, against us,—
 Our crimes are convicting,
 And the witnesses are our lusts!
 By revolt and deserting the LORD, 13
 And marching away from our GOD,
 By distorting, and breeding the wrong,
 By false reasons sent out from the heart,

- 14 So Justice retires,
And right stands afar off,
For Truth falls in the Square,
And Right cannot come in.
- 15 And Truth has been lost,—
That the Head Shepherd stole,—
But the LORD saw, and His eyes were displeas'd,
For no Justice was done!—
- 16 And He saw that there was not a Man ;—
And He wondered that none interfer'd,
But His own arm then saved for itself,
It supported His Rights.
- 17 As armour, He Righteousness wore,
Salvation the Helm on His head,
And wore garments of Justice as robes,
And Energy spread as a cloak,
- 18 Then rose up to punish,— Rose up to repay,—
To His enemies wrath,—
To His haters their due,—
And their due to the Isles.
- 19 Then from the West they shall see the LORD's power,—
From the Sunrise His glory,—
When He comes like a torrent,
Which fierce wind from the LORD drives along :
" And bringing Redemption to Zion,
And driving rebellion from Jacob,"—says THE LIFE,
- 20 " I will make this My Treaty with them," says the LORD, 21 " The Spirit I place upon you,
And the Words that I put in your mouth,
Shall not go from your mouth,
Or the mouth of your Race,
Or the mouth of the seed of your Race,"
Says the LORD,
" From now and for ever ! "

ODE 56.

The Return of Fight to Israel.

- 60 Arise to the light, for your dawn has arrived ;
The LORD's splendour above you has sprung ;
2 For though darkness may cover the earth,
And black gloom the Peoples,
THE LIFE shines over you, and His splendour on you,
3 And Nations shall walk by your light,
And Kings come to your sun-rise !
- 4 Lift your eyes round and look !—
All collecting come to you ;—
Your sons come from afar,
And your daughters are carried in panniers.
- 5 You will see it and run,
And shall fear with a galloping heart,
When rolls up to you all the wealth of the Sea,
And Nations come dancing to you !
- 6 Troops of Camels shall cover,
With Princes of Midian and Eifa,
All will bring gold from Sheba,
And frankincense carry,
Proclaiming the praise of the LORD

- All Kedar's flocks gather to you,—
The rams of Nebaioth shall serve,
To My Altar ascend with delight,
And My Beautiful House will adorn. 7
- "Who are these flying up like a cloud?
And like doves on long wings?
Why turn the Islesmen to Me?
And the best of the shipping of Tarshish?"— 8
To bring your sons from afar, with their silver and gold,
To the NAME, EVER-LIVING,—YOUR GOD.
And Israel's HOLY,—Your honour. 9
- Then the strangers will build up your walls,
And their Kings form alliance with you,
Whom in anger I struck, but I tenderly love.
And your Gates shall be wide both by day and by night, 10
Never shut to the Nations who bring you their wealth,
With their Kings riding in. 11
For the Nation and Kingdom which serves not to you, Shall perish;— 12
And the Nations destructive, destroyed.
- To you they shall come up, like Lebanon's glory,
With the fir, and the elm, and the box tree together, 13
To deck My Holy Place,—
The Place resting My feet.
- There the sons of your Tyrants come bending to you;
All your scorers bend down to the soles of your feet, 14
And proclaim you the CITY OF LIFE,— Zion, the Holy of Israel!
- Instead of you being forsaken and hated,
With none passing through, 15
I will make you a Glory for ever,—
For ages and ages a Joy!
- You shall suck milk from the Nations
Their Kings' laps shall support,— 16
For I, the LORD, saved,
And the MIGHTY of Jacob set free.
- For brass, I will bring gold,
And for iron, bring silver, 17
For wood bronze, and for iron bring stones, Make your rulers gentle, and your taxers just.
- No more shall oppression be heard in your land, Destruction or breaking be heard in your bounds; 18
But your walls called Salvation, and Thanks be your Gates!
- No more shall the Sun be your light in the day,
And at night the Moon give you her light, 19
But the LORD shall be to you a light everlasting,
And your GOD be the Splendour for you!
- Your Sun never set,— 20
And your Moon never cease,
For the LORD shall be to you perpetual light,
And the days of your sorrow will end.
- When your People will always be just,
They shall conquer the earth;— 21
Like a plant My hand set and made grow,
The few will become thousands,— 22
The weak a strong Nation;—
I, the LORD, hasten it now!

ODE 57.

The Messiah Proclaimed.

- 61 The MIGHTY LORD'S Spirit is on me,—
Yes, the LORD chose me to preach to oppressed,
Has sent me to bind broken hearts,
To proclaim to the prisoners freedom,
To the bondsmen a means of escape ;
- 2 To proclaim times delighting the LORD,
And a Period of gift from our GOD,
And comfort to all those who mourn.
- 3 To give Zion's mourners a Gift,
And in place of their ashes a Crown ;
Change their sorrow to Oil giving joy,
For a broken mind, clothe them in song,
And proclaim them true Oaks,—
The fair plants of the LORD.
- 4 They shall rebuild old ruins,—
The wrecks of the past,—
They shall raise and renew ruined towns, Wrecks from ages of ages.
- 5 Then the strangers shall stand and shall shepherd your flocks,
Sons of Strangers shall plow and shall garden,
6 And you be called " Priests of the LORD,"
Your title,— " The SERVANTS of GOD ! "
You shall feed on the wealth of the heathen,
And rule over their pride.
- 7 Instead of your shame and your double disgrace,
Cheer when you spoil them,
When double you seize in their land !
For to you lasting pleasure will come ;
- 8 " For I am the LORD loving justice,
And plunder and crime I detest,
So I give them the wages they earned,
But make lasting My Treaty with you.
- 9 And your Race shall be known to the heathen,
And your shoots in the midst of the tribes.
All who see them will treat with respect
As the Race that is blessed by the LORD."

ODE 58.

The Messiah's Joy in His Office.

- 10 With joy I rejoice in the LORD,
My Soul will be glad in my GOD,
Who has clothed me in Salvation's robes,
And has spread Mercy's cloak over me,
Like a Bridegroom adorned with a crown,
Like a Bride who is decked with her gems ;
- 11 For, as the Earth shoots up her plants,
And a Garden produces from seeds,
So the GREAT LORD makes righteousness grow,
And from all Nations joyfulness brings.

ODE 59.

The Splendour Promised to Zion.

- 62 For Zion, I will not be still,—
For Jerusalem I will not rest,—
Till her Pardon arrives like a flash,

And Salvation shines out like a lamp,
 And the Heathen your pardon can see, 2
 And all Kingdoms your splendour behold,
 When to you shall be given a New Name,
 Which the mouth of the LORD will impose,
 And you be a beautiful crown in the head of the LORD, 3
 An Imperial Staff in the hand of your GOD !

No more will they call you " Forsaken," 4
 No more shall they call your land " Waste,"
 But you shall be named " My Delight,"
 And your country the " BRIDE the LORD LOVES,"
 And your land, like yourself be a wife !
 As a youth weds a maid, 5
 So your husband will shelter,
 And as a Groom in his Bride,
 Your GOD will rejoice over you.

ODE 60.

The Watchmen over Jerusalem.

On Jerusalem's Walls I fix watchmen by day and by night, 6
 They never keep silence reminding the LORD,—
 They never are dumb,—
 They will give Him no rest, 7
 Till He fixes and places Jerusalem the Glory of Earth.

The LORD swore by His right and His powerful arm, 8
 I will no more give your corn to your foes to devour :
 Nor foreigners feast on the fruits that you cultured ;
 But your reapers shall eat and give thanks to the LORD, 9
 And in My Holy Courts shall the gatherers consume."

ODE 61.

The Restoration of Zion Year.

Pass, pass through the Gates, clear the road for the People ; 10
 Build, build up the highway, and clear it from stones ;
 And raise the flag over the Tribes.

Thus the LORD has proclaimed to the bounds of the earth, 11
 Tell Zion's Daughter your Saviour has come,
 He brings His wage with Him,—His work has been done,
 And they call you bless'd People set free by the LORD, 12
 And name you The Sought-for, the Town-not-forsaken."

ODE 62.

The Conquering Messiah.

THE CROWD.
 " Who is this Who comes up from Edom ? 63
 In red robes from Botzrah ?
 Him splendid in clothing,
 Who steps with great power ? "

THE MESSIAH.
 " I, Who decree Justice,— THE MIGHTY TO SAVE ! "

THE CROWD.
 " But, why are Your garments all red ? 64
 And Your robes as if treading out wine ? "

THE MESSIAH.

- 3 " I trod the wine-press alone,—
Of the People no one was with Me,—
So I trod in excitement, and trampled in rapture,
The juice sprinkling over My robes,
And has stained all My garments.
- 4 For to My mind the fit day,
And the year for redemption had come.—
- 5 And I hoped,—but none eased,
And I wondered none helped.—
So My arm saved Myself,
And excitement sustained Me.—
- 6 So I trod Peoples down in My rapture,
And crushed in excitement,
And scattered their blood on the ground !"

ODE 63.

A Psalm of Thanksgiving.

- 7 I record the LORD'S mercy,—
Give thanks to the LORD,—
For all the LORD gives us,—
The great blessing to Israel's House which He gave,
In His kindness and manifold love.
- 8 He said, " They are My Race;
My Sons will not be false,"
So He was their Saviour
- 9 In all their distresses ;—
Not a Stranger or Agent from Him,—
But His own love and pity set free.
- He took up and carried through all the old times,
10 Though His Holy Spirit they grieved by revolt,
So He turned as their foe, and Himself fought against,
11 Then He thought of old times and of Moses, His Man,
Who led them from the Sea like a shepherd his flock,
12 When HE marched at the right hand of Moses, directing his arm ;—
And poured water—for them, to make lasting his fame.
13 And led them in the waves like a horse on the moorland,
That they stumbled not !
- 14 As cattle to valleys, the LORD'S Spirit led them,—
You led on Your People to make You a beautiful name.
- 15 Bend, and look down from Your Holy Home in the Heavens,— Where now is Your beauty, Your love and Your might ?
My GOD, are Your feelings and mercies restricted ?
16 For You are our Father, though Abraham denies us,
And Israel owns not,—You, LORD, are our Father, Whose Name is Eternal.
- 17 LORD, why let us wander away from Your paths ?
To harden our hearts from reflection on You ?
Return to Your servants, the Tribes of Your land.—
- 18 Is it nothing they seize upon Your sacred People ?
That Your Holy Place our oppressors tread down ?
- 19 We are like those You ruled not of old,
Those who call not upon them Your name.

ODE 64.

64

A Prayer for Divine Aid.

Why not rend the skies and descend ?	19
Make the mountains to melt at Your sight ?
As fire lights the brushwood, makes water to boil,	1
To make Your power known to Your foes,
And the Heathen to shake at Your sight,
As when You did wonders unhopèd for,	2
The melting hills ran from Your face.
From of old none had heard, nor perceived, nor eye seen,	3
A GOD working like You for those trusting on Him :
You delight to meet those who do right,	4
Who bring Your loving ways to their mind,—
You break from their sin and You save ;— ¹
For we all are defiled, and our virtues old rags,—	5
We are all witherèd leaves, and our lusts drive like wind ;
None call on Your name, or awake to seek You,	6
So You hide Your face, and we waste in the hand of our lusts.

ODE 65.

An Entreaty to God.

But, LORD, You are our Father,—	7
We were the clay, and You formed,
And we all are the work of Your hand.
Be not wroth, LORD, for ever,	8
Nor always remember our sin.—
Oh ! regard us,—we all are Your Race.
Your sweet Cities Deserts ;	9
A Waste will Your Zion become ;
And Jerusalem wasted ;—
Our Holy and Beautiful Temple,
In which our fathers praised You,	10
Will be burnt up with fire,
And all that we treasured destroyed !—
Can You hold back from these, LORD,
And keep yourself silent,
And answer no more ?

ODE 66.

The Messiah Discoversed by Strangers.

' To those who asked not, I am taught,	65
Discoversed by those who sought not,
I nave said, ' I am here, look at Me,'
To a Nation who knew not My Name.
" All day I stretch out My hand to a People perverse,	2
Who walk a wrong path they contrived for themselves.
A People who always insult to My face,	3
With their Altars in Gardens, and Incense on Roofs !
Who dwell in the Tombs, and who lodge in the Dens,	4
Where they eat flesh of swine, and foul broth from their pots,—
Who say, ' Keep to yourself,—I am better than you !'	5

¹ NOTE.—Ch. 64, v. 4. This fourth verse of Ch. 64 has been the despairing puzzle of commentators and translators for over 2,000 years, for as it now stands in the Hebrew it gives no sense, nor did it to the Septuagint. I have tried to find a consistent meaning, but may have failed as others before me.—F. F.

- 6 " Such are a smoke in My face,— Fire scorching all day.
- 7 It is written before Me,—
I will not be still, but repay,—
Will repay their own sin to their breast
And the sins of their fathers at once,"
Says the LORD,
" Who burnt Incense on Hills,
And insulted on Heights,
Their own web I will spread on their breasts."

ODE 67.

A Promise of Forbearance.

- 8 Thus says the LORD :—
" As when one finds in a cluster the juice,
And says, ' Injure it not, for the goodness it holds,'
So will I do with My servants,— Refrain from destroying the whole ;
- 9 And will bring out from Jacob a Seed,
And from Judah an Heir for My Hill,
And he shall inherit My Chosen,
And My Servants dwell there.
- 10 And Sharon be pasture for flocks,
And cattle in Akbar's Vale rest,
For My People who sought Me,
- 11 " But you, who leave the LIFE,
Forsake My Holy Hill ;
Who spread tables to Gad,
And fill flagons to Mani ;—
- 12 I will measure yourselves for the sword,
And you all shall to slaughter bow down,
You shall call, but I will not reply,
Shall entreat Me, but I will not hear,
For you practised wrong in My sight,
And what I approved not, you chose.
- 13 " Therefore," thus says the Almighty LORD,
" My Servants shall feed,—but you starve ;
My Servants shall drink—but you thirst ;
And My Servants be glad,—but you shamed ;
- 14 My Servants shall glad-hearted sing,—
But you wail for your sorrow of heart,
And howl for vexation of spirit !
- 15 To My Chosen your name shall be left as a Curse ;—
The GREAT LORD will kill you ;
But a new Name will give to His friends.
- 16 " Then who blesses on earth, will bless by the TRUE GOD ;
And who swears upon earth, will swear by the TRUE GOD ;
When old wrongs are forgot, and are hid from My sigh* ,
- 17 When New Skies I create and New Earth,
Nor the Old be remembered, or brought up to mind.
- 18 For ever and ever in what I create,
They will joy and be glad,
For Jerusalem I will create a Delight,
And her People a Joy !

* NOTE.—Ch. 65, v. 11. In v. 11, ch. 65, the Prophet plays upon the name of the Idol "Mani" in the next line, where in Hebrew to measure is MANI-THI, but I cannot do so in English. I suggest that Mani was the drunkards' God, or the equivalent of Bacchus. Gad was, apparently, the God, or Idol of Thieves, Mercury.

- In Jerusalem I will rejoice,
And be glad in My Race ; 19
For no more sound of weeping in her shall be heard, Nor the voice of distress.
- " An infant of days shall no longer be there,
Nor a man who has not filled his time,
But the hundred year old when he dies be a youth,
And the villain a hundred years old be accursed,
Then they shall build houses and dwell ; 21
And plant vineyards and eat of their fruits ;
They shall not build them and others possess,
Nor plant for another to eat. 22
- " Like the days of a tree shall be My People's days,
And My Chosen shall wear out the work of their hands,
Nor labour for smoke, and not breed for a puff, 23
For the Race, and their offspring are blessed by the LORD,
And before they can call I will answer, 24
Whilst they speak, I will hear !
- " Then shall the Wolf and the Lamb feed together, 25
And the Lion eat straw like an Ox,
And the food of the Serpent be dust !—
They shall not injure or hurt," says the LORD,
" On all My Holy Hill."

ODE 68.

The Omnipresence of God.

- Thus says the LORD :— 66
" The Heavens are My Throne, and the Earth My footstool ;—
What is this House which you built as for Me ?
And where is the Place of My rest ?
For My hand made all these, 2
And all these,—they are Mine,"
Says the LORD,
" But I honour the meek, and the gentle in spirit,
Who fear My commands.
- " He who offers an Ox,—but who murders a Man,— 3
For a Lamb,—who presents a hung dog,—
Who offers swine's blood for a gift,
For frankincense blesses an Idol ;—
Such as these who select their own path,
And whose soul in their falsehood delights ;
I too will delight in their woes, 4
And their terror will bring upon them.
For I called but I had no reply,
I spoke,—but they never would hear,—
But did wrong in My sight,
And that which I hated they chose."
- But hear the LORD's promise, you fearing His word,
And report to your brothers, who hate and drive out, 5
That His Power the LORD will display,
And appear to your pleasure, but to their disgrace.

ODE 69.

Promise of a New Birth to Zion.

- A shout sounds from the City, a voice from the Temple,— 6
The LORD's voice is sent out to punish His foes !

- 7 Before she was anguished, she childed,—
Before she had come to her torture,
She brought forth a son!
- 8 Who has heard such a thing?
Who has seen it like that?
For the earth to produce in a day!—
In a moment a Nation be born?
Thus Zion travailed,—thus brought forth her sons!
- 9 "Shall I produce, and not cause to be born?"
Asks the LORD?
"If I cause the birth, why restrain?"
Asks your GOD.
- 10 Be glad with Jerusalem, and laugh all her friends, Bring joy upon joy, all who mourned over her:—
- 11 You shall suck and be fed from her comforting breast;
You shall press out sweet food from her plentiful store!
- 12 For thus says the LORD:—
"Like a river I clothe her in peace,
Wealth of Nations pour out like a brook,
You shall suck and be borne,
And be danced on their knees!
- 13 As a man by his mother is cheered,
I, Myself, will cheer you,
And you in Jerusalem rejoice."
- 14 You shall see, and be glad in your hearts,
And your vigour shall grow like the grass,
And the LORD'S hand be shown to His Servants,
And His wrath to His foes,—
- 15 For, see, the LORD coming like fire,
And His Chariot rush on like the wind,
To send forth His anger in heat,
And His wrath like the flame of a fire;
- 16 For by fire the LORD will decide,
And the whole of mankind by His heat,
And the many the LORD will destroy.
- 17 "Those who give, and devote in the gardens to Akhad,¹ Amongst eaters of flesh of the hog,
Along with the rat and the mouse,
Shall fall," says the LORD,
- 18 "For I know² their plans and their tricks.
"And then I will come to collect all the heathen, and tongues,
Who will stand and shall gaze on My might.
- 19 And I will give to them a Standard,
And send to the Nations in troops,—
To Tarshish, and Pul and to Lud, who draw bows,
To Tubal, and İön, the far distant shores,
Who have not heard My News, and have not seen My Power,
And My Glory will tell to those Tribes;
- 20 And from all the heathen your brothers bring back,

¹ Ch. 66, v. 17. "Akhad" the supposed goddess of the Moon, the Greek "Hecate."

² NOTE.—Ch. 66, v. 18. Following Bp. Lowth and the Chaldee, Arabic and Septuagint versions, I insert the word "know" נָתַן Yoda, to give meaning to the text, where some early copies seemingly omitted it.—F. F.

- On horses and chariots, a gift to the LORD,
 And on waggons, and mules, and on camels,
 To Jerusalem, My Holy Hill,"
 Says the LORD,
 "As Israel's sons bring their gifts,
 On fair trays to the House of the LORD |
- "And from them I will take for My Levites and Priests." 21
 Says the LORD,
 "When I make the New Skies, and New Earth, 22
 To stand before Me," 23
 Says the LORD,
 "So your Name and Race shall abide,
 From New Moon to New Moon,
 And from Sabbath to Sabbath;
 And all men shall bow before Me,"
 Says the LORD,
 "And shall go out and look on the bodies of men, 24
 Who revolted from Me,
 How their worms never die,
 And the fire is not quenched,
 And they are abhorred of mankind!"

END OF THE PROPHECIES OF ISAIAH-BEN-AMAZ,

TRANSLATOR'S NOTE.

The period of Isalah's Prophetic Office ran from B.C. 760 to 608.

JEREMIAH.

1 THE SPEECHES OF JEREMIAH, THE SON OF KHILKIAH,

One of the priests who were in Anathoth, in the district of Benjamin.

2 They were a message from the LORD to him from the times of Josiah-ben-Amon, 3 king of Judah, in the thirteenth year of his reign. They also came in the days of Jhoakim-ben-Joshiah, king of Judah, and at the end of the fifth month of the twelfth year of Zedekiah-ben-Joshiah, king of Judah, at the overthrow of Jerusalem.

4 THUS the message of the EVER-LIVING LORD came to me and said:—

The Appointment as Prophet.

5 "At the time of your formation in the belly I knew you, and at the time you came from the womb, I consecrated you, I appointed you a Preacher to Nations."

6 But I replied, "Almighty LORD, I know not how to speak! for I am a youth."

7 But the EVER-LIVING replied to me:—"Say not 'I am a youth,' for wherever I send, you must go; and all that I command, you must speak.

8 Fear nothing in their presence, for I am with you, to protect," said the 9 LORD. Then the EVER-LIVING extended His hand, and touched my mouth; and the LORD said to me,—

"I have now given your mouth eloquence! See! I have appointed you to-day over nations, and kingdoms; to pull up, and to break down, and to destroy, and to erase;
as well as to build, and to plant."

11 Then a message from the EVER-LIVING came to me, asking, "What do you see, Jeremiah?"

And I replied, "I see the branch of the Watchful tree!"

12 When the EVER-LIVING answered me, "Attend to what you see! For I am watchful over My promises to perform them."

13 But the message of the EVER-LIVING came to me again to ask,
"What do you see?"

When I answered, "I see a steaming boiler, and its mouth is from the north."

Then the LORD replied to me, 14
"From the north all the miseries upon the inhabitants of this country shall be vomited. I will call to all 15 the families of the kingdoms of the north," said the EVER-LIVING, "and they will come, and each one fix its seat before the gates of Jerusalem, and opposite all its surrounding bulwarks, and upon all the hills of Judah. But I will tell you all my 16 decisions against them, because of their many wrongs in deserting me,
and offering incense to other gods, and worshipping the fabrications of their own hands. And for you, gird 17 up your waist, and arise, and speak to them all that I command you, undepressed by their presence, for fear you should be subjected by their station.—For have I not placed 18 Myself to you to-day as a fortified City, with bars of iron and walls of brass against all the country, against the kings or Judah,—against its officers, its priests, and against the people of the land? for they will 19 fight against you, but shall not overpower you, for I am with you," said the LORD, "to protect you!"

A Remonstrance with Judah.

The message of the EVER-LIVING 2
afterwards came to me to say:—

"Go, and proclaim in the ears of 2 Jerusalem, and say, 'Thus says the EVER-LIVING:—I attended you in your infancy; I loved you in your youth; guided you after Me from the desert to a land you had not cultivated, for Israel to dedicate to the EVER-LIVING the first of its products. They devoured them all! Wickedly bad they went at them!" said the EVER-LIVING.

4 Listen, House of Jacob, to the message of the EVER-LIVING, with all the families of the House of Israel! The EVER-LIVING asks this:—

5 "What injustice did your fathers find in Me, that they have removed from Me, and follow after delusions, and deluded themselves? instead of asking, Where is the EVER-LIVING who mounted in company with us from the land of the Egyptians? Who marched with us in the desert, in a country of drought, and snares, in the land of withering and the shadow of death; in the land where no one passes, and no man dwells; whence I brought you to a land of pastures, to eat its fruits and goodness. But you went and defiled My Country, and My Estate, by attaching yourselves to Abominations.

8 "The priests asked not, Where is the EVER-LIVING? or took hold of the Law. They would not teach about Me; and the guardians sinned against Me; and the Preachers preached for Baal; and would not rise up to advance after Me! Therefore I will contend with them," said the EVER-LIVING, "and with the sons of their sons I will contend; for they shall pass over to the isles of the Kithites and look, and mourn in their exile and think much, and examine what came of this changing to heathen gods,—who are not gods. For My people changed for what are worthless. The heavens heard and were astonished at it, and shuddered, wasting away!" said the EVER-LIVING. "For My people twice did evil to Me, They forsook the Spring of Living Water, to dig for themselves wells, broken wells which contain no water—Israel served, with the children of his House, what brought him to become an object of plunder! The tigers roared against him, they uttered their voices, and assailed his country, to desolate his fortified cities, to deprive them of inhabitants. The sons of Nof, also, with Thakhfenes injured your crown.

"But have you not procured it to yourselves? You forsook your EVER-LIVING GOD at the time you went from the path. And now why do you wish for the road to Egypt, to drink the black waters? And why do you wish for the road to Ashur, to drink the water of that well?

"Turn yourself from your sins, and return from your shame, and learn and see how bad, and rebelliously forgetful you are of your EVER-LIVING GOD, and I will not terrify you," said the MIGHTY LORD OF HOSTS, "although from of old you have vexed Me yourselves.

"I withdrew from your vows,—for on every hill-top, and under every leafy tree, was a walk for fornication.

"But I planted you, a perfect vine, from a true stock;—then how is it that you are changed from Me, turning to a wild vine? Even if I wash you with nitre, and polish you with soap, will your faults be removed?" asks the MIGHTY LORD OF HOSTS.

"How can you say, 'I have not polluted myself with the Balites.' Look at your proceedings in the valley!

"I know what you have done in the feasts of Lust, in her depraved ways. You wild ass, used to the desert, drawing your breath in puffs—in the spirit of lust,—who can turn you away? All who seek her will be wearied at the time she feels it. Keep your feet unshod, and your throat for thirst, and say, 'They are no use to me, for I love wantonness and will go after it.'

"The shame of the House of Israel is like the shame of a detected thief. Both they, their kings, nobles, priests and preachers, for they say to wood, 'You are my father,' and to stone, 'You bore us!' while they turn their back, and not their face, to Me. But in the time of distress they cry, 'Arise and save us!'

"Go to your gods whom you have made for yourselves! Let them arise,—if they can save you in the time of your sufferings! For your gods are as many as your towns, Judah!

"Why do you all implore Me, when you have all revolted from Me?" the EVER-LIVING asks. "I flogged your children in vain;—they would not learn. Your own sword has devoured your preachers like a ravaging lion. Search for ages," says the EVER-LIVING. "Have I been a desert to Israel? or a land of darkness? For what do you say to Me, 'Begone from us! We will never more come to You!'

"Can a bride forget her adornments? her beautiful girdle? Yet My People have forgotten Me, numberless times!

"Why do you prepare your way to seek love? Do I need researches to learn your ways, when I find the blood of poor innocent souls upon your skirts, without disarranging them to find it,—for it is on them all!

"'But,' you reply, 'although I have sinned, let the anger turn from me!'

"I will decide about you,—although you say 'I have not sinned!'

"Why do you shuffle so to change your road. You were disappointed in the Egyptians as you were disappointed in Ashur. You will rush out from them with your hands on your face, for the EVER-LIVING will reject those you trust and you will not prosper in them.

"For instance when a man divorces his wife, and she has gone from him to another husband, she can never return to him.—Has not this country wandered, and often whored foully,—so shall she return to Me?" asks the EVER-LIVING.

"You lifted your eyes to the beards to see if there were not fornicators in your path. You stand for them like Arabs in the desert, and pollute the country by your whoredoms and your vices. But many refused, and would not grant the request. Yet with the brow of a whorish woman you refused to be ashamed of yourself.

"Have you not said to Me, 'You are the Gentle Father of my youth. Will He be angry for ever? Will He perpetually retain it?'"

A Denunciation of Israel's Worship of Vice.

The EVER-LIVING also said to me in the days of Josiah, "Have you seen what perverted Israel has done, on the top of every high hill, and under every leafy tree, in whoring there? But I ask her, after having done all that, to return to Me, but she would not return, but glanced slyly at her sister, Judah! Then I determined, that as in every respect perverse Israel had committed adultery, I would divorce her, so I divorced her, but sly Judah, her sister, regarded it not, but went and whored like her! And her whoredoms became more than all, and polluted the country, and defiled the rocks and the woods, but for all that her sly sister Judah did not return to Me with all her heart, but only in deceit!" said the EVER-LIVING.

The EVER-LIVING also said to me, "Perverse Israel was more honest in soul than sly Judah.—Go and proclaim these things to the north, and say, 'Return, perverse Israel,' says the EVER-LIVING, 'I will not darken My face at you. Only return,' says the EVER-LIVING, 'I will not be angry for ever. Only recognize your fault, for you have sinned against your EVER-LIVING GOD and splashed your paths with filth under every leafy tree, and have not listened to My voice,' says the EVER-LIVING. 'Return, you lost children,' says the EVER-LIVING, 'for I will come to you and collect you, one from a town, and two from a family, and will bring you to Zion, and give you thoughtful shepherds, and they will tend you with knowledge and skill. And when it arrives that you increase, and are fruitful in the country in those times,' says the EVER-LIVING, 'they shall no more demand the Ark of the Covenant of the EVER-LIVING, for it shall not come to their heart, and they will not grieve about it, nor be anxious, nor make another.' In that period they shall call Jerusalem the 'THRONE of the LIFE,' and all the Heathen will trust with her on the Name of the EVER-LIVING at Jerusalem, and will no more go after perversities, to suffer from them.

"In those times the House of Judah will march with the House of Israel from the land of the north to the country of Ashur to the estates of their forefathers. And I will reflect where I can put you with your children!—and will give you a beautiful country,—you shall possess splendid armies like the heathen, and I will say, 'I am your Father, call to Me, and do not desert Me.' For exactly like a wife deserting to the wicked, so you have deserted Me, House of Israel," says the EVER-LIVING. "A sound of weeping will be heard from My lips!—Pity My children of Israel, for they have lost their way! They have forgotten their EVER-LIVING GOD! Return, lost children! I will restore you from your wanderings."

The Response of God's Returning Children.

"Here we are!—we will give ourselves to You, for You are our EVER-LIVING GOD. The crowd on the Hills is nothing; is nothing to our EVER-LIVING GOD—the Saviour of Israel! Shame has devoured the work of our fathers from our youth,—their flocks and their herds, their sons and their daughters. We were sleeping with our shame; we lay down with our infamies; for we sinned against our EVER-LIVING GOD,—we and our fathers, from our youth to this day,—and have not listened to the voice of our EVER-LIVING GOD."

The Lord's Answer.

"If Israel will return," the EVER-LIVING says to me, "return. If you remove your filth from My presence, and do not renew it. If you swear 'by the life of the EVER-LIVING' in truth for Justice and Right, and cause the Nations to bless Him, and praise Him."

For the EVER-LIVING says this to the men of Judah, and to Jerusalem, "Plough for yourselves, plough! and fear not in sowing."

"Circumcise yourselves to the EVER-LIVING, and put off the disgrace from your hearts, men of Judah, and inhabitants of Jerusalem, for fear My anger should shoot out like fire: and burn unquenchably, because of your vile practices."

War Foretold to Judah.

"Let them inform Judah and Jerusalem, make them hear, and answer, and sound a trumpet in the country. Let them cry aloud and say, 'Collect and come to the fortified towns. Arise, march to Zion! Fly! Delay not! for I am bringing trouble from the north, and a great crash! A lion comes up from his place to your country to desolate your cities to an illimitable waste!' " Because of this put on sackcloth! Lament, and howl, because the hot anger of the LORD will not turn from us.

"And it shall happen at that time," says the LORD, "the heart of the king, and the heart of his nobles will be desolate; the Priests and the Preachers be astonished, and say, 'Alas! ALMIGHTY LORD! why have You deceived this People, and Jerusalem, saying, Peace shall come to you, when the sword approaches for our life?'"

At that time He will order from the desert a wind with burning lips against this People, against the daughter of My People. Not by spurts, and not by puffs:—a full, howling wind shall go rushing from Me. I also will pronounce their doom!

See! He raises clouds, and whirlwinds for His swift chariot, and eagles for His horses! They are for us! They assail us!

"Jerusalem, wash your heart from sin, that I may save you from the death awaiting your fault in your breast. For a voice informs from Midian, and a report arises from Mount Ephraim. The nations perceive it; the Guards at Jerusalem even hear the comers from the land afar, and they send their voices to the cities of Judah. There are enemies watching around her,—for she rebelled from Me. Your ways, and your proceedings produced these sufferings for you,—for you are a rebel;—diseased to your heart!"

Jeremiah's Lament at the Prospect.

My bowels, my bowels tremble! My heart reels, my heart mourns! I cannot rest for I have heard the voice of a trumpet! Oh, my soul! it is the sound of war. Crash upon crash it roars! For all the open country is destroyed,—suddenly they destroy the tents. Yes, my tent! Till my death I shall see the march! I shall hear the blast of the trumpets!

For my foolish People do not recognise my warnings! They are children of folly! They never reflect! They are wise for evil;—but cannot recognize good!

I looked to the earth, and it was desolate, and saw it convulsed and empty! And to the skies, and there was no light! I looked to the mountains, and saw earthquakes, and all the hills shook! I looked, but there was no man! and all the birds of the

- 26 skies had flown! I looked,—and Karmel was a Desert, and all her villages thrown down,—before the Presence of the EVER-LIVING!—before the anger in His face!
- 27 Then the EVER-LIVING said this:—
- 28 "All the land shall be desolate,—and I will not prevent it. Therefore the earth shall faint, and the skies shall be black,—because I have uttered my intentions, and shall not alter, or turn back from them."
- 29 They come with the tramp of a horse, with the leap of a bow, past every city. They advance in clouds with slings! Every village is abandoned,—there is not a man remaining!
- 30 Now, you harridan,—what will you do?—Though you clothe yourself in scarlet;—though your ornaments are jewels of gold,—though you tear your eyes with paint,—you will beautify yourself in vain! The profligates your soul seeks will despise you!
- 31 For I hear the cry of a childing woman,—the distress of a first birth,—the wail of the bedizened daughter of Zion! She spreads out her hands! "Woe to me now, for my life is exhausted by murderers!"

The Vain Order to Search for an Honest Man.

- 5 "Go about the streets of Jerusalem, and search, and examine, and seek in her squares, if you can find a man,—if there is one who administers justice, seeks truth,—and I will forgive her!—Although they swear by the life of the EVER-LIVING, they swear to deceive!"

The Prophet's Report.

- 3 LORD, are not Your eyes upon truth? You caused them to be punished, but their minds were not afflicted! They refused to accept correction. Their faces are harder than a rock. They refuse to alter!
- 4 Then I thought, These are the low,—they are ignorant,—they cannot know the way of the EVER-LIVING,—the decrees of their GOD. I will go to the great, and speak with them. However, they had simultaneously broken the yoke,—had refused the traces!

The Lord's Answer.

- 6 "Therefore a lion from the forest shall wound them! An evening wolf shall ravage them! A panther lie in wait against their villages; he will tear all who come out, for they multiply their sins, they are strong for their transgressions.

"Can I pardon you for this? Your children forsake Me, and are satisfied with Sham gods, so I will satisfy them! And they commit adultery,—and troop to the brothel. They are prancing fed horses, each neighs after his neighbour's wife!

"Shall I not punish for these practices?" the EVER-LIVING asks. "Even if among the heathen it were the same, would not My soul punish it?"

"Advance to her walls and destroy, and make no repairs! Throw down her battlements, for they are not the LORD'S. For the House of Israel has been falsely false to Me, with the House of Judah," says the EVER-LIVING. "They were false to the EVER-LIVING, and said, 'He is nothing! Trouble will not come upon us, and sword or famine will never arrive!' And the Preachers have no spirit and no message came to them,—they invent it for themselves!

"Therefore," thus says the EVER-LIVING GOD of Hosts, "Because you speak such things, I will make the words of your mouth fire, and this people wood, and will consume them. I will bring upon you a nation from afar, House of Israel," says the EVER-LIVING. "It is a resolute nation from of old. It is a nation that knows not how to turn back, and will not listen to what you say. Their face is like an open grave. They are all heroes; and will devour your harvests, and your bread, and devour your sons and your daughters. And will eat your sheep, and your cattle. It will eat your vines and your figs. It will break your fortified cities, in which you trust, to pieces with the sword. And also in those days," says the EVER-LIVING, "I will not work for you at all, and under them they will come to ask, 'Why has our EVER-LIVING GOD done all this to us?' When you shall reply to them, 'Because you have abandoned Him and served foreign gods in your own country,—therefore you shall serve tyrants in a country not your own.'

"Communicate this to the House of Jacob, and let it be reported to Judah, saying:—'Listen to this, you stupid People,—who have no eyes in your mind, in whom no ear is seen, 20 so they cannot hear.' Could you not see My warning?" asks the EVER-LIVING, "if you had not reeled from My presence? Since I placed the sand as a bound to the sea, by an ancient decree, which it cannot trans-21 gress, but its foaming waves approach, and cannot pass beyond? But for this people, their mind is blind, rebellious, degenerate, and wandering.

22 "Why do they not say to their heart,
 'Let us look to our EVER-LIVING GOD Who gives rain, and sprinkles the latter rain in its season to accomplish the laws of harvest, and He will protect us?'

23 "Their faults restrain them, and their sins hold back from them those 24 benefits. For the wicked are found in My People; they spread nets, they 25 lay traps, they catch men! As a cage is full of birds, so their houses are full of treachery by which they become 26 rich! They are fat, enriched,—they deal in false evidence, they regard no right,—the right of the widow, of the orphan,—and they administer not protection and justice to the poor.
 27 Shall I not punish for these things?"
 says the EVER-LIVING. "Even if heathen did them, would not My soul 28 avenge them?"

29 "There is a shameful and horrible 30 thing in the country! The Preachers preach falsehood, and the Priests trick with their hands,—and My People love to have it so,—and what can be done viler than that?"

A Warning to Benjamin.

31 Strengthen yourselves, sons of Benjamin, on the walls of Jerusalem, and blow aloud with the trumpet, and hoist a standard over the Castle of Olives, for trouble appears from the 32 north, with a great crash! My idle, delicate, and tender daughter of 33 Zion! Misery and desolation comes on you! They pitch their tents around you! each at the side of his 34 mate! They proclaim war against her, they mount and go up to the forts! Woe for us!—for the day turns!—for the dark shadows extend!
 35 They rise up by night and destroy her palaces!

36 For thus says the LORD OF HOSTS,
 "Cut timber, and pile up an embankment against Jerusalem. It is a city 37 crammed with wrong in its breast.
 As a spring pours out water, so she pours out wrong-doing; violence and plunder are heard in her; wounding and murder are always before Me!

 Return to Me, Jerusalem, lest My 8 soul becomes sick of you!—for fear I should make you a desert,—a land where no one dwells!"

Thus says the LORD OF HOSTS, 9
 "Glean, glean the remnant of Israel like a vine! Turn your hand like a grape-picker over the boughs."

The Prophet.

To whom shall I speak, and give 10 instructions, that they will hear?
 See! They have artificial ears, that cannot listen! The word of the EVER-LIVING has become their scorn; they have no pleasure in it!
 Therefore I am full of the spirit of 11 the EVER-LIVING. I am unable to restrain myself.

The Lord.

"Pour it out upon the children in the street, and upon the crowd of youths, at once, for the Man and the Woman shall be captured with the old man who is full of days! And 12 their homes shall be transferred to strangers, with their lands and their wives, for I will extend My hand against this country," says the EVER-LIVING, "and from 13 the least to the greatest they shall all be plundered! for from the Preacher to the Priest, they are all false! And the fragments of My 14 People shall be scattered in shame, —for crying 'Peace! Peace!' when there is no peace! Were they 15 honoured when they acted disgrace-fully? Nay! they were not ashamed of shame, any of them,—they would not recognize it,—therefore they shall fall when they are attacked,—they shall fall and totter at the hour of punishment!" says the EVER-LIVING.

A Plea to Israel to Repent.

Thus said the EVER-LIVING, 16
 "Stand in the roads, and examine, and enquire in the old paths, which is the best way, and walk in it, and find comfort to your lives." But they replied, "We will not walk
 there!"

"Then I appointed watchmen over 17 them, to make them listen to the voice of the trumpet. But they replied, 'We will not listen.' There- 18 fore hear the heathen, and recognize

- the proof of what has come upon you! Let the land hear! See! I will bring misery upon this People,—the fruit of their thoughts,—because they would not listen to My words, and rejected My laws.
- 20 "Why do you bring frankincense to Me from Sheba, and cinnamon from a distant land? Your burnt-offerings please not, and I cannot accept your sacrifices. Therefore,"
- 21 the EVER-LIVING adds, "I will give this People to the Kasdim, and they shall fall by them, fathers and children together,—the host and his friend shall perish."
- 22 Thus says the EVER-LIVING, "Look! a People come from a northern land! and a Great Nation appears from a distant country!"
- 23 They are mighty with bows and arrows; they are bold and without mercy; their voice is like the roaring sea, and they ride upon horses, prepared as men of war against you, O Daughter of Zion!"

The Prophet's Comment.

- 21 On hearing the report of them our hands faint! We are distressed and anguished as in the anguish of childbirth! Go not to the field,—walk not on the roads,—for there the sword of the enemy affrights.
- 26 Daughter of my People, gird on sackcloth! roll in the dust. Weak! Forsaken! place yourself with the wretched weepers,—for the plunderer comes suddenly on us!

The Lord's Reply to him.

- 27 "I will make you a beacon to My People; a pillar and guide-post, and you shall point out their path. They are all sullen mutineers,—they go on complaining, they are all brass and iron,—they have corrupted themselves. The bellows snort on the lead in vain, in their fire,—it refuses,—it refuses, but their dross will not go! Their silver is sick, they cry! For the EVER-LIVING has been sickened by them!"

A Special Call to Repentance.

- 7 This message came from the LORD to Jeremiah, to say:—
- 2 "Stand at the gate of the House of the EVER-LIVING, and proclaim this message there, and say:—
- "Listen to the message from the EVER-LIVING, all Judah who come to these gates to worship the EVER-LIVING. Thus says the LORD of 3 HOSTS, the GOD of Israel! Amend your ways, and your paths, and I will allow you to remain in this place. Place not your trust upon lying 4 messengers that say, 'This is a Temple of the LORD!' The Temple of the LORD.' For if you reform 5 your ways and your goings,—if you do justice between a man and his neighbour, if you do not oppress the foreigner, the orphan, and 6 widow; if you do not shed innocent blood in this place, and follow seducing gods to your own hurt, then I will 7 settle you in this place for ever and for ever. You, however, trust yourselves 8 to false doctrines that cannot benefit. You steal, murder, whore, gorge, and 9 lie, and offer incense to Baal,—and go after seducing gods of whom you know nothing.

"Yet you come and stand before 10 this House, upon which My Name has been invoked, and say, 'Deliver us because we have practised all these abominations!'

"Has this House, upon which My 11 Name was invoked, become a den of wild beasts in your eyes? Have I become a show also?" the EVER-LIVING asks. "Go, however, now to 12 My House at Shilo, where I fixed My NAME formerly, and see what I did to it, because of the wickedness of My People Israel. And certainly 13 you now have done all that they did," says the EVER-LIVING, "and I have spoken to you early, and still speak,—but you will not hear,—and I call to you but you will not answer. Therefore 14 I will make this House, upon which My NAME has been invoked,—upon which you rely,—and the House that I gave you, and your fathers, what I have made Shilo! And I will fling 15 you from My presence, as I flung your brothers, the whole Tribe of Ephraim.

"And for yourself, do not suppli- 16 cate for this People, and do not raise on their account a cry or prayer, and entreat Me not, (or I will not hear you! Have you not seen what they 17 do in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem? The children 18 gather wood, and their fathers are stokers of the fire, and their wives knead the dough, to make cakes to the 'Queen of the Skies!' And they pour drink offerings to the 'Gods of Seduction!' They insult Me thus! Do they insult Me?" asks the EVER-LIVING. "Do they not shame themselves openly?"

"Therefore," thus says the ALMIGHTY LORD, "My anger and wrath shall be poured out upon this place,—upon man, and upon beast; and upon the trees of the field; and upon the fruits of the ground, and shall not be quenched."

The EVER-LIVING also says this; "Cease your burnt-offerings, with your sacrifices, and eating of flesh, for did I not speak to your ancestors and did I not command them, at the time they came out from the land of the Mitzeraim, about the matters of burnt-offering and sacrifice? Nevertheless I commanded them this message, saying, 'Listen to My voice, and I will be a GOD to you, and you shall be My People. But walk in all the paths that I instruct you;—because it will benefit yourselves.' But you would not listen, nor apply your ears, and you walked after your own bad ideas and rules;—therefore you are the last, and not the first, from the day your ancestors came from the land of the Mitzeraim to this day! Although I sent all My servants, the Preachers,—rising and sending at early dawn,—but you would not listen to Me, nor apply your ears, but stiffened your neck;—you were bad like your ancestors!"

"But although you address to them all these speeches, yet they will never listen to you,—when you call to them, they will not answer you; therefore say to them, 'This is a nation that will not listen to the voice of its EVER-LIVING GOD, and will not accept correction,—whose faithfulness has perished! Therefore I will cut them off from My Presence.'"

Jeremiah Proclaims the Message as Ordered.

Cut off your long hair, and fling it away! Mourn the heights. Weep! for the EVER-LIVING has rejected and abandoned this perverse race! "Because the Children of Judah have done evil in My sight," says the EVER-LIVING. "They have placed their abominations in the House, upon which my NAME was invoked, to defile it. And they have built columns at Thopheth in the vale of Ben-hinon, burning their sons and their daughters in the fire,—although I commanded them not,—and not to let it enter their hearts.

"Therefore the days come," says the LORD, "when it shall no more be called Thopheth, and the vale of Ben-hinon, but only the VALLEY OF MURDER,—and they shall bury in Thopheth for want of other room; when the carcasses of this People shall be food to the birds of the skies, and the beasts of the earth, without fear. And I will expel from the cities of Judah, and from the streets of Jerusalem the sound of joy, and the sound of happiness, the sound of wedding, and the sound of dying,—for the land shall be a desert!"

"At that period," says the EVER-LIVING, "they will bring out the bones of the kings of Judah, and the bones of its nobles, and the bones of its priests, and the bones of its preachers, and the bones of the inhabitants of Jerusalem, from their tombs, and scatter them to the sun, and the moon, and all the host of the skies, whom they loved, and whom they served, and by whom they were seduced, and whom they sought, and whom they worshipped,—none shall collect them, and none shall bury them,—they shall be dung on the face of the ground. Then death will be preferred to life by all the fragments of the remnants of this wicked tribe in every place where the splintered fragments are," says the LORD OF HOSTS.

"Therefore tell them thus," says the EVER-LIVING. "Does the fallen never rise? Does the departed never return? Then why has this People of Jerusalem gone away with a perpetual departure? Why do they persist in desertion, and refuse to return? I attended and listened. However none spoke. No man sighed over his wickedness, or said, 'Why did I do it?' They all stuck to their course like horses whipped to the battle!"

"Even the stork knows her time for assembly and migration, and the crane and swallow keep the season of their coming, but My People know not the decrees of the EVER-LIVING.

"How can you say 'We are educated for we possess the laws of the EVER-LIVING?' Why then is the lying pen of the Recorder made for 9 lies? Your 'Educated' causeshame, terror and disgrace,—for they reject the Word of the EVER-LIVING, and what can their education do for them?

 10 —Therefore I will give their wives to ravishers, and their estates to plunderers, for from the least to the greatest they all cheat. From the preacher to the priest they all practise 11 deception, and have healed the wound of the Daughter of My People not well,—saying, Peace, Peace!
 12 when there is not peace! They should be ashamed of the villainy they have done. Shame, however, shames them not,—none of them know it,—therefore they shall fall with the falling, at the time of their punishment they shall stagger," says
 the EVER-LIVING.
 13 "I would reap them," says the EVER-LIVING, "but there are no bunches on the vine! There are no figs on the fig tree! And the leaves are withered! However I will transplant them."

The People's Decision.

14 Why should we remain? Collect, arise, and let us go to the fortified towns, and be quiet there, for our EVER-LIVING GOD has stupefied us, and given us the juice of poppies to drink for our sins against the EVER-15 LIVING. We hoped for peace,—but no good came at its season, for 16 safety, and behold terror! The snort of his horses is heard from Dan,— the sound of the neighs of their steeds fills all the land.

God's Reply.

17 "But they shall cross and devour, the country and its contents;—the city and its inhabitants. For I have sent snakes to you, serpents for whom there is no charmer, and they will sting you," says the EVER-LIVING.

The Prophet's Anguish over his Country.

18 Instead of my joy comes anguish, 19 —affliction comes to my heart! It is the sound of the wail of the child of my People from a distant land!
 "Is there no GOD in Zion? Is there no king in her?"

Why did they provoke Him with their idols? With foreign vanities?
 20 The harvest is past,—the reaping is done,—but we are not relieved. I 21 have been wounded by the wound of the child of my People;—I am weakened where I should be strengthened. Is there no balm in Gilad 22 to heal? Is there no surgeon there?

 Why has not the child of my People gone there?

Who will give water to my head, 23
 and a fountain of tears to my eyes, that I may weep day and night for the wounds of the child of my People!

Who will give me a lodge in the 24 desert afar, that I may leave my People and go from them? For all are adulterers, secret traitors. They 25 direct their tongue, like a bow, to lies,—and not to truth. "They proceed from wrong to wrong, and they regard me not!" says the EVER-LIVING.

Guard yourselves everyone from 3 his friend, and trust not upon any brother,—for every brother will betray, and every friend will recoil upon you. And each betrays his 4 friend, and they speak no truth.
 They teach their tongue to speak falsehood, they labour at wickedness.
 "You dwell in the midst of treason; 5
 —from treason they refuse to recognize Me," says the EVER-LIVING.

God's Reply to the Prophet—Why He Punishes.

"Therefore," says the LORD OF 6 HOSTS, "I refine them thus, and test them. For what can I do for the daughter of My People? Their 7 tongue is a poisoned arrow,—they speak treason from their mouth, they speak kindly to their neighbour, with betrayal in their breast! Should I 8 not punish them for these things?"
 says the EVER-LIVING. "If the heathen did the same, would not My soul avenge them?"

Jeremiah Mourns for his Country.

I weep over the hills and sob, and 9 wail over the pastures of the plain, for they are desolate! No man passes over them. The voice of the flocks is not heard, or of the birds of the skies, and even the beasts have fled and gone!

God Confirms His Intention to Punish.

"Yet I will give Jerusalem for 10
 stone heaps,—a haunt for serpents,

- and I will lay the cities of Judah desolate, without an inhabitant!
- 11 Who is the wise man? He can foresee this. And who has the message of the EVER-LIVING within him? He can tell why the country is waste, scorched like a desert, with none passing through!"
- 12 Then the EVER-LIVING continued, "It is because they have abandoned My laws that I placed before them, and have not listened to My voice, and have not walked according to it, but go after their own ideas, and after Balim, as their fathers taught them." Therefore thus says the LORD OF HOSTS, the GOD of Israel, "I will feed this People with affliction, and give them laudanum to drink, and will scatter them among the heathen whom they or their fathers have not known, and will send a sword after them to destroy!"
- 16 And the LORD OF HOSTS says, "Reflect! and call for the wailers, and let them come; and send for the skilful, and fetch them." Let them hasten, and raise over us a lament, and let our eyes pour tears, and our eyelids well out water! for a sound of wailing is heard from Zion! Are we not plundered,—debased,—deeply debased; for the country rejects us,—our homes cast us out!
- 19 Listen, however, you women to the message of the EVER-LIVING, and let your ears accept the words of His mouth, and teach your daughters to lament, and the wife of your neighbour to wail, for death has mounted to our windows, has entered our palaces, to destroy the children in the streets,—the young men from the squares! "Say thus," says the LORD, "Men shall fall like dung on the face of the field, and like sheaves after the mower, and none collect them!"
- 22 Thus says the LORD, "Let not the scientific glory in their science, nor the strong in his strength,—let not the rich glory in their wealth, but if they boast, let them boast in understanding and comprehending My wonders;—for I, the EVER-LIVING, made mercy, justice, and righteousness, on earth,—and I delight in them," says the EVER-LIVING.
- 24 "Behold the days come," says the EVER-LIVING, "when I will punish all the circumcised with the uncircumcised! Mitzer, and Judah, and Edom, and all the Beni Amon, and Moab, and all the shaven cheeks who inhabit the desert;—for all the heathen, and all the House of Israel are corrupt at heart."

A Message to Israel.

Listen to the message that the 10 EVER-LIVING addresses to you, House of Israel. Thus says the EVER-2 LIVING:—

"Learn not the ways of the heathen, and fear not the constellations of the skies, although the heathen fear them! For the fancies 3 of the pagans are vain;—only timber from the forest, cut and formed by the hand of a carpenter with an axe! They are plated with silver and 4 gold; fixed with nails and hammers, so that they may not totter!" 5 They are as stiff as a palm tree, and cannot speak; they are carried, for they cannot march; they cannot foresee,—for they perceive nothing, and there is no intellect in them!"

They are not like YOU,—great 6 EVER-LIVING CREATOR! For Your NAME is great in power! Who 7 would not reverence YOU, King of Nations? whom You produced for Yourself,—for in all the ideals of the heathen, and in all their governors, there is none like YOU. They are 8 everyone stupid and silly; the result of fantastic thought! Plated with 9 silver from Tharshish, and gold from Aufer;—the work of the carpenter and the hands of the smith. Clothed in blue and purple, all made by mechanics! But our EVER-LIVING 10 GOD is Truth! He is the GOD OF LIFE, and reigns for ever! At His anger the earth trembles, and the nations cannot resist His wrath! 11

He made the earth by His power, 12 He formed its orbit by His skill, and by His intelligence He constructed the skies. At His uttered voice the 13 waters of the skies patter, the vapours arise from the horizon! He makes lightnings with the rain, and He brings the wind out of His treasury! How stupid men are not to learn! 14

1 NOTE.—Ch. 10, v. 11.

Therefore say this to them; These gods, 11 who made neither heaven nor earth, shall perish from below, and from under the sky.

This verse is in Chaldee, not Hebrew, and is probably a commentator's note copied from the margin into the text by some scribe, for it breaks the sense. I, therefore, place it as a note at the page foot.—F. F.

Every founder is more degraded than his statue! For he casts a falsehood, with no breath in it! They are vanity! Contemptible products! In the season of trial they fail!—The Inheritance of Jacob is not like them! For He formed all;—and Israel is the standard of His estate;—Whose Name is the LORD of HOSTS.

The Decree of Expatriation.

17 Take up your pack from the ground, you who endure the siege!—
18 For thus says the LORD,
"I will sling the inhabitants of this country with a hurl, and distress them, so that they may feel it!"

The Wail of Judah in Captivity.

19 "Oh! me! for my broken condition from my wound!" Then I said, "This is sickness, and I must bear it! My home is desolate! All my relations are taken away! My children have gone and are not! I can never erect my home again, nor stretch my curtains! For the Shepherds are stupid, and seek not the EVER-LIVING, they never reflect, so all their flock is scattered."
22 A sound is heard;—see! they come with a great rush from the north country, to turn the cities of Judah into a desolate den of serpents.
23 I know, EVER-LIVING, that man directs not himself,—man cannot go and direct his own steps! Instruct me, EVER-LIVING, not with condemnation, nor in Your anger, for fear You depress me. Pour out Your wrath on the heathen who regard You not, and upon the tongues who call not upon Your Name, for they devour Jacob, and destroy him, and desolate his home.

The Punishment for Disregarding God's Laws.

11 The message which came to Jeremiah from the EVER-LIVING to say:—
2 "Listen to the words of this Covenant, and report them to the men of Judah, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem. Say to them—Thus says the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel. Let the man be accursed who will not listen to the words of this 4 Covenant, which I commanded to your ancestors at the time I brought them out of the land of the Mitzeraim, from the iron furnaces, with the command, to listen to My voice, and practise all that I instructed you, then you shall be My People, and I will be your GOD, and I will confirm 5 the oath that I swore to your ancestors, to give them a land flowing with milk and honey, as it does now."

Then I answered and said, "It is true, EVER-LIVING." And the EVER-LIVING replied to me:—

"Proclaim all these messages in the Cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem, exclaiming;—

"Listen to the words of this Covenant, and practise them! For 7 I gave your ancestors evidence, at the time I brought them up from the land of the Mitzeraim, to this day, early and late, saying, 'Listen to My voice!' But they would not listen, 8 nor incline their ears, but everyone followed the fancies of his wicked heart. Therefore I will bring upon them every sentence of that Covenant which I commanded them to practise,—but they did not."

The EVER-LIVING also said to me, 9 "I have found falsehood in the men of Judah, and in the inhabitants of Jerusalem. They turn to the old 10 faults of their fathers, who refused to listen to My message, and they go after seducing gods, to serve them. The House of Israel and the House of Judah have broken the Covenant which I made with their ancestors.

"Therefore," thus says the EVER-LIVING, "I will bring suffering upon them, from which they will not be able to escape, when they will cry to Me, but I will not hear them. 12 Then the cities of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem will go and shriek to the gods to whom they offer incense; but they cannot save them in their time of distress! although your gods are as many as your villages, 13 Judah! and more than the number of streets in Jerusalem are the altars you erect for them—altars to your shame—to burn incense to Bal! Now you, intercede not for this 14 People, and raise up no cry or prayer; but I will hear at the time they themselves cry to Me in the period of their sorrows.

"What has My love to do in My 15 house? She has sinned often, and purity has passed away from you. Whenever you sin you rejoice! The 16

EVER-LIVING planted you, when a green fair olive, with beautiful fruit. With the roar of a great crowd He sets you on fire, and destroys your boughs! And the LORD of HOSTS, Who planted, has caused a bad report to come upon you, because of the sins of the House of Israel and the House of Judah which they have committed, insulting Me by burning incense to Bal."

Upon a Conspiracy to Murder the Prophet.

- 18 When the EVER-LIVING informed me of it I knew and saw their conspiracies. But I was like a gentle lamb led out for slaughter, and knew nothing how they had contrived plots against me, to make an assault, and to cut off from the land of the living and my name from every memory.
- 20 But, LORD OF HOSTS, judge rightly their secret thoughts and heart! I shall see vengeance upon them! For I have displayed my cause to You.
- 21 Therefore the EVER-LIVING says thus to the men of Anathoth who sought your life, who say, "Preach not in the name of the EVER-LIVING! Then you will not die by our hands."
- 22 The LORD of HOSTS, however, says this;—"I will repay them! Their youths shall die by the sword, their sons and daughters shall die from hunger, and not a remnant shall be left to them, for I will bring evil upon the men of Anathoth, in the year of their punishment."
- 12 O EVER-LIVING, You are righteous, therefore I will appeal to You. Yes! I will discuss with You. Why do the wicked prosper,—all the treacherous traitors? They are planted and take root, they grow up and produce fruit,—You are close to their mouths—but their thoughts are far from You. But You, EVER-LIVING, know, You see and prove my heart by Yourself. Pull them out like sheep for slaughter, and consign to the day of killing!
- 4 How long shall the country faint and the grass of all the field wither,—for the wickedness of its inhabitants? The cattle and the fowls perish. Yet they say, "We shall not see the last of them!"
- 5 If you have run with the footmen, and are panting,—how will you turn with the horsemen? Although you are safe in a peaceful country;—yet what will you do in the floods of the Jordan? If with your brothers, and in the house of your father, they betray you;—if they call after to seize you;—trust them not when they speak fair to you.

The Lord's Disgust at Israel.

I have forsaken My house! I have 7 abandoned My estate! I have given the darling of My soul to the hand of her enemies! My inheritance has 8 become like a lion in the forest, she has raised her voice against Me,—so I hate her. My inheritance is a 9 wild hyena to Me. Wild beasts surround her! They go, they collect all the beasts of the field, they bring them to devour!

Many guards have spoiled My 10 vineyard. They have trampled its beds, they have made My beautiful beds a desolate desert. They have 11 desolated her grass-plots,—they desolate all the land, yet no one lays it to heart. Ravagers have gone to 12 all the smooth pastures, for the sword of the LORD devours from one edge of the country to the other edge of the land,—there is no peace for anyone.

They have sown wheat and reaped 13 thorns; they have no result; and are ashamed of their produce; because the anger of the LORD burns.

Promise of Adoption Offered to the Heathen.

Thus says the LORD, "To all 14 the bad neighbours of My Inheritance, that I have allowed My People Israel to possess, I will pull them off their land, and pull the House of Judah from among them. And it 15 shall happen after I have pulled them up, I will turn and have pity upon them, and restore them each to his homestead and each to his district. But then if they learn the way of My 16 People, teaching themselves to swear by My Name, 'By the life of the EVER-LIVING,' as they taught My People to swear by Bal, they shall be built into the midst of My People. But if they will not listen, then I will 17 pull up those Nations, and destroy them," says the EVER-LIVING.

The Parable of the Girdle.

The EVER-LIVING said this to me, 13 "Go and buy yourself a linen girdle,

- and put it round your waist,—but let it not go into water."
- 2 I consequently bought the girdle as the EVER-LIVING commanded, and
- 3 put it round my waist. Then the EVER-LIVING spoke to me again to say:—
- 4 "Take the girdle you bought, which is upon your waist, and rise, go to the Frath¹ and hide it there in the cleft of a rock."
- 5 I therefore went and hid it by the Frath as the EVER-LIVING had commanded me. And at the end of a considerable time the EVER-LIVING said to me, "Get up, and go to the Frath, and bring from there the linen girdle that the EVER-LIVING ordered you to hide there."
- 7 So I went to the Frath and dug, and took the linen girdle from the place where I had hidden it,—and saw that the linen was spoiled, and
- 8 fit for nothing. Then the word of the EVER-LIVING came to me to say:—
- 9 "Thus says the EVER-LIVING, I will spoil the pride of Judah, and the many boasts of Jerusalem like that! This vile People, who refuse to listen to My words, and go on in their own ideas, and walk after seducing gods, to serve and to worship them,—shall become like that girdle.
- 11 For as the girdle sticks to the waist of a man, so I wished to cause the whole house of Israel, and the whole house of Judah to stick to Me," said the EVER-LIVING, "for them to be My People, and Fame, and Glory, and Honour;—but they would not attend. Therefore say this to them, Thus says the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel, 'Every bottle can be filled with wine!'
- "When they will say to you, 'Are we not aware that every bottle can be filled with wine?'
- 13 "Then say to them:—' Thus says the EVER-LIVING: I will fill all the inhabitants of this land, and the kings sitting on David's throne, with the Priests, and the Preachers, and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, to drunkenness, when a man will assail his brother, and fathers their children indiscriminately,'" said the EVER-LIVING. "I will not pity, nor spare, nor have mercy to relieve them."

¹ Euphrates.

The Prophet calls to Repentance.

Be not too proud to listen and hear,—for the EVER-LIVING speaks. Give honour to your EVER-LIVING GOD, before it is dark, and before your feet stumble on the hills of twilight, and you long for light,—but there is only desolation with the Shadow of Death, in the realm of gloom! But if you will not listen, my soul will weep in secret for your pride, and my eyes drop down tears, because the flock of the EVER-LIVING will be captured!

Say to the king and his nobles, "Reflect! Turn! Throw down the beautiful turbans from your heads! The cities of the south are shut up, and there is none to open,—Judah is a captive; all Jerusalem is a captive!"

Raise your eyes and see! They come from the north!—Where is the flock entrusted to you?—Your beautiful sheep? What can you reply when He enquires of you? when you have instructed them against yourself, teaching to resist? Will not torments seize you like a woman in labour?

The Lord's Address resumed.

"But if you say to your heart, 'Why have these come?' For your many passions, your skirts are stripped violently from your heels.

"Can the Kushite change his skin? or the leopard his spots? Then you will be able to do good,—who are accustomed to do evil! Therefore I will scatter them like stubble running before the wind to the desert! This is their destined fate from Me," says the EVER-LIVING, "for those who reject Me, and rely upon falsehood. So I also will turn your petticoats over your face, and your shame shall be seen! I have seen your adulteries and neighings, your brothels contrived on the hills in the fields,—your abominations,—like to you, Jerusalem! You will not purify yourself!—How long will it last?"

The Great Drought described.

This was the message from the EVER-LIVING that came to Jeremiah about the drought.

"Judah faints and her gates languish! They mourn in the country, and wailings go up from Jerusalem! They send their little children to the waters,—they go to the wells,—they find no water! They all return empty, ashamed, depressed, with veiled heads! Fire sweeps over the ground;—for there are no showers on the earth;—the meadows are ashamed,—they cover their heads, for even the deer in the field bears young, and deserts it, for there is no herbage! The wild asses stand on the hill-tops sniffing the wind,—their eyes are all like serpents', for they have no gras.]"

Jeremiah Prays for his Country.

- 7 Although our faults witness against you, O EVER-LIVING, intervene for Your NAME'S sake. Although we have sinned by often deserting you.
- 8 Hope of Israel! save him in the period of distress! Why are You like a stranger to the land? And like a traveller staying to lodge? Why are You like a defeated man? Like a hero, unable to conquer? Yet You, EVER-LIVING, are near us, and Your NAME is over us. We call but You comfort us not!
- 10 Then the EVER-LIVING said about this People, "Because they love their feet to wander unrestrained, the EVER-LIVING does not approve them. Now He will remember their faults, and punish their sins." The EVER-LIVING also said to me, "Pray not for the benefit of this People! When they fast, I will not hear their cries; and when they offer burnt-offering, and gifts, I will not accept them, for by sword and famine and plague I will destroy them."
- 13 Then I replied, "Ah! ALMIGHTY LORD, you perceive the Preachers tell them, 'They will not see a sword, and that famine will not come on them.' But 'I will give you true peace in this place, all of you.'"
- 14 The EVER-LIVING, however, replied to me, "Those Preachers preach lies in My Name. I never sent them! I have not commanded or spoken to them. They preach to you a false vision,—a pagan lie,—and the invention of their own hearts! Therefore," says the EVER-LIVING, "to the Preachers who preach in My NAME, and whom I have not sent, and who say, 'Sword and famine shall not come to this country,' those Preachers themselves shall be killed by sword and famine! And the People they preach to shall be refuse in the streets of Jerusalem, before the sword and the famine,—with none to bury them,—they or their wives, or their sons, or their daughters; and their wickedness shall be poured over them. Therefore address this message to 17 them, 'My eyes shall pour tears night and day and not cease for the great shock that has shaken the maiden, the daughter of My People, wounding her so much! If I go to the fields,— 18 there I see the piercing sword! If I come to the city, I there see wasting of famine! For the Preacher and the Priest alike trade on the country, and acknowledge it not! "

The Prophet's Plea to God for Israel.

Have You totally rejected Judah? 19 Has Your soul loathed Zion? Why have You wounded us when we have no physician? And so suddenly? We acknowledge, EVER-LIVING, we 20 have sinned with the faults of our forefathers,—for we have sinned against You! Despise us not, for the 21 sake of Your NAME! Degrade not Your Majestic Throne! Remember not the breach of Your Covenant against us! Can any of the phan- 22 tasms of the heathen give rain? Can the skies give plenty? Is it not You alone, our EVER-LIVING GOD? and we hope in You, for You produce all those.

But the EVER-LIVING replied to me, 15 "If Moses and Samuel stood before Me, yet My soul would not be with this People.—Send them from My presence! Let them go out! But if 2 they say to you, 'Where shall we go?' then you shall say to them, 'Thus says the EVER-LIVING: Whoever is for death to death, and whoever is for the sword to the sword, and whoever is for the famine to the famine, and whoever is for captivity to captivity.' For I will appoint four 3 families over them," the EVER-LIVING said. "The sword to murder, and the dogs to tear; and the birds of the skies, and the beasts of the field to devour and destroy! I will also 4 give them to be shaken out to all the kingdoms of the earth, on account of Manasseh the son of Hezekiah, king of Judah, because of all he did in Jerusalem. For who will pity you, 5 Jerusalem? And who will console you? And who will turn to wish your health? You have abandoned 6 Me," says the EVER-LIVING, "you have deserted,—therefore I point at you, and strip you, and hate pitying you! So I will winnow you with a winnower from the gates of the country,—I will sling out,—I will destroy My People! Yet they will not return from their ways. I have made their widows more numerous than the sands of the seas. I have allowed outrage on the mother of young men, in open day; I have driven anguish and terror on her suddenly! The mother of seven languishes; the breath of her life has gone! Her sun has set while it is day! She is disgraced and scorned! But I will give the remainder to the sword,—to the face of their enemies," says the EVER-LIVING.

The Prophet's Cry of Despair.

10 Alas, for me, my mother! You have borne me a man of strife, and a man of doom to all the land! I have not borrowed, nor have I lent on usury;—yet all curse me!
11 However the EVER-LIVING said, "Will I not beneficently release? Will I not intercede for you yourself with the enemy in the bad time,—the time of distress? Can iron break a weapon made from the northern steel?"
13 "I will expose your power and treasures to plunder, not to sale! because of all your idols in all your boundaries. And they shall be taken away by your enemies to an unknown land, for a fire burns in My anger, kindled against you."

Jeremiah Prays for Himself for Protection.

15 EVER-LIVING, You know! Remember and visit me, and avenge me upon my persecutors! Repel me not in Your anger! Support me! You know I am reproached on account of You. I found Your words and devoured them, and Your words were sweet and pleasant to my heart,—for Your NAME was fixed upon me,—
17 EVER-LIVING GOD OF HOSTS! I have not sat in the company of the joyous;—but felt pleasure at Your side,—I sat solitary because You filled me with indignation. Why is my misery perpetual? and my wound incurable? refusing to be healed? Why are You like failing, unstable waters?

Then the LORD replied, "If you will return,—then I will restore you to stand before Me. And if you sort out the worthless from the valuable, you shall be like My mouth,—they will come to you,—and you need not go to them. I will also make for you a wall of brass as a defence against this People;—they may fight against you,—but they shall not overpower you, for I will be there to save and deliver you," said the EVER-LIVING. "I will also deliver you from the hand of the wicked, and redeem you from the hand of the terrible."

The Prophet forbidden to Marry.

Again, the message of the EVER-LIVING came to me to say:—
"You shall not take a wife, nor shall you have sons and daughters in this place. For," thus said the EVER-LIVING, "upon the sons and the daughters that are born in this place, and upon the mothers who bore them, and upon the fathers who caused their birth in this land, I will inflict sickening deaths. They shall die unmourned, and lie unburied on the face of the ground like dung! They shall end by sword and famine, and their corpses shall be food for the fowls of the sky, and the beasts of the earth."

Thus said the EVER-LIVING:—
"Enter not the House of Weeping,—nor go to a burial, nor mourn for them, for I will remove Peace from this People," said the EVER-LIVING, "with Mercy and Pity. Both the little and great in this land shall die,—they shall not be buried,—they shall not be mourned or lamented, nor shorn for, nor shaven. They shall not distribute the bread of grief to comfort themselves over the dead, nor drink the cup of consolation for their father and mother."
"Neither enter the House of Feasting to sit with them, to eat and drink, for thus says the LORD OF HOSTS, the GOD of Israel,—I will cause the sound of joy and gladness, and the voice of the bridegroom and bride to cease from this place, in your sight and in your days. But when you relate to this People all these things, and they ask you, 'For what object does the EVER-LIVING speak to us about all this great misery? What is our fault? and what is the sin which we have sinned against our

- 11 EVER-LIVING GOD? 'You shall then answer them, 'Because your fathers abandoned Me," says the EVER-LIVING, "and went after seducing gods, and served and worshipped them,—rejecting Me, and not keeping
- 12 My laws.—You also have done wrong in doing like your fathers,—for, see! you each follow the ideas of your wicked hearts, and never listen to
- 13 Me! So I will throw you out of this land to a land unknown to you and your fathers, and there you can serve these seducing gods, day and night, where I will show you no favour.
- 14 Therefore, look! the days come," says the EVER-LIVING, "when they will no more say, 'By the life of the EVER-LIVING Who brought the children of Israel from the land of the Mitzeraim,' but 'By the life of the EVER-LIVING Who brought the children of Israel from the north, and from all the countries where He drove them, and Who restored them to the land of their fathers.'

Israel's Return Promised.

- 16 "I will send many fishermen," says the EVER-LIVING, "who will fish for them; and after them I will send many hunters, who will hunt them upon every hill, and upon every
- 17 mount and cliff, and crag; for My eyes are over all their courses,—they are not hidden from Me,—and their faults are not concealed from My
- 18 sight. But I will first repay their faults and their sins upon them double, because they have polluted My land with their filthy carcasses, and filled my Inheritance with their abominations."

The Heathen will come to Seek for God.

EVER-LIVING! my strength, and 19 power, and consolation in the day of distress! The heathen shall come to You from the bounds of the earth, and say; "Our forefathers inherited only Falsehood and Delusion, in whom there is no helpfulness. Can 20 mankind make themselves gods,—when they are not gods?" I will, 21 however, instruct them at that time,—I will teach them My Power and Might,—and they will know that My NAME is The ETERNAL!

The Record of the Sins of Judah.

The sins of Judah are written with 17 an iron pen, engraved with a diamond point on the tablet of their heart, and upon the horns of their altar! Your children remember them;— 2 with your shrines under the leafy trees, on the tops of the hills! My 3 Highland fields! I will give your wealth, all your treasures to plunder! with your castles of sin in all your borders. And you shall break your- 4 selves loose from the estate that I gave you, and enslave yourselves to your enemy, in a land you know not, for an unquenchable fire shall burn you in My wrath.

Thus says the EVER-LIVING: 5

The Curse and the Blessing.

- "Curse the man who puts trusts on mankind, And makes flesh his arm, and turns from the LORD.
- 6 And is like to one lost in the Arbah, Who cannot see whence help can come,— Or laid scorched in the Desert, The salt-land, where none can reside!
- 7 "But bless him who trusts on the LORD, And on the LORD puts all his Trust; 8 He shall be like a tree by a brook Which sends its roots out to the stream. It fears not the heat when it comes, And its leaves are at every time green; It fears not in years of distress, And refrains not from bearing its fruit.
- 9 "The heart is more false than all things, And who among men knows his own? 10 4, the LORD, search the heart and try thoughts, And fix for each person his path,

With the fruit that will grow up from it, 11 As the bird hatches what she laid not,
 He who by injustice makes wealth,
 In the midst of his days he may lose,
 And at the last be regarded a fool!"

The Doom of Apostasy.

12 We formerly raised a splendid Throne on high for our Sanctuary!
 13 LORD, the Hope of Israel, all who forsake You will be disgraced, degraded to the earth,—they will be cut off,—because they forsake the fountain of the Water of Life,—the EVER-LIVING!

Jeremiah Laments his Call.

14 Heal me, EVER-LIVING, and I shall be well. Save me, EVER-LIVING, and I shall be safe, for I 15 pray to You. Look! they sneer at me, "Where is the message of the EVER-LIVING? Let it come now!"
 16 Yet I was not eager to feed after You; and I was not greedy for You in a human sense,—You know the product of my lips came straight 17 from Your presence. Do not terrify me; You are my trust in the day 18 of distress. Let my persecutors be disgraced, but I not disgraced. Let them be terrified,—but I not in terror. Let a day of distress come on them,—and repeat their wounds on themselves.

The Prophet ordered to Preach at the Gates.

19 The LORD commanded me thus:
 "Go and station yourself at the People's Gate, where the kings of Judah go out and come in, and at all 20 the gates of Jerusalem, and say to them, 'Listen to the message of the EVER-LIVING, you kings of Judah and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, 21 who come to these gates. Thus says the EVER-LIVING. Take care of your lives, and carry no loads on the Sabbath day, nor bring them to the gates 22 of Jerusalem, neither bring them out from your homes on the Day of Rest, nor do any work, but hallow the Day of Rest, as I instructed your fathers." 23 They, however, will not listen, nor incline their ears, but stiffen their neck, and refuse to hear, and refuse to accept advice.
 24 "Yet," the EVER-LIVING said, "if you will listen to Me, and refrain from bringing loads into the City

Gates on the Day of Rest, and will sanctify the Sabbath day, and refrain from doing business on it, then 25 kings and princes, sitting on the Throne of David, shall come to the gates of this city riding in chariots with their horsemen. Then the princes of the men of Judah, and the population of Jerusalem, will reside in this city for ever. They will also 26 come from the villages of Judah and from the suburbs of Jerusalem, and from the land of Benjamin, and from the slopes, and from the hills, and from the desert; they will come up with sacrifice and offerings, and incense, and advance to the House of the EVER-LIVING with praise. But 27 if you will not listen to Me, and sanctify the day of Rest, by refraining from carrying loads, and bringing into the Gates of Jerusalem on the Day of Rest,—I will set fire to your Gates, and it shall consume the palaces of Jerusalem and be unquenched!"

Jeremiah ordered to Go to the Potter's House.

The message that came to Jere- 18 miah from the EVER-LIVING to say:

"Arise, and go down to the potter's 2
 house, and there I will let you hear My message."

So I got up and went down to the 3 potter's house, and saw him making a vessel on his wheel, but he spoiled 4 the article which he was making from the clay by his hand. Then the potter changed it and made another article that it pleased the potter to make.

Then the message of the EVER- 5
 LIVING came to me, saying:—

"Am I not able to do with you 6 like this potter. House of Israel?"
 said the EVER-LIVING. "As clay is in the hand of this potter,—so are you, House of Israel, in My hand. When- 7 ever I speak about a nation or about a kingdom, to pluck it up, to throw it down, or to destroy it, if that 8 nation turns itself from the wickedness on account of which I have denounced it,—I will refrain from

- the distress I intended to bring upon it.
- 9 "But when I speak to a nation, or to a kingdom, to build up and to plant it,—if it does wrong in My sight, and refuses to listen to My voice, then I sigh over the benefits with which I have said I would benefit it.
- 11 "So you now speak to the men of Judah, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, to say:— Thus says the EVER-LIVING. I will form misery against you, — therefore let each now turn from his wicked way, and amend your course, and proceedings.' But they will reply, 'There is no hope of that, for we will follow our own plans.' And each will practise the suggestions of his evil heart.
- 13 "Therefore," the EVER-LIVING answers thus. "Enquire, I pray of the nations, Who has heard such horrors as that Girl, Israel, has done?
- 14 "Will the snow of Lebanon supply in the fields of Mitzer as cold waters are poured from a spring? Yet My People have abandoned Me for DELUSIONS,—they offer incense, and stumble from their ancient pathways, to follow unpaved bye-paths; to turn their country to a waste, to a continuous jungle! All who pass it will hiss! and shake their heads!—
- 17 I will scatter them like an east wind before their enemies, I will repulse and not advance them—I will terrify in the day of distress!"
- 18 They consequently said, "Come let us plot against Jeremiah, for law will not cease from the priest, or advice from the skilful, or a message from the Preacher;—let us revile him, and not listen to his speeches."
- 19 Oh, EVER-LIVING, listen to the utterance of my plea. They repay me injury for kindness,—for they dig a pit for my life! Remember I stood in Your presence to speak kindly to them,—to turn away Your anger from them. Therefore give their children to famine, and their young men to the hand of the sword, and let their wives be childless, and widows, and let their men come to a murderous death;—their brave men slain by the sword in battle! Let a shriek be heard from their homes, when the plunderers come suddenly upon them,—for they dug a ditch to catch me, and laid a trap for my feet. You, however, EVER-LIVING, knew all their intentions of murder against me. Let there be no expiation for their faults, and blot not out their sins from before You; and let them be deprived of Your presence at the time Your anger works upon them!

Jeremiah ordered to Buy a Bottle.

The EVER-LIVING commanded 19 me thus:

"Go and buy an earthenware bottle, accompanied by some of the gentry of the People, and some of the gentry of the Priests. Then 2 proceed to the valley opposite the pottery-gate, and there proclaim the message I will speak to you,—and say:—'Hear the message of the 3 EVER-LIVING, you kings of Judah, and inhabitants of Jerusalem! The LORD OF HOSTS, the GOD of Israel says thus,—'I will bring evil upon this place, which shall make the ears of all who hear it tingle! because they have forsaken Me,— 4 and estranged this place, and burnt incense in it to seducing gods, whom they or their fathers, or the kings of Judah had not known, and have filled this place with the blood of the innocent! And have built columns 5 to Bal, and burnt their children in the fire as burnt offerings to Bal,— although I ordered them not, and did not command it, and it never entered My heart!

"Therefore take care," says the 6 EVER-LIVING, "and call this place no longer Thopheth,¹ but the Valley of Murder! For I will empty out 7 the counsellors of Judah into this place, and throw them down before the sword of their enemies, and to the hands of those who seek their lives, and give their carcasses as food to the fowls of the skies, and the beasts of the earth, and make 8 this city desolate. Every passer-by shall hiss, and be shocked at her ruins! And they shall eat the flesh 9 of their sons, and the flesh of their daughters, and everyone eat the flesh of his friend in the siege and distress with which their enemies who seek their lives shall oppress them! Then 10 you shall smash the bottle before the eyes of the men who go with you, 11 and address them :—

¹ The Spittoon.

"Thus says the LORD OF HOSTS.
'I will smash this People like that,
and this city as the earthen jar has smashed, so that it can never be restored,—and they shall bury in Thopheth until there is no room!'
12 That is what I will do to this place," says the EVER-LIVING, "and to its inhabitants, for I will make this city 13 like Thopheth. And the houses of Jerusalem, and the houses of the kings of Judah shall become like the vale of Thopheth,—filthy,—every house upon whose top they have burnt incense, to all the Host of the Skies, and poured out drink offerings to the Gods of Seduction!"

14 Then Jeremiah went from Thopheth, where the EVER-LIVING had sent him to preach, and stationed himself in the court of the House of the EVER-LIVING, and said to all the People,—

15 "Thus says the LORD OF HOSTS, the GOD of Israel! 'I will bring upon this city, and upon all the cities, the whole of the miseries that I have threatened it,—for it has stiffened its neck, and determined not to listen to My messages."

20 And Pashkur-ben-Amer the Priest, who was the Official Guardian of the House of the EVER-LIVING, heard
2 Jeremiah preaching these things, so Pashkur apprehended Jeremiah the Reciter, and put him into the stocks at the High Benjamin Gate, by the 3 House of the EVER-LIVING. But the next day Pashkur brought Jeremiah out from the stocks, when Jeremiah said to him, "The EVER-LIVING does not call your name Pashkur,—but 4 Masgur - Misabib.¹ Therefore the EVER-LIVING says this, 'I will make you a terror to yourself, and to all your friends, and they shall fall by the sword of the enemy, and your eyes shall see it. I will also give all Judah to the hand of the King of Babel, and he shall roll them to Babel, or assail them with the sword.

And I will give all the wealth of this 5 city, and all its earnings, and all its accumulations, and all the treasures of the Kings of Judah, to the hands of their enemies, and they shall plunder, and seize them, and carry to Babel. And you, Pashkur, and 6 all dwelling in your house, shall go for slaves to Babel, and die, and there you shall be buried, with all your friends to whom you preach falsehood."

Jeremiah Prays for Strength.

Oh, EVER-LIVING, you persuaded 7 me, and I was persuaded! Strengthen me and become my supporter to endure it, for all laugh at me daily, for whenever I speak I proclaim, 8
"Violence!" and "outrage!" for the message of the EVER-LIVING comes to me to reproach and deride daily!
And I say to myself, "I will not 9 mention Him, nor speak again in His Name," then my heart becomes like a burning fire shut up in my bones, and I labour to restrain it,—but cannot;
for I hear the slander of the crowd,— 10
the terror around suggesting "Inform against him." And "We will, every man, inform." All my acquaintance watch for my slipping! "He will mistake, and we can then overpower him, and take our revenge on him for ourselves!" But the EVER-LIVING is 11 with me like a terrible giant,—therefore my prosecutors will stumble, and not succeed. They will be deeply disgraced, for they have not looked forwards, to a perpetual never forgotten dishonour. For the LORD of 12 HOSTS tests the righteous;—He sees the secret thoughts, and heart. I shall see Your punishment on them, for to You I have referred my plea.
Sing to the EVER-LIVING, praise the 13
EVER-LIVING, for He delivers the life of the wretched from the power of the wicked!

Jeremiah Curses his Girl.

14 Curse the day when I was born,
The day when my mother bore me,
May it never be blessed!

15 Curse the man who told my father,
'A son has been born to you,'
A thought of sweet delight to him.

¹ "Masgur-Misabib" means "Common Terror"

- 16 May that man be like the towns,
Which the LORD without pity rained on.
Hear shrieks at the dawn, and shouts at the noon
- 17 Because I died not from the womb,
Because my grave was not my mother,
Or her womb closed for ever!
- 18 Why came I for this from the womb?
To look on this misery and anguish,
And in shame to consume all my days?

Jeremiah's Reply to the Priests,

- 21 The command which came to Jeremiah from the EVER-LIVING, when Zedekiah sent to him Pashkur-ben-Malkiah, and Zephaniah-ben-Massiah, the priest to say, "Enquire for us of the EVER-LIVING, for Nebukadnezzar, king of Babel makes war against us. Perhaps the EVER-LIVING will effect for us some of His wonderful works,—and make him retreat from us."
- 3 Jeremiah then replied to them, 4 "Say this to Zedekiah. The EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel says thus:—
"I will turn the weapons of war that are in your hands,—with which you intend to fight the king of Babel, and the Kasdim, who besiege you from outside, inside the walls,—and I will collect them in the middle of this city, 5 for I Myself will fight against you with a directing hand and a strong arm, and with anger and fury, and great 6 wrath. And I will strike the inhabitants of this city,—both men and beasts,—to death with a great plague.
7 And after that," says the EVER-LIVING, "I will give Zedekiah, King of Judah, and his ministers, and his army, and the remnants from the plague, from the sword, and from the famine in this city, to the hand of Nebukadnezzar, king of Babel, and to the hands of their enemies, and to the hand of those who seek their lives, and they shall be struck by the edge of the sword. They will not spare them, nor pity, nor show mercy.
8 And to this People, proclaim, Thus says the EVER-LIVING! 'I place before you the path of life, and the 9 path of death! Whoever remains in this city will die by the sword, or famine, or plague;—but whoever goes out and deserts to the Kasdim who besiege you, will live,—and his life 10 shall be as a gain to him. For I have set my face against this city to distress and not to benefit it,' says the EVER-LIVING. "It shall be given to the hand of the king of Babel, and he will burn it with fire.

"And as for the House of the King 11 of Judah,—hear the message of the EVER-LIVING:—House of David! 12 Thus says the EVER-LIVING, Administer justice in the morning, and deliver the robbed from the hand of the robber, for fear you should find My wrath like fire, which will burn unquenchably against your bad practices. I am against you, Graceful 13 Lady of the Fort of the Plain!" says the EVER-LIVING, "who say, 'Who can terrify us? and who can come within us?' Yet I can punish you 14 for the result of your ways," says the EVER-LIVING, "and light a fire in your city, and consume all around it."

Jeremiah ordered to Denounce Punishment at the Palace.

The EVER-LIVING commanded me 22 thus:—

"Descend to the palace of the king of Judah, and there proclaim this message, Say, 'Listen to the message 2 of the EVER-LIVING, king of Judah, you who sit on the throne of David! You and your ministers, and your army, who come to these gates. 3 The EVER-LIVING says, Do justice, and right, and deliver the robbed from the hand of the robber, and give not the foreigner, and orphan, and widow to the hand of the oppressor, and shed no innocent blood in this place. 4 For if you do this, then kings occupying for David, shall sit on his throne, and shall come to the gates of this House riding in carriages, and with his horsemen, and his ministers, and his army. But if you do not listen to 5 these messages, I swear by MYSELF,' says the EVER-LIVING, 'that this house shall be burnt!'

"However," the EVER-LIVING 6 says this to the family of the king of Judah, "You were Gilad to me,—the best of Lebanon,—yet I will make you a Desert, of uninhabited cities, 7 and will prepare destroyers with their weapons, who will fell your choice cedars, and fling them upon the fire.

 8 Many of the Nations also shall pass by this city, and each will say to his companion, 'For what has the EVER-LIVING destroyed this great city?' 9 And they will reply, 'Because they forsook the Covenant of their EVER-LIVING GOD, and bowed to seducing gods, and served them.'

A Denunciation of Shalum-ben- Joshiah.

10 "Weep not for the dead, and lament them not! But weep, weep for the departed,—for he will never return, 11 or see the land of his birth!" For thus says the LORD to Shalum-ben-Joshiah, King of Judah, who reigns after Joshiah his father, "When he goes away from this place he shall never return again!"

13 "Woe! for he builds his house, but not by Righteousness; and his chambers, but not by Justice! He works by his neighbours, without paying, 14 and gives them no wages. He says,
 'I will build for myself a spacious house, and airy chambers,' and forms himself windows, and ceilings of cedar, and paints them vermilion.
 15 Will you reign because you stretch yourself like a cedar? Did not your father eat and drink, and do justice 16 and right,—and thus prospered? He gave justice to the wretched, and the poor,—and prospered. Was not that known to Me?" asks the EVER-LIVING. "You have neither eyes, nor heart, however, except for fraud 18 and for shedding innocent blood, and oppression and to practise extortion.

"Therefore, the LORD says thus to Joiakhim-ben-Joshiah, king of Judah, mourn not for him, 'Alas for my brother! or alas for my friend!'
 Mourn not for him, 'Alas for his 19 Majesty!' or 'Alas for his honour!'

"He shall be buried with the 20 burial of an ass,—dragged and flung outside of the gates of Jerusalem!"

A Call to Bewail Israel's Sorrows and Sins.

"Go up to Lebanon and shriek,— and on Bashan raise your voice, and howl at Abarim, for all your delights 21 are shattered!

"I spoke to you in your prosperity.

You replied, 'I will not listen!' That was your way from your youth! You have never listened to My voice. All 21 your shepherds attend to the wind!
 and all your friends will go into captivity, for now I will degrade and shame you for all your wickedness, Inhabited in Lebanon! Builder in 23 the cedars! How charming you will be when the agonies of a woman in childbirth come upon you! By My 21 life," says the EVER-LIVING, "to Koniah-ben-Joiakhim, king of Judah,
 if you were the seal on My right hand,
 I would tear you off, and give you to 25 the hand that seeks your life, and to the hand of whoever you fear;—and then to the hand of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babel, and the hand of the Kasdim! I will also fling along with 27 you the mother who bore you into another country where you were not born,—and there you shall die! And to the country to which they lift up their souls, they shall never return!"

"Is this man Koniah a contemp-28 tible broken pot? or a thing in which there is no use? Why do they throw him, and his race away, and fling to a land which they know not?"

Earth! Earth! Earth! listen to 29 the message of the EVER-LIVING.
 The EVER-LIVING commands "Write 30 this man childless;—a man who shall not prosper in his days,—for none of his family shall prosper who sit upon the throne of David, and rule in Jerusalem!"

Woe Denounced to Wicked Rulers. but Restoration to Israel.

"Woe to the shepherds who de- 23 stroy and scatter the sheep of My pasture!" says the EVER-LIVING.
 Therefore, the EVER-LIVING GOD of 2
 Israel thus addresses the shepherds: 3

"Shepherds of My People, you scatter the sheep, and chase them away, and do not collect them. Therefore I will impose upon you the wickedness of your proceedings," says the EVER-LIVING. "But I will collect the remnants of My flock from all the lands where I have driven them, and will restore them to their homes, and they shall be fruitful and multiply. I will also appoint shep- 4 herds over them, who will tend them, and they shall not be terrified, or driven, or injured," says the EVER-LIVING.

5 "The days also shall come," says the EVER-LIVING, "when I will raise for David a righteous offshoot, and royal king, who will govern, and do
6 justice and right in the land. In his days Judah shall be safe, and Israel rest in safety, and his Name shall be called 'Our Righteous LORD.'
7 "Therefore the times shall come," says the EVER-LIVING, "when they shall no more say 'By the life of the EVER-LIVING Who brought Israel up
8 from the land of the Mitzeraim,' but, 'By the life of the EVER-LIVING Who brought Israel up, and conducted the race of the House of Israel from the land of the North, and from all the lands where He had driven them, and restored them to their own soil!'"

The Prophet's Despair over False Teachers.

9 My heart is broken in my breast for the Preachers,—all my bones shake,—I have become like a drunken man, and like a giant overcome by wine, before the EVERLASTING, and before His holy words! For the land
10 is full of impostors;—the land faints before this curse;—the pastures of the plains fail, for their courses are bad, and their energies worthless!
11 The Preacher and the Priest are alike profane. "I have even found their depravities in My House," says the EVER-LIVING. "Therefore their path shall become slippery,—they shall fall in the dark upon it;—for I will bring distress upon them in the time of their punishment," says the EVER-LIVING.
12 "I have also seen the impiety of the Preachers of Shomeron. They preach Bal, and seduce My People Israel!
13 "And I have seen a terrible thing among the Preachers of Jerusalem; they commit adultery, and walk in falsehood, and strengthen the hands of the wicked, so that no one turns from his wickedness! All of them are like Sodom, and the population 14 of Gomorrah to me!" The LORD OF HOSTS consequently says this against those preachers, "I will consume them with suffering, and give them opiates to drink,—for corruption comes to all the country from the preachers of Jerusalem!"
15 Thus says the LORD OF HOSTS,

"Listen not to the messages of the Preachers who preach to you. They preach nonsense to you,—a vision from their own hearts. They do not preach from the mouth of the EVER-LIVING. They say to the despisers 17 of the message of the EVER-LIVING, 'Peace will come to you!' And to all who follow the ideas of their own minds, they say, 'No harm will come upon you!' However, who 18 stood in the council of the EVER-LIVING, and saw and heard His words? Who listened, and heard His commands?"

Look! the furious tempest of the 19 EVER-LIVING has gone forth! A whirling tempest rolls over the head of the wicked! The anger of the 20 EVER-LIVING will not return until it has worked, and effected the intentions of His mind. You will understand what He intended in times to come. I did not send those preachers 21 —yet they ran;—I did not speak to them;—yet they preached! But if they stood in My council, and heard messages to My People, let them turn them from their bad ways, and guide their proceedings!

"Am I a GOD near," the EVER-23 LIVING asks, "and not a GOD at a distance? If a man hides himself in 24 shelters, cannot I see him?" asks the EVER-LIVING. "Are not the heavens and the breath of the earth Mine?" says the EVER-LIVING. "I can hear what the preachers say who 25 preach falsehood in My name, explaining 'I have dreamed a dream!' How long is it the intention of the 26 preachers to preach falsehood, and proclaim the deceptions of their hearts? Who intend to make My 27 People forget My Name by their dreams which they relate each to his companion, as their fathers forgot My Name for Bal. Let the Reciter 28 who has a dream, tell his dream;—but to whoever I have spoken, let him speak truly My message.

"What is the chaff compared to the corn?" the EVER-LIVING asks. "Is not My command like fire?"
29 asks the EVER-LIVING. "And like a hammer splintering a stone? Therefore I am against those preachers," says the EVER-LIVING, "who steal messages each from his mate! I am against those Reciters," says the EVER-LIVING, "who delude by their 30 tongues, and chatter! I am against 31

- the reciters of lying dreams," the
- 32 EVER-LIVING says, "and their recitals, and who delude My People by their lies, and elate them;—whom I have not sent, nor instructed, and who cannot help this people," the EVER-LIVING says.
- 33 "You, however, when this People, or the Preachers, or the Priest ask you, 'What is the burden of the EVER-LIVING?' shall reply to them, 'The burden is I have abandoned you!'" says the EVER-LIVING, "and the Reciter, or Priest, or Prophet, who says, 'The burden of the EVER-LIVING!' I will bring punishment upon that man and upon his family.
- 34 Why does everyone ask of his neighbour, and each to his brother, 'What is the answer of the EVER-LIVING?' and 'What is the message from the
- 35 EVER-LIVING?' when they will never remember the burden of the EVER-LIVING?—for the burden that has come to every one is,—His own idea, —and they fling away the ideas of the LIVING GOD, the LORD OF HOSTS, OUR GOD!
- 37 "However, ask of the Reciter 'What does the EVER-LIVING answer you?' and 'What is the message of the EVER-LIVING?' If they reply
- 38 'A burden from the EVER-LIVING,' then the EVER-LIVING says this, "Answer in return to them, This is the burden of the EVER-LIVING, 'I have sent to you to command you not to proclaim a burden from the EVER-LIVING. Consequently I will lay a burden upon you, and I will abandon you, and this city, which I had given to your forefathers, for having been
- 40 faithless to me. Therefore I will make you a reproach for ever, and an everlasting object of scorn, which shall not be extinguished."

The Two Baskets of Figs.

- 24 The EVER-LIVING enlightened me, and I saw two baskets full of figs before the Temple of the LORD, after the capture of Jekoniah-ben-Jhoiakim, king of Judah, by Nebukhadnezzar, king of Babel, with the princes of Judah, and the mechanics, and carpenters of Jerusalem, and their transportation to Babel. The one basket was very good, like best figs;—but the other basket was of very bad figs which could not be
- 3 eaten for badness. And the EVER-LIVING asked me, "What do you see, Jeremiah?" When I replied, "Figs. The good figs very good, but the bad figs very bad,—so that they could not be eaten for badness."

Then the command of the EVER-LIVING came to me to proclaim:—
 "Thus says the EVER-LIVING GOD 5 of Israel. 'As with these good figs, I will discriminate amongst the captives of Judah, whom I have sent from this place to the country of the Kasdim to benefit them, and will set 6 My eyes upon them beneficially, and restore them to their country in their children, and not destroy them; and plant, and not pull them up. I will 7 also give them a heart to understand Me, that I am the EVER-LIVING, and they shall be My People,—and I will be their GOD,—when they turn to Me with all their heart.

'But as for the bad figs which are 8 uneatable for badness;—for them,' says the EVER-LIVING, 'I will take Zedekiah, king of Judah, and his nobles, and the remnant of Jerusalem remaining in this land, and residing in the country of the Mitzraim, and 9 make them a seed of evil to all the kingdoms of the earth, as a reproach, and a proverb; to be a slander, and a curse, in every place to which I drive them. I will also send sword, 10 famine, and plague to harass them from off the land which I gave to them and to their forefathers.'"

A Message to Judah.

The message which came to Jere- 25 miah against all the People of Judah in the fourth year of Jhoiakim-ben-Joshiah, king of Judah,—which was the second of Nebukhadnezzar, king of Babel, which Jeremiah the Reciter 2 delivered to all the people of Judah, and to all the residents in Jerusalem, saying,

"From the thirteenth year of 3 Josiah-ben-Amon, king of Judah, until this time,—for twenty-three years, the message of the EVER-LIVING came to me, and I have spoken to you promptly,—and proclaimed it,—but you would not listen! The EVER-LIVING also sent all his 4 servants the Preachers,—raising and sending—but you would not listen, nor incline your ears to listen, when 5 I said, 'Turn, I pray, everyone from his bad path, and from your wicked ways, and be restored to the ground that the EVER-LIVING gave to you and your ancestors for ever and for ever. And follow not after seducing gods to serve and worship them, and try Me not by the fabrications of your own hands,—and I will not afflict you.

7 But you would not listen to Me," says the EVER-LIVING, "although I was provoked by the fabrications of your hands to afflict you! Therefore," the LORD OF HOSTS says, "because you have not listened to My messages, I will send and take the whole of the families of the north," says the EVER-LIVING, "and Nebukhadnezzar, king of Babel, Myservant, and bring them to this country, and upon its inhabitants, and upon all the nations around, and he will ravage and reduce them to a desolation, and a jungle, and a desert for ever! I will also abolish from them the voice of joy, and the voice of pleasure, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride, the sound of the mills, and the light of the lamp,—and all this land shall become a black desert waste, and these nations shall serve the king of Babel seventy years. But when the seventy years are completed, I will visit on the king of Babel, and upon his portion," says the EVER-LIVING, "their cruelties and also on the land of the Kasdim, and desolate it with a lasting desolation. But I will bring to this land the whole of the promises that I have promised to it, all that are written in this book which Jeremiah has preached to all the nation. For many nations and great kings have made slaves of them, therefore I will repay to them according to their own acts, and like to what they have done.

15 "So," thus said the EVER-LIVING God of Israel, to me:—
 "Take this cup of the Wine of Wrath from My hand, and give it to all the nations to whom I will send you to drink of, and let them drink, and stagger, and be mad for the sword that I will send amongst them."

17 So I took the cup from the hand of the EVER-LIVING, and gave drink to all the nations to whom the EVER-LIVING sent me.

18 To Jerusalem and the cities of Judah,—and her kings, and her nobles, to make them a black desert, and a desolation, and jungle, and scorn.¹ To Pharaoh, king of the 19 Mitzeraim, also, and his ministers and nobles, and all his army, and to all the west, and all the kings of Autz, and all the land of the Philistim, and Askalon, and Gaza, and Akron, and the districts of Ashdod; and to Edom, and Moab, and the Beni-Amon, and to all the kings of Tzur, and all the kings of Zidon; and to all the kings of the coast at the Passage of the Sea,—to Dedan, and Theman, and Buz, and all the farther regions; and all the kings of Arabia, and all the kings of Midland who inhabit the desert; and all the kings of Zimri, and all the kings of Ailam;

 and all the kings of Madi; and all the kings of the north,—both near and far,—each with his brother; and all the kingdoms of the earth, who are on the face of the ground, and the king of Sheshak shall drink after them! Then say to them, Thus says the LORD OF HOSTS, the GOD of Israel, 'Drink and be drunk, and stagger, and fall, and never rise from the face of the sword that I will send amongst you!' But if it happens that they refuse to take the cup from your hand and drink, say to them,
 Thus says the LORD OF HOSTS,
 'Drink it, drink!' For, in the city upon which My Name was invoked,
 I began to punish,—so shall you escape? You shall not escape, for I will call for a sword against all the inhabitants of those countries," says the LORD OF HOSTS. "Consequently proclaim to them all these messages and tell them, 'The EVER-LIVING will thunder from on high, and from within His sanctuary will utter His voice. He will shout from His station, 'Charge with a cheer,—overthrow all the inhabitants of the country!'"

The roar will go to the ends of the earth, when the EVER-LIVING contends with the heathen, to do justice to all men. "Give the wicked to the sword," says the EVER-LIVING.

Thus says the LORD OF HOSTS:
 "Look! Misery goes from nation to nation! And a mighty tempest is roused from the flanks of the earth!
 And in that time those wounded by

¹ (As they are to-day.)

NOTE.—Ch. 25, v. 18. The words "as they are to-day" are the comment of an old transcriber, not a part of Jeremiah's prophecy.—
 F. F.

the EVER-LIVING shall lie from one end of the earth to the other end of the earth. They shall not be lamented, nor collected, nor buried;—they shall be for dung on the surface of the ground!

- 34 "Howl and shriek, you shepherds, and wallow for the beautiful flocks! For your days of prosperity are done, and the things you desired are scattered and fallen! A retreat fails for the shepherds, and a refuge for the beautiful flock! The shriek of the shepherds sounds, and the bleat of the beautiful flock,—for the EVER-LIVING has destroyed their shepherds, and the peaceful pastures are destroyed before the fierce anger of the EVER-LIVING. Who has left His lair like a tiger, that He may desolate their country before the driving conflagration, and by the flame of His wrath!"

Judah Renounced for his Sins.

- 26 In the beginning of the reign of Jhoiakim-ben-Joshiah, king of Judah, this message came from the EVER-LIVING to say:—
- 2 "Thus, says the EVER-LIVING. Stand in the court of the House of the EVER-LIVING, and proclaim to all the citizens of Judah who come to worship in the House of the EVER-LIVING, all the messages that I order you to deliver to them. Omit not a
- 3 word! Perhaps they may each turn from their wicked way, when I will regret the misery I intend to make for them, because of their wicked
- 4 proceedings. Say to them, Thus says the EVER-LIVING, 'If you will not listen to Me, and walk in the laws
- 5 that I place before you, and listen to the words of My servants the Preachers, whom I send to you, rising early and sending, although you have
- 6 not listened, then I will make this House like Shiloh,—and make this city the scorn of all the nations of the earth.'
- 7 When the Priests, and the Preachers, and all the people heard Jeremiah proclaiming these messages in the House of the EVER-LIVING,—
- 8 and when Jeremiah had finished delivering all that the EVER-LIVING had ordered him to speak to all the people, the Priests, and Preachers, and all the people seized him, exclaim-
- 9 ing, "You shall die! Why have you proclaimed in the name of the EVER-LIVING, asserting that 'this House shall become like Shiloh, and this city a burnt ruin without inhabitants?'" Then all the people collected about Jeremiah at the House of the EVER-LIVING.

The officials of Judah also heard 10 of these speeches, and went up from the palace of the king to the House of the EVER-LIVING, and sat in front of the New Gate of the LORD. There 11 the Priests and Preachers addressed the officials, and all the people, and demanded a "Sentence of death for this man, for he has proclaimed about this city what your own ears have heard!"

But Jeremiah replied to all the 12 officials, and all the people, and said, "The EVER-LIVING sent me to proclaim to this House, and to this city, all the messages that you have heard. Therefore, now, amend your 13 courses and your ways, and listen to the voice of your EVER-LIVING GOD,—when the EVER-LIVING will relent from the misery He has spoken against you. As for myself, I am in your 14 hands. Do to me what is right, and what is just in your opinion. How- 15 ever know this,—that if you kill me, you will put innocent blood upon yourselves, and upon this city, and upon its inhabitants. For in truth the EVER-LIVING sent me to you to speak in your hearing all these speeches."

Consequently the officials, and all 10 the people, said to the Priests and Preachers, "There is no reason for a Death Sentence on this man, for he has spoken to us in the Name of our EVER-LIVING GOD."

Then the Chief Judges of the 17 country arose and addressed the whole assembly of the people, saying,—

"Mikiah, the Moroshite, was a 18 Preacher in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah, and he spoke to the people of Judah to proclaim:—"Thus says the LORD OF HOSTS, Zion shall be a ploughed field, and Jerusalem become ruins, and the hill of this house be a forest of columns!" Did Hezekiah king of Judah, and all 19 Judah, put him to death? Did he not fear the EVER-LIVING, and entreat the presence of the EVER-LIVING? And consequently the EVER-LIVING refrained from the punishment that he proclaimed against them. And should we do so great a wrong to our souls?

- 20 ¹ "There was also a man, Auriab-ben-Shemiah of Kirjath-jarim, who came preaching in the Name of the EVER-LIVING, who proclaimed against this city, and against this country, all the words of Jeremiah, and King Jhoiakim and his generals, and all his officials heard the speeches. So the king sought to kill Auriab. But when Auriab heard it he was afraid, and fled, and went to Mitzer. King Jhoiakim, however, sent officers to Mitzer, Alnathan-ben-Akbor, and officers with him to the Egyptians, who brought Auriab from Egypt, and conducted him to Jhoiakim who assailed him with the sword, and flung his body into the grave of the common people."
- 24 However the party of Akhikamben-Shafan was with Jeremiah, and refused to give him to the power of the people for him to be put to death.

Jeremiah Ordered to Wear Fetters.

A Message to the Nations.

- 27 In the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah-ben-Joshiah,² king of Judah, this message came to Jeremiah from the LORD to speak.
- 2 The EVER-LIVING commanded me thus,—“Make fetters for yourself, and open and put them on your neck; then send them to the king of Edom, and to the king of Moab, and the king of Beni-Amon, and to the king of Tzur, and the king of Zidon, by the hand of their ambassadors who come to Jerusalem to Zedekiah, king of Judah, and command them to say to their masters,—‘Thus says the LORD OF HOSTS, the GOD of Israel I say to your masters, I made the earth, mankind, and the animals that are upon the face of the earth, by My great power, and I give it to whoever is upright in My sight.’” So now I have given the whole of these countries to the hand of Nebukhadnezzar, king of Babel, My servant: and I have given him also the animals of the field for his service, and they shall serve him, and his son, and his grandson, until the period of his own country has come;—when many nations and great kings shall make him serve! And to the nation or kingdom that will not serve him,—Nebukhadnezzar, king of Babel,—and that will not give its neck to the yoke of the king of Babel, I will bring punishment upon that nation by sword, and famine, and plague,” says the EVER-LIVING, “until I have subdued them to his power.

“And for yourselves, listen not to your preachers, and your diviners, and your dreamers, and cloud-readers, and to your magicians who tell you that you will not serve the king of Babel, for those Preachers lie to you, because you will be expelled from your soil, and reduced, and destroyed. But the nation that brings its neck to the yoke of the king of Babel, and serves him, shall rest quietly on its own soil,” says the EVER-LIVING, “and use it and reside on it.”

Advice to Zedekiah to Submit to Babel.

To Zedekiah, king of Judah, also I deliver all these messages and say:—“Let you and your people bring your necks to the yoke of the king of Babel,—and live. Why should you die? you, and your people by sword, famine, and plague? as the EVER-LIVING has threatened to the nations which will not serve the king of Babel? Do not listen to the speeches of the Preachers who promise you, asserting—‘You need not serve the king of Babel,’ for those Preachers lie to you! I, certainly, have not sent them,” says the EVER-LIVING, “but they preach falsely in My NAME, because I shall subdue you, and ruin you, and the Preachers who preach to you.”

A Message to the Priests.

To the priests, also, and all this people I spoke and said:—

Thus says the LORD:—“Listen not to the messages of the Preachers who preach to you, and assert: ‘The furniture of the House of the EVER-LIVING will be returned from Babel now, very soon,’—for those Preachers lie to you. Do not listen to them! Serve the king of Babel, and live.

¹ Some words seem lost here from the MSS., such as “Others replied, however;” “There was also, etc.” It was evidently a debate amongst the Judges of the Court formed to try the Prophet.—F. F.

² In the ordinary text it is Jehoiakim, by a scribe’s error—but Zedekiah in the original reading.—F. F.

- Why should this city become a ruin ?
 18 But if they are prophets, and if the message of the EVER-LIVING is with them,—let them at once pray to the LORD OF HOSTS not to allow the remaining furniture of the House of the EVER-LIVING, and of the king of Judah's palace, and in Jerusalem, to go to Babel.
- 19 "For thus says the LORD OF HOSTS, to the columns, and to the sea, and to its bases, and to the other furniture remaining in this city,— 20 which Nebukhadnezzar king of Babel, did not take when he transported Jekoniah - ben - Jhoiakim, king of Judah, from Jerusalem to Babel, with all the nobles of Judah and Jerusalem, 21 —Thus says the LORD OF HOSTS, the GOD of Israel, to the remaining furniture of the House of the EVER-LIVING, and the palace of the king of 22 Judah and Jerusalem:—they shall go to Babel, and shall be there until the time that I appoint for them," says the EVER-LIVING, "to be brought up and returned to this place."

Hananiah of Gibeon assails Jeremiah.

- 28 It happened in the same year at the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah, king of Judah, in the first of the fifth month, Hananiah-ben-Azer, the Preacher who came from Gibeon, addressed me in the House of the EVER-LIVING, in the sight of the Priests and all the People, exclaiming:—
 2 "Thus says the LORD OF HOSTS, the GOD of Israel, proclaim—'I will shatter the yoke of the king of Babel!
 3 At the end of two years' time I will return to this place all the furniture of the House of the EVER-LIVING, which Nebukhadnezzar, king of Babel, took from this place and removed to Babel. And Jekoniah-ben-Jhoiakim, king of Judah, and all the transports of Judah, who were removed to Babel, I will restore to this place,' says the EVER-LIVING, 'for I will shatter the yoke of the king of Babel!'"
 5 But Jeremiah the Preacher replied to Hananiah the Preacher, in the sight of the Priests, and in the presence of the people standing in the 6 House of the EVER-LIVING,—and Jeremiah the Preacher said, "Amen! May the EVER-LIVING do so. And may the EVER-LIVING confirm the things you have proclaimed, and return the furniture of the House of the EVER-LIVING, and all the transports, from Babel to this place!—

 However, hear now this message 7 which I speak in your hearing, and in the hearing of all the people. The Preachers who were before me, 8 and before you from of old, preached to many lands, and great kingdoms, of war, and famine, and plague! The Preacher who preached about 9 prosperity,—when the promise of the Preacher came, it was known that in truth the EVER-LIVING had sent him!"

Then the Preacher Hananiah took 10 the fetter off the neck of the Preacher Jeremiah, and broke it. And Hana- 11 niah exclaimed before all the people, "Thus says the EVER-LIVING! 'I will break the yoke of Nebukhadnezzar, king of Babel, at the end of two years' time from off the neck of all nations.'"

Then Jeremiah the Preacher went away.

But a message from the EVER- 12 LIVING came to Jeremiah after Hananiah, the Preacher, had broken the yoke from the neck of Jeremiah, to say:

"Go and speak to Hananiah, and 13 say, 'Thus says the EVER-LIVING, you have broken the yokes of wood, but I will make in their place yokes of iron!' For thus says the LORD OF 14 HOSTS, the GOD of Israel, I will put a yoke of iron upon all these nations in serving Nebukhadnezzar the king of Babel, and they shall serve him. I also give the beasts of the earth to him."

Jeremiah the Preacher accordingly 15 said to Hananiah the Preacher, "Listen now, Hananiah, the EVER-LIVING did not send you, but you have comforted this People with a lie! Therefore thus says the EVER- 16 LIVING,—I will send you from off the face of the ground;—you shall die this year, for you have taught rebellion against the EVER-LIVING."

And Hananiah did die that year in 17 the seventh month.

Jeremiah's Letter to the Jews in Babel.

This is a copy of the letter which 20 Jeremiah, the Preacher, sent to

Babel from Jerusalem to say to that portion of the nobles and priests, and preachers of the transportation, and to all the people whom Nebukhadnezzar transported from Jerusalem to Babel, with Jekoniah the king, and his generals, and chamberlains, nobles of Judah and Jerusalem, with the mechanics and engineers of Jerusalem, by the hands of Alasah-ben-Shafan, and Ghemariah-ben-Hilkiah, whom Zedekiah, king of Judah, sent to Nebukhadnezzar, king of Babel,—

The Promise of Judah's Return from Babylon.

4 " Thus says the LORD OF HOSTS, the GOD of Israel, to all the transports whom I have transported from Jerusalem to Babel. Build houses, and settle and plant vines, and eat their fruit. Marry wives and beget sons and daughters, and let your sons take wives, and give your daughters to husbands, and let them bear sons and daughters, and increase and not diminish. You must also seek for the prosperity of the city into which I have transported you, and pray on account of it to the EVER-LIVING, for by its prosperity you will prosper.

8 The LORD OF HOSTS, the GOD of Israel, says this, 'Let not the Preachers among you, nor your Diviners deceive you,—nor listen to the Dreamers who dream for you dreams, for those Preachers lie to you in My Name. I have not sent them,' says the EVER-LIVING.

10 " But the EVER-LIVING says this:— 'When seventy years are full to the lip for Babel, I will visit you, and confirm to you My good promises, and will restore you to this place.

11 For I know the intentions which I have planned for you,' the EVER-LIVING says—'intentions of prosperity, and not suffering, that I will give you hereafter, therefore hope.

12 So call to Me, and go and pray to Me, and I will listen to you. For when you seek Me you can find Me,—when you search for Me with all your heart. When I am found by you,' says the EVER-LIVING, 'I will restore you from captivity, and collect you from all the nations, and all the places where I drove you,' says the EVER-LIVING, 'and return you from the place to which I transported you.'

"However, you may say. 'The 15 EVER-LIVING has raised for us Preachers in Babel!'

" Yet thus says the EVER-LIVING 16 to the king who remains upon the throne of David, and to all the people who remain in this city after you, who have not gone with you to Babel:—Thus says the LORD OF 17 HOSTS,—'I will send to them sword, famine, and plague, and make them like rotten figs, so rotten they cannot be eaten; and I will chase them with 18 the sword, famine and plague, and make them a dispersion in all the kingdoms of the earth, as a curse, and desolation, and contempt, and reproach to all the nations where I have flung them, because they would 19 not listen to My messages,' says the EVER-LIVING. 'But for yourselves,' 20 says the EVER-LIVING. 'all the transportation whom I have sent from Jerusalem to Babel, listen: for 21 the LORD OF HOSTS, the GOD of Israel, says to Akhab-ben-Masiah, who preaches lies in My Name to you,—I will give him to the hand of Nebukhadnezzar, king of Babel, and he will kill him before your eyes, and make a curse from him for all 22 the transports of Judah who are in Babel, who will exclaim:—' May the LORD set you like Zedekiah and Akhab, whom the king of Babel roasted in the fire!' because they 23 did injury to Israel, and committed adultery with their neighbours' wives, and spoke false messages in My Name, which I have not entrusted to them;—as I know and can prove,' says the EVER-LIVING."

And to Shemiah, the Nekhlamite, 24 say—" Thus says the LORD of HOSTS, 25 the GOD of Israel,—Because you have sent letters in your own name to all the people of Jerusalem, and Zefaniah-ben-Masiah the Priest, and to all the Priests to say, The EVER-LIVING has made you priests 26 under Jhoiada the Priest, and to be officers of the House of the EVER-LIVING, so that you may put into the stocks, and imprison every madman and sham prophet,—so now why do you not restrain Jeremiah the Anathothite, who does the Prophet to you? For he has sent to us to Babel to 28 say, 'It is for a long period: Build homes and settle. Plant vines and eat their fruit.' Now Zefaniah the 29 Priest has read this letter to the ears

- 30 of Jeremiah the Preacher,—and the message of the EVER-LIVING has
- 31 come to Jeremiah to say: Send to the transports and declare, Thus says the EVER-LIVING to Shemiah, the Nekhlamite, 'Because Shemiah preaches to you, and I have not sent him, and comforts you with a lie,—therefore,' thus
- 32 says the EVER-LIVING, 'I will punish Shemiah the Nekhlamite and his family; none shall remain among this People, and they shall not see the prosperity that I will make for My People,' says the EVER-LIVING, 'for he utters rebellion against the LORD.'
- 30 The message which came to Jeremiah from the EVER-LIVING to say:
- 2 "Thus says the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel, 'Write the whole of the messages which I have told you in
- 3 a book; for, see, the days come,' said the EVER-LIVING, 'when I will restore the captives of My People of Israel and Judah,' said the EVER-LIVING, 'and return them to the land that I gave to their ancestors, and they shall possess it.'"

A Message of Comfort to Jacob.

- 4 Now these are the messages that the EVER-LIVING addressed to Israel and to Judah.
- 5 He spoke thus:—
- 6 "Hear a voice of terror without comfort! Ask and examine if men bear children? Why do I see every man's hands on his loins, like a childing woman? and every face
- 7 turned livid? Alas, for it is a great day! There has been none like it! It is a period of distress for Jacob,—and can he be saved from it?
- 8 "Yes! in that day," says the EVER-LIVING, "I will break the yoke from off your neck, and snap the shackles, and they shall no longer serve the
- 9 foreigners, but serve their EVER-LIVING GOD and David their king whom I will appoint for them. So
- 10 now, Jacob, My servant, fear not," says the EVER-LIVING, "and Israel be not depressed, for I will rescue you from afar, and your race from the land of slavery, when Jacob shall rest in quiet, and without terror.
- 11 For I will be with you," says the EVER-LIVING, "to save you, and I will make an end of all the nations where I scattered you. But I will not make an end of you, but correct you with justice, and when corrected I will not punish further."

For thus says the EVER-LIVING: 12
 "Your bruise is malignant,—your wound sluggish. There is no surgeon 13 to press, to sprinkle medicaments upon it, for you. All your friends 14 have forgotten about you,—they do not enquire,—for I struck you by the stroke of an enemy,—a cruel wound, for your many faults, your sins were strong.

"Why do you shriek over your 15 malignant bruise?—for the pain over your many faults? I have done this to you for your numerous sins.

"However all who devour you shall 16 be devoured; and all who oppress you shall go into slavery, and those who are plundering you shall be plundered; and all robbing you I will give to robbery. For I will 17 grant you a restoration, and will cure you of your wounds," says the EVER-LIVING, "for the Driver cries to you, 'You are Zion for whom nobody cares!'"

The EVER-LIVING, however, says, 18
 "I will restore Jacob's captured halls, and will extend his dwellings, and build his city on high, and found his palace on justice. And the sound 19 of song and laughter shall come out from them, and they shall be glorious, and not depressed. And his children 20 shall be as of old, with a parliament before me, firm and fixed against all his oppressors. His Leaders shall 21 be from himself,—and his Governors from his own breast. He shall come and approach, and touch me,—for who like him pledged his heart to approach to Me?" asks the EVER-LIVING. "So they shall be My 22 People and I will be their God."

Look! the furious tempest of the 23
 anger of the LORD has gone out! A sweeping tempest, it whirls over the head of the wicked. The flaming 24 wrath of the EVER-LIVING will not return until it has accomplished the purpose of His heart. "You will under- 31 stand it in the future times, at the period," said the EVER-LIVING, "when I will be a GOD to all the families of Israel, and they will be My People."

God's Love to Israel.

Thus says the EVER-LIVING: 2
 "The nation of Israel remaining from the sword has found favour in

- the desert, where it went to rest itself!
- 3 The EVER-LIVING saw me from afar and loved. I love you," He said, "with an everlasting love, therefore I
- 4 will attract you by kindness. I will build you again, and you shall be rebuilt, Virgin of Israel! Prepare your tambours, and come out to the dances
- 5 with laughter. Plant vineyards on the hills of Shomeron! Plant slips, and play the flute;—for it is the
- 6 day when the Watchmen cry on Mount Ephraim, 'Arise and let us go up to Zion to our EVER-LIVING GOD!'"
- 7 For thus says the EVER-LIVING, "Shout to Jacob, Be glad and neigh at the Head of the Nations. Let them hear your cheer, and say, 'O EVER-LIVING, save Your people,—the fragments of Israel.'
- 8 "I will bring them from the land of the North, and collect them from the flanks of the world, with their blind and lame,—the pregnant, and childing women shall return together
- 9 here in a great crowd. They went away with tears;—but on paths of delight I will lead them in jubilee to rivers of water, by a level way in which they cannot stumble, for I will be a father to Israel with Ephraim as My firstborn.

"Nations! hear the message of the LORD, and report it to the distant isles, and proclaim to the race of Israel, 'He who scattered us will guard you as a shepherd does his flock!' For the EVER-LIVING will redeem Jacob and free him from the hand that is stronger than his; and he shall come with cheering to the top of Zion, and stream to the LORD's endowment of corn, and wine, and oil, and the young of the flock and the herd. For their soul shall be like a watered garden, and never again endure distress. Then the girls will rejoice in the dance, with the boys and old men with them. And I will change their sorrow to delight, and their sighing and anguish to gladness, and satiate their priests with fat, and fill My People with benefits," says the EVER-LIVING.

The Weeping in Ramah.

Thus said the LORD:

"In Ramah a voice is heard;
The weeping and moaning of Rachel,
Bewailing her sons,
For her children refusing all comfort,
Because they are not!"

(The LORD replies thus)

"Restrain your voice from weeping,
And your eyes from shedding tears;
And rest from your grief,"
Says the Lord.

"When you quit your enemy's land, Let this be your hope,"
Says the LORD,

"Your sons shall return to their Home."

"I have heard Ephraim murmur,—
He goads and controls me and strikes,
Like a heifer unused to the reins.
Turn me and I will return,
For you are my GOD Ever-living.

"When turned I resisted;
When taught struck my thigh,
I was shamed and disgraced,
For I bore the reproach of my youth."

The LORD.

"My dear son is Ephraim;—
My beautiful child,
Though I spoke sharp to him,
I always remember,
My love is with him,
And tenderest affection,"
The LORD says.

A Call for Israel's Return.

- 21 Set up your Beacons,—your Landmarks set up!
Fix your heart on the mounds by the way that you marched,
Return, Israel's daughter, return to your City,
How will you wander from Home?
- 22 Return for the LORD has prepared a new thing,
In that Land, a woman embracing a man:

The Blessing upon a Return.

- 23 Thus says the LORD OF HOSTS, the God of Israel:
"They shall again say this thing in the land of Judah and in its cities when I restore you from captivity, 'The EVER-LIVING bless you, Home of Righteousness, Hill of Holiness!'"
- 24 For Judah shall reside in it, and all his cities,—together with farmers,
- 25 and the shepherds of flocks, when
- 26 I will refresh the weary life, and fill every exhausted soul.
- 27 "For see! the days will come," says the EVER-LIVING, "when I will sow the House of Israel, and the House of Judah with the seed of man, and the seed of cattle. And as I watched them to pull up, and drive out, and break down, and to ruin, and to punish;—it will come that in the same way I will watch over them to build and plant," says the EVER-
- 29 LIVING. "In those times they shall not again say, 'The fathers have eaten sour grapes, and the children's teeth are set on edge!' for a man shall only die for his own faults;—every one who eats sour grapes, his own teeth shall be set on edge.
- 31 "Look!" says the EVER-LIVING, "the times will come when I will make a New Covenant with the House of
- 31 Israel, and the House of Judah; unlike the Covenant that I made with their fathers, when I grasped them in My hand to bring them out from the land of the Mitzeraim,—which Covenant they broke, although I was their Guardian," says the EVER-
- 33 LIVING. "But this is the Covenant that I will make with the House of Israel after these days," says the EVER-LIVING. "I will fix My laws in their breast, and write them upon their heart,—and I will be their GOD,
- 34 and they shall be My People. And they shall no more each instruct his neighbour, and each his brother, saying, 'Learn about the EVER-

LIVING!' for all of them will know Me from the least to the greatest," says the EVER-LIVING, "for I will pardon their frailty, and no more remember their sins."

Thus says the LORD Who sets the sun to light by day, and the moon and stars to light by night,—Who stills the roaring waves of the sea—His NAME is the LORD OF HOSTS!—"If those institutions remove themselves from My presence," says the EVER-LIVING, "then the race of Israel can remove itself from being a Nation before me for all time!"

Thus says the EVER-LIVING: "If the skies above, and the foundations of the earth can be measured by a stick,—then can be abolished all that I have done for the whole race of Israel," says the EVER-LIVING.

"Be sure the times will come," says the EVER-LIVING, "when the city will be built for the EVER-LIVING, from the Tower of Hananal to the Corner Gate, and the wall stretch again from there, south of it, over Mount Gareb, and turn to Gathah; and all the vale of corpses, and ashes, and all the fields from the brook Kedron to the sides of the Horse-gate, on the east, shall be consecrated to the EVER-LIVING. It shall never again be pulled up or thrown down for ever and ever."

The Message to Jeremiah in Prison

The message which came from the EVER-LIVING to Jeremiah in the tenth year of Zedekiah, king of Judah, which was the eighteenth year of Nebukhadnezzar, whilst the army of the king of Babel besieged Jerusalem, when Jeremiah was confined in the Court of the Guard-house of the palace of the king of Judah, where Zedekiah, king of Judah, had confined him. He had demanded of him, "Why do you preach asserting, 'Thus says the EVER-LIVING—I will give this city into the hand of the king of Babel, who will capture it. And Zedekiah, king of Judah, shall not escape from the hand of the Kasdim,—for he will be given to the hand of the king of Babel, and speak face to face with him, and see him eye to eye. Zedekiah also shall go to Babel, and be there until I visit him,' says the EVER-LIVING. 'Although he fights with the Kasdim,—he will not succeed.'" Then Jeremiah replied:—"The command of the EVER-LIVING came to me to say, 'Understand that Hanamal-ben-Dudi will come to you and say, Buy for yourself the farm at Anathoth, 'or the right is yours, and the price of redemption.'" Hanamal my cousin accordingly came to me, as the EVER-LIVING had said, to the Court of the Guard, and said to me, "I wish you to buy the farm at Anathoth in the district of Benjamin, for the hereditary right is yours, and you have the funds for its redemption." Then I recognised that it was what the EVER-LIVING had said. I consequently bought the farm at Anathoth from Hanamal my cousin, and weighed the money to him,—seventeen shekels of silver. Then I signed the deed and sealed it, and the witnesses witnessed it, and I counted out the money in their hearing. I then took the sealed Deed of Purchase, with its laws and conditions, and the deed of possession, and gave the Deed of Purchase to Baruk-ben-Nediah-ben-Maksiah in the presence of Hanamal my cousin, and in the presence of the witnesses who had signed the Deed of Purchase, in the presence of all the Jews detained in the courtyard, and instructed Baruk in their presence, saying: "Thus says the LORD OF HOSTS, the GOD of Israel, 'Take these deeds, this Deed of Purchase with its seals, and the Deed of Possession, and put them in an earthenware jar, so that they may be preserved for a long time.'¹ For thus says the LORD OF HOSTS, the GOD of Israel, Never buy houses, or farms, or vineyards in this country!" Then I prayed to the EVER-LIVING, after I had given the Deed of Purchase to Baruk-ben-Nediah, and said:—

¹ NOTE.—Ch. 32, v. 14. The reader should remember that in Jeremiah's day deeds and writings were made on stone, slates, or clay tablets, afterwards baked, and so not liable to decay as paper is.—F. F.

"Oh, Almighty LORD, Who made the solar systems, and the earth, by Your great power, and by Your directing arms,—let not any of Your promises fail! Show kindness to the fallen, and repay the faults of the fathers to the lap of their children after them. The GOD of great power and might,—the LORD OF HOSTS is His name. Great in purpose! multiform in action. Your eyes examine all the ways of the sons of Adam, to give to each according to his ways, and the result of his practices. You appointed signs and portents from the land of the Mitzeraim until now;—as well as in Israel, and among mankind,—and made Yourself a name, as at this day. You brought Your People Israel from the land of the Mitzeraim, with signs and wonders, and with a supporting hand, and directing arm, and with great splendour, and gave them a land flowing with milk and honey. And they came and possessed it. But listened not to Your voice, nor walked according to the laws which You commanded them to practise; they practised them not;—therefore You have brought them to all this misery!

"Look! the embankments are approaching the city! You will give it to the power of the Kasdim who attack it by the edge of the sword,—and to famine, and to plague! What You threatened has come, and You see it! And yet You have commanded me, ALMIGHTY LORD, 'Buy that farm for money, and let witnesses witness it!' when You will give the city to the hands of the Kasdim."

God's Reply to the Prophet.

Then the message from the EVER-LIVING came to Jeremiah to say:—

"See! I am the EVER-LIVING GOD of all flesh. None of My promises will fail! Therefore thus says the EVER-LIVING,—I will give this city to the power of the Kasdim, and to the power of Nebukhadnezzar, king of Babel, who will capture it. And the besieging Kasdim shall come upon this city with fire and burn it, and the houses where they burn incense upon the roofs to Bal, and drink to the seducing gods by means of whom they insult Me. Because the Children of Israel, and the Children of Judah have done wrong in My sight from their youth,—for the Children of Israel provoked Me by the fabrications of their own hands," said the EVER-LIVING. "For this city has been to Me anger and wrath from the day when they built it until now, to make Me sweep it from My presence, on account of all the wickedness which the Children of Israel, and the Children of Judah have done to provoke Me; they, their kings, nobles, priests, and preachers, with the men of Judah, and the population of Jerusalem. They have turned their back, and not their face to Me! although I taught them, beginning to teach them early,—but they would not listen nor take correction. They even set up their idols in the House upon which My NAME had been invoked! to defile it! And erected Columns to Bal in the Vale of Ben-hinnon, to pass their sons and their daughters to Molok,—which I commanded not,—nor had it come up to My heart, to have such horrors practised, to cause Judah to sin.

"But, however," thus says the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel to this city which you say has been given to the hand of the king of Babel by the sword, and by famine, and by plague, "I will collect them again from all the countries where I have driven them in My anger and indignation, and I will restore them in a great gathering to this place, where they can dwell in security, and they will become My People, and I will be their GOD. I will also give them a united heart, and a united course, and they will reverence Me continually to their own benefit, and their children's after them. I will then record an everlasting Covenant with them,—that I will not cease following them with benefits; and I will put reverence of Me into their hearts, so that they will never abandon Me. I also shall delight to benefit them, and to plant them in the land firmly, with all My heart, and with all My soul."

For thus says the EVER-LIVING:—
 "When I have brought this People, —all this great misery, then I will bring all the benefits which I have promised to them. And farms will be bought in this country, where they say, 'It is desolate! It has neither men nor cattle,—it is given to the hand of the Kasdim!' They will buy farms for money, and engrave the Deeds, and seal them, and the witnesses witness, in the district of Benjamin, and around Jerusalem, and in the villages of Judah, and in the towns on the hills, and the villages of the slopes, and the hamlets of the south, for I will restore the captivity," said the EVER-LIVING.

The Restoration of Judah promised.

Another time the message of the 33 EVER-LIVING came to Jeremiah, while he was confined in the Guards Court, to say:—

"Thus says the Creative, the Constructive Life;—His Name is the EVER-LIVING Creator. 'Ask me, and I will answer, and inform you of great events, and treasures you know not!'"

For thus says the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel, "About the houses of this city, and the palaces of the kings of Judah, which are made ruins for the embankments and for the entrenchments made to fight with the Kasdim, and to be filled with carcasses of men whom I will slay in My anger and wrath, and from whom I have hidden Myself,—turning from this city because of all their wickedness; —I will again bring existence and health, and will unveil to them rich peace and security, when I have restored the captives of Judah, and the captives of Israel, with their children, to their former state. For I will purify them from their frailties, by which they offended Me, and pardon the whole of the sins by which they offended Me, and by which they rebelled against Me. And it shall be a monument of delight and beauty, as formerly to every nation of the earth, when they hear all the benefits that I will confer upon them, and tremble with excitement at all the prosperity and peace which I will confer upon it!"

Thus says the EVER-LIVING, "There shall again be heard in this place,—which they say 'It is a ruin without man or beast in the villages of Judah, and the streets of Jerusalem are a desert,—there are no men,—there are no inhabitants,—there are no 11 cattle!—the sound of joy, and the sound of pleasure, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride;—the voice proclaiming,

"Praise the LORD of HOSTS,
For the LORD is good for ever!
Bring praise to the House of the LORD!

"For I will restore the captives to the country,—to their former state," says the EVER-LIVING.

12 Thus says the LORD of HOSTS:—
"There shall again be in this ruined place, where there is neither man nor cattle, and in all its villages,—pastures for shepherds with 13 reclining flocks. In the villages of the hills, and the villages on the slopes, and in the villages of the south, and in the land of Benjamin, and in the neighbourhood of Jerusalem, and in the villages of Judah, the flocks shall pass under the hand of the enumerator!" says the EVER-LIVING.

14 "Be assured the days come," says the EVER-LIVING, "when I will accomplish this good promise, which I have promised to the House of Israel, and the House of Judah. In those 15 days, and at that period, I will cause a Perfect Sceptre to rise up, and he will execute Justice and Right in the 16 land. In those times Judah will be safe, and Israel rest secure, and this is what she will call Him, OUR RIGHTEOUS LORD!"

17 For thus says the EVER-LIVING: "There shall not be wanting a man to David to sit upon the throne of 18 the House of Israel. And to the Levitical Priests there shall not be wanting a man before me to offer up burnt-offerings, and incense, and gifts, and to make sacrifice for all time."

The Confirming of the Promise.

19 The command of the EVER-LIVING also came to Jeremiah to say:

20 "Thus says the EVER-LIVING, 'If My institution of day and night can be broken, so that they should not exist daily and nightly in their 21 periods, then My institution with My Servant David, for him to have a son reigning on his throne, and the Levitical Priests to be My Ministers, may be broken! Since the army of 22 the skies is not counted, or the sand of the sea measured,—so I will extend the race of My servant David, and the service of the Levites to Me.'"

A Reproof to Unbeliebers.

The command of the EVER-LIVING 23 again came to Jeremiah to say:

"Have you seen what this People 24 say, 'The two families that the EVER-LIVING chose, He has cast off, and rejected the nations from continuing in His presence.' The EVER- 25 LIVING, however, declares, 'If I have not appointed the institutions of the day and night;—the fixed laws of the solar systems, and the earth, then I 26 will repudiate the race of Jacob, and My minister David, and not take from his race Governors for the race of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob;—when I restore their captives, and pity them!'"

The Doom of Zedekiah.

This commandment came from the 34 EVER-LIVING to Jeremiah to proclaim, when Nebukhadnezzar, king of Babel, with all his forces, and all the kingdoms of the earth who were controlled by his hand, and all the nations, fought against Jerusalem and all her towns.

Thus said the EVER-LIVING GOD 2 of Israel,— "Go and speak to Zedekiah, king of Judah, and say to him:—'Thus says the EVER-LIVING, I will deliver this city to the hand of the king of Babel, and he will burn it with fire! You also will not 3 escape from his hand! For you will be seized and given to his power, and your eyes shall see the eyes of the king of Babel, and his mouth shall speak to your mouth, and you shall go to Babel. However 4 listen to the message of the EVER-LIVING, Zedekiah, king of Judah! Thus says the EVER-LIVING to you, You shall not die by the sword. You shall die in peace;—and as they 5 burnt for the kings, your forefathers, who were before you, so they shall burn for you, with 'Alas my Prince!' they will lament for you,—for I have promised this promise,' says the EVER-LIVING."

Jeremiah the Preacher accordingly 6 addressed to Zedekiah, king of Judah, the whole of these words in Jerusalem, when the forces of the king of 7 Babel were fighting against Jerusalem, and all the other towns of Judah,—with Lakish and Akron,—for these fortified towns were left to Judah.

On the ~~Sham~~ Abolition of Slavery.

- 8 The command that came to Jeremiah from the EVER-LIVING, after King Zedekiah had made an agreement for all the people who were in Jerusalem to proclaim them free; 9 that everyone should liberate his man slave or his woman slave,—who was a Hebrew or a Hebrewess,—freeing from slavery to their brother 10 Hebrews. And all the nobles and people obeyed when the decree came out, and each sent their man slave or their female slave into freedom, so as never again to be enslaved; 11 —they obeyed, and freed them. But afterwards they turned and captured their male and female slaves whom they had released to freedom, and reduced them again to male and female slaves.
- 12 Then a command came from the EVER-LIVING to Jeremiah to proclaim:—
- 13 “ Thus says the EVER-LIVING God of Israel! I made a Covenant with your ancestors at the time when I brought them from the land of the Mitzeraim, from the House of Slavery, 14 ordering, ‘ At the end of seven years you must each one release his enslaved brother, whom you have bought. He shall serve you six years;—then you must send him from you into freedom.’ But your fathers would not listen to Me, nor incline their ears.
- 15 “ You, however, repented the other day, and did right in My eyes by proclaiming liberty to each of your relatives, and you enacted a decree, over which My NAME was invoked. 16 But now you have turned and polluted My NAME, and everyone seizes his male or female slave, whom you had released into freedom, to pollute and degrade them to be your slaves and slavesses.
- 17 “ Therefore,” the EVER-LIVING declares, “ as you have not obeyed Me to proclaim everyone liberty to his brother, and each to his neighbour,—I will proclaim you free,” says the EVER-LIVING, “ to the sword, to plague, and to famine, and I will deliver you to be scattered in 18 all the kingdoms of the earth! And I will deliver the men who broke My Agreement,—who did not stand by the terms of the Agreement which they made before Me,—by a heifer cut in two, and they passing between 19 the portions,—the nobles of Judah, and the nobles of Jerusalem, with cabinet ministers, and the priests, with all the army of the country, between the portions,—I will give 20 them to the hand of their enemies;—to the hand seeking their life,—and their carcases shall become food for the birds of the sky, and the beasts of the earth. I will also give Zede- 21 kiah, king of Judah, and his officers to the power of their enemies, to the hand that seeks their life, to the mighty hand of the king of Babel, who has gone away from you. I have 22 ordered them to return!” says the EVER-LIVING, “ to this city, and they will attack it, and capture, and burn it with fire, and I will make the towns of Judah desolate, without inhabitants!”

Jeremiah Ordered to Visit the Rekabites,

The command that came from the 35 EVER-LIVING to Jeremiah in the days of Jhoiakim-ben-Joshiah, king of Judah, saying: “ Go to the family 2 of the Rekabites, and talk with them, and bring them to the House of the EVER-LIVING, to one of the chambers, and offer them wine to drink.”

I consequently took Jazaniah-ben- 3 Jeremiah-ben-Kabazaniah, and his brothers, and all his sons, and the whole family of the Rekabites, and 4 led them to the House of the EVER-LIVING, to the chamber of the son of Hanan-ben-Igdaliah, the Man of God, who lodged in the chambers of the officers, which were above the chamber of Masiah-ben-Shalum the 5 Warder of the Threshold. Then I set before the sons of the family of the Rekabites flagons full of wine, and cups and asked them to drink wine. But they replied, 6

“ We drink no wine! for Jonadab-ben-Rekab, our ancestor, gave us an order, saying, ‘ You or your children shall not drink wine for ever! Nor 7 shall you build houses or sow grain, or plant vineyards. That shall not be your business. But you shall live in tents all your days;—so that you may live long lives on the face of the ground where you are strangers! So 8 we are obedient to the voice of

- Jonadab-ben-Rekab our ancestor, in all that he ordered us,—never drinking wine all our days, we, or our wives, or our sons and daughters; and we never build houses to dwell in, or plant vineyards, or farms. We have them not! But we dwell in tents, and listen to, and do all that Jonadab our ancestor ordered. But when Nebukhaddezzar, king of Babel, advanced into the country we said 'Let us go to Jerusalem before the army of the Kasdim.' So we lodge in Jerusalem."
- 12 Then the command of the EVER-LIVING came to Jeremiah to say:
- 13 "Thus says the LORD OF HOSTS, the GOD of Israel! Go and say to the men of Judah, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem,—'Why will you not learn to listen to My commands?'"
- 14 The EVER-LIVING asks. 'The commands of Jonadab-ben-Rekab that he ordered to his sons not to drink wine,—stand! They drink no wine to this day! For they obey the order of their ancestor! But I commanded you,—beginning early and speaking,
- 15 —but you have not obeyed Me! I also sent you all My servants the Preachers,—rising early and sending to say, 'Turn I pray, each from his bad way, and reflect upon your proceedings, and follow not seducing gods, to serve them;—and stay on the ground I gave to you and your ancestors,—but you would not incline your ears, and would not listen to Me! Although the sons of Jonadab-ben-Rekab established the orders which their ancestor commanded, yet this People
- 17 will not listen to Me. Therefore," thus says the EVER-LIVING GOD OF HOSTS, the GOD of Israel;—"I will bring upon Judah, and all the population of Jerusalem, all the miseries that I have promised them,—because I spoke to them and they would not hear, and I called, but they would not answer!"
- 18 But to the House of the Rekabites Jeremiah said, "Thus says the LORD OF HOSTS, the GOD of Israel:—Because you have obeyed all the orders of Jonadab, your ancestor, and have kept all his commands, and practised all that he commanded you,
- 19 —thus says the LORD OF HOSTS, the GOD of Israel,—there shall not be wanting a man to Jonadab-ben-Rekab to stand before Me for all time!"

Jeremiah Ordered to Record his Prophecies.

It was in the fourth year of 36 Jhoiakim-ben-Joshiah, king of Judah, that this command came to Jeremiah from the EVER-LIVING to say:

"Prepare for yourself a book-roll 2 and write upon it the whole of the speeches I have dictated to you about Israel and Judah, and all the nations, from the day I spoke to you,—from the days of Joshiah to this day. Perhaps the House of Judah will 3 listen to all the misery I contemplate to produce for them, and may each one turn from his wicked way,—when I will forgive their frailties and sins."

Jeremiah therefore invited Baruk 4 ben-Nediah, and he wrote, from the mouth of Jeremiah, all the words which the EVER-LIVING had spoken to him, upon the volume. Then 5 Jeremiah instructed Baruk, saying: "I am imprisoned and cannot go to the House of the EVER-LIVING,—but 6 you go, and read from this volume what you have written from my mouth of the speeches of the EVER-LIVING, in the ears of the people in the House of the EVER-LIVING, upon the fast day;—and also read it in the hearing of all Judah who come from their villages. Perhaps you will im- 7 plore them before the EVER-LIVING, and some will turn from their bad way;—for the anger and wrath which the LORD proclaims against this people is great."

Baruk Reads the Roll in the Temple Court.

Baruk-ben-Nediah did as Jeremiah 8 the Preacher instructed him, and read from the volume the messages of the EVER-LIVING in the House of the EVER-LIVING. This was done 9 in the fifth year of Jhoiakim-ben-Joshiah, King of Judah, in the eighth month when a Fast was proclaimed before the EVER-LIVING for all the people of Jerusalem, and all the people of Judah who came from the towns of Judah to Jerusalem. Baruk 10 then read the speeches of Jeremiah from the book in the House of the EVER-LIVING, in the chamber of Ghemeriah-ben-Shafan, the Recorder, in the higher court opposite the New Gate of the House of the EVER-LIVING, in the hearing of all the 11 people. But Makiah-ben-Ghemeriah-ben-Shafan heard all the messages of the EVER-LIVING from the Book, and he descended to the Royal Palace, to the office of the Recorder, and found all the officials sitting there,—Alishamah the Recorder, and Ghedaliah-ben-Shemiah, and Alnathan-ben-Akbor, and Ghemeriah-ben-Shafan, and Zidikiah-ben-Hananiah, and other officers, and Makiah reported to them all the things he had heard read by Baruk from the Book in the hearing of the people.

14 The officials consequently sent to Baruk, Judi the son of Nathaniah-ben-Shelemiah-ben-Kusi, to say, "Take the volume that you are reading in the hearing of the people in your hand and come." So Baruk-ben-Nediah took the volume in his hand and went with them, and they said, "Sit down if you please, and read it in our hearing." Baruk consequently read it in their hearing.

16 But when they heard all the messages, each was terrified at his friend, and said to Baruk, "We must report the whole of these matters to the King!" And asked Baruk, "Tell us, now, how you wrote all these speeches from his mouth?"

18 And Baruk replied to them, "He dictated to me from his mouth all these speeches, and I wrote them on the book with my hand."

19 Then the officers said to Baruk, "Go, hide yourself and Jeremiah, and let no one know where you are."

Joiakim hears Part read, and then Burns the Book.

20 They afterwards went to the court of the King,—but placed the volume in the office of Alishamah the Recorder, and reported the affair to the ears of the King. The King therefore sent Judi to fetch the volume, who brought it from the office of Alishamah the Recorder.—Judi then read it in the hearing of the King, and in the hearing of all the officials who stood near the king. At the time the king was staying in the Winter Palace, in the ninth month, and there was a fireplace opposite him, so when Judi had read three or four passages, he cut the book with a penknife, and flung it upon the fire in the grate until he had consumed the whole volume in the fire that was in the grate. And neither the king, nor any of his ministers feared, or tore their robes at hearing all those threatenings! However, 25 Alnathan, and Ghedaliah, and Ghemeriah, entreated the king not to burn the volume. But he would not listen to them. The king then ordered 26 Irakhmal-ben-Amalek, and Sariah-ben-Azrial, and Shelemiah-ben-Abdial, to seize Baruk the writer, and Jeremiah the Preacher. But the EVER-LIVING concealed them.

Jeremiah Ordered to Rewrite His Prophecies.

Then the command of the EVER-LIVING came to Jeremiah, after the king had burnt the volume, and the messages that were written by Baruk from the dictation of Jeremiah, to say:—

"Take another volume again for 28 yourself, and write in it all the former threatenings, which were in the first volume that Jhoiakim, king of Judah, burnt. And say against Jhoiakim, 29 king of Judah, 'Thus says the EVER-LIVING, you have burnt this volume, demanding, 'Why have you written it? Asserting that the king of Babel will come, and desolate this country, and capture from it man and cattle?' Therefore the EVER-LIVING replies 30 thus to Jhoiakim, king of Judah,— 'He shall not rest on the throne of David, but his carcass shall be flung out to the heat of day and the cold of night! And I will fix upon him, and 31 his race, and his ministers their faults! I will also bring upon them, and the population of Jerusalem, and the men of Judah, all the misery which I have threatened to them,— but they would not listen!'"

Jeremiah again Writes.

Jeremiah consequently prepared 32 another volume, and gave it to Baruk, the writer, and he wrote in it from the mouth of Jeremiah all the messages of the book that Jhoiakim, king of Judah, had burnt in the fire, and added further to them many other things.

King Sedekiah asks Jeremiah to Pray for Judah.

When King Sedekiah-ben-Joshiah 37 reigned instead of Koniah-ben-Jhoiakim, whom Nebukhadnezzar, king of Babel, appointed king of the land of Judah, he, and his ministers, and the people of the country listened not to the messages of the EVER-LIVING which were delivered by means of Jeremiah the Preacher. Zedekiah, however, sent Jhukal-ben-Shelemiah, and Zefaniah-ben-Masiah, the priest, to Jeremiah the Preacher, to say,—

"Intercede now on account of us to our EVER-LIVING GOD." For Jeremiah at that time came and went amongst the people for they had not put him into the House of Restraint, and the army of Pharaoh was advancing from Mitzer, and when the Kasdim, who besieged Jerusalem, heard the report they departed from Jerusalem.

Then the command of the EVER-LIVING came to the Preacher Jeremiah to say: "Thus says the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel,—Say to the king of Judah who has sent to you to enquire of Me,—'Be sure that the forces of Pharaoh that are advancing to help you, will return to Mitzer.' The Kasdim also will return and assail this city, and capture it, and burn it with fire!

Thus says the EVER-LIVING, "Do not raise your spirits by saying, The Kasdim have gone from us! For they are not gone! For if you defeated the whole force of the Kasdim who assailed you, and there were only wounded men left in their tents,—they would arise and burn this city with fire."

Jeremiah Seized as a Deserter.

But when the army of the Kasdim retired from Jerusalem before the force of Pharaoh, Jeremiah went out from Jerusalem to go to the district of Benjamin to the part belonging there to his people. But when he came to the Benjamin Gate, there was a captain on guard named Iriah-ben-Shelemiah, and he seized Jeremiah the Preacher, saying, "You are deserting to the Kasdim!"

But Jeremiah answered "It is false! I am not deserting to the Kasdim!"

He would not, however, listen to him. So Iriah seized Jeremiah the Preacher, and brought him to the generals, and the generals were furious against Jeremiah and flogged him, and put him in prison at the house of Jonathan the Recorder, who managed the House of Detention.

Then Jeremiah was brought to the Pit-house, and the cells, and was detained a long time. At length king Zedekiah sent and fetched him; and the king enquired of him in private at his own palace,—and asked,

"Is there any message from the EVER-LIVING?"

Jeremiah Talks with King Zedekiah.

When Jeremiah asked King Zedekiah, "How have I offended you, and your ministers, and this people that they have put me into the House of Detention? Where are your Preachers who preached to you saying, 'The king of Babel will not come against you, or against this country?' But now, your Majesty listen I beg,—let my entreaty fall before you, and send me not back to the House of Jonathan the Recorder, and let me not be killed there."

King Zedekiah, consequently, ordered it, and they placed Jeremiah in the Court of the Guards, with a portion of food daily from the bakeries, until all the provisions were consumed from the city. So Jeremiah stayed in the court of the Guard.

The Generals Demand the Prophet's Death.

However, Shafatiah-ben-Mathan, and Ghedaliah-ben-Pashkur, and Jokal-ben-Shelemiah, and Pashkur-ben-Malkiah, heard the speeches which Jeremiah addressed to all the people, saying, "Thus says the EVER-LIVING, 'Whoever stays in this city will die by the sword, famine and plague! but whoever goes out to the Kasdim will live, and his life will be like a prize to him,—and he shall live. Thus says the EVER-LIVING, I will give this city to the hand of the army of the king of Babel—and it shall capture it!'"

The generals consequently said to the king, "Put this man to death, we beg, for through him the hands of the soldiers left to us in the town are weakened, and the hands of all the people by his uttering these speeches. For this man does not contribute to the safety of this people, but to its injury."

And King Zedekiah replied:—"He is in your power;—for the king has not the power to speak contrary to you."

- 6 They consequently took Jeremiah and flung him into the well of Malkiah-ben-Hamelek, which was in the Court of the Guards, lowering Jeremiah with ropes. The well had no water in it, but only mud, and
- 7 Jeremiah plunged into the mud. But Abd-melek, the Kushite, who was eunuch of the king's palace, heard that they had put Jeremiah into the well, while the king was staying at the
- 8 Benjamin Gate, so Abd-melek went from the palace and spoke to the
- 9 king, to say:—"Your Majesty, those men have done wrong in all they have done to Jeremiah the Preacher, whom they have thrown into the well, where he will die from hunger, for there is no more food in this city."
- 10 Then the king ordered Abd-melek the Kushite, saying, "Take along with you from here thirty men, and pull Jeremiah the Preacher up from the well, before he dies."
- 11 Abd-melek accordingly took the men along with him, and went to the palace, to the lower store, and took from there old sacks, and old rags, and passed them down to Jeremiah, in the well with ropes,
- 12 and Abd-melek the Kushite said to Jeremiah, "Put the old sacks and rags, under the sides of your arms, beneath the ropes." And Jeremiah
- 13 did so. Then they drew Jeremiah up with the ropes from the well, and put him into the Court of the Guards.
- 14 King Zedekiah afterwards sent, and fetched Jeremiah the Preacher to himself, to the third entry of the House of the LORD where the king said to Jeremiah, "I will ask you something,—do not fear to speak to me."
- 15 But Jeremiah replied, to Zedekiah, "When I inform you, will you not put me to death? And if I give you advice you will not listen to me!"
- 16 King Zedekiah, however, swore to Jeremiah privately, saying, "By the life of the EVER-LIVING, Who made our souls, I will not kill you, and I will not give you into the power of the men who seek your life!"
- 17 Then Jeremiah said to Zedekiah, "Thus says the EVER-LIVING GOD OF HOSTS the GOD of Israel;—If you will go out to the generals of the king of Babel, your soul shall live, and this city will not be burnt with fire,—and your family shall live with you.
- 18 But if you do not go out to the generals of the king of Babel, then this city will be given to the hand of the Kasdim, who will burn it with fire,—and you will not escape from their hands!"

King Zedekiah, however, answered 19 Jeremiah, "I fear the Jews who have deserted to the Kasdim, to whose power they might deliver me to insult me!"

But Jeremiah replied, "They will 20 not give you. Listen, I beg, to the advice of the EVER-LIVING that I communicate to you,—for it will benefit you,—and your soul shall live. If, however, you refuse to go out,— 21 this is the result which the EVER-LIVING has shown me. Be certain 22 that all the women left in the palace of the king of Judah, will be brought out to the king of Babel's generals, and those women will exclaim, 'Your fine friends persuaded and mastered you! Your feet are stuck in the mud! Your ankles are fast!' And the 23 whole of your wives and children will be brought out to the Kasdim;—and you will not escape from their hand, for they will take you to the control of the king of Babel, and this city will be burnt with fire."

Zedekiah then said to Jeremiah, 24 "Let no person know of this conversation,—and you shall not die. For if the generals hear that I have 25 talked with you, and come to you, and ask you, 'Inform us, we pray, what the king has said to you,—do not fear us for you shall not be put to death,—but what did the king say to you?' you must say to them, 'I 26 presented an appeal to the king, that he would not send me back to the house of Jhonathan to die there.'"

All the generals afterwards came 27 to Jeremiah, and asked him, when he told them all the things the king had ordered, and they were contented with them, for they had not heard the conversation. But Jeremiah 28 stayed in the Court of the Guards until the day when Jerusalem was captured.

The Capture of Jerusalem.

And when Jerusalem had been 39 attacked in the tenth month of the ninth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babel, and all his forces, came to Jerusalem and besiege it; and in the eleventh year 4 of Zedekiah in the ninth day of the fourth month, the city was breached.

- 3 Then all the generals of the king of Babel came and stationed themselves at the central gate;—Nergal, Sharatzer, Samgar nebo, Sarskim, High Chamberlain; Nergal, Sharatzer, the High-magus; and all the rest of the generals of the king of Babel. And when Zedekiah king of Judah and all his soldiers saw them, they fled, and went out of the city by night by the road of the king's garden, at the gate between the walls, and proceeded towards the Arbah. But the Kasdim pursued after them, and overtook Zedekiah at the fords of the Jordan, and seized and brought him to Nebukhadnezzar, king of Babel, at Riblath, in the district of Khamah, when he pronounced judgment upon him. And the king of Babel murdered the sons of Zedekiah before his eyes in Riblath. The king of Babel also slew all the soldiers of Judah. Then he pulled out the eyes of Zedekiah, and bound him in chains, and sent him to Babel.
- 8 The Kasdim also burnt the palaces of the king, and the houses of the people with fire, and threw down the walls of Jerusalem. But the residue of the people remaining in the city, and the deserters who had deserted to him, and the rest of the people remaining, Nebuzaradan, the commander of the guards, transferred to Babel.
- 10 Yet some of the lower people, who possessed nothing whatever, Nebuzaradan, the commander of the guards, left in the land of Judah, and gave them vineyards and farms.¹
- 11 Nebukhadnezzar, king of Babel, also ordered Jeremiah to the protection of Nebuzaradan, commander of the guards, saying, "Take him, and keep your eyes on him, that no injury whatever may be done to him, and whatever he requests you, do it for him." Then he dismissed Nebuzaradan, the commander of the Guards, and Nebushazbaz, the High Chamberlain, and Nergal-Sharatzter, the High Magus, and all the nobles of the king of Babel, and they sent and took Jeremiah from the court of the Guards, and placed him with Ghedaliah-ben-Akhikam-beu-Shafan, to take him to his home. So he stayed among the People.

The Promise to Abd-melek.

But the command of the EVER-LIVING had come to Jeremiah while he was confined in the court of the guards to say:—

"Go and speak of Abd-melek, the Kushite, and say,—Thus says the LORD OF HOSTS, the GOD of Israel! I will bring My promise upon this city for misery, and not for benefit! And they are before you to-day! But I will rescue you at present," says the EVER-LIVING, "and you shall not be given into the hand of the men you fear. For I will be a refuge for you, and you shall not fall by the sword, but your life shall be a gain to you,—for you have trusted in Me," says the EVER-LIVING.

Jeremiah Freed from the Chain-gang.

The command that came to Jeremiah from the EVER-LIVING, after Nebuzaradan, the commander of the guards, had sent to him when he was chained amongst the chain-gangs, for all the prisoners of Jerusalem and Judah to be transported to Babel, when the general of the guards approached Jeremiah and said to him:—"Your EVER-LIVING GOD commanded this misery to this place, and the EVER-LIVING come and done as He threatened, because you sinned against the EVER-LIVING and did not listen to His voice,—therefore this result has come to you. But now, see, I will release you at once from this chain-gang by which you are loaded. If it is good in your opinion to come with me to Babel, come, and I will fix my eyes upon you. But if it is bad in your opinion to come with me to Babel, do not do it. See! all the country is before you to go wherever is good and right in your eyes. If you are not willing to go with us,—then go with Ghedaliah-ben-Akhikam-beu-Shafan whom the king of Babel has appointed over the cities of Judah, and stay with him amongst your People,—or wherever it is right in your opinion to go,—go."

Then the commander of the guards gave him a pension and allowance, and dismissed him; and Jeremiah went with Ghedaliah-ben-Akhikam to Mitzfah, and stayed with him amongst the people who remained in the country.

¹ NOTE.—Ch. 39, v. 10. (To this time.) The words "to this time" are an old copyist's comment, not the prophet's writing, so I put them at the foot.—F. F.

Ghedaliah made Governor of Judah.

- 7 When all the generals of the forces who were in the open field, and their men heard that the king of Babel had appointed Ghedaliah-ben-Akhikam over the land—for those were not 8 transported to Babel, they came to Ghedaliah to Mitzfah, with Ishmael-ben-Nathaniah, and Jokhanan, and Jonathan, and Izniab-ben-Korakh, and Sariah-ben-Thankhumath, and the sons of Aui, the Natofathiite, Izniab-ben-Hamakathite, and their 9 men, and Ghedaliah-ben-Akhikam-ben-Shafan promised them and their men, saying " Fear not to serve the Kasdim; stay in the country and serve the king of Babel, and you will 10 prosper. But I myself will reside in Mitzfah, to stand before the Kasdim who have come to us,—and you can gather the wine, and harvest, and oil, and lay up for provisions, and reside in the towns you have seized."
- 11 And the Jews also who are in Moab, and among the Beni-Amon, and in Edom, and in all the countries heard that the king of Babel had given allotments in Judah, and that he had appointed Ghedaliah-ben-Akhikam-ben-Shafan over them, consequently 12 all the Jews returned from all the places where they had fled, and came to the land of Judah, to Ghedaliah at Mitzfah, and harvested the wine, and corn to a great amount.

3 Conspiracy to Murder Ghedaliah.

- 13 Jokhanan-ben-Korakh, and all the generals of the field forces, afterwards came to Ghedaliah at Mitzfah, and asked him, " Do you know that Balis, king of the Beni-Amon, has sent Ishmael-ben-Nathaniah to take your life?" But Ghedaliah-ben-Akhikam did not believe them.
- 15 Consequently Jokhanan-ben-Korakh spoke in private to Ghedaliah in Mitzfah, to say: " I will go now, and assail Ishmael-ben-Nathaniah, and no one shall know. Why should he take your life, and scatter all Judea which is collecting to you, when the remnant of Judea will perish?"
- 16 But Ghedaliah-ben-Akhikam replied to Jokhanan-ben-Korakh, " You shall not do such a thing,—for you speak falsely about Ishmael."

But in the seventh month, 41 Ishmael-ben-Nathaniah-ben-Aliis-hama, of the Royal Family, and a royal noble came, and ten men with him, to Ghedaliah-ben-Akhikam, at Mitzfah, and dined with him in Mitzfah. Then Ishmael-ben-Nathaniah 2 and the ten men who were with him arose and assailed Ghedaliah-ben-Akhikam-ben-Shafan with the sword and killed him, whom the king of Babel had appointed over the country, and the whole of the Jews who were 3 with Ghedaliah in Mitzfah, along with the Kasdim found there, the soldiers of Ishmael killed.

But two days after the murder of 4 Ghedaliah, while no one knew, it 5 happened that eighty men came from Shekem, from Shiloh, and from Shomeron, each with his beard shaven, and clothes torn, and with gashes, and with bread offerings and incense in their hands to go to the House of the EVER-LIVING, and 6 Ishmael-ben-Nathaniah went out from Mitzfah to meet them, advancing and weeping, and when he reached them he said, " Come to Ghedaliah-ben-Akhikam." But when they had 7 come to the inner court of the citadel, Ishmael-ben-Nathaniah and the men who were with him, assassinated them at the deep well. Ten of the men, 8 however, who had met him, exclaimed to Ishmael, " Do not kill us! for we have wheat, and barley, and oil, and honey stored at our farms." So he refrained, and did not kill them with their friends. The well where Ishmael threw all the bodies of the men he murdered, besides Ghedaliah, was that which King Asa made when opposing Basha king of Israel,—Ishmael-ben-Nathaniah filled it with his victims. Then Ishmael captured 10 all the remainder of the people who were at Mitzfah, the king's daughter and all the people whom Nebuzardan, the commander of the guards, had entrusted to Ghedaliah-ben-Akhikam,—Ishmael-ben-Nathaniah seized them and went off to Beni-Amon.

But Jokhanan-ben-Korakh and all 11 the generals of the forces who were with him heard of all the wickedness that Ishmael-ben-Nathaniah had done, so they took their men and 12 went to attack Ishmael-ben-

- Nathaniah, and found him at the Great Lake of Gibeon. And when the people who were with Ishmael-ben-Nathaniah saw Jokhanan - ben-Korakh, and the officers of the army, they were glad; and the whole mass whom Ishmael had captured at Mitzfah revolted, and deserted, and went to Jokhanan-ben-Korakh. At which Ishmael-ben-Nathaniah fled with eight men before Jokhanan, and went to the Beni-Amon.
- So Jokhanan-ben-Korakh and all the army officers with him took the remainder of the people whom Ishmael-ben-Nathaniah had captured at Mitzfah, after he murdered Ghedaliah-ben-Akhikam, the capable soldiers, and the women and children, and their attendants, whom he had captured at Gibeon, and went and retreated to the Caravanserai of Kimoham, near Bethlehem, with the object of marching to Mitzer, from the presence of the Kasdim. For they were afraid of them, because Ishmael-ben-Nathaniah had assassinated Ghedaliah-ben-Akhikam, whom the king of Babel had appointed over the country.

Jeremiah asked to pray for Guidance.

- From there the whole force proceeded with Jokhanan-ben-Korakh, and Izaniah-ben-Hoshiah, and all the crowd, both little and great, and said to Jeremiah the Preacher: "Let us request you to lie down on your face, and pray to your EVER-LIVING GOD on account of us,—on account of this little fragment of the many your eyes have seen we once were, and let your EVER-LIVING GOD inform us of the way we should go and the things we should do."
- And Jeremiah the Preacher answered "I have heard you. I will pray to your EVER-LIVING GOD as you command;—and whatever message the EVER-LIVING replies, I will report to you. I will not hold a word back from you."
- When they replied, "May the EVER-LIVING be a true and faithful witness against us, if we do not act in accordance with every word your EVER-LIVING GOD sends to us! We will do it! Whether the direction of our EVER-LIVING GOD is pleasant or unpleasant. Since we have sent you to Him we will obey,—so that it may benefit us. We will indeed listen to the voice of our EVER-LIVING GOD."

It happened at the end of ten days that the command of the EVER-LIVING came to Jeremiah, and he summoned Jokhanan - ben - Korakh, and all the officers of the forces who were with him, and all the crowd, from the children to the adults, and said to them, "Thus says the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel, to whom you sent me to lay down your entreaty before Him, 'If you continue in this country, then I will build you up, and not throw down,—and plant you and not pull up,—because I am grieved at the misery I have made for you. Fear nothing from the king of Babel, whom you fear,—be not afraid about him,' says the EVER-LIVING, 'for I will be with you to secure you, and to deliver you from his hand, and show you mercy;—and he will show you mercy, and restore you to your land.' But if you reply, 'We will continue in this country, nor listen to the voice of GOD,' and say, 'No! but we will go to the land of the Mitzeraim where we shall not see war, nor hear the voice of a trumpet,—nor famish for bread, and we will settle there'; then, again, hear the message of the EVER-LIVING, Remnant of Judah! Thus says the LORD OF HOSTS, the GOD of Israel! If you turn your faces to go to Mitzer, and go as foreigners there, the sword you are afraid of will come there to hunt you in the land of the Mitzeraim, and the famine you dread will stick close after you there in the land of the Mitzeraim;—and there you will die! Yes! All the men who set their faces to go to Mitzer, to lodge there, will die by the sword, the famine and the plague, and shall not possess an escape or refuge from the miseries that I will bring upon them!

"For thus says the LORD OF HOSTS, the GOD of Israel! 'As I poured out My anger and indignation upon the population of Jerusalem, so I will pour My indignation upon you who are going to the Mitzeraim, and you shall become a curse, and a source of desolation, and degradation, and reproach and never again see this place!' The command of the EVER-LIVING to you, the Remnant of Judah, is 'Go not to the Mitzeraim!' Comprehend what I have told you to-day! However you deluded your own souls when you sent me to your EVER-LIVING GOD, saying 'Entreat your EVER-LIVING GOD on account of us,—and whatever our EVER-LIVING GOD says to us, we will follow and do it!' I have told you to-day, but you will not listen to the direction of your EVER-LIVING GOD in anything He has sent by me to you! Therefore, now, assure yourselves you will die by the sword, by famine, and by plague in the place where you had decided to go and lodge."

The Jewish Generals refuse to believe Jeremiah's Message.

43 But when Jeremiah had finished communicating to the crowd of all the commands of their EVER-LIVING GOD, which their EVER-LIVING GOD had sent to them,—all these commands, Azriah-ben-Hoshiah, and Jokhanan-ben-Korakh, and all the insolent fellows, exclaimed to Jeremiah,

"You are a liar! Our EVER-LIVING GOD has not sent commanding you to tell us not to go to the Mitzeraim to lodge there. But Baruk-ben-Neriah has set you on to us, so that he may give us into the power of the Kasdim to be killed or to transport us to Babel!"

4 Consequently Jokhanan-ben-Korakh, and all the officers of the army, and the crowd, would not listen to the instruction of the EVER-LIVING to stay in the land of Judah. 5 So Jokhanan-ben-Korakh, and all the officers of the forces, took all the fragments of Judah that had returned to the land of Judah from all the nations where they had fled to lodge,—all the men, and women, and children,—with the daughters of the king, and all the persons whom Nebuzaradan, the commander of the guards, had entrusted to Ghedaliah-ben-Akikam, and Jeremiah the Preacher, and Baruk-ben-Neriah, and went to the land of the Mitzeraim,—for they would not listen to the instruction of the EVER-LIVING, but went to Thakhfanes.

Jeremiah ordered to bring Witnessing Stones.

8 But the command of the EVER-LIVING came to Jeremiah in Thakhfanes to say:
9 "Take great stones in your hands, and set them in white mortar in the Pavement, that is upon the square of Pharoh's palace at Thakhfanes, in the presence of the men of Judah,—and say to them. Thus says the LORD OF HOSTS, the GOD of Israel, 10 I will send, and bring My servant Nebukhadnezzar, king of Babel, and place his throne over these stones which I have set, and spread his splendid tent over them! He shall 11 come, and strike in the land of the Mitzeraim whoever are for death,—with death; and whoever are for slavery,—with slavery; and whoever are for the sword,—with the sword! And I will set fire to the temples of 12 the gods of the Mitzerites and burn them, and capture them, and he will put the land of Mitzer upon himself like a shepherd puts on his coat, and go out of it in quietude. He will 13 also break the pillars of the Temple of the Sun that is in the land of the Mitzeraim, and burn the temples of the gods of the Mitzeraim with fire!"

A Message to the Jews in Egypt.

The command which came to Jeremiah for all the Jews resident in the land of the Mitzeraim,—the residents in Migdol, and Thakhfanes, and in Nof, in the district of Pathrom,—to say:

"Thus says the LORD OF HOSTS, 2 the GOD of Israel! You saw all the miseries which I brought upon Jerusalem, and upon all the cities of Judah, and see them to-day a heap of ashes with no inhabitants in them, because of the wickedness that they 3 practised, to provoke Me, by going and burning incense to, and serving seducing gods, which neither you nor your fathers knew, although I sent 4 My servants the Preachers to you,—rising early and sending,—'Do not that loathsome thing that I hate!' But they would not listen, nor incline 5 their ears, or turn from their wickedness, and cease to burn incense to seducing gods, therefore I poured 6 out My indignation and anger; and burnt the cities of Judah, and overthrew Jerusalem, and they are ashes, and desolate to-day!

"But now the LORD GOD OF HOSTS, 7 the GOD of Israel asks this, Why will you commit this great sin against your own lives? It will cut off man and woman,—child and suckling from Judah, until not a fragment is 8 left! Why will you insult Me by the fabrications of your own hands, and burn incense to seducing gods in the land of the Mitzeraim where you have come to lodge? so as to cut yourselves off; and so as to make yourselves a curse, and reproach to all the nations of the earth? Have you forgotten the wickedness of your fathers? and the wickedness of the kings of Judah, and the wickedness of their wives? and your own wickedness? and the wickedness of your wives,—which they committed in the land of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem? You have not repented to this day! You have not feared,—and not walked in My laws, or My institutions that I put before you, and before your fathers. Therefore thus says the LORD OF HOSTS, the GOD of Israel! I have set My face against you to punish, and to bring all Judah to destruction. Consequently I will take the fragments of Judah, who set their faces to go to the land of the Mitzeraim to lodge, and will kill you all in the land of Mitzer. They shall fall by the sword, and by famine. They shall die from the least to the greatest:—they shall die by the sword and by famine, and be a curse, and desolation, and scorn, and reproach! I will also appoint over the residents in the land of the Mitzeraim, what I appointed over Jerusalem,—sword, famine, and plague! And there shall be no refuge or escape, for the fragments of Judah who have come to lodge in the land of the Mitzeraim, nor a return to the land of Judah, which they lift up their souls to return to, and rest in,—for they shall not return, nor escape!"

The Crowd assail Jeremiah.

15 Then all the men who knew that their wives burnt incense to seducing gods, and all the women stood up in a great meeting with all the people resident at Pathrom in the land of Mitzer, and replied to Jeremiah; 16 exclaiming, "We will not listen to the command that you address to us in the name of the EVER-LIVING. 17 But do every word that comes from our own mouths,—and burn incense to the Queen of the Skies, and drink our drinks to her,—as we ourselves used to do, and our mothers, and kings, and nobles, in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem; when we had plenty of bread, and were prosperous, and saw no misery. And when we burnt incense 18 to the Queen of the Skies and drank our drinks to her, was it without the consent of our husbands that we made cakes to present her,—and drank drinks to her?"

But Jeremiah answered to the 20 whole crowd,—to the men and women,—and all the people who replied to him in that speech, and said,—

"Was not the incense you burnt 21 in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem,—you, and your mothers, your kings and nobles, and the people of your country, remembered by the EVER-LIVING, and came to His knowledge? until the EVER- 22 LIVING was not able to bear your wicked ways, on account of the abominations that you practised,—therefore your country has become a heap of ashes, and a desolation, and scorn, and without inhabitants, as it now is! because of that burning of 23 incense and that sin against the EVER-LIVING, and your not listening to the voice of the EVER-LIVING, or to His laws and institutions, and evidences, nor walking after them. Consequently this misery has approached you at this time! How- 24 ever," said Jeremiah to all the people, and to all the women, "listen to the command of the EVER-LIVING, all Judah who are in the land of the Mitzeraim. Thus the LORD OF 25 HOSTS, the GOD of Israel commands me to tell you and your wives, who have spoken by your mouths, and have done it by your hands, to say, 'We will perform the vows which we have vowed to burn incense to the Queen of the skies, and to drink drinks to her;—confirm, then, your vows, and perform your vows.' Yet, 26 however, hear the message of the EVER-LIVING, all Judah, residing in the land of the Mitzeraim. I have sworn by My GREAT NAME, says the EVER-LIVING, that never again shall My NAME be invoked by the mouth of any inan of Judah, saying by the LIVING MIGHTY LORD in all the land of the Mitzeraim! I will watch over 27 them to punish, and not to benefit, and every man of Judah in Mitzer shall die by the sword, and by the famine, to the last of them. Yet 28 refugees from the sword shall return from the land of the Mitzeraim to the land of Judah,—a small number. Then all the fragments of Judah who went to the land of the Mitzeraim, to lodge there, will know whose word 29 stands—Mine or theirs! And this shall be the sign to you," says the EVER-LIVING, "that I will fix in this place, so that you may know that My intentions are settled against you for punishment."

 30 Thus says the EVER-LIVING, "I will give Pharaoh Khofra, king of the Mitzeraim to the hand of his enemy, and to the hand of the seekers of his life! as I gave Zedekiah, king of Judah to the hand of Nebukhadnezzar, king of Babel, his enemy; and the pursuer of his life."

Jeremiah records his Prophecies by Baruk.

45 The command which Jeremiah the Preacher gave to Baruk-ben-Neria to write all these speeches in a book in the fourth year of Jehoiakim-ben-Joshiab, king of Judah. He said:—

"Thus says the EVER-LIVING GOD of Israel to you, Baruk: You said, 'Woe now to me for the EVER-LIVING adds to the agony of my pain! I am weary with sighing, and find no consolation! Say this to him, Thus 4 says the EVER-LIVING, What I have built, I will throw down! What I have planted I will pull up,—and that in all the country. Do you seek 5 greatness for yourself? Seek it not! for I will bring misery upon every person," says the EVER-LIVING. "But I will give you your life as a gain in every event."

A Warning to the Egyptian Army.

The message of the EVER-LIVING 46 to Jeremiah the Preacher about the Heathen, and to the Mitzeraim, about 2 the army of Pharaoh Neko, king of the Mitzeraim, when it advanced to the River Frath¹ to Karkemish, where Nebukhadnezzar king of Babel, defeated him in the fourth year of Jhoiakim-ben-Joshiab king of Judah.

The Burden of Pharaoh.

3 PHAROH.—"Array with the Buckler and Shield!
 And march out for the war!
 4 Saddle your horses,—and cavalry mount;
 Don your helmets; sharpen your spears,
 Gird on your coats of mail!
 5 What do I see? They fear and turn back!
 The heroes are routed! They fly! They fly!
 They return not, and terror surrounds,"
 Says the LORD.
 6 "The swift cannot fly, nor the mighty escape,
 In the North, on the banks of the Frath,¹
 Where they stumble and fall!
 7 "Who is this, like a river that rises?
 Like torrents that roll out their waves?
 8 It is Mitzer that floods like her river,—
 And her torrents that roll out their waves!
 Cries, 'I rise! I will cover the earth,
 I will sweep off the town and its people.'"
 9 "Let cavalry mount, and the chariots rush,
 And charge with the heroes of Kush;
 Aud of Put that can handle the shield,
 And the Ludim who draw leaping bows; "
 10 For this is the day of the Great LORD OF HOSTS,
 To-day He will punish—will punish His foes!
 Now sword devour and be gorged,
 And become drunken with blood;
 For the great LORD OF HOSTS has a slaughter,
 In the north, on the banks of the Frath.

¹ The Euphrates, as the Greeks named it.

- THE PROPHET.—Go to Gilad, and gather you balm, 11
 You poor girl, the daughter of Mitzer !
 In vain you will multiply med'cines,
 For there is no cure for you !
- The nations have heard of your shame, 12
 And the earth is filled full of your wailings ;
 For hero on hero has stumbled,
 And both have together rolled down !
- 13 The message which the LORD com- | of Babel, to conquer the land of the
 manded to Jeremiah the Preacher on | Mitzeraim.
 the arrival of Nebukhadnezzar, king |

The Second Burden of Egypt.

- " Tell it to Egypt, proclaim it in Migdol, 14 Report it to Noph, and to Thakhafanes ;
 Say, Stand up and make yourselves ready,
 For the sword is devouring around !

- " Why is your Leader swept off ? 15
 When the LORD drove him, how could he stand ?
 The crowd jostled and fell on each other ; 16
 Cried, ' Arise ! and return to our homes,—
 And our land from the sword's cruel face !'
 ' Mitzer's king, Pharoh, ' they cry, ' is a sound,— 17
 The time for his chance has gone by.'
 By my life ! ' says the King named JEHOVAH OF HOSTS, 18
 " How like Thabor he stood in the hills,
 And as Karmel went out to the sea ! "

- Oh ! make yourself ready for capture, 19
 You who dwell with the daughter of Mitzer !
 For Noph shall become as a desert,
 And none shall dwell in it for ever !
 O beautiful heifer of Mitzer ! 20
 The wasp from the north will come in,
 When your hirelings, like calves in a stall, 21
 Will turn, and together fly off,—
 Not stand, for their day of fear comes,
 The time of their dread upon them

- Her voice like a serpent goes forth ; 22
 For with powerful axes they march,
 Come to her like hewers of trees.—
 " They will cut down her wood," says the LORD, 23
 " Though uncounted, and more than the locusts,—
 And no one can ever count them !

- " They will outrage the daughter of Mitzer, 24
 By the hand of the men of the North ! "
 Says the LORD GOD OF HOSTS, and of Israel. 25
 " I will Myself punish Amon and No,
 With Pharoh, and all Mitzer's gods ;—
 Her king Pharoh, and all trusting him,
 Are led bound by those seeking their life.— 26
 To Babel's king Nebukhadnezzar,
 And to the hand of his slaves.
 But after that time she shall rest,
 As in the old times," says the LORD !

- 27 " But you, fear not, My servant Jacob,
 And Israel be not afraid!
 For I will save you from afar,
 And your race from the land that enslaved!
 And Jacob shall rest undisturbed,
 And be quiet without any fear.
- 28 Fear not for yourself," says the LORD,
 " I am with you, O My servant Jacob;
 Though I will destroy all the heathen
 To whom I have driven you away,
 But of you I will not make an end;
 But only correct you with justice,
 And the guiltless I will not afflict."

The Burden of Philistia.

- 47 The message of the EVER-LIVING | about the Philistim, before Pharaoh
 which came to Jeremiah the Preacher, | attacked Gaza.

2 Thus says the EVER-LIVING :—

See! waters come from the north like the flood of a river, Sweep over the land, flood the town and its people!
 And men shriek,—and they yell,—all who dwell in the land.

- 3 At the sound of the fierce-stamping steeds, at the rush of his chariots,
 At the roar of his wheels fathers take not the hands of their children,
 4 For the day comes to plunder the whole of Philistia,
 To cut off from Tzur and from Zidon all help that is left!
 For the LORD will destroy the Philistim left on Kaphtor's coast!
 5 On Gaza comes baldness;—and Ashkelon's ruins are silent,—
 How long did you scheme but to get yourself plundered?

- 6 Alas! Sword of the LORD! Will you never be quiet?
 Put yourself in your sheath! and be silent and mute!
 7 How can it be still when the LORD has to Askalon sent it?
 And sends to the shore of the sea?

48 Thus says the LORD GOD OF HOSTS, the GOD of Israel to Moab:—

The Burden of Moab.

- " Woe to Nebo! for it is all ruined and outraged!
 Krithaim is captured and outraged, and Misgab is fired!
 2 The glory of Moab is not! they plot evil against her in Heshbon!
 ' Come! let us destroy her from being a nation!
 Follow Madmena with sword,—and reduce her to silence!'"
- 3 From Horanim ring shrieks of plunder and crashing!
 4 Moab is broken! The shriek of her babes is resounding!
 5 For ascending to Lukoth in tears, they go along weeping,
 For they hear broken shrieks and distress in sweet Horanim's vale!
- 6 Fly! escape for your lives! and be like to the heath in the desert!
 7 You trusted your works, and your treasuries now all are taken,
 And Kemosh is carried away with his priests and his nobles.
- 8 The plunderer comes on each town, and no city escapes him;
 He destroys in the vale,—wastes the plain, as the LORD has commanded!
 9 Give Moab wings to fly off, for her cities are wasted!
 And they will become without any inhabitants in them!
 10 Curse on the Agent who does the LORD's work remissly!
 And curse him who holds back his sword from the blood!

- Moab was easy from youth, and he rested secure on his lees; 11
 Was not drawn from cask into bottles, nor gone to be captive;
 So his flower remained, and his scent had not gone!
 "But the days come," says the LORD, "I will send to him tapsters, 12
 Who will tap and will empty his barrels and smash up his bottles!
 And Moab shall blush for his Kemosh, as Israel blushed to trust Bethel." 13
- Ah! let them not say they are heroes, and valiant in battle! 14
 For Moab is waste,—and his cities are smoke, 15
 And the choice of his heroes have gone to the slain, Says the King named the LORD of the Armies.
- Moab's distresses come on, and his miseries hasten! 16
 All mourn around him, and all who have known his fame murmur; 17
 "How the strong staff is broken! the beautiful sceptre!"
- Leave your ease, and sit down in your thirst, idle daughter of Diban! 18
 For the robber of Moab comes on! and he ruins your strongholds!
 Stand by the road watching, you lady residing in Aroar, 19
 Ask the fugitive band, "Tell me what has been done?"
 "Moab is shamed and is outraged," they howl and they loudly shriek out, 20
 "Spread the report to the Arnon that Moab is plundered!
 Judgment has come on the land of the plain,—and on Holan, 21
 On Jehzar, and Mofath, and Diban, and Nebo; 22
 Beth-Diblathaim and Krithim, Bethgamul, and Bethmaum, 23
 And Krioth, and Bozrah, and on all other cities;— 24
 All the country of Moab afar, or that which is near us!
 Moab's horn has been crushed, and his strong arm is broken," the LORD 25 says!
- Drink,—for he flouted the LORD—and let Moab roll in his vomit! 26
 And himself be a scorn,—for was he not Israel dividing?
 If he was found among thieves, why when you spoke did you jeer him? 27
 Leave your towns,—dwell on rocks, you poor people of Moab, 28
 And become like the dove who builds nests at the cavern's wide entry!
 We have heard Moab's pride, he is proud and so haughty; 29
 He is proud, overbearing and very high-hearted!
 His fury, I knew," says the LORD, "and his boasting were worthless!" 30
- However I howl for poor Moab,—for Moab the perfect!
 For the men of Kirhares I shriek, who are mourning, 31
 With the weeping of Jazer I weep, and for you, O fair vine of Sibmah!
 Your branches spread over the brook, and as far as the waters of Jezar!
 The plunderer falls on your fruits and he strips off your vintage!
 Gladness and joy both depart from the rich fields of Moab,— 33
 No wine from the presses is trod, and no treaders are joyfully cheering;
 Their shrieks from Heshbon, and Eleleh and Jazer are uttered; 34
 They are roaring from Zoar to Horanim, as do the three year old heifers,—
 "The waters of Nimrim shall now become deserts!" the LORD says,
 "I stop Moab from mounting his temple and offering sweets to his gods!" 35
- Therefore, my heart make a moaning for Moab, like pipers; 36
 My heart for the men of Kirhares will moan like the flutes;
 Because the great wealth he had gathered has perished;
 And their heads are all bald, and their chins are close shaven, 37
 And on all hands are wounds, and on all loins sackcloth!
 On the housetops, and markets of Moab is everywhere mourning. 38
- "I broke Moab like things that I like not," the LORD says.
 "How they howl now when broken! How Moab turns back when 39 degraded!
 And Moab becomes to all round him a horror and terror!

- 40 For," thus says the LORD; "He shall fly like an eagle, 41 And swoop down on Moab whose cities are captured,
 Then the heart of his heroes shall be like a woman in labour, 42 And Moab shall cease among nations from flouting JERUVAH!"
- 43 The LORD proclaims fear, pit, and trap on the people of Moab!
 44 Who flies from the face of the terror, the pit will engulf him!
 Who crawls from the pit will be caught by the trap!
 "Against Moab the time of his judgment," the LORD says, "has come."
- 45 They stand in the shadow of Heshbon who fly from the mighty,
 From Heshbon comes fire, and flame from near Sihon;—
 And eats Moab's cheek and the crown of the children of fury!
 46 Woe, to you Moab!—The Nation of Kemosh has perished!
 For they take captive your sons, and make slaves of your daughters!
 47 "Yet I will restore Moab's captives hereafter," the LORD says.

So far is the judgment of Moab.

The Burden of the Beni-Amon.

- 49 The LORD asks the Beni-Amon thus:—"Has Israel no sons? has he no heir? Why then does their king possess Gad, and his force reside in his cities? Therefore be sure the times will come," says the LORD, "when I will make a report be heard in Rabath of the Beni-Amon,—a noise of war,—and it shall become a ruinous waste, and her buildings shall be set on fire, and Israel shall seize those who plundered him," says the LORD.
- 3 Howl for Heshbon! A deserted ruin! Shriek, daughters of Rabath! Gird sacks on yourselves! Lament and run to the hedges, for your king goes to captivity,—his priests and nobles with him.
- 4 Why do you glory in the vales? Your flowery vales, you attractive girl, who trust in your charms with 'Who will come to me?' I will bring upon you a terror," says the MIGHTY LORD OF HOSTS, "from all around you, and you shall each be driven from its face, and with no collecting place for the wanderers.
- 6 But at last I will restore the captivity of the Beni-Amon," says the LORD.

The Lord's Message to Edom.

- 7 The LORD OF HOSTS says this to Edom:
 "There is no longer wisdom in Theman;—counsel has perished from the wise sons of trade! Fly! Turn! dig pits to live in! you people of Dedan! For I will bring the terror of Esau upon him at the time I punish.

If grasshoppers came to you, would you leave no gleanings? If thieves by night, they plunder till full! I, 10 however, have exhausted Esau; I have stripped his hidings, and he cannot conceal himself; his family is plundered, and his relatives, and his friends, and himself, are not! Leave your orphans to me;—I will 11 keep them alive; and let your widows trust on me.

For thus says the EVER-LIVING:— 12 "Those who were not condemned to drink the cup have drunk! And shall you, a convict, not be punished? You shall drink! For I have sworn 13 by Myself," says the LORD, "that Bozrah shall become a waste, a reproach, a ruin, a curse, and all her towns shall be a desert for ever!"

I have heard a message from the 14 EVER-LIVING by a messenger to the nations to collect, and they will come upon her, and rise to war. For I give 15 you as a trifle to the nations, a contempt to men. Your terrors deceived 16 your proud heart, you who dwell in caves on the crags, who stick to lofty hills;—if you nestle as high as the eagle, I will pull you from there," says the EVER-LIVING. "For Edom 17 shall become a wonder. All who pass over her shall be astonished, and whistle at his many wounds. Like overwhelmed Sodom, and 18 Gomorah and her neighbours," says the EVER-LIVING, "no man will dwell there, and no son of Adam remain to her!"

See he was like a lion coming up 19 from the swelling of Jordan to the permanent meadows: "I will be sly with them," he said, "I will assail from behind them,—what hero can defend them? for who is equal to me, and who expects me? and what shepherd can stand before me?"

20 Therefore hear the intent of the EVER-LIVING, which He intends against Edom, and the plans he has planned against the people of The-man, if they do not withdraw the young of the flock; if they do not put them in the Fold.

The earth shall shake at the sound 21 of her fall;—the voice of his shriek to the Sea of Weeds!

Look! He comes like an eagle, 22 and flies! and spreads his wings over Bozrah,—and the heart of the heroes of Edom in that day will be like the heart of a woman in terror!

AGAINST DAMASCUS.

23

The Doom of Damascus.

Both Hamath and Arpad are cowed;
They melt on hearing the sad report;
Like the troubled sea they cannot rest;
Timid Damascus turns to fly,
Trembling and terror has seized her;
Anguish holds her like childbirth!

24

Is the Bright City forsaken?
Along with the towns she rejoiced in?
Why fall her youth in her broadways?
And why are all her warriors silent?

25

26

Because now says the LORD OF SABAOth,
"I will fire the walls of Damascus,
And devour the Halls of Benadad."

27

The Doom of Kedar.

28 Against Kedar, and the territories | king of Babel, shall conquer, thus of Khatzih that Nebukhadnezzar, | said the LORD:—

"Arise, and advance to Kedar!
And ravage the sons of the East!
Plunder their tents and their sheep flocks,
Take their curtains, their arms, and their camels,
And shout to them, 'Terrors are round you!'

29

"Fly! wander afar, and sink down!"
Says the LORD to the dwellers in Hazor,
"For Babel's king, Nebukhadnezzar, Plots, and makes plans against you!"

30

"Arise! Advance to a nation at ease,
Who rest," says the LORD, "as in safety,
They are careless, without gates or bars.

31

"So their camels are therefore a booty,
And their rich herds will be for a spoil,—
When I fling them to the wind,
And all round them bring grief," says the LORD,

32

"Then jackals shall hunt about Hazor;
No man ever dwell in her wrecks,
And no son of Adam shall lodge."

33

The Doom of Ailam.

34 The command of the EVER-LIVING | kiah king of Judah, to proclaim to that came to Jeremiah the Preacher | Ailam.
in the first year of the reign of Zede-

- 35 Thus says the LORD OF THE HOSTS;—
 "Of Ailam's chief hero I will break the bow, 36 And will bring the four winds upon Ailam,
 From the four sides of heaven, and fling to those winds,
 And no nation shall be where those wanderers come not!
- 37 I will terrify Ailam to turn from their foes,
 And from those who hunt after their life,
 And will bring on them grief in the heat of My wrath," Says the LORD, "and pursue with a sword to destroy.
 38 And will cause Ailam's throne to depart,
 And deprive her of king and of prince," says the LORD.
 39 "But hereafter a time shall arrive," says the LORD,
 "When the captured from Ailam return."
- 50 The address the LORD addressed to Babel and the country of the Kasdim.
 by Jeremiah the Preacher:—

The Doom of Babylon of the Kasdim.

- 2 Declare to the nations, and publish, and set up a standard!
 Publish it,—hide not;—say Babel is captured, and Bel is degraded!
 Merodak is frightened! Their idols degraded, their images shattered!
 3 For a race from the north is advancing who ravage her country!
 None remain hers,—from the man to the beast, they are scattered!
- 4 In those days,—at that time, it shall be as JEHOVAH Himself says, Israel's children and Judah's united will march, and will weep as they march,
 And will seek for their GOD EVER-LIVING, and ask for the highway to Zion;
 5 Then go to the LORD'S Ancient Treaty, nor ever forget it.
- 6 Lost sheep were My Race, whom their shepherds had lost in the mountains;
 They strayed about mountains and hills, forgetting the way to their own home!—
 7 All who found them devoured, their oppressors declared it not wrong, Because they offended the LORD;—their true Hope, and the Well of their fathers—Jehovah!
- 8 Fly out from Babel,—come out from the land of the Kasdim like shepherds who go before flocks!
 9 For, see! I am rousing and bringing on Babel a crowd of Great Nations.
 From the Land of the North they march on her, from them shoot their arrows,
 Their skilled Leaders will not return empty, but plunder the Kasdim, 10 "All," says the LORD, "shall be full with her plunder!
- 11 "Because you rejoiced,—when you plundered My Homestead,
 Because you were fierce like an heifer at grass, and were neighing like stallions, 12 Your mother shall feel her disgrace; and her deep shame she who bore you,
 She will be last of the Nations, a Desert, a Ruin, and burnt Waste!
 13 From the wrath of the LORD be unpeopled, and wholly deserted;
 All passing by desolate Babel, shall hiss at her wounding."
- 14 All now who can shoot with the bow, arrange yourselves round about Babel;
 Shoot at her,—and spare not the darts, for she has offended JEHOVAH, 15 Around her, shout out "She submits and her bulwarks have fallen!"
 The LORD will do justice on her, so hasten and throw down her ramparts!
 Come, execute justice on her, and as she has done, give back to her now!
 16 Cut off the sowers from Babel, and scythemen in season of harvest;
 From the face of your terrible swords let each fly like a dove to his people,— Turn, and every man fly to his country.
- 17 Israel was like a lost flock, whom the lions had driven and scattered
 At first Ashur's king was devouring, and now in succession,
 His bones they were broken by Babel's King, Nebukadnezzar;

"Therefore," thus says the LORD OF THE HOSTS, Who is Israel's GOD, 18
 "I will repay to Babel, its king and his land, as to Ashur I repaid I
 But bring Israel home to his pasture on Karmel and Bashan, 19
 And to Mount Ephraim and Gilad, and then I will satisfy his soul,— In those days, and those times," says the LORD, "Israel's faults shall be sought 20 but shall be not;
 Nor Judah's offences be found, because I have pardoned the sins they committed.
 Advance to the land of revolt, with punishing sword to her people,
